Knox Johnstone, chairman of the fund raising drive and dinner host said this week:

"The library is fortunate in securing Dr. Gramley's assistance in making the drive a success. Both in his association with Salem College and in his previous work Dr. Gramley has been widely recognized as an outstanding journalist and educator. No one could have a stronger realization of the value of a good public library to all the people of the county".

When Davie County reaches its goal of $90,000 it will be eligible to receive 43% of the total construction costs from federal funds", said Mr. Johnstone.

Charles Morrison Grier, President of Charles Morrison Grier and Associaties, Inc., of Charlotte is the architect for the new building. He will attend the dinner and explain plans for a smoothly functioning and efficient library service in the new quarters proposed for it.

Another special guest will be Miss Phyllis Snyder, library consultant from the North Carolina State Library in Raleigh.

Questionnaires Being Mailed Farmers—

Census Of Agriculture Begins

Questionnaires for the 1964 Census of Agriculture are now being mailed out to farmers of Davie County, County Agent Leo F. Williams reported today.

The forms are expected to reach the farmers within a few days. This will allow farmers a period of time to consult their 1964 business records in order to answer questions on the forms before census enumertors begin calling on the farmers to collect the forms. Best estimates for the year will be sufficient to answer questions in cases where complete records for the year are not available, according to the county agent.

The visits by enumerators will start on November 23 in this county, according to the county agent.

Enumerators will call on every farmer in the district under his or her supervision, the county agent explained. At the time of the call, the enumerator will help the farmer complete answers to any questions in the form that the farmer was unable to answer, and will review the form to see that it is completely filled out.

By mailing the forms ahead of the visits, officials of the Bureau of the Census, an agency of the U. S. Department of Commerce, hope to save both time and effort.

The Census of Agriculture is taken every five years in the years ending in "4" and "9" to gather needed, up-to-date information on U. S. agricultural resources and production. Such information is vital in making decisions affecting many segments of the U. S. economy. Data gathered include the number and size of farms, number of persons living on farms, acreage and harvest of crops, a livestock and poultry inventory, information on farm equipment and facilities, and on income and some production expenditures.

Woman Is Injured In Wreck On US 64 West

A Winston-Salem woman was seriously injured and a 1962 Studebaker demolished in a wreck Sunday afternoon on U. S. 64, two miles west of Mocksville. The accident occurred around 3:15 p.m.

Mrs. Zenobia Brown Hollomon, 44, was taken to the Davie County Hospital and was later transferred to the hospital in Hickory. She was driving the 1962 Studebaker and was heading west.

State Highway Patrolman Randall Beane said that his investigation disclosed that a 1958 Ford, operated by Frank Anderson Sidden, 49, of Advance, Rt. 2, was heading east on U. S. 64 and was attempting to turn into the Sanford Road from U. S. 64 and stopped in the path of the Studebaker operated by Mrs. Brown. The left front end of the Ford collided with the left front and side of the Studebaker which continued on into a ditch and overturned.

Damage to the Sidden car was estimated at $200.

Sidden was charged with failure to see that movement could be made in safety.

GRASS ROTATION . . . Roy Foster, SCS Cooperator, is shown fencing fescue grass for temporary grazing. Fescue seeded at the rate of seven pounds per acre in the fall of 1962, with oats. Lespedeza seeded in the spring of 1963 and fescue sod turned in the winter of 1963. "It just didn't happen," says Mr. Foster, It is a part of a planned soil and water conservation program.

New Fall Look Throughout Davie

By GARLAND STILL

Does your family enjoy a Sunday afternoon drive in the country to see some of the beauty spots of nature? We usually think of natural beauty spots as areas that have been unspoiled by man, but where man cooperates with nature you can have beauty and utility.

Here are some suggestions by the Davie Soil and Water Conservation District for that next Sunday afternoon drive. The changing scene in Davie County includes alternating equal width strips of corn and lush grass spread like a green carpet across the rolling hills. If you pass by one of these scenes after a heavy rain you will find most of the water soaked up by the land and the excess running clear through a grass disposal area.

Many such scenes are within easy reach of everyone in Davie County. You need only to go on paved roads, and you won't have to get out of your car to see the "New Fall Look." Farmington Area: Graham Weathers farm across from Medical Center on Highway from Mocksville to Farmington; C. W. Allen farm across from Farmington Drag Strip; Advance Area: B. T. Browder farm, next to R. J. Reynolds Processing Plant; Fork Area: William Carter, one mile north as you turn at Fork to go to Bixby; Calahaln area: R. G. Stroud farm, one milen orthwest on Highway 901 to Harmony. This is easy to see and includes a lake below field which can be seen from road. Cooleemee: A. F. Coble farm, three miles north of Cooleemee on Davie Academy road.

As you look over these distinctive marks of conservation, you may wonder how all this happened. Roy Foster in above picture will tell you it didn't just happen. It was part of a planned soil and water conservation program, developed with assistance of Soil Conservation Service technicians in the Davie Soil and Water Conservation District. Roy is placing a temporary fence around fescue grass seeded in rotation with corn. Two tons of hay have already been mowed and cows will graze until November. Grass will be turned in November to build organic matter of soil—part of the plan that makes land productive and keeps it that way.

These farms are just a few of the 900 farms where similar soil and water conservation programs are being carried out in cooperation with the self-governing Davie Soil and Water Conservation District. These landowners are producing food and fiber to feed their city neighbors and protecting the land so that it wil continue to produce for future generations.

Take that drive and find out how well you are being provided for. For as long as farmers use and manage our land as these are using it, you will be able to go down to the grocery store and buy your food from well-stocked shelves—food rich in vitamins and minerals.

C. W. Phillips, chairman of the district says: "We have seen what nature can do working alone. And we have seen how man, working at cross purposes with nature, can mar her handiwork. Now take a look at the job that man and nature can do when they work together."

Why not consider this drive for your next Sunday ride? You can spot stripcropping as you travel along the road in your car. When a landowner has this practice established on his land, you can say that he is truly a conservationist at heart. It marks him as a man who puts the care of the land at the top in his farming operations.

Clyde Glasscock Named Crew Leader—

1964 Farm Census To Be Taken

Clyde Glassock

★ ★ ★

Richard Clyde Glassock of Mocksville has been named a crew leader for the 1964 Census of Agriculture, Joseph R. Norwood, director of the regional office of the U. S. Bureau of the Census at Charlotte has announced. The new crew leader is one of about 1,825 persons throughout the U. S. to receive this appointment.

The new crew leader will supervise a team of census enumerators who will visit all farms and ranches in Davie county to collect official census questionnaires from farm operators. Enumeration of all farms in the county will take place in November and early December.

The census will be taken in the following way: Shortly after November 5, the Bureau of the Census, an agency of the U. S. Department of Commerce, will mail census questionnaires to all rural boxholders. Those required to fill out the forms should do so and hold the questionnaires until a census enumerator comes to collect them. At that time, the enumerator will help answer any questions that may have proved troublesome.

The crew leader is a key person in conducting a Census of Agriculture. He recruits and trains the enumerators, schedules their work, reviews the accuracy of completed forms, and conducts difficult interviews.

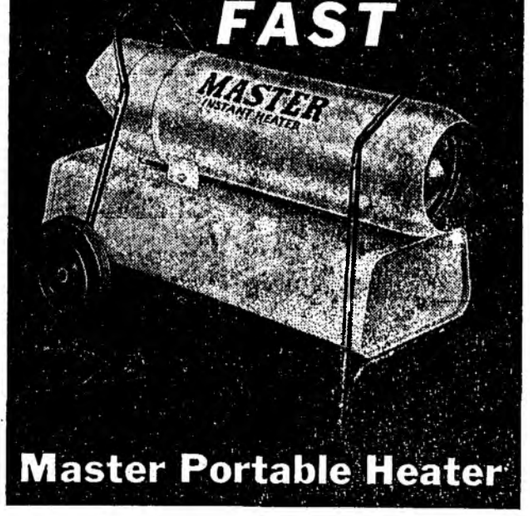

The Census of Agriculture is taken every five years in years ending in "4" and "9" to gather information on the nation's agricultural resources and production. Such information is vital in making decisions affecting many segments of the U. S. economy. Data gathered include the number and size of farms, acreage and harvest of crops, livestock inventories, and information on farm equipment and improvements and income and some production expenditures.

The information will be published starting in 1965 for counties, States, and the nation.

The Rebels, playing their finest game of the current season, simply outmanned the Taylorsville team from the opening whistle. The Rebels picked up 222 yards at rushing and ground out 17 first downs, all on the ground.

Ward put Davie into the lead in the first quarter when he scored from the five. In the third period Nesbit plunged over from the 2.

Fullback Nayrex Barnhardt got into scoring later in the third quarter with a two-yard plunge into pay dirt and Donnie Beck finished the scoring by picking off a Taylorsville pass and racing 47-yards to score. Ken Boger add two extra points from placement.

Guard Mike Keller and linebacker Don Jones turned in a number of outstanding defensive plays for Davie.

Statistics

State's 1965 Cotton Allotment Set

North Carolina farmers have been allotted 459,953 acres on which to grow their 1965 upland cotton crop under the national cotton program, A. P. Hassell, Jr., Executive Director for the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation State Committee, announced today. This represents the State's share of the 10 million acre national allotment and of the 200,000 acre national acreage reserve (to take care of minimum far mallotments), announced by the Department of Agriculture on Oct. 13.

At the same time, marketing quotas were proclaimed for the 1965 cotton crop, and Dec. 15, 1964, was set as the date for a national referendum on the quotas.

Hassell explained that the State allotment will be apportioned among counties and the county allotments among farms according to provisions of the law. Notices of farm acreage allotments will be mailed to operators of cototn farms prior to the referendum.

Cotton growers voting in the Dec. 15 referendum will determine whether marketing quotas will be operative for the 1965 crop of upland cotton. Approval by at least two-thirds of those voting is necessary in order to put the quotas into effect.

Hassell pointed out that the domestic allotment program, authorized by legislation enacted last spring, will be in effect for the 1965 upland cotton crop if marketing quotas are approved in the Dec. 15 referendum. Under this program, a cotton farmer has the option of planting within his farm's effective allotment or the domestic allotment. (The effective allotment is the farm allotment after any release or reapportionment). For thus voluntarily reducing their acreage, growers may qualify for price-support payments in addition to the regular price-suport loans. The domestic allotment program was in effect for the 1964 upland cotton crop.

The referendum this year therefore presents these alternatives to voters:

If marketing quotas are approved, marketing penalties will apply to any excess cotton of growers who exceed their farm's effective allotments, price support (at a level within 65 to 10 per cent of parity) will be available to growers who do not exceed their effective allotments, and additional price - support payments will be made to growers who voluntarily reduce their cotton acreage to the farm's domestic allotment. (In general, the farm marketing quota —which a farmer may market free of penalty—is the production form the farm's effective acreage allotment).

Marketing quotas for the 1904 crop of upland cotton were approved by 84 per cent of the growers voting in a refcrendem in Dec., 1963.

UNICEF Drive Is Successful

"Last Thursday's successful collection of Hallooween 'treats' of coins for UNICEF, the United Nations Children's Fund, will have a far-reaching results in many parts of the world," Mrs. Henry Blair, chairman the local program, said today.

"Every penny contributed by our generous fellow citizens will give a hungry child five cups of milk, or provide the vaccine to protect a youngster form tuberculosis," she indicated. "It is still too early to know exactly how much was collected, but whatever the amount, it will mean help and hope for sick and hungry children in many parts of the world."

UNICEF assists over 500 long-range programs for needy children and mothers in more than 100 countries. On Halloween, some 3.5 million American boys and girls contributed to this work by Trick or Treating for UNICEF in some 13,000 communities. Here the program involved the participation of many people. "I would like to express thanks to all those who took part," concluded Mrs. Blair.

Find the strength for your life...

Does it seem to you sometimes that the world has gotten so crowded and complex that you just don't count at all in the grand scheme of things? It's not uncommon, that feeling. We feel helpless . . . unable to alter or even really to understand ourselves and the world we live in.

Faith is missing—and because of that, spiritual strength is.

But faith and spiritual strength can be found, nourished. Then they grow within you through regular worship. This week go to your church or synagogue. Start to build a fuller, more meaningful life. Cherish your faith and keep it strong so that it may strengthen you.

Veterans Day Is November 11th

Veterans Day . . . November 11, 1964 . . . is a day which can be of great significance to the citizens of this community and to all Americans. This is a day, set aside by a grateful nation, to honor the men and women who have met the greatest obligation of their American citizenship — honorable service in the armed forces of their country in time of war.

Millions of America's sons and daughters have valiantly served their country in time of war, demonstrating the capability and willingness of our ordinary, private citizens to make any sacrifice necessary for the cause of freedom.

Upon their return to civilian life, America's veterans have demonstrated an exemplary stability and responsibility in our society . . . as compared with the unrest experienced among veterans in other lands . . . reflecting their respect for the precious heritage they have helped to preserve.

Their example should give confidence to all Americans. It proves our nation's capability of meeting the challenges of both today and tomorrow. When the survival of this nation and its ideals is at stake, Americans must continue to show the same courage, loyalty, and sacrifice on the peace already set by our veterans.

This is a day for each of us to not only reassert our pride in being an American and our will to maintain this country's military, economic, and spiritual strength, but also dedicate our endeavors toward world peace with honor.

American veterans know full well the horrible price of war and also the value of an honorable peace. It is indeed appropriate that the Congress , in setting aside November 11 as Veterans Day, should ask that the day be used to honor the veterans of all wars and to express our nation's dedication to peace with honor.

This occasion deserves the participaton of every man, woman and child in this county, if the nationwide observance is to transmit the message of Veterans Day to the entire world.

Election Aftermath

By the time you read this editorial the results of the election are past history. You know the winners — you know the results.

The outcome of the election pleased a lot of people. A great many others perhaps were not so pleased. But that is life . . . that is politics . . . that is democracy.

We sincerely urge that each citizen of Davie County extend a hand of congratulations to the newly elected officials and at the same time offer full cooperation and blessings to their efforts. As representatives of the people they are fully dependent upon the people or the success of their efforts.

Candidates seek offices as members of a political party, either Democrats or Republicans. However, once elected to an office their services belong to all the peolpe, irrespective of party ties.

This is the American way . . . that is American democracy.

Welfare Department Handles Applications—

Medical Assistance Program Outlined

"County departments of public welfare in the State are being swamped with applications for medical services by persons who neither need such services nor are eligible for them as a result of recent publicity in newspapers and on radio and television," stated State Commissioner of Public Welfare R. Eugene Brown has announced. The flood of publicity on free medical care has been promoted by the American Medical Association.

"We feel it is important for the public to know the type of medical services provided by the last General Assembly for citizens of North Carolina in view of the emphasis given to the Kerr Mills program by the A. M. A.," added Brown. "First, the person must be 65 years of age or older in order to be eligible for MAA."

He pointed out that people should not apply for medical assistance unless they actually need it and are unable to pay for it themselves. "Numerous people are filing applications unnecessarily," he added, probably thinking that having their applications on a file will speed up service when they need medical care. This is not true, and it actually slows up the processing of applications for those who are in need of these services."

Persons eligible for assistance from public welfare are eligible for medical services, he stated.

Brown emphasized that MAA does not provide for complete medical care and he thinks it is important that the public know what the program does not provide as well as what it includes. For instance, provision is made for hospital in-patient service, which provides complete hospitalization, but does not pay for physicians' or surgeons' fees. It provides for hospital out-patient service, which includes diagnostic and therapeutic out-patient services by the hospital but no physicians' services except as provided by the hospital in conjunction with their out-patient services.

It provides for dental service, but this includes only emergency and palliative treatment, extractions, fillings, and repairs to dentures.

There will be a drug program, providing only for prescription drugs, but this will go into effect after January 1, 1965.

The medical services are provided by hospitals, dentists, and pharmacies who have entered into agreements with the State Board of Public Welfare.

Television owes a deft to a 19th-century Irish telegrapher, the National Geographic says. Long before Marconi sent his first radio messages, Louis May discovered in 1873 that the element selenium could translate light into electric impulses.

Halloween Vandalism

Vandals . . . those who willfully or ignorantly destroy, damage, or deface property belonging to another or to the public . . . roamed Davie County Saturday night in the disguise of Halloween pranksters. By their wanton acts . . . automobiles were permanently scarred and defacted . . . road signs were ripped up . . . mail boxes were torn down . . . and "Death Alley" made even more dangerous by piling picnic tables and debris on US 158.

Mrs. Max Murray of Salisbury Street in Mocksville took her two small children to the Halloween Carnival at the Mocksville School. She left her new 1964 Pontiac . . . which they had owned for only about 5-months . . . parked on the street just below the school house. When she returned she found that vandals had smeared the car with brown shoe dye. The Car will have to be repainted . . . a costly operation . . . and a sickening one for a new car owner.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Smith on Cherry Street had guests from Clemmons . . . Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hendrix. Their car was parked in the drive of the Smith's home. Vandals here came onto their property and smeared this car with several colors of paint, shoe dye, etc. This car too will have to be repainted.

Several other cars were reported to have been damaged in this manner . . . and some were reported to have been cut with sharp instruments . . . presumably a knife. Also, air was let out of a number of tires.

In the Jerusalem and Cherry Hill sections . . . and other sections . . . road signs were torn down. The State Highway Department estimated that damage to road signs will cost the taxpayers more than $250 to replace these signs.

On the Sain road private mail boxes were ripped up and torn down.

And in one of the more dastardly acts . . . the roadside picnic table on Bob Wilson Hill was pulled onto US 158 and left in the middle of the highway to be demolished when hit by a passing truck. Luckily, no serious injury resulted from this accident.

Trick and treat by the small fry is one thing. Vandalism by a teenage . . . or older crowd . . . is something else. There is no excuse for the wanton destruction of personal or public property at anytime. This is dastardly even at Halloween.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor:

During the past 25 years Davie County has made tremendous progress economically, industrially, and culturally. The time has come when our library facilities will no longer adequately accomodate our cultural needs. There's only one solution—a new library.

With the colleges demanding better readers, and the business world seeking men who read, it is our duty to meet the challenge with the best facilities possible.

Your contribution to the Davie County Public Library will probably be the most satisfactory you'll make this year. The library not only enables our young people to face the future with confidence, but it provides pleasure, enlightment and inspiration for adults.

HELEN P. CRENSHAW

Dear Editor:

Many years ago, the Wise Man said, "Where there is no vision the people perish." Fortunately, our county has wide-aware citizens, who had no wish to see her people "perish' for lack of free, available-to-every-one, cultural food. With high faith and vision, the Davie County Public Library was born.

"Growth is a sign of health," we are told on good authority. That being true, the health of our library is phenominal, it has grown beyond even the highest dreams of its founders. Step (literally) by step: from the tiny cell-like office on the second floor of the Sanford Building; to one room in the basement of the courthouse; to two rooms in the same basement; to two rooms in the ambitious and beautiful new County Office Building; to the entire basement foor in that building.

Once again this lusty enterprise has outgrown its quarters. And once again with faith and vision it is beckoning from its lovely, convenient lot on South Main St. This time for an adequate, library-planned home all its own. And once again, Davie County will meet the challenge, we have Vision and we will not let our people perish.

BLANCHE HANES CLEMENT

Heart failure is a term that is often misunderstood. The North Carolina Heart Association says it doesn't mean the heart stops. Heart filure means the heart is inefficient and falls behind in supplying the body's demands, thus leading to congestion in certain organs.

Uncle Dave From Davie Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

I was reading a piece by one of them Washington column writers where the Guvernment has spent $5,280 to git a book wrote and printed fer babysetters. I brung this item up at the country store Saturday night and all the fellers was agreed that babysetting has got to be a important matter amongst this generation of parents, but they was curious how anybody could think up $5,280 worth on babysetting. This column writer said they was fer sale and to send 25 cent to the Superentandant of Documents, Washington 25, D. C.

Ed Doolittle took up a collection and he was gitting our order off immediate fer this book. I'll give you the latest in babysetting, Mister Editor, just as soon as we git this volume and it can be digested by our scholars at the store.

Bug Hookum was lamenting we was living in a age when everthing was a big deal, from $5,280 worth of babysetting to $8,750 worth of tax money on how to kill house flies. Fer instant, Bug said he was reading the other day where the telephone folks has announced a invention where, if two people was talking and wanted to git a third feller on the line, they could press a button and dial his number and all three of them could talk. Bug claimed he could recollect 50 year ago when you could call a neighbor on the party line and git 10 listening in, and you didn't have to press no button.

Josh Clodhopper reported he had saw where the U. S. Department of Public Health estimated Americans took 16 billion aspirin tablets in 1963. Josh was of the opinion if things didn't slow down the figger would git to 20 billion in a couple more years.

Zeke Grubb allowed as how he was just taking it on the chin and wasn't messing with no aspirin. He told the fellers that the harder he worked the behinder he got but they was a few corners he could cut and he was saving 'em fer a rainy day. Fer instant, he reported he painted his house in 1958 and they raised the tax valuation on his propity 5 per cent, and in 1962 he painted his barn and they hiked it another 5 per cent. First off, he said, he had throwed his paint brush away to avoid the evils of temptation, and farthermore if things come to the worst he would just take the roof off'n the barn and git 'em to lower him back 10 per cent. He said he aimed to walk the last long mile on this earth even-steven if he had to tare the place down and blackmail his Congressman into gitting him one of them free Army tents they give to folks in a disaster area.

Personal, Mister Editor, I think Zeke is trying to do it the hard way.

Claim to keep on taking a few aspirins to deaden as many Guvernment pains as possible.

Yours truly,
Uncle Dave

TEXT: "Step by step the ladder is ascended" - George Herbert.

The job applicant was being questioned about his ability to persevere. "Have you the firmness of character to finish a task in the face of ingratitude, criticsism and heartless ridicule?" he asked.

"I ought to have," the applicant replied. "I was President of our PTA last year."

The world is full of "starters" but only "finishers" have anything worth showing for their efforts. You have seen brilliant "starters". They jump from one unfinished job or idea to another without accomplishing anything. They so confuse the rest of us that, finally, we give them only a pitying glance.

Matur people know that every desire is not achieved with the first effort. The clock does not strike twelve the first time. It strikes each hour until it reaches twelve. Not only is the top of the ladder reached step by step, but the ability to keep trying is the one identifying mark that all great and famous people have in common. Look them over. Examine their backgrounds, abilities and achievements. They differ widely, excepting for one trait. They preserve.

To succeed at anything there fore, there is only one ingredient you must blend with your skill - perserverance. No one succeeds without it.

The North Carolina Heart Association last year inaugurated a program throughout the state to prevent secondary attacks of rheumatic fever. About 40,000 young North Carolinians are victims of rheumatic fever, according to data received by the state heart group.

NEWS AND COMMENT FROM OUR RALEIGH BUREAU
2615 Oberlin Road

REMINDERS . . . Now that the 1964 election is behind us, you can check the actual votes against the guesses made several days—and sometimes several weeks—ago.

Here we go on what the prophets said:

1. Harold Cooley would barely win in the Fourth District . . .
2. Charles Jonas would have no trouble in the Eighth . . .
3. J. E. Broyhill would have easy sailing in the Ninth . . .
4. Ralph Scott would barely take Nab Armfield in the Fifth . . .
5. President J. B. Johnson would carry North Carolina—but close . . .
6. Dan K. Moore would handily defeat Bob Gavin . . .
7. The $100,000,000 school bond vote would win without trouble . . .
8. Nationally, President Johnson would win by a landslide . . .

★ ★ ★

MORE GOP . . . Since this column was mailed out of Raleigh a few hours before the actual voting, we can't report on results at this time. However, all during the summer and early fall we were impresed with the activity of the Republicans.

In some instances, actually, the GOP seemed to be more energetic than the Democratic Party. They have a fast gait.

In 85 per cent of the counties—virtually all those east of Greensboro—elections at one time created hardly a ripple. All the fun was in the Primary. But now its getting so there is "fun" . . . if you want to call it that . . . the whole year. Ask Harold Cooley and Ralph Scott.

★ ★ ★

FOUR WEEKS BEFORE . . . Bill Snider, one of the Greensboro Daily News editors, said flat footedly away back yonder: "The prediction here, than, four weeks before the election is that the Johnson-Humphrey ticket will carry N. C. . . . perhaps substantially . . . and the Democrats may carry Guilford County . . . "

★ ★ ★

TO THE BENCH . . . Virtually next door neighbors in the North Carolina hills are Ralph Moody, Assistant Attorney General, and Dan K. Moore.

That is why Moody's name is being added to those of Dr. I. B. Lake of Wake Forest and Joe Branch of Enfield as a possible appointee to the State Supreme Court when a vacancy occurs next year.

★ ★ ★

HIGHWAYS, TOO . . . Gov. Terry Sanford has been interested in so many aspects of North Carolina since taking office nearly four years ago now that it is difficult to say for what he will be most remembered.

We would say, of course, Education, but—

In three big meetings held last week in Greenville, Winston-Salem, and Asheville, Sanford Promoter Hargrove Bowles of Greensboro said:

"More roads have been paved in the Sanford administration than under any other Governor except Kerr Scott."

Well, now, we were surprised. But it must be so—for you don't catch Bowles off-base except on Preyer occasions. We are sure he has checked on it and knows what he is talking about.

★ ★ ★

WORDS . . . Introducing the Governor at a Travel Council session last week, Bowles talked about how Terry Sanford is "not acting like a lame duck Governor . . . is the livest lame duck I ever saw . . . and is in there plugging to the last gasp."

The "last gasp" verbiage didn't strike the Governor just right and he gently chided his old side kick for "a bad word."

But a minute or two later the effects of political campaigns, etc., came through on the Governor himself. He said: "No state in the nation has as many differences . . . "

Apparently nobody noticed. However, a sentence or two later Sanford rephrased it to say " . . . as much variety . . . as North Carolina."

★ ★ ★

RAIN RESULTS . . . One of North Carolina's important crops—though often overlooked—is sweet potatoes. We bake them, can them, candy them, flake them. They are one of our most processed foods.

But the rains of several weeks back all but puts us out of the sweet potato business. In fact, we are going to have to bring in from Louisana and elsewhere next year plants for a new crop.

Nevertheless, those potatoes that survived the floods appear to be the best we have had in years.

★ ★ ★

HOW MANY? . . . Well, now come November, Thanksgiving, December, and Christmas — the winter holiday season . . . the travel time.

And how many will we kill on the highways? Well, we've only to ask the State Motor Club of Charlotte. They predict deaths . . . and get headlines . . . and radio notices for so doing. We wish they would not. It seems incongruous to us for an organization whose income is based on autos and traveling . . . to say anything which might reduce travel.

We get the impression they are saying: "Better stay home this long Thanksgiving week end. It's going to be pretty gruesome. We predict that umpteen people will be killed on our N. C. highways."

But if everybody stayed home, what would happen to our motels, hotels, tourist attractions (a billion-dollar business now) and, incidentally, the State Motor Club? Why can't they preach use of seat belts, slower speeds, better attitudes, and get off this death prediction kick for a season? They are helping the travel business not at all: ask some of those who are in it. We love the Club . . . but not those predictions.

★ ★ ★

NOTES . . . Dan K. Moore, though running hard for Governor, was on the radio in Asheville last week plugging hard for one of his friends running for Buncombe County Commissioner . . . Mrs. Lt. Gov. Bob Scott last week got her dates mixed up . . . came to a Winston-Salem reception at right hour . . . but one day late!

SENATOR SAM ERVIN ★ SAYS ★

MORGANTON — Half a century ago, the world entered war and four years later when November 11 came the structures of civilization were vastly changed. As the years have gone by, the Nation has annually paused to reflect upon that great struggle, and later ones, their men, and the genesis of liberty and patriotism. In a few days, we will pause again to honor the men and women who have shaped our lives and our destiny.

Veterans Day, until a decade ago Armistice Day, should be a time for national rededication. It should focus our attention in those brief moments at 11 o'clock on the Christian ethic and the value of the individual life. It should recall man's struggle for God and Country, and dedicate anew a national obligation dedicate anew a national obligation suffered lasting injury, for comrades who have become ill and broken, and for their widows and orphans.

As we look about us, we are reminded that those first Armistice days were based too much upon faith in past deeds. We cherished these deeds to the extent that there was devotion to a slogan that mankind had changed its nature and wars had ended. We soon learned in tragic fashion that men could not fight and then forget about new challenges to peace and freedom. World War II, the Korean War, and other great confrontations have taught us that the struggle for freedom is a never ending process. And if we have matured over the years, we have learned that those who wish to live in a free society must constantly exercise courage with the firmness of strength.

In the gentle rolling hills of Virginia overlooking the Nation's Capital lies Arlington National Cemetery, a national shrine and our largest national military cemetery. But around the world there are other American military cemeteries which are reminders of the previous price which we have paid.

In Arlington, lie the bodies of the three Unknowns, who in 1921 and 1958 were interred as the highest representatives of the men who defended our country in World War I, World War II, and the Korean War. Keeping vigil over them, in a 24 hour honor guard, are 16 of our fin-soldiers. The silent sentinel in veterans.

October 's events have restated a warning, which every generation would like to forget, that there are aggressors who beset the road to peace. As we renew our hearts for the challenges of this day, we should never minimize the eternal debt which the Nation owes to those who demonstrated their love for country and fought for it. Moreover, we must not forget that freedom comes only to those who want it, who work for it, and who are willing to defend it. Liberty never comes easy. There is no magical formula whereby man and women may attain it. It is well to recall, too, that "strong minds, great hearts, true faith, and ready hands" are the only means whereby the lights of liberty shall not be extinguished.

Shakespeare said, "Oh! That this too solid flesh would melt" (Hamlet). The North Carolina Heart Association suggests, however, that wishful thinking isn't enough: See your doctor for advice about diet and dieting.

Sponsored by the Rowan Museum, Inc., the show will open on Wednesday, Nov. 4, at 10:30 a.m. and run until 9:30 p.m., each day through Friday, Nov. 6.

Choice silver, handsome period furniture, china, crystal, jewelry, books, prints, toys, paintings, linens, quilts and other collectors' items will be displayed and sold by the 26 dealers coming from more than 10 states, which will include dealers showing for the first time.

Plans are made for the unusual assortment of homemade foods, which have drawn raves at past shows, to be served at the snack bar. Some of the homemade specialties include vegetable soup, chicken salad, pastries and cakes.

The show proceeds will benefit the historical restoration projects of Rowan Museum.

ARE YOU NOW RENTING?

YOU ARE ALREADY PAYING FOR A HOME . . . WHY NOT ENJOY YOUR OWN?

If you are now renting, chances are your rent payments could easily buy a home for your family. When carefully analyzed, it actually costs you less to buy your own home. Rent payments can not build an equity—cannot increase your net worth each month. Nor can rent payments give your family the real security of owning your own new home.

★ HERE ARE THE FACTS ON RENTING VERSUS OWNING A HOME . . .

American Builders recently reported: Think: Why Pay Rent?

This is the rent-money you are paying figured on a 5 per cent interest basis:

| Every Month | Over 10 Years | Over 15 Years | Over 20 Years | Over 25 Years |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| $ 50 | $ 7,546.68 | $12,947.10 | $19,839.54 | $28,636.20 |
| 60 | 9,056.02 | 15,536.52 | 23,807.45 | 34,363.44 |
| 75 | 11,320.02 | 19,420.65 | 29,759.31 | 42,954.30 |
| 85 | 12,829.36 | 22,010.07 | 33,727.22 | 48,681.54 |
| 100 | 15,093.36 | 25,894.20 | 39,679.08 | 57,272.40 |
| 150 | 22,640.04 | 38,841.30 | 59,518.62 | 85,908.60 |

And . . . in the end you will only have rent receipts—when, for no more, and perhaps less, you might own your own home . . .

☆ Save On Your Income Tax—This family saved 24 per cent!

The interest on your home loan and property are deductible from federal income tax. This reduces income taxes when you make payments on your own home. Here's an example of a 24 percent saving: A typical family of 4 with annual income of $7,500, having other deductions (medical expenses, donations, other interest and taxes) of 10 per cent, saved $216 the first year by deducting interest and average property taxes on a loan of $14,000. If they had been renting their income tax would have been $902. After getting tax deductions for interest and property taxes paid on their home, their tax was $686. You can save more or less depending on income, amount of loan, and other factors.

Makes sense doesn't it? It pays handsomely to buy and own your own new home. It is one of the most basic and sound investments in America.

CITIZENS ENDORSE NEW LIBRARY FACILITIES FOR DAVIE COUNTY

A Library!

Consider what you have in a library. A company of the wisest and wittiest men that could be picked out of all countries, in a thousand years, have set in best order the results of their learning and wisdom. The men themselves were hid and inaccessible, solitary, impatient of interruption, fenced by etiquette; but the thought which they did not uncover to their bosom friend is here written out in transparent words to us, the strangers of another age . . . EMERSON

An artists's drawing of the new Public Library Building proposed for construction on North Main Street in Mocksville.

A Library!

Let us pity those poor rich men who live barrenly in great bookless houses. Let us rejoice that in our day books are so cheap that a man every year may add hundreds of volumes to his library for the price that his tobacco and beer would cost him. Among the noblest of ambitions for all that are struggling up from nothing to something is that of owning and constantly adding to a library of good books. It is a man's duty to have books. A library is not a luxury, but one of the necessities of life.

—H. W. BEECHER

One of the major answers towards raising the standards of the community is making sure the young people are prepared to take responsibility in the future of the community. In order for this preparation to take place, the people of Davie County must prepare to meet the educational needs of the children . . . both in the present and in the future.

A new library is one of the basic needs of this time in the area of Davie County, and it is believed that this new facility will form the foundaton of new and greater things to come for the people of Davie County.

We believe that our new libray will be the brains and memory of Davie County . . . and will be a source of pride for every citizen . . . the key place to be shown to all visitors.

As interested citizens of Davie County we are lending our support to the project of securing these new library facilities

costs down; comfort up-

that's what happened when J. L. Stack of Colfax, N. C., switched to Electric Comfort Heating!

Four years ago the Stack family installed a flameless electric heating system in their 28-year-old home.

"Since then," Mr. and Mrs. Stack write, "we have enjoyed uniform heating in all rooms without the drafts and cold spots that we experienced with our previous heating systems. In addition to greater comfort, we also like the quietness and cleanliness of electric comfort heating. There is no smoke and less dust . . . and electric comfort heating costs less to operate than we had been paying."

Whether you're planning a new home, or remodeling your present one, it will pay you to investigate the many long-life advantages of this most modern of all heating systems. Duke Power doesn't sell or install Electric Comfort Heating but will be happy to furnish information. Contact any office.

Social Security In Davie County

Did you know that your social security work records are kept in Baltimore, Maryland and not in your local social security office? Your local office must obtain these records in order to answer questions about the amount of your social security benefits.

For this reason, Mr. Taft McCoy, Social Security Field Representative for Davie County, recommends that persons expecting to retire this year get in touch with their social security office by telephone or mail as much as 3 months prior to the date of their retirement.

A telephone call or letter made ahead of time will allow your local office to get your earnings record from Baltimore and tell you what proofs you will need to support your claim. When the records arrive, you will be notified to come to the district office to discuss filing your claim for social security benefits. By this date, you will have had time to get your required proofs and the social security office will be ready and expecting you.

If you are planning to retire soon, tell your social security office even sooner. You will not only insure the receipt of your first check on time, but may also avoid making unnecessary trips to the office.

Get in touch with your social security office at 105 Corriher Avenue, Salisbury, N. C. or telephone 633-4512.

★ ★ ★

About 300 disabled people and dependents in the Davie, Davidson, Iredell, and Rowan area will become eligible for social security disability insurance benefits or will have benefits they are now receiving increased, according to Robert C. Thomas, Social Security district manager in Salisbury.

The benefits and increases are provided by a new amendment to the social security law which changes the rule for setting the date on which a worker's "period of disability" started.

The new law removes a time limit which went into effect in July 1963 and permits the beginning of the "period of disability" for benefit purposes to be set at the time the worker actually became disabled. The change does not liberalize the requirements of the law in any way except to permit the actual date of disability to be recognized, Thomas pointed out. It affects only people who worked under social security for at least five of the ten years before they became disabled and who applied after July 2, 1962, or have not yet applied.

"We have the names and addresses of those who applied, and we either have already written to them or we will within a few days," Thomas said. They do not need to take any action right away, but if they do not hear from us within two weeks they should call or write us."

"On the other hand," Thomas emphasized, "there may be many former workers who are now disabled but who have never asked at the social security office to find out whether they may be eligible for social security disability insurance benefits. Some people did not apply because they realized that they were not eligible since they had waited byond the time limit for filing an application. Others may not have heard about disability benefits. We want to hear from them as soon as possible.

Increases in benefits now being paid will be retroactive to November 1963 and will be paid with the checks to be delivered early in December. ceople newly eligible for benefits because of the amendment will receive back payments to November 1963 if they apply before the end of November, 1964.

Two Vehicles Collide In Wreck Saturday

Two vehicles were damaged around 10:10 a.m. last Saturday morning on U. S. 158, two miles east of Smith Grove.

Damaged was a 1964 Chevrolet operated by Norris David Roberts, 31, of Huntsville, Alabama, and a 1955 International pickup truck operated by Alex Frank Laird, 64, of Advance, Rt. 1.

State Highway Patrolman Randall Beane said that his investigation showed that the Chevrolet and pickup were going east on U. S. 158 when Laird gave a signal to slow or stop. Roberts pulled out to pass the pickup which turned left and hit the right rear of the Chevrolet.

Damage to the Chevrolet was estimated at $100 and to the International pickup, $50.

Laird was charged with failure to see movement could be made safely and Roberts was charged with improper passing.

Woman Injured In Wreck Monday On U. S. 601 South

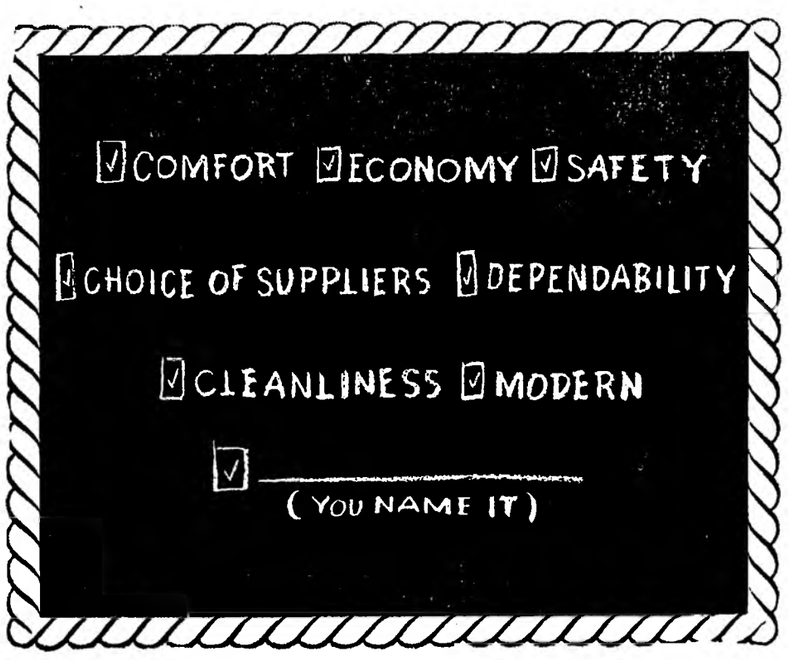

A woman was hospitalized and two other persons injured in a collision around 9:50 a.m. Monday on U. S. 601 South, just on the outskirts of Mocksville.

Mrs. Arizona Morrison Julian, 50, of Mocksville, Rt. 3, was hospitalized with head and chest injuries. Her husband, Richard Julian, 64, of Rt. 3, Mocksville, suffered an injury to his leg. Julian was operating a 1955 Pontiac in which his wife was a passenger.

The driver of a 1964 Chevrolet stepvan truck, Billy Ray Holder, 26, of Statesville, suffered an arm injury.

State Highway Patrolman Larry E. Woods said that his investigation showed that Holder was going south about 40-45 mph and Julian was going north about 40-45 mph. Julian told Patrolman Woods that he saw the truck but thought he could make a left turn and turn into the path of the truck which belonged to a catering service. The truck hit the right side of the Pontiac.

Julian was charged with failure to see intended movement made in safety.

Two Injured In Auto Collision On Sunday

The assistant Forsyth County jailer Herman Roberson underwent surgery at the Forsyth Memorial Hospital Monday for serious injuries he received in an automoible accident in Davie County Sunday.

Roberson suffered a shattered kneecap in the accident and is expected to be away from his job for weeks, possibly months.

His wife sustained several broken ribs in the same accident and is also in the hospital.

The accident in which they were injured occurred at the intersection of US 601 and NC 801, four miles south of Mocksville.

State Highway Patrolman L. E. Woods said the Robersons were traveling south on US 601 when a car driven by Thomas Napoleon Beck, 55, of Cooleemee, traveling east on NC 801, crossed the intersection into the path of the Roberson car.

Beck, who escaped injury, was charged with failing to yield right of way.

Library Consultant Speaks To Rotary Club

Miss Phyllis Snyder, Field Consultaant for the North Carolina Library, stressed the importance of library services at the regular meeting of the Mocksville Rotary Club, Tuesday.

Miss Snyder told the Rotarians that ". . . Education is a life-long process in which adequate library facilities play an important role."

"A library is one organization that all classes . . . all races . . . and all creeds . . . use," said Miss Snyder. "It remains an organization working with all ages and all individuals."

Miss Snyder stressed the importance of a library keeping pace with a growing and changing community.

She complimented Davie on having a trained librarian pointing out: "Five hundred trained librarians are needed in the state and there are only 166 . . . of which Davie County has one . . . Mrs. Paul Blackwelder."

She also commended Davie County on their project to secure new library facilities and explained what was needed in adequate library facilities. She pointed out that federal funds were now being administered by the state by which the county could receive 47c for each 53c it put into a new building . . . but that the money was available on a first-come and first-serve basis and would be allocated to the counties qualifying first.

Peter W. Hairston had charge of the program and introduced Miss Snyder. President John Durham presided.

Special guests included Knox Johnstone, Mrs. Paul Blackwelder and Gordon Earle of Salisbury.

Father-In-Law Is Arrested—

Man Shot Sunday Near Bixby

A family squabble near Bixby Sunday afternoon resulted in a Winston-Salem man being shot twice through the chest and his father-in-law lodged in the Davie County jail on charges of assault with a deadly weapon with intent to kill, inflicting serious injury.

The condition of Tommy S. Caudle, 53, of 5472 Pineview Drive, Winston-Salem, was reported as fair early this week. Caudle was shot twice with a .22 calibre pistol in the upper right portion of his chest. One bullet punctured his lung and the other bullet went entirely through his body.

Caudle was allegedly shot by his father-in-law, Henry Elon Teague, 59, at Teague's home in Bixby around 3 p.m. Sunday afternoon.

Sheriff George Smith said that conflicting tales were being told by the principals on just how the shooting occurred.

Sheriff Smith said that his investigation showed that Mr. and Mrs. Caudle (the former Evola Teague) went to her home in Bixby for a Sunday visit. Sheriff Smith said that Caudle claimed that Teague had been drinking and that he had the .22 pistol in the yard of the home and had threatened to shoot the others and then himself. Caudle said he was trying to get the pistol from his father-in-law when he was shot.

Sheriff Smith said that Teague told him he shot Caudle after his son-in-law knocked him down and attempted to attack him.

Assisting Sheriff Smith in the investigation were Deputies Joe Smith and L. K. Howard, and Jack Richardson of the State Bureau of Investigation.

We Goofed!-Again

Last Friday night the senior members of Davie High School Rebel's football team pointed the co-captains in the center of the field for the toss of the coin to start the game. Just for fun we thought we would count and see if all 14 of them were out there when we counted, there were 15! (This really mixed up things because we knew we ran pictures of 13 with an explanation that there was no picture for the 14th.) To make a long story short, we forgot about Ronnie Hellard! That's all. We forgot him! Ronnie was hurt last year and was not able to play at the start of the season. He did play some last Friday night . . . he was the No. 10 you football fans saw and maybe wondered who he was. He received more injuries last week and will have to be on crutches now, so we understand. Sorry we left you out and also sorry you got hurt again, Ronnie.

State Highway Patrolman Randall Beane said that his investigation showed that the accident occurred when Sharpe failed to see the Dodge and made a left turn into the driveway with the left front of the pickup hitting the left rear of the Dodge.

$90,000 Sought For New Structure—

Davie Library Fund Drive Underway

A drive to raise $90,000 for new library facilities for Davie County is now underway.

The drive was kicked off at a special dinner on Wed. night for key workers held at the Rotary Hut. Featured speaker was Dr. Dale Gramley, President of Salem College. Dr. Gramley stressed the importance of a good library and of the services it rendered in modern day society.

Miss Phyllis Snyder, Field Consultant for the N. C. State Library, also spoke and told the workers that for each .57c put up by Davie County . . . the county would receive an additional .43c in federal funds being administered by the state.

"This is available under a new bill just passed", said Miss Snyder. "In North Carolina we have $700,000 available this fiscal year and it is being administered on a first-come, first serve basis. It is important that a county qualify for their funds just as soon as possible as we do not know just what might be available next year or just how it will be administered", she said.

Knox Johnstone, fund drive chairman, stressed the importance of everyone in the county contributing to this fund.

"The library is an institution serving all of the people. It is there for use by all of the people . . . and we hope that the people will react to this drive with great unanimity", said Mr. Johnstone.

Mr. Johnson pointed out that this drive was being concentrated into an intensive one-week campaign.

"We hope that everyone will have been contacted and will have contributed by November 18th and that we have reached our goal", said Mr. Johnstone.

Mr. Johnstone also said that a large thermometer . . . marked off in units indicating monetary donations . . . would be erected on the square to visibly show the progress of the campaign. This project is being carried out by the Mocksville Moose Lodge.

The fund drive will be carried out by approximately 200 volunteer workers. These workers have been briefed in meetings at the Davie County Library and will be able to answer most any question a citizen might have.

The Building

The new library, which will house over 40,000 books, will be located on North Main Street on property formerly occupied by the Dodd house and the old Baptist personage. There will be a tree covered entrance easily accessible from the street and parking facilities and a drive-in book return window will be provided on the site.

The new building will contain a general reading area, an area for young adults, and a reference area. Just inside the door will be a magazine and new book area.

The new building will not only serve the community as a library but as a cultural center as well. The library is being planned so that a central children's room will serve the young and provide a place for consultation with parents and teachers on the children's needs.

There will be a special history room that will preserve records of local history. Any book, pamphlet that will help tell the story of Davie County and North Carolina hundreds of years ago will be preserved in this room. History groups in the community will have excellent opportunities for special projects for this room.

Meeting rooms within the library will serve many purposes. Community groups will be provided meeting room space adjacent to the informational and educational resources of the library. One room will be equipped for conversion into a story-hour room for the children, but will be available as a multipurpose meeting room. Audio-visual materials will be projected as a service to the groups meeting in the rooms, and special library sponsored showings of educational films will be conducted. Adjacent to the meeting room will be provided a small kitchenette for limited use during community functions.

These facilities will be adequate for the next 20 years.

Job To Be Done In Three Stages—

Farm Census Plans Announced

Plans for taking the 1964 Census of Agriculture in Davie County have been announced by Clyde Glasscock, newly appointed census crew leader for the county.

The job will be done in three stages, Mr. Glassock said. First will come recruitment and training of enumerators to count all farms in the county. About one enumerator for each 150 farms will be needed.

Shortly after November 19, the Bureau of Census, an agency of the U. S. Department of Commerce, will start the second stage by nailing agricultural census questionaires to all rural boxholders in the county. This will give farm and ranch operators, who are required by law to fill out the forms, a period of time to consult their records and fill in answers to the questions.

In the final stage, enumerators will visit each farm in the county to collect the questionnaires. At the time of this visit, the enumerators will help farmers complete answers to any questions the farmers may have had difficulty with. Enumerator visits are scheduled to begin in this county on November 23rd. Enumerators will take about three weeks to complete their work, Mr. Glasscock estimates.

The Census of Agriculture is taken every five years in the years ending in "4" and "9" to gather up-to-date information on the nation's agricultural resources and production. Such information is vital in making decisions affecting many segments of the U. S. economy. Data gathered include the number and size of farms, acreage and harvest of crops, livestock inventory, information on farm equipment and facilities, farm products sold, and use of fertilizers, insecticides, and herbicides.

State Highway Patrolman Randall Beane is still investigating an accident involving hit and run that occurred around 10:15 p.m. last Saturday on NC 801, five miles southeast of Cooleemee.

A vehicle going north on NC 801 hit the Ford in the rear, knocking the Ford into the driveway and overturned. The vehicle then continued on without stopping.

Otis Griffin Looks Forward to His Life in Wheelchair

By SUSAN FURR
Salisbury Post Staff Writer

"The first day of school I was registering students," Louise Tucker of Catawba College said, "when I heard a bump, bump, bump. I looked over at the stairs and saw Otis coming down backwards from the third floor in his wheel chair. I was nervous anyhow that day and you can imagine how that affected me. I told some boys to go over and help him, for goodness sakes!

Otis is Otis Griffin, a junior at Catawba this year. He has been confined to a wheel chair since he was in a truck accident at 15 years of age. He is now 26 and lives in Mocksville with his wife, Pat, who, too, has been confined to a wheel chair since she was stricken with polio at 10 years of age.

About that wheel chair incident, Otis said he was at first upset when college officials asked him not to try coming down the stairs by himself anymore. "I could understand why they didn't want me to though," the quiet, bespectacled student said.

Otis considered this just another to-be-expected experience that comes with being in a wheel chair. He remembered when Pat was not allowed to go into a theater when they lived in Richmond, Va., because theatre officials said she was a "fire hazard." "I guess they were afraid she would block the aisle or something" he explained.

"I might sometimes give the impression that I resent being helped," he said, "but I think I should do as much for myself as I possibly can. If there's something I want to do and can't without help, I don't mind asking if the people don't mind helping." Asking for help can sometimes be a problem. Otis said he would rather sit all day than have someone help him who resented doing it for some reason (usually lack of time).

Otis learned how to go downstairs when he had classes on the second floor at the Richmond Professional Institute. "It's not hard," he said. "All I do is hold on the handrail and back the chair off. The chair goes step by step and I slide my hands down the rail. The foot pedals act as a brake. They'll hold me on the step."

Otis is originally from Arkansas, Pat, who is the guidance counselor at Davie County High School, from South Carolina. They met three years ago on a bus which carried disabled students to classes at the University of Illinois.

TOGETHER—Otis Griffin, a Catawba College math major, readies himself for homework. His wife, Pat, guidance counselor at Davie County High School, is always beside him during the nightly vigils. Both are confined to wheel chairs.

After their marriage they moved to Virginia where Pat worked at the Woodrow Wilson Rehabilitation Center for three months to complete her master's degree in guidance and counseling. Next, they moved to Richmond, and, finally, this summer to Mocksville.

"We like the town very much," Pat said. "We've made a lot of friends here, many more than in Richmond. "It's getting to the point where we don't have enough hours in the day," Otis grinned.

That might be, too because they have bought them a house on Forest Lane in Mocksville and are busy working on it. For example, Pat sowed the curtains, and Otis put up most of them by placing a board across the arms of his chair and sitting on it. "That was high enough to hang them," he said. "Of course, it might be a sloppy job."

Otis, a math major, thinks he will probably teach after graduation. He probably would never have gone to college had he not been involved in the accident because boys in Arkansas from the area where Otis lived became, for the most part, manual laborers, married at 18 or so and had a houseful of kids as soon as possible. "I was out of school and doing manual labor with my father when I had the accident," he said.

"I knew I had to go back to school after the accident," he said. You can't do manual labor from a wheel chair. At that time they were sticking almost every handicapped person in watchmaking so I studied it at Kilgore Junior College in Texas for a year. Afterwards, it was right difficult to find a job." Just about that time, he had the chance to go to the University of Illinois and snapped it up.

And to this point, that is the story of Otis' life.

"I don't think life has been difficult," he said. "I've enjoyed it."

"There's one thing I want you to do for me," he said after the interview. "Don't make this thing mushy. Pat and I have read stories that got pretty bad sometimes, saying things like "They went to the altar in matching wheel chairs" or "They did not have anything to live for so they married and had each other."

"We're not mushy people. We're not unhappy. We're very happy and we do have things to live for and are looking forward to living it."

"Everybody is limited in some way. We just get around a little differently than most people."

Wool Growers Urged To Keep Records; Year Ends Dec. 31

Wool growers—particularly those who market their lambs in the fall—were reminded recently about the importance of keeping adequate records of their sales so that they will be able to make proper applications for payments under the wool incentive program.

According to A. P. Hassell, Jr., Executive Director for the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation State Committee, the sales record for lambs sold should include the name of the buyer, his signature, and the number and liveweight of lambs sold, plus the description "unshorn." Lamb payments are made only on lambs that have never been shorn, to discourage unusual shearing of lambs before selling.

Hasell also reminded growers that current marketings of wool and lambs through Dec. 31, 1964, will qualify for incentive payments under the wool program for the 1964 marketing year. Beginning with 1964, the marketing year is the calendar year.

Growers are urged to file their applications for payment, supported by the required sales documents, with their ASCS county office as soon as possible after their fall sales are completed. While applications for payments on 1964 marketings may be filed not later than the end of Jan., 1965, an application may be submitted at any time between now and then.

Mr. Hassell said that lamb feeders particularly should keep accurate records which will establish the length of time they have owned lambs on which they apply for payment. Lamb payments are made only on lambs which a producer has owned for 30 days or more, and the amount of payment is based on weight gain of the lambs during the seller's ownership.

Cotton Important To North Carolina

The production of cotton is still a very important segment of the economy of North Carolina, according to A. P. Hassell, Jr., Executive Director for the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation State Committee. The total value of the 1964 crop will probably exceed $60 million to North Carolina farmers.

Hassell said that the cotton crop affects all segments of our agricultural economy. Many local businessmen are in some way dependent on cotton production for a percentage of their business. Cotton production reaches the banker, grocery store operator, building contractor, oil man and practically every other business in North Carolina. Also, there are many thousand people employed in the production and manufacturing of cotton goods all across the State.

Cotton farmers will be making another decision about the type program they want for 1965 very soon. On Dec. 16, cotton farmers will vote in a referendum to determine if marketing quotas will be in effect for 1965. In order for quotas to be in effect, they must be approved by two-thirds majority of all farmers voting. Hassell urges all farmers to study the issues and vote in the referendum on Dec. 15.

Rebels At North Rowan Friday—

Davie Routs East 61 to 0

Davie High rolled up the highest score in school's football history . . . and trounced East Rowan 61 to 0 last Friday night in a North Piedmont Conference game. The victory gave Davie a record of 6 wins and 3 losses with one more game to play.

On Friday night the Rebels will close out the season at North Rowan.

The Rebels wasted little time in scoring last Friday night. Recovering a Mustang fumble on the opening kickoff, Davie scored five plays later with Bill Nesbit scooting over from the four. Billy Murphy kicked the extra point.

On the ensuing kickoff, East's Frank Turner galloped through the entire Rebel team for 76 yards before being pulled down from behind on the four by Donald Beck. The Rebel line then rose up to throw Larry Wagoner for a 5-yard loss and Mickey Holshouser for a 3-yard loss and two passes fell incomplete.

Davie took over and scored in 15 plays. Nyarex Barnhardt carried the ball across the goal line from the two. Murphy booted the extra point. Actually Randall Ward scampered 75 yards earlier for a touchdown, but an official thought another Davie player had the ball and blew the whistle too soon.

The teams traded fumbles. After East was unable to move early in the second period, Earl Shoaf crashed through and blocked a punt which was scooped up by Ken Boger who ran 15-yards untouched for the TD. Again Murphy kicked the extra point to put Davie ahead 21-0, with 10:48 left in the half.

Jim Short intercepted an East pass to give Davie possession again. John Parker completed a 23-yard pass to Larry Bailey and Ward ran around right end for 25 yards and another touchdown. Again it was Murphy splitting the uprights to give Davie a 28-0 margin.

Soon after the kickoff it was Short again intercepting an East pass and John Parker carried it over from the four and Murphy kicked the extra point.

Davie added two more touchdowns in the final minutes. Jim Short intercepted his third pass of the night and shortly there after the Rebels scored on a 41-yard pass from Earl Shoaf to Ronnie Foster. Murphy kicked the extra point. Shoaf passed to Ronnie Hellard for a 28-yard scoring play to complete the first-half rout with a 48-0 lead.

Davie scored only once in the third quarter. Nesbit recovered a blocked East quick kick and ran 15 yards untouched for the score.

Davie's final drive began on the East 41. Donnie Beck ran through the middle for 11 yards for the TD. David Robertson scored the final point for the Rebels on a run.

Every player on the Davie squad saw action, with the reserve unit playing most of the game.

Randall Ward carried the ball 9 times for a net gain of 93 yards; David Robertson carried the ball 10 times for a net gain of 75 yards; Don Beck carried the ball eight times for a net gain of 62 yards; Bill Nesbit carried the ball 10 times for a net gain of 38 yards.

The entire team stood out on defense. Jim Short intercepted three consecutive passes and broke up several more for the Rebels.

Cooleemee Native Killed In Crash

A Cooleemee native, First Lieutenant Larry C. Dennis, was killed in a flaming plane crash Thursday, Nov. 5 at Portsmouth, N. H., while his horror-stricken parents watched.

Lieut. Dennis was one of five crew members aboard an air force Stratojet which was taking part in a refueling exercise over the Pease Air Force Base near Portsmouth.

The lieutenant's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Dennis of Richmond, Va., had arrived at Portsmouth to visit their son, an only child. They had gone to the air base to watch the maneuver, knowing that Larry was a member of the Stratojet.

According to wire reports, the plane, which was loaded with gasoline, crashed and burned during the takeoff. The crash took place only moments after the plane lifted off the ground. It was the fourth of five planes that were to take part in the operation.

The air force fire fighters rushed to the scene and covered the wreckage with foam. But only three of the five bodies could be immediately recovered.

Lt. Dennis, who was 25 or 26 years old, spent much of his early life in Cooleemee. His parents were both natives of the Davie area. His mother was the former Gladys Cope, a sister of Radford Cope of Salisbury. The family moved to Norfolk where Lt. Dennis was graduated from the Granbery High School and attended William and Mary College.

In Deacs Victory Over Duke—

John Grimes Praised For Effort

John Grimes, former Davie High star athlete of Cooleemee, played an important role in the upset victory of Wake Forest over Duke last Saturday.

John, who plays the tight-end position for the Deacons, was the captain of the team last Saturday in their 20-7 victory.

"It was my greatest thrill," said Grimes happily. "The very greatest in high school, college or any time."

John was the subject of a feature article in Monday afternoon's Twin City Sentinel which pointed out that he predicted the Deacs' victory.

Henry Shutt, an alumnus of Duke University, also had high praise for John Grimes. In a letter of this nowspaper Henry wrote:

"As an alumnus of Duke University, I went to Winston-Salem last Saturday fully expecting to see Duke beat Wake Forest. As most sports fans know, just the opposite occurred.

"The purpose of this letter is to single out a player who contributed greatly to this Wake Forest victory. This person is Johnny Grimes. Johnny not only spoke well for himself, Coach Tate, and Wake Forest, but also for Davie High School and Coach Ward. This was evident not only in the way that Johnny played, but also by the fact that he was chosen captain for the game.

"Applause is also due the Davie High School Band which performed at the game Saturday.

"In closing I would like to say that it is seldom we have had a chance to see a Davie County native perform after he graduates from high school. Wake Forest plays N. C. State on Friday night, Nov. 20, in Winston-Salem. This is an opportunity to see Johnny and I would like to urge you to do so."

. . . signed, Henry Shutt

The Sentinel Article

The article by Mary Garber quotes Grimes as saying:

"We knew we were going to do all night after that first play (Saturday). I was on the sideline because I played mostly offense. But when our defensive line rose up and ran over Duke, Duke knew right then it was going to be a long afternoon.

"I think we all realized it would take a great effort to beat Duke. We finally got our offense and defense going together and we had our running and passing working. We didn't rely on one or the other. Everything went together and we knew it had to be all the way.

"The students helped us, too, with that trip to the practice feild on Thursday. We already had good spirit but that helped it.

"And the coaching staff did a good job in getting us ready. Duke didn't do anything that we weren't prepared for.

"They were a typical Duke team. We just out-manned them. We took the ball and rammed it down their throats.

The article points out that Grimes may have been one of the first to predict the Wake Forest victory.

Friday afternoon after the Wake Forest freshmen had pulled an upset in beating South Carolina freshmen, 28-23, Grimes was walking across the campus.

"Hey, John," said one of the freshmen rooters, "Now you go and beat Duke."

Grimes grinned. "We sure will," he promised.

Reminded of what had seemed at the time a rash prediction, John's grin just widened.

"Sure, the freshman win helped some," said Grimes. "Anytime Wake Forest wins in anything it helps."

But Grimes wanted it plainly understood that this victory was the varsity's not given to them by anyone, just won on their own merit.

Likes Two-Platoon

Grimes likes the two-platoon system which Wake Forest used for the first time Saturday.

"I didn't play much on defense," he said. "But I like to play offense. It makes me feel good to throw a block and see a back get away for a good run."

With Wake Forest tied for third in the ACC with a 3-2 record, Grimes was looking ahead.

"We could tie for the conference championship if we could win these last two games (against South Carolina and N. C. State)," he said. "We think we have a real good chance."

Grimes looked down at the football in his hands, saw it was autographed by the Wake Forest players. It was the game ball from the victory over Maryland.

Now, the Deacons will have to autograph another football for the Duke game and put it in the trophy case.

"You keep winning," said assistant coach Dick Anderson, "and we'll supply all the footballs you need."

Grimes just kept smiling.

Davie Needs $90,000 As It's Share—

The New Library . . . A Project Of The People

Now underway in Davie County is a concerted fund raising drive for new library facilities. Being sought is $90,000 which will be the county's part on new facilities estimated to cost around $156,000.

State Library officials have approved the Davie County project for a share of state and federal funds provided the county can raise it's share. On reaching the $90,000 goal, Dvaie County will receive around $68,000 from the state to apply on the construction costs.

Knox Johnstone, chairman of the fund raising drive for Davie, pointed out, however, that these state-federal funds were on a first-come, first-serve basis. They are available to help a county and will be allocated to the counties that can definitely guarantee project completion at an early date. As Mr. Johnson pointed out: "When Davie has it's share of the money in the bank. . . we will be able to get the remainder from the state . . . provided other counties have not beaten us to it."

For the reasons set forth above, the fund raising drive will not be long and drawn-out . . . it will last only through November 18th. During this period volunteers in all sections of the county will contact Davie County citizens and ask them to have a part in this project.

"It is hoped that every person in the county will feel that this library is for him and give whatever he is able in order to have a part in ti", said M.r Johnstone is discussing plans for the drive. He pointed out that all work and campaign expenses are being given by interested citizens so that every dollar given in donations will be tax deductible.

Donations of $100 or more that are given as memorials or tributes will be entered in a permanent book of remembrance.

A new library is one of the basic needs of Davie County at this time . . . and certainly this new facility will form the foundation of new and greater things to come for the people of Davie County.

This newspaper urges the full support and cooperation in this project of each and every citizen in the county. For to paraphrase a famous utterance of 100-years ago, the Davie County Library project is also: "Of the people . . . by the people . . . and for the people".

Community Development At Work—

Marquee Modernizes Mocksville

Approximately one year ago the merchants of Mocksville were asked by the Mocksville Junior Chamber of Commerce to finance a study of the shopping area of the city. A majority of them did so and an architect was hired, a preliminary sketch drawn and submitted for approval These sketches were then presented to the Mocksville Community Development Association for further study.

Three major areas were selected from the drawings for immediate attention . . . namely the store fronts, the four plots on the square, and the vacant lot between Edd's Radio and TV and the Knox Johnstone building. The responsibility of organizing and directing this work was assigned to the business improvement committee of the Development Association consisting of James Foster, Chairman; Fred Barnes and G. W. Campbell. Dr. Victor L. Andrews was selected sub-chairman. After numerous meetings and many hours of work there now begins to appear visible results.

The mayor and town board of commissioners gave the necessary cooperation to clear any legal barriers for the construction of the marquee for the stores and gave permission to beautify the plots.

The marquee being constructed on the northwest side of the shopping area of the square is calculated to add comfort and convenience to the buying public of Davie County. Continuity and beauty were given important positions in the planning of this phase of redevelopment. The sidewalks under the marquee will be lighted the entire night with the lights being synchronized with the street lights. Signs of equal and uniform size will designate each place of business and will be the only item hanging from the marquee ceiling.

This is the first step towards what many citizens hope will be a major awakening of interest not only in the commercial activities of Mocksville but in all areas of community life. Many m@ore ideas are being explored by the community Development Association and will be brought to the public in the near futue.

The help and cooperation of every citizen of Mocksville and Davie County will be needed to bring about the results that can make for all its citizens a more wholesome and appealing place to live and work. This cannot be done in a few days or a few months. A start has been made and we hope the momentum will never cease but only be tempered with reasoning and wisdom so that when a backward glance is taken all may say:

"It is good and well done!"

This Year Is A Bumper Crop—

Apples . . . And Facts And Fancies

If the United States' apple cart were upset this year, 14 billion apples would roll out.

Despite a summer-long drought which cut down the size of apples growing in orchards of the central Appalachians, a nationwide harvest of 141.2 million bushels is expected by the Agriculture Department. This is 13 percent greater than the 1963 crop.

Americans will use most of this fruit, for few apples are exported, the National Geographic Society says. The apple can make good claim to being the all-American fruit. It grows in nearly every state. More apples — and apple pies — are produced in the United States than in any other country. Foreign growers favor American varieties.

Befoe apples reach pie pans, teachers' desks, lunch pails, and cider jugs, they have been handled by an impressive array of equipment.

No one has yet perfected an automatic picker, but machines wash and polish, wrap and pack, peel and core, slice and squeeze, cook and can, thousands of pounds of apples.

Choice apples are put to sleep, in effect, to preserve freshness for months beyond the harvest season. Since apples, like human beings, need oxygen and breathe out carbon dioxide, the rate of respiration can be slowed down by reducing oxygen and temperature in airtight storage rooms. Such hibernating apples keep their just-picked freshness up to a year.

Ever since Eve persuaded Adam to try one, apples have been a worldwide favorite. Europe's Stone-Age man hoarded them in caves. Ancient Romans, wrote Pliny the Elder, munched on at least 22 different varieties. By the time Columbus sailed to America, the apple was the most important cultivated fruit in central and northern Europe.

A hardy tree, the apple was able to withstand extremes of temperature. The fruit kept well, an important consideration before refrigeration.

The first settlers to the New World brought apples. Soon Indian tribes were planting orchards. John Chapman earned a new name as he roamed about Ohio and Indiana in the early 19th century, teaching the gospel and planting apples. He became known and celebrated as Johnny Appleseed.

John McIntosh planted an orchard in Canada's Dundas County, Ontario, with unreliable seeds. The trees were all runts except for one, the source of every McIntosh apple eaten today. Grateful citizens in Dundas erected a stone monument to honor McIntosh and his single good tree.

Apples have long been credited with healing powers. A recent experiment tends to support the old adage that an apple a day keeps the doctor away. Researchers at Michigan State University reported that a group of 1,300 students who ate apples regularly for three years had "significantly fewer" colds and tension-caused illnesses than their follow students.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor:

Would you please print the following letter of appreciation:

The Davie County Rescue Squad and Mr. Eddie Newsome unrelentingly and tirelessly gave of their time and talents to the Home Furnishings Auction Sale last Saturday.

The Rescue Squad had a road block planned, but when they were called on to help at the auction sale, they forfeited their plans. The squad moved furniture and household articles from the beginning to the end of the sale and helped cleanup after the sale.

Eddie Newsome from Farmington was the auctioneer for the sale. He helped the two days prior to the sale sorting and rearranging the articles. On the day of the sale he auctioned every piece without stopping to eat lunch or to catch his breath. Not one penny did he charge.

The Mocksville Woman's Club publicly thanks the Rescue Squad and Mr. Newsome for their service beyond the call of duty. They have certainly practiced what the late John F. Kennedy instructed the American People to do . . . "Ask not what your country will do for you . . . but ask what you can do for your country".

The Mocksville Woman's Club

TEXT: "Let all things be done decently and in order" - 1 Cor. 14:-40.

A candidate rushing to address a meeting during an election campaign was stopped by a newspaper reporter.

"What do you think of the political situation now?" the reporter asked.

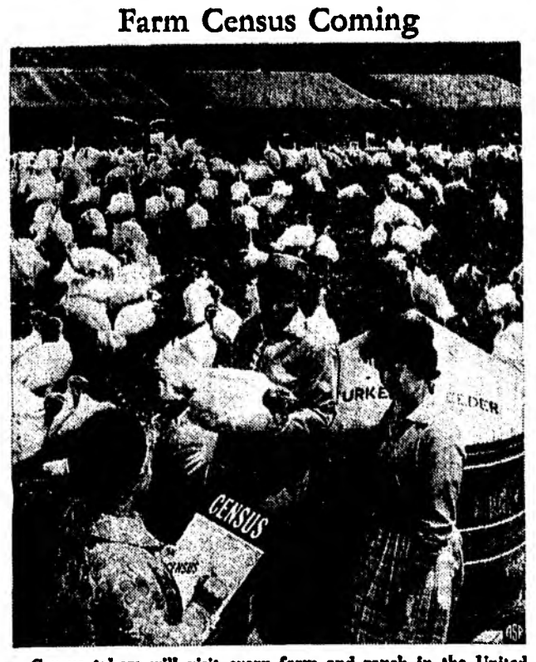

"Don't bother me!" snapped the candidate. "I've got to talk. This is no time to think."

The reason that so many people seem to act at "loose ends' 'is because they are at "loose ends". In business, in the social world, in every phase of living, 90% of all people do not take time to think or plan. The result is an over-abundance of disorder, waste, foolishness and futile running in circles with shouts of "I'm busy! I must act! I have no time to think!"

The comparative few who attain success do so taking time to think. They know what they want to accomplish. They plan orderly progress toward their goals. Thinking and planning, they act without waste, channeling all their energies in a selected direction. Success comes more easily and surely while others look to them for leadership. Though few do, anyone can join the successful 10% simply by thinking and planning an orderly direction for whatever they desire to accomplish. Isn't it a habit worth forming?

Farm Census Coming

Census takers will visit every farm and ranch in the United States during November or December as part of the 1964 Census of Agriculture, conducted by the U.S. Bureau of the Census. Census questionnaires will be delivered by mail; the farmer will answer the questions and keep the questionnaire until the census taker calls for it. Answers are confidential and are used only for statistics. From the last Census of Agriculture in 1959 the nation learned that the number of farms had dropped by about 1 million in five years, but farm production had increased.

SENATOR SAM ERVIN SAYS:

MORGANTON — When the voters indicated their choice for President and Vice President on November 3 they set in motion an indirect system of choosing these officials. The process will not be concluded until the Electors cast their ballots on December 14 and Congress tabulates the votes on January 6. The system renews the quadrennial concern over the manner of electing the President and Vice President.

Constitutional provisions which govern the Electoral College have existed for more than 150 years, but time and custom have made changes in its operation. In the first years of our national government, State legislatures picked the electors. Gradually thereafter two significant changes occurred. Each State began to permit the people to select the members of the Electoral College who in turn chose the President and Vice President. In the the mid-1830's State legislatures decided to adopt the concept that the candidate who won the popular vote of a State would also win the entire electoral vote of that State. Since 1836, there have been only two notable exceptions to this rule. In 1876, the Colorado legislature chose the State's electors. In 1892, Michigan's electors were chosen on a district basis.

In recent years Gallup polls have indicated that a majority of the people favor a change in the method of electing our President. The June 15 Supreme Court decision setting forth the "one man, one vote" view in the election of State legislatures also raises questions over the Constitutionally sanctioned Electoral College.

Concern over the Electoral College provision is not new. The first Constitution Amendment offered on this subject came on January 6, 1797. Since then, hardly a Congressional session has gone by without the introduction of Amendments to alter the method of electing a President.

The fact that the present electoral system has elected three Presidents who received less popular votes than their opponents has been of long standing concern. But another major concern arises over the Constitutional permission whereby electors could cast their votes in disregard of the popular will. Admitttedly, it is seldom done.

Although there has been considerable dissatisfaction with the Electoral College system, no clear consensus has emerged on how it should be changed. Some members of Congress favor the direct election of the President on the basis of popular vote. Others prefer the preservation of the Electoral College as such with the amendment that electors be chosen on the basis of the popular vote in each district with two Statewide electors chosen in addition thereto. I favor the proportional plan which I introduced as a resoultion in 1961 It woud measure the State's electoral votes in proportion to the popular votes received by each candidate for the Presidency. A similar plan passed the Senate in 1950 but did not receive House approval.

The proportional plan would do away with the individual electors, but would retain the Federal principles embedded in the Electoral College system whereby each State's vote would reflect its membership in the House and Senate. It would accurately reflect its membership in the House and Senate. It would accurately reflect the sentiments of the people in each State to a much greater degree than the present "winner-take-all" concept in electoral voting. The proportional plan also appears to have the best chance of getting the necessary two - thirds consent of the Congress, and the approval by three-fourths of the State legislatures.

Thus far too many cooks have spoiled the hopes of bringing out one recipe to change the present Constitutional provision. Whether a new proposal can get the consensus necessary is still problematical.

Uncle Dave From Davie Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

Outside of politics, the papers was mostly full of nothing last week. But it's the business of newspaper folks to make nothing sound powerful interesting and they to a pritty good job of it.

Fer instant, I was reading where a feller in New Mexico picked up four hitch hikers and they slugged him and robbed him of $300. The next night he picked up two more and they stole his car. The next two he picks up ought to take him out of circulation. A feller that dumb ain't got no business running loose amongst his fellowmen.

And I see where them English diplomats at the United Nations says we had ought to have another summit conference with Russia "at any cost." I can't see no harm in it. Uncle Sam always pays the cost anyhow. Russia won more at Yalta and them other summit meetings than we've won in all the wars we ever fought.

Then they was this feller from New York named Dr. Milo Brooks that says he has come to the end of the row in knowing where to vaccinate a girl so's it won't show when she grows up. He claims he started years ago on the arm and has now run out of territory that won't be exposed to view in these new swim suits. My advice to the good Doctor is to git 'em young, afore they start walking, and vaccinate 'em on the bottom of the foot. It's beginning to look like that was a woman's last outpost fer modesty.

And some electronal company in Chicago has announced they has invented a automatic secretery machine that will answer a letter, type it, address the envelop, seal it and put a stamp on it. The piece didn't say, but I reckon it will also chew gum.

And they was a lot of talk in the papers about this feller Peron might come back to Argentina. If he makes it by Christmas he'll file his application fer a loan—git it. And if he don't make it back till March he'll still git it. Uncle Sam plays Santa Claus the year round.

And I was reading a small item where some woman in Miami killed herself and left a note saying she done it fer "no reason at all." It shows the world has strayed so far from common sense that people was going crazy, just doing anything fer "no reason at all."

But they was one encouraging item in the papers last week. They ain't moved Thanksgiving. Onct more it'll come on the last Thursday in November. Roosevelt moved it around so much a feller never knowed much in advance wren he would give thanks fer his blessings. All he knowed fer shore was that come March 15 he would have to pay the Guvernment fer 'em.

Yours truly,
Uncle Dave

NEWS AND COMMENT FROM OUR RALEIGH BUREAU

DECLINE . . . Although the certified list of Republicans elected to the Legislature on Nov. 3 has been slow in reaching the State Board of Elections, as of this past week end it looked as if there would be a total of 14 in the two Houses.

In 1960—when the GOP made its greatest upsurge in 30 years—we had 23 Republicans in the N. C. General Assembly.

★ ★ ★

KINFOLKS . . . "What did your pappy do?" is an old Tarheelian get-acquaintel question when the older generation is trying to learn more about the young fry coming on. Let's apply it to North Carolina politics.

In the South we are great on family. There were the Bankhead's of Alabama, the Talmadge's of Georgia, the Byrd's of Virginia. And, of course, up in New England there were the Adamases, etc.

But we've never seen anything to compare with the 1965 Legislature in this regard.

The pappy of Lt. Gov. Bob Scott, who will preside over the State Senate ,was Gov. W. Kerr Scott. The daddy of Hoyt Patrick Taylor, who will as Speaker preside over the House, was Lt. Gov. Pat Taylor.

In the State Senate there will be Hector MacLean of Lumberton, whose father was Angus W. McLean (the son officially changed the spelling), Governor from Jan., 1925 to Jan., 1929.

The pappy of State Sen. Lindsay Warren is Lindsay Carter Warren, former Congressman and U. S. Comptroller General for 13 years. The elder Lindsay lives in fairly good health in Washington, N .C., and the son is an attorney in Goldsboro. The father has also served in the State Senate.

The pappy of State Sen. Irwin Belk, who led the ticket in Mecklenburg County and has served two terms in the House and one in the Senate, was none other than W. H. Belk, founder of the famous Belk stores.

Go back over to the House and you find none other than Sam J. Ervin III, son of our senior U. S. Senator Sam Ervin, as a new member.

And, to go a step further, the chairman of the N. C. Democratic Executive Committee, is a son of a great Governor, J. Melville Broughton.

Oh, it is so: "A good name is rather to be chosen that great riches . . . "

★ ★ ★

OF GOOD FAMILY . . . "Most of us cannot leave our children much material wealth. The land, stocks, houses, farm equipment, and other such valuables we possess may not amount to much. Nevertheless all of us, when our sons and daughters move into new neighborhoods, may well wish to have it said of them, "They come of a good family."

So wrote Dr. Clarence Poe, editor of the Progressive Farmer for 67 years, a few days before he died. This article was published in the November issue of the magazine.

It is so often the case that we find young men unable—or unwilling—to walk in their fathers' footsteps. We can all think of several illustrations: two or three in national politics, alas.

But here in North Carolina we have many men of importance of whom it can be said: "He comes of a good family."

And—mout it be so—forevermore.

★ ★ ★

PREDICTIONS . . . The elections turned out in North Carolina almost on the pinhead of predictions. President Johnson ran better here than we thought he would — and Goldwater was weaker than predicted. Otherwise, everything went by the form book.

★ ★ ★

COMPARISONS . . . In 1960, Nixon received 655,420 votes in North Carolina. This year, Golwater will receive about 635,000 (returns are now being surveyed by the State Board of Elections). In 1960, Kennedy came out with 714,136 votes. Johnson will receive about 810,000.

Terry Sanford polled 735,248 votes in 1960. Dan K. Moore this time polled 780,000, with votes still coming in. Sanford beat Gavin four years ago 121,273. Moore beat Gavin in 1964 by better than 172,000 votes. Gavin in 1960 came out with 613,975 votes; this time with about 608,000.

★ ★ ★

IN THE DISTRICTS . . . It was impossible this time to "keep cool with Cooley." He came within a fraction of losing his time-worn seat in the House. Had his opponent, a young businessman by the name of Gardner (no kin), not embraced Goldwater, coat-tails, pants, and glasses, he could have won.

Another thing: about five days before the election, scores of Raleigh business people normally uninterested in politics, were called into the fray. They gave of both time and money. It was critical, they were told. It was, too.

Harold Cooley now knows—if he hasn't known before—taht there are hundreds, yet, thousands, of people in his recomposed Fourth District, who don't want him in the Congress.

If there isn't a shift of sentiment, the Fourth can go Republican, burdened as it is with Randolph and Davidson . . . any time.

The main reason Ralph Scott beat out Republican (former Democrat) Nab Armfield in the Fifth is that a lot of people there figured Scott is probably more conservative than Armfield. Republicans Jonas and Broyhill are just as liberal as Ralph Scott.

★ ★ ★

END OF ROAD . . . Many of our fine Democratic leaders are in their mid-60's . . . and, one by one, are shuffling off the scene. It is a time of change, now, and some of those you voted for on Nov. 3 . . . will never get your vote again.

SO THIS IS NEW YORK . . .

With the election over, it is recalled that during the heated campaign, much was said about all kinds of security. Yet, as some one has pointed out, no one has a good word to say about insecurity. But were it not for insecurity, we might never have advanced beyond the caveman stage. Insecurity in some form has been said to have been behind most of the progress made by minkind, and the tension of insecurity is often needed to prod people into action.

People are accustomed to seeing Howard Johnson restaurants along the highways and usually far removed from the cities, so it is interesting to note that the biggest one of the these restaurants is now located on 42nd Street in New York City. It can serve 400 persons at a time and is open seven days a week. A patron not long ago filled out one of the cards at his plate, which asked him to give his opinion of the service - that day it was slow. What was his surprise to receive in the mail a pleasant reply from Howard Johnson himself.

The late Clarence Darrow once addressed a woman's club meeting and chose to speak on the Phoenicians. His talk was so learned and effective that the chairman asked the audience how they might express their appreciation for such a splendid speech. Where upon Mr. Darrow sprang to his feet again and added, "Ladies, I forgot to mention an important point in my speech. The Phoenicians invested money."

During World War II, I served in the army with a genial gentleman, Colonel John Reitmeyer. In civilian life, he was a newspaper man so he made a top-notch public relations officer. The other day I received in the mail a copy of the 200th Anniversary edition of the Hartford Courant of which now John is president and publisher. The bulky and colorful newspaper showed the mark of his expert hand influence. Filled with authentic accounts of events which made the history of this nation, as well as the Courant, the publication is a credit to the journalistic profession. Congratulations to this fine newspaper on its commemorative occasion.

As has recently been demonstrated in this country, we have a freedom of political expression found in few places. Yet politics and religion are still sensitive subjects for many people An American who was in Paris during World War II went to the basement of the hotel where he was staying, along with other guests, during a bombing raid. This was the room used by employee of the hotel and on the wall was a sign which stated, "No religion or politics may be discussed here." While there may have been reasons for this prohibition among the employes, it was in marked contrast to the freedom of speech we have in America.

The lowly soda cracker, according to one account, is responsible for revolutionizing grocery stores. At the turn of the century, this tasty tidbit was a standard fixture of such stores but the open barrels they were kept in exposed the crackers to dampness and left something to be desired in sanitation. Also such an arrangement did not give the bakers much chance to display their trademarks and persuade the customers that there was something special about the crackers. The solution was to pack them in brightly colored containers that could be sold one to a customer. The baker laid a sheet of wax paper on a piece of cardboard and folded the crackers

HOW FREQUENTLY SHOULD SOILS BE TESTED

According to Dr. Gerald McCart, Agronomist with the Soil Testing Division, N. C. Department of Agriculture the soils in fields used for general cropping should be tested every two to three years. However, the intensiveness of cropping and fertilization needs to be considered in determining frequently of testing. Soils used for ordinary vegetable production probably need to be tested every two years, whereas, soils used for vine-ripened tomatoes and other very heavily fertilized crops where salt concentration may become a problem need to be tested before each planting. Similarly plant beds and greenhouse soils need to be tested before each planting. It is especially important to test soils used for tree crops before planting trees. After trees are established, testing the soil every three to four years is adequate. Lawns and home gardens should be tested about every two years. Problem or abnormal growth areas should be tested at the first opportunity to determine whether or not poor growth is due to a soil fertility problem.

A soil test determines the amount of lime, nitrogen, phosphorus and potassium that need to be added for good crop production states Dr. McCart. Fertilization is suggested that will obtain the following yields on adapted soils with good weather and a high level of management.

| Crop | Yield/A |
|---|---|
| Corn (bu.) | 80-125 |
| Cotton (lbs. lint) | 700-1250 |
| Peanuts (lbs.) | 3000-4000 |
| Soybeans (bu.) | 35-50 |
| B. Tobacco (lbs) | 2000-2700 |
| S. Potatoes (bu.) | 400-600 |
| Alfalfa (tons) | 3.5-4.5 |
| Ladino-grass (tons) | 2-4 |
| C. Bermuda (tons) | 3-6 |
| T. Fescue (tons) | 3-4 |
| Wheat (bu.) | 35-50 |
| Oats (bu.) | 70-100 |
| Barley (bu.) | 60-80 |

This information is shown on the back of soil test reports. Higher yields may be desired. In such cases, fertilizer suggestions will need to be adjusted upward. Assistance in making adjustments in fertilization can be obtained from your county agricultural agent, vocational agriculture teachers, Soil Conservation Service and fertilizer representatives.

Aided By Ownership Loans Farm Enlargement - Development

Credit needs of Davie county farmers hindered by the problem of obtaining finances to develop and enlarge holdings necessary for a successful operation often may be met by a USDA Farmers Home Administration farm ownership loan.

In reporting this fact, Clarence H. Sink, FHA county supervisor, this week explained this is not just a local problem but a national one faced by thousands of farm families.

"Throughout the United States today are thousands of family farmers who require supervised credit for doing such important things as combining small land tracts, establishing permanent pastures, financing needed soil and water improvements, constructing or renovating dwellings and essential farm buildings or taking other necessary steps to increase their farm's income-producing capacity and efficiency," pointed out Mr. Sink.

In general, agricultural producers facing this problem are in a group of some 1,000,000 farm operators who now gross from $2,500 to $10,000 annually and require additional income to remain on the farm under the present day's economic conditions.

"FHA farm ownership credit for enlarging and developing farms is tailored to meet the needs of individual farmers," emphasized Mr. Sink.

"Borrowers are also helped in analyzing their financial problems and given assistance in determining kinds and amounts of resources needed for success."

These loans carry a 5 percent annual interest rate on the unpaid principal and are scheduled in equal principal and interest installments for repayment over a period not to exceed 40 years. It is the privilege of each farmer borrower to make additional payments during high income years in order to establish a reserve that may be used to keep the loan in good standing during low income years in order to establish a reserve that may be used to keep the loan in good standing during low income periods.

Application for Farmers Home Administration loans may be made at the FHA office located in good standing during low income periods.

YADKIN VALLEY
MRS. JOE LANGSTON

The Young Adult Classes of Yadkin Valley Church will meet Saturday at 7:30 p.m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gray Matthews.

The community extends its sympathy to Mrs. Paul Foster and family in the death last week of husband and father.

Sympathy is also extended to the relatives of Mrs. Roberta Plott Brown, and to Bill Sparks whose father passed away last week.

Mrs. Thurman Wright is a patient at Davie County Hospital. She has been hospitalized the past five weeks with a back disorder.

The 4-H Club will meet Thursday night with Mr. and Mrs. Norris Boyer. The meeting night has been on Tuesday but is changed to Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Sheek and Mr. and Mrs. Reid Hauser visited Mr. and Mrs. Paul Breedlove Sunday. They attended church at Unity Baptist Church on the old Lexington Road.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Austin were luncheon guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Hendrix Sunday.

Mrs. A. C. Cheshire is indisposed at her home.

Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Smith and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Langston and daughter, Nancy, visited Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Drawdy Sunday.

The writer attended her first football game on Friday night at Davie County High School Stadium. Didn't know much about the game, but learned every time the whole crowd jumped up and yelled, they look at a scoreboard and sure enough the number always changed. I felt sorry for the visitors though because every time I looked they still had a 0. I didn't think that was a very nice way to treat visitors. It looked as though they were deliberately trying to knock them down. I was sure relieved though when they didn't knock that Drum Major down with all that fancy white apparell he was wearing. A couple of small boys behind me were really enjoying and commenting on the game, one said, "just look at the old Rebel shoot that rifle." Very disgustedly the other replied, "That's no rifle. That's a one barrel shot gun."

If you paid a babysitter or cleaning women $50 or more in cash in the third quarter of 1964—July, August, September—the social security tax on her wages must be paid in October, 1964, to Internal Revenue Service. This is not a matter of choice—it is the law. So don't delay in sending the report and tax.

Social Security In Davie County

"A great many farm workers don't get credit for their work," according to Taft McCoy, Social Security Field Representative for Davie County. "Farm wages are reported only once a year," he explained. "For this reasca, some farmers forget to keep a complete record of the wages they pay their workers."

McCoy listed two rules that determine when farm wages must be reported for social security. These are:

1. if the worker is paid a total of $150 or more in cash wages during the year or

2. If the worker works some part of 20 or more days during the year for cash wages figured on a time basis, by the hour, day, etc. The amount paid doesn't matter.

To be sure a record of wages is available at the end of the year, McCoy advised farm employers to keep a list of their employees. Each time a payment is made, it should be shown on the list.

IF total wages are less than $150 for the entire year and the employee did not work 20 days, no social security tax is due on that worker. "Keeping a record during the year takes the guesswork out of reporting," said McCoy. "The farm employer then pay only the taxes that are due and the worker gets full credit for his labor."

VFW Meeting

The VFW held a meeting last Friday night at the Hut. It was voted to allow the newly organized Jr. Deputies to use the VFW Hut for their bi-monthly meetings.

Mrs. Nera Godbey . . . 20 Years of Service

By EUGENE S. BOWMAN

On Nov. 16th, twenty years ago Nera Godbey went to work at Hall Drug Co. on a try-out basis. At that time, Dr. Hall was the only person in the store.

Apparently Dr. Hall trained Nera well, and apparently Nera was an apt learner for - - - after 20 years she is still a "fixture" in Hall's Drug Co. and makes her daily rounds around town on deliveries, going to the Post Office, etc. And, she is never, but never without that apron!

"Congratulations, Nera, on this, your 20th milestone!"

May 13, 1964

Duke Power Company
Kannapolis,

Gentlemen:

We ore most pleased thot we switched our home to flameless electric comfort heating. It was installed at a very economical cost for the complete installation. Since living in our electric home for the post winter we would not wont to heat with anything else. Our total electric cost for winter months was most reasonable and averaged $28.74 per month.

We like the room to room temperature which it affords. A thermostat in each room lets us select the temperature we want. We would certainly recommend electric comfort heating to anyone who wants cleanliness, convenience, safety, comfort ond economy.

Very truly yours,
Charlie Brown

Key Workers To Report Friday—

Library Fund Drive Is Extended

The fund drive for the Davie County Library has been extended through Friday.

Knox Johnstone, chairman of the fund drive, announced that a dinner for all the key workers will be held at the Rotary Hut on Friday night at which time reports from the drive will be tabulated.

Early this week many were turning in funds from the drive but no totals were available at press time.

Davie County is seeking to raise $90,000 as it's share of the cost of new library facilities to be constructed on North Main Street. By raising this amount, the county will be qualified to receive $68,000 in federal-state funds.

The fund drive was kicked off last Wednesday night with a dinner for key workers at the Mocksville Rotary Hut. Since that time workers have been busy canvassing all areas of Davie County.

The Mocksville Moose Lodge has erected a thermometer in front of the courthouse which will reflect the status of the drive when more returns come in later this week.

School Officials At Library Demonstration

Five representatives of the Davie County schools are attending a two-day library demonstration workshop at the Central Park Road Elementary School in Plainview, N. Y. They are: Dr. W. T. Bird, Superintendent; James E. Everidge, Supervisor; Roy P. Marsh, Principal of the Mocksville Elementary School; Mrs. Helen P. Crenshaw, County Library Coordinator; and Miss Jane McGuire, Secretary to Board of Education. They were accompanied by Mrs. Alice W. Porter of the State Department of Public Instruction who is consultant in library services.

The Knapp School Libraries Project is a five-year project, funded by the Knapp Foundation, Inc., and administered by the American Association of School Library Association and a department of the National Education Association.

The team visited the demonstration school library and saw the effects of the demonstration library on the instructional program of the project school. Their observations and the effects of their visit on the library program of Davie County schools will be reported to the project headquarters.

Eleven Students In Who's Who

Eleven members of last year's graduating class at the Davie County High School have been selected as outstanding leaders in their school and their names have been listed in the 1963-64 edition of Who's Who Among Student Leaders in High School of America.

They are as follows: Penny Anderson, Patricia Ann Cassidy, James E. "Chip" Essic, Sarah Ann Foster, Paul Christopher Hinkle, Ellis Leagans, Tony Lyerly, Jane Mando, Judith Reavis, Karen Smith and David Walker.

Woods Fires Banned

As fire danger increased early this week in tinder-dry forests, open fires were forbidden in or near woodland areas in 30 North Carolina counties.

Although Forsyth and Davie were not in the area where fires were forbidden — presumably because they are not as heavily wooded— residents were warned to be extremely careful.

State Forester Fred Claridge issued this fire ban. He said that some lands might be closed to hunting by order of Governor Terry Sanford, who alone has this authority.

The ban will stay in effect until the drought is broken. During Nov., when 2.78 inches of rainfall is normal in this area, there has been *only a trace of precipitation.

Two Men Charged In Jericho Road Wreck

Two men were charged as the result of a wreck early Tuesday morning, one mile south of Mocksville on the Jericho Road.

Donald Wayne Cranfill, 25, of Mocksville, was charged with operating a car intoxicated. He was operating a 1963 Ford belonging to Edwin Cowle Sanford, 716 Salisbury Street, Mocksville. Sanford, who was a passenger in his car, was charged with public drunkenness.

State Highway Patrolman Larry Woods said that the accident occurred around 2:45 a.m. He said that his investigation showed that the car was headed west when Cranfill, who has recently returned from the Army, lost control in a sharp right hand curve. The car went approximately 300 feet out of control, off the roadway on the right side, and overturned several times, coming to rest on its top.

The two men suffered minor injuries.

Student Council Launches Drive—

School to Buy Activity Bus

The Student Council of the Davie High School has launched a drive to raise enough money to buy a new activity bus for the school. The total cost of the activity bus is $6200 and the entire student body put themselves behind the project during a special chapel program Monday at the school.

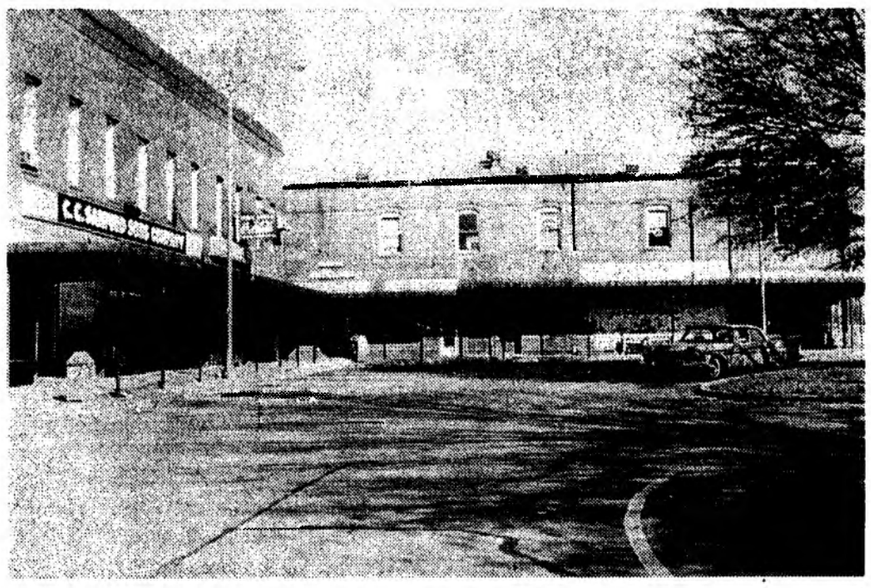

It is hoped that the money will be raised by Dec. 1, and to that end the student council has established a contest between the homerooms by having them nominate a candidate for "MISS DAVIE HIGH" with the winner getting a page in the annual.

It was pointed out that the need for an activity bus has been evident to the school and to the student council for some time. The old converted school bus that has served this purpose has proven inadequate. To transport the football team, the band and students for other activities has required the chartering of a special bus.

The student council, through cooperation with the school administration, has made plans to purchase the bus.

"It is hoped that the citizens of Davie County will wholeheartedly support the school in raising this money," said a spokesman for the student council.

Checks should be made payable to Davie County High School and marked for "Activity Bus Donation." The sum given will be deductible from income tax. Those that are interested in donating to this cause may mail their checks to the school.

Davie Posts Season Record Of Seven Wins—

Rebels Beat North Rowan 26 to 21

Davie High Rebels rose to the occasion in the fourth quarter last Friday night to defeat their arch rivals North Rowan to close out the 1964 season. The score was 26 to 21 and the victory gave Davie a season record of 7 wins and 3 losses, and second place in the North Piedmont Conference.

North Rowan led 14-13 going into the final period, but the power-laden Rebels pushed across two scores for the win.

The Rebels drew first blood about midway of the opening quarter after driving 80-yards. The six points were racked when End Ken Boger took a ten-yard pass from Quarterback John Parker and stepped over untouched.

The march got underway with Halfback Bill Nesbit going off tackle out to the Davie 28. Randall Ward, another speedy halfback, got two over guard, and on a second effort, Nesbit romped up to the 40. After a running play had failed, Parker faded and tossed to Boger, who gathered it in on the North 35. He was pulled down on the 29. Nesbit again scampered to the 21 and Ward added another first by plowing to the 16. Parker threw to End Clay Eaton, who was downed on the nine. On the following play, Boger took Parker's toss into the end zone for the score. Murphy's attempt for the extra point was wide.

North Rowan struck back in the second quarter and with a 60-yard sustained drive scored on a pass. They added the extra point to take a 7 to 6 lead.

The Cavaliers took advantage of fumbles by Davie to score in the third period.

After being held on downs near midfield, North punted. David Robertson, fullback, fumbled the boot on the Rebel ten. It was recovered by North Rowan. After four plays and a first-down on the one-foot line, Ellenburg cracked over for North Rowan. The extra point was made and North Rowan led 14 to 6.

Rebels Move

It was here that the Rebels came to life and began to move.

With the ball resting on the Davie 36, Robertson romped to the 47. Barnhardt then went over into the North territory to the 46. After a running play failed, Nesbit found room and carried to the Cavalier 26 before being pulled down from behind. On two attempts, Nesbit racked yardage to the 12 for a first. On the following play, Ward, behind good blocking, went around end for the second Rebel score. Murphy added the point for a 14-13 score.

The speedy Davie backs continued to romp through the early minutes of the final quarter. With Ward, Barnhardt and Nesbit dividing honors, the Rebels scored early in the period by driving 63 yards on eight plays. Nesbit drove over from the nine. Murphy added his second extra point to give his team a 20-14 lead. Davie remained on the rampage by adding a fourth and final score just a few minutes later. The score came as the result of a 65-yard drive with Ward scoring from the 11. Lengthy runs by Ward and Barnhardt highlighted the march. Murphy's attempt for the point was wide of the uprights.

Even though trailing by two touchdowns, North Rowan struck back to push across their third score just before the game ended for a final 26 to 21 game.

The running of Ward, Nesbit, Barnhardt and Robertson and the quarterbacking and passing of Parker highlighted the game for the Rebels. Mike Keller, Don Jones and Ronnie Spry were standouts in the forward wall.

Statistics

Davie had 17 first downs to 10 for North Rowan.

Davie rolled up 216 yards rushing to 65 for North Rowan.

Davie completed four of 7 passes for 56 yards; North Rowan completed 4 of 15 passes for 77 yards. North Rowan intercepted one of Davie's passes.

Davie punted three times for an average of 37 yards per kick. North Rowan punted 9 times for an average of 32 yards per kick.

North Rowan was penalized 32 yards; Davie, 45.

Rebel Shoots—and We Win

For a few moments Friday night, Davie fans attending the football game at North Rowan suspected some devious strategy was being employed against the Rebels. It happened this way:

Following Davie's first touchdown, the "Old Rebel" fired off his gun just as has been done for the past seven football seasons. However, this time brought forth some Spencer policemen who examined the gun and blank shells that the current "Old Rebel," Billy Bowles, was using. Muttering something to Billy about it was against the law, they left without making it clear whether or not he could fire his gun into the air following a Rebel touchdown.

With righteous wrath rising in the Davie section, Principal John Norton went to the policemen to find out the story. After considerable conversation Mr. Norton was told that it would be all right for the "Old Rebel" to fire his gun into the air . . . if and when Davie scored again.

Whether or not this affected the football players may be questionable. However, there for almost two periods they were stymied . . . and unable to move. Perhaps somewhere along the line the word was slipped to them . . . if they would score . . . the "Old Rebel" would get to show the crowd that he could still shoot . . . even in Rowan County. This they did and in short order the "Old Rebel" had fired three more shots . . . all blanks . . . into the air . . . and the Davie crowd went home happy and victorious.

And post-game strategists figured all this out to be very simple: "If the Old Rebel shoots enough we always win . . . if he doesn't, we lose!"

USE CHRISTMAS SEALS

FIGHT TUBERCULOSIS and other Respiratory Diseases

With the delivery to the Post Office Thursday of 2,000 envelopes containing sheets of gaily illustrated Seals and the traditional accompanying appeals, the Davie County Tuberculosis Association will officially launch its 58th annual Christmas Seal Campaign. Proceeds are used to carry on the fight against tuberculosis and other respiratory diseases, the illnesses of breathing.

Hugh Larew, campaign chairman, said, "Christmas Seals have as big a job to do as ever in the past," he added. "A research task force reported to the U. S. Surgeon General that new cases of TB have not been decreasing at the hoped-for rate for several years. As for the other respiratory diseases (RD) they continue to loom larger in the pattern of public health menaces; a lot can be done to combat them, but one must have the resources to do it.

Nine volunteers will stuff and stamp envelopes in which they will be mailed out beginning on the Christmas Seal Campaign kickoff date, Nov. 19. By using volunteer help, the association saves dollars that are needed for its program of activities to wipe out tuberculosis and fight other respiratory diseases. Volunteer workers include Mesdames Joe Jones, W. J. Wilson, Prentice Campbell, Bryan Sell, J. Frank Clement, C. C. Chapman, L. G. Sanford, W. A. Allison, and Miss Daisy Holthouser.

Work will begin at 9 a.m. Thursday and will continue until the letters are stuffed and in the mail. Mrs. LeGrand, clerk, and Mrs. Allison will be hostesses at a luncheon at 1 p.m. at Mrs. Allison's home on Maple Avenue for the volunteers.

We are here to add what we can to, not to get what we can from, Life. —Sir William Osier.

Study for Evaluation Will Take About Eighteen Months

Davie County High School has recently applied for, and received permission to begin an evaluation of the school for eventual membership in the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

The study for evaluation will take approximately 18 months and will be climaxed by a visit from the committee representing the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

The purpose of the Southern Association is to bring about continual improvement in the school program. Community ties will be fostered by close work with the school for the improved education of Davie County students.

One phase of the stuny is concerned with whether the school is meeting the needs of the community in vocational fields.

During the next few months many questionnaires will be sent to the parents, and their cooperation in answering these to the best of their knowledge will be of great benefit to the school in building a school program of which Davie County can be justly proud.

In preparation for the study, John Norton, Principal of Davie High; C. J. Wells, Assistant Principal; and James Everidge, Supervisor of Davie County Schools, visited East Rowan and talked with Denwood Honeycutt, Principal of East Rowan, about procedures used for their accreditation. In the next few months Davie County High School teachers will visit other schools that have undergone evaluation by the Southern Association in order that the school program may benefit from their study.

Domestic Allotment Cotton Program Depends on Vote

Upland cotton growers in 1965 will again have a chance to participate in a domestic allotment program if marketing quotas are approved in the December 15 referendum, according to J. N. Smoot, Chairman of the Davie County ASC Committee. The program was provided by legislation enacted last spring as a means of further reducing 1964 and 1965 upland cotton production through additional voluntary reductions in planted acreage.

The carryover of upland cotton on August 1 of this year was 12.1 million bales. With 1964-crop yields indicated at a record high of 528 pounds per acre, the total of use in this country plus exports during this marketing year is expected to be less than the 1964 crop, and the carryover is expected to increase to about 12.7 million bales by August 1, 1965. A carryover this size has been exceeded only once in the last 25 years.

Supplies for the current marketing year have been estimated at 41 per cent more than normal (the normal supply is the level beyond which the Secretary of Agriculture is required to proclaim marketing quotas), so the acreage allotment for 1965-crop upland cotton was set at 16 million acres—the smallest permitted under law. The national domestic allotment was set at 10,425,000 acres—about 65 per cent of the national acreage allotment.

For small farms from which allotments are not released for the 1965 crop, the domestic allotment will be the smaller of (a) 15 acres, or (b) the 1965 effective allotment. For most other farms, the domestic allotment will be 65 per cent of the 1965 effective farm allotment.

If marketing quotas are approved for 1965-crop upland cotton in the Dec. 15 referendum, growers who participate in the 1965 domestic allotment program will be eligible for price-support payments in addition to the basic cotton loans. This payment will be based on the normal yield of the cotton acreage planted for harvest. It will help compensate farmers for reducing production and sales by taking part in the program.

A total of 26 gifts were pro rated and distributed last week to the Gift Shops at Fayetteville, Durham, Salisbury and Oteen. Items such as hose, jewelry, gloves, aprons, etc., all new, were sent through the generosity of the local members to stock the shelves of the Gift Shops. There the hospitalized veterans may select gifts for their families at home at no cost to them and the gifts are then in turn wrapped and mailed.

The Gift Shops at the VA Hospitals have the following opening dates: Fayetteville, Dec. 9; Durham, Dec. 10; Salisbury, Dec. 11; and Oteen, Dec. 12.

In addition to sending gifts, the local unit sent money that will be given to patients. The coffee was given at the former Mrs. Martin's home on North Main Street. The refreshment table, overlaid with a white linen cloth, was centered with a silver bowl of white flowers flanked by silver candelabra with white tapers. Mrs. L. P. Martin poured coffee from a silver service. Assisting in entertaining and serving were Mrs. F. H. Bahnson, Mrs. R. [illegible] Hall and Mrs. D. J. Mando.

The honoree was presented with a corsage and a bridal gift from the hostesses.

Among the twenty guests attending were Miss Martha Ikerd and Mrs. E. A. Ikerd of Lake Norman, and Miss Susan Weathersbee of Morganton. Miss Ikerd and Miss Weathersbee will be bridesmaids in the wedding.

Farm News

County Farm Agent

Tobacco Variety Performance Survey

A tobacco Variety Performance survey is being conducted in Davie County to determine how various varieties compared in yield and value during 1964 on tobacco farms.

As many farmers as possible are being contacted so that the information gathered will represent a sizeable portion of the tobacco grown in the county. Growers are being asked what total pounds and value he received from each variety he grew in 1964.

Cards are being sent to a representative group of growers in the county and the growers who receive cards are urged to fill out the card accurately and return it to the County Extension Chairman's office. Everyone receives a card should send it in regardless of whether his yield is low, medium or high. This is essential if the summary of the variety data is to represent the actual performance of a given variety in the county and state.

This information is also being accumulated by other counties, and a summary of the county, belt and State results will be available for growers to see as soon as it has been summarized.

Census Enumerators Will Start

Enumerators for the 1964 Cenus of Agriculture will start calling on farmers of Davie County November 23rd, County Agent Leo F. Williams announced today.

Enumerators are local men and women hired temporarily by the Bureau of the Census, an agency of the U. S. Department of Commerce, to count the commercial farms in the communities where the enumerators live.

The purpose of the visits is to collect census questionnaires that farmers in the county have been filling out since the forms were mailed to all rural boxholders several days ago. Farmers were thus allowed a period of time to consult their 1964 business records and to fill out the forms before the enumerators came calling. The purpose of the questionnaire is to furnish needed, up-to-date information on U. S. Agricultural production and resources.

During the visits, enumerators will also review forms and assist farmers in completing the answers to any questions that the farmers were unable to answer. Filling out the form is required by the Census Act.

Enumerator visits are being conducted according to a scheduled that follows the harvest. The starting date is November 23.

Central Davie Basketball News

Elton Foote, Newman Dalton, and George Scott also were standouts offensively along with the usual defensive prowess of William West.

The girls were defeated by Unity, but played brilliantly at home Friday night when they defeated Taylorsville, 42-14. Carol Gaither was the offensive star for the Mohawkettes by scoring 24 points in the two games. Connie Chunn as usual displayed her fine ability along with Alice Issac.

What Has Happened To Our Leisure Time?

Why Is Everybody Running, Running?

What is causing this terrible tension of day-to-day living? Why is everybody running and running? What has happened to our leisure?

Harry Golden, in an article appearing in the Carolina Israelite some years ago made some interesting and entertaining observations as follows:

---

Theodore Roosevelt urged his fellow-Americans to live "the strenuous life." He had no idea to what extent the people would follow his advice. Everybody is running. No one stops for a single mement. In Roosevelt's time there were no washing machines, refrigerators, televisions, refuse disposal units, pay-toilets, and you had to give the door a little shove instead of being admitted by an electric eye. Yet in the absence of all these push-button wonders, there was leisure. Plenty of it. My secretary tells me of her childhood in Winston-Salem and recalls that her mother, taking care of all the household duties without a single pushbutton or baby-sitter, used to sit in a rocker for two hours every afternoon. Can you imagine a housewife today sitting in a rocker for two hours every afternoon? There is no time . . .

What has happened to leisure? The wonderful progress of science and technology has brought no improvement in the hearts of men.

Everybody is running. The tension mounts, formulas are not working out despite all the "question and answer" columns by the "peace of mind" experts.

With all these things doing for us, what has happened to leisure? My mother kept the sewing machine in the kitchen near the stove. The stove did not start at the turn of a dial. It took kindling and coal, and sometimes when the coal-man did not show up she had to go down four flights to get enough to start the supper fire. She cooked, washed, cleaned, sewed, got everybody off to work and to school, was all ready for them when they returned, emptied the slop-pan under the ice box, and every afternoon she sat looking out the window for a couple of hours. This was the great leisure for the immigrant women. When you came home from school the tenement windows were all occupied by women looking out. They used to sit with their arms folded looking out — at the children, throwing a penny to the Ialian organ-grinder, waving a greeting to a friend, and just looking out — at America.

The intense aspiration toward material welfare has led to the most unexpected results. As our technology increases we become more and more impatient because the pace is too slow. We never stop to woner whether man's victory over nature keeps pace with man's victory over himself.

It is apparent that tension increases with prosperity. It is when things are going very well that you begin to worry more. You worry, of course, because now you have more to lose and you "fear" everything: illness, taxes, Reds, Assyrians, Chinese, Medeks, Wallachians, Sengalese but mostly you fear death. No one yet found a hypochondriac among the peasants (or, As Einstein so wisely commented, among the peddlers or plumbers).

I remember the story told in the "Biography of R. S." by Hans Zinsser. He was the director of a mental hospital — not a public institution but one maintained for wealthy mental cases. Among his patients, hopeless cases, were a former attorney, a shipping magnate and a Greek who in former years had made a fortune in exporting figs, dates, and other products of the Mediterranean and Middle East. These three patients were always together discussing, in their lucid moments, the great deals and transactions they executed in the outside world. Money was no object in the treatment of these patients, the idea was to make them as comfortable as possible. So Dr. R. S. set them up in an office, with desks, dummy telephones, typewriters, and various printed legal and contract forms. His three patients went to "work" every morning. They spent the whole day buying, selling, drawing up contracts, closing deals, and sending shipments of fruits to all the corners of the world, on paper which Dr. R. S. destroyed every night.

The three dynamos started fresh every morning. R R. S. tells that when he, himself, would stop off at their "office" they became impatient — they were busy with their contracts, conferences and shipments and wanted him to leave as quickly as possible. And so they went for some years, Dr. R. S. assures us, with no chance of recovery, but they were very happy.

One year Dr. R. S. went to a small hotel on the French Riveria for a vacation. He sat on the veranda one evening and in a corner were three men, also guests at the resort, who seemed to be engrossed in animated conversation. Dr. R. S. could not help overhearing their heated discussion. One of the men was a lawyer complaining about a contract that had been broken; another man was a shipper who complained why he needed a rest — he had just lost a ship and was embroiled in bitter litigation with the insurance and salvage people. There was a big dispute over the value of the cargo; and a luck would have it, the third man was a fruit exporter who gave his own hard luck tale about a frost that had just wiped out his entire crop for the year.

As Dr. R. S. listened to these three men he said to himself;

Why these fellows are doing exactly the same things as my three nuts. Only my three nuts never lose a ship, every contract stands up, and all the shipments arrive on time. And they are getting a lot more fun out of it!

Observation Set For November 20-26

National Farm-City Week

All of North Carolina's civic clubs, womens clubs, F. F. A. and 4-H groups, area development associations, business mens organizations, and Chambers of Commerce are being called upon to observe National Farm-City Week, Nov. 20-26.

Gil Stamper, farm director of the Jefferson Standard Broadcasting Company's Charlotte stations, is this year's state Farm-City Week chairman. In enlisting the active participation of every citizen in the state, rural, urban, suburban, he says:

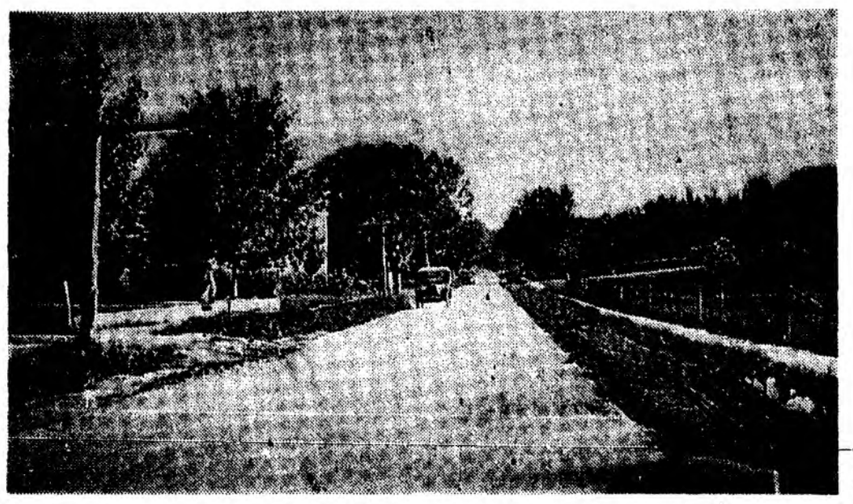

"We in North Carolina are perhaps as aware, if not more so ,than the citizenry of any other state of the vital importance of agriculture to our burgeoning economy. The rapidly growing expansion of the food processing industries in North Carolina daily attest to the fact of our understanding and co-operation.

"There is not a member of any community whose life is not daily touched in some manner by some phase of agri-business. There is not a facet of our State's economy which is not daily affected by the well-being of North Carolina agriculture. Therefore it is imperative to the continuing growth of our Agri-Business status that each of us understand better the nature of this inter-relationship is so indispensible to our state's economic and sociological position among the other states of the nation."

In proclaiming the week of Nov. 20-26 as National Farm-City Week, President Johnson says: ". . . never before in history has so much food and fiber been produced by so few farmers for so many people throughout the world at so reasonable a cost; . . . and the consumers' stake in assuring the continuing vitality of our agricultural system becomes more apparent each day as the world's exploding population creates an ever-increasing demand upon us for food and fiber. Farm and city families should better recognize their interdependence."

Governor Terry Sanford said in his official statement designating the week as Farm-City Week in North Carolina: "Farm-City Week points up the fact that we are all partners in progress."

TIME AND PROGRESS BRING ABOUT CHANGES

The above is a picture of North Main Street in Mocksville around 1924. The above picture was made looking in the direction to town from a spot about in front of the present home of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Robinson. The fence on the right then surrounded a pasture but is now is the location of the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Sheek, Jr. Otis Hendrix Grocery may be seen protruding from the trees on the left. This was 40 years ago . . . but it is appropriate to look back as we now contemplate changes and improvements to the square in Mocksville.

NEWS AND COMMENT FROM OUR RALEIGH BUREAU
2615 Oberlin Road

BIG DAY . . . It's about the same distance from Raleigh to Baltimore as from Raleigh to Canton, N. C., home of Governor-Elect Dan K. Moore until he takes up four-year residence in Raleigh.

That's why Moore has set Friday, Jan. 8, at the date for him to become officially the Governor of North Carolina.

"I want as many of my hometown friends as possible to be here, of course—that's natural—and a lot of them couldn't make it if the inauguration were to be held in the middle of the week," said Moore in Raleigh last week. That's smart, reasonable, and realistic.

---

THE BOSS . . . The man elected Governor can choose the date he wants the swearing-in to occur. He can pick the man he wants to swear him in.

Dan K. Moore will be pretty much the boss of that day. This is a right given office holders of import. And they have usually earned it!

For instance, when Calvin Coolidge succeeded Pres. Warren G. Harding upon the latter's death in August of 1923, the Presidential oath of office was given by the Vice President's father, John Coolidge, a justice of the peace in rural Massachusetts.

And quite unusal was John F. Kennedy's choosing Robert Frost, the great American poet, to read one of his pieces at the Preidential inauguration in 1961. At one of his swearing-in's—perhaps both—Dwight Eisenhower refused to wear the regular stovepipe top hat. He chose a regular gray business hat.

So, look for anything when Dan K. Moore is sworn in. That's his privilege—and will be about the last thing he can do-as-he-dangs about until he leaves office some four years later.

---

DIFFERENT . . . In the old days, Inauguration Ceremonies here were the equal of the late Dixie Classic basketball to-do. That was when the Legislature convened on the first Wednesday after the first Monday in January.

But now that the General Assembly meets in February, some of the more rollicking excitement is gone. It's still sharp, however.

When Luther Hodges went in for his first full term (after serving from Nov. 7, 1954, following the death of Gov. Umstead), he chose February 7,and moved right in with the Legislature. He could do this, for he was already Governor.

All the members of the Legislature will be in Raleigh for the inauguration on Jan. 8. They then go home and return for the grind on Feb. 3.

It's really a little silly, but that's the way we are now set up. The Legislature can begin convening again in January any time it wants to. But it makes for a pretty rough Christmas and New Year's.

---

FEWER COMMITTEES . . . There may be some effort made soon to streamline the Legislature a little.

Robert W. Scott and Pat Taylor of Wadesboro, new Speaker of the House, have discussed it. In the Senate, there are about 35 different committees. Over in the House, we have approximately 50.

It is often the case that a member will find two committees of which he is a member meeting at the same time.

"I CAN make both meetings," said one breathless legislator trotting across the State House last year, "but I declare it does spread me pretty thin!"

If Scott and Taylor—and the Scott's are great for breaking precedent—can reduce effectively the number of committees, etc., they will be all but sainted by their fellow sufferers.

---

SETTLEMENT . . . The big arguments likely to come up in the 1965 session—other than those concerned with finances—will likely hinge around: the fight between electric cooperatives and private power firms; a name change for State College (already a-brewing); and the "gag law" which prevents former Communists, Communists, and Fifth Amendment pleaders from speaking on State-owned campuses.

If the leaders of the House and the Senate could sit down in private for a few days—or perhaps a few hours—it may be that a solution to these questions could be found, thus shortening sharply the length of the legislative session.

Robert Scott believes this, and so stated last week. Of course, the actual compromise—the action itself—could only be taken on the floor.

Scott, nobody's fool, says the people will not let the law limiting pinko infiltration be killed—but there is some chance it might be amended so as not to apply to scientists, musicians, etc. But—even this change will not come easy.

---

NOTES . . . There was a little glory for several in the recent elections: Old timer Thad Eure chalked up the biggest margin over his opponent; Supt. of Education Charles Carroll (no opposition) got the largest vote; and Lt. Gov-Elect Bob Scott received the largest vote of this election—or any other election in N.C.—in a contested office.

The men going hardest for president pro tem of the State Senate (they mostly preside when the Lt. Gov. is out of town) are Hard-Core Lake-Men (and just as much for Moore) Robert Morgan of Harnett County and Dallas L. Alford, Jr., of Nash.

Signs of times dept.: Haircuts in Raleigh—for men—are $1.75 each. Shoeshines have gone up to 35c.

By FRED DODGE

TEXT: "Loyalty is the holiest good in the human heart" - Seneca.

A dying dictator was stretched on his bed while his second in command hovered over him. The dictator patted his aide's hand feebly as he whispered.

"Do not grieve so, Comrade. Because of your loyalty I am leaving you my money, my cars, my plane, my estate, my yacht - everything!"

"Thank you, thank you," cried the man. "You're too good to me. If there was only something I could do for you!"

The dying man boosted himself up and gasped.

"There is. Just take your foot off the oxygen tube!"

---

Loyalty is not rare because people do not have the quality of being loyal. It is rare because there is little about which people are willing to be loyal. Too many of us do not hold convictions deep enough to call forth our loyal support. Lack of loyalty lies within us. Indifference and cowardice are responsible for the wide-spread lack of loyalty. In the absence of sturdy loyalties we become shadows of men without substance or purpose.

Every hope for a better world calls for men who are loyal to certain principles and people. Fortify yourself with loyalties of your own self-respect and the respect of others.

SAM ERVIN
Says:

MORGANTON — Two major conservation measures were enacted during the recent session of Congress which could so much to preserve America's wilderness heritage and unsurpassed scenic resources. The new public laws are known as the "Wilderness Act" and "The Land and Water Conservation Fund". The programs continue efforts which conservationists have made since 1872, when Yellowstone National Park was created, to preserve wilderness areas of natural beauty for the benefit of the nation.

They also implement programs, such as National Park Service activities, which have been of immense value to our State. North Carolina has the largest National Park acreage of any State in the Union of comparable size save Florida. The Great Smoky Mountains National Park, the Blue Ridge Parkway, the Cape Hatteras National Seashore, and our historic sites have brought national attention and millions of visitors to our State. To operate and improve the seven National Park Service facilities in the State for fiscal year 1965 which began July 1 Federal funds in the amount of $8.7 million have been appropriated.

A breakdown of the $8.7 million shows that these facilities will get amounts as follows: Blue Ridge Parkway, $4.0 million; Cape Hatteras National Seashore, $1.3 million; Fort Raleigh National Historic Site, $317 thousand; Great Smoky Mountains National Park, $2.8 million; Guilford Court House and Moores Creek historic sites, $52,400 and $32,400 respectively.

Funds allocated for the Blue Ridge Parkway will bring this scenic highway to the realm of near completion. As of mid 1964, Park Service reports showed that the completed Blue Ridge Parkway will extend 469 miles, that 427 miles have already been completed, that 35 miles in North Carolina and Virginia have been started or programmed for construction, and 5.6 miles await future programming.

The Wilderness Act is a protective measure granting new regulatory authority to the Secretaries of Agriculture and Interior to govern about 9 million acres of federally owned lands. During the next ten years, the Secretary of Agriculture will be empowered to review national forest areas and the Secretary of Interior will be empowered to do the same with national park areas. The Secretaries will recommend specific areas for inclusion in or exclusion from the system. Congressional approval thereafter would place areas in the wilderness system to prevent commercial exploitation.

The Land and Water Conservation Fund will receive revenues from admission and users fees from recreation areas, surplus federal realty sales,, an existing fuels tax, and temporary Treasury appropriations. These sources are expected to provide revenues of about $145 million annually to permit the States and the National Park and National Forest system to "plan, acquire, and develop outdoor recreation facilities." Revenues would be administered on the basis of 60% by the States and 40% by the Federal Government.

Both measures came about as a result of exhaustive studies directed toward the purpose of meeting the demands of an increasingly urban civilization. Congress has responded in the hope that cooperative efforts by the federal government and states, and private citizens will meet the demands which changing conditions have imposed upon nature's once abundant Garden of Eden.

SO THIS IS NEW YORK

By NORTH CALLAHAM

With the current and admirable movement by public spirited citizens individually as well as the government to preserve historic buildings, local attention points to what is said to be the oldest buidling in new York City. It is the mellowed and memorable Fraunces Tavern which stands at Broad and Pearl Streets ndar the storied water front of Manhattan. It is will described by those in charge as "a gracious home in colonial days, a Revolutionary headquarters where patriots charted the course of rebullion, the scene of one of America's most historic moments, a center of ante-bellum night life, and a present-day national shrine."

---

The building is now owned by the Sons of the Revolution, a state organization separate from the national Sons of the American Revolution, and the gentleman in charge, genial Cyril Gray Cogswell, known to his friends as "Cy", was glad to point out all the features of the tavern. He readily admitted the claim to being older by a few structures in other boroughs of the city, but reminded me that the building was erected by wealthy Stephen de Lancey in 1719, as a residence for his wife and family. Some years later, it was purchased by an innkeeper named Samuel Fraunces and under his management, the tavern become famous for good food and gay entertainment. But revolt was in the air, Cy recalled, and in 1774 the Sons of Liberty met here to plan the little-known "New York Tea Party", less known but comparable to the one in Boston.

On December 4, 1873, a high point in the history of Fraunces Tavern occurred. The American Revolution was over and George Washington came here to say farewell to his officers. One of his staff, Colonel Benjamin Tallmadge, recorded the event as follows: "At 12 o'clock the officers repaired to Fraunces Tavern in Pearl Street, where General Wahington had appointed to meet them, and to take hi final leave of them. We had assembled but a few moments, when His Excellency entered the room. His emotion, too strong to be concealed, seemed to be reciprocated by every officer present. After partaking of a slight refreshment, in almost breathless silence, the General filled his glass with wine, and turning to the officers, he said, "With a heart full of love and gratitude, I now take my leave of you. I most devoutly wish that your latter days may be as prosperous and happy as your former ones have been glorious and honorable. 'After the officers had joined him in the toast, General Washington said, 'I cannot come to each of you, but shall feel obliged if each of you will come and take me by the hand. General Henry Knox being nearest to him, turned to the Commander-in-Chief, who, suffused in tears, was incapable of utterance but grasped his hand; they then embraced each other in silence. In the same affectionate manner, every officer in the room marched up to be kissed (on the cheek) and parted with his General-in-Chief. Such a scene of sorrow and weeping I had never before witnessed and I hope never to be called on to witness again," Colonel Tallmadge continued. "It was indeed too affecting to be of long continuance - for tears of deep sensibility filled every eye — and the heart seemed so full that it was ready to burst from its wonted abode. Not a word was uttered to break the solemn silence that prevailed or to interrupt the tenderness of the interesting scene. The simple thought that we were then about to part from the man who had conducted us through a long and bloody war, and under whose conduct the glory and independence of our country had been achieved, and that we should see his face no more in the world, seemed to me utterly insupportable. But the time of separation had come, and waving his hand to his grieving children around him, he left the room, and passing through a corps of light infantry who were paraded to receive him, he walked silently on to Whitehall where a barge was in waiting . . . As soon as he was seated, the barge put off into the river, and when out in the stream, our great and beloved General waved his hat and bid us a silent adieu."

Coagulation means clotting. An "anti-coagulant" is a drug which delays clotting of the blood. When given in cases of a blood vessel plugged up by a clot, it tends to prevent new clots from forming but it does not dissolve existing clots, according to the North Carolina Heart Association.

Uncle Dave From Davie Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

The fellers at the country store Saturday night was proving they was all good Americans. The election fer President and the Congress didn't please all the fellers but everybody was agreed the people, had spoke. And Ed Doolittle and Clem Webster, that voted Republican and Democrat, respective, was also agreed the voice of the people had to be the law of the land if we was to live under a democracy.

But Zeke Grubb, that ain't told nobody yet how he voted, was of the opinion democracy was like the roomatism, it was going to hurt a little bit all the time and folks had the right to keep on hollering without gitting throwed out of the lodge.

Fer instant, said Zeke, he was reading where 56 cent out of ever dollar earned by the American people was now passing through Washington in some form of taxes Zeke allowed as how he was going to keep on hollering about this item, even if they elected Billy Graham fer President the next time around.

Clem reported he had saw in the papers where a democracy was the most expensive form of Guvernment on earth and we just as well git used to them boys in Washington taking their out.

Bug Hookum agreed with Clem, said it made him recollect a story back when Franklin Roosevelt was President. This old farmer was bad in need of $100 and he prayed ever night fer the Lord to send him the money. After about three weeks he got tired of praying and wrote the Lord a letter. The postmaster didn't know where to send the letter so he just sent it to White House.

When Roosevelt got the letter he was mightly impressed, so he mailed the farmer a check fer $5 out of his own pocket. When the farmer got the check he set down and wrote the Lord another letter. "Dear Father, I thank Thee fer the $100 But I note Thou hast routed it through Washington where they have took their customary 95 per cent. Please, O Lord, in the future just send it direct."

Josh Clodhopper said if this old farmer had been living today he would never have wrote to the Lord in the first place. All financial blessings now comes through Washington, claimed Josh, and they ain't no chanct of nobody gitting nothing "direct." Everything from school lunches to pest spray, allowed Josh, is now bestowed from Washington. Fer that reason, claimed Josh, we had ought to change the Thanksgiving menu from turkey to Potomac trout.

Personal, Mister Editor, I cast my first vote fer President in 1916 and through the years I've learned to eat a lot of things, including crow, so turkey or Potomac trout, I ain't worried one way or the other.

Yours truly,

Social Security In Davie County

Science and industry daily add new conveniences to our lives. Some of these are very expensive and can be used by only a few; others cost little and may be used by everyone. The Social Security Administration is constantly seeking newer and faster methods in administering its program better to serve the public.

Improved methods of doing business are being employed and bottlenecks eliminated as soon as solutions are found. All suggestions for improved operations are carefully considered.

Successful operations depend on many things, but the one ingredient over which the Social Security Administration has little control is you, the claimant.

You can help by getting in touch with your social security district office about 3 months before you retire. As a matter of fact, you should check with your social security office when you reach 65, even though you do not intend to retire at that time.

You can find out how the social security law affects you. Many times individuals are eligible for some benefits even though they do not retire at 65.

When you inquire at your social security office before you retire, your social security representative will be able to tell you what inforation and proofs you need in order to file your claim for benefits when you retire.

Your social security district office is located at 105 Corriher Ave., Salisbury, N. C. telephone 633-4512.

The assault force landed by landing craft and helicopters from a U. S. -Spanish fleet of 94 vessels including ships of the Unit ed States Military Sea Transport Service and chartered ships of the U. S. Merchant Fleet.

Caudell Lumber Co., Agents For Portable Heaters For Buildings

Caudell Lumber Company is now the agency for Master portable space heaters which heat buildings and keep men warm while they are working indoors or outdoors.

"Master heaters will dry and thaw materials, pre heat equipment, and warm engines for starting. Unlike salamanders which heat only the area above them and may crack plaster, Master Heaters circulate the heat all around a building. They are mounted on wheels and can be easily moved to any building where heat is needed," said W. C. Daniel of Caudell Lumber Company.

Master Heaters run on kerosene or fuel oil and have powerful fans to circulate the heat. They start heating instantly, heat all night without attention, and are available with thermostats to keep buildings at preset temperatures.

There are five Master Heater models. The smallest Master Heater weighs only 58 lbs. and produces 75,000 BTUs per hour, the same amount of heat required to heat a five room house. The largest Master Heater produces 400,000 BTUs per hour. Vented and unvented models are available.

According to the manufacturer, Master Portable Heaters are completely safe and so well insulated you can put your hand on top of them after they have been running for hours without getting burned. There is no open flame. The unit's afterburner assured complete combustion and eliminates dangerous fumes and smoke. Because of Master's low center of gravity, it's practically impossible to tip one over accidentally.

Master Portable Space Heaters are manufactured by Master Vibrator division of Master Consolidated, Inc., Dayton, Ohio.

Veterans Administration was established in 1930.

Zachary Taylor did not vote until he was 62 years old.

A Master Portable Heater keeps men warm; dries and thaws materials; heats repair shops, warehouses and loading docks. Starts heating instantly when plugged in...runs on kerosene or fuel oil...circulates 75,000 to 400,000 BTUs per hour, depending on model. Vented, unvented and thermostatically-equipped models available.

Come in soon for a free demonstration.

CEDAR CREEK

Everybody seems to be busy this beautiful fall weather gathering in the golden grain. How busy is not so important as, why busy. The number of hours put in is not so important as, what is put in the house. If one is too busy to serve God, he is too busy! Take time, find time, or make time, in this Thanksgiving season.

Henry Owens Tatum of Baltimore, Md. spent the weekend here with his mother, Mrs. Lucy Tatum.

Luncheon guests of Mrs. Lula West Saturday were her granchildren, Helen, Michael, Ronnie and Jeffrey Smith, and Mrs. William Eaton and grandson, Donnie Eaton.

In North Carolina... after bowling, beer is a natural

After you've bowled a game or two, or when you're winding up the evening at the neighborhood bowling center, it's good to relax with friends and compare scores. What better way to add to the sport and the sociableness than with a refreshing glass of beer? However you take your fun—skiing, skating, or at your ease in the game room—beer always makes a welcome addition to the party.

Your familiar glass of beer is also a pleasurable reminder that we live in a land of personal freedom—and that our right to enjoy beer and ale, if we so desire, is just one, but an important one, of those personal freedoms.

Some families never run out of hot water!

What kind of families are they? Every kind! Big ones. Small ones. Young ones. Grown ones. Families of every different type and description. But with this one important thing in common . . . Each owns a quick recovery electric water heater, and so enjoys piping hot water at the turn of a tap. Torrents of it. As often and as much as needed. For luxurious baths, clothes washing, dishes, any other family chore.

That phrase, quick recovery, tells the story. Electric water heaters with this designation work 6 times faster than standard models. Actually replace hot water faster than you normally use it. And we mean hot!

Tired of always running out? Run in to your favorite electric appliance dealer, plumber, or nearest Duke Power showroom, and see the display of modern flameless electric water heaters. Could be you'll never be left out in the cold again.

DAVIE COUNTY ENTERPRISE RECORD

Davie's Rainfall For The Past Week Was .49"

Volume—LVII 'All The County News For Everybody' Mocksville, N. C., Thursday, November 26, 1964 $3.00 Per Year — Single Copy, 10 cents No. 33

THE PATH OF DEATH . . . is illustrated in the picture above by the dark marks. This marks the path where the 1964 Chevrolet . . . heading east on U. S. 158 . . . left the highway and traveled on the shoulder of the road, cut back into the highway into a broadside skid into the path of a tractor-rig heading west. The result is shown in the picture at the top . . . showing the tractor almost cutting the car into half. This resulted in the death of the two people in the Chevrolet, bringing the highway fatality total in Davie to 22 for the year.

Car-Tractor Rig Collide Early Sunday—

Two Killed In Wreck On U. S. 158

Two more persons died in "Death Alley" early Sunday morning as their careening car skidded broadside into the path of an oncoming tractor rig.

The accident occurred about 1:45 a.m. Sunday on US 158 just on the outskirts of Mocksville near the Hilltop Milling Company and Hilltop Cafe.

Killed instantly in the crash were Mrs. Annie Ruth Goss Bates, 17, of Mocksville Rt. 2, driver of the car, and Coyt Wayne Gentle, 21, of Mocksville Rt. 5, owner of the car, a 1964 Chevrolet.

State Highway Patrolman Randall Bean said Mrs. Bates was thrown from the car. Gentle was crushed in the wreckage of the car. Wreckers had to work over 30-minutes to free his body from the wreckage.

The tractor-rig was driven by Thomas Lee Fox, 47, of Hiddenite. He suffered abrasions but was not badly hurt.

Patrolman Beane said that his investigation showed that Mrs. Bates was driving the car east when it ran off the right shoulder and skidded. She lost control, and the car went broadside across the road and crashed into the tractor, which was going west.

Fox had gone to the aid of a fellow tractor driver who had run out of gas. He was hauling gasoline to his companion when the accident occurred.

The two deaths early Sunday brought the total traffic fatalities in Davie County this year to 22. Fifteen of these have been on US 158 . . . and a total of 17 on Death Alley . . . that stretch of highway . . . US 158 and US 64 West . . . that will be replaced by Interstate 40. This accident occurred within sight of the spot where a Rowan County woman was killed in a wreck last spring.

The Chevrolet was completely demolished in the wreck . . . The tractor-trailer almost went through and over the car. Damages to the tractor were estimated at $600.

Mrs. Bates was born in Davie County to James and Pearl Goss. Surviving are her mother and stepfather, Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Owen of Mocksville Rt. 2; two brothers James Spergeon Goss of Mocksville Rt. 2 and Perry Franklin Owen of the home; and two sisters, Mrs. Nathan F. Smith and Mrs. James D. Myers of Mocksville, Rt. 3.

Funeral services were conducted Tuesday morning at the Smith Grove Methodist Church. The Rev. Brown McKinney officiated. Burial was in the church cemetery.

Mr. Gentle was born in Davie County to John H. and Lessie Myers Gentle and was employed by a furniture company in Lexington.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Brenda Lanier Gentle of Mocksville, Rt. 1; a daughter, Darlene Gentle of Mocksville, Rt. 1; his parents of Mocksville Rt. 5; four brothers, Walter and Fred Gentle of Yadkinville, Talbert Gentle of Lexington and John Henry Gentle of Salisbury; and four sisters, Mrs. L. H. Steelman of Asheboro, Mrs. Roy Carter of Yadkinville, Mrs. James Ireland of Lexington and Mrs. Gene Hall of Mocksville.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at the Liberty Baptist Church. The Rev. J. A. Brackens, the Rev. F. Z. Stanley, the Rev. Odell Broadway and the Rev. N. W. Holbrook officiated. Burial was in the church cemetery.

Rotary Club Hears Talk On Youth Problems

Rotarians were urged to "face up to our youth" by the Rev. Downs Spitler in a talk to the Mocksville Rotary Club on Tuesday.

Mr. Spitler told the Rotarians that "facing up to our youth" was a problem of this age.

"Our youth of today have taken symbols of adulthood and made them into reality . . . smoking . . . drinking . . . and sex . . . believing . . . if I do this I am acting like an adult", said Mr. Spitler.

Mr. Spitler said that today production is being stressed too much for the young people.

"So much stress is placed on production that they can't interpret and find the true meaning and understanding . . . they come to believe that it is not what you know but what you can produce is what is important", said the speaker.

Mr. Spitler pointed out that by 1974 the young people will be the majority group in the nation. By 1974 the young people between the ages of 13 to 21 will outnumber by more than 2 to 1 the age group of 21 to 45. This young group will also compose the bigger market . . . more than 7.5 billion . . . than the adults.

Mr. Spitler said that the adults should recognize the young people as "humans today . . . not potentials for tomorrow".

"Let them be young with vitality . . . energy . . . and know-how. Show them trust and good faith . . . realize that they need to develop themselves and make their own decisions . . . give them real personal contact . . . not just meaningless activities", said Mr. Spitler.

Jack Pennington was in charge of the program and introduced Mr. Spitler. President John Durham presided. Special guests included Roy Wall of Salisbury; Grimes Hancock of East Spencer; Bill Terrell of Charlotte.

Smith Grove Ruritans Plan Variety Show

The Smith Grove Ruritan Club held its regular meeting last week at the Smith Grove School.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Alvis Cheshire.

The club made plans for the variety show to be held at the school on Dec. 11. The show consits of four acts: Country . . . Western . . . Modern . . . Spiritual.

A turkey supper was prepared by members of the club.

The club has invited their wives to attend the Dec. 12th meeting for installation of officers 1964.

Prayer by Chaplin Elmer Hendrix adjourned the meeting.

Cooleemee Legion Post Holds Membership Drive

Cooleemee Post No. 54 of the American Legion has conducted a highly successful membership drive.

Thomas Vogler, Commander of the Post, has received a letter from Department Adjutant Nash McKee reporting that Post No. 54 has exceeded its Legion Membership incentive for 1965. The Legion Adjutant expressed congratulations and thanks to the Post leaders and membership workers for their effort.

A statement of high praise for the local Post was issued by Leroy S. Lakey, of Charlotte, North Carolina Department Commander of The American Legion.

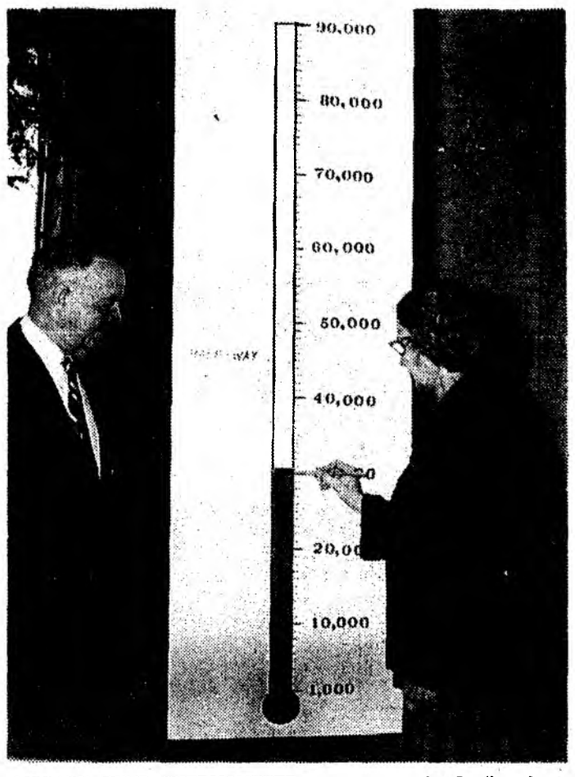

Commander Lakey said, "The membership of every Legionnaire makes it possible for The American Legion to maintain service for the sick and disabled in hospitals. Memberships make possible all the Legion programs; such as care for needy children, baseball, Boys' State, Boy Scout Troops, Oratorical Contests, Community Service and all the others. I am proud to congratulate Post No. 54 upon this notable achievement".

Post Commander Vogler explained that the "Roll Call" theme of this year's drive was to remind all war veterans of their service to their country which makes them eligible to become Legionnaires.

"We are accepting dues payments now from Legionnaires and eligible veterans whose membership is essential if the local organization is to continue its service programs", Commander Vogler stated. Also, he reported that the Post is planning to expand its local programs and activities, depending on the final results of the 1965 membership drive.

Drive Is Extended To December 5th—

Library Fund Passes $30,000

More than $30,000 has been raised in the Davie County Library Fund drive for new facilities.

Knox Johnstone, chairman of the drive, announced this week that he was well pleased with the response but felt that extra time was needed in order for Davie to achieve their goal of $90,000.

Key workers made their reports last Friday night at a dinner held in the Rotary Hut. Many reported that pledges had been given them which would increase the amount they were reporting. All felt that the time for the drive should be extended and a Dec. 5 target date was agreed upon.

Mr. Johnstone requested that anyone not having been contacted and wishing to contribute to this drive to drop a check into mail addressed to the "Davie County Library Fund" or hand to him at the Bank of Davie . . . or give to Mrs. Paul Blackwelder at the Davie County Library.

Davie is seeking to raise $90,000 as its portion of funds needed for the construction of a new library building on North Main Street in Mocksville. If Davie can raise this amount, it will be able to receive state and federal funds to apply towards the completion of these facilities.

1964 Census of Agriculture to be Taken—

Farm Census Enumerators Listed

Enumerators have been named in Davie County for the 1964 Census of Agriculture, Crew Leader R. C. Glasscock has announced. They are as follows:

Mrs. Elva P. Hendrix, Shady Grove-Fulton.

Mrs. Betty D. Stafford, Jerusalem Calahaln, Mrs. Margaret C. Shew Clarksville, Mrs. Frances S. Gough West Farmington, Mrs. Ruby C. Leagans

East Farmington, Mrs. Malelyn S. Sparks

Mocksville, Mrs. Ruby S. Blackwelder.

"These enumerators in Davie County belong to a force of 23,000 throughout the nation employed temporarily by the U. S. Bureau of the Census for this year's Census of Agriculture," said Mr. Glasscock.

"Enumerators are key workers in an agricultural census. It is the enumerator's responsibility to locate every farm within an enumeration district assigned to him or her, determine if the operator of the farm has answered all questions on a questionnaire that will be mailed to the farmer by the Census Bureau, help the farmer complete any unanswered questions on the form, check answers for accuracy, and deliver the form to the Census Bureau," he explained.

A Census of Agriculture is taken every five years in the years ending in "4" and "9" to gather needed up-to-date information on the nation's agricultural resources and production. Such information is vital in making decisions affecting many segments of the U. S. economy. Data gathered include the number and size of farms, acreage and harvest of crops, livestock inventory, information on farm equipment and improvements, farm products sold, and on some production expenditures.

Information also will be collected on use of fertilizers, insecticides, and herbicides.

The enumerators will be trained in a special 4-day home study course designed to prepare them for the farm census.

GOP WOMEN MEET

HOPE FOR HEARTS

The simple stethoscope, that device every doctor uses to listen to your heart, may reveal more heart disease than such fancy instruments as the electrocardiogram.

"If the physician knows what to listen for, we can often do better in diagnosing heart disease with the ordinary physical exam, using a stethoscope," says Dr. J. Willis Hurst, prominent Atlanta physician and President Lyndon B. Johnson's heart specialist.

The stethoscope is the family physician's most important tool. This is true because, in the last ten years, through use of machines, physicians have learned what the abnormalities seen on the machine sound like on the stethoscope, he says.

However, Dr. Hurst, chairman of the department of medicine at Emory University in Atlanta, points out that the "elegant machines" often have pointed the way to better diagnosis.

There is no perfect heart disease diagonstic procedure, according to Dr. Hurst. There are many kinds of heart disease, and some of these will be diagnosed and treated with increasing effectiveness during the next few years. The "really tough nut to crack' 'in heart disease diagnosis and prevention is coronory artery disease, leading heart crippler and killer, which Dr. Hurst suggests, is caused by a "mosaic of factors, and any one of these factors can be more or less important in a specific individual."

"There may also be some factors we have not identified yet," he says, but, when all is said and done, "a combination of things, working together" will probably be found to cause coronary artery disease. There will be a combination of ways to attack the symptoms which are found.

Nonetheless, the prominent Atlanta heart specialist insists that the plain, ordinary stethoscope will probably keep its rank as the doctor's most useful tool to make sure that, in your heart, you're all right.

Dr. Hurst made his comments on a recent visit to Charlotte under the Heart Association auspices.

1964 Cotton Supplies Increased

Cotton growers will vote in the Dec. 15 marketing quota referendum in the knowledge that 1964-crop prospects have increased since the Secretary of Agriculture proclaimed the quotas in October.

According to A. P. Hassell, Jr., Executive Director for the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation State Committee, crop yields at that time were expected to average around 522 pounds per acre, which would have been a record high. Prospects as of Nov. 1, however, indicate a 1964 yield of 528 pounds per acre. This compares with the 1963 yield of 516 pounds, the previous high, and the 5-year 1958-62 average of 464 pounds.

The 1964 upland crop, therefore, is expected to total 15,313,000 bales, up 164,000 bales from a month ago. This crop would exceed the total use in this country plus exports during this marketing year, and the carryover would probably increase from the 12.1 million bales on Aug. 1, 1964, to about 12.7 million bales by Aug. 1, 1965. A carryover this size has been exceeded only one in the last 25 years.

Supplies for the current marketing year have been estimated at 41 per cent more than normal. The normal supply is the level beyond which the Agriculture Secretary is required to proclaim marketing quotas.

Growers eligible to vote in the Dec. 15 referendum on marketing quotas for the 1965 upland cotton crop are all those farmers who engaged in the production of upland cotton in 1964. Approval by at least two-thirds of the growers voting is necessary to make the quotas and the "domestic allotment program" effective.

The domestic allotment program was provided by legislation last spring as a means of further reducing 1964 and 1965 upland cotton production through voluntary reductions in planted acreage. The program offers price support payments, in addition to the basic cotton loans, to growers who keep their acreage within the farm's domestic allotment.

If quotas are approved in the Dec. 15 referendum, they will apply to the 1965 upland cotton crop, with penalties on any excess cotton produced; price support loans will be available to growers who do not exceed their farm acreage allotments at a level within the range of from 65 to 90 per cent of parity; and additional price support in the form of payments will also be made to growers who keep their acreage within the farm's domestic allotment.

If quotas are not approved, there will be no quotas or penalties on the 1965 upland cotton crop, no domestic allotment program, and price support loans to growers who do not exceed their farm acreage allotments will be available at 50 per cent of parity.

Flue-Cured Tobacco Referendum

North Carolina flue-cured tobacco growers are reminded by A. P. Hassell, Jr., Executive Director for the Agricultural Stabilization and Consevation State Committee, that the upcoming referendum on flue-cured tobacco is on marketing quotas only. If quotas are approved by growers, price support will be available on flue-cured tobacco for the next three years. If disapproved, price support will not be available.

Hassell went on to say that recent discussions about alternate proposals for flue-cured tobacco has created some confusion about the referendum. He stresses that before any major changes are made, it would require new legislation and approval by growers in another referendum.

Hassell says that this year's referendum is of vital importance to the economy of North Carolina and to the livelihood of each individual tobacco grower. He says that every effort is being made to fully inform all tobacco farmers of the provisions of the program. All farmers should study the issues and vote in this very important referendum.

SO THIS IS NEW YORK

By NORTH CALLAHAN

Within the past few days, I have gone back into history. On one enjoyable occasion I spoke at the 75th Anniversary of the Historical Society of the Tarrytowns in the storied country up the Hudson where Washington Irving wrote his delightful tales. Soon afterward as a member of the Zenger Memorial Plaque Committee, I was a guest and recipient of a Federal Hall Medallion on the 230th anniversary of the imprisonment of John Peter Zenger in 1734 at Broad and Wall Streets in Manhattan. This was part of the 300th anniversary of the founding of New York City and was ably observed by the New York City the inauguration of a new President just a few weeks away, it is interesting to visit the site here of the first inauguration just 175 years ago. It took George Washington eight days to travel from his home at Mount Vernon to the scene of his inauguration. And utilizing the original type of horsepower, the time it took was the same as it would have taken 2,000 years before. Moses could have travelled as fast. It is not necessary to mention here how much progress has been made in transportation in the short history of our country. It would be great if human nature had improved as much.

A New York firm was seeking to establish title to some property in Louisiana and wrote a similar firm in that state for information. It was received, but the local people wrote back and called attention to the fact that the title only dated back to 1803. What about before that time, the firm asked. Back came the answer: "Our records date back only that far. Before 1803, this state was owned by France, before that by Spain and before that - well, God really made Louisana!"

A Negro preacher was holding forth to his congregation about the progress of his church. "This church is going to run", he declared. A deacon in the rear said fervently, "Amen". Inspired by such enthusiasm, the preacher cried out, "This church is going to fly!" Again the earnest amen was heard in the rear. "But it will take money to run this church," the preacher shouted. The deacon in the back slid down in his seat. "Let's walk." he said.

A drugstore which claims to be the oldest in America, Caswell-Massey Company on Lexington Avenue, continues to thrive and evoke nostalgic memories. Specializing in British merchandise, the store was founded in 1752 by a Dr. William Hunter. A current catalog reminds us that now in stock are such items as a whale bone brush for toning up the scalp, stimulating circulation and even helping relieve simple headaches; cologne water such as was used by Lafayette, George Washington and Dolly Madison; perfume balls hand-made by "a New Jersey Gentlewoman"; tomato juice soap made in the shape of one; and java rice powder in shades of white, natural, Rachel, peaches and rose Indian for the face. We are also reminded that among the famous customers of yesterday were the Jay Gould; who lived in a mansion across the corner from the drugstore.

A college dean who was overworked and over-weight, according to his colleagues, passed away the other day and will be burn greatly missed. Appropriate, it seems in his field of education, he had a hobby of collecting school bells, his office being virtually filled with all shapes and sizes of them, having been obtained from all parts of the world. This prompted a friend, when informed of the death of the dean, to shake his head sadly and quote, "But ask not for whom the bell tolls."

Four New Tobacco Varieties

Davie County tobacco growers can now get detailed information on varieties available for their 1965 crop from their county agent's office.

The County Agent's Office reports that they have received results of the 1964 Official Tobacco Variety Tests conducted annually by North Carolina State.

Included in the tests were 14 of the most commonly planted flue-cured varieties, plus four new varieties that will be offered for planting for the first time in 1965.

"Results of these tests—the Official Variety Tests and the Minimum Standards Tests—are not to be taken as official recommendations," B. G. Westbrook said. "But we do believe the tests can serve as useful guides in helping farmers pick a variety for 1965."

Included in the tests were Hicks Broadleaf, NC 95, Coker 319, McNair 10, McNair 12, Coker 111, McNair 20, McNair 30, Speight G-8, Speight G-10, Bell 29, Coker 187-Hicks, Bell 14 and Reams 61. The four new varieties tested were NC 2326, Va. 116, Coker 298 and Speight G-36.

Since most farmers have not had an opportunity to observe these new varieties, here is a description prepared by research and extension workers at N. C. State:

NC 2326 was developed from crosses of 402 x Hicks with its black shank resistance coming from a wild tobacco. NC 2326 was equal to Hicks in quality and useability and was a little better than Hicks in yield and price per pound.

The cured leaf of NC 2326 was a rich lemon or orange color of fair to grainy texture with a thin to medium body. Field appearance was very much like Hicks.

Va. 115, tested in Davie County as Va. 187, was developed from a cross of Hicks and Coker 139. It produced a high yield of tobacco, which was lemon to light orange in color, fair to grainy texture and medium body. The price was a little higher than that for Hicks. Chemically, it was within the prescribed standard. Va. 116 had a similar field appearance to Hicks.

Speight G-36 was developed from crosses of DB 102, Hicks and Oxford 1-181. It produced a high yield of tobacco with orange color, grainy texture and thin to medium body. Price was below that of Hicks. Chemically, the variety met the medium standards.

Speight G-36 grew higher than Hicks in the field and had a medium green color. Leaves were spaced close but tended to be horizontal with the ground. This gave a wide-open appearance.

Coker 29 , tested as Coker 19 in Davie County tests, was developed from a cross of Coker 139 and Coker 156. It produced a high yield of tobacco with lemon to light orange color, fair texture and thin body. Chemically, the variety met the minimum standards. The price was lower than that for Hicks. Field appearance of Coker 298 was similad to that of Coker 187-Hicks.

For Thanksgiving 1964—

Needed Is A Thankful Heart

Once again it is Thanksgiving . . . and your thoughts cannot help but turn to a year ago and the tragedy of John F. Kennedy. Also you think of Viet Nam . . . Red China . . . the new regime in Russia . . . and the rumblings of unrest throughout the country. You think of the many controversial issues facing mankind today . . . of the many differences in thoughts . . . ideals . . . and principles. You ask yourself . . . which is wrong . . . which is right . . . who is right . . . and who is wrong?

Then you wonder it is really necessary for everything to be decided on the basis of right and wrong . . . which of course can only reflect an individual opinion which renders a judgement on others . . . a judgement which often is not justified . . . and as such may also be wrong.

You research for your Bible . . . and in the Gospel . . . "the good news" . . . of the New Testament you find Jesus not creating definite standards for individual conduct but instead urging one to: "Love thy neighbor as thy self" . . . and "Do unto others as you would have them do unto you'. You then come to the conclusion that Jesus did not mean for you to judge other human beings . . . and recall the passage: "Judge not that ye be not judged'.

Leaving your typewriter you get into your automobile for a tour of the area. The splendor of the warm, balmy autumn impresses itself upon you. You see farm land that is great with potential productivty in spite of the exceedingly arid weather experienced this fall. You see new and freshly painted farm houses and farm buildings.

As you drive along you discover that you are throwing your hand up at people and that they are acknowledging this greeting with a friendly wave. Some of these people you know personally, others you do not. However, regardless of whether you know them or not; regardless of what you don't know about their religious beliefs, political philosophy, or social standing, they are your friends on this beautiful day.

You pass one of the county's elementary schools. Here you see many children . . . the sons and daughters of the friends you have just waved to down the road. They appear to be healthy, happy and interested in taking advantage of their opportunities. Without realizing it, you silently offer thanks for the vision of the educational leaders and for the progressive spirit of the people.

You pass a beautiful little country church. One of many such churches in the county and of the many varied denominations that give substance and meaning to the life of the county. Near the church is a space that is dotted with white markers . . . silent reminders of those that have been here ahead and have gone on before. In all this you feel a spirit of reverence and are grateful for it.

Soon you are back at the office and are transposing your thoughts onto paper. The diversion offered by the ride about the countryside had renowed for you the appreciation of beauty, good land, friendly people, good schools and chuches . . . all of which are present in the county. Of these things you have a deep feeling of appreciation and thankfulness . . . but how can you express it as a Thanksgiving message for 1964?

What was that Henry Ward Beecher once wrote:

"If one should give me a dish of sand, and tell me there were particles of iron in it, I might look for them with my eyes, and search for them with my clumsy fingers, and be unable to detect them; but let me take a magnet and sweep through it, and it would draw to itself the almost invisible particles by the mere power of attraction. The unthankful heart, like my finger in the sand, discover no mercies; but let the thankful heart sweep through the day and as the magnet finds iron, so it will find in every hour, some heavenly blessing."

So to paraphrase Shakespeare:

"O' Lord, who lends me life, give to me a heart . . . replete with thankfulness!"

Late in March of 1621 concluded a peace treaty with the Indians which was to last for fifty years.

FIRST THANKSGIVING AT PLIMOTH PLANTATION

THE FIRST THANKSGIVING celebrated at Plymouth in 1621 was a harvest festival, a gathering of family, friends and neighbors, and a time of games and feasting.

Almost half of the original 102 Pilgrims had survived the first winter. They had labored long and hard to build a village and plant crops. When their harvest was gathered, they celebrated.

In writing to a friend in England describing the First Thanksgiving, one of the Pilgrims said: "Our harvest being gotten in, our Governor William Bradford sent four men on fowling; so that we might after a more special manner, rejoice together, after we had gathered the fruit of our labours. They four, on one day, killed as much fowl as, with a little help besides served the company almost a week."

"And among the rest, their (the Indians) greatest king, Massasoit, with some ninety men, whom for three days, we entertained and feasted, and they went out and killed five deer; which they brought to the Plantation and bestowed on our Governor, and upon the Captain (Myles Standish) and others."

NEWS AND COMMENT FROM OUR RALEIGH BUREAU
2615 Oberlin Road

OFFICIAL . . . Since the Primary last spring, leaders of both parties in North Carolina have watched with interest the various vote totals that have come in for the respective candidates. It's been a kind of game.

For weeks now we have known the winners. However, not until this week—November 24, to be exact—has it been official.

Our top office - holders — from Governor Terry Sanford, Governor-Elect Dan K. Moore right on down the list — waited with interest for the State Board of Elections' final count.

They all wanted to know just how much John Doe beat Richard Roe. We know Doe won — but by how much? In fact, there is a little race — and possibly some small wagers — among our top State officials as to how much each defeated his Republican opponent.

This is of particular importance to two top officials who never were elected to public office before November 3. We refer to our new Agriculture Commissioner Jim Graham and our Lt. Gov. — Elect Bob Scott.

These young men pulled out all the stops during September and October for the Democratic Party.

BEST TIME . . . State employees here are looking forward to Christmas with the greatest joy of recent years.

Why? Because of the day on which it comes. December 25 this year — as if you didn't know — happens to fall on a Friday. It couldn't come at a better time as far as "getting off" is concerned.

With Saturday already a day off and Christmas Eve of equal importance as far as at-work is concerned, the Christmas vacation period in Raleigh will rather officially begin on December 23 and go through December 27.

Then it's back to work for Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday and off again until January 4.

A lot of the State workers — probably most of them — save portions of their annual leave for the hard days following December 25. This means that nothing of great import is accomplished in these parts after Christmas. It was ever thus; and ever will be .

LONG LIVE . . . Then, tied to the Christmas season this year, is a long-live-the-king feeling all around.

You have Yuletide, New Year's and, just beyond, the inauguration of Dan K. Moore as Governor on January 8. For, though he is the livest lame duck west of Mattamuskeet, Terry Sanford's days as Governor are definitely numbered. And there is nothing you or I — or even Hargrove Bowles — can do about it.

We hear tell he is to be given a big automobile ere he makes his final departure — and that's nice — but it won't delay January 8 one minute. 'Twill be a sad, sad day for many.

LIKE MOORE . . . The rank and file of State employeedom like Moore. Some of them labored for him literally under Terry Sanford's nose. The Governor probably knew it — we hardly see how he could have not known — but applied no reverse pressures.

Few men anywhere are closer to Governor-Elect Moore than Clifton Beckwith, executive vice president of the State Employees Association.

While the N. C. Education Association was piling it on for Preyer, Beckwith in his best bass voice — he's one of the South's best after-dinner, speakers — was pleading: "More for Moore!" He got it.

UNCLE . . . Not only that, dear reader, but did you know that Clifton Beckwith is the uncle of Melville Broughton, Moore stalwart and now head of our State Democratic Executive Committee? True. Beckwith and Chairman Broughton's father, the late Governor, married sisters.

An interesting sidelight, too — and not far distant from the Moore campaign — is the fact that Dan K. Moore, if memory mistakes not, served at one time on the board of directors of the politically powerful N. C. Citizens Association. It is watched over by Lloyd Griffin. Good people.

Another old Raleigh name all-out for Moore: Pou. There are plenty of them here still; and few of them had Preyer commitments. Leaders were Virginia Pou Doughton, widow of the late Hort Doughton of Statesville, and Edwin Pou, son of the late George Ross Pou. They have connections — from way back.

THE RAISE . . . Dan Moore goes into office with as few promises as any Governor of recent years.

Nevertheless, an issue in his campaign — and a solid commitment, as we see it — is a whopping increase in pay for State employees. Since Moore is against new taxes, where will the money come from for these raises?

Well, that brings us back to where we came in. The Preyer people said the surplus at the end of the current fiscal year would be negligible. Not so, said Moore. Not so, said Treasurer Edwin Gill.

Not so, said the figures when the facts were in. So, the money will be there for the increased pay. This will be one time when State employees' pay will take precedence over the teachers'. This hasn't happened often — in recent years — for catching-up to do.

NOTES . . . Pound-a-month dept.: The man who will take office as Governor of North Carolina next month says he has lost 15 pounds since orginally announcing for the office . . . State Supreme Court Chief Justice Denny is now using a cane in his trips down the street from his office.

Senator SAM ERVIN Says:

MORGANTON — One of the measures which will be considered by the next Congress is the Appalachia bill. Although the Senate approved this measure on September 25, the House adjourned without acting upon it. Consideration by the 89th Congress will determine the fate of the $1 billion economic assistance proposal. As adopted by the Senate, the measure would aid 355 counties in the 11-state Appalachia region including 29 western North Carolina counties.

Critics have attacked the bill as giving preferential treatment to Appalachia over other regions, such as the Ozark area and the Great Lakes iron ore region, which have economic difficulties. They label the legislation as an entering wedge for Federal action in other regions, and declare that some of the proposed projects in the bill are of questionable value. Proponents have called it a necessary step to bring Appalachia's economic level up to national standards. Currently, welfare payments for the region cost the Federal government about $41 million a month. The controversy to-date has centered on the admitted economic and human needs of the region as opposed to policy questions over the legislation.

What is the purpose and what are the suggested remedies in the proposed bill? The Senate version is based upon a three year study of the region's economic probems. A study was conducted by a Presidential Appalachian Regional Commission, a joint Federal and State commission. Its work waw directed toward finding methods of aiding the region to improve long term economic conditions.

The Commission and the Senate Public Works Committee found that most of the region's problems stemmed from an income dependency on coal production and a post-war decline in coal and some other mineral markets. Automation and educational levels of many employees have brought hardship to the Appalachia area.

The Senate bill proposes several remedies in cooperative Federal and State assistance. It would establish a Federal-State Commission to seek cooperative solutions to the region's problems, but its principal remedy is a massive Federal-State road building program. Over a 6-year period the Federal Government proposes to make grants of $840 million, in addition to certain required State funds, to build 2,350 miles of primary highways and 500 miles of local access roads. The purpose is to give the area, long plaqued by winding, narrow roads, modern highways to attract industry and markets.

The measure's other $220 million proposed funds provide for extensive food control and water facilities, forestry development and management programs for small timber growers, coal utilization in mining areas, land restoration in mine-eroded areas, educational programs to provide work opportunities, and health and hospital services.

The study of the Presidential Commission, the testimony before the Committees, and the reports to Congress point out the economic troubles of the area. As with all legislation of this nature, there are serious policy questions. In my judgement, however, the bill is principally an extension of Federal road-building programs fitted to a particular need. As such, it is a meritorious measure.

What the outcome of the bill will be in the next session is uncertain. The House did not see fit to act upon the program at the session just concluded. It will likely have views of its own on any new proposal along these lines.

Washington Report

BY CONGRESSMAN JAMES T. BROYHILL
9TH DISTRICT OF NORTH CAROLINA

THE DRAFT

During the busy 21 months of the 88th Congress, many new laws and programs were enacted which created virtually no controverry and, as a result, have gone into the law books with relatively little public notice. Some of these new laws apply to situations where they will have limited application. Nevertheless, where they do apply, they are important and affect the lives of many Americans.

A good example of one of these bills was the proposal to exempt from the draft in peacetime the sole surviving son of a family whose father died as a result of military service. This is certainly reasonable legislation that is now the law of the land. It, in no way, interferes with the right of such young men to volunteer for entry into our Armed Services. Yet, it does clearly state that it shall not be the policy of the nation to require families who have already made a great sacrifice in the national interest to place in jeopardy the future of their family line because of involuntary service.

Even though there was little or no argument about the compelling merit of this legislation, its discussion in the Congress inevitably led to questions about the soundness and fairness of the military draft itself. The questions raised were not relevant to the bill under discussion but they do emphasize the awareness of the problem.

Few Americans would argue that the security of the country does not require a continuing large number of trained men who can defend the nation in times of peril. This is particularly important today when tensions in many parts of the world can develop almost instantly into angry situations that can esculate into armed conflict overnight. The draft has been an important part of the country's combat preparedness and it is this readiness which has prevented our enemies from embarking on new military pushes against us and the free world.

Nevertheless, the draft, which has been called the "Universal Military Training and Service Act," is in serious need of overhauling. It is certainly not "universal" either as it applies to military training or service.

Although in its inception, the draft is not intended to be unfair, the varying needs for military manpower from month to month result in inequities when they are translated into terms of individuals who are called to serve and those who are not.

During the past election campaign, leaders of both major political parties recognized this problem. It may be that disagreements will develop about how the problem should be resolved. Certainly, there is no easy answer to it. However, the signs in Washington today are are favorable that serious efforts will be made to come to grips with the issue.

NATIONAL FORESTS

Over the years, the Department of Agriculture and the United States Forest Service have had no practical means for the speedy settlement at the local level of petty violations of rules and regulations in our National Forests and National Grasslands.

A cumbersome system has existed whereby persons charged with such offences must be tried by a Federal Court. This has involved delays, expense and considerable inconvenience, both for the government and the person charged with the minor violation. In fact, Forest Service officers have been reluctant to enforce rules and procedures. This has, of course, weakened the enforcement of rules that are written to protect National Forest and Grassland areas.

Similar violations in National Parks may be handled speedily and effectively by the United States Commissioners appointed for this purpose. The past Congress recognized the need to apply the same procedures for our National Forests and Grasslands. Under the new law, a person charged with a petty offense may elect to be tried by a Court-appointed Commissioner. Since this is optional, the offender does not sacrifice his rights to Court trial and must, in fact, declare his choice of a trail by a Commissioner in a written statement.

This new procedure will provide a practical way for our forest rangers to enforce needed regulations made for the protection of our forest areas and the safety of the public which enjoys them.

HOW MUCH?

How much does the lumber cost in a new home? The U. S. Labor Department reports that lumber and lumber products account for about 40 per cent of the materials bill in a typical new home, but only 19 per cent of the entire building cost. It pays off to specify quality-stamped western woods.

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

Now that politics was temporary out of season ,the fellers at the country store Saturday night was discussing things long range, up in space and moving over to the next generation.

Bug Hookum reported he had saw experts was a little worried on account of they has observed that Venus was spinning head-on again the traffic pattern of all them things we been putting in orbit. In other words, figgered Bug, she was going in the wrong direction on a one-way street.

Ed Doolittle said he hadn't heard about this matter but it could be that Venus has got a woman driver. Ed is a great feller, Mister Editor, to blame everything on wimmen and the Democrats.

Ed allowed as how he wasn't going to worry about nothing in space. He said he had it figgered out that things up there was about like they was down here. Fer instant, he saw where all the pictures they got of the moon showed it was covered with craters. Ed claimed it was just like the problem we got down here. No parking space.

Clem Webster reported he was reading in the papers where the city fathers in some of them places that was going to have big football game; on Thanksgiving was planning to board up agin student riots. Clem was of the opinion the situation was gitting so bad a group of teen-agers and college students couldn't git together no more without moving the sidewalks, tearing down store fronts and spitting on the police. It has got to the place, claimed Clem, where it's hard to tell the difference between a gathering of the young generation and a tropic hurricane.

Zeke Grubb agreed with Clem, allowed as how we was winning the cold war overseas and losing the hot war to the younguns here at home.

Josh Clodhopper claimed King Solomon had the answer when he come out with that bullitan back in Bible times about sparing the rod and spoiling the child. Josh told the fellers juvenile delinquency wasn't nothing but a $10 word fer pure devilment and parents was trying to lick the problem without licking the younguns. He said Solomon was a wise man with many wives and many younguns and had to be a authority on the subject.

Firearm Accidents Take Their Toll—

Good Hunting . . . Is Safe Hunting

Progress is being made in reducing the death rate from firearm accidents in the United States, but the annual loss of 2,000 lives is needlessly high, Dr. J. W. R. Norton, State Health Director, Department of Health has printed out.

Firearm accidents take their geatest toll in November, when hunting is at its peak. The 3-month period from October through December accounts for almost 40% of the year's fatal hunting accidents. Tragically, the highest death rate is among the youth of our nation, teen-age boys.

Our death rate from firearm accidents ranks among the highest in the world - about ten times as high as in England and Wales, Holland, and Japan, and considerably higher than in such countries as Denmark, Norway, Scotland and Northern Ieland. Most of these accidents are caused by carelessness or ignorance, and a high percentage could be prevented by safety instruction and common sense caution.

Following are some essentials of safe hunting and gun handling. Faithful adherence to these may save your life or keep you from taking anther's.

1. Treat every gun as if it were looked.
2. Always point the muzzel in a safe direction.
3. Keep your finger out of the trigger guard until ready to fire.
4. Keep safety catch on until ready to shoot.
5. Never point a gun at anything you do not want to shoot.
6. Be sure of your target before pulling the trigger.
7. Never climb a tree or fence or jump a ditch with a loaded gun.
8. Never shoot a bullet at a flat, hard surface or water.
9. Open the firing action and unload any gun not in use.
10. Store unloaded guns and ammunition separately, beyond the reach of children .
11. Be sure the gun and ammunition are in good condition before use.
12. Avoid alcoholic beverages before or during shooting.
13. Know and observe the game laws.
14. Wear practical, easily seen clothing.

The Olympic marathon commemorates the feat of a Greek courier who ran and climbed his way from the plain of Marathon to Athens to announce the Greek victory over the Persians in 490 B. C., the National Geographic says. It is a common misconception that the present-day marathon is patterned after a distance ace in the ancient Greek Olympics.

Library News

By MRS. I. H. HUSKE

The Davie County Public Library wishes to express its gratitude to Mrs. James E. Ratchford who gave such a charming and helpful demonstration of Flemish flowers and Christmas decorations in the library last Thursday evening. It was very successful and everyone enjoyed it immensely. The proceeds were turned over to the Library Building Fund. This effort was typical of the wonderful cooperation citizens have displayed in telling the library story!

Interested patrons from all parts of the county were present, around 30 in all, and news is leaking in to us that their imaginations have been so fired and their zeal for beautifying their homes so great after watching Mrs. Ratchford's nimble fingers turn the simplest things into beautiful arrangements that they are scavenging the county for promising material. Davie County will be a more beautiful place when they have practiced their newly acquired art!

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our deep and sincere appreciation for the many acts of kindness expressed during our recent bereavement.

Agricultural Meeting

Davie County citizens with an interest in agriculture meet with several officials from North Carolina State in Statesville on Tuesday, December 1, to discuss topics of mutual interest.

County Extension Chairman Leo F. Williams said the meeting would be part of a series of similar meetings scheduled across North Carolina.

Objective of the meetings, Williams explained, is to let local people share their ideas with the college officials, and to get a report on the college's agricultural activities.

Participants from the college will include Dr. H. Brooks James, dean of the School of Agriculture and Life Sciences; R. W. Shoffner, director of foundations; J. C. Williamson, Jr., in charge of marketing research and extension work for N. C. State; Dr. E. W. Glazener, director of instruction for the School of Agricultural and Life Sciences; and George Smith, associate director of the N. C. Agricultural Extension Service.

In announcing the meetings, the college officials said, "Our farmers and business people are giving strong support to their landgrant college. It is important to keep them informed on what the college is doing. It also is important to have their suggestions."

Invited to attend the meeting are farm, business and legislative leaders; members of extension advistory boards; representatives of agricultural agencies; vocational agriculture teachers and their students; and other people interested in agriculture or N. C. State.

The meeting in Statesville will be held for people from Alexander, Davie, Davidson, Iredell and Rowan Counties. Starting time is 7:30 p. m. at Statesville City Hall.

When To Apply Lime And Phosphate

Lime should be applied early if maximum benefits are to be received from it in 1965, says County Extension Chairman, Leo F. Williams. The reaction of lime with soil is slow, therefore, it is best to apply and mix it with the soil about two or three months before planting.

The benefits received from lime are determined by the thoroughness with which it is mixed with the soil. Lime moves very slowly in soils so it must be mixed mechanically in order to do the most good.

The ideal way to apply lime is to broadcast one-half and cut it into the soil with a disk before plowing. After plowing the other half can be applied and disked into the soil. This does a good job of blending the lime with the soil. Each farmer must decide for himself if the additional benefits derived from a split application justify the additional operational costs incurred. The thing to remember is that lime will be most effective in soils when it has been well mixed with the soil.

Lime for established pastures, lawns, and permanent sods can be broadcast without mixing. The root system of these crops is very near the surface and can be helped by surface applications of lime. Soil samples for lime determinations of established sods should be taken to a depth of no greater than 2 or 3 inches. This is as deep as surface applied lime will penetrate within a reasonable length of time. When establishing or reseeding pastures, lawns, etc., soils should be limed as indicated above for general crops.

Lime should be applied only on the basis of a soil test. Too much lime can be just as detrimental as too little. The only way to know how much lime to apply is to determine the requirements chemically.

A four step program to sound liming is:

1. Test soils early—as soon after harvest as possible.
2. Use a liming material which contains at least 15 per cent magnesium carbonate equivalent which will supply magnesium as well as calcium.
3. Apply the lime uniformly at the suggested rate two months prior to planting.
4. Mix well with the soil.

There is much interest among farmers in broadcasting phosphate. In sandy soils of the Coastal Plain of North Carolina, phosphorus can be broadcast at almost any time of the year. On the red soils of the Piedmont and Mountains, it should be applied as near planting time as possible. These heavier textured soils may change the phosphorus to forms which are unavailable to plants if applied too early. Phosphorus must be applied in the root zone of plants to be effective because it moves very slowly in soils.

Collect Soil Samples Now

Many farmers have finished sowing small grains, pastures, and cover crops, and Mr. Leo F. Williams, County Extension Agent, suggests that now is the time to take soil samples for next year cultivated crops.

Farmers that sample now will get their soil test results in time to have their soil limed, if needed, and can order their fertilizer early. Mr. Williams further states that the soil is usually dry and in better condition for collecting samples now than it will be next spring. Often by the time your soil dries in the spring it is time to plow and fertilizer must be applied by guess instead of a test.

Soil samples received in the Soil Testing Laboratory now can be tested and the results sent to you in less than two weeks since only about 300 samples are received daily. Samples received after the fifteenth of January usually require three to four weeks to test because as many as 3,000 samples are often received in one day. The maximum capacity of your Soil Testing Laboratory is about 800 samples per day. Therefore, if our farmers collect their samples now they will have their results when they need them and will have to wait their turn in the spring rush.

Soil sampling supplies can be picked up at your county extension office. Get the supplies you need now and send your soil samples to the Soil Testing Division, N. C. Department of Agriculture, Raleigh, N. C.

Tobacco Variety Test

Several tobacco tests were conducted in Davie County during the past growing season. Some of the tests were concerned with comparing different tobacco varieties under Davie County soil and weather conditions.

One variety test was conducted with the assistance and cooperation of Sidney Steelman. The purpose of the test was to compare yields, disease resistance, quality and other characteristics of new and old varieties. Twelve varieties were used in the test. They are listed in order, starting with the highest and going to the lowest yielding varieties: N. C. 2326, McNair 30, Coker 124, Virginia 187, Coker 198, Speight G5, N. C. 95, McNair 20, Coker 406, and Hicks.

The test was conducted in soil known to have Black Shank disease.

Higher Farm Earnings

Higher farm earnings don't just happen. They must be planned. Farmers have land, labor, capital (money) and management ability to help him increase farm earnings. All of these things are important, but management ability ( the ability to mold the other three into a well balanced business) is very important.

How much income your farm business earns depends on two things: Margin of profit and volume. Neither of these can be overlooked when planning for more farm income.

Have you priced a tiger lately?

Take the GTO, for instance. Comes with 335 hp. Or 360 at extra cost. Plus bucket seats. Carpeting. Walnut dash. And like that. Yet it sells for less than a lot of pussycats with imitation stripes. Then there's the Le Mans. Same kind of pizzazz. Same kind of crackle. Same kind of low price. Slightly smaller teeth. So price a tiger.

TEXT: "Impulse manages all things badly" - Statius.

The doctor watching the new nurse, remarked,

"You don't have to hold both wrists to check the patient's pulse, nurse."

"I know, doctor," the nurse replied, "but I'm not holding hip wrists to check his pulse. I'm holding them to check his impulse."

We are not certain that we agree with the Latin poet, Publius Papinius Statius that impulse manages all things badly. Frequently, impulse does very well for us. Whether impulse does badly or well depends upon whether the impulse starts from the sence or the sences. The impulse that leaps from the senses is more often destructive than constructive. The impulse that springs from the sense of a mature mind which has developed soundness of judgement can be trusted to be more constructive than destructive.

All impulses are not evil, of course. Impulse is a most happy asset in adding a spark to what we do and in enabling us to act quickly and correctly without effort. However, before an impulse should be trusted too far, it is essential that we be certain it is prompted by sense and not the senses.

Tickets For Dinner Honoring Sanford Available Locally

Tickets for the dinner honoring Governor Terry Sanford are being handled in Davie County by Gordon Tomlinson, Mocksville, it is announced by Hargrove Bowles, Jr., general chairman for the dinner arrangements.

The dinner will be held at the Dorton Arena (N. C. State Fair) in Raleigh on Friday, Dec. 4 at 6 p.m. Tickets to the affair are being sold for $2 each, Bowles said, and are available to anyone who desires to attend.

Bowles, who is chairman of the Board of Conservation and Development, stated that the dinner is being held so citizens of the State will have an opportunity to show appreciation to Governor Sanford for his progressive leadership as Governor over the past four years. He stated that representatives of industry, education, agriculture, business, higher education, culture and other fields have indicated they will be present.

The sale of the tickets will be used to finance the dinner; provide a gift for Governor and Mrs. Sanford; and to establish a Terry Sanford Scholarship Fund at Methodist College in Fayetteville, which he helped found.

Tickets may be obtained from the county chairman, Bowles said, or by writing direct to him at Box 1086 in Raleigh.

Peace is not absence of war, it is a virtue, a state of mind, a disposition for benevolence, confidence, justice. — Spinoza

Social Security In Davie County

"Inquire before you retire." That's the advice given by Taft McCoy social security field representative in Davie County, to persons who plan to retire soon.

"We always try to make sure that a person's first retirement check arrives promptly," McCoy said, "but it really helps if we can talk with him before he actually retires. Suppose, for example, John Smith expects to retire in March 1965. If he files his claim in January, 1965, there will be plenty of time to process the application so that the postman can drop Mr. Smith's check in his box on April 3, 1965."

McCoy added that some evidence of the previous year's earnings is generally needed. A wage earner can use his Form W-2, Withholding Tax Statement, while a self-employed person can supply a copy of his income tax return for the previous year.

A birth certificate is best for proving a person's age, but the Social Security Administration may also accept a baptismal record, census record, insurance policy, naturalization paper, passport, or even the old family Bible.

"The Social Security Administration relies on high speed wire transmission, electronic computers, and highly trained people to insure prompt delivery of benefits," McCoy said, "but a pre-retirement visit to the social security office located at 105 Corriher Avenue, Salisbury, N. C. is the best assurance of having the first check arrive right on time."

Postmaster Pushes Planning for Mailing

A little planning during the Thanksgiving Holiday can help avoid the "Christmas Rush," Postmaster Roy Carter said today.

The Mocksville postmaster has some tips which will not only put ZIP into Christmas mailing, but help local postal employees move the record breaking mountain of mail that is expected this Christmas season.

1. Find last year's Christmas mailing list. If you don't find it, or did not have one, make one up.
2. Check to see that all addresses are correct. The phone book is usually a good source for local addresses.
3. Wherever possible, add the ZIP Code to the addresses on the list. Because ZIP Codes speed your mail, always include the code for your area in return addresses. This is the best way to inform friends, relatives and business associates of the code number for your area.
4. Determine your list of gift purchases which must be mailed. Such planning allows you to shop early when selections are greatest and you can stock up on mailing materials in advance. Be sure to purchase enough material so that parcels will be packed securely.

The postmaster emphasized that poorly wrapped and loosely packed cartons are the major cause of parcel post damage. He also suggested that the address be written on only one side of the exterior wrapping and that a duplicate address be included inside the carton, in case the outer covering is not secure and comes off.

Mr. Cartner said that the Post Office Department in Washington is predicting that a record seven billion pieces of mail will move through the postal system during the peak rush just before Christmas.

"The cooperation of all mailers is vital for us to deliver each holiday card, letter and package before Christmas Day. A little planning will make the Christmas rush less hectic for everyone," he said.

Fork

The Fork Community 4-H Club held a regular meeting Thursday, Nov. 19, at Fork Fire Department with 15 members present. Jean Stewart presided over the meeting. Devotions were led by Kenneth Merrell followed by a song led by Sandra Barnes. The minutes were read by Ava Seagle.

In the business session, the club planned the Christmas party which will take place at the next meeting. After the business, all except two members took part in crafts and made some Christmas designs. The meeting was then adjourned.

Refreshments were served by Kenneth Merrell and Dale Stewart.

There were two new members, Don Bailey and Martha Merrell.
