Available To Youths Of Ages 16 To 21 Years

The door is again opening in Davie County to admit young men from 16 to 21 years and 9 months of age into the Job Corps.

Actually, an attempt was made last May when B. C. McMurray went to Raleigh in a crash effort to screen North Carolina boys for the Job Corps.

Michael Busby, state welfare department staffer, working with the Job Corps, is here now to turn interest in the Job Corps into opportunity and training.

The Job Corps, a part of the Economic Opportunity Office program, is designed to train, educate and place young men in good jobs, and the trainees are paid while learning.

Busby is currently establishing at the Davie County Welfare Department and will be working with B. C. McMurray, Director of the Davie Co. Public Welfare, the Employment Security Department and all other agencies interested in such training.

Youngsters who need school-type education and training for a skilled job are being invited to get in touch with Busby or the Welfare Department for an explanation of what the Job Corps is all about.

The Job Corps counselor hopes to provide "a single source" of help rather than have youngsters confused by having to go from one office to another. Thus anyone interested in the Job Corps can call the local Welfare Department. Busby stated that although he travels in several counties, his absence from the office should not discourage any interested youth. The first step can be taken by a visit or call to the welfare department. He will be able, once the application information is received to take up the matter upon his return to Mocksville. Busby was here last Friday but plans to return later this month.

If accepted into the Corps the youth will be sent, probably by air, to one of several "residential camps". There are three camps in North Carolina.

While in camp for a year (or two) he will receive schooling that he needs, including basic reading, writing, and arithmetic, along with vocational training to learn how to do a job. Both education and training go along with actual work experience at the camp, as well as recreational and other activities. The Job Corps program is completely voluntary and a corpsman may leave at any time.

All expenses are paid by the Job Corps.

Job Corps youths will be paid $30.00 per month for spending money. Also, each month of satisfactory work will put $50.00 into a fund for

Methodist Meet At Center Church

Thomasville District Conference

The Thomasville District of the Methodist Church held its annual District Conference at Center Methodist Church in Davie County Sunday afternoon, January 2. The conference was presided over by Dr. R. Herman Nicholson, District Superintendent, with Reverend Gilbert Miller as Secretary and Reverend Roby B. Evans, Host Pastor.

The theme for the conference was "Forever Beginning", which was very appropriate. At this time each year delegates from all the Methodist churches in the district are called together for a look at accomplishments or the lack of them. It is a time for a refocusing of attention upon the mission of the church.

The conference issued a License to Preach to John Andrews, Stanley James, Harold Roberts, and Hobin Russell. It also recommended Floyd Berrier, C. Bryce Smith, and Bennie B. Bearden to the Western North Carolina Conference to be Admitted on Trial.

Another highlight of the conference was the presentation of the reports of the Commissions and Boards.

The Bicentennial Address was given by Dr. Alben Godbold, who spoke on the theme "Forever Beginning". The oldest Methodist Church in the District was recognized. It was the Zion Chapel Methodist Church, which was organized in 1780.

At the middle of the Conference year 143 persons have been received on profession of faith and 210 have been received otherwise. The churches have accepted 46,729 for missions in the four lanes of service.

A number of accidents have occurred in the county since the last publication of this newspaper. Those occurring since December 20 of 1965, which was the last issue of the paper, that have been reported to us, are as follows:

State Trooper John Pittman investigated an accident at 3:30 p. m. Tuesday, December 21, on Highway 601.

He reported that his investigation showed that Norman Kent Woodward, 21, of Cooleemee, was going north on US 601 and started to pass a 1963 Ford also going north, and being operated by William R. Eckenrod of Charlotte Heights, S. C. The Eckenrod car also had started to pass a car, saw the Woodward car attempting to pass him, applied the brakes and skidded into a field off the right side of the roadway.

Woodward was operating a 1965 Chevrolet.

Eckenrod was charged with failure to see intended movement could be made safely.

At 5:30 p. m. the same day, Trooper Pittman investigated another accident that occurred on the Cana Road. Involved was a 1964 Oldsmobile being operated by Betty Felker Godbey, 32, of Rt. 5, Mocksville, and a 1953 Chevrolet being operated by James Clyde Jordan, 18, of Rt. 2.

The Godbey car had stopped to make a left turn. The Jordan car came around curve, saw the stopped car, brakes were applied and the Jordan car skidded into the Godbey car, doing about $30 damage to the left rear.

Trooper Pittman, who investigated the accident, charged Jordan with failure to reduce speed.

Wednesday, December 22, State Trooper R. L. Beane investigated an accident on US 601 at 8:45 a. m. His report stated that Johnny Edsel Smith, 18, of Mt. Airy, operating a 1957 Chevrolet, was going north on 601 and that the car went to the left side of the highway into a ditch.

Both the driver and a passenger, Joe Southern, also of Mt. Airy, were treated for injuries.

Damage to the car was estimated at $400.

Trooper Beane also investigated an accident on US 64 west of Mocksville Wednesday morning at 9:30 a. m.

William Ralph Blaylock, 49, of Canton, N. C., operating a 1962 Ford Pickup was going east on US 64. Coming up behind a farm tractor, he started to pull out and pass when Blaylock saw another vehicle passing him. Blaylock applied brakes, cut to the right and lost control. The truck struck an embankment on the left of the roadway. Damage to the truck was estimated at $100.

At 3:45 p. m. Wednesday, Trooper Beane investigated an accident on US 158 four miles east of Mocksville.

Joe Leonard Blackwell, 31, of Statesville, driving a 1956 Ford and Mildred Allman Soper, 55, of Silver Springs, Md., both were going west on US 158. Mrs. Soper pulled out to pass the Blackwell car in a no passing lane and didn't blow her horn. The left front of the Blackwell car struck the Soper car in the right side.

Mrs. Soper was charged with improper passing. Damage to the Blackwell car was estimated at $50 and to the Soper car, $200.

Friday, December 24, at 1:30 p. m., State Trooper John Pittman investigated an accident on the Gladstone Road.

Ronald Claude Beard, 21, of Cooleemee, was operating a 1962 Ford going east. The car ran off the right shoulder of the road into a field.

Farmington Lodge Installs 1966 Officers

Members of the Farmington Masonic Lodge 265 and their invited guests assembled in the School Cafeteria Monday, Dec. 27th, to observe St. John's day with a dinner and the installation of Lodge officers for the incoming year. The Harmon Masonic Lodge of Courney served a fried chicken and a barbecue dinner to the 90 attending.

After the dinner, Master of the Lodge, W. L. Brock, introduced special guests, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Crater and Mr. and Mrs. Crouse Jones of the West Bend Lodge in Forsyth County. Each mason then introduced his personal guests.

Rev. Herbert Penry Jr., Pastor of the Midway Methodist Church in Davidson Co. was the speaker for the evening. He used as his theme "Communicating the Light". With a good sense of humor he presented his subject in a most impressive manner. He used the scripture "If I be lifted up I will draw all people unto Me" and "I am the light and the way". He said that as people today need more understanding of each other, and that all too often we don't say what we mean and don't mean what we say. One way to communicate is to be vitally concerned about people. As a people we need to reevaluate our destination and place the eternal light high in where we are going.

License Plates Are Now On Sale

Over 2,400,000 license renewal application cards for obtaining 1966 license plates were placed in the mail on December 16. The Department of Motor Vehicles Officials say: "Please tell us if by January 1 you did not receive this all-important card necessary for obtaining a new plate."

The proper procedure is to write to the Department of Motor Vehicles, Raleigh, giving the make and identification number of the vehicle, the last year's tag number and the registered owner's full name and complete address. The department will then prepare and send another application card as quickly as the volume of requests can be handled.

1965 plates expire December 31 and their use beyond that date is permissible only if they are duly registered by the department to the vehicle on which display is made. Owners who have their vehicles properly registered by the department have until February 15 to obtain new plates.

Surrounding area residents may obtain their 1966 plates at Mocksville Home and Auto Supply 135 Salisbury St. beginning Jan. 1, 1966. Office hours will be: 8:00 a. m. to 5:00 p. m. Monday thru Saturday. We will close at 12:00 on Wed. After Feb. 15th.

The local agent, R. C. Glascock says that it will greatly expedite the issuance and keep long lines from forming if you will "open your application cards and complete them in accordance with instructions before presenting them for new plates."

Now Ken Griffin will present them here in person in the two hour variety, mystery

The Davie County Board of Commissioners adopted an ordinance at their meeting Monday to regulate the collection and disposal of garbage and trash throughout the county.

H. R. Hendrix, Jr., chairman of the board of commissioners, said that quite a problem had developed throughout the county because of indiscriminate disposal of garbage and in many instances health hazards were created.

The new ordinance will regulate the collection and disposal of garbage and trash in the county outside the incorporated municipalities and provides for private contract collectors to be licensed upon application by the issuing of permits by the board of commissioners. The permits shall be renewed annually, effective on the first day of July of each year. Evidence of the permit and the permit number is required to be displayed on each vehicle used by licensed collectors in the collection and disposal of garbage.

The licensed collectors will operate in definite designated areas. The ordinance provides that garbage trucks used by the collectors be constructed as to be water proof and substantially equipped so as to prevent wind-blown trash.

The garbage pails are to be provided by the customer in a capacity not to exceed 35 gallons and equipped with a lid to prevent the entrance of insects or rain. All equipment and methods of dumping must conform with the regulations of the County Health Department.

The minimum garbage collection fee will be $1.50 to $2 per month for pickup at the curb once a week and a minimum of $2.50 to $3 per month for pickup at the door once a week. Special arrangements may be made between collectors and clients for additional or special services.

The ordinance provides that no garbage be stored in any thing other than a container equipped with a lid sufficiently closed to prevent the entrance of insects or rain and then early for a period not to exceed one week.

It also provides that no person shall dispose of garbage other than at an approved sanitary landfill approved by the District Health Department. However, this does not prevent any person from the disposal of garbage from his own resident or business establishment by burying it in a safe and sanitary manner on his own premises. Also, garbage and trash may be burned by any person on his own premises on approval of the District Health Department under rules and regulations to be adopted by the Board of County Commissioners.

Prior to being licensed, each collector of garbage must submit to the board of commissioners for its approval a surety bond or liability insurance to cover such damage as may be done to property in the process of collecting the garbage, in the sum of not less than $1,000. Also, the private collector must obtain liability insurance in the amount to be determined by the board of commissioners to protect the collector from personal injury and property damage occasioned by occupational hazards.

The violation of any of the rules and regulations set forth by the ordinance will subject the violator to a fine of not exceeding $50 or imprisonment not exceeding 30-days as provided by G. S. 153-272 and G. S. 130-202 of the Statutes of North Carolina.

Farmington Lodge Installs 1966 Officers

Members of the Farmington Masonic Lodge 265 and their invited guests assembled in the School Cafeteria Monday, Dec. 27th, to observe St. John's day with a dinner and the installation of Lodge officers for the incoming year. The Harmon Masonic Lodge of Courtney served a fried chicken and a barbecue dinner to the 90 attending.

After the dinner, Master of the Lodge, W. L. Brock, introduced special guests, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Crater and Mr. and Mrs. Crouse Jones of the West Bend Lodge in Forsyth County. Each mason then introduced his personal guests.

Rev. Herbert Penry Jr., Pastor of the Midway Methodist Church in Davidson Co. was the speaker for the evening. He used as his theme "Communicating the Light". With a good sense of humor he presented his subject in a most impressive manner. He used the scripture "If I be lifted up I will draw all people unto Me" and "I am the light and the way". He said that we as people today need more understanding of each other, and that all too often we don't say what we mean and don't mean what we say. One way to communicate is to be vitally concerned about people. As a people we need to reevaluate our destination and place the eternal light high in where we are going.

After the installation the New Master presented the retiring Master, W. L. Brock with a Past Master's pin. Mrs. Kemmen read a toast to the Lodge and the meeting was dismissed with prayer by Chaplin, Sam Howell.

License Plates Are Now On Sale

Over 2,400,000 license renewal application cards for obtaining 1966 license plates were placed in the mail on December 16. The Department of Motor Vehicles Officials say: "Please tell us if by January 1 you did not receive this all-important card necessary for obtaining a new plate."

The proper procedure is to write to the Department of Motor Vehicles, Raleigh, giving the make and identification number of the vehicle, the last year's tag number and the registered owner's full name and complete address. The department will then prepare and send another application card as quickly as the volume of requests can be handled.

1965 plates expire December 31 and their use beyond that date is permissible only if they are duly registered by the department to the vehicle on which display is made. Owners who have their vehicles properly registered by the department have until February 15 to obtain new plates.

Surrounding area residents may obtain their 1966 plates at Mocksville Home and Auto Supply 135 Salisbury St. beginning Jan. 1, 1966. Office hours will be: 8:00 a. m. to 5:00 p. m. Monday thru Saturday. We will close at 12:00 on Wed. After Feb. 15th.

The local agent, R. C. Glascock says that it will greatly expedite the issuance and keep long lines from forming if you will "open your application cards and complete them in accordance with instructions before presenting them for new plates."

the boy as a "readjustment allowance" to help tide him over between training and actual permanent employment: up to $25.00 of the $60.00 may be sent home under certain conditions, and it will be matched by an equal amount from the Job Corps.

A record of a criminal conviction, except for a major crime, will not necessarily prevent admission into the Corps. Proper letters of recommendation may remove the barrier against a youngster with "a record."

It usually takes six weeks to three months after an approval application is received, before a boy leaves for a Job Corps center.

There are now over 140 boys in the Job Corps from North Carolina with many more expected to leave this month. As of this date no boy from Davie County has been accepted by the Job Corps.

A 1965 Chevrolet, being operated by Horace Edgar Blackwell, 42, of Asheville, N. C., failed to get stopped behind the Pangle car and struck it in the rear. The impact occurred in the west bound lane of US 64.

SCOPE OF SPORTS
By Woody Durham / WFMY-TV Sports Director

I'll bet there aren't many people who could pick only one winner out of eight games over a three day period, but that's exactly how I came out with my "fearless forecasts" which appeared in this column last week. My only correct choice out of all the games played from Friday through Sunday was the Sugar Bowl battle between Florida and Missouri. I picked Missouri in a close one and fortunately the Tigers won it, 20-13, but had the Gators decided to kick after each of their three fourth quarter touchdowns, instead of going for two each time, I might not have gotten even one right. Nevertheless, my one out of eight was about average when I compared with the efforts of various other prognosticators, so even though I came out of the holiday football weekend "bloody and beaten" I hope to predict again another day.
SPORT magazine carried an interesting feature not long ago on an All-America basketball team selected by various pro scouts. Included on the selection panel were Jerry Krause of Baltimore, recently named General Manager of the Portland Beavers of the Pacific Coast League; Earl Lloyd of Detroit; New York's Red Holzman; Marty Blake, the General Manager of the St. Louis Hawks; Pepper Wilson, the Cincinnati Royals' General Manager; Bob Peacock, General Manager of the San Francisco Warriors; and, Red Auerbach, Coach and General Manager of the Boston Celtics. The panel's selections were based on the assessment of a player's physical attributes and skills, and not fully upon the record he compiles in collegiate competition.
Picked on the first team were Cozzie Russell and Oliver Darden, both of Michigan; Clyde Lee of Vanderbilt; Kansas' Walt Wesley; and Matt Guokas of St. Joseph's. Bob Leonard of Wake Forest was named to the second team along with Lou Hudson of Minnesota who hails from Greensboro. The 6-5 Hudson is now recuperating from a broken wrist which has certainly hampered the Gophers' hopes for a Big Ten title.
Named to the All-Sophomore squad was Larry Miller of North Carolina along with Duke's Mike Lewis. And, selected to the Small College team was Henry Logan of Western Carolina.
Receiving special mention, although not named to a specific team, was Carolina's Bob Lewis along with Bob Verga and Jack Marin of Duke. The Carolina and Duke players can be seen on Channel 2 this Saturday at 2:00 p. m. when ACC Basketball premieres for a new season. The game will be preceded at 1:45 by the Vic Bubas Show, featuring the Head Coach of the nation's Number One Team.

Right after basketball at 4:00 p. m. comes the CBS Golf Classic with the first quarterfinal match between the team of George Knudson and Randy Glover meeting the team of Bert Weaver and Tommy Aaron.
Then at 5:00 p. m. it's Wide World of Sports. There's more football on Sunday with the Baltimore Colts playing the Dallas Cowboys in the NFL Playoff Bowl at 1:30 p. m. in Miami. At 6:00 p. m. you'll see the final round of Los Angeles Open on the TGA National Tour. This is the first of fourteen tournaments you'll be seeing on Channel 2 throughout the coming year.

Tattle -
by Gordon Tomlinson

It happened on a recent Sunday. Mrs. John C. Sanford of Mocksville was driving her car down US 64 East on her way to the Episcopal Church at Fork. Suddenly she gave out of gasoline.

Mrs. Sanford sat in her car along the side of the highway until a passing truck driver stopped and asked if he could be of any help.

"Yes... if you'll take me on to church", said Mrs. Sanford. The trucker agreed and Mrs. Sanford, with his assistance, climbed into the cab of the large tractor-trailer.

Some of the members of the church said it was both startling and delightful to see the big tractor-trailer pull up in front of their little church and the gracious Mrs. Sanford get out to attend services.

A new method of birth control is now being practiced in Mocksville... or at least it works for one woman.

One woman says that the reason that she can't get pregnant is that her friends keep all her maternity clothes borrowed!

State Highway Patrolman Larry Woods who formerly served Davie County until a short time ago had quite an experience recently in Caldwell County.

In the wee hours of one morning a man reported that he had wrecked his car. The man's clothing was torn and he appeared to be bruised and scratched.

Larry answered the call and went to the spot where the man said he had wrecked... but found no car. Larry called for assistance and with help combed all up and down the mountainside. Finally about daylight he decided to check by the man's home and there he saw a car in the yard. The man's wife answered the door and when Larry explained his business the woman told him this story.

She and her husband were out in the automobile and her husband was drunk. She finally was able to get him out of the car and she drove on home. Her husband, having far too much mountain dew, apparently stumbled down the embankment off the highway and passed out. When he came to and found himself lying at the bottom of a fill... and the last thing he remembered was that

Regular Exercise Can Provide Both Physical and Mental Tonic, says AMA

Stretcher (4 to 10 times). Reach high, rise on toes. High-stepper (10 to 20 steps). Run in place, pumping knees and arms. Side Bender (6 to 15 times). Raise first one arm than the other straight over head.

Push-up (6 to 15 times). Men on hands and toes; women on hands and knees. Starting in raised position, with trunk and neck straight, lower trunk to two inches from floor and return. Curl (6 to 15 times). Starting on back with knees bent, hands behind head, tuck chin and "curl" as far forward as possible, aiming elbow to opposite knee. Stride Squat (6 to 15 times). Hands behind head, stride forward deeply with right leg. Keep left toe in place, left knee off floor. Return and exercise opposite.

Compressor (6 to 15 times). Lie spread-eagled on back. Roll onto hip and with leg and arm straight touch toe to opposite hand. Return and exercise opposite. Twister (6 to 15 times). Sit with legs and arms extended straight. Touch fingers to opposite toe. Return and exercise opposite.

ISOMETRIC EXERCISES

The following exercises do not involve movement, but rather muscular contractions. One of their advantages is that many can be done at times and places where normal exercise would be impossible, such as in the office. Hold each contraction forcefully for six seconds. Repeating is not necessary.

(1) Organ Grinder. Push hand against hand, then pull hand against hand.
(2) Thinker. Push forehead against palm, then push back of head against palm.
(3) Bird. Put back of hands against door jamb, then push palms in same manner.
(4) Sampson. Push palm against door jamb, then straighten arms high against jamb and push again.
(5) Siesta. Sitting with back against one door jamb, push foot against other side, then push other foot in same manner.

There's more to physical fitness than mere muscles, but you can't be truly healthy and a bundle of flab at the same time.

To be physically fit you must be both medically fit and dynamically fit. The two don't necessarily go hand in hand, points out Raymond L. White, M.D., director of Environmental Medicine and Medical Services for the American Medical Association.

"Medical fitness means body soundness. This can be determined only by a medical examination. Dynamic fitness or 'action capacity' is a measurement of strength, agility and endurance," he said.

"A person who shuns activity may get a 'clean bill of health' from his doctor but if he can't endure even slight exertion, he's hardly physically fit. On the other hand, neither is the athlete with a chronic or undetected health problem."

concerned about strength and endurance in a push-button age.

But the fact is, the human body was not designed for push buttons but for work, said Dr. White. "The absence of dynamic fitness through lack of physical exertion is a detriment to health. Furthermore, muscle tone, or lack of it, can be a factor in your whole outlook on life."

Strength and endurance, developed through regular exercise, leads to skill and agility and adds to poise and grace. Not only do daily tasks become easier, you also look better and so feel more at ease in social situations.

Even more evident, however, are the benefits to physical health, Dr. White pointed out.

Since exercise is a factor in weight control, it indirectly aids in preventing degenerative diseases, such as diabetes and arthritis, which are more prevalent in the obese.

Evidence indicates that exercise also may help prevent heart and blood vessel diseases. Active people have fewer heart attacks and a better recovery rate when such attacks do occur.

The best exercise is enjoyable exercise. Activities such as hiking, swimming, skiing, tennis or gardening along with their physical benefits can provide relief from tension, thus serving as a safe, natural tranquilizer.

When there is no opportunity for taking exercise in such form, however, a daily walk and series of calisthenics can provide much the same tonic.

Above are a few examples of scientifically sound exercises, taken from the AMA pamphlet, "Physical Fitness." Used daily, they will help to increase muscular strength, body suppleness and motor reaction, and to improve circulation and other body functions.

Start out slowly, Dr. White warned, and gradually work up to the point where you can do all of these exercises quickly without stopping.

By Woody Durham / WFMY-TV Sports Director

SCOPE OF SPORTS I'll bet there aren't many people who could pick only one winner out of eight games over a three day period, but that's exactly how I came out with my "fearless forecasts" which appeared in this column last week. My only correct choice out of all the games played from Friday through Sunday was the Sugar Bowl battle between Florida and Missouri. I picked Missouri in a close one and fortunately the Tigers won it, 20-13, but had the Gators decided to kick after each of their three fourth quarter touchdowns, instead of going for two each time, I might not have gotten even one right. Nevertheless, my one out of eight was about average when I compared with the efforts of various other prognosticators, so even though I came out of the holiday football weekend "bloody and beaten" I hope to predict again another day. SPORT magazine carried an interesting feature not long ago on an All-America basketball team selected by various pro scouts. Included on the selection panel were Jerry Krause of Baltimore, recently named General Manager of the Portland Beavers of the Pacific Coast League; Earl Lloyd of Detroit; New York's Red Holzman; Marty Blake, the General Manager of the St. Louis Hawks; Pepper Wilson, the Cincinnati Royals' General Manager; Bob Peerick, General Manager of the San Francisco Warriors; and, Red Auerbach, Coach and General Manager of the Boston Celtics. The panel's selections were based on the assessment of a player's physical attributes and skills, and not fully upon the record he compiles in collegiate competition. Picked on the first team were Cazzie Russell and Oliver Darden, both of Michigan; Clyde Lee of Vanderbilt; Kansas' Walt Wesley; and Matt Guokas of St. Joseph's. Bob Leonard of Wake Forest was named to the second team along with Lou Hudson of Minnesota who hails from Greensboro. The 6-5 Hudson is now recuperating from a broken wrist which has certainly hampered the Gophers' hopes for a Big Ten title. Named to the All-Sophomore squad was Larry Miller of North Carolina along with Duke's Mike Lewis. And, selected to the Small College team was Henry Logan of Western Carolina. Receiving special mention, although not named to a specific team, was Carolina's Bob Lewis along with Bob Verga and Jack Marin of Duke. The Carolina and Duke players can be seen on Channel 2 this Saturday at 2:00 p. m., when ACC Basketball premieres for a new season. The game will be preceded at 1:45 by the Vic Babas Show, featuring the Head Coach of the nation's Number One Team. Right after basketball at 4:00 p. m. comes the CBS Golf Classic with the first quarterfinal match between the team of George Knudson and Randy Glover meeting the team of Bert Weaver and Tommy Aaron. Then at 5:00 p. m. it's Wide World of Sports. There's more football on Sunday with the Baltimore Colts playing the Dallas Cowboys in the NFL Playoff Bowl at 1:30 p. m. in Miami. At 6:00 p. m. you'll see the final round of Los Angeles Open on the PGA National Tour. This is the first of fourteen tournaments you'll be seeing on Channel 2 throughout the coming year.

The Conventions of a number of the States having, at the time of their adopting the Constitution, expressed a desire, in order to prevent misconstruction or abuse of its powers, that further declaratory and restrictive clauses should be added: And as extending the ground of public confidence in the Government, will best insure the beneficent ends of its institution:

Resolved, by the SENATE and HOUSE of REPRESENTATIVES of the UNITED STATES of AMERICA in Congress assembled, two thirds of both Houses concurring. - Article the seventh ..... No person shall be held to answer for a capital, or otherwise infamous crime, unless on a presentment or indictment of a grand jury, except in cases arising in the land or Naval forces, or in the Militia, when in actual service in time of War or public danger; nor shall any person be subject for the same offence to be twice put in jeopardy of life or limb; nor shall be compelled in any criminal case, to be a witness against himself, nor be deprived of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law; nor shall private property be taken for public use without just compensation.
- Article the eighth ..... ## Tear this out and save it.

Unless you make a little noise about freedom, someday it may be the only copy around.

Americans have a credo which allows a man to live in dignity and independence.

The Bill of Rights is the public record of that credo.

It is, in essence, the benchmark for our personal freedoms; the chalk line for individual liberties.

Yet it is only a record. A form. Our beliefs are what give it power as an instrument.

About us in the world, about us in our homeland are forces dedicated to blurring those beliefs and paralyzing our personal rights.

• Communism is the most identifiable. Extremes always are. But other ideologies, seeping out of a grey mist of confusion, are tougher to spot, and just as dangerous.

To counter these threats, we must refresh ourselves in our rights. We must revive the fervor that produced that historic Bill. And we must live our renewed enthusiasm and personal dedication fully and constantly.

To keep freedom strong, we must exercise it. We must take our stand when our rights are questioned. We must let everyone know how strong our national will is through the arsenal of personal belief. We must pass on our understanding of the American Way to our children.

Perhaps you've tried doing this. Perhaps you haven't. Either way, you might be looking for help.

Let Freedoms Foundation aid you. Freedoms Foundation is a nonprofit, nonsectarian organization devoted solely to the preservation of the American Way. Honorable Dwight D. Eisenhower is Chairman. Honorable James A. Farley is Vice-Chairman. Contributions of ten, five, or even one dollar will help us to continue to help you in your personal fight for freedom's cause. Send today for your free copy of "Freedoms Handbook," a tool to help you work effectively.

Uncle Dave From Davie Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

Ed Doolittle brings up a matter at the country store Saturday night that maybe our Congressman had ought to investigate. Ed says we got to abolish either the Welfare Department or the Appalachia program. He claimed one was getting in the way of the other so bad it was blocking the highway into the Great Society.

Ed is a great feller to fetch what he calls the "evidence" and Saturday night he brings along his copy of this month's Farm Journal. The Editor of the Farm Journal had dressed up in old clothes, reported himself disemployed and got a job picking apples in the Appalachia district.

He said he was getting housed in a $100,000 labor camp and that they was 600 disemployed supposed to report. He said the highest number to show up at any one time was 61 and, he reported, they felt about work like a snake-bit mule feels about snakes. As fast as a few more would report a few would quit, claimed their welfare checks was more than their pay check. Furthermore, this Editor reported, them that was working was always talking about some of their kin folks getting more on welfare. He said he could shake more apples off'n the tree in one shake than them disemployed was picking in a hour.

Zeke Grubb was agreed with Ed, said we got to git rid of one of them projects, Personal, allowed Zeke, he was in favor of putting a stopper in the welfare jug. He claimed that most of them that was disemployed today was also disjoined from the desire to work for a living. He was of the opinion they wasn't much chance of them Appalachia doctors curing one disease without working on the other.

Clem Webster of the Great Society was disagreed with Ed and Zeke claimed both was needed for all the folks in the country that was suffering from bad luck.

But Ed claimed everybody living off'n the Government these days was pleading hard luck. He said he could recollect his Grandpa saying that when he lived in Georgia he had a solid run of 9 straight years of the boll weevil, the Seven Years Itch, and 5 years of drought and still managed to feed his family without asking nobody for nothing. Of course, admitted Ed, his Grandpa probable throwed that Seven Years Itch in there for good measure, but them was the days when Americans was too proud to beg.

I reckon I'd have to go along with Ed in this matter, Mister Editor. I've had some bad luck myself, but I ain't never took no welfare hand-outs. I recollect onct during the depression when I bought a suit with two pairs of pants and burnt the tail off'n the coat the first time I wore it.

Yours Truly
Uncle Dave

The human body contains a network of about 12,000 miles of arteries, veins, and capillaries, says the North Carolina Heart Association. This is approximately half the distance around the earth.

Examination of 4000-year-old mummies unearthed in the Nile Valley reveals that "hardening of the arteries" was common in ancient Egypt, according to the North Carolina Heart Association.

NEWS AND COMMENT FROM OUR RALEIGH BUREAU
2812 Oberlin Road

1966 EASIER? ... On last January 8, Dan K. Moore took the oath of office as Governor of North Carolina. Now on January 10, as he begins his 13th month in office, he will also have gathered in his front yard his THIRD session of the Legislature since becoming Governor.

Three legislative meetings — one regular and two special — in less than 13 months. Is that not a record for this and several other states? Most of our North Carolina Governors get through their entire four years with only two sessions of the Legislature.

In his first year, Mountain Man Moore:

1. Shoved through the General Assembly a record-breaking budget (with no increase in taxes).
2. Finally established the much-feared and long-awaited auto inspection program (now moving again into the news).
3. Had a siege of pneumonia.
4. Got the voters to approve a 300-million-dollar road bond program.
5. Had a siege of the mums.
6. Appointed State Government career men to important roles in State Government (Revenue, Prisons, Personnel, Secondary Roads, etc.).

"DAM GOVERNOR" ... About the time Dan K. Moore was having it rough over the speaker ban business which started before he even announced for Governor — somebody here in Raleigh referred to him as "that dam Governor". Meeting immediate criticism for such talk, he explained no offense was intended, but rather, praise.

"He reminds me of a big dam. He's catching a lot of stuff which might have been looked after a little further upstream. And I still insist he's a good dam Governor."

COMING UP ... The next big event for Dan K. Moore — after the Legislature goes home — will be Saturday, April 2. At that time, he will be 60 years old — and there will no doubt be some type of Birthday Party.

OTHER AGES ... How old are the other members of the Council of State? Lt. Gov. Bob Scott, 36; Secretary of State Thad Eure, 66; State Auditor Henry Bridges, 59; State Treasurer Edwin Gill, 66; Superintendent of Public Instruction Charles F. Carroll, 65; Attorney General Wade Bruton, 63; Agriculture Commissioner Jim Graham, will be 45 April 7; Kabor Commissioner Frank Crane, 58; and Insurance Commissioner Ed Lanier, 64.

LISTENING ... This fellow noticed that the farmer was having trouble with his horse.

It would start, go a short distance — very slowly, and then stop again. Every time it would stop, the farmer had a hard time getting it started again. Finally, the bystander asked: "Is that horse sick?" "No, not as I know of." "Is he balky?" "No, I'll tell you. He's so afraid I'll say whoa and he won't hear me, that he stops every once in a while to listen."

THE VOICE ... Which might illustrate why some public figures don't get re-elected to office. They stay so busy holding up weather fingers, and listening for the voice of the people, that they don't have the time or inclination to follow their own convictions.

THE MAN? ... For those who think the administration is still looking for a man to run against Bob Scott for Governor in 1968, the naming of Malcolm Seawell to head up the attack on KKK has much meaning.

Seawell, head of the State Board of Elections, resigned as Attorney General to run for Governor in 1960. He had Gov. Luther Hodges' endorsement, but it was a poorly handled campaign from several viewpoints — mainly timing—and so he and John Larkins were defeated in the first Primary.

A former Superior Court judge and a son of the late A. A. F. Seawell, Supreme Court Justice, Seawell is an old, accomplished KKK fighter. Seawell lives at Chapel Hill; has law offices in Raleigh, with some tobacco people as chief clients. Is he still ambitious?

WEATHER ... We've been checking on Capitol City weather. This past December was the driest since we have been keeping weather records. Also one of the warmest.

One beautiful day after another. We got to spend the week of December 4-11 in Jacksonville-Sarasota area of Florida. The week of December 24-31 in Raleigh was warmer.

O. C. Edwards established Cheviot Hills Golf Course—sometimes known as Cheviot Hills by State College boys—here in 1930. He says this marks the first time in those 35 years he has had to water his grass in November and December.

BIG INCREASE ... A report just received from the N. C. Department of Motor Vehicles show that new car sales in this State for this past November were 17,127 as compared with only 10,505 in November of last year.

They ranked this way: Ford-4,463; Chevy-4,325; Plymouth-1,528; Pontiac-1,366; Olds-893; Buick-949; Rambler-631; Volk-625; Dodge-769; Mercury-609; Chrysler-301; Cadillac-188; Lincoln-57; Imperial-29; Studebaker-13.

60 Second Sermon

By FRED DODGE

TEXT: "Time is never lost that is devoted to work." — Emerson. 'Two workman, who had not seen each other for years, met. After the usual expressions of surprise and pleasure, one of them asked, "And who are you working for now?" "Same people," replied the other, "wife and five children."

Doctors doubt that hard work ever really killed anybody, but they know of cases where it has seemed to scare them half to death. More deadly, however, is the modern attitude toward work. It is popular to disdain or neglect work we are paid to do, confident that unions or government will see that jobs are kept and wages paid. If a cruel, unreasoning employer discharges a lazy employee, there is unemployment compensation, welfare or an indulgent government to provide relief.

"In all recorded-history," says Ralph Lyne, "man has never lived mentally so far from the world of fact and so close to the world of fantasy as in the United States today. We must realize that work and not government is the true passport to human dignity. Only work skills and quantity accomplishments lead to higher standards of living." As August Hecksher says, "Society cannot go on indefinitely expecting to get more by working less and less."

SO THIS IS NEW YORK

Nobody views world events quite like a newspaper man who has been on the scene and Robert Eunson of the Associated Press is no exception. He is just back from the fighting front in Vietnam and reminded me that we are not so bad off as many people seem to think in this respect. "Why only 15 years ago we were upset and depressed about the war in Korea," he said. "Our forces were retreating. So the present situation in Vietnam is better than that. And look at South Korea now. It is prosperous, a fine new country which thanks to us, has improved a thousand per cent over what it was before the war."

Being reminded of the recent retirement of the Russian leader, Mikoyan, Bob Eunson recalled taking part with him in a press conference in Tokyo. The Russians would only allow one representative of the press to ask questions and Bob was designated to do this. He arose and put the question to Mikoyan and was dismayed to receive back through the interpreter, impudent and personally insulting answers. The AP man was on the point of stopping his questions and walking out, when a friend nearby who knew the Russian language said it was not Mikoyan who was saying the insulting things but only the interpreter. Bob commented on how prosperous Tokyo is nowadays. It manufactures twice as many ships as any other place in the world, and like Korea, is experiencing more of a boom than before World War II. As for the recent elections in the Philippines, I was told it was a popularly contest between the two presidential candidates.

As for President Sukarno of Indonesia, Bob said he has been walking a tight rope between the army and the Communists and the latter tried to upset this. This attempt came too soon and the Communists were set upon by the army which reacted quickly. It looks now as if they were in for a big set-back in Indonesia, just as we hope they are in Vietnam. Here transportation is the biggest problem for us, I was informed, and the Viet Cong controls it. Not only is the ground transportation rough and hazardous but the entry by sea is hampered by the lack of good harbors and by the guerrilla fighters who hover about. Bob reminded me that China held Vietnam for ten centuries and naturally feels it has a kind of vested interest in the place, besides the Communist ties existing. The little East Asian country could be the leader of that part of the world if it were free of warring factions. But the French ruled it for a hundred years and did not find the answer. How can we? Well our fighting men are working at it for 21 cents an hour, Bob pointed out, with our air power playing a decisive role.

Robert Eunson has been with the Associated Press for 24 years and has been in the West, having been born in Montana and educated in Arizona. Then he went to San Francisco where he headed the AP there for several years before being sent to Europe and then the East. During the Korean war he supervised press coverage there and wrote the bulletin announcing the signing of the armistice at Panmunjom. Recently he has had charge of covering the fighting in Vietnam until he was transferred to New York where all he has to fight is the crowds. He is a medium-sized man with a friendly and down-to-earth personality. Although he concedes that his present assignment is different from those he has held in the past, he gallantly says it is just as challenging and in its own way just as exciting as covering wars on the far-flung fronts. Like many others, Bob finds time to do extra writing. Not long ago he did the text of an illustrated book and wrote the commentary for a 10-minute film on the war in Vietnam.

Coming up ...another big year for the South!

RECENT YEARS have been big growth years for the South. In the past six years, businessmen have invested $2 1/2 billion in new and expanded industrial projects along Southern Railway's lines alone.

Just as surely, another bright year lies ahead. The South's economy will continue to expand and diversify for the same good reasons as before...

Particularly in the agri-business field will there be exciting new opportunities for profit and growth, made possible by Southern's drastically reduced freight charges for hauling grain into the Southeast from the Midwest.

Working together, we can make 1966 the "best year yet" for the South!

World War I Vets To Meet Here Sunday

Lindsey Swindell, Commander, Department of North Carolina, Veterans of World War I, will be in attendance at a meeting of World War I veterans in Davie and surrounding counties Sunday afternoon, at 2:30 o'clock in the Mocksville County Office Building. Commander Swindell will be accompanied by Lester C. Boyd, of Mooresville, Commander of the ninth district.

Commander Swindell, stated today, that with the advanced age of the men who served their nation more than 47 years ago, legislation in their behalf is becoming a matter for Congress to give due consideration in the final session of the 89th Congress that convenes in January. We are highly encouraged by reports that some appropriate legislation is now in the making for this aging group and we shall continue this fight until we have reached our objective, he added.

According to W. N. Knight, of Salisbury, State Adjutant, the best estimates available indicates that are now approximately 34,000 World War I veterans alive in North Carolina. The average age is 72 years and the death rate among this group is growing greater each month. All World War I veterans in Davie and surrounding counties are urged to attend this meeting and hear the State Commander who will deal principally with legislation for the men of 1917-1918.

Another Milestone Is Reached

Looking backward over the past year, we see many, many instances of your goodwill and consideration. It is in appreciation of these kindnesses that we take advantage of the New Year Season to tell you that we have not forgotten. The confidence you have shown in us will make us strive just a little harder, that we may come up to your expectations. Good wishes for you, your family, your friends... our friends.

The downward trend continues:

Duke Power has reduced electric rates again—for the sixth time since January, 1960.

While the cost of living has been steadily increasing, electric rates have been decreasing. Today, the average homeowner in the Piedmont Carolinas pays one-third less per kilowatt hour than he did in 1946. This trend is the result of many factors that have improved our efficiency: increased usage of electricity, research and development, use of modern techniques and equipment. All these have led to economies that permitted Duke Power to reduce electric rates to you. Since January, 1960, the six rate reductions have resulted in a savings of $9 million a year for our hundreds of thousands of customers. We're proud of this record. But we're not standing on it. Even now, we're looking for more ways to make your electric service even more economical—continuing the downward trend.

WHAT ABOUT THE NUTRIENT HOLDING CAPACITY OF SOILS

Most all soils can retain high levels of phosphorus but they differ considerably in the amount of potassium, calcium and magnesium they can hold according to G. D. McCart, Agronomist with the N. C. Department of Agriculture's Soil Testing Division.

Because soils differ in clay and organic matter content, they differ in the amounts of potassium, calcium and magnesium that they will retain. Sandy soils for example, are low in clay and if low in organic matter also, they will have a low capacity for holding positively charged ions.

On the other hand, soils relatively high in silt and clay and/or organic matter have a relatively high potential for holding positively charged nutrient ions.

Because these soils have a relatively high nutrient holding capacity it is desirable to build their fertility to at least medium or higher.

Properly limed soils have a higher nutrient holding capacity than do acid soils. This applies for sandy as well as fine textured soils.

The first step then is to have your soils tested to determine their lime and fertilizer needs, then to lime and fertilize the soil in accordance with its plant nutrient holding characteristics.

Jaycees Seek DSA Nominees

The Mocksville Junior Chamber of Commerce each January honors one of Mocksville's most distinguished young men as its "Outstanding Young Man Of The Year". The Distinguished Service Award is presented to the man between 21 and 36 who gives the most meritorious service to his family, his church, his community and his nation.

The DSA is the highest award the Mocksville Jaycees annually present and the winner is entered into the National Jaycee competition for the ten outstanding men of the year in hopes that his achievements may be further recognized and honored. Among past TOYM winners are the late John F. Kennedy, Richard Nixon, Dr. Tom Dooley and Leonard Bernstein.

The Mocksville DSA Banquet will be held on Thursday night, January 27th, at the Rotary Hut. This will be an awards ceremony that recognizes and honors the winner's achievements.

Young men in all fields of endeavors may be submitted by an individual, organization, association, or institution. The winner will be selected by a group of distinguished citizens.

The basis for selection of a winner is the nominee's achievement or contributions of importance in his chosen field, organization, community, state or nation.

All nominations should be sent to John Long, 718 Wandering Lane or by telephone to John Long at 694-2523. Mr. Long, a past DSA winner, will assist in completion of the nomination form.

The deadline for submitting nominations will be January 24th.

Nathan Smith Has Creative Hobby

Tables From Old Wagon Wheels

If you have an old wagon wheel available—and more time than money, you may want to try making a coffee table.

For an informal setting, a wagon wheel coffee table can be a conversation piece.

Nathan Smith of Mocksville, Rt. 3, has found that his hobby is not very profitable but fun. But there is some hard work involved.

Smith says the most difficult part of the project is finding the wagon wheel. "No one wants to sell a wheel off his wagon," Smith adds. "So you may have to buy the whole wagon to get the wheels."

"It is necessary to clean the wheel with a rotary brush and repair it. You must clean off decayed wood and cut the rust off with a steel brush. All of the grease must be cleaned from the spoke. A good cleaning and repair job is important."

"After all the decayed wood has been removed and the wheel has

Town License Plates

Game Set For Saturday, March 12th

Wheel Chair Basketball Scheduled

Two of the outstanding teams in the Southern Conference of the National Wheelchair Basketball Association will play a benefit game in Mocksville on Saturday night, March 12th at 7:30 p. m.

The Chattanooga Big Wheels and the Atlanta Reks will meet at the Davie High School gymnasium in what will be the wheelchair league's second game in North Carolina. The first game was played at the local gym two years ago and was well received.

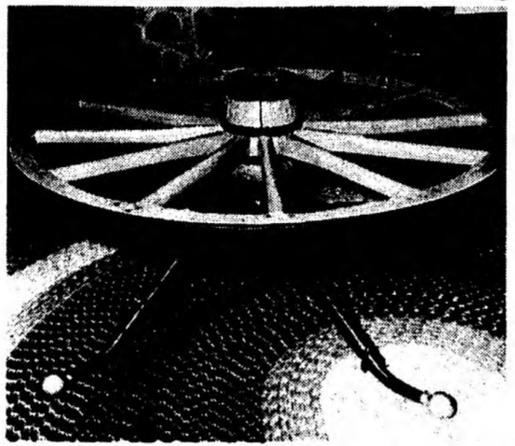

The game will be sponsored by the North Carolina Paraplegic Association and the proceeds will be used to ramp the curbs in the business area of Mocksville and all public buildings, and also to finance a campaign to acquaint architects with "architectural barriers" in the construction of public buildings.

"The elimination of these "architectural barriers" will benefit not only people in wheel chairs but also those with heart conditions, our senior citizens, and those with artificial limbs," said Miss Jo Cooley who is serving as chairman for the benefit game.

Miss Cooley said that tickets for the game would be put on sale within the next week.

Those that viewed the wheelchair basketball game two years ago recall that an offensive team is allowed 15 seconds instead of ten to move the ball into the front court, and an offensive player cannot remain in the foul lane more than six seconds rather than three while his team has the ball.

The dribble in wheelchair basketball consists of (1) two pushes of the chair and then two taps of the ball to the floor; (2) two pushes; and two taps in series with either or both hands; (3) simultaneously tapping the ball with one hand and

New Officers Installed To Serve

Davie County Hospital Auxiliary

Mrs. Sam Walker was installed as the new president of the Davie County Hospital Auxiliary at the regular quarterly meeting held Tuesday night, January 4, in the Assembly Room of the Davie County Office Building.

Other officers to serve include: Mrs. Bob Foster, president-elect; Mrs. Bill Flinn, vice president; Mr. Filmore Robertson, secretary; and Mrs. Ted Junker, treasurer.

Mrs. Wade Groce, retiring president, was the installing officer. She presented a president's gavel to Mrs. Walker. Mrs. Groce received a past-president's pin.

Mrs. B. L. Richards gave the devotions for the meeting using an "Alphabet for the Year" and a "Prayer for the Year."

Dr. Francis W. Slate gave the program for the meeting using for his discussion "Thalidomide". He stated that the drug was first discovered in Germany in 1953 and was at first used for cases of epilepsy.

It was found not to be effective and was later sold in drug stores in Europe and could be obtained without a prescription. It was used as a sedative. In 1961 some side effects were found from those taking Thalidomide and at this time it had to be sold by prescription. Dr. Slate stated here that it was not uncommon for certain drugs to be lethal to certain people and that many have side effects. He praised the work of the Food and Drug Administration in Washington in screening new drugs. He stated that Thalidomide was never sold in this country in drug stores. He also mentioned that at the end of the year of 1961 a discovery was made that women taking Thalidomide during the 1st three months of pregnancy were having abnormal babies.

Mrs. Walker reported that the money raised by the box supper held in the fall was used for purchase of shrubbery for the hospital grounds. Also that the Home Demonstration Club's County Council had donated a weeping cherry tree a memorial to the late Mrs. Beulah Apperson, a former Board member. Mention was made that to date there were 254 members of the Aux.

Methodist Conference Article Is Corrected

Last week this newspaper carried an article concerning the Thomasville District Conference held at the Center Methodist Church. The article was based on information submitted by the secretary of the conference.

Pat Gaither of Mocksville Rt. 1 has requested that we make the following correction:

The statement concerning the oldest Methodist Church in the district being recognized as partially true. It stated that Zion Chapel Church was recognized as being organized in 1780. New Union Methodist Church shared this recognition as both churches were organized in 1780 at Beal's Meeting House. The history of both Zion Chapel and New Union Churches were read. The certificate New Union received in 1964 as being an active Methodist congregation in 1789 by the Methodist Publishing House was also shown.

Dwight Myers Develops Campsite

Davie Recreational Areas Develop

The year of 1965 was marked with the continued development of recreational areas in the Davie Soil and Water District.

Garland Still of the local Soil Conservation Office pointed out that landowners who want in on the recreation boom must first of all make a careful and detail study of his farm and surrounding area.

Mr. Still said that the long range program of the Davie Soil and Water Conservation District would be of assistance in obtaining information on possible recreation opportunities in the county.

Mr. Myers has been working with the Davie Soil and Water Conservation District since 1957. He first developed a 1.8 acre fishing lake with the technical assistance of the Soil Conservation Service.

Dwight L. Myers began work on the park in August 1963 and opened it in the spring of 1964.

"I could have gotten by with a few make-shift facilities and let the location test itself before risking the investment, but I intended for the campground to be successful from the beginning," he said.

He has constructed facilities for 20 campsites but has room to expand to 200. The park is equipped with modern rest rooms with hot showers and flush toilets.

Mr. Myers says that already the park has been rewarding, not only from the extra dollar income, but more especially from meeting and talking to some of the nicest people from all over the country.

Mr. Myers spends his days in Winston-Salem, where he is employed at the Naval Materials Inspection Service.

Mr. Myers plans to beautify the camp entrance in 1966 with SCS assistance and increase the camping area.

SCOPE OF SPORTS

By Woody Durham / WFMY-TV Sports Director

I don't believe there's anyone who would dispute the greatness of Jackie Robinson in major league baseball. His selection to the Hall of Fame in 1962, following his retirement from the old Brooklyn Dodgers in 1956, is proof of that. Yet, in addition to his outstanding playing ability on the demand itself Robinson was also the first Negro to ever play in the major leagues, and the barrier line broke certainly opened the way for many other members of his race.

Robinson is now chairman of the executive board of the New York City Freedom National Bank, and this past Sunday he visited the campus of A&T College in Greensboro under the sponsorship of the United men's Congress, a student organization.

He was cornered during a coffee hour at Cooper Hall Sunday morning, and the former Dodger infielder was eager to talk baseball. One of the questions popped at him had to do with the Braves moving to Atlanta. What did he think baseball would do for the South and vice-versa.

"Well, I think they did the first thing in going to Atlanta first," Robinson said, "because Atlanta is as far along in its race relations as any Northern city, and since they have so many Negroes on the team I think they will be accepted real well. Baseball does so much for a city, and I feel Atlanta and baseball will go 'hand in glove' on this thus opening other doors and enhancing the growth of baseball in many other Southern cities."

Jackie Robinson was a college football star during his playing days at UCLA, and he was asked if he felt the high bonuses being paid to various college stars were an injustice since there were several baseball players who, even though they made nothing close to these salaries, were more valuable to their teams.

"I don't think there's any question about some other guys being more valuable, but I don't feel any injustices about it. These fellows might only play football one year or not even that long. If they can get the big money to insure their futures, then I say get it, and I hope the trend continues. The owners are making it so the young guys who bring people into the ballpark should get a piece of it. I hope the fellow who has the ability sticks them up just like they're sticking them up today."

When asked if he thought baseball salaries would go higher, Robinson said he didn't see how they could due to the tremendous overhead, but he added, "I hope they won't stop paying the bonuses to the rookies."

Voting for the Hall of Fame is scheduled this week and as a member the ex-Dodger was asked if he had any speculation about who might make it. "Ted Williams is a cinch, but I am also hoping for Roy Campanella."

Did Robinson think the five-year rule would be waived in favor of Casey Stengel "I don't see why. I am not a Casey Stengel fan so I just hope he has to wait. Casey Stengel, in my view, was made a great manager because of the public relations that he has. He won alot of pennants with the Yankees, but he finished last with the Mets, and with Boston and Brooklyn before that, so I don't consider Casey Stengel in the same vein that the sportswriters consider him a great manager, and I don't think the ballplayers did either that played for him."

With that Jackie Robinson was off to a luncheon, and a capacity crowd waiting to hear him later in the afternoon.

Sports highlights this Saturday on Channel 2 will include the Vic Bubas Show at 1:45, followed by the N. C. State-Maryland game. Sunday will find the Harlem Globetrotters helping "CBS Sports Spectacular" premiere at 2:30, with the NFL Pro-Bowl game, in color, following at 4:00 p. m.

Four Weeks Occur In Davie County Last week

Four wrecks were investigated in Davie County last week by State Highway Patrolman R. L. Hanson.

Last Wednesday two cars were involved in a collision on US 601, one mile north of Mocksville.

Patrolman Hanson said his investigation disclosed that Burley Wayne Renegar, 18, of Mocksville Rt. 5 was operating a 1957 Chevrolet and Elmer W. Rawlins, 68, of Wellstov, Ohio was operating a 1955 Rambler. Both cars were going south on US 601 in a line of cars following a school bus. The Rambler stopped and Renegar applied brakes on a wet road and skidded into the rear of this car.

Also at 9:45 a. m. last Wednesday a car skidded off US 158 on a curve, ran across a lawn and into a ditch. The car, a 1963 Dodge, was being operated by Abraham Garmaize of Winston-Salem.

At 4:15 p. m. last Wednesday a 1959 Plymouth being operated by Mrs. Mabel Hauser Hutchins, 78, of Mocksville ran off the road on US 601, 8 miles north of Mocksville and hit embankment. Damage to the car was estimated at $225. Mrs. Hutchins suffered some injury.

Last Sunday around 11:50 a. m. two cars collided on US 158, 10 miles north of Mocksville at the intersection of NC 801. Involved was a 1958 Ford operated by Samuel Eugene Cope, 17, of Advance Rt. 2 and a 1961 Ford operated by Guy Brack Hartman, 33, of Charlotte. Patrolman Hanson said that his investigation showed that Cope stopped coming out of NC 801 then proceeded into the path of the car operated by Hartman. Cope was charged with failure to yield right of way.

Food Crisis 1966
SUPPORT GROWS FOR RE-EXAMINATION OF U. S. FARM POLICY. It's prompted by the sharply increasing population of the world, the rising toll of famine and malnutrition, and the accompanying threat to peace and political stability. To help deal with this problem it is being argued that the United States should begin an orderly shift away from its 30 year policy of restricted food and fiber production and move toward a full production with a stepped up export program. Outspoken advocates of such a change met in December to organize the Committee on the World Food Crisis, whose purpose is to "enlist and focus support for policies, programs, and measures that will assure our Nation making its utmost contribution of the world food supplies. Heading and sponsoring the committee are some of the nation's most influential leaders of farm, business, labor and religious organizations.

NO ONE IS SUGGESTING THE U. S. CAN FEED THE WORLD. The point being stressed by advocates of a shift in American farm policy is that the United States can help soften the impact of the onrushing food crisis and buy some sorely needed time while population and food problems are dealt with more realistically in troubled parts of the globe. In the next 25 years the world population is expected to explode from the present 3,300,000,000 to approximately 6,000,000,000. This means the world's output of food will also need to be doubled during that time. It could be the most critical race in the history of the world. Faced with this prospect the question is being asked whether the U. S. can afford to continue with a policy that maintains very large numbers of under-used acres and under employed farmers. Farm policy and world food problems are likely to take place among the critical issues of 1966 and the years immediately ahead. The outcome will have a major impact on the use of the Nations land and water resources and on the programs of all Conservation Districts. (Quoted from the National Association of Soil and Water Conservation Districts.

To Play At Landis Friday Night

Central Davie Edges London High

By HENRY SCOTT

The Lions of London High tried their best to stop the Mohawks five game winning streak, but the Mohawks blistering fire-power proved too much to handle.

London High gave its home crowd something to cheer about in the first half but the Lions seemingly using up all their willpower in the last half fell to the Mohawks 50-48.

George Scott in his best form of the season led the Mohawks fire-powering attack, with a torrid shooting surge, that gave him his all time high of 24 points, 18 of which he posted in the first half. He quickly became the man of the hour.

William West came on strong in the last half and finished up with 14 points.

Lewis Peebles, hauled down the most rebounds and scored 3 points.

Eric Hudson scored 6 and his back court partner Elliott Wilkes scored 2.

Henry West and Ronald Woodruff both second string guards came into the game and took command of the ball-handling job and scored 8 points each.

Hubert West and David Dalton scored 2 points.

The Mohawkettes bowed to London High 30-19. Carol Gaitner got 41 points, Alice Isaac 2, Annie James 2, and Flora Wilkes 4.

The Mohawkettes are scheduled to play in Charlotte Tuesday night.

The victory boost the Mohawks record to 7-2 and secured their hold on the no. 1 spot in the N. D. A. Conference, with a 4-0 Conference record.

The Mohawks will be seeking their 8th victory Friday night, when they will go out to triumph over Landis.

In the remaining half of the season, it is believed that the Eagles from Yadkin High will be our strongest competitors.

The Mohawks have only lost two home games in three seasons.

Mr. Clyde Studevent Jr. and Mr. J. E. Suter are very proud of their teams and have confidence in them to believe that they may have another championship team.

Miss Jo Lewis Named To Jr. College Faculty

Miss Elizabeth J. Lewis of Cooleme, North Carolina has been appointed director of the physical education program at Marion College and assumed her responsibilities last week. Marion College is a small two-year college for women, located in Marion, Virginia, and operated by the Lutheran church.

Miss Lewis holds the B. S. degree from Appalachian State College in Boone, North Carolina where she was a leader in physical education activities and held positions of prominence in other phases of campus life, including the dean's list.

During her student years at Davie County High School in Mocksville, North Carolina Miss Lewis also held an enviable record. She was voted to the Dean's List of American High School Students and to Who's Who in American High Schools.

In addition to her interest in physical education, Miss Lewis has had special training for work with retarded children. Last summer she was chosen as one of 200 from 800 college students to work with retarded and underprivileged children in North Carolina under a federal grants program.

Miss Lewis is a member of the Baptist church and resides at Faculty House on College Street.

Davie Students Aid Rehabilitation Center

The students of the following schools: Davie County School System will participate in a drive on: January 11-19, 1966 to collect donations of used clothing, shoes, toys, rags and small appliances for the Goodwill Industries Rehabilitation Center in Winston-Salem, North Carolina.

These discards make available vocational training and jobs for many blind, crippled and handicapped persons from fifty counties of North Carolina. Perhaps you have some of these articles gathering dust at your house and would like to do your part.

Students from these schools will be glad to accept your generous donations. Assist these students in filling their Goodwill bags, and you will be helping a disabled person get a new lease on life by giving him a means of vocational training.

These handicapped persons represent many of the counties of North Carolina. Won't you give today, that they may work tomorrow?

Jerusalem Baptist Adopt $7,693 Budget

The members of the Jerusalem Baptist Church voted last Sunday to adopt a budget of $7,693.40 for the remainder of the church year.

The pastor, the Rev. Dick Denson, reports that this budget will enable the people of the church to play a greater part "in spreading the gospel of Christ around the world".

"Our church is experiencing an increasing interest in the Forward Program of Christian Stewardship as recommended by the Southern Baptist Convention", said Mr. Denson.

Mr. Denson reported that special stewardship lessons would be taught in the Junior, Intermediate, Young People and Adult Sunday School classes next Sunday. These special lessons will teach the Bible doctrines of stewardship, tithing and sacrificial giving.

"A special feature for this Sunday night will be Church and Denomination Night. This is a vital part of the stewardship campaign, and the people will hear a program on the history and development of the Jerusalem Baptist Church and the Southern Baptist Convention", said Mr. Denson.

Mr. Denson announced that William Foster would testify next Sunday during the morning worship service as to what tithing means to him. Mrs. J. C. Grubb will give her testimony that night. Other testimonies have been given by Mrs. Richard Beck and Felix Williams.

Letter From Library Staff

The following letter was written by members of the Davie County Public Library staff:

Well, the notices are out that we are really working now on getting a few things settled in the new library, preparatory to the final "Great Moving Day"! Questions are coming thick and fast as to just what we are doing since we are closing each Monday morning and Wednesday afternoon to work in the new building. Let us tell you a little about our activities.

If we think they are accelerated now, we'll probably find ourselves getting around as rapidly as those funny characters in the old "Perils of Pauline" moving pictures before things finally quiet down to some kind of routine again!

But even though this project, too, is fraught with minor perils, like learning how to manage light switches, the telephone intercom system, thermostats, finding the right places for myriads of small items that are needed now to continue our work, (and even deciding to paint the inside of a display case!), several larger accomplishments are now ticked off!

A good start has been made on getting the Davie County History Room in usable order, and desks are placed and in use for "Miss Flossie" Martin and Mr. Jim Wall, county historians.

And the picture file we have sorted out, partially discarded, organized and re-organized according to subject matter, boxes and boxes of picture material which had been (necessarily) stored in a most haphazard and unsatisfactory manner in our former quarters. This is filed in special files where the reference librarian on duty will be able to locate it for you without being a detective! Oh, joy! This material will gradually be increased as more accumulates.

Display materials have been stored in accessible order, too.

This, also, is the week for some of the furniture to arrive unassembled and be set up and placed, a high point of the whole event! Then we can begin thinking of "all those books" and other things which can be moved. And we are not forgetting what a blessing our many kind volunteer workers will be during all this!

Oh, yes! And the coffee pot! Twice a day we allow ourselves the luxury of a quick cup of coffee, and does it hit the spot? Reminds us of the good old New Year's "We'll take a cup 'o kindness yet, for auld lang syne"—and there is a little tug at the heart-strings when you must leave a familiar place which has been filled with many friends and happy hours. But we look forward to having those friends and many more with us at our new home, with real satisfaction and happy hours for all!

FORWARDS FOR THE MOHAWKS... this season are David Dalton and George Scott. Both are reported by their coach, Clyde Studevent, Jr., to be good scorers and good off the boards. Sent scored 24 points in the Mohawks victory last week over London High.

By a vote of those present it was decided to buy two new basinetts for the nursery at the local hospital.

Committee appointments were made as follows: Finance committee, Mrs. Doug Daniels, chairman, Mrs. Lester Martin and Mrs. Wade Groce; Ward committee, Mrs. Jack Sanford and Mrs. Richard Allen; Publicity, Mrs. Ed Short; Sewing, Mrs. Mary Pope and Mrs. James Boger; Scrapbook, Miss Flossie Martin; Membership, Mrs. Von Shelton.

Paul Neil, hospital administrator, thanked the Auxiliary for the successful year and gave a review of the items that had been donated to the hospital by the Auxiliary.

Telephone Costs Are Reduced By Tax Cut

Central Telephone Company's North Carolina customers will receive a reduction of more than one-half million dollars in their telephone bills in 1966. The reduction results from the cut in Federal excise taxes from ten (10) per cent to three (3) per cent.

Based on the 1964 excise tax paid by Central's customers, the monthly savings will amount to more than $50,000.

The immediate savings of seven (7) per cent on the average monthly telephone bill will be added to by a tax reduction of one (1) per cent annually on January 1, 1967 and 1968. The complete repeal of excise taxes on telephone service scheduled for January 1, 1969 was made possible by the recent passage of revisions to the excise tax law.

All telephone subscribers will note a reduction in their monthly charges on statements issued after January 1, 1966.

diet of the American people is a major factor contributing to the high coronary heart disease death rate in our country — chiefly our consumption of foods high in saturated (animal) fats and cholesterol. And statistics show that American men at age 50 have a heart attack death rate five times as high as that for women of the same age. You can help lower these odds for your husband.

While you're substituting vegetable oils and other polyunsaturated fats for animal fats in cooking and at the table, you and your children will reap long-range benefits: lower blood levels of cholesterol and other fats and a lower risk of developing coronary arteriosclerosis — the disease that clogs the arteries feeding the heart muscle and sets the stage for heart attacks.

Your husband may be risking a heart attack on other fronts as well. Does he hold down a swivel chair at a desk all day, and an arm chair in front of the TV set all evening? Does he drive to the corner store for a pack of cigarettes? And how many packs a day does he smoke?

There are at least two high-risk elements in that picture, and a third if he is smoking heavily because of tension.

And there may be another hidden risk or two, not visible to the naked eye: for example, high blood pressure or diabetes. Only a medical examination can disclose these and other significant conditions: regular checkups can catch them early enough to treat before they do serious damage.

So, if your husband hasn't been feeling up to par lately, or even if he has, a wifely suggestion might be in order. You might hint gently that the time has come for him to get a complete medical checkup: or better yet, take matters into your own hands and make an appointment for him. It's good insurance.

"Tunnel Of Love" To Play At The Showboat

"The Tunnel of Love," a mad-cap marital mix-up, will open Wednesday night (January 12) at the Showboat Dinner Theater near the Greensboro-High Point-Winston-Salem Airport featuring an Actors' Equity cast with extensive Broadway, television and stage experience. "The Tunnel of Love" will continue nightly except Mondays through February 6 at Showboat, where another comedy, "The Little Hut," ends a successful four-week engagement Sunday night (January 9).

Heading the cast of the hit Broadway comedy made into a movie with Doris Day is the star are Jack Bell and Bette Craig as Angie and Iselde Poole, whose childless marriage leads them to consider adoption. Donald Carter and Catherine Conrad are their friends, the Peppers.

Complications quickly arise when the adoption agency representative turns out to be a sexy young woman, played by Judy Jordan. The situation goes from funny to funnier before all's well again.

As Angie Poole, the guy with the winking eye, Bell brings to Piedmont Triad audiences a wealth of acting experience. He understudied Hal March in "Come Blow Your Horn" for both the Broadway run and the National Company tour.

On television, Bell has appeared with James Arness in "Gunsmoke," E. G. Marshall in "The Defenders," and Paul Burke in "Naked City." Bell recently performed the role of Prince Escalus in "Romeo and Juliet," indicative of his classical-to-comedy range.

Miss Craig has appeared on New York stages in "God Man and You, Baby," "The Ghost Sonata," "One Fine Morning in the Middle of the Night" and "The Dead Survivors." In stock she has acted with Kathleen Nolan, Don Hastings and Ann Sothorn.

While appearing at Showboat, Miss Conrad will be awaiting the release of three recently completed motion pictures — "Seconds" with Rock Hudson, "The Group" based on the May McCarthy bestseller and "Mr. Buddwing." She also appeared in "How to Murder Your Wife."

Miss Conrad's TV appearances include "The Nurses," "Trials of O'Brien" and "Car 54."

Donald Carter is a familiar name to theater-goers in parts of Virginia and North Carolina, having appeared at the Mill Mountain Playhouse in Roanoke, Triangle Repertory Theater in Durham and Thomas Wolfe Playhouse in Asheville.

Many of his roles, both comedic and dramatic, were played in Hollywood. His TV appearances have included "The Edge of Night."

Miss Jordan, who will portray the sexy Miss Novick in the Showboat production of "The Tunnel of Love," was last seen on Broadway in one of the biggest comedy hits of recent sea ons. "Enter Laughing."

Miss Jordan has appeared in numerous off-Broadway productions and toured in the National Company of the prize-winning musical "Fiorello."

Rounding out the cast will be Alice Beardley as the un-sexy woman from the adoption agency. Her most recent Broadway role was in "The Walt." She has appeared on TV with Sid Caesar and on "Car 54," among other shows.

"The Tunnel of Love," written by Joseph Fields and Peter De Vries, is directed by John Bazarini of New York, Showboat's full-time director. Showboat is located just off Highway 68 about 2 1/2 miles south of the Greensboro-High Point-Winston-

Salem Airport. Dinner is at 7 p. m. Curtain time is 8:30.

A Total Of 1,181,552 Enrolled In State

SCHOOL ENROLLMENTS REACHES PEAK

The net increase in enrollment in North Carolina's public schools for the current school year is the smallest it has been since the Fall School Survey, based on enrollment figures at the end of the first month of each school year, was started in 1956.

The 1965-66 enrollment of 1,181,552 pupils is a net increase of 3,218 over the first school month of 1964-65, the new survey just released by the State Department of Public Instruction reveals. A total of 105 of the State's 169 administrative units reported a decrease in enrollment, meaning that the rate of increase in many school units is far greater than the average rate for the State as a whole. In some instances the decreases reported are due to reassignments among the administrative units in order to comply with the Civil Rights Act.

The net enrollment increases of 3,218 includes a decrease in high school enrollment of 668 and an increase of 3,886 in elementary enrollment. This is explained by the 'peak classes' moving through the school systems to graduation. The World War II babies caused a peak enrollment in the first grade during the 1953-54 and 1954-55 school years. Last year's graduating class in North Carolina exceeded any previous graduating class by more than 14,000 pupils.

Reports from individual administrative units reveal the larger enrollment gains to be in the Piedmont and in areas serving large military bases. Largest increase is in the Cumberland County-Fayetteville units where increases total 2,206. The Charlotte-Mecklenburg unit is second, showing an increase of 1,980. Third largest increase is in Wake County, a total of 1,473 combined increase for the Raleigh and Wake County units. Guilford County, Greensboro, and High Point units show the fourth largest combined increase, 1,180, and the Winston-Salem Forsyth administrative unit is fifth with a net gain of 759.

The 1965 survey reveals a total of 100,987 students, or 8.55 percent, attending classes in temporary, improvised, or gossily overcrowded classrooms and in schools operating on a double shift schedule. This compares to 101,181, or 8.59 percent, last year. A total of 1,692 classrooms were added during 1964-65 and 849 obsolete and inadequate ones were abandoned for a net gain of 853. Facility needs at the present time, as reported by the school units themselves, included a total of 8,573 additional classrooms. This is 6,141 more classrooms than the 2,432 scheduled for completion during 1965-66.

The survey notes that the definition for unsatisfactory facilities has been broadened in the new survey to include spaces made inadequate because population shifts and needed reorganization as determined by the local units have made certain spaces inadequate from the standpoint of location or function or both. Such needs often occur in school systems actually declining in school population. It is also noted that the survey figures made no allowances for projected future needs, based on expected enrollment increases.

The 48,821 teachers, supervisors, and principals employed for the current year represent an increase of 1,991 over the preceding year. Of this number, 1,446 is the increase in actual "teaching" personnel and 549 in non-teaching staffers.

An encouraging factor is the increased number of persons entering the teaching profession. The 1965 report shows that 3,455 of the teachers were "brand new" — exceeding the number reported on any previous survey and surpassing last year's brand new teachers by 403. Also, the 1,991 increase in professional personnel for 1965 includes 11,430 men, an increase of 260 men in the profession.

A total of 47,272 of North Carolina's school personnel hold either Class "A" or Graduate certificates, an increase of 1,823 over last year. This is 96.8 percent of the total and it is generally conceded among United States educators that North Carolina's certification procedures are more rigid than those of most other states.

The 1965 survey — shows a total of 185 positions vacant at the end of the first month, 173 of which were due to a shortage of teachers and 12 of which were due to classroom shortages. The number of positions vacant at the end of the first school month has averaged 87.8 since the first Fall Survey in 1956.

Superintendent found the most difficult high school positions to fill to be mathematics, science, and foreign language teachers, in that order. A majority of school units indicated difficulty in securing enough elementary school teachers. The greatest difficulty was in securing teachers for the primary grades.

The number of school personnel receiving local salary supplements has almost doubled since the first Fall Survey in 1956. The first survey showed 12,906 persons receiving such supplements and the 1965 survey showed 24,148 persons, about half or 49.56 percent of the total, receiving local supplements.

Quinine Shortage Hurts In Viet Nam

INCREASE IN MALARIA IS COMPLICATED

The rising incidence of malaria in South Viet Nam may be complicated by a shortage of a centuries-old remedy-quinine.

The armed forces turned again to quinine recently when certain newly-found strains of malaria proved resistant to the synthetic drugs developed during World War II.

The Defense Department has stockpiled sufficient amounts of quinine to meet requirements for two years, based on the present rate of consumption. However, as U. S. forces expand their efforts in Viet Nam, the increased malaria casualty count could pose a serious problem unless new drugs are developed. Meanwhile, the medics are forced back to quinine, the oldest anti-malaria of all.

Indicative of the zooming demand for quinine is the fact that the price of quinine has jumped more than five times over the levels of a year ago.

One factor in the growing shortage is that Indonesia, previously the world's greatest producer of quinine, has cut down most of its quinine-producing trees to make way for other crops, according to World Book Encyclopedia.

Quinine was introduced to Europe by Jesuit missionaries returning from the New World. It is derived from the bark of the cinchona tree, World Book notes, and Indians in what is now Peru and Ecuador may have known about the bark's medicinal qualities even before the Spaniards arrived.

A person who has malaria suffers intense attacks of chills, fever, sweats, and great weakness. The attacks may recur for years.

Malaria ranks as a leading cause of death in many tropical regions of the world. Scientists estimate that about 100 million persons suffered from malaria during 1965, and that the disease will cause about 900,000 deaths this year.

Malaria is caused by one-celled parasites, protozoans of the genus Plasmodium, which burst victims' blood cells, causing anemia. The parasites are transmitted by the female Anopheles mosquito.

The French scientist Charles L. A. Laveran discovered the protozoa that causes malaria in 1880. In 1898, British scientist Sir Ronald Ross showed how mosquitoes spread the disease.

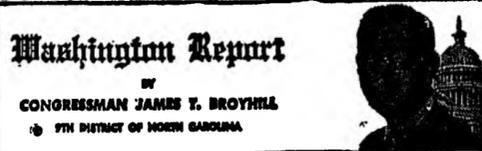

When cast-iron plows appeared in the early 1800's, many farmers refused to use them for fear of "poisoning the soil."

For those who thought that the first session of the 89th Congress had left few stones unturned, the opening days of the new session may be surprising. There is still major legislation left over from the "Great Society" proposals of two years ago as well as a number of proposals intended to deal with new situations. However, the view from Capitol Hill this January is strikingly different from 12 months ago.

The chief difference this year is the dominance of our involvement in Viet Nam. Vast commitments of men and material influence the thinking in the Nation's Capital. Virtually all domestic programs will be viewed through the prism of Viet Nam's mounting costs and military demands.

Already, the stage is set for a request from the White House for $13 to 14 billion to help meet the costs of the war in Southeast Asia for the next six months. It is on this legislation that a reassessment of our Viet Nam policy is likely to be debated more searchingly than the Congress has explored the question before.

During the last twelve months, U. S. military personnel in Viet Nam grew from 23,000 to almost 200,000. Last April, U. S. defense expenditures in Viet Nam were at an annual rate of 1.5 billion $70 million for food distribution; $300 million for economic assistance; $300 million for military assistance; and $600 million for U. S. air and sea operations. Present expenditures are not available although they are clearly much higher. There is a possibility that the war costs in the first six months of this year will rise $8.8 billion over expectations.

Major economic legislation is certain to receive high priority in this session of Congress. As the economy steams along at a record rate, the threat of inflation looms. Cost of living figures for November reached an all-time high. The continuing upward trend is predicted when figures for December are released. Voluntary restraints on management and labor to "hold the line" on prices and wages seem harder to maintain. Talk of tax hikes or a graduated withholding tax to pour funds into the Treasury at a faster rate are a contrast to the economic pump-priming measures under discussion at this time last year.

Increases in spending in the War on Poverty and such programs as Area Redevelopment activities are likely to be among the growing list of cutbacks in the welfare legislation that was launched with considerable fanfare last year. Some of the "Great Society" programs have been slow in starting and are still on the drawing boards although the Congress voted them into existence some months ago. Whether they will be earmarked for the full amount of funds originally intended seems unlikely now in a number of cases.

A brief run-down of some of the issues of new and unfinished work for the Congress is as follows: Continuation of the argument over the Administration's plan to repeal Section 14 (b) of the Taft-Hartley Act, funds for rent subsidies and the teacher's corps, revision of the Electoral College system in Presidential elections, a G. I. bill of rights for veterans of the cold war, home rule for the District of Columbia, revision of minimum wage and unemployment compensation laws, firearms control legislation, foreign aid with emphasis on an expanded use of U. S. agricultural products abroad. Other items that have received less public attention are also in prospect.

All of this points to a busy session that will be filled with considerable controversy and uncertainty. Earlier predictions that Congress will devote itself primarily to patching over the cracks in bills rushed through last year have little justification. Neither does the dwindling talk that Congress will be packing its bags to leave Washington by early summer.

Uncle Dave From Davie Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR: The fellers at the country store Saturday night was advocating the overthrow of the U. S. Government by peaceful means. What they was doing was coming out agin taxes in all shapes and forms. Ed Doolittle claimed they wasn't nothing invented by man that had took on as many shapes and forms as Government taxes, special since the Democrats got their feet rited in the public trough back under Franklin Roosevelt. He was of the opinion the only thing under God's heaven that wasn't taxed today was a man's liberty and he was expecting any day now to see them Revenue boys in Washington try to give the Constitution overhauled so's they could put the stopper in this loophole.

What brung up this subject, Mister Editor, was all the fellers was gitting set to file their income taxes by February 15. On account of farmers and ranchers being a little dumb, the Government makes 'em send in their chicken scratching two months ahead of everybody else. Ed says this is on account of it takes them Revenue boys longer to unwind, decipher and digest what they git from the rural folks.

Personal, I ain't agreed with Ed 100 per cent in this last matter. Fer instant, I keep my records wrote on the hen house door and they was easy and mathematic correct fer my annual report to the Great White Father in Washington. Onct, back during the war, my hen house got burnt down and I had to git my report up from memory. And in all my burred days that was the only year I ever come out even with them tax fellers. And if they don't ease up a bit on taxes it looks like the hen house is going to have another fire.

Zeke Grubb made the most brilliant remark of the session. He alluded as how he was fer taxes in "theory" but agin 'em in "practice." Zeke probable picked that one up from some politician making a stump speech and was passing it off on the fellers fer deep thinking. If you know, Mister Editor, what it means, please drop me a note. It makes me recollect the time I heard a candidate fer Congress say on television if he was elected he'd work for a Federal minimum wage law to match a Federal maximum tax law. I ain't figgered that one out (Continued on Page 2)

NEWS AND COMMENT FROM OUR RALEIGH BUREAU
2818 Oberlin Road

FEARS . . . This past weekend, as plans were laid here for the third meeting of the Legislature in a scant 12 months fears were expressed as to whether this one could get through with its business in a satisfactory manner in one week.

The shifting of counties from one group to another — particularly for Congressional districts — was causing bad feelings in some sections of North Carolina.

There is some fear that the whole reapportionment program might result in greater Republican strength in 1966 voting.

FOOD INDUSTRY . . . Although no official announcement may be forthcoming for several days yet, Governor Moore plans to give new strength to the Governor's Food Industry Awards competition during 1966.

Began by the Terry Sanford administration during its last six months of existence to encourage grocers to promote N. C. — processed foods, the project is now beginning its third year . . . with bigger ideas.

On February 15, the Governor will have a luncheon at the Mansion to "finalize" (a Washington term now moving into Raleigh) plans for the 1966 contest among food retailers throughout the State.

Agriculture Commissioner Jim Graham, one of the fathers of the program, and Wayne Corpening, the Governor's farm man, are co-chairmen of the committee setting up rules and regulations for the 1966 contest. Other participants: N. C. Food Dealers, State College, C & D, and N. C. Merchants.

EMPLOYERS . . . As of 18 months ago in Raleigh there were four employment agencies, including the Employment Security Commission, operated by the State and Federal governments.

As of January 1, there were 15. The growth can be traced to the effect of the Civil Rights Law of last July 1.

"NO SUCH BOY" . . . A recent issue of Time Magazine devotes almost one solid page to Duke basketball and Case-coached Coach Vic Bubas . . . with photos . . . Here are some items from the article:

" . . . Bubas' files bulge with dossiers on rival players — including their personalities (Does he rattle when razzed?) — and he scouts important opponents for weeks ahead of time."

" . . . One of Bubas' key approaches to his business is good recruiting: ten out of the twelve players on the Duke squad are out-of-staters. To land Center Mike Lewis, a 6-ft-7-in. sophomore who has averaged 13.3 rebounds per game this season, Bubas reached all the way to Missoula, Mont. — on the recommendations of a Duke coed whose brother had played with Lewis in high school . . ."

"In fact, Bubas' knowledge of where the boys are has been a coaching legend ever since a friend challenged him to a contest a few years ago. One by one the friend would describe a series of high school players, and Bubas was to name and locate each one. "Six feet eight inches, great hands, mother and father divorced, sister Mikes Fanny Farmer cherries," the friend began. Bubas instantly identified the boy.

"The game went on and on, until the friend described the boy as '6-ft 10-in., 240 pounds, averaged 32.1 points per game, an orphan with one gold tooth in front.'"

Vic's brow wrinkled. "There is no such boy," he said flatly. "Right" sighed his friend . . ."

CHARLOTTE MAGAZINE . . . Under the guidance of Bob Alander, who is in charge of advertising for the Charlotte daily papers, the Charlotte Chamber of Commerce will this spring begin publishing a magazine similar to the one — big and fat and handsome — put out by the Atlanta Chamber.

Manager of the Atlanta organization is Opie Shelton, native of Surry County.

HUNTING . . . An old friend of this corner — Charles Ruffin of Raleigh — will become 97 years of age on January 27.

He's in good health, happy, and mentally alert.

Longtime head of the Capital Printing Co., Mr. Charlie founded in 1918 North Carolina's only privately owned labor newspaper — The Union Herald. He published this newspaper for nearly 50 years, but laid it to rest about 1955 when advertising, etc., became too scarce to keep it in operation. His firm had other more profitable projects. Ironically, shortly after the Herald's death, Mr. Ruffin's own printing company was the victim of one of the longest strikes ever to hit the printing business in Raleigh.

A teetotaler, Mr. Charlie says he did not plan to become old—"it just happened"—and he attributes his good constitution to the fact that as a young man, on he sunny side of 60, he hunted a lot, stayed in the open air as much as possible.

THE WORTH . . . A friend of ours is a great dove hunter. He brings us doves every fall. A while back, he added to our freezer once again. Finally, we made him agree to let us pay him for this last supply — 15 in all — or give him a gift in return.

He got out his pencil, made a few figures, multiplied, etc., and finally said he had about $20 each in the doves.

"That's what I figure they are actually worth — or actually cost me — considering the shells wasted, the cost of the trips, the time away from the office, and the wear and tear on my gun."

It was quickly agreed that the best approach would be for him just to have dinner with us now and then.

SENATOR SAM ERVIN SAYS:

WASHINGTON — The guidelines that will set the tone of this session are in the main twofold: the war in Southeast Asia and the demands it will impose upon the country. In the second category, lie the crucial decisions on Federal spending, with the particular problems of defense spending, and demands for alteration of the tax structure. Accelerated war spending is almost certain to bring proposals to raise tax rates, and a Vietnam truce may renew demands for a tax cut. The tax question may be with Congress most of the session.

The long term battle in Congress over foreign aid has not been settled. With less concern about the Federal deficit at the last session, it did not encounter as strenuous objections as are likely at this session. Holding the line on spending will be a major problem, and foreign aid raises great doubts about the merits of its expensive commitments. The program is virtually certain to get another critical Congressional review.

The farm program will probably get a good deal of attention in the months ahead due to proposals to expand the Food for Peace program. Present farm programs are designed to curb excess food production above domestic needs. Recommendations to change this basic agriculture policy would get close Congressional scrutiny.

Electoral College reform may get new Senate Judiciary Committee study. Proposed a year ago, the President proposed reform of the system governing Presidential election procedures, but the road to reform has been long and controversial. There are a number of other proposals besides the Administration backed measure, and I am not very optimistic about widespread support of any particular approach that would resolve the issue. Over the years, I have supported the plan which would divide a state's electoral vote in proportion to the percentage of popular votes each candidate obtains. More recently, I drafted my own version of this plan and advocated it in committee hearings.

The proposed establishment of Federal standards for State unemployment insurance programs is certain to stir up a major debate unless it is altered more than I can foresee. I am convinced that sound policy requires that the power to prescribe the standards for unemployment compensation be retained by the States. The demand for federalizing this program comes in large measure from States in which improper acts have virtually bankrupted their unemployment compensation funds.

This session begins with war a major concern. In the absence of a speedy resolution of the Vietnam problem, the force of this event will emphasize new and more costly domestic programs. Providing both "guns and butter" brings the risk of serious inflation or the necessity of burdensome new taxes. I do not think the American people want either.

Surgical correction of inborn heart defects has made great strides in recent years, the North Carolina Heart Association reports.

Airman Third Class Bobby G. Cope, son of Sam J. Cope of Rt. 2, Advance, N. C., has arrived for duty at Bentwaters RAF Station, England.

Airman Cope, a vehicle operator, previously served at MacDill AFB, Fla. He is assigned to the U. S. Air Forces in Europe, the American overseas air arm standing guard with NATO for the free world.

Pvt. Ronald Howell With Army Artillery

Pvt. Ronald L. Howell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil L. Howell, 25 Dayles st., Cooleamee, N. C., completed advanced artillery training at the Army Artillery and Missile Center, Fort Sill, Okla., Jan. 6.

Howell was trained to serve as a crewman in field artillery gun or howitzer units.

Training as a cannoneer includes maintenance of weapons used in field artillery. Instruction is also given in ammunition handling, storage and loading of artillery guns, howitzers and heavy machine guns and communications.

Howell also learned tactical employment of self-propelled field artillery combat vehicles and techniques of driving wheeled vehicles used to transport weapons, personnel and supplies.

TEXT: "Have you broken out of jail recently?" — Justice Felix Frankfurter.

The doctor studied his patient carefully and then said,

"You need to relax and get away from it all. Could you go abroad?" "Sure could, Doc," said the patient eagerly. "What's she look like?"

When Justice Felix Frankfurter asked his audience of Harvard Medical school students if they had broken out of jail lately, he was urging them not to permit their profession to imprison them. So many of us, intensely interested in our work, fail to see the prison walls we are building around ourselves. We become chained before we know it.

Having outside interests and hobbies is not being disloyal to our vocations. Quite the contrary. Relaxation away from our jobs generates valuable energy that enables us to do better work. Further, a hobby increases our enjoyment of our spare time and may provide a practical usefulness for our retirement years.

Whatever your profession or vocation, break out of jail frequently. It's good for you and for what you are trying to accomplish. Remember, too, that while burning the candle at both ends may make a beautiful light, the candle lasts only half as long.

MAINTAINING SOIL P AND K LEVELS

What is the optimum maintenance level for soil phosphorus and potassium?

This is a question that has often been asked by farmers when they receive the results of their soil test says Leo Williams, County Extension Chairman.

For the answer lets look at the explanation of ranges used by the N. C. Department of Agriculture's Soil Testing Division.

High Range: Soils in the high range can receive small applications of fertilizer so that part of the crop requirements may be supplied from soil reserves. If the soil is much higher than the maintenance range, "starter" fertilizer may be all that is required or "no fertilizer" may be required, except for crops with high nutrient requirements.

Medium (Maintenance) Range: This is the minimum level of plant nutrients which should be maintained in soils for general crop production. In this range, the fertilizer applied plus the amount of nutrients released from the soil should be sufficient to meet the crop demands and to maintain the soil level.

Low Range: When soils have been depleted to the low level. It frequently requires several years to bring them to optimum production. Therefore, soils in the low range should receive corrective applications to raise nutrient levels at least to the medium range in addition to that necessary to meet crop requirements. This may be accomplished by applying one large broadcast to top-dress application of fertilizer materials or you may find it more desirable to apply smaller amounts over a period of several years.

This shows that the medium range is the minimum level we should try to maintain in our soils. Of course it is impossible to tell what the nutrient levels are without having the soil tested. This brings out one of the main advantages of a good soil testing program.

By having each field tested at regular intervals, and keeping accurate records, a person can determine just what effect his fertilization program is having on the soil nutrient levels. If the nutrient levels are dropping, this indicates more fertilizer may need to be used. Keeping accurate soil test records can help you to get the maximum benefit from your fertilizer dollar says Mr. Williams. If you haven't been using your soil testing service or haven't been keeping tab on your soil nutrient levels, now is a good time to start. Have your soil tested before planting next year's crops. Soil sampling supplies are available at your county agricultural workers offices.

CEDAR CREEK

It is one thing to know truths, another to acknowledge them, and yet another to have faith in them. The only faith that endures with man springs from heavenly love.

A good attendance at Sunday School and worship services at Cedar Creek Baptist Church was appreciated.

The Rev. L. R. Howell gave the lesson review on "The Source of Faith" which was very informative and enjoyed by everyone.

The worship services were conducted by the pastor, the Rev. W. C. Hay, and Rev. Howell. The theme was "Open the Door". Guests attending the worship services were Mrs. Hay, Mr. and Mrs. June Clark of Redland, Mrs. Carl Cain and daughters, Miss Fay Cain and Mrs. Joe Miller and children, members of the Chinquin Grove Baptist church.

Recent callers at the home of Mrs. William Eaton and at the home of the Rev. L. R. Howell were George Foote and Henry Eaton.

Callers at the home of Mrs. Lula West Sunday evening were Betty and Donnie Eaton.

Gabbert's application for membership in the national organization of the Jersey breed was approved at the last meeting of the Club's Board of Directors. The action gives him a voice in the management and conduct of the affairs of the breed and also entitles him to register his purebred Jerseys at special membership rates.

The American Jersey Cattle Club is America's oldest dairy breed registry organization. It was organized in 1808 to keep pedigree records of Jersey cattle and to improve and promote the Jersey breed. The National headquarters is located in Columbus, Ohio.

North Carolina's new outdoor drama, written by Richard Stockton of New York City, is a featured event of Winston-Salem's Bicentennial Year and will open on Tuesday, July 5, 1966. The drama will play nightly, Tuesday thru Saturday, for eight weeks and will close on Saturday, August 27, 1966.

A matinee performance will be offered each Sunday afternoon during the season. The night performances will play outdoors in the beautiful new amphitheatre in the May Dell at Salem College. Sunday matinees and the rain performances will play in the air-conditioned Hanes Auditorium immediately adjacent to the amphitheatre.

The title, TILL THE DAY BREAK, can be found in the Old Testament, Song of Solomon, chapter 4; verse 6,—that verse beginning with the familiar phrase, "Till the day break and the shadows flee away."

Coolee Youth Is At Advancement School

Davie County was represented at the North Carolina Advancement School in Winston-Salem on Wednesday, January 5th, when Richard Lucis Ijames from Coolee Elementary registered there for the Winter 1966 Session.

The School is now in its second year as a residential research laboratory for eight-grade boys of good ability who haven't been achieving up to their potential. Students are nominated by their home schools to attend one of the three-month sessions and are usually accompanied by a few teachers from the same school system. The latter, called "visiting teachers," take an active part in the teaching program at the School, as well as participate in seminars and discussions.

A new schedule will go into effect this session wherein all academic classes will be given during the morning, with afternoons devoted to individualized instruction, physical education and intramurals. The after-supper hours of from 6:30—8:00 P. M. will offer an enrichment program of classes in such things as art, crafts shop, camping skills, and music. From 8:00-9:30 P. M. students will be in their rooms studying, reading or talking to their house advisors (young men who are assigned to a group of about 15 students and take responsibility for these boys during after-school hours). Another innovation this session will be the offering of academic electives on Saturday morning. Each boy will be required to sign up for two courses which will be related to their regular academic subjects—such as drama, journalism, lapidary, and math games.

An expanded camping program will provide each house group with a camping experience during the semester. They will spend some evening time during the week prior to their trip learning camping skills. The Advancement School has received considerable recognition because of its uniqueness as a state-supported residential school for underachievers and its dedication to experimentation with new ways of teaching such students. In addition to publicity in national magazines, the School received the National Education Association's Pacemaker Award for North Carolina and was recently commended by the National Council of Teachers of English.

Repeat attacks of rheumatic fever may now be prevented by preventing streptococcal infections, says the North Carolina Heart Association.

First Session Held In Methodist Church

First Davie Court Held In 1837

With Superior Court being held in Davie County this week, one's thoughts may return to the first Davie County court held here February of 1837.

The first Davie County courthouse, a classic red brick structure, which stood in the center of the square was begun in 1837 and was completed in 1839. The contractor of the courthouse and jail was Col. Henry R. Austin, who later was proprietor of the Davie Hotel, which stood on the site of the present courthouse.

The early sessions were held in the local Methodist Church. Part of the proceedings recorded for the first session of court held in Davie County is as follows:

The award will be presented at the annual DSA Banquet to be held at the Mocksville Rotary Hut on Thursday evening, January 27th.

Davie Is In New Districts

Davie County faces a new realignment as the result of the redistricting last week by the North Carolina General Assembly.

Required to redistrict by the Federal Court in conformance with the population ratio, Davie County has been aligned as follows:

The foregoing magistrates present proceeded to elect a clerk for the county court of Davie County, when John Clement was duly elected and gave bond with A. G. Carter, Jacob Booe and Daniel Click his securities, and was qualified according to law.

The foregoing magistrates present proceeded to elect a sheriff, when Thomas Foster was duly elected. He gave bond with Thomas McNeely, Samuel Foster, Robert N. Craige, Radford Foster, William Haden and James F. Martin, and was qualified according to law.

The foregoing magistrates present proceeded to elect a public Register, when Braxton Bailey was

Set For Thursday, January 27th

Ken Griffin Show Rescheduled

The Ken Griffin Show, that was scheduled for presentation the past Saturday night under the sponsorship of the Mocksville Lions Club was postponed due to the inclement weather when snow blanketed the area.

The show will be presented on Thursday night, January 27, at 8 p. m. in the Mocksville School auditorium and all tickets that have been sold will be honored at this performance. Tickets are still available from members of the Mocksville Lions Club. Ed Short is ticket chairman.

The show is being presented by the local club to raise money for their club projects which include aid to the visually handicapped Pete Dwiggins, president of the Mocksville Lions Club, says "Plan to attend the show and bring your family."

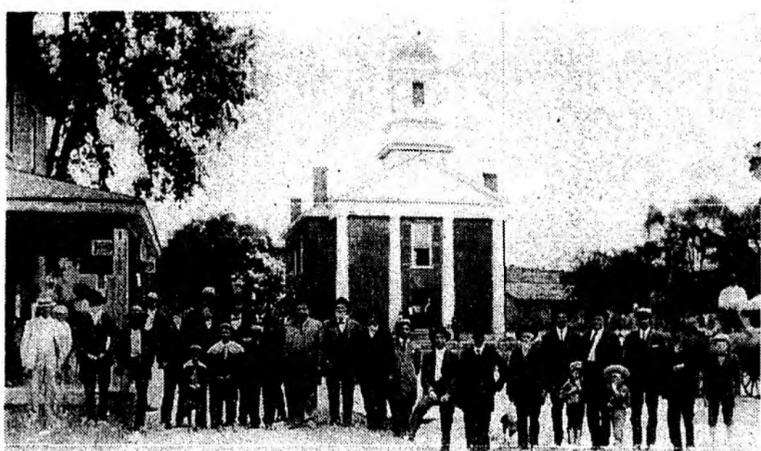

Some of the featured acts to be presented include: The Buzz Saw Illusion; Roberta in an Artistic Interlude; The Floating Princess; The Girl with the X-ray Eyes; Navo, Indian novelty entertainer; and Ken Griffin in person.

Roberta, specialty actress with the TV Thrill-Orama Show, says, "There is never a dull moment in my job." Nightly during the performance she is decapitated, hypnotized, floated in thin air, subjected to the searing flames of burning torches, pierced with swords and made to vanish into the unknown. All this is in addition to her own specialty acts; but it is all in fun and she emerges smiling from each ordeal.

Leo "Pop" Lacey, repertorie actor who has in his many years in the theater played many types of parts from child actor, juvenile, leading man to character parts, is also a talented musician and has played with top show bands and circuses. Leo furnishes the comedy relief in the Ken Griffin show, presenting two outstanding comedy acts, one a typical "Top Banana" act with a straight man as a stooge is reminiscent of the great vaudeville comedy teams.

Marge and Ginny Girard are a husband and wife team who are always throwing things at each other. However for the Girards the outcome is always a happy one as it is all part of their act. Billed as "Top In Tossing" the Girards throw clubs, hoops and balls and they come alive in colorful acts and patterns when these talented artists go into their famous juggling routines.

DAVIE COUNTY'S FIRST COURTHOUSE . . . was authorized at the first session of court held in Davie County in the Mocksville Methodist Church. The building was constructed and put into use around 1839. It was located in the center of the square in Mocksville and served as the courthouse until 1969. The above picture was made around the turn of the century and shows several of the officials of that day.

Snow And Ice Contribute To Accidents

Seven Wrecks Over Weekend

Seven wrecks were investigated in Davie County by the State Highway Patrol during the snowy past weekend.

The first accident occurred around 12:20 p. m. last Saturday and involved a 1966 Ford operated by Richard Oscar Blakely, 43, of Tobaccoville, Rt. 1 and a 1964 Ford operated by Michael Ray Ketter, 20, of Winston-Salem.

State Highway Patrolman K. N. Bolick reported that the accident occurred on US 158, nine miles east of Mocksville.

Patrolman Bolick said that his investigation showed that Ketter came into a right turn curve and lost control, striking the approaching Blakely car in the left rear in the east bound lane.

Damage to the 1966 Ford was estimated at $800 and $400 to the 1964 Ford. There were no injuries.

Skidding On NC 801
A car skidded on NC 801, 7-miles south of Mocksville, around 1 p. m. last Saturday and hit another almost head on.

State Highway Patrolman John W. Pittman investigated the accident and his report was as follows:

Randy Melvin Whitman, 18, of Mocksville Rt. 4 was driving a 1953 Buick and was heading north on NC 801. Joe David Speas, 43, of Winston-Salem was driving a 1957 Ford and was heading south. Speas lost control of his car and skidded into the left lane of traffic striking the Whitman vehicle.

There were no injuries. Damage to the 1957 Ford at $250. Speas was charged with driving left of center.

Head-On Collision
Two cars hit almost head-on on Cedar Creek bridge Saturday at 1 p. m.

Truck Collides With Volkswagon On US 601

An East Spencer woman was injured Thursday at 7:20 a. m. when her car was knocked 120-feet after being hit by a tractor-trailer rig.

Lucinda Lowe McClure, 25, Apartment 2, Barber Street, East Spencer, was admitted to the Davie County Hospital.

The accident occurred 8 miles south of Mocksville on US 601. State Highway Patrolman John Pittman said that the McClure car, a 1965 model Volkswagen, was struck in the rear while the driver was stopped for a school bus which was picking up passengers.

The tractor rig driven by William Thomas Lee, 20, of Shelby Rt. 5, rounded a curve and slammed into the rear of the car. The truck, according to Patrolman Pittman, ran over the car's engine and the two vehicles were momentarily locked together. Both skidded past the bus for 120-feet before stopping.

The McClure woman was thrown from the front seat to the rear seat of the car.

Lee, who was not injured, was charged with failing to reduce speed where a hazard existed, driving without a chauffeur's license, and passing a stopped school bus.

Ordinance Is Clarified

A recently enacted county ordinance does not prohibit individuals of Davie County from burning or disposing of garbage, nor does it require county residents to use services of licensed garbage collectors.

A release from the Davie County Commissioners indicates that a number of persons received the incorrect impression regarding the ordinance.

The ordinance is "primarily designed to regulate garbage collectors", the release states.

It does not prohibit continued burning or disposal of trash and garbage by individuals on their own premises. Individuals may continue to dispose of garbage and trash by burning or otherwise on their own premises, "so long as the means used are sanitary and do not constitute a nuisance in the neighborhood."

New Fire Station

The Mocksville Volunteer Fire Department will hold open house at their new fire station on Sanford Avenue on Sunday afternoon, January 30th.

Andrew Lagle, Mocksville Fire Chief, said that tours of the new building would be conducted between the hours of 1:30 and 4:30 p. m.

Almost Six Inches Measured For Area

Snow Blankets Area On Saturday

The season's and the year's first bout with snow occurred in this area last Saturday.

The snow began falling around 9 a. m. Saturday and by late Saturday night around 6-inches blanketed the area. The standard minor traffic cracks and stalling were reported. Many business establishments shut down early Saturday as shopping traffic approached zero.

The thermometer on Sunday reached into the low forties; and with the sun appearing on the scene much of the snow disappeared. The roads of the area were clear and dry by early Sunday afternoon.

It Pays to Advertise

A BIG 'UN BUMPS A LITTLE 'UN . . . last Thursday morning eight miles south of Mocksville on US 601. The little Volkswagen had stopped behind a school bus that was taking on passengers. ### Being Considered For National Honors

Davie Hospital Gets Citation

The Davie County Hospital has been cited for the excellence of its patient relations program by a national hospital newsletter, "PULSE on Patient Relations."

The local hospital has also been accepted for consideration for national honors in the 1966 PULSE National Patient Relations Awards Program. The program is designed to honor annually those hospitals which are making a significant contribution to improve patient comfort and morale.

Paul Neil, Davie County Hospital Administrator, announced that the local hospital submitted the special hospital edition of this newspaper published in the dedication of the new hospital wing last September for consideration in this program.

The development of a Yadkin River dam site that would flood out the Dutchman Creek Watershed and large areas of Davie County has been turned down by the United States Corps of Engineers.

J. P. Kuykendall, State Conservationist, has advised Davie County officials that the Corps of Engineers has advised that they have completed their study and reached the conclusion that it will not be necessary to develop the site which would flood out a part of the Dutchman Creek Watershed.

The letter from Mr. Kuykendall to Clay Hunter, Chairman of the Davie Soil and Water Conservation District, read as follows:

"Yesterday we received a copy of a letter addressed to the Assistant Secretary of Agriculture from a representative of the Department of the Army. This letter in part is quoted below:

"This study has been completed and the conclusion reached that it will not be necessary to develop the site which would flood out a part of the Dutchman Creek Watershed. I am able to report, therefore, that the carrying out of the proposed Public Law 566 project would not conflict with this Department's comprehensive development of the Yadkin-Pee Dee River Basin."

In his letter Mr. Kuykendall wrote: "Within a few days, I believe we can anticipate transmission of the work plan to the Bureau of the Budget. Following their review, the normal step is for the plan to be submitted to the Agriculture Committees of the House and Senate. We will do our best to keep you informed of the progress leading toward anticipated approval of the work plan."

The above serves to clarify the Dutchman Creek Watershed Project which was halted more than a year ago as the result of a contemplated project by the Corps of Engineers on the Yadkin and Pee Dee Rivers which might flood out the proposed watershed area. At a public meeting held in Winston-Salem last January protests were lodged by representatives of Davie County, Rowan County, areas of Forsyth and Yadkin Counties over this Junction Dam proposal. A representative of the Corps of Engineers announced at this meeting that it would take a year to complete the study.

The status of plans to build one or more dams on the Yadkin River in the Piedmont will be reported to Yadkin County officials on Thursday night at the Courthouse in Yadkinville. The meeting will be held at 7:30 p. m. with the report being made by Lt. Col. R. E. Rich of the Army Corps of Engineers at Charleston.

Five dam sites have been proposed along the river from North Wilkesboro to Salisbury. Scott Dam is west of North Wilkesboro and High Rock Dam is east of Salisbury.

The five proposed sites are: —Just west of Elkin. This reservoir would be almost completely in Wilkes County, and would back water almost to the limits of North Wilkesboro.

—Upper Donaha, above where the Little Yadkin River empties into the Yadkin and about five miles upriver from the N. C. 67 bridge at Donaha. This reservoir would inundate

Invitation To Participate In

200th Anniversary Crafts Festival

The following article is being presented to the public from the office of Mrs. Ostine West, Davie County Home Economics Extension Agent.

Dates and Place: Great plans are being made by a committee of the Chamber of Commerce to make the year 1966 a year-long celebration in honor of the 200th Anniversary of the founding of Salem. One of the important events will be a Crafts Festival in Memorial Coliseum on April 22 and 23, 1966. We are inviting craftsmen and organizations that have crafts programs to demonstrate their skills, to exhibit their works, and to sell if they wish to do so. We are also inviting noncommercial individuals and groups who are especially skilled in preparing exceptional foods. This will provide an opportunity for you or your group to sell your products to the public.

Purpose: To increase citizens' knowledge and appreciation of our heritage in crafts from the founding of Salem; to promote wider interest in present-day crafts activities; to provide an opportunity for persons and organizations engaged in the practice and teaching of crafts, including foods, to demonstrate their skills and to exhibit or sell their works.

Display Space: The Committee will need to know the amount of space needed by each individual or organization for display and demonstration. Please indicate to the Home Economics Extension Agent in Davie County the approximate amount of space needed and any special requirements you will have, such as electrical connections, etc. Craftsmen are to supply their own props, tables, etc. If this is a hardship, request for assistance must be made by February 1, 1966. The Festival will open at 12:00 noon on April 22, and all displays must be completed and set up by that time. The necessary arrangements should be made by you or your organization for your display to be attended at all times during the hours of 12:00 noon to 10:00 p. m. on April 22 and 10:00 a. m. to 6:00 p. m. on April 23. A large common counter space will be available for food.

Sales: We hope that craftsmen will offer for sale a wide variety of quality handmade crafts. Please do not display or offer for sale items which are made from commercial kits or which are not in keeping with the purpose of the Festival. The Sales Promotion Committee would like to have a general idea of the type, number and price range of the crafts to be offered for sale to guide them in developing their publicity. No charge will be made for display space, but in order to help defray expenses of the Festival, a 10 per cent commission will be levied on the total sales of exhibitors. A triplicate salesbook record should be kept on all sales and appropriate settlement made with the Sales Committee at the close of each day. The collection of sales or excise taxes will be the responsibility of these individuals and organizations selling. Reporting and payment will be done by the Sales Committee. You should bring sufficient currency and coins to meet your expected change needs. Give careful consideration to pricing.

Liability: The Crafts Committee will take reasonable precautions to protect the property of exhibitors but will not be responsible in the event of loss.

Badges: To designate you as a participant in the Festival, these badges will be available at the Information Desk. Badges must be worn at all times during the show.

Agreement to Participate: In order that we may begin allocating space, we are asking that you contact your County Home Economics Extension Agent, Mrs. Ostine W. West, Box 484, Mocksville, N. C. or telephone 634-2634 by February 15, 1966. We sincerely hope that you will want to join with us in making this community-wide exposition of crafts a very significant occasion.

Truck Overturns
Trooper Bolick investigated an accident Sunday morning at 9:30 a. m. on US 158 9 miles northeast of Mocksville when a 1965 GMC tractor-trailer, owned by the Collins and Aikman Corp. of Albemarle, overturned.

James Clay Thompson, 39, of Albemarle, was operating the vehicle. He told the investigating officer that his vehicle ran off the road on the right side and turned over on its right side. He said that his right wheels struck the snow that was piled up and it was thought that this pulled him into the ditch causing the vehicle to overturn.

Thompson was taken to Davie County Hospital.

MORE ABOUT Yadkin Dam

Lower Donaha, just upriver from the N. C. 67 bridge at Donaha. This reservoir would cover land in Yadkin For. yth. Stokes (up the Little Yadkin) and Surry counties.

Styers, about seven miles north of present Idols Dam. This reservoir would involve For. yth. Davie (in the northern corner) and Yadkin counties.

Junction, just north of the point where the South Yadkin River empties into the Yadkin. This reservoir would involve Davie, Davidson and Forsyth counties.

Major arguments for and against the Styers site that have developed in Yadkin County are the same ones that were made when the High Point dam was proposed many years ago.

Landowners maintain that too much good agricultural land would be taken for the reservoir thus removing revenue-producing land from county tax books.

Sportsmen (and there are more of them now than there were then) contend that the reservoir's recreational advantages far outweigh any disadvantages.

Since much of the good bottomland lies downriver from Donaha, sentiment has picked up in the county in favor of one of the two Donaha sites (upper and lower).

The Winston-Salem Chamber of Commerce directors have favored dams at Elkin, Upper and Lower Donaha and Styers Ferry, with Styers Ferry recommended for first priority.

Directors made a study and concluded that instead of a tax loss to Forsyth, Davie or Yadkin counties, shoreline property value should increase 10 times over.

They also cited as assets the area's ability to attract new industry since industry is more concerned than ever with the availability of recreational facilities for employees.

A shorter work week, more leisure time, longer vacations and early retirement, said the directors, are creating a greater need for more recreational facilities in the Piedmont Triad (Winston-Salem, Greensboro and High Point).

The directors resolved that the contemplated Junction Dam be abandoned because the reservoir would jeopardize the functions of Winston-Salem's sewage treatment plant.

No recommendation for or against either of the proposed sites is to be made at the Yadkinville meeting. Authorities say it is being held to gain information.

The J-H 4-H Club met January 14 with Keith Seaford presiding. The members sang two songs accompanied by Steve Randall on his guitar. David Randall presented the devotions and Lisa Smith read the minutes.

Horse Fatally Injures Man

An elderly man died Friday night, January 14, in Davie County Hospital from internal injuries received when a horse stepped on him during sawmilling operations.

Davie County Coroner F. W. Slate said that Sam Moretz, of Lenior, died in the hospital of chest and abdominal injuries.

The coroner said that the accident occurred Thursday evening in the county. Dr. Slate said that Moretz was working and a horse being used in the sawmilling operations apparently bolted, knocking him down. The animal apparently stepped on the man, inflicting the fatal injuries.

Piedmont Players' Next Performance

"A Majority of One," the comedy about a Brooklyn lady and a modern Japanese Samurai, which scored a sixteen-month-long success in New York in 1959-60, will be the next attraction offered by the Piedmont Players in Salisbury.

Written by Leonard Spigolglass, one of Hollywood's most prominent screen-writers, "A Majority of One" is the humor-wrapped tale of the improbable romance that springs up between a motherly Jewish lady of Brooklyn and a fastidious and rich Japanese gentleman when she accompanies her daughter and career-diplomat son-in-law on a mission to Tokyo.

Joan Brown (Mrs. Ed) will have the role of the Jewish matron who learns to appreciate sukiyaki as much as gettite fish. The role that was originally played in New York and on tour by Gertrude Berg (television's Molly Goldberg), and Bill Stanback will play the role of the polished Nipponese tycoon who grows to admire her. The part that was acted in New York by Cedric Hardwicke.

Others in the cast will be D. J. Whitfield (Mrs. John) as the daughter who fears that Tokyo may prove too much for her mother; John Bolcer as the earnest young diplomat, Evelyn Hyman as a chattering Brooklyn neighbor; Buddy Snipes as an unctuous Japanese houseboy, Peety Palmer (Mrs. Henry) as the Japanese daughter-in-law and Patsy Hatley, Susan Furr, Marian Uffinger, Carol Hyman, Robert Iddings and Dick Reitz.

"A Majority of One," directed by Jay Brooks will be presented for a five-evening run at the Hedrick Little Theatre in Salisbury, beginning Tuesday, February 1. Curtain time is 8:15 p. m. Tickets will go on sale at the box office (633-3471) on January 27.

HEALTH TIPS FROM THE American Medical Association

Tragedy can befall those who wait to get a doctor "until he is needed." True, most communities now have emergency call systems which help find you a doctor when a crisis arises.

But that emergency might have been averted if the patient had been under the watchful eye of a personal physician, says a new pamphlet from the American Medical Association.

How do you select a doctor for your family? Start by calling your local medical society for the names of several physicians in your vicinity.

Membership in his local medical society indicates that the doctor is a qualified physician meeting the high standards of those who know him best—his fellow practitioners.

If there is no medical society office in your community, ask your hospital or your local druggist for suggestions. With these names you can investigate further, and make your own decision.

The American Medical Directory, published by the American Medical Association, is an excellent source of background information that is available in most libraries.

In making your final selection, it is best to visit the doctor in his office. Does he impress you favorably? No one personality type can be recommended, of course, but if you are "comfortable" with him and sense a quality of competence, he has already begun to win the confidence necessary for a good doctor-patient relationship.

Ask him about his fee. If you wish he can advise you about hospital costs and other medical expenses.

When you have selected your family doctor, be completely frank with him. The more your doctor knows about his patients, the better care he can provide. Consider him your health advisor. Follow his instructions, and—when you need them—

Central Davie Nips Aggrey Memorial

By HENRY SCOTT
Central Davie's powerful Mohawks proved once again that there is no place like home as they blasted Aggrey Memorial 64-58, Friday night. In winning their 8th game out of 10 starts the Mohawks not only kept alive their no. 1 spot but also continued their home court winning streak.

William West led the Mohawks' tenuous attack by pouring in 20 points. Lewis Peebles and George Scott both in good season form scored 14 points, each. Eric Hudson scored 6, Elliott Wilkes 4, and Henry West 2.

The Mohawkets experienced double-victories last week by defeating the Lions of West Charlotte 31-21, and Aggrey Memorial 35-22. In the West Charlotte game, the Mohawkets jumped into a quick lead and maintained it throughout the game.

Carol Gaither was the highest scorer with 16 points. In the game Friday night, once again the tremendous Mohawkets grabbed on lead and strengthened it until victory. Carol Gaither scored 17, Alice Isaac 8, Flora Wilkes 3, and Patricia Dillard 2.

The Mohawks are scheduled to play two away games this week, at Mount Airy and Boonville.

YOUR OPEN WINDOW ON THE WORLD is your newspaper!

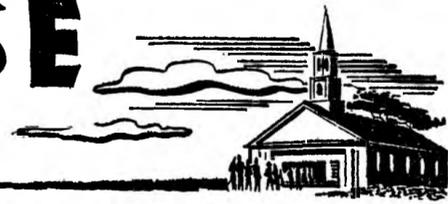

Your newspaper is like a window... with a view as wide as the world, and as far into the future as the mind of man can be projected. It is the kind of a window that gives you a close-up look at the most distant events and developments... a window that extends the horizons of your knowledge even into the realm of outer space, now at long last revealing its secrets.

Some of the things that you see through your newspaper "window" are on the lighter side... amusing, entertaining. Others bear directly on your day-to-day life and on the future of yourself and your family. Both sides of the news are presented promptly, accurately and completely in your newspaper. Both sharpen your awareness of the world in which you live.

Your newspaper is all things to all men and all women. In its pages, each can find the latest information on what interests him most. It covers the community, county, state, nation and world. It deals with the economy, politics, finance... education and science... fashions and sports. It may be read at any hour of the day or night that suits you... may be read and reread... referred back to... clipped or saved. The window that it opens on your world is always open!

An Important Question To Many People

ARCHITECTURAL BARRIERS: HOW MANY STEPS?

How many steps? This question regarding steps to a building a becoming more and more important to the following:

- ... Five million with heart conditions
- ... More than 16½ million over 65 years old.
- ... More than 250,000 in wheel chairs
- ... More than 339,000 using artificial limbs.

How many steps? is just one of the many questions which concern the growing number of physically handicapped persons. Unintentional architectural barriers such as flights of stairs, narrow doorways and inaccessible restrooms are preventing many members of our society from entering and using new, as well as old buildings.

When prevented from entering and using buildings where the handicapped might be employed, these disabilities constitute a handicap in the fullest sense of the word. For the able bodied, who can take steps in stride these problems are difficult to comprehend.

Imagine, for a moment, that you lived your normal day in a wheelchair. Would you be able to attend classes at your local educational institution... worship at the church of your choice... see an exhibition at the museum... register and vote at election time... attend community and governmental meetings... borrow a book at the library... or spend an evening at the theatre? And, of course, would you be able to enter your place of employment? Even one step can be an impossible barrier to a severely disabled person.

What steps are being taken to aid the handicapped person? A concerted campaign against architectural barriers was launched in 1959 by the President's Committee on Employment of the Handicapped and the National Society for Crippled Children and Adults. Their battles against barriers have been joined by members of the American Institute of Architects, Governor's Committee on Employment of the Handicapped, Easter Seal Societies, civic and charitable groups, and the property liability industry.

Two years of detailed research at the University of Illinois and the cooperation of over 75 agencies resulted in the publication of specifications approved by the American Standard Association for "Making Buildings and Facilities Accessible to, and Usable by the Physically Handicapped." The Standard lists specifications for new construction and remodeling that would permit handicapped persons to lead fuller and more useful lives by gaining access to public buildings.

Nation-wide adoption of this Standard is resulting in thoughtful construction for all, since accessibility and safety are of concern to everybody, not just the handicapped and aging.

The above is contained in a publication sponsored and distributed by the North Carolina Paraplegic Association, a non-profit organization composed of both handicapped and able-bodied adults and dedicated to increased opportunities and a more independent life for the physically handicapped... with emphasis on rehabilitation, education and employment.

On Saturday night March 12th, a wheelchair basketball game will be played in Mocksville. The proceeds from this game... including a special program that is being published... with go to further promote this campaign to aid the physically handicapped.

March of Dimes Aids Two Children In Same Family with PKU Defect

In many small ways, Billy Joe Gray, who is only 2 years old, is protective toward his sister, Terry, who is almost twice his age. You see it when they're frolicking with their pointer, Fritzie, for example.

Billy Joe only dimly understands why he feels protective toward his older sister. All that he knows for sure is that Terry doesn't always act like other youngsters.

Billy Joe's instincts are sound. Terry doesn't always act like other little girls on the block. She's mentally retarded.

Terry's tragedy stems from an inherited disorder called phenylketonuria, or PKU, for short. What is singular about this story is that Billy Joe also has PKU; but, unlike his pretty sister, he's as bright as a button.

The answer to the puzzle of why a brother and sister both with PKU are so dissimilar mentally comes when you ask about their medical histories at the March of Dimes Birth Defects Center at Boston (Mass.) City Hospital.

There it's disclosed that PKU was not detected in Terry until she was 17 months old. Her mother, Mrs. Jeanne Gray, of Cochituate, Mass., had given birth to a normal boy and girl before Terry was born. In very early infancy Terry also seemed normal.

PKU remained undetected in Terry until soon after Billy Joe came along, at which time his sister was 17 months old. Billy Joe was two months premature and at birth weighed only 3 lbs., 14 ounces. When Billy Joe, at the age of 23 days, failed to do as well as he should, he was tested at Boston City Hospital for PKU, an examination that had then become routine at that hospital. The results showed he had PKU.

At this point, of course, the doctors immediately suspected what might be the source of Terry's physical and mental slowness. Suspicion became certain when Terry, after her test, also was shown to be a victim of PKU.

The PKU test was developed by Dr. Robert Guthrie of the University of New York at Buffalo with the aid of March of Dimes grants and other assistance.

Once the PKU diagnoses were made, Terry and Billy Joe were immediately placed on a special diet low in phenylalanine. This is an amino acid which builds up in the bodies of PKU victims to cause brain damage.

But, tragically, PKU inflicts its brain damage during the first few months of life. At the age of 17 months, Terry was already afflicted though she is by no means as retarded as some other children in similar circumstances. Billy Joe is thriving.

NEWS AND COMMENT FROM OUR RALEIGH BUREAU
2815 Oberlin Road

UNEASY... They won't talk about it for publication, but many of the legislators in Raleigh last week for the one-man-one-vote battle known as reapportionment left here Friday afternoon with the uneasy feeling that the Federal Courts will not be satisfied with the Congressional district setup.

TOO MUCH... There is much resentment at the big lead Federal Judge (and former legislator) Spencer Bell and his two associates suddenly dumped on the North Carolina lawmakers.

PRIVATE CONVERSATION in hotel and motel rooms here last week, the solons said revamping of the Legislature by January 31 was burden enough. Demanding that they also regerrymander Congressional districts in the same session, they maintained, was just too much.

STILL GOING... Meantime, down in South Carolina where a reapportionment suit asked only that their Senate be redistricted — the legislators have not yet reached an agreement.

DOWN THERE, where they have been at it for several weeks, there is a deadlock between House and Senate. It seems to be all but hopeless. Only South Carolina and 14 other states have not reapportioned.

WHO DID IT?... Who, what members of the Legislature in North Carolina, were most responsible for the five-day miracle — the one-week political revolution — accomplished here?

L.I. GOV. BOB SCOTT and House Speaker Pat Taylor. Since changes in the House were so long overdue — and so much more far-reaching — than those in the Senate, Taylor had the lion's share of the trouble.

CONSENSUS is that Taylor was the big surprise of the busy week. Quiet, sometimes to the point of timidity, with no bombast, no bull, and much younger looking than his 41 years, he will be 42 April 1, Pat Taylor used his sincere approach and a whimsical, unusual personality to bring about the bloodless coup.

AND THEIR FUTURES... were Bob Scott's ambitions to be elected Governor in 1968 (he will be off and running two years from now) hurt by the leadership role he had to assume as president of the Senate?

The legislators this was discussed with seem to think Scott came through with little loss of political strength. They think he has lost few friends; and one or two said he has picked up a lot of political know-how in the one regular and two special sessions of the Senate in which he has served as presiding officer and appointer of committees.

EVEN THOUGH GOV. DAN K. MOORE is no doubt deeply grateful for the Scott assistance, his administration is still expected to go with another candidate for Governor. Nobody knows for certain yet who that will be. Good bets: Mel Broughton, Lewie Holding, Malcolm Seawell.

PAT TAYLOR of Wadesboro has served in six regular sessions of the Legislature, says he will not seek another.

PREDICTIONS here are that he will run for Lieutenant-Governor in 1968 — if he doesn't get an appointment to the State Supreme Court before that time.

THE EFFECTS... The psychological shock of the new power which has come to the Piedmont counties may prevent or curb their use of this power to any great extent in 1967.

IT WILL REQUIRE some time for this new strength to be organized. Legislators from the Piedmont have pulled together as well as those from the little counties of the East and West.

LOBBYISTS whose livelihood depends to a great extent upon their knowledge of the legislative mind believe that reapportionment will mean:

1. Six to eight Negroes — from the large cities — in the Legislature by 1969.
2. More pressure legislation. Since there are few organized labor groups in the small (population-wise) counties, Labor has had virtually no strength in the Legislature.
3. Saloons. The cities, by and large, are more broad-minded as regards alcoholic beverages. Most of the larger hotels and some of the restaurants say they must be able to sell whisky by the drink in order to make ends meet. Work on another by-the-drink whiskey bill for 1967 has already begun.
4. Fewer local bills. Since most of these have come from the little, one-legislator counties, you are sure

HEALTH TIPS

FROM THE American Medical Association

HOME POISONS
Upstairs, downstairs, all through the house are deadly poisons, ready for the taking.

Catherine de Medici, says a new pamphlet from the American Medical Association, hid deadly poisons behind a secret panel in her boudoir.

Chances are, says the AMA, your supply of potential poisons is not so well hidden. Seemingly harmless household items — which cause half a million accidental poisonings in our country each year — are probably stored in every room of your house. Before someone finds them accidentally, look for these items.

KITCHEN KILLERS may include household chemicals such as detergents, ammonia, silver and brass polishes, disinfectants, room deodorants and insect poisons. They may be under the kitchen sink in easy reach of children.

MEDICINES cause most accidental poisonings in children, and aspirin leads the pack. Cosmetics, deodorants, shaving lotion and unlabeled medicine can poison adults who take them in the dark without reading the labels.

THE HOME WORKSHOP has its dangers, too. Children are curious enough to drink paints, lacquers, varnishes and turpentine, especially if you leave these chemicals in empty soft drink bottles.

GARDEN AIDS, such as insect sprays, weed killers and fertilizers may benefit your plants, but they can kill children. Store garden chemicals out of reach of children. When applying keep preparations away from eyes, nose, mouth and skin.

IN THE BEDROOM, never leave cosmetics and pills on tabletops or in low drawers; where children can find them. Mothballs are a hazard if you store winter clothes in a low chest or drawer that children can reach.

SOME FINAL PRECAUTIONS — label everything, keep medicines in a locked cabinet, never store chemicals in food or beverage containers; or on food shelves, date medicines and discard old drugs, use only prescriptions; ordered for you by a physician, do not contaminate food or utensils with insect sprays, aerosols, rate poisons, weed killers or cleaning agents, and, keep potential poisons out of children's reach.

TO SEE THE NUMBER cut in half or better. This is one of the really fine things that can come out of reapportionment.

A GRADUAL MERGING of counties as regards education and law enforcement; and a relatively rapid merging of cities and counties in all local governmental activity.

Senator SAM ERVIN Says:

WASHINGTON — Anti-crime proposals, studied during the first session of this Congress, are likely to get more attention in this session. Vietnam's problems, Federal spending, education, health, and welfare proposals have not diminished the concern which Americans express about personal safety and protection against crime.

Neighborhood citizen groups have organized to assist police and protect their homes in many areas. Ten months ago, the President expressed alarm that the crime rate had doubled in this country in 25 years and increased five times faster than the population growth in the last seven years. In our great cities, including this one, citizens are faced with increased odds that they may become the victims of muggings, violent assaults, burglaries, or wanton destruction of property.

A national crime commission is studying this plague and is expected to make recommendations later this year. Yet it is already apparent that the country is somewhat divided on what to do about crime.

In the minds of some, more Federal spending is the answer. Others contend that society must bear the burden of this evil because society is at fault. Poverty and substandard social conditions are a part of the crime picture, but more welfare and social programs, the greatest in our country's history, have not made a dent in the crime problem.

Any study, and any proposed new legislation, should face the fact that increasingly in the last decade our law enforcement officers have been limited and often hamstrung in dealing with crime by High Court rulings. These rulings have drastically limited police investigative powers, have forbidden the use of voluntary confession by the accused in many instances heretofore permitted, and have altered reasonable procedures which once were the great bulwarks against crime. Recent High Court rulings have stressed individual rights of the accused to the point where public safety has often been relegated to the back row of the courtroom. In the process, police have become confused in their efforts to protect the public from acknowledged criminals. Dissenting court opinions have pointed out that investigative procedural rules are becoming unrealistic.

Civilization represents at best a delicate balance between individual and society's rights. History demonstrates that law and order require rules that understand human motivations. Certainly of punishment has been from ancient times a great restraint against crime. Remove that bulwark and the problems begin. To a great extent that bulwark is being removed, and the problems have come. The commission, the courts, and the Congress ought to recognize this, and remedy the situation by appropriate action. Otherwise, no citizen will be safe.

They ain't nothing in this world, Mister Editor, that can git as wet as the crying towel when the fel-lers at the store git together. Personal. I don't say too much for the record on account of my old lady says she can buy a hen already killed, cleaned and cut up cheaper than she can bulldoze me into helping her raise her own.

Yours truly,
Uncle Dave

Uncle Dave From Davie Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR: I'll soon be 70 years since I come into this world and as we git going for 1966 I look back on the changes and agree with Ed Doolittle that we ain't handled a heap of them right.

For infant, ways of spreading news and getting acquainted with others has gone all the way from two wimmen talking over the backyard fence to bouncing pictures off one of them things they got anchored in orbit. And the more we learn about one another the harder it seems for us to git along together.

I bring this matter up at the country store Saturday night and Zeke Grubb was of the opinion them science fellers was the cause of it all. He said he could recollect when his next meal come from the garden patch, canned fruit and vegetables in the pantry, the chicken coop and the cow cover in the pasture. But now, claimed Zeke, farmers and ranchers won't eat much that is home grown. They grow it and raise it, sell it and buy it back after it's been purified, pasteurized, homogenized, vitamin enriched, condensed, cooked, froze, preserved and filled with chemicals to keep it fresh tasting. It has got to the place, allowed Zeke, where peanut butter ain't even made out of peanuts no more.

Clem Webster was agreed with Zeke, said he was reading in his pamphlet from the Department of Agriculture where American farmers and ranchers could raise enough to feed the world and still go fishing two days a week, but they won't eat what they raise. A feller would think, claimed Clem, that bread was bread and milk was milk, but every bakery and every dairy made 'em different. Take the Irish potato, for instance, said Clem. A farmer sells 'em by the bushel, then he buys 'em back in little sellofame packs, all sliced up and fresh frozen. He pays more for a peck of potatoes in the store than he got for 5 bushels in the field.

Bug Hookum was lamenting he had saw a piece in the Farm Journal saying agriculture production has went up 500 per cent in the last 35 year, but the farmer and rancher profits has gone down 40 per cent in the last 15 year. He claimed things has got to the point where farmers and ranchers got to sell what they raise and buy it back to keep the money spread out and going round to keep the country moving.

They ain't nothing in this world, Mister Editor, that can git as wet as the crying towel when the fel-lers at the store git together. Personal. I don't say too much for the record on account of my old lady says she can buy a hen already killed, cleaned and cut up cheaper than she can bulldoze me into helping her raise her own.

Yours truly,
Uncle Dave

Washington Report

BY
CONGRESSMAN JAMES T. BROYHILL
7TH DISTRICT OF NORTH CAROLINA

THE STATE OF THE UNION

Our Constitution requires that each year the President should prepare and present to Congress a message on the State of the Union. What that message should contain or how it should be presented is not spelled out. For most of the country's history, Presidents have sent a message to the Congress to be read into the proceedings. However, in the century, it has become traditional for the President to come to the Capitol to deliver the message in person. As radio and television has developed, the State of the Union Message has become a ceremonial occasion that combines formal tradition, politics, suspense, and most of the elements of genuine drama. As the entire nation watches the Chief Executive, the processes of national government are injected into the family circle, understanding is deepened, and participation assumes a new dimension of immediacy.

This year's State of the Union Message has been even more eagerly awaited than the one of recent years. The growing challenge of the Viet Nam conflict presents problems of such seriousness that the war effort and the corollary peace effort demand the major part of our national energy and resources. President Johnson emphasized this when he said, "Tonight, the cup of peril is full in Viet Nam."

As many of us listened to the President in the House of Representatives Chamber, we were impressed with the long and sweeping list of programs and responsibilities he believes the Federal government should undertake. The war on poverty should be speeded up at home and the battlefield should be extended throughout the world. Cleaning our river basins, attacking crime, rebuilding our cities, ending death on the highways, abolishing racial discrimination among Americans, are only a small part of what the President has called "daring and imaginative" projects worthy of a great nation at the height of its wealth and power. The commitment to armed conflict clouds the immediate future with uncertainties which, at the least, demand greater consideration of national priorities in domestic program; than were indicated in the President's remarks.

The President gave his answer to the long-debated question of "guns or butter". He seemed to be giving an emphatic "yes" to the question of whether we can afford to pour more than $80 billion into our defense effort and, at the same time, continue full speed ahead on domestic welfare programs of even greater cost and complexity than those we have already undertaken.

While speeches such as this seem to be blueprints for the future, they raise a good many more questions than they answer. The principal issue here is how all that is being recommended can be done without very significant increases in Federal revenues — that is, increases in taxes.

The President assured us that next year, "Your government will collect one-half billion dollars more than it will spend." This appears to assure that deficit spending will be abandoned and that the inflationary pressures that present Federal financing

By Woody Durham

During the football season we told you, in a two-part column, about the use of the isolated camera and the various other technical equipment required to telecast a pro football game. Although it's mid-winter right now the CBS Golf Classic is in full swing on Channel 2 every Saturday afternoon from 4 till 5 p. m., and I thought you might be interested in what goes on behind the cameras in TV's only videotaped golf tournament.

Even before they set up their equipment, production and engineering crews had to make numerous trips to the lush Carlsbad, Calif., golf course to survey the layout and plot the 53 camera positions and other equipment installations.

A crew of 20 technicians required 11 days to prepare the course and install equipment. Once the tournament gets under way coverage requires a staff of over 70 people, including production personnel, technicians, commentators, office help, and the golfers. In addition, equipment guards, gallery marshals, caddies and numerous personnel from La Costa Country Club, scene of the matches, are necessary for a smooth operation.

Eight cameras and 14 camera chains are used for the coverage. At the start of each match the cameras are set up on the first three holes. As the golfers complete a hole, the cameras move forward (first hole to the fourth, second to the fifth, etc.). This system permits the golfers to play straight through without delays, completing a match in about the same time the match would take if there were no television coverage.

Six of the cameras are mounted on mobile cranes which permit fast movement and, because of their versatility, make possible unusual and distinctive camera shots. Other equipment includes two tape machines, two remote trucks, a "wireless mike" truck, 30,000 feet of cable and 25 golf carts.

The golfers have wireless microphones sewed into their shirts, through which their strategy discussions and humorous byplay are picked up and transmitted to a nearby truck for recording. Use of these wireless microphones allows the golfers complete freedom of movement, while enabling viewers to "eavesdrop" on their conversations.

The entire production of coverage of the "CBS Golf Classic," from initial planning to final editing for broadcast, is headed by Frank Chirkinian, producer-director. This Saturday's match at 4:00 on Channel 2 will pit Bobby Nichols and Ray Floyd against Jackie Cupit and Al Geilberger in a first-round match.

Other sports this Saturday on Channel 2 will include the Vic Bubas show at 1:45, followed by the Clemson-Virginia Tech basketball game at 2:00. The "CBS Sports Spectacular" will be on Channel 2 Sunday at 2:30.

SAMPLING WET SOILS

Davie County farmers that have not taken their soil samples yet may be faced with the problem of collecting soil samples from wet fields according to Leo F. Williams County Agricultural Extension Agent. He further states that wet fields can be sampled properly if a few simple precautions are taken.

About 15 to 20 spots should be sampled in the field to be tested if the field is wet or dry. However, it is more difficult to mix wet soil. All of the soil collected should be air dried until it becomes crumbly before it is thoroughly mixed to get a composite soil sample. The composite soil sample should be air dried further before putting it in the sample box and sending it to the Soil Testing Laboratory for two good reasons; first, dry samples are lighter and require less postage if the samples are mailed, and the second reason is to reduce damage to paper sample boxes.

Localized spots that are usually wet because of poor drainage should be sampled separately if they are large enough to be treated differently. Poorly drained areas usually need more organic matter and the soil environment is different because of excess water. Sample these areas as suggested above because the value of a soil test depends on how well the sample represents the field from which it came.

Soil testing is the best method available for determining what the soil needs to produce big crops. Give soil testing a chance to help you by taking good samples.

SO THIS IS NEW YORK

By NORTH CALLAHAN

Two memories here are blending into a new dream. They are Madison Square and the Pennsylvania Railroad Station and while both the original versions are still active, they will not be so for long but will be merged into one marvelous combination. Back in the Twenties when the Garden was built, it and the city itself were friendlier and required less for excitement. The Garden was known as the house that Tex Rickard built for big fights in the days when boxing was respectable. Mayor Jimmie Walker used to come by on Friday nights and watch the boys work out. Joe Louis defended his title in the Garden nine times. Mickey Walker, after he retired, opened up a bar across the street. But Rickard never foresaw the day of hockey, track and basketball for which the big arena has been used for to a great extent of late, obsolete.

So a new Madison Square Garden is being built on the site of the Pennsylvania Station. Visitors to New York who are accustomed to seeing the noted station hardly recognize the jumbled construction project they now see. Over it will soon rise the 116-million dollar Center being built and scheduled for completion next year. But demolition of the 55-year-old depot and erection of the new Garden and its companion 29-story office building are taking place at the same time while one crane is lowering the girders of the old station to the ground so that they may be trucked away, a companion crane is hoisting new structural steel into place nearby. The reason for this unusual procedure is the necessity of interfering as little as possible with the 650 Pennsylvania and Long Island trains which enter and leave the station each day with their hordes of commuters and long-haul passengers. Also being considered are the convenience and safety of the quarter of a million people who daily pass through the main levels of the station. A giant concrete slab at street level will serve both as a roof for the railroad station and as a floor for the center. This slab is supported by hundreds of steel columns footed in concrete between the tracks.

The new Madison Square Garden will be more than just a sports arena. It has been designed to function as the world's largest and most modern convention-exposition hall and will also house cultural, entertainment, commercial, business and political functions. In sports events, the Garden will provide a clear, unobstructed view of the playing floor from each of its 22,000 seats, thanks to its cable-suspended roof which requires no interior columns. Adjoining will be a 5,000 seat forum and a 500-seat movie theater, so one can well imagine some 20,000 fans cheering a hockey game while near at hand, 5,000 music lovers are charmed by the concert of a big orchestra. The sports center and the office building will be separated by a four-lane private roadway which will be used by taxis and private cars bringing visitors to both structures as well as passengers coming to the redeveloped railroad facilities below.

It is predicted that no other area in the world will be so well served by public transportation. Besides the two railroads this will be the express stop for two subway lines. Two other subways and the Hudson Tubes are but a block away by an underground passageway. Three buslines stop at the door and four others are a block away. The Center will have everything but airplanes - and the scope of the helicopter is expanding so it may well include this traffic hub. Meantime there are plenty of us who have been around for awhile who continue to remember the slower, simpler days when Old New York was young and it was considered a privilege to be either ensconced at Madison Square Garden watching an event or being at Penn Station waiting on the train which would take us far away.

Bobwhite quail roost in compact circles with their heads out and tails toward the center. Alarmed, all members of the covey can fly straight off without colliding, says the National Geographic Society's new book, "Water, Prey and Game Birds of North America."

WHEAT — PROGRAM PARTICIPANTS TO GET PARITY ON DOMESTIC WHEAT

Wheat farmers who participate in the 1966 voluntary wheat program can expect a better return per bushel of wheat than in 1965, J. N. Smoot, Chairman of the Davie County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, said today.

The increased return can be expected because wheat produced for domestic food consumption is supported at 100 percent of parity, the Chairman said.

Under provisions of the new program, 45 percent of the projected yield production of the allotment of a participating farm will be eligible for domestic marketing certificates and a price-support loan. The marketing certificates will be valued at the difference between the National average loan rate of $1.25 per bushel and parity on July 1, 1966, Smoot said.

In addition, all wheat produced on allotment acres of participating farms is eligible for price-support loans.

Full details of the 1966 wheat program may be obtained from the Davie ASCS county office. Mr. Smoot said farmers who wish to Foot's Sketches of North Carolina first appeared in 1846. His volume on North Carolina is the most authentic existence on Presbyterian Churches and ministers and some of the leading laymen of North Carolina for the period down to 1846.

A Second Edition of the book was brought out in 1912, and the Third Edition has now been published and a copy is in your Davie County Public Library.

The current volume was edited by the Reverend Harold J. Dudley, General Secretary and Stated Clerk of the Synod of North Carolina. This edition is significant for the fact that it contains an Index, making this the most valuable edition in print for researchers. It also includes a Bibliography and an Errata (showing errors discovered after printing, with their corrections).

The author of the Sketches, the Reverend William Henry Foote (1794-1869), was an outstanding Presbyterian Clergyman and educational leader who was born in Connecticut but did much of his work in Virginia and North Carolina. It was during these years that he collected the material for his historically valuable book.

The beautiful snow that fell all day Saturday and into the night gave much pleasure on Sunday to those young enough to run and romp and sleigh ride in it. It shut in others who had only front row seats at the windows. It caused the doors of both Churches to remain closed. It caused their bells to remain silent. The soft white fluffy frozen bits of water has power. As it descends in all of its thrilling glory upon the earth beneath, it lays a warming blanket over the brown grass and barren soil, only later to be slowly absorbed in the thirsty earth. Thus moisture is stored for the future use of trees and other vegetation.

Cub Scouts Study Truck Transportation

All twelve councils of the Boy Scouts in North Carolina are 100 percent in distribution of 10,100 cub scout kits on "Truck Transportation" to all cub scout den mothers, pack masters and commissioners.

Governor Dan Moore, Scout Chairman of the 1966 "Break Through for Youth" has received the "tons of kits" from J. T. Outlaw, executive vice president of the North Carolina Motor Carriers Association.

90,000 Cub Scouts in North Carolina will be studying "Transportation" as their recommended project during January, and the trucking industry is cooperating by providing the kits.

The North Carolina Motor Carriers Association and the American Trucking Association have alerted truck operators to the Cub Scout transportation project.

An outline describing what motor carriers can do to aid the Scouts has been distributed to the industry and ATA has printed the materials and booklets for the project.

Motor carriers will host Cub Scout Packs to tour their terminal facilities and to see demonstrations of various types of trucks, trailers and material handling equipment. After consultation with Scout officials, the ATA PR Dept. and the North Carolina Motor Carriers Assn. are making the following materials available: an Economic Unit outline which explains basic concepts of the American economic system using the trucking industry as an example; a large full color wall chart detailing the history of land transportation; and a booklet on how the trucking industry began and how trucks serve the economy. These are available from NOMCA on the basis of one kit per cub pack.

A small pamphlet defining some of the special and often amusing terms used in the industry entitled "Truck Drivers Dictionary" is being made available in quantity so that Don Mothers can provide one to each of the 90,000 Cub Scouts in our state.

More About Washington Report

Public reactions to the President's message have tended to follow predictable party lines. However, it is significant, I think, that one hears more and more off-the-record comments on Capitol Hill about the quality of Federal performance.

Quite frankly, there are very grave doubts that this can be done even if the old excise taxes on telephone service and automobile are restored. Bridges from slogans to meaningful programs are hard to build. There is, for example, increasing worry that the war on poverty will continue to flounder and that confusion, waste, and blunted purposes will discredit it further while calls for more of the same are forthcoming.

This worry is only one of many

This worry is only one of many that boil down to one conclusion — that the country needs to digest what the Great Society has embarked upon in the last year before it goes on with a full head of steam into new experiments with the American society. I am sure that this will set the theme for the debates to come in 1966.

Exceeding Safe Speed Is Cited As Accident Cause

A car and a truck were involved around 7:50 a. m., 2-miles north of Mocksville on US 601. State Highway Patrolman John Pittman said that involved was a 1964 truck operated by Robert Cornellison Basinger, 67 of Mocksville and a 1965 Chevrolet operated by Mary Smith Stewart, 18, of Mocksville Rt. 5.

Patrolman Pittman said that Mr. Basinger was headed south and slowed down for a car that was passing. Miss Stewart rounded the curve too fast, applied brakes and skidded across into the left lane and into the rear of the truck. Damage to the truck was estimated at $80 and to the car, $200. Miss Stewart was charged with exceeding safe speed.

Democratic Committee Makes Request

Senator Urged To Aid Watershed

U. S. Senator B. Everette Jordan has been urged by the Davie County Democratic Executive Committee to use his influence and do everything possible to expedite the proposed Dutchman Creek Watershed Project in Davie County.

This project is now being put back on the agenda by the federal government after being shelved for more than a year awaiting the report of a survey conducted by the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers on the Yadkin River. This report, recently released, said that the construction of the junction dam project did not appear to be feasible and that other projects contemplated would not interfere with the Dutchman Creek Watershed project.

A letter from Mrs. Clyde W. Young, Chairman of the Davie County Democratic Executive Committee, to Senator B. Everette Jordan reads as follows:

"Dear Senator Jordan: We have followed with a great deal of interest the survey being made by the Army Corps of Engineers on the Yadkin River, concerning the development of a Yadkin River dam site that would flood out the proposed Dutchman Creek Watershed in Davie County.

"I would like to advise that the members of the Executive Board of the Davie County Democratic Party are delighted with the results of this survey, and hope that plans for the Dutchman Creek Watershed development, which would benefit the entire community economically and agriculturally, through water conservation and control.

"We strongly urge and request that you do everything possible to help with this project. Please keep us advised of any further developments, and feel free to call on all of us for any aid that we can give in this matter."

"Dr. Bob" Dies At The Age of 97

Rites Held For Dr. R. P. Anderson

Dr. Robert Poindexter Anderson, 97, of Mocksville and Fort Myers, Florida, died last Thursday at his winter home in Fort Myers. Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at the Eaton Funeral Chapel. Burial was in Rose Cemetery with Masonic Rites.

He is survived by his wife, the former Miss Flora Reed and many nieces and nephews.

Dr. Anderson practiced dentistry for almost 70 years, retiring in 1958 at the age of 90. At that time he was the oldest practicing dentist in North Carolina.

He was born in the Calahaln section of Davie County on April 27, 1868, the son of A. A. and Fannie Poindexter Anderson. He attended schools of the county at Noh's Ark and Calahaln.

His father operated a store at Calahaln. One room of the store was rented to a Dr. Howard, a dentist of Mocksville, who used it on regular visits to treat patients in that community. Thus as a little boy, Dr. Anderson became interested in this profession.

At the ages of 17 and 18 he taught school in Yadkin County and in 1888 he entered the School of Dentistry at Vanderbilt University. In 1889 he passed the North Carolina Dental Board and in 1890 graduated from the school of dentistry.

Making his home at Calahaln he fashioned, with the help of a carpenter, a traveling dentist chair on an old horse-drawn buggy. With this outfit, he travelled to the various sections of the county, going to homes that called. Visiting the various sections of the county, he would stay about a week in each place.

More Bad Weather

This area was hit by snow, sleet, rain and ice last weekend. The weatherman said that the snow began early Saturday morning at 3:58 a. m.; changed to sleet at 9:15 a. m.; then turned to rain at 11:50 a. m.

The area had about two-inches of snow on top of about an inch of what was left from last week's snow. However, this accumulation was reduced by the rain.

Snow began falling again Tuesday evening and by Wednesday had reached a depth of more than four inches and was still continuing . . . the predictions being for more and more.

Citizens Committee For Davie Schools Organized

Knox Johnstone was elected chairman at the organizational meeting of the Davie County Citizens Committee for Better Schools last Thursday night.

Mr. Everidge also told the committee about the surrounding counties which are paying supplements to teachers' salaries

Property Owners Are Warned

Keep Fences Off Right-Of-Ways

Property owners were warned this week about erecting fences on the right-of-way of the state Highway Department.

R. Neil Kearns, Road Maintenance Supervisor for Davie County, said anyone erecting a fence along a public road should make sure that it is not on the right of way.

Mr. Kearns said that all right-of-ways extend at least 30-feet from the centerline and in many cases more. Some carry 100-foot right-of-ways, he said.

"Anyone that is in doubt as to the right-of-way should contact the local State Highway Maintenance office and they will be glad to assist in seeing that the fence is not on the right-of-way", said Mr. Kearns.

Mr. Kearns said that fences erected on the right-of-way will be required to be moved at the owner's expense.

"Because of new mowing and maintenance equipment, we now need to have the use of the maximum right-of-way", said Mr. Kearns.

Motorist Attacked Robbed

A stranded motorist reported he was knocked in the head and robbed Friday night while he was trying to fix his car on U. S. 158 only a mile or so outside Winston-Salem.

Henry Spough of Advance, Rt. 1, an employee of the city, related the story to sheriff's deputies while he was being treated in the emergency room at Baptist Hospital about 10:30 p. m.

Spough said that, after going home from work Friday, he decided to drive into town and buy weekend groceries.

On U. S. 158 (the Clemmons Road) near the entrance to Faraway Farms, the motor of his station wagon went dead and he got out to try to fix it.

He worked on the carburetor, then went around the right side of the car, he said. As he started to get inside, something hit him and he didn't remember anything else.

When he regained consciousness, he said, he was lying partly across the front seat with his head inside the car and his legs outside the door.

His wallet containing $65 to $70 was missing.

Spough said he got the car started and drove home, but his head and chest were giving him such pain that a member of the family drove him back to the hospital. He was treated and released.

Mohawkets On Winning Streak

By HENRY SCOTT
The Mohawkets defeated the Eaglets of Yadkin High 52-10.

The aggressive Mohawkets shooting from the floor with deadly accuracy jumped into a quick lead and kept adding to it. By the torrid shooting exhibition that the Mohawkets staged in the first half, the Eaglets probably figured that they had a tiger by the tail.

Carol Gailher led the Mohawkets hot shooting attack by pouring in 20 points, Flora Wilkes 16, Alice Isaac 6, Patricia Dillard 8, Sarah Rivers and Maxine James both scored 1 point.

The Mohawkets also defeated J. J. Jones High 25-15.

They were led by senior Carol Gailher with 16 points, and Flora Wilkes with 7, senior Alice Isaac scored 2.

The Mohawks are scheduled to play in Mooresville Tuesday night, and both Mohawks and Mohawkets will play at home Friday night, when they will face J. J. Jones High School.

Pre-School Registration

Registration of all pupils to enter first grade next fall will take place Monday through Friday between April 19 and April 29 from 9:00 A. M. to 3:00 P. M. at each Elementary school in Davie County.

It is important that children be immunized for the following diseases prior to school entrance: Whooping cough, diphtheria, smallpox, and poliomyelitis.

Before a child is permitted to enter school for the 1966-67 school year, he must be six years old on or before October 16, 1966. Evidence of date of birth by a certified birth certificate must be presented to the school officials or the Davie County Health Department.

There will be specific dates set up later for each school to hold their Pre-School registration. When these dates are announced, it is important that parents make every effort to report to school at the announced time and date to fill out the Choice of school forms. A choice of school form must be completed for every ### child before they can be admitted to school next fall. The choice of school form is for every child from grades 1-12.

It is suggested that all parents of children to enter school check with your health department or your private physician soon concerning your child's immunizations. Pre-registration forms will be sent out from the schools in the near future. Each parent who will have a child eligible to enroll in the first grade should make every effort to have your child properly immunized and properly registered. Additional pertinent information will appear in this newspaper later.

MORE ABOUT Dr. R. P. Anderson

Brownsville, Texas. For around five years he was one of the leading dentists of that city. However, the humid climate did not agree with his health and upon the advice of a physician to seek a higher latitude they moved to Asheville in 1901. He practiced dentistry there for one year, returning to Mocksville in 1902.

Dr. Anderson had a dental office in buildings all around the Mocksville Square . . . in the Kate Holman house, the old Meroney Building and the old Masonic Building, etc.

During World War I, he and Dr. W. C. Martin purchased a large building on the square from J. T. Baily. The building later burned and Dr. Anderson bought out Dr. Martin's part and became sole owner, rebuilding and locating his offices on the second floor. He practiced dentistry in this office (which was over the present Davie Furniture Company) until his retirement in 1958. Prior to his retirement, he sold the building to W. J. Sell. An avid gardener, he and Mrs. Anderson grew all types of shrubbery and flowers in back of their home on North Main Street.

Another outstanding navyman has been selected to serve as the January "Sailor of the Month" at the Norfolk Naval Air Station.

Aircontrolman first class William W. Gaither was chosen from the ranks of hundreds of enlisted men stationed at NAS, Norfolk, Virginia. His selection was based on his ability and for setting a fine example as a dedicated sailor.

ing a 1949 Chevrolet, came into a right turn curve and slid off the highway to the left side striking a dirt bank head on, then turning over on the right side sliding into the highway.
Mr. Marlin received injuries.

He first reported to the air station for duty on 7 July 1965 and has distinguished himself as a member of the Air Control Division in the Air Operations Department by qualifying for the Senior Control Tower Operator's Certificate in a very short period of time. It normally takes several months of on the job training and a considerable amount of studying to obtain this certificate. He received a special commendation from the commanding officer of the Naval Air Technical Training Center, Glynco, Georgia for having attained a final grade of 94.52 at the Aircontrolman Class "B" School. This was the highest mark ever recorded at this school.

Gaither received another commandation from the Commandant of the Fifth Naval District for reducing a shipmate from drowning by pulling him from the water and administering mouth to mouth resuscitation.

He and his wife Pansie are very active leaders in the training and education program for young people at the First View Baptist Church here in Norfolk, of which Gaither is also the Superintendent for the Junior Sunday School Department.

Gaither and his wife, the former Pansie D. Myers of Mocksville, N. C., live at 9649A 19th Bay Street, Norfolk, Virginia.

Sheriff Smith Has 32 Deputies

A story entitled—"32 Davie Residents Are Sworn Deputies"—appeared in the Salisbury Post Monday. It was written by Ralph Miller of that newspaper and was as follows:

Sheriff George Smith has three uniformed deputies working the non-incorporated areas in Davie County.

But during the three years he has served as sheriff, there have been 32 other persons, including one woman, who have been given the general oath of office for deputy sheriff.

Three of these 32 persons wear jackets, authorized shoulder patch, deputies badge and side arms.

Sheriff Smith said that all 32 are in the strictest sense volunteers, who serve without pay or reimbursement of any type from the county.

The three armed men are paid through other means, however.

Chief functions of the 32 persons are to assist with traffic and to be a stand-by force if the need should ever arise, the sheriff said.

Sheriff Smith said that most of the 32 are affiliated with the eight rural, volunteer fire departments and with the county rescue squad.

Sheriff Smith said that many times these volunteers can be at a fire or emergency scene before a regular deputy arrives.

Consequently, these volunteer deputies can assist traffic and possibly avert a congestion of vehicles at the emergency site he said.

The sheriff estimated that there are from "two to four" deputized persons in the rescue squad and in each of the county's rural departments.

There are five guards employed at the sprawling R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co. sheds in eastern Davie County, and these five persons are among the 32 who have been deputized, Sheriff Smith said.

Among the 32 are three men who purchased individual jackets similar to the type worn by the uniformed deputies. These men wear regular shoulder patches, display a deputy sheriff's badge and carry side arms, the sheriff explained.

One works at the drag strip, another at a barn dance, and a third at ball games. Each receives pay, not from county funds, but from the place where he works.

One deputized Davie resident reportedly is a wrecker operator. Asked why he was deputized, Sheriff Smith said that it was in case he had trouble at a wreck site.

Asked for what purpose the woman was deputized, Sheriff Smith replied "None. She's never been called on."

In the three years Sheriff Smith has been in office, there have been a total of 37 persons who have received the oath of office for deputy sheriff.

The total includes three men who are the usually known and uniformed deputies, including Ralph Padgett, jailer; Joseph H. Smith, who works out of the Davie County Court House in Mocksville; and Robert Lee Hillard, who has the Cooleemee area.

The 37 total also includes William Marion and Bill Green, both of whom were paid county-employed deputies, but who have since left the force.

This leaves the 32 others.

Those taking the general oath of office as deputy sheriff since Sheriff Smith came into office include:

1962—Bill Green (regular deputy who has since left the force); William Marion, (also a regular deputy who left the force about the first of this year); Ralph Padgett, who still serves as jailer; Robert Lee Hillard, who still serves the Cooleemee area; Huston F. Hockaday; and J. H. Jones Jr.

1963—T. K. Bryant, C. R. Jones, D. A. Harris, J. D. Davis, W. S. Potts, Taylor Howard, Lonnie Tutterow, James Clay Tutterow, Marvin Hillard, Howard M. Sain, C. W. Myers, Henry W. Tutterow, James F. Phelps, Howard Lee Frank, Worth Garland Potts, Felix Jones, J. C. Anderson, Wade Groce and Eddie C. Newsome.

1964 — T. A. Lefler, Joseph H. Smith who currently is serving as a regular uniformed deputy, Robert Duard Reavis, Charlie Brown Jr. and Harold F. Foster.

USS North Carolina Is Open The Year Around

Many people seem to be surprised that the U. S. S. North Carolina is open to the public the year round — seven days per week.

But the big battleship, permanently berthed here, was visited by 38,364 persons during the "off-season" four months to Jan. 1, Rear Admiral Robert B. Ellis, USN (Ret.), ship superintendent, said today.

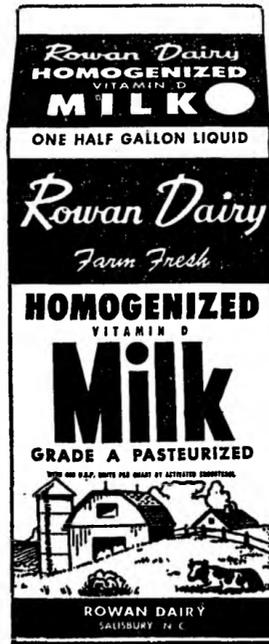

This swelled the total number of visitors to the first of this year to 1,522,726 since the battleship was opened to the public in October, 1961. The U. S. North Carolina is the Memorial to the 10,000 North Carolinians who died in the armed services during World War II.

Science Continually Rewrites Textbook

The Impossible Continues To Happen

The "impossible" is always happening in science, and textbooks must be rewritten.

For years astronomy students were taught that Mercury always keeps the same side facing the sun, the National Geographic Society says. Half the planet was supposedly hot enough to melt lead; the other half was frozen near absolute zero. But 1965 observations and a careful recheck of old records showed that Mercury rotates independently, exposing all sides to the sun.

Chemistry texts used to say that noble gases like helium, neon, krypton, and xenon do not combine with other elements. In 1962, chemists who didn't accept the tenet succeeded in making xenon combine with fluorine.

Zoologists once believed that man was the only animal that makes tools; anthropologists accepted tool-making as a criterion for distinguishing true human beings from manlike creatures. But British zoologist Jane van Lawick-Goodall found that chimpanzees fish for termites with a crude tool that they make by stripping a twig.

Two decades ago every chemist was firmly convinced that the earth contains 92 elements — and no more. A 1942 text stated in addition: "For the chemist of 1942 there are no more unknown elements in existence, not only on the earth, but also in the entire universe." By 1966, however, chemists had discovered more than a dozen elements exceeding 92, and they expect to find still more.

In 18th-century France, farmers who brought occasional meteorites to the French Academy were dismissed as cranks. When two Connecticut scholars reported a fall of stones from the sky in this country, even Thomas Jefferson, who was distinguished in science as well as state craft, said skeptically that he would rather believe professors would lie than that stones would fall from heaven.

When flying-machine experiments attracted the public fancy about 1900, some scientists tried to put an end to the nonsense. Astronomer Simon Newcomb said: "The demonstration that no possible combination of substances, known forms of machinery, and known forms of force can be united in a practicable machine by which men shall fly long distances through the air, seems to the writer as complete as it is possible for the demonstration of any physical fact to be."

Newcomb's paper appeared at an unfortunate time. Less than two months after its publication in 1903, the Wrights made history's most famous flight.

Another flying-machine skeptic was Thomas Edison. Before his death in 1931, he also was advising friends to stay away from another invention that he felt would probably never be realized — television.

Atom research brought down the theory that matter could neither be created nor destroyed. Lord Rutherford, a famed atomic scientist, often ridiculed the "sensation mongers" who maintained matter might be converted to energy some day.

In the early 20th century, physicists knew it was impossible to send radio messages across the Atlantic, because radio waves travel in a straight line and can't curve around the earth to reach a distant destination. Marconi did it anyway — with the help of the ionosphere, an atmospheric layer that reflects the waves so that they bounce from sky to ground around our planet.

Science does not lose when its cherished beliefs prove illusory; disproved old ideas are replaced by sounder new ones. But progress offers shocks. "Heaven knows," moaned philosopher Alfred Whitehead, "What seeming nonsense may not tomorrow be demonstrated truth."

Printers Typos Changes Meaning

Errors Create Curious Edition Of Bible

Translators' whims and printers' errors have created a host of Biblical curiosities such as the "Breeches Bible," the "Bug Bible," and the "Wicked Bible."

The Breeches Bible is the most famous of these unusual editions, the National Geographic Society says. In this 1560 English-language Bible, printed in Switzerland, the translator had Adam and Eve sewing fig leaves together to make "breeches," not the familiar "aprons" of the King James Version.

In a 1551, Psalm 91 speaks of "bugges by night," instead of "the terror by night." Bugges, or bogies, is an old English word meaning terror.

Another 16th-century translator rendered Jeremiah's question, "Is there no balm in Gilead?" as "Is there no triacle at Gilead?" Thenceforth this version came to be known as the "Treacle Bible."

The apostle Peter advised husbands to treat a wife as "the weaker vessel," but the translator of a 1549 English Bible appended this stern note, "And if she be not obedient and helpful unto him, endeavor to beat the fear of God into her head." So was born the "Wife-Beater Bible."

Typographical errors have plagued Biblical scholars even more than eccentric translation. Mistakes were so prevalent in early English Bibles that the Crown took control of Bible printing, and even today a limited number of British publishers are authorized to print the King James Version.

Andrew Anderson, remembered as one of the worst printers ever known in Scotland, issued a Bible in the 17th century with 2,000 misprints in the New Testament alone.

Anderson was rivaled by John Field of London, who in 1653 printed a New Testament sprinkled with typographical errors. The most serious made a line from I Corinthians read, "... the unrighteous shall inherit the kingdom of God." Field's edition survives as the "Unrighteous Bible."

The "Wicked Bible" of 1631 resulted from the omission of "not" from the Seventh Commandment. Charles I ordered the printers fined and all thousand copies that had been printed to be destroyed. Only four copies are known to have escaped and survived.

The reign of Charles I also saw the "Fool Bible," in which the text of Psalm 14 read, "The fool hath said in his heart there is a God." The dropped "no" cost the printers 3,000 pounds.

In 1717, John Baskett of Oxford printed a magnificent edition of the King James Bible with large type and many plates. But it proved to be so full of mistakes that the edition quickly acquired the nickname "A Basketful of Errors." It is also known at the "Vinegar Bible" from a heading on St. Luke 20, which read, "The Parable of the Vinegar" (for vineyard).

Three editions share the dubious distinction of being called the "Murderers Bible." One typographical error changed "murmurers" in Jude to "murders." Another made Numbers 35:18 read, "The murderer shall surely be put together," instead of "to death." In the third, the phrase from Mark 7:27, "Let the children first be filled," became shockingly, "Let them be killed."

RALEIGH BUZZING ABOUT BOMB SHELTER

ABUZZ . . . It is doubtful that you have seen anything about it before now. But deep in the bowels of the multi-million-dollar, multi-story State Office Building going up now next to the Legislative Building here is a bomb shelter like no other in existence in this section of the county.

Word of the carefully planned sub-basement has leaked out to State employees working near the State Office Building; and they are all abuzz about it.

Since late last fall this boom shelter has been one of the choice bits of gossip for coffee break conversations.

STATE COUNCIL . . . Although Civil Defense people began urging North Carolina to do something many, many years ago to protect our State in the event of bomb attack, this is the first project of a concrete nature—to use a pun—that we have attempted to protect our Governor and members of the Council of State.

WATER . . . When they began digging for the gargantuan State Office Building last year, it was easy to see this was not to be just another pile of brick and concrete. They dug and they dug. This started talk that ALL of the building was going to be underground. There were oh's and ah's and solemn I-told-you-so nods. Blessed with good weather, excavation — deeper and deeper—continued steadily day after day.

But the well-digging created the cost excitement, according to one of our State employee reporters.

Although Raleigh, like most North Carolina cities, within the past two decades has had its water troubles, there seems to be plenty to go around.

Then, why the well?

OWN SUPPLY . . . At one time in the fall—when a vagrant rain chance to stumble through here—Raleigh had the biggest mudhole in North Carolina.

There were whispers for a day that an ever-flowing artesian well had been dug. However, the reverse was true. The well-diggers, as a matter of hard fact, had trouble finding water. The story now is that they had to go down three or four times before getting the supply regarded as necessary. They haven't said how deep they went.

And, of course, the reason this building has its own well is that it wants to be self-sufficient in the event a bomb, or bombs, disrupt the regular city water supply.

DO YOU RATE? . . . If Raleigh should be bombed, who will be permitted to use the bomb shelter deep in the earth beneath the State Office Building?

In normal times, the area will house—the headquarters for—the State Operation Control Center. In the event of attack, North Carolina's nerve center in civil defense will be here.

This Control Center will care for 300 people—including the Governor, staff, etc., and key people from 27 other State agencies.

Our Civil Defense offices, which have been housed here, there, and everywhere space could be found, will at least have a permanent home.

THREE WEEKS . . . Name what you might need to escape radioactive fallout similar to that found in a section of Spain last week. The State Bomb Shelter will have it.

A food supply to feed 300 people for three weeks will be stored in the sub-basement.

Nobody seems to know for sure—or will say with certainty—what this North Carolina Nerve Center is costing.

We have learned on good authority that the Federal Government is underwriting its cost up to $500,000. The remainder will come from the State.

NATIONWIDE CONTRACT . . . If all of Wake County—and this is entirely possible, in fact probable in case of attack—should be wiped off the map by a hydrogen bomb, our N. C. Nerve Center has facilities for contact with similar shelters as far away as California. Instant contact.

All underground. This comes from a reliable source.

The entire facilities will be occupied and in operation by January 1, 1967—or about 11 months from now.

EVERYBODY . . . How has all this come about—and why the secrecy? The word we get is that the project is a skillful blending of fine cooperative efforts of State and Federal Governments. Bell Telephone Co., the power companies, and key officials of various agencies.

There has been no special effort to keep it a secret. On the other hand no news releases have been prepared on it.

Information is that 56 other centers like North Carolina's are on the way toward completion throughout the continental United States. This may be denied, but check on it if you doubt it—the City of Durham has, or will soon have, an underground shelter which will bed and feed 160,000 people (Durham County's population is 120,000). Believe it or not.

60 Second Sermon

By FRED DODGE

TEXT: "He who does not seek enemies is his own enemy." — Unknown.

A New York tenderfoot on his first camping trip in the west asked a cowboy what would happen if a rattlesnake bit him on the arm.

"Don't worry, son," replied the cowboy, "one of your friends will just cut open the fang holes and suck out the poison."

"What happens if I get bit on the leg?"

"Same thing, son."

"Suppose I should sit on one of them?"

"Son," said the cowboy, "that's when you'll find out who your real friends are."

Much is said and written about friends and friendships. Because friends are so important to each of us, a few words of emphasis can be added.

It is important to remember that friends do not happen. They are made. Friends must be cultivated like flowers in a garden. They grow when they are well tended. They wither and die when they are neglected.

If we consider how little of our lives we spend in cultivating friendships, we may well wonder why we have any. We don't deserve many.

Friendships are invaluable to our social and business lives and especially during our later years. Never let old friendships die and never stop reaching out to create new ones.

Uncle Dave From Davie Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

The fellers at the country store Saturday night was claiming the newspapers was getting 1966 off to a fast start. Ed Doolittle allowed as how all a feller had to do add to his knowledge and subtract from his peace of mind was to read the fine print.

For instant, said Ed, he had just saw where it cost $3 million to publish in the Congressional Record the speeches from our elected representatives in the last session of the Congress. Ed announced he would like to quote Winston Churchill in this matter and say never has so many words been spoke and said so little and cost so much.

Zeke Grubb reported he had saw where a Washington column writer come out the other day with the official figgers on foreign aid since we started out in 1945 to save the world. They showed France had got more than any other country. On earth, 9 billion dollars in the 10 year following World War II. Zeke was of the opinion all we was getting in return was more and more of General De Gall.

Clem Webster said he wasn't worried too much about General De Gall, that Father Time would eventually take care of this problem. But Clem reported he was getting mighty upset over the long-time effect of them crazy new Paris fashions they was sending to this country. According to Clem, men from Paris was coming over here wearing lace skirts, toting pocketbooks under their arms like the wimmen folks, oiled up with sweet smelling perfumes, and some of them was even getting what the wimmen call a "permanent wave" in their hair. He reported he had saw this in Time Magazine.

Personal Mister Editor, this was the first notice I've had that Clem was reading Time Magazine and I pushed him up a notch on my status stick. But I agree with Clem that ruining American manhood is worse than waiting for General De Gall to pass on to his heavenly reward. I can recollect after the first World War when our boys come home from France wearing them new-fangled wrist watches. And you know what that done for American manhood. Today you can't find a pair of pants with a watch pocket. And, come to think about it, I ain't saw a pocket watch in a store window in several year.

Bug Hookum closed out the session Saturday night on a happy note. He reported they was a piece in the papers about them making a mistake and installing new door handles upside down on a Atlanta post office. He said he wasn't too shore it was a mistake, that them Government carpenters probable would git double time fer going back and fixing 'em right side up.

Yours truly,
Uncle Dave

SENATOR SAM ERVIN SAYS:

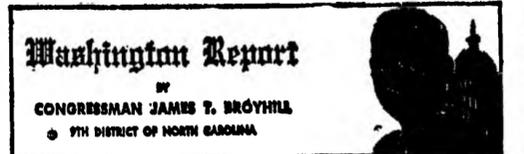

WASHINGTON — Barring a dramatic change in the next few weeks, Congress will take a closer look at most of the legislation proposed in this year's State of the Union Message than has been true in recent sessions. Many of the President's proposals are highly controversial. The enthusiasm that preceded the passage of last year's reforms is not as evident this session.

The proposal to repeal Section 14 (b) of the Taft-Hartley Act is a case in point. Opposition will be vigorous and sustained. The cherished principle, freedom of choice, has grassroots support, and those of us who fought against repeal of right-to-work laws see no room for compromise.

Tax legislation always poses difficult decisions, and the War in Vietnam and emphasis on domestic spending at the same time have already focused attention on taxes. Changes in the tax structure would bring on debate and could have a bearing on the outcome of the domestic program.

Another battle may come over a Constitutional Amendment proposal to express Congressional views on appointment of State legislators. The Supreme Court decision propounding the "one-man, one-vote theory" has brought problems to virtually all areas of the country. Senator Dirksen has said he will renew his fight in behalf of his apportionment Amendment. In a session devoted to controversial proposals, a reapportionment battle could affect other measures.

JUDICIAL REVIEW BILL — The question of whether or not a taxpayer should be able to require judicial review of church-state issues involved in Federal education programs approved by Congress will get Senate hearings next month. Pending before the Subcommittee on Constitutional Rights is S. 2097, which I have cosponsored, to permit Federal taxpayers to seek judicial

FOUR-YEAR TERM

The loudest applause during the State of the Union Address came when the President unexpectedly called for a Constitutional amendment to provide a four-year term for members of the House of Representatives. "Today," Mr. Johnson said, "the work of government is far more complex than in our early years, requiring more time to master the technical tasks of legislation." While this idea is not new, it is the first time it has had the weight of Presidential prestige behind it.

In quick succession, came a more detailed message from the White House urging that Congress start work on the four-year term amendment. However, the applause has died out and more analytical thinking is replacing it.

There is no doubt that a four-year term would be a great convenience for Congressmen. They would have a longer time in their first term to develop and demonstrate their ability to learn the details that are useful in serving the people of their districts. They would also be able to delay thoughts of another political campaign. Nevertheless, if we look at what is best for the country, some interesting observations can be made.

To assure a system of checks and balances, our Constitution wisely provided varying tenures of office for Federal officials. An independent judiciary is largely based upon life-time appointments for judges. The only two elected officers in the Executive Branch, the President and the Vice President, serve for four years. Relative continuity and balance are achieved in the Legislative Branch through six-year terms for Senators and two-year terms for Congressmen.

Our Founding Fathers provided the shortest term of office for the legislative body they intended to be closest to the people. It was to the House of Representatives that they gave exclusive power over the nation's purse strings, the sole power of impeachment, and the power to choose a President in the event a candidate fails to receive a majority of the electoral votes. Part of the greatest sensitivity of the House of Representatives to public opinion stems directly from the fact that its members must return to the people every two years to account for their service.

Issues coming before the House or a national administration cannot be anticipated in advance. While European democracies can change their governments by parliamentary votes of "no confidence," the principal means of expressing dissatisfaction with our national government comes through the "off-year" elections of 435 Congressmen and one-third of the members of the Senate.

Even though, as the President argues and legislative problems are more complex today, it is equally true that changes of popular opinion and the mood of the nation are far more rapid because of instantaneous communication of news events which shape our thinking. This makes it more imperative that nothing decrease the responsiveness of the House.

A most serious argument also centers around the decrease in the independence of the House if terms of office were concurrent with the terms of the President. Certainly, this would increase the leverage a President would exercise over the Congress. We would, in fact, have a "coat-tail" situation written into the Constitution with Congressmen tied more directly to White House programs than is normally the case today.

As the debate on this issue begins, there is little indication that it will become a partisan political argument. Members of both political parties are obviously divided as they define what the House of Representatives is and what it ought to be.

The President has called for "swift action" on this change. In my mind, swift action is not essential if, in our haste, we upset the careful balance of our Federal system. Any change we make should give this factor the most meticulous consideration. The odds seem favorable at this time that prudence will not be tossed overboard.

SO THIS IS NEW YORK

By NORTH CALLAHAN

From blackout to walk-out, in the words of modern slang, this city has had it. Its 44-year-old mayor, John Lindsay has aged in his bitter trial by fire during his first days in office. Although in the opinion of most people, he has come through the traffic crisis rather well, a few more such strikes and he would doubtless join union leaders in the hospital. A cynical New Yorker remarked that the new mayor promised to get the city moving again—and he did—on foot. He found a way to stop crime on the subways—no subway were running. And in a restaurant at the end of the strike, I saw a sign which read: "Special today, Quill cocktail—Manhattan on the rocks!"

A young mother was trying to use persuasive logic to break her young son of thumb-sucking. She asked him if his thumb tasted good. He shook his head. Then she wondered out loud if the thumb was good to chew it. Again he replied in the negative. So she climaxed her questions by asking what was good about sucking his thumb. He thought for a moment. "Well," he said, "it's non-fattening."

Theodore Roosevelt was a brave man and at times an advocate of war to protect this country, but when his son, Quentin, was killed in World War I, the former President was greatly saddened and never again urged such combat. It happened to be sitting beside a veteran of that war, Augustus Smith, who served with the young Roosevelt at Ypres in 1918. "He was a nice young man," Smith commented. "And when his plane was lost, it was my sad duty to notify his father of the death of his son."

A street in Prestonsburg Kentucky has been named after a former governor of the state, Bert Combs. But a new street sign appeared on it as "Bert Combs Drive." Commenting on the incident, Mr. Combs said, "I've been misquoted, misled, misjudged and misused. I might as well be misspelled too."

Dag Hammarskjold never had a home in the ordinary sense of the word, says an old friend, Sven Stolpe, in a new book published by Scribners. Although he was very successful, all his life he remained a restless man, according to the author. "It was as if for all his intelligence, loyalty and comradeship, he was living somehow alongside life." Perhaps so. But Hammarskjold left a rich legacy of unshaken belief in God in a world where all too many skeptics doubt His presence. Ironically, with the passing of the prime minister of that country, there is a book in the Dag Hammarskjold Library at the United Nations, containing 1,000 pages and entitled, "India at a Glance."
