Lt. Gov. Scott Speaks To 4,000 At D.E.M.C. Meet

An estimated 4,000 persons heard Lt. Gov. Robert W. Scott deliver the featured address at the 29th Annual Meeting of the Davie Electric Membership Association held last Saturday at the Masonic Picnic grounds.

In his address, Scott was strongly critical of "open defiance of established law and listed the willful burning of draft cards, looting, fire bombing, property destruction, intimidation of individuals and families by bombing homes and night riders as recent examples.

"It is abundantly clear we need to take stern measures to deal with those who knowingly and openly disregard law and order", the Lt. Governor said.

At the meeting, four directors were elected for three-year terms. They are R. L. Seaford for Davie County; Thomas N. Crawford for Iredell County; Russell O'ford for Alexander County; and Conrad Eiler for Wilkes County.

Reports were given to the membership by the secretary, Mr. Seaford; J. S. Dobson, treasurer; and J. C. Jones, manager of the corporation.

Prior to the business session, the gathering was entertained with gospel singing by "The Sons of Faith" and the awarding of more than $4,000 in prizes.

Scott's Speech
A summary of the remarks made by Lt. Gov. Robert W. Scott is as follows:
North Carolina's growth during the coming years will be unprecedented in our time. We see some of this growth around us now, as evidenced by the increase in your own business at Davie, EMC. But this is almost nothing compared to what the future will bring.

Legion Membership Drive Underway
Cooleemee Post No. 54, The American Legion, now has its 1968 membership drive underway according to an announcement by Thomas E. Vogler, Post Membership Chairman.

Three membership teams have been selected and have signed 54 members for the 1968 year to date. The team captains are W. S. Shoaf, Jr., Joe Cuthrell and Alton Holt.

The membership contest ends in November at which time the Post will hold its annual steak dinner. L. C. Dedmon, Post Commander, said the losing teams would do the cooking and serving of the dinner.

Advance Baptist To Have Homecoming
Advance Baptist Church will hold homecoming day Sunday. Lunch will be served on the ground at the noon hour.

District G. O. P. Meet
Republicans of the new Fifth District will meet Saturday, September 16, at the Forsyth County Courthouse in Winston-Salem for a convention.

John Brock, Judge of Davie County and local attorney will be a candidate for the Chairmanship of the District.

All persons interested in attending and needing transportation are asked to meet at the Davie County Courthouse by 3:30 p. m.

Dr. C. E. Rozelle Is Speaker At Rotary
Dr. C. E. Rozelle, retired Methodist minister, urged members of the Mocksville Rotary Club to be "bridge builders" at the regular meeting, Tuesday.

"Bridging the differences of mankind is certainly the noblest work of man. Bridging differences is the true way to peace and Christian living", said Dr. Rozelle.

Dr. Rozelle cited several instances in history that typified this bridging of differences.

The Rev. E. M. Avett, lifetime friend of Dr. Rozelle, introduced the speaker. John Durham had charge of the program. President John Durham presided.

Jake Walton was a special guest.

Surplus Grain Bins Are Available Here

Davie County ASCS recently received two truck loads of grain bins from Webster City, Iowa. They are stored on the lot at the rear of the Davie County Office Building and may be inspected by anyone that is interested in grain storage.

These are surplus Commodity Credit Corporation bins shipped to this area for sale to anyone who will use them in storing agriculture commodities this year.

They are Butler Bins with a capacity of 3,250 bushels, they are 18 feet in diameter and weigh approximately 3,800 pounds per bin. They have a solid floor and a small aeration unit. All nuts, bolts, and washers supplied with these bins are new.

The minimum sale price of these bins is expected to be between $450 and $500. This will be determined after transportation and handling charges have been received. They will be sold at auction, public notice will be given and all known interested persons will be notified of time and date of sale.

Loans are available to eligible producers thru the ASC office for the purchase of these bins as well as the purchase of new storage and drying equipment.

Any interested persons are urged to contact the ASCS office for further information.

Heritage Appoints C. N. Slack

C. Nathan Slack was appointed today Vice-President and Sales Manager for Heritage Furniture Company. This announcement was made jointly by C. S. Shaughnessy who is President of the Company and Fred M. Council who is slated to succeed Mr. Shaughnessy as Heritage General Manager effective December 1, 1967.

Mr. Slack has had broad experience in the furniture industry. He received a B. S. degree in wood technology from the University of Michigan in 1952. His first sales experience involved the representation of Grand Rapids Chair Company in the Rocky Mountain and Southwestern States. Subsequent to this, he became sales representative for Bernhardt Furniture Industries and then Drexel Furniture Company. From March of 1965 until joining Heritage in May of this year he served as Field Sales Manager for Drexel Furniture Company for the region consisting of Atlanta south to Miami and the periphery of the country from Miami to Seattle.

Mr. Slack and his wife, Ginny, are in the process of moving their family to High Point from Morganton, North Carolina. Sometime during September, they and their three sons, David, Robert and Daniel, will move into their residence at 800 Sunset Drive.

Surplus grain bins arrive from the Midwest. Ernest Inman, Manager of the Davie County ASCS Office, and others, watch as the first of two truckloads of these Butler Grain Bins are unloaded in back of the Davie County Office Building.

Open Meeting

There will be an 'Open Meeting' Tuesday, September 12, at Davie County Library for all people of Davie County who are interested in organizing a "Davie County Citizens For Better Libraries" group. H. B. Rogers, Executive Director of "North Carolinas For Better Libraries" will be present to help organize the local group. Anyone interested is urged to attend.

Dog Strangles Child With Chain

The 16-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rhine Thies of Jacksonville, N. C., was strangled to death August 29th as he played with the family dog in the yard of his home.

Robert Rhine Thies was pronounced dead at the Onslow Memorial Hospital at 7:45 p.m. after doctors and hospital personnel had worked with resuscitating equipment for more than an hour trying to revive him.

Onslow County Coroner Talbert Jones said the tragedy occurred at about 6:40 p. m. when the chain of the Thies' dog wrapped around the child's neck, and the dog, described as "small and playful" broke away.

Mrs. Thies, seeing what had happened, went next door for help and a neighbor called the ambulance. The ambulance had the child at the the accident took place. The coroner ruled the cause of death as accidental strangulation.

Funeral services were held August 31st at Jones Funeral Chapel, conducted by the Rev. Ira Rawls. Burial was in the Jacksonville Cemetery.

Survivors include the paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Thies of Mocksville and maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George H. Waller of Woodleaf.

Day Care Home Plans Open House

The Hansel and Gretel Day Care Home will have "Open House" Sunday, September 17.

The Home is owned and operated by Mrs. Billy Bailey and Mrs. Pete Stewart and is located 5 miles east of Mocksville on US 64.

For more information see ad in this issue.

Two Men Cut In Affray

The men were reported to be in serious condition at the Davie County Hospital after being cut Saturday night at the Wagon Wheel Dance Hall above Farmington.

Joe Tucker and Bruce McDaniel of Advance Rt. 1, were reported to have been severely sliced up by knife-wielding assailants after the two boys and a companion allegedly fired guns in the area of the dance hall.

It was reported that McDaniel and Tucker went to the dance hall early in the evening. After an argument ensued, McDaniel left and Tucker remained. McDaniel reportedly went for a companion, and the two of them returned with guns.

Several shots were allegedly fired in the direction of the dance hall when ammunition was exhausted. Two were attacked by some of the occupants of the dance hall and were cut.

Davie County law officials are investigating and filing charges in the matter.

Davie vs Albemarle In Football Opener!

The Davie High Rebels will officially open their 1967 football season on Friday night against Albemarle in a non-conference game at the Davie High field. Kickoff will be at 8 p. m.

Last Friday night Albemarle posted a 21 to 0 victory over North Stanley.

The Rebels this year are expected to be strong physically, but will be lacking in experience.

Coach Jack Ward said early this week that his starting offensive lineup Friday night would probably be as follows:

Joe Towell, 180, and Mike Chaffin, 225, both regulars last season, at the tackles.

Tommy Evans, a 185-pound senior letterman, and Fred Bailey, another letterman, at the guards.

Steve Beck at center.

Ronnie Shoaf, 165, will be at quarterback.

Henry (Hank) Ridge, 190, will be defense and Darrell Murray will Mando will handle the punting and Members of the Davie High Coaching Staff this year includes: Bill Peeler, Line Coach; and assistants Bob Henry and Burton Barger.

John Norton will kick the extra points.

"Joe Mando will play safety on defense at a linebacker position", said Coach Ward.

Mrs. Donaldson And Mrs. Dunn Report On Trip

Mrs. Ellis T. Donaldson and Mrs. Grady Dunn, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Collette of Mocksville, have returned from their trip abroad. Mrs. Donaldson is the former Jane Collette and Mrs. Dunn is the former Frances Collette.

Mrs. Donaldson and Mrs. Dunn spent one month in Paris studying at the Alliance Francaise. Mrs. Donaldson, a French teacher at the R. J. Reynolds High School in Winston-Salem, was awarded a Reynolds Tobacco Company Scholarship for this study. Mrs. Dunn accompanied her sister and also studied French at the Alliance Francaise.

The two women report that they found the schools in France quite different from those in this country.

While in Paris, they toured all the famous landmarks of the city. They went on a weekend tour to Chartres to visit the famous cathedral and spent another weekend in the Loire Valley, touring the Chateaux of Chambord, Blois, and Cheverny.

After completing their course at the Alliance, Mrs. Donaldson and Mrs. Dunn went on an extended tour of France and the bordering countries. They visited London and saw the changing of the guard at Buckingham Palace. They visited Cologne, Germany and spent one night in Heidelberg, Germany. They also spent some time in Florence, Italy touring the museum. In Rome, they visited the ancient ruins, the Colosseum, etc. From Rome they went north along the Italian and French Riviera, visiting Monaco and Nice, France.

Other highlights of their trip include the bullfight in Madrid, Spain; a gondola ride in Venice, Italy, and a trip to the top of Mt. Pilatus in Lucerne, Switzerland. They both agree that Switzerland is one of the most beautiful countries they visited.

Mrs. Donaldson and Mrs. Dunn report that they had excellent weather during their trip through Europe, although it seemed unusually hot. They found the people very friendly.

MRS. WILLIAM KAYS GARY

TOWELL-GARY WEDDING HELD IN FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

The marriage of Miss Anne Marie Towell to William Kays Gary of Charlotte took place at 4 p. m. Sunday in the First Baptist Church. Officiating at the double ring ceremony were Roger Powell, pastor of Broad Street Church of Christ in Statesville, and the Reverend Fred D. Barnes.

Wedding musicians were Mrs. Carolyn Richards, organist, and Gene Smith, soloist. The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lemuel Reid Towell, is a graduate of Presbyterian Hospital School of Nursing at Charlotte. She has been a staff nurse at Davie County Hospital and will work at Watauga County Hospital after September 10.

Mr. Gary is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Weller Kays Gary of Charlotte. He is a senior at Appalachian State University where he belongs to Alpha Phi Omega fraternity. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of ivory satin and Irish lace with a circular train attached to the empire waist. Irish lace appliques covered the front of the gown and train. Her elbow-length veil of illusion was attached to a lace-covered circle of leaves and pearls. She carried a cascade of feathered carnations and an orchid.

Mrs. Bill Potts of Advance was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Debbie Gary and Mrs. Sharon Luke, both of Charlotte; Miss Jane Towell and Miss Mary Lou Smoot.

Attendants

All of the attendants wore sea-spray gowns of peau de sole fashioned with round necklines and empire waists. Their headpieces were circular rings of matching peau de sole and illusion. They carried nosegays of pink carnations and daisies and white mums.

Anita Potts was flower girl and Reggie Potts was ring bearer. Their parents are Mr. and Mrs. Bill Potts of Advance.

The bridegroom's father was best man. Ushers were John Towell and Joe Towell, the bride's brothers; David Lee Holmes and Robert Furr of Charlotte.

After a reception at the bride's home, the newlyweds left for a trip to Ocean Drive Beach, S. C. After September 10 they will live at Boone.

Wedding Ceremony At First Methodist

Mrs. Judy York Honeycutt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. York, Jr. and Joe William Bailey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cleoro S. Bailey, Rt. 2, Advance, were united in marriage Friday, September 1st, at 8 p. m. at First Methodist Church.

Rev. Gilbert Miller performed the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Gene Smith, soloist and organist, presented a program of wedding music.

The couple entered the church together. Ushers were Wilson Merrill and A. R. York, HI, brother of the bride.

For her wedding, Mrs. Bailey wore a street length dress of yellow bonded lace. Her headpiece featured a cluster of roses matching the material of her dress and yellow net. She wore a corsage of yellow carnations.

The bride is a graduate of Davie County High School and is employed at Ingersoll-Rand Company in Mocksville. The groom attended Davie High and is employed at the Davie Electric Membership Corporation.

After a trip to the western North Carolina mountains, the couple are now at home at 641 Wilkesboro Street.

A reception was held immediately following the wedding ceremony at the couple's home on Wilkesboro Street.

MRS. WILLIAM HENRY MATTHEWS III

PHILLIPS-MATTHEWS VOWS SPOKEN AT DURHAM PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Miss Betty Jo Phillips, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Joseph Clinton Phillips of Farmington, and William Henry Matthews III of Durham, son of Mr. and Mrs. Matthews of St. Louis, Missouri, were united in marriage Saturday, September 2, in the First Presbyterian Church at Durham. The Rev. David M. Currie officiated at the 4 p. m. ceremony.

Wedding musicians were E. F. Bentel, organist, and Miss Beth Grooms, soloist who sang "The Lord's Prayer".

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an ivory shoulin imported Swiss lace gown styled with an empire bodice, elbow sleeves, and an A-line skirt with a full train. Her illusion veil was attached to a wedding ring half hat with pearl trim. She carried a cascade of white roses.

Miss Karen W. Pearce of Durham was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Brenda Joyce Briggs of Lexington, and Miss Betty Jean Spinelli of Durham.

All of the attendants wore identical gowns of hot pink shoulin made with A-line skirts, elbow sleeves of Swiss lace, round necklines and empire bodices. The honor attendant carried a cascade of pink and white roses and baby's breath, shaded pink roses and baby's breath.

The bridegroom's father was best man. Ushers included Barnett Lewis of Durham, and Lt. Malcolm Melver of Richmond, Virginia.

Mrs. Matthew is a graduate of North Carolina Baptist Hospital School of Nursing. She is employed as a psychiatric nurse at Duke Medical Center.

Mr. Matthews, a Davidson College graduate, is a graduate student in physiology at Duke University at Durham.

Leary - McGriff

Vows Are Spoken

Anastasia Arnold McGriff and Stephen Phillips Leary were married at 11 a.m. Friday.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cleve Wilson McGriff of 2122 Roswell Ave. Charlotte. Steve is the son of Mrs. Agnes Sanford Leary of Mocksville, where the bridal couple will live. His father is Peter Leary III of Washington, D. C.

They were married in the Presbyterian Hospital Chapel with only the immediate families attending. Rev. Thom Blair officiated. The wedding was to have been in Christ Episcopal Church, but was changed to the hospital, because Steve had been injured in a recent auto accident.

Health Tips

FROM THE American Medical Association

That plump, healthy, happy youngster may grow up to be a fat, unhealthy, unhappy older child, and later into a fat adult who is prey to all of the physical ailments that are a part of obesity.

Faulty eating habits started in early childhood often are the cause of overweight adults in later life says Today's Health, the magazine of the American Medical Association.

All too many mothers, with the best of intentions, nag their small fry into eating more than they want to eat. The healthy, fat baby who remains chubby as he grows into pre-school and first grade years becomes less attractive as an individual. And the habit of eating more calories than necessary is likely to remain the rest of his life.

The parent is not the one to decide whether the child should lose weight, how he should lose it, or whether he should continue to remain "pleasingly plump," says Today's Health. The doctor should be consulted.

If it fits your doctor's counsel, here are some tips to help your youngster lose weight—

*Weigh once a week and keep track of the weight. Use the same scale and wear approximately the same clothing.

*It isn't necessary to cut out all desserts and snacks, as long as their calorie count is included in the daily total. Fresh fruits are good for snacks.

*Keep a supply of raw carrots, radishes, celery sticks and pickles for more snacking. Tomato juice or clear bouillon can serve for drinks.

Cut out rich salad dressings; instead use vinegar and lemon juice.

*Trim fat from meat, take it easy on the butter, substitute skim milk for whole milk. But be sure to get sufficient Vitamin A from fruits and vegetables.

The most important factor in helping the obese child to reduce poundage is to handle it naturally. Don't make a point of telling the child he is on a reducing diet. Just serve the meals naturally and as a matter of course. Avoid nagging the child about his diet. It will only make him rebellious and more inclined to snack on the sly.

John Parker Is Promoted

JOHN PARKER

John Parker, former Davie County High pitching star, who established a Spartanburg mound record in the Western Carolinas League this season, has been promoted to Portsmouth of the Carolina League.

Parker, who compiled a 17-3 record for Spartanburg's pennant-winners, joined the Portsmouth club yesterday. He will probably complete the season with the Virginians.

The six-five, 195-pound righthander set a Spartanburg record with his 17 victories. It was the most wins ever recorded by a Phillie hurler.

Parker enjoyed a remarkable campaign. He rolled up 14 straight wins before he suffered a setback. While at reserve Army training, he came back to pitch a game and lost it. He suffered another defeat later in the campaign.

Greenville claimed two of the wins over him and Gastonia got the other decision.

Parker finished the year with a sparkling 1.74 earned run average. It was his second year in professional baseball.

Parker was signed by the Phils after he completed his career at Davie County High and was assigned to Huron, S. D., for a month and half. He worked out with the major league team in Spring training and was placed on the Spartanburg roster.

The former Rebel ace displayed pin-point control and poise during the season for a 28-year-old. He throws a wicked curve ball.

Philadelphia officials rated Parker one of their finest prospects in their farm system. He hopes to play Winter baseball in Florida. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Grimes Parker of 26 Ervin Street, Cooleemee.

A pickup truck was damaged an estimated $180 in a wreck on the Jericho Road last Saturday around 2:30 p. m.

State Highway Patrolman Bill White said that his investigation disclosed that the accident happened as follows:

Edwin Lynn Walker, 19, of Mocksville Rt. 2, was operating the pickup. Dwight Clinton Wilson, 58, of Mocksville Rt. 4, was operating a 1961 Chevrolet. Wilson pulled from a private drive into Jericho Road in front of the pickup being driven by Walker, who swerved to the left to avoid a collision, went into the left side ditch and overturned.

There were no injuries. Wilson was charged with failure to see intended movement could be made safely.

The Bread of Life

Our doors are always open to the public for worship, and we take this opportunity to invite you to visit with the Jericho and North Main Street Churches of Christ at any of our worship services.

The Gospel according to John tells us that Christ "... came unto his own, and his own received him not." (John 1:11) When our Saviour was upon the earth the Jews, who were Jesus' own people, would not accept him as the Messiah. Of all the people on earth, the Jews had more reason to accept Jesus than any other nation. They had the Old Law which gave over three hundred prophecies concerning the life of the Messiah; where he would be born, what he would teach, how he would save mankind from sin, and even how he would die! Yet, the Jews crucified their Lord and Master.

We look back over the pages of Scripture and history and highly condemn those who were so foolish as to crucify their only hope of salvation, but how many times over have we crucified the Lord!

The world is full of men and women who are daily outgiving

Christ on the cross, when we have the same opportunity of reading and understanding the Scripture as the Jews of old. We criticize other's foolish actions when we ourselves are in the same precarious situation!

Many will read the Bible and many are able to quote its carefully chosen phrases, but few attempt to obey!

When we neglect obedience we are automatically neglecting salvation. Paul writes in Hebrews 2:13, "Therefore we ought to give the more earnest heed to the things which we have heard, lest at any time we should let them slip. How shall we escape, if we neglect so great salvation; which at first began to be spoken by the Lord, and was confirmed unto us by them that heard him; . . ."

We are often guilty of neglecting Jesus and his commands, consequently overlooking salvation.

Are you as guilty as those Jews who crucified the Lord? If you disregard the Master's admonition, you stand convicted!

Tattle-Tales

By Gordon Tomlinson

Mrs. Harry Heldberg missed getting her milk several mornings. One morning last week she saw the milk man making his rounds on Wandering Lane, but a little later when she went to the door, there was no milk.

She called Gene Seats and inquired as to why there was not milk being left at her home. Gene checked and found out that cartons of milk were left that morning. He carried more to the Heldberg residence and decided to look around the back. Back in the wooded area behind the house several milk cartons were found, indicating that they had been carried off and disposed of by dogs.

The Rev. E. M. Avett, speaking of the woes of retirement, quipped:

"After you are retired, you never get a vacation . . . how can you take a vacation from doing nothing?"

"And the worst thing about doing nothing . . . is that you never get it done!"

Mr. Avett said that another thing he couldn't understand was that now he was getting paid more not to preach than he used to get to preach!

Dr. and Mrs. Victor L. Andrews and Dr. and Mrs. James Andrews spent the Labor Day weekend vacationing at High Meadows. Their plan was to sleep late on Monday morning, and leisurely journey home Monday afternoon.

Being afraid they might oversleep, Dr. James Andrews got his alarm clock just to be sure.

It was early Monday morning that he called his brother's room all excited.

"We've got to hurry and get away. It's almost noon," Jim told a sleepy Vic.

"What do you mean noon," growled Vic. "My watch says 7:30!"

And that was the time it was. Jim had forgotten to set the alarm clock.

And another clock story.

Duke Sheek's clock got broken and Duke attempted to get along without one. She used her neighbor's lights as her signal that it was time to get up in the morning. When she saw these lights on, she would get up, turn on her radio, and get breakfast and get ready for work.

One night recently Duke got sleepy earlier than usual and went to bed before dark. Awakening later, she saw the lights on at the neighbors, so up she jumps . . . cooks breakfast . . . gets ready for work. In fact she was rushing so that she didn't turn on her radio until she began to worry because it was not getting lighter outside.

Turning on the radio she soon got the news: 11 o'clock.

So Duke . . . having already eaten breakfast . . . already dressed and ready for work . . . went back to bed . . . and this time when she did get back to sleep . . . she overslept.

The first thing that she did on the following day was to purchase herself a new clock.

"I don't want to go through that again," she said.

James A. Graham, Commissioner of Agriculture, was present Saturday at the annual Davie Electric Membership Cooperation meeting. He was in Rowan County visiting his father and decided to come over and hear Lt. Gov. Bob Scott speak at the meeting.

Local officials were trying to estimate the number of persons attending the meeting. Some said 4000, and some said 5000. Hearing this, Mr. Graham said, "Oh, just say I was the 5000th member."

Allen Reunion

The Allen reunion will be held Sunday, September 10, at the Mocksville Rotary Hut. Friends and relatives of the family of the late Thomas and Martha L. Starr Allen, are invited to attend.

One of every six adults in the U.S. has been a 4-H member, claims the Cooperative Extension Service. At the present time the total 4-H Alumni in 50 states is some 26 million men and women. Their influence in community, state and nation is often noteworthy and merits special attention. One such way is through the 4-H Alumni Recognition program, now in its 15th year.

Men and women from all walks of life are nominated by friends and relatives for alumni honors including awards provided annually by the program sponsor, Olin Mathieson Chemical Corporation.

Among prominent people who have received the 4-H alumni gold key—the highest award—are educators, businessmen, statesmen, farmers, entertainers, clergymen and an astronaut.

They include Edd H. Bailey, president of Union Pacific Railroad; Mary Merryfield, a syndicated newspaper columnist; Astronaut Alan B. Shepard Jr.; Roy Rogers, movie and television star; Mrs. Dexter G. Arnold, past president of General Federation of Women's Clubs; Robert Simpkins, prominent New Jersey farmer; J. Earl Coke, recently retired vice president, Bank of America, and Dr. George W. Beadle, president, University of Chicago.

Local Graduates At Forsyth Tech

Among the 228 students at Forsyth Technical Institute in Winston-Salem receiving degrees and diplomas Friday night, September 1, at the institute's graduation exercise in R. J. Reynolds School Auditorium in Winston-Salem were several local county residents.

Holland Chaffin, Depot Street, Mocksville, received a diploma in T. V. Repair, color and black and white, and transistor; Mrs. Helen Glnther, 620 Gwyn Street, Practical Nursing; Gerald Riddle of Farmington Community; and Mrs. Helen Carpenter, Baltimore Road.

Mrs. Glnther and Mr. Chaffin were 2 of 11 that were graduated with high honors.

Mr. Chaffin plans to be in the service business in Mocksville the end of the month. Also, he plans to have recall sales in radio and TV. Announcement will be made by ads later in this newspaper.

Bill East, city editor of the Sentinel, spoke, Ernest B. Parry, institute president, presided, and Henry F. Snyder, chairman of the board, presented 83 Associate of Applied Science degrees and 145 trade diplomas.

Ten degrees were awarded with high honors and 14 with honors. Eleven diplomas were awarded with high honors and 44 with honors.

MORE ABOUT Lt. Gov. Scott

Already in North Carolina we are caught up in the tide of change. We see differences in our schools, our roads, our economy and, indeed, our whole way of living. It is apparent we are uprooting old cultural patterns and old ways of doing things. I believe we can expect these changes to be even more pronounced in the years ahead.

Whenever there is a period of change, there is a corresponding need for wise and sound leadership, because change often times brings uncertainty and unrest.

That is why the coming years will demand the best leadership available — leadership to chart the course, to give guidance and direction, to make sure that the changes are constructive and for the betterment of the majority.

Many of the things that daily affect our lives — our family life and our community life — are the result of decisions made by people in government. Schools, health and welfare programs, roads, recreational opportunities, water use and taxes — all these and more are the result of government policy and policy is made by people in government.

Therefore, the need for able leadership in government has never been greater. We want our government to be both responsible and responsive to the needs of our people. In order for our government to be this way, our leaders at all levels of government must also meet these requirements.

When we look around and see open defiance of established law — the willful burning of draft cards, looting, ing, fire-bombing, property destruction, intimidation of individuals and families by bombing homes and night riders — it is abundantly clear we need to take stern measures to deal with those who knowingly and openly disregard law and order.

We must build — not tear down — public confidence of our form of government.

We must strengthen — not weaken — law and order.

We must insist that our government shall be of laws rather than of men.

To do otherwise would seriously undermine and weaken the very foundations of the democratic process.

To follow any other course is to invite gradual deterioration and final destruction of the principles upon which this nation was founded. These are serious matters that concern you and I as citizens of a free land and a proud state. We need to think deeply about these things.

To chart the course of government so that it will merit the trust and confidence of our people . . .

To give wise counsel during this period of change . . .

To give strong leadership to constructive progress for North Carolina . . .

These things will require the help of many people.

I can't do the job alone. Neither can you. It takes a lot of willing minds, a lot of willing hands and, perhaps most of all, a lot of willing attitudes.

Since it takes everybody working together, than I say "Let's join hands and get on with the job."

Someday, you may be able to run your total-electric home and keep an eye on your youngsters by fingertip control

As far as we know, the amazing device you see above hasn't been developed as yet.

But it wouldn't be surprising if something like it were in the works. In this modern age of ours, only a short step separates the dreams of the moment from the realities of tomorrow.

One thing is certain, however. Whatever electrical wonders come your way, there'll be plenty of low-priced electricity to help you enjoy them.

Duke Power and more than 300 other investor-owned electric light and power companies across the nation are seeing to that right now. We're searching for better, more efficient ways to produce and deliver more and more electricity.

For example, Duke Power is now investing hundreds of thousands of dollars in research on improvements in nuclear electric power. And we have many more research and development projects in progress—all pointed toward keeping America amply supplied with dependable, low-priced electric service.

So let your imagination roam. Duke Power will be ready to power your wonderful new world of the future—with all the electricity you'll need.

Driving License Stand-Ins

State Motor Vehicles Commissioner A. Pilston Godwin, Jr., said Monday that driver license examiners throughout the state have been alerted for possible fraudulent license applications.

The alert stems from the arrest and conviction in Statesville last July of a Negro man on charges of obtaining several licenses for various persons unable to pass State examinations.

Convicted of the charges was James Allen Woodbury of Statesville. Officers said he used social security cards and registration cards of eight different negroes, to obtain licenses. He charged $25.00 per license. Woodbury's own drivers' license had been revoked prior to the time he obtained the new licenses.

Trial Judge Fred Hedricks termed the operation the "most flagrant" to come before him in some time.

Woodbury received a two-year sentence. Each of the eight for whom the licenses were obtained was fined $50.00 and court costs.

Godwin praised the quick work of Rowan County license examiner, Jack Bradshaw, and motor vehicle inspector, W. J. Nichols in uncovering these operations. He urged continued vigilance by examiners and the public to help uncover similar operations in the state.

The Dirty Furnace Racket

Your furnace equipment represents an expensive investment. It makes good sense to have it inspected, cleaned and repaired at regular intervals by a responsible firm. Most prudent householders choose this season of the year, while their heating equipment is not in use, to make a check.

There are many reputable firms who will clean and repair your furnace satisfactorily. Unfortunately, there are also a few who use the "we will clean and repair your furnace" approach merely as a pretext to sell you a new furnace by fear and/or high pressure.

In a typical version of the racket, the unscrupulous repairman will ring the homemaker's doorbell—frequently during the daytime when the man of the house is away—and state that he "just happens" to be in the neighborhood because he has just completed another job nearby. He is willing, he says, to make a complete inspection of the furnace with absolutely no obligation on the part of the home owner. Once he secures access to the basement, he dismantles the entire furnace and then states that it is in an extremely dangerous condition and is unrepairable. By the use of such 'scare' tactics the gyps frequently succeed in getting the home owner to sign a contract.

In some instances, gyp furnace repairmen pose as "official inspectors" or representatives of governmental or civic groups in order to gain access to the house. Given a chance to dismantle the furnace, they declare it is unsafe and cannot be repaired.

Complaints show that elderly people are the special prey of this racket because they are easy to frighten and pressure into signing a contract right now. Relatives and neighbors of old folks can be helpful by cautioning them about this scheme.

It may be true that your furnace is in need of some repairs - BUT DO NOT BE RUSHED INTO A DECISION without observing the following safeguards:

1. Shop around-get two or three estimates.
2. Don't sign any contract until you have read and understood it thoroughly.
3. If the installation requires alterations on your home, be sure a permit is obtained (if required) for all the work, and that the work has been satisfactorily done before you sign a completion certificate.

10,000 Navy Men Form Human "Living Flag"

Seaman Recruit Robert W. Cornatzer, 18, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clinton C. Cornatzer of Route Two, Advance, N. C., was graduated from nine weeks of Navy basic training at the Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill. His training was highlighted by participating in mid-America's "Salute to the Flag" ceremonies held at Soldier Field in Chicago. He was one of the more than 10,000 Navy men who formed a human "Living Flag" in honor of all men and women who are, or have been, in the U. S. Armed Forces. During his training he studied military subjects and lived and worked under conditions similar to those he will encounter on his first ship or at his first duty station. He also received instruction in seamanship, survival techniques, military drill and other related subjects.

Senator Sam Ervin Says:

WASHINGTON — The finances of the Federal Government have been a source of confusion and debate for years, but this year they seem to have reached the stage of great concern by many. The major question is how to avoid a Federal deficit of $29 billion, and how to cure some long standing fiscal ills that are mushrooming into a crisis.

The setting of this year's concern began when the President sent to Congress on January 24th a spending proposal of $135 billion with anticipated revenues of $125.9 billion. Revenues then were predicted upon the assumption that Congress would pass a six percent income surtax. The deficit predicted in that message was to be about $8.1 billion.

Since then, however, matters have worsened. The President has come up with new figures and has said that a ten percent surtax is needed to avoid a $29 billion deficit, and even with the enactment of a ten percent surtax, the deficit would be between $14 and $18 billion.

When the Labor Day recess began, Congress had reached no decision on the awesome problems posed by requests for new billions for non-defense spending proposals or the request for the ten percent surtax. But one thing is apparent. The country is not sold on the arguments which have been advanced so far to justify the surtax levy or the need to increase domestic program spending in the face of rising costs for the Vietnam War.

For one thing, an examination of the proposed new obligatory authority in this year's budget shows that it represents a $4.4 billion non-defense increase over the fiscal 1967 authority. A large part of this increase goes for the Departments of Housing and Urban Development and Health, Education and Welfare.

One of the large increases in this budget arises in welfare programs. This assistance would rise to $25.6 billion for fiscal 1968 up from $22 billion for fiscal 1967. Administrative costs of welfare, health, and labor programs are rising, too. Under this budget they would rise by $915 million in one year.

According to my calculation, the Federal Government could reduce its expenditures for non-defense purposes by more than the amount of the revenues anticipated from the proposed ten percent surtax. It would take courage, and it would involve a recognition that the Federal Government simply cannot bear all of the burdens of the world at one time.

Since I believe that the President and the Congress and the people should exercise courage in this respect, and that a non-recognition of the need of fiscal responsibility will prove to be a danger to the structure of our Government, I think the first order of business should be a major reduction in Federal spending. For this reason, I do not favor the proposal before the Congress to increase taxes. After all, a $7.4 billion increase in taxes will not solve a $29 billion budget deficit.

Uncle Dave From Davie Says:

From the things I have saw in the papers this week, matters were barely holding their own around the country. First off, things that was failing in Washington was arches, trade, rain, and hot air, while in the rest of the country things that was rising was taxes, prices and prayer for deliverance.

For instant, I got this item on my table from an official of the U. S. Treasury Department. He says, "The financial problems of the elderly come down essentially to a lack of income." That feller, Mister Editor, must be a deep thinker and I wouldn't be surprised none if he ain't in the top salary bracket. It makes me recollect the time a expert in the U. S. Department of Agriculture told Southern farmers the way to kill off the boll weevil was to stop growing cotton for a couple year. I reckon both of them was kin to the feller that burnt down his barn to get rid of the rats.

And speaking of the Treasury Department, you will recollect here about a year ago they announced they wasn't minting no more silver dollars on account of the cost of silver had gone in orbit. Well, I see where they was not making any more $2 bills. Silver was one thing, but the rice of paper was holding steady and the only way I can figger it out is that the $5 bill has now got the buying power of a $2 bill and they was avoiding duplication. I aim to write to my Congressman about the penny. It ain't good for nothing no more except the parking meter and sales tax. They could turn out a wood slug fer them purposes a heap cheaper.

But this feller Nasser has put the stopper in the money jug with a official announcement Egypt wasn't paying no more on her debts to any country that cut off loans to Egypt. I think I'll tell my banker I'm following international procedure and ain't paying no more on my note unless he'll renew it.

Incidental, while we was on the money subject, I see where a agency named Tax Foundation Inc., has made its annual prediction fer 1967. They say the average U. S. family will pay $3,300 in 1967 in federal, state and local taxes. I ain't got up the $300 yet so, on second thought, I better not talk to my banker about this new international banking procedure.

Well, I got my handout from the Agriculture folks this morning. They was a item in it saying, on account of the new farm wage law, we now got a half million farm laborers out of work. The small farm owner ain't pay the legal wage scale and was quitting. I reckon both the workers and owners will get hooked up with the poverty and welfare programs and make it better'n ever.

There went the rest of your $3,300, Mister Editor.

Yours truly,
Uncle Dave

In 1965, North Carolina tied with Mississippi for last place among the states in average hourly wages paid to production workers in manufacturing industries ($1.82 per hour as compared to the national average of $2.61).

News and Comment from Our Raleigh Bureau

THAT SOURCE . . . Live awhile in Washington and you become an expert on what goes on at the White House. Also, on international matters of all sorts.

However, there is a solid source of news in Washington. It may be quoted. It has excellent behind-the-door contacts. It has been correct in the past. Here, for what it may be worth to you, is this insider's report on Vietnam:

"The end of the Vietnam conflict is in sight. This does not mean in 1967, but victory will be well on its way prior to the elections in 1968. Naturally, this statement will be met with denials on the part of the White House. However . . . three years ago . . . we said that . . . by the end of 1967 there would be 600,000 U.S. armed troops in Vietnam. This was ridiculed by the Administration. But it proved true.

"There is a new war in Vietnam. U. S. is now playing Havoc with Communist morale and production. They are now using a half-million people to repair damages. North Vietnamese morale has cracked! There will be no sudden end to the fighting . . . no peace table . . . no surrender as we recognize it . . . but a gradual fading away of the enemy during the winter . . . around January-March."

THROUGH THE YEARS? . . . Jimmy Capps, one of the best radio announcers and record-players Raleigh has known, died of cancer about a month ago. He was well known here and in Durham, had record shows here and there, did special work for Miss Raleigh pagants and nice events of that nature.

One of the songs he helped make popular some five years ago told of this man who got on a bus in Boston and rode and rode—forever . . . on that city bus in Boston.

Go to the bus stations in Raleigh, Durham—perhaps elsewhere in this section—and listen to the fine voice announcing bus arrivals and departures. Excellent. No time is given. Just the words: "Please board your bus. It is now loading on Track Three. This is the bus for Wendell, Zebulon, Wilson . . . Thank you for traveling Trailways."

Jimmy Capps still lives at the Union Bus Station. Few people realize that it is a tape recording made in the spring—and played to fit the arrival and departure of busses. How long the fine voice of the late announcer will be used, nobody knows—perhaps until it, too, falls by the way somewhere out there in the future.

MOONLIGHTERS . . . Followers of the Demon Deacons of Wake Forest should hope most of their pre-season practice drills will be held under the lights at the campus.

Why? Because, of the ten games on their schedule this fall, only three are being played in the daytime. Seven night games!

State has three night games, Carolina, one. Duke, one (with Wake Forest Sept. 16). Both State and Wake have games in Houston's Astrodome.

NO NEW TAXES . . . It hasn't been announced yet, but action taken by the last Legislature is given credit for bringing at least one new industry to North Carolina.

Asked the main reason they were locating in this State, officials are supposed to have said: "Because North Carolina is one of the few states in the entire nation which actually is reducing taxes this year."

LONG WEEKEND . . . It now begins to look as if Congress will push through at this session the bill moving five holidays to a Monday, thus providing five long weekends. As has been noted here, nearly everybody is for it.

But not everybody. Marion C. Bradwell, executive director of the Lord's Day Alliance of the U. S. predicts adoption of the bill will affect Sunday School and church attendance. The Baptists' Biblical Recorder agrees with Bradwell. Weekends away from home, and the church.

They also point to increased highway deaths and injuries that usually accompany long weekends.

CLOSE . . . This college finally landed one of the best football prospects around. But he was sooo thick-headed. The coach passed the word around to the faculty members . . . Don't give him nothing difficult.

They all tried to go along. Math Man could stand it no longer, told the coach so: "I can't do a thing with him . . . not a thing."

Coach, upset, wanted to know what his boy had done wrong. The instructor said he gave him the problem: two-plus-two.

"His answer," said the teacher, "was six."

"Well, that's not so bad, Prof," moaned the coach. "He only missed it one."

POVERTY . . . It was noted the other day: Bill Shires reports that po-boy sandwiches at Wake Forest College are now labeled party poverty sandwiches.

Bill Sharpe in The State has a picture of a unique mountain store along a tourist highway. They poke fun at the Poverty Program by urging travelers on a big sign to stop by, purchase a lot of different things, and "help us poor mountain people". But the best story has this Red Cross crew finally making it through waist-deep snow to this little cabin far back in the mountains. They knock on the door, announce to the old man who opens it they are from the Red Cross. He turns to his wife: "Mother, where did you put our Red Cross contribution . . . we plumb forgot to send it in."

Washington Report

BY CONGRESSMAN JAMES T. BROYHILL

With eight months of this session of Congress gone, the Congressional Labor Day recess does not look like a "seventh inning stretch." Last January, the President urged the passage of 25 pieces of major legislation. All but four of those items are in the unfinished-business category indicating the slow pace of the session and the uncertainties that are strongly felt on Capitol Hill.

The war in Viet Nam, record deficits, and the proposed tax hike are causing a grinding of gears in official Washington as well as widespread concern throughout the country. In the uncompleted list of items are bills dealing with college aid, Social Security, Teachers Corps, aid-to-education, model cities, the poverty program, East-West Trade, wiretapping, firearms control, civil rights, Congressional reform, income tax increases, copyright revision, increased postal rates, federal pay, air pollution control, foreign aid, and educational broadcasting.

The full list would be too long to give here. However, it is sufficient to indicate that there are many weeks left in this session. Unless the Congress decides to close-up hop arbitrarily and go home with its work undone, it will still be wrestling with the nation's increasing problems in December.

In the annual appropriations legislation by which the Congress provides funds to operate government programs, four of the bills have been given final consideration in the House of Representatives, nine are still unfinished, and three are still to receive initial consideration in the House. Two of these are bills to provide money for foreign aid and the so-called Supplemental Appropriations containing funds for the poverty program. Both are certain to set off major debates and reopen strong arguments that have been raging about these issues for some time. The present mood of the Congress seems to augur rough going for both programs.

Two years ago, there were noisy disagreements in the Congress about the quantity and the quality of legislation being

Satellites & Lasers Measure Earth

The laser's incredible ruby-red eye may help cartographers measure the earth more accurately.

By bouncing a powerful beam of light off an orbiting satellite, scientists hope to pinpoint places on earth within inches. Some present calculations are believed to err by as much as 2,000 feet or more. For instance, no one knows exactly how far it is from Washington to Paris or New York to Moscow.

National Aeronautics and Space Administration and the French space agency, Centre National des Etudes Spatiales (CNES), recently began taking measurements from stations in Europe, North Africa, and the United States, the National Geographic Society says. The Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory also participates in the program under a NASA grant.

To take a reading, a laser beam is fired at a satellite equipped with quartz prism reflectors. By measuring the time it takes the light to make a round trip, it is possible to determine the distance between station and satellite.

Using this data, scientists can compute the precise distance between stations by triangulation. Heretofore, triangulation couldn't be used over the oceans because there were no fixed points. Positions of some islands still may be in error by as much as a mile, causing headaches for navigators on planes and ships.

Satellites rescue the geodesist, because they serve as fixed points even though they are traveling at thousands of miles an hour. Several stations simultaneously sending laser beams to a satellite can fix their positions at any given moment.

The term "laser" is an acronym formed by the initial letters of the instrument's function—light amplification by stimulated emission of radiation.

A synthetic ruby crystal shaped like a slender rod forms the core of the typical ruby laser. Spiraling around the rod is a powerful flashtube similar to those used in high-speed photography. In effect, the energy from the flashtube converts into a new kind of highly concentrated light.

Five years ago, a ruby laser considerably smaller than those now available shot a series of pulses at the moon—240,000 miles away. The beams illuminated a spot less than two miles in diameter and were reflected back to earth with enough strength to be measured by ultra-sensitive electronic equipment.

The fantastic directivity of the laser may prove or disprove the theory of continental drift. Some scientists believe the continents move a few inches a year. They hope that laser distance measurements, taken over a period of time, will confirm the theory.

This brightest, most powerful light known to man holds enormous promise for medicine, industry, etc.

Future lasers may illuminate the ocean depths, and carry millions of simultaneous telephone messages.

Letter To Editor

THE ECUADOR MISSION
Of the Southern Baptist Foreign Mission Board
Guayaquil Station
Castilla 3236, Guayaquil, Ecuador
August, 1967

Dear Friends:

Many of you remember riding school buses back a few years ago. Many of the buses used here in Ecuador on the rough dirt roads in some areas are the same type. Julie and I were on one a few days ago from Tenguel to Guayaquil. It was a five hour trip. The seating capacity of the bus was thirty six. We were on seats no. 33 and 34. At times it was necessary to hold on with both hands and we were still thrown clear of the seat. This was a bit of rough going . . . BUT . . . as we look back over the past six months we have so very much for which to express gratitude. One of the extra special opportunities was the preaching of the graduation sermon at the International Seminary in Cali, Columbia. We are also especially happy about the number of friends who have been able to visit us here in Ecuador this year.

We are encouraged by the interest being shown concerning the Campaign of the Americas. We are looking forward to great blessings as the Americas join hands, hearts, and prayers before God to proclaim "Christ The Only Hope."

Our new Baptist Center building is finished now and we are enjoying its facilities for office, book store, and Bible Institute space. We will begin this term with 19 students.

Our family is looking forward to getting a new English Jeep. It will be just what we need for working in the villages close to Guayaquil with Institute students in an expanded extension program.

The children are doing well, with only the normal cuts, bruises and bumps. Gwen had the stitches out of her head yesterday as the result of a fall at school. Pray for us as we look forward with great hope to the harvest which God will provide. Archie, Julie, Gwen, Archie Jr. and David

Here And There

By Mrs. Joe H. Langston

Mrs. Ray Hendrix underwent major surgery at Davie County Hospital last week. She is recuperating satisfactorily.

Douglas Brewer returned home Sunday from Davie County Hospital. He had been hospitalized because of an infection of the knee.

Three of the older people of our community remain ill and shut-in. They are Mrs. Nannie Foster at Davie Hospital, Mrs. Bernice West and Mrs. Fred White at their homes.

Clayton Foster is still at Baptist Hospital. The complete extent of injuries to his hand are still undetermined.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Riddle of New Jersey surprised Mr. and Mrs. Hank Williams with a visit on Labor Day. They were enroute to Florida for a vacation.

Labor Day was just that here, as many of the members, their families and friends began work in earnest on the educational part of Green Meadows Church. Ladies and children were seen carrying brick and block, and some were even helping install a fence. Throughout the day, different ones brought in food, drinks and hand turned ice cream. Many thanks to each and everyone!

Patsy Dull was an overnight guest of Nancy Langston, Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Smith returned to their home in Tenn. Monday after an eight day visit with relatives here.

VITAMIN D

When I was a kid, they fed me cod liver oil. I hated it. Even when the flavored variety came out later and I prescribed it, I didn't blame the kids for gagging on it.

When I went to Germany in the aftermath of World War II to help rebuild the public health structure of the country, a German doctor told me about giving cod liver oil to the children to help compensate for the drastic wartime shortage of fats.

"Have to give it to them in the dispensary," he said. "If we send the bottle home, the family uses it for frying potatoes."

I guess he saw me shudder, because he gave me the German equivalent of the "don't-be-like-that" expression, and added: "You should try them; they are delicious."

The Norse nations and other deep-sea fishermen ate the livers of the cod and other fish, and they were notable for their sturdy body structure and freedom from the bone disease rickets, commonly called rickets. Eskimos ate the whole fish, including livers.

Tropical peoples and those who lived in mild sunny localities were not prone to rickets, as were those who lived in more severe and less sunny climates. Medical research has demonstrated that the action of sunlight upon sterols (fatty substances) in the skin produces an equivalent to the cod liver oil ingredients which prevent rickets. Collectively, these are known as vitamin D. Chemically, these are known as vitamin D. Chemically, these are sterols related to cholesterol.

It is no longer necessary to give babies and children cod liver oil as such. The anti-rachitic factor has been isolated, not only from the livers of the cod, but from those of the tuna, salmon, halibut, shark and deep-sea perch. It is producible also by irradiating yeast, milk and other sources of ergosterol. For babies, vitamin D is available in the "drops" known to every mother.

Vitamin D plays an important role in bone, tooth and other body functions in which calcium and phosphorus are concerned, including the integrity of blood, muscles and nerves. It is most important during the early years of rapid growth and development, especially in the formation of a strong and properly structured skeleton and good teeth. It is also important for pregnant women and nursing mothers.

In areas where there is a normal sunny summer and not too prolonged and severe a winter, the ordinary milk supply carries enough vitamin D for adults. For children, supplementation may be medically advised.

Virtually all milk, fresh or evaporated, is now fortified to provide 400 units of vitamin D per quart. The fortification of nonfat dry milk has

Around The Old Well

By JOAN PAGE

Programs on the moon, the sun, and space probes await campus visitors prior to the traditional holiday showings of "Star of Bethlehem" at the University of North Carolina's Morehead Planetarium here this fall.

"Three to the Moon," a summer science spectacular telling the round trip story of Project Apollo from blast-off to splash down, will be presented daily through Sept. 11. The program focuses on an exciting week in the near future when man will reach the moon and return to earth.

From Sept. 12 to Oct. 16, "The Sun in Action" will be presented. This program will concentrate on the sun as the center of the earth's solar system. It will feature a discussion of what the sun is like compared to other stars and how it affects the earth.

"Probing Space" will be the program topic from Oct. 17 to Nov. 20. Viewers will get a historical look at how man has learned about space from the first telescope 400 years ago to the modern photographic giants radio telescopes, space probes and satellites.

The Yuletide showings of "Star of Bethlehem" begin Nov. 21 and will continue into the New Year. This popular program presents ideas of what "The Star" might have been and includes an appealing retelling of the Christmas story.

The entire Morehead Building is closed only two days out of each year - Dec. 24 and 25. Special 3 p. m. "holiday" programs will be given Sept. 4; Nov. 22, 23 and 24; Dec. 26, 17, 28, 29, and Jan. 1.

All public Planetarium programs are presented daily at 8:30 p.m.; on Saturdays at 11 a.m., 1, 3, 4 and 8:30 p.m.; and on Saturdays at 2, 3, 4 and 8:30 p. m.

Campus visitors also are invited to tour several free special attractions in and around the Morehead Building.

The Sundial and Rose Garden adjacent to the Morehead Building features one of the largest sundials of its type in the world in a setting of some 25 varieties of roses.

Inside the building, the Morehead Art Galleries contain a permanent exhibit of paintings by the old masters, in addition to changing exhibits by contemporary artists. Among the paintings from the Morehead collection permanently hung in the rotunda is Rembrandt's portrait of his sister.

In another section of the building, the Science Exhibits show various aspects of astronomy. A new addition to this section is the IBM display of "Mathematics and the Computer."

A favorite of most campus visitors is the Planet Room, a 35-foot diameter moving model of the sun and six planets nearest it. Time is condensed here so that a year takes only 12 minutes, while a day lasts but two seconds. This exhibit, known as the Copernican Orrey, is one of two of its kind in this country.

In addition to regularly scheduled public programs listed above, the Morehead Planetarium also offers special general and graded school programs from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m. on Wednesdays, Thursdays and Fridays. Reservations are required for all school programs.

The general school offerings will include all four of the public programs scheduled for Fall, plus a special show Sept. 5 through Dec. 15 on "Exploring the Sky."

This special show is designed to enrich studies of the constellations. The bright stars and constellations, as well as the places of the moon and planets, will all be pointed out and described. This show will be offered at noon each Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

The graded school programs will include "Mister Moon" for grades one, two and three; "All About Planets" for grades four and five; "Exploring Space" for grades six and seven; and "The Earth and the Universe" for grades eight and nine.

SCOPE OF SPORTS

By Woody Durham / WFMY-TV Sports Director

The National Football League games, the country's leading spectator and television sport attractions, will again be covered exclusively by the CBS Television Network in 1967, for the 12th straight year.

This season CBS-TV will broadcast a total of 121 NFL games, 110 of them regular season games, six post-season classics, including the NFL-AFL World Championship, and five pre-season contests, most of them in color, including 37 on Channel 2.

The regular season starts with eight games being broadcast regionally on Sunday, September 17. NFL games will be broadcast regionally on Sunday afternoons, with seven doubleheader games to be broadcast on Sunday afternoons from November through December 17. Other coast to coast television broadcasts will be presented on Monday night, October 30, two games on Thanksgiving, November 23, and single games on Sunday afternoons, December 9 and 16.

With the addition of a 16th team — the New Orleans Saints — the NFL has been realigned into four divisions, the Capitol and Century Divisions in the Eastern Conference and the Coastal and Central Divisions in the Western Conference. The members are:

Capitol Division — Dallas, New Orleans, Philadelphia and Washington.

Century Division — Cleveland, New York, Pittsburgh and St. Louis.

Coastal Division — Atlanta, Baltimore, Los Angeles and San Francisco.

Central Division — Chicago, Detroit, Green Bay and Minnesota.

This year, Capitol Divisions teams will play their inter-conference games with the Coastal Division, and Century Division with the Central Division.

Capturing the drama and excitement of the NFL games for television requires marvels of electronic logistics.

James Whitaker At Moose Convention

James T. Whitaker of Wandering Lane, a member of Mocksville Moose Lodge 1849 attended the 41st annual N. C. Moose Association Convention Aug. 24-27, at the Battery Park Hotel in Asheville, N. C.

Over 1000 Moose from the 14 Districts of the N. C. Moose Association attended this annual gathering of Moose.

Featured speakers at the convention include Elmer E. Harter of Harrisburg, Pa., past Supreme Governor; Frank Ray of Savannah, Ga., regional director; William A. Moon of Pfafftown, N. C., state director; and Cecil Webster of Burlington, N. C., Jr. Supreme Governor of the National Association of Loyal Order Of Moose.

Highlights of the Convention will include the Fellowship Breakfast and Conferral Of Degrees Saturday Morning, and the President's Banquet and Ball Saturday night.

It Pays To Advertise

Two video tape machines will also be employed at each NFL contest. One will capture isolated-camera action, and the second will record normal broadcast coverage of the game. This will provide taped first-half highlights to be shown during the half-time intermission, and second-half highlights which can be broadcast during the post-game show.

The CBS Television Network stop action, another innovation by the Network in combination with slow motion, will be used this year. This permits the director to replay instantaneously any game action, stopping and starting it at any point during the play, or showing it in slow motion.

It all adds up to another exciting season of NFL Football on CBS-TV and Channel 2.

WASHINGTON - No business or industry can afford to stand still for long if it wants to remain vigorous and healthy.

It must be constantly seeking new products, new and more efficient procedures and methods of operation and - just as importantly - new customers for its goods and services.

And if American exports open up a new source of revenue and sales for the individual businessman, farm producer, or industrialist, they at the same time provide an important part of the solution to the country's balance of payments problem.

Many enterprises in North Carolina and elsewhere in the country with products highly sought for the export market have been reluctant in times past to enter it because of what they regarded as the financial risks and uncertainties of international politics.

Others, perhaps, have been unsure of where and how to proceed in arranging the financing and credit necessary for sizeable sales to foreign customers.

Bond Sales Set New High This Year

According to what should be a well-informed source in London, the wide-spread speculation and incidents relating to a break between Russia and China all adds up to a clever smoke screen to fool the Western nations.

Betty Furness is in the news again and now that she will be opening her own refrigerator doors with a new husband.

The man in the restaurant was ordering the waitresses around, raising his voice when they seemed slow, glaring at people who looked at him in a remonstrating way and in general was making himself obnoxious.

O, I know it is September, for you hear the distant bell, ringing out across the country of the school days it would tell; see the troops of happy children laughing on their homeward way. Joyous at their tasks well rendered at the closing of the day.

Revival services are in progress at the Second Presbyterian Church and will continue through Friday, September 8. The Rev. F. B. Betts, pastor of Fairfield Baptist Church, and Fowlers Chapel Church in Lexington, is the evangelist for the week. Everyone is invited to attend.

The Rev. R. F. Jamerson, pastor of Freedom Church in Rowan county, and Allen Temple Church in Iredell county, was speaker at the 3 p. m. service Sunday, Sept. 3. He was accompanied by his choir. Dinner was served in the fellowship hall of the church preceeding the service.

The members of the Community Prayer Band celebrated its 32 anniversary Tuesday evening, September 6 at St. John A. M. E. Zion Church from 3 until 5 p. m. Supper was served in the fellowship hall following the service.

J. A. Fulmore of Greensboro was in town Saturday on business. He was accompanied by his wife, Mrs. Fulmore.

Mrs. Mary Gaither of Salisbury visited relatives and friends here Saturday.

Mrs. Mallinda Atkison is a patient at Davie County Hospital. Her many friends wish her a speedy recovery.

The Rev. and Mrs. Milton Williams and children of Buffalo, New York spent two weeks here with their parents and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Booker T. Williams. The Rev. Mr. Williams is back and will conduct a revival for his brother-in-law, the Rev. Milton White in Granite Quarry.

MORE ABOUT Washington Report

turned out at that time with assembly-line precision. So far, this Congress has not responded so readily to White House requests. It is exhibiting considerably more caution as it seems to interpret the prevailing sentiment in the country as "stop, look, and listen."

SPACE PROGRAM

Several weeks ago, legislation authorizing new and continuing projects in the Space program was discussed in this column. At that time, the House of Representatives had made major reductions in the nation's space effort. Since then, additional legislation to provide the actual funds has been brought up. In the new bill, additional cuts were made and, as a result, the appropriations legislation left the House of Representatives in considerably changed form. A total of $516 million had been lopped off the President's budget request of $5.1 billion.

So far, the nation has invested approximately $40 billion in its many-faceted space effort. It has done this at a rate of approximately $7 billion per year. A huge industrial-scientific complex has been established. "Crash programs" to push out into new space frontiers have been costly and the Congress has had some difficulty accounting for the complicated activities of the program. From now on, there will be belt-tightening in this program. The sharp paring of the space program is likely to be repeated when the foreign aid money bill reaches the Floor of the House in several weeks. In fact, as the threat of tax-increase legislation becomes more precarious, the Congress is sure to sharpen its knife. A $29 billion deficit for one year is now more than an unhappy possibility. We have a fiscal tiger by the tail. By next January, we may find that the problem is too serious for "soothing syrup" because we have failed to distinguish between things which are essential and things which are only desirable or of questionable value. It is this prospect that haunts an increasingly prudent Congress.

Stuffed Ripe Tomatoes

Wash 8 large firm tomatoes and slice off rounded bottom. Scoop out pulp. Pour 3 tablespoons of oil in a 9 x 12 baking pan, add 1/2 cup minced onion and the pulp of tomatoes. Bake this for 6 or 7 minutes in a 375 degree oven. Remove and pour this mixture into a bowl and add 3/4 lb. ground pork shoulder and 1/4 lb. ground veal, 1 1/2 tsp. salt, dash pepper, 2 tablespoons chopped parsley or green pepper. Mix together well and stuff tomatoes with mixture and return to oiled pan. Bake 25 to 30 minutes in a 375 degree oven. Remove from oven and top each tomato with the slice from bottom and bake 5 minutes longer. Makes 8 servings.

Ham Noodle Casserole

Cook one 8 oz. pkg. of noodles. Combine 1 1/2 cups chopped ham and 1 cup of grated cheese; alternate a layer of noodles and a layer of ham in 1 qt. baking dish. Pour over top, (10 1/2 oz.) can of chicken soup mixed with one half cup milk and 1 tbs. curry powder. Sprinkle a little cheese over top and dot generously with buttered. Bake 20 to 30 minutes in a 375 degree oven. Makes 6 servings.

Broccoli AuGratin

Cook 2 pkgs. of broccoli (frozen) as directed on package. Place in baking dish and add 2 cans of condensed cream of chicken soup. Sprinkle with 1/2 cup toasted bread crumbs and 1/2 cup grated sharp cheese. Get bubbling hot in oven and serve at once.

Recreational Project Is Recommended For The Clarksville Area

Davie County's first major recreational project will be recommended for the Clarksville Community.

The decision to recommend the Clarksville site was made Monday night at a meeting of the Davie County Planning Board and representatives of the Clarksville Ruritan Club.

Bill Merrell, President of the Ruritan Club, said that this organization would back the project 100%.

A public hearing on the matter will be held in the courtroom of the County Court House on Friday night at 7:30 p. m. All interested persons are urged to attend.

Andrew Lagle, chairman of the Davie County Planning Board, said that the only reason the northwest site would not be selected would be if land at the potential second site could be secured at a more reasonable price.

The Davie County Planning Board and state recreation officials visited the two proposed recreational sites on August 21st. Also on this inspection trip were representatives of the Northwest Economic Development Commissions. This commission handles applications for Appalachia funds and it is expected that federal funds will pay about 80 per cent of the total anticipated cost of the project, estimated at $700,000 to about $1 million. Around 20 per cent of the cost will have to be borne locally.

The site that is being recommended is in northwestern Davie where Liberty Church Road across Dutchman Creek. The site involves about 500 acres of which a lake would be constructed on about 200 of the acres.

The other site is about three miles east of Mocksville and just north of US 64. This project would involve about 250 acres of which a 100-acre lake would be constructed. This site has the advantages of being more centrally located for the county's population and easier to reach.

The site in Clarksville, however, has the advantage of providing a larger park and a larger reservoir. It also would probably provide better camping areas.

A disadvantage of the Clarksville site is that it would require relocating a road or constructing a bridge. Also, a large number of land owners would be involved.

J. H. Robertson, left, and Mrs. Robertson, of Bixby with their guests, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Christian, of Pitcairn Island.

Pitcairn Islanders Visit Friends In Bixby

On Sunday of this week, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Robertson, Route 2, Advance, N. C. (Bixby) had unique visitors.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas C. Christian of Pitcairn Island, South Pacific Ocean, accompanied the Robertson's daughter and her husband, the J. E. Maddox family of Johnson City, Tennessee for a day-long visit to the Winston-Salem and Davie County area.

The Christians are in the United States for a holiday, or as we know it, a vacation from their lonely speck of an island deep in the Pacific vastness, almost exactly halfway between Panama and New Zealand. While in the States, Mr. Christian has been doing promotional work for the new color movie release "MUTINY ON THE BOUNTY", presently scheduled for Television on September 24. He will also appear on "TO TELL THE TRUTH" on September 7. They are presently the guests of the Maddox family in Johnson City, Tennessee.

Mr. Christian is the great-great-grandson of Fletcher Christian, leader of the mutiny on H. M. S. Bounty, in the South Pacific in 1789. Brutally oppressed by the tyrannical Captain Bligh, Christian mutinied and those of the crew who would join him, cast Bligh adrift in a 23 foot boat, took the Bounty to Pitcairn Island, burned her in Bounty Bay, and started the settlement on that bleak island that now is inhabited by many of the direct descendants of that hardy crew of mutineers.

The official radio operator for Pitcairn, Tom Christian transmits weather reports twice daily to Rarotonga in the Cook Islands. He handles all wireless messages, to and from the island, and makes contact with all passing ships.

Although Pitcairn is isolated from the rest of the world by thousands of miles of water, it has recently begun to feel the impact of modern inventions, Tom declares. "Three motor bikes now scream over the trails of the island; a rock-crushing plant has just arrived to help surface the trails and to provide raw materials for concrete blocks; and during the past year at least four helicopters from naval ships have landed on the island.

"We are not really isolated, though," the Pitcairn spokesman pointed out. "My VRC call letters have roused ham radio operators in Siberia, Hong Kong, Jerusalem, and many other far-away places; and I communicate with thousands of hams, a number of them in the United States. In fact, we have maintained weekly short-wave schedules with J. E. Maddox over WTAJ."

Still, Pitcairn boasts no supermarkets, no hospitals (a nurse handles all emergencies), no autos. There is only one church—the Seventh-day Adventist Church, —and all supplies that come to the island must be brought from ships in the island's longboats, through the treacherous surf which crashes over the rocks of Bounty Bay.

But even without modern conveniences, the Christians report that a considerable number of non-island folk want to come and live on Pitcairn. But these have to go through a careful screening process, and practically all of them are turned down. "We have one young fellow there right now, who is on a sort of probation for six months. At the end of that time the island council will decide whether he can remain permanently. We're rather choosy with whom we share our island." Living in such close quarters as this tiny island provides, we can see good reason for the Pitcairners to be "choosy."

"I guess you'd have to say things are a little different out there," Tom admits, as he watches the streams of cars zipping along North Carolina superhighways.

Homecoming will be held at Advance Methodist Church, Sunday, September 17. The Rev. Howard Jordan, a former pastor, will be guest speaker at the morning worship service.

Dinner will be served following the service. A song service will be held in the afternoon.

Benny Bunch At School Of Arts

Ernest Davis (Benny) Bunch, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Bunch of Duke Street, Mocksville is among the students arriving this week for orientation at the North Carolina School of the Arts. Three hundred and forty will be enrolled. There are 85 dance majors, 80 drama majors and 175 music majors.

The North Carolina School of the Arts opened in September 1965 with 215 students enrolled. Last year's enrollment was 260.

The School of the Arts was established by Act of the 1963 North Carolina Legislature, and it is the South's only center for training professional talent in dance, drama, and music under one roof. It is the first state-established and state-supported school for the performing arts in the country. Addition are given as entrance examinations before juries of faculty members, who have the responsibility of selecting their students from the applicants.

Primary emphasis at the School of the Arts is on thorough professional training in the arts, combined with an intensive academic curriculum. The programs lead to high school and maturity diploma and, at the college level, to the Bachelor of Music degree and the Bachelor of Fine Arts degree for dance and drama students.

Advance Plans Homecoming Sunday

Auto Mechanics Now Being Taught At Davie

Between 60 and 70 students are now enrolled in the auto mechanics course being taught for the first time this year at the Davie County High School.

This and some of the other vocational courses being offered at the local high school were discussed for members of the Mocksville Rotary Club, Tuesday.

John L. Walker, instructor in the auto mechanics course, pointed out that the course stressed basic auto mechanics, use and care of tools, maintenance of machinery and equipment. There is both classroom work and shop practice.

D. J. Mando discussed the Distributive Education course which he heads. He pointed out the practical experience gained by the student in being able to work in a trade in which he may have future interest.

E. C. Tatum discussed vocational agriculture, pointing out the various changes that had been made in this field in recent years.

"Our courses now include a study of the various agricultural occupations and businesses, the science of growth, both plant and animal; classes in maintenance and use of farm machinery and equipment," said Mr. Tatum. "In addition this year we are offering a forestry course and a course in ornamental horticulture."

Wayne Eaton had charge of the program. James Everidge, Davie School Superintendent, discussed the need for vocational courses and introduced the speakers.

Hilary Arnold was inducted into the club as a new member by Graham Madison. President Roy W. Collette presided.

Special guests included Guy Stevenson of Hickory; Bill Blackmon of Erwin Mills who will soon be a resident of Mocksville.

Mocksville Masons To Meet Friday Night

The Mocksville Masonic Lodge No. 134 will meet Friday night at 8 p. m. with work in the first degree.

C. C. Craven, Master, urges all members to be present.

Chrysler-Plymouth Agency To Hold Their Annual Fall Jamboree

The annual jamboree of the Mocksville Chrysler-Plymouth, Inc. will take place this week in conjunction with the official showing of the 1968 line of Chrysler and Plymouth cars.

Duke Wooten, President and General Manager, announced plans for a gala occasion on Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Wall Arfon's "smoky" the Baracuda, which holds the drag strip record at Sportsmen Park, Farmington at 221.78 miles-per-hour will be on display at the Mocksville Chrysler-Plymouth agency on Wilkesboro Street all three days this week. Fred Sibley, who will drive this car in the featured race at Sportsmen Park on Sunday of this week, will also be present.

On Thursday afternoon and evening, David Minor will present special music at the organ. On Friday, "The Cell Mates", a combo from Yadkinville will present entertainment in the afternoon and evening. On Saturday afternoon, music will be furnished by Clyde Lakey and his band, and Saturday evening will be topped off by a big square dance. In addition, refreshments will be served and door prizes awarded.

The Mocksville Chrysler-Plymouth has recently completed a renovation of their building and adding new office space and customer lounge, in addition to other automotive service facilities.

Invitation

The public is cordially invited to attend a reception, Thursday night, September 14, from 8 until 10, in the Davie County Public Library to honor Miss Linda Easley, the new librarian.

ASC Community Nominees Listed

Ballots for the election of ASC community committees for Davie County will be tabulated publicly by the incumbent county committee on Friday, September 22, at the County office.

J. N. Smool, Chairman of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee has announced the following slate of nominees for the 9 communities:

North Calahain: Blum Beck, Dale Chaffin, T. Leroy Dyson, Charles Reeves, James Rucker, J. W. Smool, Odell Williams.

South Calahain: J. E. Brown, Lawrence Cartner, Arthur D. Daywall, John W. Gaither, John H. Nicholson, L. Reid Towell, Henry Walker, Holland G. Williams.

Clarksville: Edward L. Beck, Robert Beck, Jack Booe, Wade Gough, Dallas Hutchins, W. M. Langston, Alton Renegar, John Wallace.

N & S Farmington: Roy Beachamp, J. M. Bowden, Jr., Ben Ellis, Raymond Shelton, Fred Smith, Richard Walker, Charles Williams.

West Farmington: Odell A. Boger, Luther R. Howell, I. Buren Lakey, C. H. McMahan, L. Gene Miller, R. B. Nicholson, John G. Ward.

Shady Grove: Olin Barnhardt, R. Gray Hartman, Kenneth Hoots, I. Nelson Mock, Madison Peebles, Sam Talbert.

For each community where elections are held three regular committee members and two alternates will be elected. The Chairman, vice chairman, and third regular member of the elected ASC community committee will be elected to fill vacancies on the ASC county committee, and where the committee's chairman and vice-chairman will be chosen for the coming year. The alternate committee members will also serve as alternate delegates to the convention. The county convention will be held in the County Office Building on Wednesday, September 27, 1967.

The county committee supervises the ASC county office and is responsible for administering the price support, acreage diversion, agricultural conservation, and other programs in the county. The community committees assist the county committee and are particularly responsible for keeping their neighbors informed about the programs.

Generally a farm owner, tenant, or shareholder may vote in the community committee election if he is eligible to take part in one or more of the programs administered by the ASC committees. Eligibility to vote or to hold office as a committee member is not restricted by reason of race, color, creed, or national origin. Questions on eligibility to vote and hold office, or on the election procedure, will be settled by the incumbent community committee. Appeals for such decisions may be made promptly to the county committee and to the State committee.

Qualifications of may be obtained from the ASC county office.

Applicants Are Sought For Study Abroad

Applicants are now being sought by the Mocksville Rotary club for participation in a group study exchange program abroad.

The North Carolina Rotary district has been paired with a district in Israel and under the plan, six young men from Israel will spend two months in the United States in 1968 and 6 young men from North Carolina will spend two months in Israel in 1969.

Applicants must be between the ages of 25 and 35.

All expenses will be taken care of by the Rotary Club as these young men spend two months touring Israel, studying local needs and problems, participating in group discussions and in other ways seeking to better international understanding as young men of good will meet, talk and live in spirit of fellowship.

Mocksville Gets $15,031 From Powell Bill Funds

The Town of Mocksville will receive a total allocation of $15,031.45 from the State of North Carolina this year under the provisions of the Powell Bill. This represents an increase of $14.45 over last year.

State Street Aid allocations totaling almost 10-million dollars will go to qualifying cities and towns in the State this year under provisions of the Powell Bill, State Highway Commission Chairman J. M. Hunt, Jr. said.

Hunt said that 424 North Carolina towns and cities will receive proportional cash allotments amounting to $9,959,054.78. Checks will be mailed from Raleigh the latter part of September so that they will reach the municipalities by October 1.

Funds equal to the amount produced by one-half cent of the regular six-cents per gallon motor fuel tax levied by the State are returned annually to participating municipalities in proportional shares based on relative non-state system street mileage and on the relative populations of each of the municipalities.

Towns and cities qualifying for participation do so by submitting detailed information each year to the Highway Commission concerning ad valorem taxes, other sources of revenue, budget ordinances and local elections. Some legally incorporated towns do not participate in the Powell Bill Program simply because they do not perform the necessary municipal functions required under the law.

Mocksville's allocation was based on the 1960 population census of 2,379 which amounted to $6,174.91, and 16.60 certified non-system miles for a mileage increment of $8,856.54, for a total of $15,031.45.

Chairman Hunt noted that the $9,959,054.78 being returned to the 424 participating municipalities this year is more than twice the amount returned to 386 participating towns and cities at the beginning of the program in 1951.

During the 17 year history of the Powell Bill Program, a total of $118,266,817.65 has been returned to the municipalities for use on local streets.

Thieves Hit High School

Considerable property damage resulted when the Davie County High School was broken into last Wednesday night.

Glass was broken from the door of the principal's office and school cafeteria to gain entry.

The thieves ransacked both the office and cafeteria, leaving paper and items strewn on the floor.

Only a small amount of change left in a drawer from the school store was reported missing. A dollar bill was dropped by the thieves on the floor.

Principal John Norton said it was the policy of the school not to leave any money overnight in the building.

Bridal Shower Honors Miss Brenda Renegar

Miss Brenda Renegar was honored with a bridal shower Friday at the home of Mrs. John C. McLelland Jr. in Statesville. Miss Renegar will become the bride of Jim Martin Saturday, September 16 in a 7 o'clock ceremony in Liberty Baptist Church on Route 5.

Miss Renegar was presented a corsage of white carnations to complement her sleeveless blue dress.

Hostesses were Mrs. McLelland, Mrs. John Tomlin, Mrs. James Creedmore, Mrs. Doyle Byers and Mrs. Billy Meadows. Mrs. Tomlin will be soloist in the wedding, Mrs. Meadows will be matron of honor, and Mrs. Byers will direct the wedding.

After bridal games were played, the guests were served lime punch, cake squares decorated with wedding bells, and nuts. Wedding bell napkins embossed with the bride couple's names and wedding date were used.

The centerpiece for the gift table was a wedding scene using an ivy-covered arch, the bride and groom and the wedding attendants dressed in the colors to be used in the wedding.

The hostesses' gift to the honoree was an electric deep fryer.

Hendrix-Foster Vows Are Spoken

The Rev. Charles Burchette performed the marriage Sunday of Miss Annie Delrose Foster and Thomas Lee Hendrix. The 4 p. m. service was held at First Baptist Church, Cooleemee.

Gene Smith of Mocksville, soloist, was accompanied by Miss Margaret Brinegar of Cooleemee in a program of wedding music.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Barney Foster of Route 4, Mocksville. She was graduated from Davie High School and attended Winston-Salem Business College. She is employed as a secretary in the office of Bahson Company.

The bridegroom, also a Davie High School graduate, attended Draughn's Business College, Winston-Salem. He is employed in the office of Motor Convoy, Inc., Winston-Salem, and is a member of the U. S. National Guard. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Hendrix of Route 2, Advance.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a floor-length empire gown of white peau de soie with bodice and chapel train of Alencon lace. Her veil of silk illusion fell from a small pearl tiara. She carried a Bible centered with an orchid.

Miss Diane Foster of Statesville was maid of honor for her sister. She wore a gown of mint green brocade and carried yellow chrysanthemums.

The bridesmaids wore yellow brocade gowns. They were Miss Vicky Foster of Mocksville, sister of the bride, Miss Jeanette Harpe of Mocksville and Miss Ann Foster of Cooleemee, cousin of the bride.

Sharon Johnson and Ricky Montgomery, both of Winston-Salem, were children attendants.

The bridegroom had his father as best man. Dale Foster of Mocksville brother of the bride, Jerry Dean Hendrix of Advance, brother of the bridegroom, and Wilson Merrell of Advance ushered.

The bride's parents entertained at a reception in the church fellowship hall following the wedding.

For the wedding trip to the mountains of North Carolina the bride changed to a pink linen dress with navy accessories.

The couple will live on Clover St., Winston-Salem.

1968 Chevrolet Line Story Told

A new peak in individuality among Chevrolet's six car lines is reached for 1968, E. M. Estes, general manager, said this week in Detroit.

"Each member of our automotive family has a distinct pace-setting personality with features that fully span its market," Estes said. "This matches the growing customer desire for one-of-a-kind cars built in mass production."

A total of 41 new Chevrolet, Chevelle, Camaro, Chevy II, Corvair and Corvette models go on sale on Thursday, September 21. Highlights include:

— All new advance design bodies for Chevelle, Chevy II and Corvair, with introduction of two wheelbases within the Chevelle line.

— A longer, more luxurious regular Chevrolet, new sportiness for Camaro and continued stress on the special features offered only by Corvair.

— Important safety improvements, exhaust emission controls, and anti-theft provisions are standard equipment on all models.

— Improvements in ride, handling and performance including a larger base V-8 engine for the regular Chevrolet, Chevelle and Chevy II.

— Introduction on several lines of full door windows without ventpanes, hidden windshield wipers and dual level "Astro" ventilation.

Heading a list of more than 400 options and accessories is a power vacuum door lock system, a lamp monitoring system to tell the driver if his front and rear lights are working, front disc brakes and added availability of stereo tape players.

Safety improvements range from energy absorbing front seat backs and safety armrests positioned to shield door handles to seat belts for all passenger positions and exterior side marker lights. (See detailed separate list.)

Here are principal features of each Chevrolet line:

Regular Chevrolet — Increased length and new front, side and rear styling reinforce the "big car" image of the industry's top selling car, offered in 18 models in four series on a 119-inch wheelbase.

A new front bumper has a central bar that splits the grille horizontally. Concealed headlamps are introduced as an option for Caprice models. Windshield wipers hidden beneath the cowl when not in use are standard on all models. Left hand blades are articulated for increased wiping area on the driver's side.

The rear deck extends fully down to the flush-mounted bumper giving easy access to the trunk. Traditional Chevrolet taillight clusters are mounted for the first time in the new rear bumper.

Added prestige is styled into the exclusive square roofline of the Caprice Coupe. A new model - Impala Caprice Estate Wagons.

A full length body side molding there is a different wood-like trim is standard on all models. The new roofline to Impala hardtop buyers in addition to the fastback Impala Sport Coupe.

Door vent windows are eliminated on the Caprice Coupe. New dual level "Astro" ventilation providing continuous flow of outside air through the upper levels of the passenger compartment is standard on the Caprice and Impala models. To adding distinctiveness also gives side body protection.

New luxury interiors offer both pattern cloth with vinyl and all-vinyl.

Refined body mounting and other chassis improvements give a smoother, quieter ride. The base V-8 engine is increased to 307 cubic inches, developing 200 horsepower. A 327 cubic-inch V-8 which also uses regular gasoline is introduced.

A 250 cubic-inch base six and three other V-8's up to 427 inches give a horsepower range from 155 to 385. Five transmissions include Turbo Hydra-Matic which is offered in 1968 with all V-8's on top-of-the-line models.

Corvette — An all new aerodynamic body incorporating the design of the experimental Mako Shark II is offered by America's only mass produced sports car in its 16th year on the market.

More than 7 inches longer and two inches lower, while retaining the 98-inch wheelbase, Corvette comes in both a convertible and unique "semi-convertible" sport coupe which has removable roof panel sections and rear window.

High-rise front fenders with functional louvers frame the long sloping hood. The grille, including front parking lights, is beneath the flush-mounted bumper. Vacuum operated retractable headlamps are concealed in the upper body surface.

New concealed windshield wipers are hidden beneath the power-operated cowl panel. Full door glass styling eliminates ventpanes and "Astro" ventilation is standard. So is Chevrolet's lamp monitoring system.

The slim-walsted fiberglass body sweeps back to a short deck with a flared rear spoiler. Large circular tail lamps retain Corvette's identity.

The all-new interior has aircraft-type instrumentation. Circular housings for speedometer and tachometer are recessed into the instrument panel. Improved, contour bucket seats have higher backrests for increased comfort.

A higher capacity electrical system, wider tread and wider wheels and tires are among engineering improvements. Four-wheel disc brakes again are standard.

Five V-8 engines offer a horsepower range from 300 to 435. Turbo Hydra-Matic is the automatic transmission option on 1968 Corvettes. Three- and four-speed fully synchronized transmissions are offered.

Chevelle — The industry's intermediate sales leader gets its first all-new body since introduction in 1964, plus two distinct package sizes.

Sedans and station wagons are longer with wheelbases increased one inch to 116 inches. Coupe and convertible models are slightly shorter and have a 112-inch wheelbase that gives additional emphasis to Chevelle's new long hood, short deck design.

Fourteen models in four series include two new value leaders — a 300 Deluxe two-door hardtop and a two-seat station wagon named "Nomad" which replaces the Chevy II station wagon.

A luxury Concours option is offered for the Malibu sport sedan. The Concours station wagon has wood-grain trim. Popular SS 396 models again have a distinctive hood and other ornamentation.

The redesigned front end has a lower, fine grid grille with bold horizontal bars. The long hood flares over concealed windshield wipers, standard on Concours, SS 396, and Malibu models.

Back window, curved side glass and greater slope windshield have increased total area. The roofline flows into new rear quarters and rear deck. There are wraparound tail lamps and a wider, deep section bumper.

Chevilles have all new interiors. Instruments are in recessed square panels on either side of the steering column and are mounted at an angle toward the driver for improved visibility.

The perimeter frame and front and rear suspension are redesigned for an improved ride. On a number of models, brakes are improved through adoption of finned drums.

Chevrolet's new 307 cubic-inch engine is the base V-8 for all but SS models. Two sixes and six V-8's give horsepower from 140 to 350. Five transmissions are offered.

Camaro — After scoring a strong success in its first year on the market and climbing to second place in sales among all domestic small cars, Camaro has added appeal in 1968.

Again offered in a sport coupe and convertible on 108-inch wheelbase, Camaro has full door glass styling without vent windows and Chevrolet's new dual level "Astro" ventilation.

A new V-shape grille with strong horizontal lines adds depth to the front view. Special moldings accent the venturi-shape of the sides. Wheel trim covers and tail lamps are restyled. Camaro continues its exclusive feature in its class — concealed headlights available as part of the Rally Sport option.

More luxury has been added to all interiors. Expanded vinyl - softer and richer feeling - is used on all seat trim. The instrument panel has new dial faces, chrome accents and larger padding.

Relocation of shock absorbers and provision for greater ride travel are among chassis improvements. Two sixes and four V-8 engines with horsepower from 140 to 325 are available, plus four transmissions.

Camaro again offers a wide variety of options, accessories and "packages" including Super Sport options with 350 and 396 cubic-inch engines to allow the buyer to custom build his car.

Chevy II — Chevrolet's popular small family car gets its first all-new body since introduction in 1962. It is longer, wider and lower and comes in two- and four-door Nova models. Wheelbase is one-inch longer at 114 inches.

Man Injured In Accident On US 158

Guy Noah Young, 42, of Hickory, N. C., was injured Saturday at 1:30 p. m. eight-miles east of Mocksville on U. S. 158, when he lost control of his 1966 Mercury, ran off right side of road, hit a ditch, bank and tree doing $2600 damage to his vehicle.

Highway patrolman, Bill F. White investigated the accident.

The Bread of Life

Come and visit with the Jericho and North Main Street Churches of Christ. We will welcome you as honored guests.

The true Christian needs spiritual food just as the body needs physical nourishment. The source of such food is the Word of God. Why is it that man has so long neglected this Divine food? Even those who have professed Christianity for some fifty or sixty years know absolutely nothing about the actual Will of God! Needless to say, there are thousands who THINK they are saved, but are as lost as the vilest sinner.

How can one know assuredly that he is acceptable in God's sight? Here is a list of criteria for you:

1. Study God's Word. II Tim. 2:15
2. Believe His Word. Rom. 3:22
3. Repent of your sins. Luke 13:3,5
4. Confess Christ. Rom. 10:9-10
5. Be baptized for the remission of your sins. Acts: 2:38
6. Be a faithful member of the Lord's Kingdom all the rest of your days. Rev. 2:10

It is as simple as that. However, we must admonish you to realize that Christianity is not the easiest path to take, but its rewards far outweigh our labors!

Kenneth K. Hyder, Mtn. Jericho Church of Christ ADV.

Rescue Squad To Have Fish Fry

The Davie County Rescue Squad will have a Fish Fry Saturday, October 7, beginning at 11:30 a. m. and continuing until 8:30 p. m. at the Rescue Squad Building on the County Home Road.

Fresh flounder, slaw, french fries, hush puppies, dessert, tea and coffee will be served.

Due to an increase in the cost of fish and other supplies, there will be a slight increase in the price of the plates.

The Auxiliary is asking for help in making cakes. "If you will make a cake for us to serve, please call 634-2145 or after 5:00 p. m. 492-7773," said an officer of the group.

"Any member of the Auxiliary will be happy to come by and pick up your cake. Please come out and support a very good county project."

Tattle-Tales

By Gordon Tomlinson

The secretary to a local attorney is limping this week from a badly bruised toe, hurt when a chicken landed on it. Naturally, this story is quite involved . . . but let's begin:

Her nephew was soon to observe his 9th birthday and wanted turkey. She looked around, but unable to find the type of turkey she wanted . . . she purchased a 5-lb frozen hen. This she put in the top freezer section of her refrigerator.

Later she went to get some ice. Opening the door . . . down fell the frozen hen . . . hitting the big toe. So that's the reason for the limp!

Jack Brown of Mocksville Rt. 4 caught a 40-lb Mud Turtle recently. He caught it in the Yaddin River on a line tied to a willow tree.

Jack said that he liked turtle soup . . . but not that much turtle soup . . . so he sold it to Bill Williams.

If you didn't watch the "Miss America" Pageant last Saturday night . . . you won't be interested in this one!

If you did watch it . . . then you, like the rest of us, probably felt cheated when you couldn't hear Bert Parks sing: "There She Is!". Some even remarked that it wouldn't be official until this song could be heard.

Well it's official now . . . thanks to Johnny Carson.

He, too, fell the same way. Monday night he had Bert Parks on his program just long enough to sing this song . . . and discuss just what happened to the amplifying system at Atlantic City last Saturday.

Bert said that in attempting to get close to the new "Miss America"—to make connection . . . he made a disconnection with his plugged-in microphone.

Former Resident Killed In Auto Wreck

Many local residents recall State Highway Patrolman Frederick Bryant Trivette, 44, who was killed in an automobile accident last Friday night near Hickory.

Fred was the son of Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Trivette who lived in Mocksville in the 1930's. Mr. Trivette was a bookkeeper for a local automobile agency and the family lived in the residence now occupied by the W. L. Moore's on North Main Street. In addition to Fred, there was a young brother, Dean, and sister, Ethel.

Funeral services were held at 4 p.m. Sunday at Vogler's Chapel. Burial was in Forsyth Memorial Park.

Trivette was off-duty and taking his 12-year-old son, three other youngsters and a friend to a football game when the accident happened. He lived in Lenoir, where he had been stationed for two years.

Two others died in the accident. They were Dr. Thayer J. Christensen, 25, of Lenoir, a chiropractor riding with Trivette, and George Thomas Greer, 17, of Todd. Six persons were injured, including Trivette's son, Andy.

Greer was a passenger in a car driven by John Quincy Phillips, 20, of Whitnel.

Lost Control

State Highway Patrolman Wayne Annas said Phillips lost control of his car as it crossed some railroad tracks on U. S. 321, north of Hickory. The car crossed the highway median, struck two other automobiles and hit the side of the Trivette automobile, he said.

Trivette was born May 28, 1923, in Winston-Salem, a son of F. B. Trivette and Daisy Foster Trivette. He was the first child born at Baptist Hospital. He graduated from Reynolds High School with the Class of 1942.

He had been a patrolman for 19 years. He was stationed in Smithfield for four years and in Madison for 13 years before being assigned to Lenoir.

He served in the Marine Corps in World War II.

He was a member of College Street Baptist Church in Lenoir.

He was married in 1945 to Miss Frances Sprinkle. She survives with one daughter, Annette, and the son; his parents, of 1510 Jarvis Street, Winston-Salem; one brother, Dean Trivette of 1516 Jarvis Street; one sister, Mrs. Michail Ledbetter of 1510 Jarvis St., Winston-Salem.

DODGE fever

'68 CHARGER

Like no other Charger you've ever seen. Brand, spanning new from road to roof. Complete with disappearing headlights. Foam-padded bucket seats up front. And eager, economical power from a standard V8 engine. One new touch is handy pockets in the doors for the things that get in your way when you travel. Here's a Dodge that's even a joy to think about.

'68 MONACO

The super-plush Dodge every year, and especially for 1968. Here's a car that'll spoil you for everything else. With V8 power—the slickest, smoothest automatic transmission you've ever said "go" to—and every luxury touch a car this big and this good-looking should have. And yet, its price is a pleasant surprise.

'68 POLARA

A whole lot of car for a lot less money than you'd think. It's big, it's powerful, it's luxurious. And it's priced in the same league with Impala and Galaxie 500. Hard to believe? Well, then. Come in, and let's talk figures. Proving what a wonderful bargain Polara offers you is one of the things we like to do best.

'68 DART

The compact that doesn't look like a compact. Or ride like one. Or act like one. Or cramp your style like one. Here's a compact that's all car. With lots of go and lots of room. With a V8 under the hood if that's what you'd like. And Dart comes in a wide range of body styles. So no matter what style is your style, we have it. Come in and take a look.

'68 CORONET

Another all-new one from Dodge for '68. Coronet, featuring a full lineup of freshly styled models, including an addition to the line: a sharp new coupe. Like all other Dodges for '68, Coronet is sure to give you a good case of Dodge Fever. The only place to cure it is at your nearby Dodge Boys'. Come on in.

Our Heritage of Faith

Express Your Faith, Enrich Your Life
...Attend the Church of Your Choice

Historically, the Spanish missions of the Old Southwest remind us that people of many countries, many faiths shared in shaping our nation. Our heritage of faith has a message for today: Faith can shape our lives, toward greater fulfillment, higher happiness. Faith can sustain us, daily, with the spiritual strength we need. Faith can help our children grow in character and citizenship. Faith is a force for good, in the family, the community, the nation. To express your faith, and enrich your life, attend and support the church of your choice, regularly. The churches of this community extend an invitation to all to come and worship, this Sunday.

Bicycling Safety

Each time your youngster takes to the road on his bike he faces a man-sized job. Like motorists, he must have the knowhow to cope safely with the ever-increasing amount of traffic.

The need for a young bicyclist to practice sound safety principles grows with each added car—and bicycle—on the road, warns Aetna Life and Casualty, producer of a new public service movie on bike safety.

Aetna points out that two of every three bicycle accidents occur because riders fail to follow basic "rules of the road."

In reminding youngsters how to maintain and ride their bikes safely, Aetna's color film, "If Bicycles Could Talk," tells the bicycle safety story from the viewpoint of the bicycles themselves. The film may be obtained on a free-loan basis by your school or community organization through an Aetna representative or from Aetna Life and Casualty's public relations and advertising department, Hartford, Conn., 06115.

The insurance company further suggests that you ask your youngsters the following questions dealing with the special safety requirements of bicycling traffic. Be sure he can answer all 18 questions before his next bike ride.

Questions

- (1) What should you do before entering a street from a drive-way or sidewalk?
- (2) It's important that you obey the same traffic signals and signs as motorists. Name at least three.
- (3) When waiting in traffic, where should you position your bike?
- (4) When approaching an intersection that has no traffic signals what should you do?
What is the safest way to make a left turn at a crowded intersection?
- (5) Who has the right of way, a pedestrian or a bicyclist?
- (6) Give 2 reasons why weaving in and out of traffic is dangerous.
- (7) When approaching a parked car, what dangers do you face? How do you prepare for them?
- (8) What is a safe distance when riding behind a moving vehicle?
- (9) Why should you give hand signals before you stop or turn?
- (10) What are the hand signals for a left turn, right turn, and slow or stop?

- (12) What side of the road should you ride on?
- (13) Why is it dangerous to ride in the "wrong" direction on a one-way street?
- (14) When is it safe to carry a "passenger"?
- (15) How should you carry parcels?
- (16) How far should the sound of your bike's horn or bell carry?
- (17) From what distance should a rear light or reflector be visible to a motorist in the dark?
- (18) What is the best formation for two or more cyclists riding together?

Answers

- (1) Wait for vehicles to pass. If you're headed for the opposite side, be sure way is clear in both directions.
- (2) Traffic lights. Stop signs. Yield Right of Way Signs.
- (3) Extreme right side of the road.
- (4) Slow down and look in all directions. Wait for any approaching vehicles to pass.
- (5) Dismount and walk bike in pedestrian crosswalks.
- (6) Pedestrian.
- (7) You may lose control near a moving vehicle. Motorists may not see your darting bicycle.
- (8) An occupant might open a door in front of you, or the car might pull out. Sound your bell and pass three feet left of the vehicle, traffic permitting. Be prepared to stop suddenly.
- (9) 25 to 30 feet, or about 5 bicycle lengths.
- (10) Hand signals are a language that tells others what you plan to do.
- (11) Left turn—Extend left arm horizontal to ground. Right turn—Bend-left arm up at elbow, forming right angle to body. Slow or Stop—Extend left arm almost directly toward ground. (Note: If signals in your state vary from these, know and use them.)
- (12) Right.
- (13) On-coming motorists will not expect wrong-way traffic.
- (14) Never.
- (15) So they don't interfere with your vision or control. It's best to use a carrier.
- (16) At least 500 feet.
- (17) At least 300 feet.
- (18) Single file.

Asian Flu Threatens

Health Departments and doctors throughout this area are expected to launch an all-out campaign within the next few weeks against an expected outbreak of Asian flu.

The National Communicable Disease Center in Atlanta has predicted a major outbreak of A-2 type (Asian) flu especially in the eastern part of the country this winter. The normal flu season is December to March.

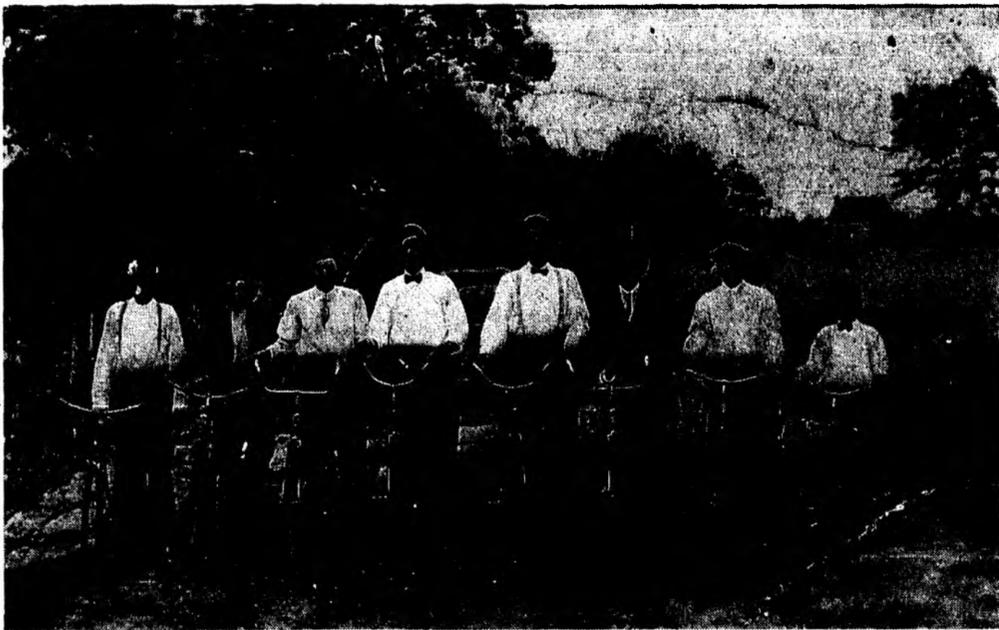

The Center said more people than usual will be susceptible to flu this year because there has been no major outbreak since 1964-65.

Asian flu is a cyclical disease. One year it causes much sickness; the next year it seems to disappear. But as people stop taking their booster shots and lose their immunity, the disease comes back.

A special effort will be made to stop the flu among elderly people. It is reported that elderly people are particularly susceptible to Asian flu and it could be fatal in some of these cases. Children under 3-years-old are also in the high risk category.

Everyone is urged to see their family doctor and follow his advice regarding these shots. Those who have never had the shots or who have not had a booster each year since 1963 should have two shots. A booster is a single shot.

News and Comment from Our Raleigh Bureau

ALREADY COMMITTED . . . Those people entertaining ideas of running for office next year—be it local or Statewide—have one thing in common.

They are all working now for commitments . . . promises of support.

"I would really like to be for John Doe—now that he is out—but I am already committed to Richard Roe. I have told John this; and he understands my position."

Hundreds of times the foregoing will be repeated here, there, and everywhere within the next 12 months. And, strange to say, most of the time the person saying it is actually telling the truth.

This is only one of the things anybody planning to oppose Lt. Gov. Bob Scott for Governor in the Democratic Primary must contend with. He has important people in all walks of life already committed to him. This also goes for GOP gubernatorial John Stickleby of Charlotte.

AWAY DOWN . . . The N. C. Good Neighbor Council, recently tremendously strengthened by the Moore Administration, will use part of the new funds to get at the bedrock of possible trouble next summer in North Carolina.

And, furthermore, something they obviously failed to do in Detroit, Newark, and in some other riot areas . . . this bedrock business.

Virtually all of the groups set up to promote racial harmony have strong, prominent, outstanding Negroes on these committees. But evidence now coming out of some Northern cities shows that they are just as much out of touch—sometimes actually more so—with the lower class Negro as some of the whites. They have made good. Most of them are financially well-to-do. By and large, they are well educated . . . frequently far, far away—physically and mentally—from Real Scene.

The Good Neighbor Council plans to employ at a good salary a Negro who has already demonstrated his ability to mingle with the type of persons which started the riots this summer. He will get away down with the masses—his work takes him there now—when he goes with the Good Neighbor Council. He will find what they are thinking, what their gripes are, and what—if anything—can be done to provide them with sufficient peace of mind to nip blossoming . . . germs of trouble. Good idea!

REMOVAL . . . A lot of so-called liberals (frequently they are nothing more than vote-seekers) are now at cross-purposes with Negro leaders. You know who they are . . . in Washington and elsewhere.

Here is one example of how they stumbled into trouble with the colored people. They talked of ghettos and urban renewal projects. This has usually meant——leaving asunder and literally leveling—slum areas. These districts are usually 90 per cent Negro. But in their eagerness to destroy the so-called ghettos, these do-gooders—impractical as usual—forgot to come along with the other solution; provide more places for the uprooted slum-dwellers to go. Moreover, a large percentage of those in the so-called slums loved their little homes, had lived there for generations. It was humble, but it was home. There is—as the song says—no place like home.

"Just give me my shanty in old Shantytown. The roof is so slanty, it touches the ground. But it's calling me back—that old railroad shack—"

A leading Negro educator said sullenly, but wisely, the other day: "In many cases we must admit that Urban Renewal has meant only . . . Negro removal."

The Negro housing situation in many cities of North Carolina is critical. Plans for big conference in Charlotte on Sept. 27. The subject—Housing Problems.

SOMETHING . . . From the Atlanta Constitution's after-dinner speaker, Leo Aikman—via of Charles Craven—comes this one:

The nervous, gushing hostess turned to the guest of honor: "I suppose I can't offer you wine. You are the head of the Temperance League, aren't you?"

"No," growled the guest. "I'm head of the Anti-Vice League."
"Well," the hostess chirped, "I knew there was something I wasn't supposed to offer you."

NEWS BACKGROUND . . . As of this past Friday (Sept. 8) noon, Downtown Raleigh was atwitter with two news morsels just received:

1. Former State Sen. Irwin Belk, regarded as a certain candidate for Lt. Gov. on the Democratic ticket, had announced he would not seek the office.

2. The Hotel Sir Walter, known as the center of gravity for political North Carolina, was being given to N. C. State University Foundation.

Everybody was asking what was back of the two moves. The Sir Walter seemed the easier of the two. Velvet Cloak and Voyager Inn—both new and beautiful hotels—are out near State University. Consequently, they—and not the Hotel Sir Walter—have been getting State University visitors.

Being new and in a strategic location, they are getting big day-to-day business. The Sir Walter, deeply down town, has had to depend more and more on conventions—has upwards of 100 big meetings of various kinds already lined up for 1968. This—plus certain tax gimmicks—will be seen as the main reasons for the transfer of ownership. And no change in the management.

Irwin Belk just didn't want to go through with all the trouble necessary to become Lieutenant—Governor of this State in 1969! That's it.

Senator Sam Ervin Says:

WASHINGTON — The Senate Separation of Powers Subcommittee, which I chair, is conducting hearings upon a fundamental problem of government, i.e., Congressional oversight of Federal programs.

The issue is one of continuing importance, because Federal programs have multiplied several fold in the last decade. Indeed, Senate Majority Leader Mansfield on December 27, 1966 spoke of the great need for Congressional review of Federal programs in a letter to all Senate committee chairmen.

The Senate has supported Congressional review of Federal grants-in-aid programs on a periodic basis, although the House has not seen fit to approve such a measure. S. 688 is currently on the Congressional calendar as this year's bill on the subject.

The foreign aid program has triggered debate over how deeply Congress ought to get involved in aid projects and foreign policy decisions. To date, criticism which has been directed at Congress for seeking to tie conditions to foreign aid projects has met with a measure of success, but the program is subject to Committee "veto" over some of its projects.

The present hearings of the Separation of Powers Subcommittee go into the constitutional aspect of Congressional oversight of Federal programs. The question is not a hypothetical one. Four Federal programs have brought about an Executive-Legislative dispute over the Committee "veto" of proposed watershed, reclamation, and other public works projects. The President has said that he will not permit further construction of projects under the Watershed Protection & Flood Prevention Act of 1954, the Small Reclamation Projects Act of 1956, the Public Buildings Act of 1959, & the Rivers and Harbors Act of 1965, pending a resolution of the issue.

Congress, by virtue of legislative acts, has retained the power of "veto" over the construction of these public works projects. Executive agencies have criticized it for incorporating such provisions in bills, and the issue has been raised with respect to these four acts. Some sixteen other Federal acts have such provisions whereby Congress can "veto" proposals by government agencies.

The Congressional "veto" device is one of long-standing in legislative acts and has been incorporated in Federal laws as far back as the Reorganization Act of 1939. This "veto" power is usually exercised by Congressional committees and has been used in foreign aid bills, military authorization acts with respect to base closings, and the Atomic Energy Act.

The issue before the Subcommittee is one of drawing the line between Executive and Legislative power. Essentially, the problem may be stated as follows: "Where does the act of legislation stop and where does the act of administration of a law begin?" Time President contends that the Committee "veto" of watershed projects is unconstitutional. Members of Congress who exercise this "veto" power say that it is a constitutional delegation of power and that such power is used to see to it that the legislation is properly carried out.

The Subcommittee is continuing hearings this week in an effort to come up with an advisory opinion to guide the Congress in a resolution of the issue.

So This Is New York

By NORTH CALLAHAN

Times Square, a symbol of this city, is undergoing a transformation, at least in the minds of planners who have already made a start along these lines. Old buildings such as the original Times Building have disappeared and new ones erected in their place. The Aslor Hotel, long a landmark for visitors, is fast falling under the wrecker's hammer. Still, the area is mostly one of small, dingy looking stores, cheap motion picture theaters, amusement stands and restaurants. The changing of this mess to modern and attractive surroundings will be a big undertaking for anyone.

One of the distinguishing characteristics of Times Square is its gigantic signs with their thousands of flashing lights which adorn many a movie, newsreel and television scene. According to one of the suppliers of these lights, director of the Broadway Association and president of Arkraft Strauss, the lights will be bigger and flashier than ever in the new era of the square. His company began seventy years ago in a small shop atop the saloon of Gentleman Jim Corbett on Broadway. Since then the firm has produced many of the giant electrical spectaculars, towering movieboards and theater marquees in and around Times Square. His name is Mel Starr and he is proud of what he feels is an artistic accomplishment as well as a business success.

Along the Great White Way as oldtimers used to call Broadway are more than 500,000 lamps. 52 miles of multi-hued neon tubing and enough electric wiring to stretch from New York to San Francisco and back again. Walking around the square, as some ten million people are said to do each week, is like moving around the bottom of a mammoth, illuminated cage. Not only do the lights flash and colors burst forth in many kinds of brilliance, but smoke puffs out of great signs, water pours over falls and life-like figures dance across sparkling, electric forms. It is fantasy alight.

But if Times Square is lighted by myriad bulbs, it is darkened by some of the human act-

Uncle Dave From Davie Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

I see by the papers where Congressman Robert Michel of Illinois was mighty upset about some of them meetings Agriculture Secretary Freeman was holding around the country.

For instant, he says they held one in Kansas and they was wild applause for everything Secretary Freeman said and when somebody got up to complain about some items in the farm program they was booted down.

Congressman Michel done a little investigating and he reports that for this meeting in Kansas they had about 1,600 folks there and around 400 of them was Federal employees flew there at a cost of $3,827 to the taxpayers. Furthermore, Congressman Michel found out most of the applause for the farm program was coming from them 400 and most of the booing agin the complainers was also coming from the same 400.

I ain't never understood the farm program under the Republicans or the Democrats and I don't aim to git political over matters I don't understand. But it seems to me, Mister Editor, if the Secretary of Agriculture has to git the deck stacked fer applause at these meetings with the farmers, they was some weak spots in it.

This same piece I was reading in the papers said Congressman Michel was aiming to look into some other meetings Freeman was holding in the farm belt and see how many Federal farm employees was being flew or hauled to furnish the background music. Personal, I just try to live with whatever rabbits them farm magicians in Washington pulls out of the hat—and some of them was queer bunnies.

Incidental, speaking of Washington, I see where a column writer named Ashley Cooper on a Charleston, S. C. paper has compiled a list of some of the lapel buttons they was now wearing in the nation's capital. I copied 'em down fer you, Mister Editor, so's you'd have a better idea of how the thinking was going these days amongst the citizens at our seat of Government:

"I am a human being—Do not fold, spindle or mutilate."
"I am anonymous, help me!"
"Stamp out reality."
"Fight poverty—give me $10."
"Eat, drink and be merry, for tomorrow you may be radioactive."
"We shall overkill."
"Drink Canada dry. Visit Expo 67."
"Goodnight, David — Good night, Goliath."

Yours truly,
Uncle Dave

60 Second Sermon

By FRED DODGE

TEXT: "There are no rights responsibility has not earned."
— Elif Thomas.

The judge glared at the small, red-faced man. "So you kicked your landlord down the stairs?" he asked. "Did you imagine that was within your rights as a tenant?"
"I show you my lease," said the little man growing redder, "and I'll bet you'll agree that anything they forgot to prohibit in that lease, I had a right to do the first chance I got."

When we demand rights we get in trouble. Too many of us see our rights as something to be leached on. That is where we fall down. Each of us must build and support his rights before he tries to lean on them.

We have only one inherit right that is the right to try. Beyond that, every right must be earned. If we earn the rights we claim by accepting responsibility and putting out effort and skill, no one would begrudge us those rights. However, when we demand so-called rights without earning them, naturally, others resent our presumption.

Rights, excepting the right to try, are not bestowed. Unless we accept and live up to our responsibilities; unless we, individually, earn our rights, there are no rights for any of us.

Short Enlists In U. S. Navy

James Edward Short, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Short, of 811 North Main St. Mocksville, has enlisted in the U. S. Navy under the Navy's 120-day program.

This program authorizes the Navy to enlist qualified young men and give them up to 120 days delay in reporting for active duty. By enlisting under this program, Jim has gained several advantages over other enlistments in that the delay time prior to reporting for active duty counts toward completion of military obligation, builds up longevity for pay purposes and affords four months seniority prior to entering recruit training. No attendance of drills or meetings is required during the waiting period. Upon completion of the 120-day period, Jim will be transferred to the U. S. Naval Training Center at Great Lakes, Ill. for recruit training.

Chief Harry K. Driver, local Navy Recruiter for this area invites anyone interested in this program to contact him at the local Navy Recruiting Office located in the Post Office Building, Winston-Salem, N. C.

spending the week-end at home.

Last year, over a quarter million owners of other low-price cars were won over to Plymouth. It started a movement, a momentum, a beat.

And the Plymouth win-you-over beat goes on.

Inside, Fury's options don't have that "added on" look. The Auto-Pilot is on the turn signal lever. Air conditioning outlets are part of the instrument panel. And the beat goes on.

This is the 1968 Plymouth Fury. It still looks long and low and wide. Only richer. And much more beautiful. And the beat goes on.

Plymouth Fury has the biggest brakes in its class. And the biggest trunk. It's also the heaviest. And the most solid. And the beat goes on.

We made our 2-door sedans look like hardtops. And we created a new low-cost, high-performance car called the Road Runner. Its horn goes "Beep-Beep!" And the beat goes on.

This is the 1968 GTX. One in a whole new line of mid-size cars for '68: GTX, Sport Satellite, Satellite, Belvedere, Road Runner. We've given them all-new styling for '68. And the beat goes on.

There are 64 new Plymouths for '68. Full-size, mid-size, sports cars, wagons and compacts. We could build a car a minute for an entire year. And never build two exactly alike. And the beat goes on.

Rebels Lose To Albemarle 20-0; At East Rowan This Friday Night

The Davie County Rebels fell before a strong Albemarle team in their opening game last Friday night at the Davie High field. Albemarle scored in the first, third and fourth periods to post a 20 to 0 victory. This was the second game for Albemarle and the first for Davie. It was a non-conference game.

The Rebels will open play in the North Piedmont Conference on Friday night at East Rowan.

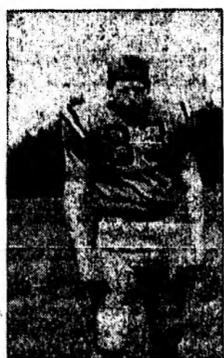

Albemarle scored the second time it had the ball Friday night on a 67-yard march. Quarterback Joe Lowder and Nate Wall, speedy halfback, swept right end for long gains, with Wall going around left end for ten yards and the touchdown.

The Rebels were unable to muster enough offense for a first down during the first half, but their defensive play, highlighted by the stellar punting of Joe Mando, held the strong Bulldogs at bay. Albemarle had 8 first downs the first half.

Albemarle struck paydirt again in the third period when Lowder hit End Ricky Russell with a 32-yard pass to the one-yard line. Davie's defense held for three downs, but with fourth and five, Lowder again passed to Russell for the touchdown. Adding the extra point, Albemarle led 14 to 0.

With Joe Mando at quarterback,

Davie got offensive life later in the fourth period and rolled up 5 first downs . . . driving from the Rebels 4 to the Albemarle 44. However, Wall picked off a Mando pass and raced 56-yards for the third Albemarle score.

Game Notes

There was much comment on the excellent condition of the Davie High field for the opening game last Friday night. It reportedly took a lot of water and fertilizer during the dry summer months, plus careful moving, to bring it around.

The Rebels did not elect full-time captains this year. Instead, they elect game captains prior to each game. The honor Friday night fell to Joe Mando, quarterback, and tackle, Mike Chaffin.

The Albemarle band put on an impressive halftime performance. The Davie band, with only one week of practice, played from the stands with the majorettes and cheerleaders performing in front of the home fans.

Friday night was the first time that 80% of the Rebels had ever played more than just a few minutes in a varsity football game . . . indicating that this will be a team to reckon with before the season ends.

The "Old Rebel" with his shotgun blasts and a bunch of kids with some unlawful firecrackers kept many of the fans nervously jumping . . . and Principal John Norton had to miss a large portion of the game in his effort to round up the firecracker dispensers.

On The Home Front

Coffee time is a busy woman's best friend. It's so nice to sit down and relax over a cup of delicious hot coffee. Frozen breads and cookies go good—at a time like this. Just take out of the freezer and warm while the coffee is perking. French toast is inviting and tastes wonderful.

Combine 2 beaten eggs with 2/3 cup milk and a pinch of salt. Dip both sides of slices of bread in mixture quickly and brown lightly in shortening in a skillet or on a griddle. This may be broiled in a 450 degree oven or in a broiler. It may also be put on a waffle iron and toasted lightly.

Easy To Fix Biscuit Sticks
Have oven hot at 450 degrees. Pour 4 tablespoons melted butter in an 8 x 8 x 2 pan. Shape one package refrigerator biscuits in 8" long strips rolling between hands and twisting place in pan. Brush with melted butter and add a few poppy or celery seeds. Bake 8 or 10 minutes.

Sticks (Very good and quickly done)
Put teaspoon butter in bottoms of 10 cup muffin tins. Pour 2 tablespoons corn syrup in each and add a few walnut goodies. Cut biscuits in one thirds. Roll each piece in syrup mixture and place three pieces in each cup. Bake about 15 minutes in a 400 degree oven.

Pass paper napkins for these are sticky. They are so delicious you'll want to make several batches.

Your County Agent

BY LEO WILLIAMS

Liming And Liming Materials
Fall is usually the best time to apply lime for the coming year's crop says Mr. Leo Williams, County Extension Chairman.

Neutralizing Equivalent
Dolomitic limestone 95-108; Calcitic limestone (air slacked lime) 85-100; Builders lime, Burned (caustic) lime 150-175; Hydrated lime water slacked lime 120-135; Burned oyster shells 90-110; Baked oyster shells 80-90; Marl 50-90; Basic slag (8-10% P2 O5) 50-75.

The greater the neutralizing equivalent, the greater the neutralizing power per pound of material. Dolomitic lime supplies magnesium as well as calcium and is a good source of both of these essential nutrients.

Liming suggestions given on soil test reports are for dolomitic limestone assuming a neutralizing equivalent of approximately 100. If some other material is used, the amount applied should be adjusted according to its neutralizing equivalent.

The particle size of fineness is also a factor to consider in selecting a liming material. The more finely ground the material the quicker it will react with and neutralize soil acidity when mixed with the soil.

tested now so lime can be applied this fall. Regardless of which liming material is used, keep your soils limed to optimum levels.

For many years the general recommendation has been to topdress small grain with nitrogen in February and March. This is still a good recommendation says Leo F. Williams County Extension Chairman.

March and April is the period in which small grains produce most of their growth. It is also the period in which plant requirements for nitrogen is the greatest, regardless of when it is applied.

There are a number of advantages in applying all of the nitrogen for small grains in the fall. Fall application allows putting all of the fertilizer on at one time, thus extra trips across the field are eliminated.

Regardless of when you apply the nitrogen it is important to use enough nitrogen and other nutrients to produce a profitable crop reminds Mr. Williams.

low a heavily fertilized crop such as tobacco. Have your soil tested now to determine lime and nutrient needs for your small grain and other crops.

Leo Williams has been elected delegate from the North Carolina County Agricultural Agents Association to attend the National Association Meeting, to be held in Omaha, Nebraska, September 17 - 22.

Area Folks To View Gigantic Fire Works Display On Pilot Mt.

A fireworks display, believed to be the most spectacular ever staged in Eastern America will launch the funds campaign to buy Pilot Mountain the night of Wednesday, September 27.

The fireworks and other pyrotechnics will climax the campaign's kickoff meeting for workers and solicitors in the six-county drive. This will be held at 7:30 p. m. at the Pilot Mountain Country Club. The fireworks will begin at 9 on top of the mountain's big pinnacle.

If the night is clear, the mountaintop spectacle will be seen a minimum of 50 miles away and possibly up to 100 miles in some of the mountainous sections of North Carolina and Virginia.

In the event of rain or fog, the fireworks will be postponed until the next clear night.

The meeting of workers will be staged approximately five miles away, — and downward — though in clear view of the mountain. It will officially begin the campaign to raise a minimum of $350,000 from residents in Davie, Forsyth, Guilford, Stokes, Surry, and Yadkin Counties. Plans call for that amount to be supplemented by federal funds totaling $560,500 to be used as purchase price for the 1,600-acre mountain and about 600 acres around the base. Once all monies are in hand, the land will be turned over to the State for operation as a park and recreation area.

The mountaintop portion of the kickoff activities is being planned by Joe King, prominent Winston-Salem artist and a member of the Pilot Mountain Preservation and Park Committee Inc.

"Ever since I was a little boy I've looked at Pilot Mountain and thought it would be the finest place anywhere to shoot off some fireworks," King said. "What we have planned will probably be the greatest thing of its kind ever seen in the Eastern United States."

The setting lends itself strategically to the planning. Pilot Mountain rises abruptly about 1,200 from the surrounding terrain to an elevation of 2,440 feet above sea level. Its main pinnacle or knob, comprising approximately an acre of ground, is perched atop the mountain like a rocky carbuncle. Covered with trees and bushes and occasional craggy outcroppings of rocks, it towers 204 feet from base to top, and one wall has a sheer drop of 144 feet.

Prior to the opening volleys of fireworks, King and about 25 helpers will light 500 railroad fuses which will have been placed in the ground around the edge of the big pinnacle. Additionally, parachute flares will be fired several-hundred feet into the air and during their fall will light up the entire mountain.

The fireworks will be lofted from the pinnacle also, shooting upward through the trees from the circle of fuses. A 30-45 minute show is planned. It will be staged by Tony Vitale of New Castle, Pa., who each year designs the fireworks for the Dixie Classic Fair.

"We urge everybody in this section of the state to watch Pilot Mountain that night," said King. "It'll be a better show if they get on some high vantage point or drive within viewing distance of the mountain."

Before the fireworks, approximately 200 campaign workers will receive their instructions and materials for the solicitation. Also present will be officers, county campaign chairmen, and members of the 50-member committee who have been planning the campaign since mid-summer. Huber Manes, Jr. of mid-summer. Huber Manes, Jr. of committee, will preside.

Pictures Of Service Men

This newspaper would like to publish pictures of Davie County men in service.

Mills Studio will make pictures of these men, in uniform, free of charge. These pictures may be made in Mockville on Thursday of each week from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. or in Yadkinville any day, Monday through Saturday.

The serviceman must be in uniform. The picture and an account of his service record will be published just as soon as possible after the picture is made.

John E. Ward, Jr. Is Cited As Outstanding

John E. Ward, Jr., son of Mrs. Maurice Todd Ward of Mockville, Route 3, has been selected to appear in the 1967 edition of Outstanding Personalities of the South.

Other recipients of this honor include Governors, United States Senators and Congressmen of the various southern states.

The publication includes many citizens such as educators, leading businessmen, members of state legislative bodies, civic and political leaders, elected leaders of various political subdivisions, farmers, ministers, officers and officials of various trade organizations, leading sports figures, and many other individuals who, because of past achievements and service to their community, state, and/or nation, are recognized as outstanding personalities of the south.

Mr. Ward is now at the University of South Carolina working on his Ph.D. Up until the time he went there he was associate professor of Biology at Gaston College in Gastonia, N. C.

He is a 1959 graduate of Mockville High School, graduated Magna Cum Laude with a B. S. in Biology from High Point College in 1963, received undergraduate research grant from the Commission on Research Grants of the North Carolina Academy of Science, was awarded a graduate assistantship at Wake Forest College and received his M. A. from Wake Forest before

JOHN E. WARD, JR. becoming associated with Gaston College.

At High Point College Ward was named a member of Who's Who, Scholastic Honor Society, the Order of the Lighted Lamp, Methodist Student Fellowship, the Concert Choir, Student Government Association, Interfraternity Council, member of Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity. He was Sports Editor of the Hi-Po, a student newspaper, during his sophomore year. (Editor's note - he was also a sports reporter for the local school and supplied this newspaper with many articles during his high school days.)

The Daisie Turner Old Home - Full Of Nostalgia And Antiques

By MYRTLE TOMLINSON

Antique lovers for miles around have a real treat in store for them if they attend the auction sale of the late Miss Daisie Turner's house hold goods and the collectors items. The age of some spans more than a century. And all of these are in an abundance at the old Turner home- place on the Jericho Road, located near Swicegood's store.

Present day historians will surely marvel at the wealth of information that old newspapers that date as far back as 1887 and perhaps earlier, contain events that occurred during that era. Among the old newspaper were copies of the "Union Republican" of Winston, N. C. The newspaper "a weekly newspaper devoted to political, agricultural, miscellaneous and religious reading," was published by J. W. Gosten, editor and publisher.

One of the headlines of the Sept. publican" proclaimed that "Grover Cleveland's Renomination (to the presidency of the United States) is contested".

There are many other newspapers which have been tied in bundles and will be sold at the sale on Saturday of this week. "If it doesn't rain," said Jerry Swicegood whose home is located directly across the road from the Turner place.

Swicegood is more or less "seeing after" the sale, a job that he is well qualified to handle because he has been "in and out of the Turner house practically all of his life". A student of history, Swicegood has spent "many pleasant hours browsing through the almost unbelievable stacks of newspapers, magazines, almanacs and interesting documents of a time extending as long ago as the Civil War."

General Lee's Order

It was during one of these browsing sessions one day that Swicegood came across what appears to be an authentically signed memorandum or order from General Robert E. Lee. The document is written on the back of what looks like an old army requisition sheet. It is headed "Headquarters Army North Virginia" and is dated April 10, 1865. It is titled: "General Order No. 9." It reads as follows:

"After four years of arduous service marked by unsurpassed courage and fortitude, the Army of N. Va., has been compelled to yield to overwhelming numbers and resources. I need not tell the summaries of so many hard fought battles and of those who have remained steadfast to the last, that I have consented to this results from no distrust of them, but feeling that value and devotion could accomplish nothing that could compensate for the loss that would have attended the continuance of the contest. I determined to avoid the useless sacrifice of those whose past services have endeared them to their countrymen. By the terms of the agreement, officers and men will return to their homes and remain until exchanged. You will take with you the satisfaction that proceeded from the consciousness of duty faithfully performed and I earnestly pray that a merciful God will extend to you the blessings and protection with an unceasing admiration of your kind and generous consideration for myself. I bid you an affectionate farewell."

Signed,
R. E. Lee

Jaycee Prexy Gets License

Doug Collins, president of the Mockville Jaycees, received Blue Chip Chapter license plates at the Area C meeting of the North Carolina Jaycees held in Spencer Wednesday night, September 13.

These plates were presented as the highest award a local Club can obtain and shows that the local club has had a 10% increase in membership. Mr. Collins can keep the plates and use them for a year if the club maintains the qualifications.

Others attending the meeting from the Mockville Jaycees with President Collins were: Sam Nichols, Tommy Graham, Johnny Naylor, Bayne Miller, Ken Sales, or Murphy, John Hatcher and Don Wood.

Approximately 140 Jaycees met at the Spencer Moose Lodge for this meeting.

Luther Britt of Lumberton, president of the state organization, was the speaker for the evening.

Clemmons Jaycees won the attendance prize for having the largest percentage of their current membership present. Blue Chip Chapter license plates were presented to the president of the Clemmons Jaycees and Spencer Jaycees were recognized as the current area leader in the parade-of-cities competition.

Eddie Swicegood of Lexington, state vice president, presided. Guests of the host club were Joe Seales of Pfafftown, regional national director; Rodney Calloway of Spencer, and Terry Nobles of Cary, administrative national directors.

Davie Hospital Has Received $43,815 From Duke Endowment

MOCKVILLE — The needs served by The Duke Endowment in health, education, child care, and religion are "so basic that they will always be with us" and are not likely to diminish in the foreseeable future, Thomas L. Perkins, Chairman of The Trustees, said in the forty-second Annual Report of The Endowment, which was released here Monday.

Beneficiaries are hospitals, educational and child care institutions in the Carolinas, and religious causes in North Carolina. Covering activities of The Endowment in 1966, the report includes comments on developments in the four areas of its philanthropy, a listing of assistance to beneficiaries, financial statements, and hospital and child care statistics.

Allocations and appropriations in the year amounted to $15,566,691, bringing to $250,040,236 the 42-year total. Approximate market value of assets at the close of 1966 is listed 22, 1367 issue of the "Union Re-at $655,921,592, with stock of the Duke Power Company representing the largest single holding among these assets. Dividends on this stock have accounted for 60.73 per cent of the total income of The Endowment from investments since its establishment on December 11, 1924.

Allocations and appropriations of Endowment funds to Davie County hospital at Mockville, through 1966, totaled $43,815, which included amounts set aside for payment in 1967. The hospital was granted $8,815 of the total to help it meet charity costs, and $35,000 for construction. In addition Davie has shared in assistance provided for building and maintaining rural Methodist churches and for retired ministers and dependent families of deceased ministers who served in the North Carolina or Western North Carolina Conferences of the Methodist Church.

The summary of allocations and appropriations to the two states, through 1966, shows $151,777,826 provided for educational institutions, $33,399,632 for hospitals, $9,160,993 for child care institutions, $1,877,714 for retired ministers, widows and dependent children of deceased ministers, and $8,126,289 for building and maintaining rural churches. Funds for educational institutions include: Duke University, $127,708,331; Davidson College, $8,077,323; Furman University, $9,043,154; and Johnson C. Smith University, $6,048,138.

The need for more educational diversity and innovation, particularly in the areas of liberal education, is emphasized in the report of the Education Section. Special grants for particular purposes encouraged the four institutions assisted by The Endowment in their efforts to improve the form and quality of undergraduate education.

The Hospital Section describes the period of unparalleled adjustment and transition being experienced by hospitals as a result of increasing external pressures for new and expanded medical services and reviews ways in which The Endowment endeavors to help these institutions meet their growing responsibilities.

The Child Care Section tells of severe stresses which have come to this field of social service in recent years and of the sensitivity of Trustees of The Endowment to the need to encourage new and more effective programs in the interest of dependent children. Some of the special projects assisted for this purpose are reviewed.

The report of the Rural Church Section cites contributions of $225,000 to aged ministers and widows and dependent children of deceased ministers, $427,700 to 43 rural Methodist churches for building purposes, and $75,000 to the two Conferences of the Methodist Church in North Carolina for ministerial support. Also mentioned are special programs to help meet the needs of rural communities, training opportunities for ministers of rural churches, educational grants of more than $127,000 to assist students in professional and in-service training, and the Randolph E. DuMont Design Program to encourage better planning of rural churches.

Johnstones Injured In Car Accident

An accident occurred one mile east of Mockville, Friday, September 15, about 9:30 p. m. when a 1967 Camaro operated by Mrs. Knox Johnstone, stopped in travel lane behind a long line of traffic. A 61 Ford approaching from the rear and heading west failed to see the Camaro, striking it in the rear. The Ford was operated by Harrell McKee, Jr. of Statesville.

Knox Johnstone was a passenger in the Camaro, and sustained back injuries. Mrs. Johnstone also suffered back injuries. Both were admitted to Davie County Hospital for treatment.

Investigating officer A. C. Stokes charged McKee with driving under the influence. $400 damages was done to the rear of the Camaro and $350 damages to the front of the Ford.

Car Knocks Out Electric Power

Most of Mockville was without electric power for several hours Friday night when a car went out of control and clipped off a power pole in front of Hendricks Furniture on US 158, five-tenths of a mile out of Mockville.

The driver Ellis William Baily, 39, of Oldtown Road, Winston-Salem, suffered lacerations and abrasions. He was treated at the Davie County Hospital and released.

State Highway Patrolman Bill White said that his investigation showed that Baily was driving a 1965 Chevrolet and was heading east. He ran off on the right shoulder, lost control of the car, crossed to the left side of the road, and hit a power pole.

Damages to the power pole and lines were estimated at $400, and damages to the car were estimated at $500.

Baily was charged with driving to the left of center.

Driver Snoozes; Car Overtakes

An accident occurred 3 miles west of Mockville on Campbell road, Saturday about 9 o'clock, when Richard Donald Carter, 24, operating a 1967 Ford Falcon, fell asleep as he approached the intersection. In applying brakes he lost control and overturned.

State trooper A. C. Stokes investigated the accident and charged Carter with failure to stop. Damages amounted to $400.

Carter suffered cuts on his back.

Chevrolet Burns From New Pump

A 1962 Chevrolet being operated by Larry Richard Gaither of Rt. 4, Statesville, caught fire and was declared a total loss by State trooper A. C. Stokes.

Gaither was heading west on Prison Camp Road about 12:30 Sunday, September 17, when a newly installed electric fuel pump ignited gasoline and burned the entire car. There were no injuries.

Rotary Club Views Film On Old West

The members of the Mockville Rotary Club viewed a film Tuesday on the "Old West".

James E. Everidge had charge of the program. President Roy W. Collette presided.

Special guests included Dr. Henry Sprinkle of Mockville; John T. Brock of Mockville; and Bill Tucker of Greensboro.

Rescue Squad To Have Fish Fry

The Davie County Rescue Squad will have a Fish Fry Saturday, October 7, beginning at 11:30 a. m. and continuing until 8:30 p. m. at the Rescue Squad Building on the County Home Road.

Fresh flounder, slaw, french fries, hush puppies, dessert, tea and coffee will be served.

Due to an increase in the cost of fish and other supplies, there will be a slight increase in the price of the plates.

The Auxiliary is asking for help in making cakes. "If you will make a cake for us to serve, please call 634-2145 or after 5:00 p.m. 492-7773," said an officer of the group.

"Any member of the Auxiliary will be happy to come by and pick up your cake. Please come out & support a very good county project."

Library News

The first Tuesday morning story hour for the winter was held successfully at the Main Library in Mocksville on Sept. 19 from 10 to 11 A. M. The children thoroughly enjoyed the stories told by Mrs. Walter Graham and were captivated by the wicked witch riding her broom across the display board in the Children's Area, and by the other reminders that Halloween is just around the corner.

The next story hour will be on Tuesday, Sept. 26, 10 to 11 A. M., in the Main Library. Mrs. Walter Graham will again be the storyteller. Four and five year old children are invited.

Around The Old Well

Recent civil rights developments have stimulated increased public interest in the functioning of police, a specialist in criminal justice administration at the University of Wisconsin Law School noted here this week.
Prof. Herman Goldstein was one of the featured speakers at a week-long seminar on the administration of justice held at the University of North Carolina's Institute of Government. The seminar was sponsored by the Southern Regional Education Board.
Court decisions relating to rights of individuals accused of crime, demonstrations for integration of public facilities and open-occupancy laws, and outbreaks of violence such as in Watts or Newark have focused public attention on the role of police, the speaker explained.
These developments have been paralleled by a new wave of anxiety regarding the crime problem and have led to such things as the creation of the President's Commission on Law Enforcement and Administration of Justice.
"A natural consequence of this public interest has been a series of proposals intended to strengthen the capacity of law enforcement agencies to meet demands being made upon them," he said.
The proposals, he reported, provide for such varied objectives as a liberal arts education for police and advanced riot control training to increase salaries, more officers, better training facilities and minimum standards for personnel.
"Evaluating the feasibility of any of these proposals is made difficult by the fact that we are so lacking in knowledge of what it is police do in our society and are so ambivalent over the nature of their role," he said.
"Many of the recommendations receiving the most public support are based on a stereotype notion of the nature of police work and the character of problems confronting the police."
He cited a current tendency to rely on crime laboratories, riot training and increased task forces in meeting crime problems.
"We need to gain a better understanding of what it is we expect and want police to do," he said. "It makes little sense to place high priority on physical prowess if the most demanding aspect of the police function calls for intelligence and social acumen."
Goldstein pointed out that police spend only a small percentage of their time solving crimes and apprehending criminals. Most of the policeman's time, he said, is spent providing social services, suppressing nuisances, controlling traffic, or assisting with emergency-type services.
The manner in which police handle these problems, he said, is vital as the public's attitude toward all aspects of police functioning is molded by these types of personal contacts.
Goldstein further noted that police have relatively little potential for preventing crime and outbreaks of violence and that individual officers are required to exercise broad discretion in fulfillment of their police responsibilities.
"Activities aimed at preventing crime must compete with the more dominant concern for solving crime and apprehending criminals," he observed. "While police may reduce the opportunity for commission of crime, their efforts don't begin to affect the deep-rooted causes of crime."
The same error that has been made in looking to police for prevention of crime is being repeated with regard to the police role in preventing outbreaks of racial violence, he said.
"Even with the best program in this area, police alone cannot prevent riots," he warned. "If civil disorder is to be avoided, communities must deal with prejudices and bigotry that give rise to discrimination in employment, housing and education."

Police efforts to prevent crime & outbreaks of violence must be more realistically defined if they are to be meaningful, he said.
He pointed to the discretion police must exercise in deciding which laws to enforce, in selecting from among available techniques for investigating crime and in deciding whom to arrest and how to process the criminal offender.
"Broad and ambiguous statutes defining powers, and limited resources, are major factors requiring police to assume a discretionary role," he said, citing a need for continuing public discussion of current police practices and for controlled experiments to measure effectiveness of different approaches to policing of a community.
Goldstein offered two suggestions for change in police activities. These included development within the police field of a stronger commitment to values attached to the police function under a democratic government, and development of a desire to meet more effectively social problems of a noncriminal nature.

LIBERTY BAPTIST CHURCH IS SCENE OF RENEGAR-MARTIN WEDDING RITES

Miss Brenda Renegar and James Quince Martin were married Saturday, September 16 at 7 p. m. in Liberty Baptist Church.

Mrs. Martin is the daughter of Mrs. Odell Renegar of Route 1 and the late Mr. Renegar.

Mr. Martin, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Odell Martin of Route 5, Statesville, is a graduate of Harmony High School and is employed as manager of Gilbert's Ready-Mix Concrete Plant, Mooresville.

Wedding musicians were Mrs. Barry Sloan of Route 1, Olin, pianist, and Mrs. John Tomlin of Statesville, soloist.

Given in marriage by her brother, Larry Renegar, the bride wore a gown of white peau de soie and lace. The lace covered bodice was styled with scalloped lace appliques at the neckline and long lace sleeves ending in points at the wrist which were closed with tiny covered buttons.

The attendants wore identical gowns of beauty rose peau de soie. The sleeveless gowns were fashioned with jackets of matching lace.

The bridegroom's father was best man, Ushers were Johnny Martin, the bridegroom's brother, James who served with Company F. of the 13th Regiment of the North Carolina Infantry during the Civil War. (He was Miss Daisie's father).

MORE ABOUT

Mr. Turner, according to another document, also found by Jerry Swicegood, was a prisoner of war when the War ended. He was released at the Prisoner of War Headquarters at Point Lookout, Md. in the Provost Marshall's Office on June 21, 1965. The Certificate of Release reads as follows:

"I hereby certify that Pinckney Turner, Prisoner of War, having this day taken the Oath of Allegiance to the United States (as prescribed by the President in his Proclamation of Dec. 8, 1963), is in conformity with instructions from the War Dept. hereby released and discharged.

●In witness thereof I hereby affix my official signature and stamp.

A. G. Brady

Major and Provost Marshall

On the reverse side of the Release is a copy of the Pledge of Allegiance. Under that is a description of Pinckney Turner: "The above named has fair complexion, black hair, blue eyes and is 5 ft. 10 in. high."

Pinckney Turner was married in 1871 to Sallie Brown. They were the parents of three children, two daughters and a son, Daisie, Mary, and Brown Turner. Daisie and Brown were never married. Mary was married to M. R. Swicegood (Jerry's father who in a second marriage married Jerry's mother).

In doing some research trying to learn some of the history of the Turner place has uncovered the following information:

Pinckney Turner's mother and Charles Seaford's mother were sisters. They were McGuires. The land the Seafords own and the Turner land once belonged to the McGuires and the whole place was known as the "McGuire Place". When the land was divided, Pinckney's mother got her part. It was on this land that Pinckney Turner was born, in a little house that stood about where James Foster's house now stands. He lived in that house until 1871 when he married Sallie Brown. He then built the present house which at that time consisted of only one room and an outdoor kitchen. All the other rooms of the house were added later. All three of the children were born in that house.

Pinckney Turner was a farmer. He grew corn, tobacco and cane. There was a molasses mill about where the old house stood. He had a workshop across the road about where Jerry Swicegood lives now. There he did some wood work.

CENTER SCHOOL 1870

During the winter months he taught school in the county.

A sheet from the "Teachers Register of the Common School at Center, Davie County for December 1870 and January 1871 listed the following students whose ages ranged from 6 to 21 years old.

They are: Nancy Blackwood, R. G. Ijames, Frank Boger, Jake Boger, John Boger, Billie Boger, Thomas Boger, Franklin Boger, John Dwiggins, Robert Dwiggins, Dewitt Boger, Thomas McGuire, Dickie McGuire, James McGuire, J. W. McGuire, Martha Evans, Jimmie Evans, Charles Shackelford, Shella Ijames, Marion Ijames, Thomas Clary, Thomas Taylor, Frank Taylor, Chalmers Brown, James Roberts, W. W. Roberts, L. B. Walker, James Leach and Alexander Kellar.

Also, Thomas Kellar, Billie Smith, Louise Casey, Roman Casey, Johnnie Casey, David M. Granger, Mary Kurfees, Charles Seaford, Pinckney Seaford, Nancy Kurfees, Frances Hinkle, Franklin Smoot, Henry Tutterow, William Tutterow, Thomas Anderson, Robert Anderson, Marsh C. Kurfees, Frank Anderson, Charles Kurfees, Thomas Emerson, William Kurfees Sallie McGuire, Isaac W. McClamrock, Mary K. Kurfees, Susan Evans, Wilson Leach, Charlie Rice, Nathan Boger, Martha Dwiggins, L. L. Bowlespand L. M. Bailey.

Also, Jack McGuire, Rufus Gatton, William Leach, Berg, Tutterow, Sallie A. Kurfees, Ellen B. Hendren, Emma Hendren, Ann Warren, Sallie Casey, Emma Walker, Marsha Kellar, Sophrony Elta Murphy, Julia A. Kellar, William F. Smith, Margaret Dwiggins, Jesse Tutterow and Wilson Kurfees.

Old record show that teachers weren't paid in cash very often in those days following the Civil War. The teachers would be given something like a side of meat or a bag of potatoes, etc. from the parents of the pupils.

Pinckney Turner must have been an honest hardworking man, not owing anyone or did he want anyone to owe him. An old Justice of the Peace warrant showed that once he went to court to collect $2.45 that was owed to him.

"If people want antiques this is the place to find them," said Swicegood. "Everything in Miss Daisie's house is old", he said.

The Turners must have been the type of people who saved everything, as one may well imagine from the stacks and stacks of old newspapers, old calendars, etc. that have accumulated over nearly a century.

NOTATIONS ON LETTERS

Apparently they also liked to write because there are numerous notations written on the backs of old letters, envelopes and many other things. Notations from poems, stories, paragraphs from books, verses of scripture from the Bible, etc. One of the writings found among some of the collections was a prayer written on a sheet of paper now yellow from age and tattered around the edges either from much handling or age. The author of the poem is not listed. Its title is "A Prayer of Washington". It reads:

"Almighty Father, if it is thy Holy Will that we shall obtain a place and name among the nations of the earth, grant that we may be enabled to show our gratitude for thy goodness by our endeavors to fear and obey thee. Bless us with wisdom in our counsels, success in battles; and let our victories be tempered with humanity. Endow also our enemies with enlightened minds that they may become sensible of their injustice, and willing to restore our liberty and peace. Grant the petition of their servant for the sake of Him whom thou hast called thy beloved Son. Nevertheless not our will but thine, be done. Amen."

THE BETTER IDEA CARS FROM FORD ARE HERE!

Falcon in 1968 retains its long hood, short rear deck styling theme, but design innovations, a larger engine option and new interiors help to set it apart from earlier models. A new squared-off rear end gives Falcon a more stable appearance as exemplified in the Futura four-door sedan above. The Futura station wagon below retains the dual-action tailgate that opens like a door and swings down like a tailgate—an exclusive in Falcon's class. Optional in 1968 is Ford's new 302-cubic-inch V-8 engine. Interiors feature new cloth and vinyl upholstery and a new instrument panel.

Strikingly new for 1968 is Torino by Ford. At the top of the Fairlane series, the Torino is available in six models including the formal hardtop (above) and the GT fastback. Four inches longer than previous Fairlane models, the Torino brings a new standard of luxury to the intermediate class. All 1968 Fairlane models have completely new sheet metal featuring an integrated grille-dual headlamp assembly and a distinctive raised center panel. A new 302-cubic-inch engine is standard in the Torino GT and optional in all other series.

An exciting new XL fastback (above) and an LTD 2-door hardtop with a new formal roof line are but two of 21 Ford models for 1968. All LTD, XL and Country Squire models feature a special die-cast grille with retractable headlamp doors. A new 302-cubic-inch V-8 engine is standard in LTD and Squire models and optional in all other Fords. New options for 1968 include AM/FM multiplex stereo radio, an automatic load leveler system, a rear window defogger and tilt steering wheel.

A new simulated air scoop on the side quarter panel, standard hood louvers and a new grille readily identify the 1968 Mustang, America's favorite fun car. The GT 2+2 fastback above features a new accent stripe and the convertible model below has the optional, low gloss black louver stripes and hidden boot fasteners. A wide range of engines up to a powerful 427-cubic-inch V-8 is available. New options include wide-oval radial ply tires and AM/FM multiplex stereo radio.

A hot, new top-of-the-line GT model (top) with distinctive GT stripe and bucket seats as standard equipment, heads the list of changes in the Ranchero line for 1968. The completely redesigned Ranchero, four inches longer than last year's model, combines the utility of a pickup truck with passenger car luxury. It has an improved front suspension system and is available with four total performance power packages including a new 302-cubic-inch V-8 engine. The model lineup for 1968 also includes Ranchero and Ranchero 500 (bottom).

Ford Division's popular F-100 Ranger pickup for 1968 boasts significant engineering changes designed to give improved truck performance in passenger car comfort. Ford's customer-proven Twin-I-Beam front suspension is teamed in 1968 with a new Flex-O-Matic rear suspension. The new rear suspension adjusts automatically to give uniformly smooth riding qualities under all load conditions. In addition to new, more luxurious interiors, Ford's handsome 1968 pickups are offered with new 300-cubic-inch and 390-cubic-inch V-8 engines, larger front and rear brakes, new integral air conditioning and a sound deadener package that provides passenger car quietness.

Hay Fever And Allergies

"Aaaaaa-choo!" The sneezing season confronts some 20 million Americans.

In summer, ragweed and other plants unleash billions of microscopic grains of pollen upon hay fever sufferers. Eyes water, noses tickle, and sneeze after sneeze leaves the victim weakened. Allergists estimate that the ragweed plant alone affects more Americans adversely than smog.

The prolific weed thrives best in freshly turned soil, thus it may be especially troublesome this summer, the National Geographic Society says. With work on the Interstate Highway System in full swing, millions of tons of earth are being exposed. Construction sites for myriad new housing projects also provide a haven for ragweed.

Hay fever—which doesn't come from hay and rarely produces any fever—is the most common of all allergies. Chief culprit is plant pollen, although a variety of tree pollens and mold spores may also cause this form of acute nasal catarrh.

Summer-blooming plants cause the most misery, but some people cannot tolerate a host of substances ordinarily harmless to the vast majority. Reactions can be as mild as a sneeze, as severe as death.

In France a few years ago, more than half the population of a town came down with an asthma-type illness. It turned out that townspeople were inhaling protein from oastor-oil seeds being processed in a local plant. Some proteins in plant pollen are so potent a sensitive person may react to just millionth of one millionth of one gram. As a doctor put it, "With a gram of such concentrate, we could make the whole world sneeze."

Certain people break out in hives when they eat fish; others develop painful skin irritations after touching specific fabrics, rubber, even plastic dishes. Money is not usually sneezed at, but it literally makes a few people sick. A British skin specialist recently reported that many patients allergic to nickel develop a rash by handling nickel-based objects such as coins, zippers, knives, and forks.

Files of the some 2,000 allergy specialists in the United States are full of unusual cases: a banker allergic to ink on currency; a cowboy to his horse's blanket; an actress to her false eyelashes.

An Iowa woman won a divorce decree on testimony that her husband's presence gave her hives.

More serious are the 30 or so deaths caused each year in the United States by allergic reaction to bee, or wasp stings. This toll compares with 14 deaths from poisonous snake bites.

Allergic symptoms have been recorded since ancient times. Egyptian hieroglyphic tablets indicate that King Menes died from a hornet's sting nearly 5,000 years ago. Hippocrates, the so-called father of medicine, wrote, in 400 B. C. about a patient who could not eat cheese without unpleasant side effects.

Seminole Indians Are Undefeated

Florida's Seminole Indians had more than usual to celebrate this year at their annual Green Corn Dance in the Everglades.

The United States Court of Claims recently upheld the Seminoles' longstanding claim to ownership of some 90 percent of Florida's land.

If the Supreme Court agrees with the ruling, the Seminoles may receive as much as $40 million for the loss of their land.

More than a century has passed since the end of the Seminole Wars, the National Geographic Society says. After years of bitter fighting with the United States, the Indians withdrew into the isolation of southern Florida's wetlands and saw-grass marshes in 1858.

Proud, aloof, and undefeated, the Seminoles never surrendered; they signed no peace treaty. Tribesmen did not even "recognize" the United States until 1938.

Not all the Seminoles found refuge in the Everglades. During the Seminole Wars, many were deported to Oklahoma, a fate that befell Indians from other parts of the Nation. The Oklahoma Seminoles as well as those in Florida would share in the compensation.

In the hot, humid Everglades, many Seminoles still prefer to live in open-sided chickees, traditional thatched-roof shelters.

Where electricity is now available, television antennae protrude from palmetto roofs. Electric sewing machines hum as Seminole women stitch bright strips of cotton into colorful patchwork costumes for tourists.

But dependency on handicrafts is diminishing. Tribesmen find herding livestock more profitable. About half the families cattle herds. On a reservation near Hollywood, Florida, a large electronics firm is turning out components on a site the Indians set aside for industrial development.

A Seminole businessman summed up the new attitude of an increasing number of tribesmen: "Nowadays, Indian is better off adopting white man's ways. We have to live in the future instead of always talking about how many deer our grandfathers killed on hunt."

The traditional Green Corn Dance and its attendant rites survive, however. The dance takes place at an inaccessible spot chosen by the medicine man. The date coincides with the new moon in late June or early July when the green corn ripens.

The climax of the five-day festival is Court Day. In the presence of the Seminoles' sacred medicine bundle, a council of elders formulates policy and decides the punishment of any Indians who have broken the tribal laws during the year.

The usual penalty is social banishment, but in modern times at least one unrepentant murderer was sentenced to death by the elders.

The Automobiles Of Many Years Ago

The new 1968 model of automobiles being shown this month in dealerships throughout Davie County and the nation are a far cry from the ones pictured above. Model T Fords being pulled across the square in Mocksville. The wooden building appearing in the background has since been torn away and replaced by the Horn-Harding Building. The wooden building formerly housed the office and drug store of Dr. M. D. Kimbrough; The W. A. Weant Tin Shop; Armit Sheek Barber Shop; office of the telephone company; a pool room; and possibly others. This is not meant to imply that the occupants listed occupied the building at any given date or were contemporaries. The list is just what several recalled as having utilized the building.

Senator Sam Ervin Says:

WASHINGTON — A victory for human dignity and freedom was won on September 13th when the Senate passed S. 1035, a bill which I introduced to protect employee privacy and other rights. The vote was 79-4. The measure now goes to the House of Representatives where nine Congressmen, including North Carolina's Nick Galifianakis, have introduced similar measures. Congressman Dave Henderson's Subcommittee on Manpower and Civil Service will consider these bills.

With this bill, Congress has the opportunity to reaffirm the belief of the American people in a value system as old as western civilization: that is, in the dignity of the individual; in the unfettered enjoyment of his personal thoughts & beliefs free of the control of government; and in the worth of the expression of his personality in a democratic society. With this bill, Congress may also take a stand on one of the most crucial philosophical and practical problems facing our society — the preservation of individual freedom in an age of scientific technology.

The Founding Fathers a Constitution that was meant to protect the liberty of Americans of every era and its principles are enduring ones. One of the fundamental aspects of our liberty as free men is the privacy of our innermost thoughts, attitudes and beliefs; this includes not only our freedom to express them as we please, but the freedom from any form of governmental coercion to reveal them. Another aspect of liberty is the constitutional protection against self-incrimination. These liberties belong to all Americans, and should not be denied to over 3 million civil servants just because they work for the government.

If this measure is enacted, Federal officials will be unable to direct employees in their off-duty activities, coerce them to invest their money in savings bonds or contribute to charities, inquire of them about their religious beliefs, their personal family relationships or their sexual attitudes and practices, report on all of their assets and creditors and property, order them to disclose their race, religion, or national origin or that of their forebears, or require them to do many other things which invade their privacy and violate their rights as citizens.

There are many denials of rights which are left untouched by the bill. What is important is that it will establish a precedent in this area of the law and create a climate for decision-making in the Executive Branch. The zealous men, the unthinking, careless, impatient, pressured or misinformed men will still make unreasonable or illegal decisions. We cannot legislate against all manner of governmental follies. Where their decisions affect the liberties of the citizen, Congress can only provide the basic standards by which they can be controlled.

This Act will meet three nationwide needs. First, it establishes a statutory basis for the preservation of certain rights of government employees. Second, the bill meets the Federal Government's need to attract the best qualified employees and to retain them with the assurance that they will be treated fairly as people of integrity. Third, the bill meets the growing need to control "Big Brotherism" and its impact upon Federal policies, regulations and practices.

The bill contains exemptions for the CIA, the NSA, and the FBI. If I were legislating alone, I would rather have seen fewer compromises than are now contained in this measure, but it represents the best obtainable Senate legislation on this subject. I am hopeful that the House will take action on it soon so that its standards will protect Federal workers.

So This Is New York
By NORTH CALLAHAN

After all the tributes to Carl Sandburg were written it did not seem there was very much left to say. That is until I attended a dinner in his honor here at the Overseas Press Club and some new sentiments were expressed by his old friends. The number attending overflowed one dining room and another was utilized. Carl himself was a valued member of this club, having been a foreign correspondent in Europe during World War I, and as the speakers testified, always liked to be known as a newspaperman. Fannie Hurst, not looking her years, briefly praised the late writer as a true American whose like will not be seen again. Harry Hansen, who worked with Carl on the Chicago Daily News, told how he reviewed books for the paper and Carl would come in to look them over to see if any interested him. "Everybody knew," Hansen said, "even at that early date, some 50 years ago, that Sandburg was something special and the outstanding person we had, among whom were John Gunther and Ben Hecht."

Tallulah Bankhead whom I met and chatted with and learned she is not well, nevertheless got back into good acting form when she stood at the mike and boomed out in her low voice, how much she cared for Carl Sandburg as a friend. She related that once in Madison Square Garden at a meeting, she actually forgot Sandburg's name. She told how he had complimented her speaking voice, and she paid high tribute to his as a great folksinger and teller of stories. Harry Golden sounded rather weak when he began to speak but warmed to his favorite subject and told of how he and Carl had fun at Flat Rock, North Carolina where the poet lived his last years. They would make an agenda, Harry said, and each would talk for half an hour on a topic. One day when Carl, who was a late sleeper, noticed that Henry, an early riser was getting sleepy, he boomed out at him that they had not finished their agenda and waked the drowsy Golden into peals of laughter. They had fun.

I first met Carl Sandburg in 1954 when I happened to be head of the Civil War Round Table of New York and wanted him

News and Comment from Our Raleigh Bureau

TOP MAN . . . A man looking for another office in the Insurance Building in March of a recent year—around five or six years ago—stumbled by mistake into the innards of the N. C. Citizens Association.

He suddenly found himself face-to-face with about 11 of the key men of the Legislature. They were in deep, dark confab with Lloyd Griffin, head of the N. C. Citizens Association. Far-reaching decisions were being made at that meeting. This will continue under Ed Rankin, best replacement around. The legislators were not at all upset at the interruption. The visitor, red-faced, excused himself and eased out with an apology.

Probably no man living—a lot of his buddies are now gone—has had more influence on the Legislature than has Lloyd Griffin, 74, who last week announced his retirement as top man in the Citizens group.

About five years ago—when they began saying he was ready to retire—Griffin went in an opposite direction. He, at the tender age of 69, took up golf. Left-handed golf, at that. The fact that he did not call it a day at 70 was due to his good health—and it continues good—and his love for Raleigh and things political. He waited for the Right Man.

A native of Edenton, he has ridden thousands upon thousands of miles by bus since first coming to Raleigh as a State Senator in the early 30's. He still has his 3 or 4 years he and Mrs. Griffin have spent much of their time in a nice apartment on Oberlin Road here just a cross the street from the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Coltrane.

And about Griffin's golf, let this serve as encouragement for you. On Wednesday, September 6, playing at RGA (Raleigh Golf Association), he parred the first three holes.

If this seems like a small miracle, you will turn it into a major one when you learn that Griffin seldom uses a wood—almost always a No. 2 iron—when he hits off the tee. However—and this is the key—he is little short of perfect with his hit-and-run shots and his putts. Fifteen- and 20-foot putts right into the cup are nothing unusual for him.

Baptist lay leader and a teetotaler, Griffin has been teacher of the Men's Bible Class at First Baptist Church in Edenton since 1923. He is seldom absent.

The N. C. Citizens Association is supported by large banks and large industrial firms. It was formed in 1942—during FDR's unprecedented third term—when many a firm in North Carolina and elsewhere felt they should join hands somehow against Washington.

Similar organizations were set up in states all over the country in the 40's. Lloyd Griffin, who had recently been kicked out of his post as head of the State School Commission (he had supported Wilkins P. Horton for Governor against Winner J. M. Broughton), was brought back from his law practice in Edenton to head up the new organization.

And, he has held the job ever since. Jule Warren, largely responsible for building the N. C. Education Association into what it is today, went with the Citizens as editor of their magazine, "We The People", and stayed there until his death. It is still a well edited magazine.

to speak to us. I was told that this could not be done by some who had tried to get him for other occasions. But the prize was too great and I called on him at his Flat Rock home, only to be met by one of the biggest, blackest dogs I have ever seen - which fortunately turned out to be also one of the most gentle. After some cajolery, the historian agreed to appear and I shall always recall with fond pleasure the night when I introduced him to our members from the dais and he poked fun at the plaque he received while making the speech they said was impossible to obtain.

Alaska has the nation's largest land area, 536,400 square miles, and the smallest population of all 50 states, 267,000. More than one-tenth of its population, 27,000, are veterans, according to the Veterans Administration.

The Citizens supported Charles Johnson for Governor, of course, against W. Kerr Scott in 1948. But then—a year later—invited Gov. Scott to be the speaker at their big annual meeting. He accepted all right, but came with blood in his eye, discarded much of his prepared speech, referred to the Association as "We the People Against the People", and generally let them have it with both barrels.

But this seemed only to strengthen the organization.

Although Griffin has had three or four assistants through the years, he has been the boss. A Raleigh native, Joe Elkins, has been with him for many, many years . . . and will likely continue under the new setup. Elkins, who has virtually grown up in the organization, sells most of the advertising for the publication. He also assists with membership sales.

Editor of the publication for several months now has been Bill Armstrong, outstanding Raleigh newsman who came to Citizens from public relations at the Dept. of Motor Vehicles. Rankin selected him.

The Citizens Association was not at all close to Gov. Kerr Scott; but they were hand-in-glove with Gov. R. Gregg Cherry. They were close to Gov. William B. Umstead, got along all right—and better in later years—with Gov. Luther Hodges. One reason Hodges was cool to the Association was that it had supported another man (Roy Rowe of Burgaw) for Lieutenant-Governor in 1952. Gov. Dan Moore is a former director of Citizens . . . There was not much close communion between Terry Sanford and Lloyd Griffin, as you might suppose. The Citizens were for John Larkins, now a Federal judge. Hodges finally came out for Malcolm Seawell, throwing financial support away from Larkins. This was rough.

One of the nicest things that has come the Citizens way in recent years was Gov. Hodges decision to appoint Everett Jordan of Saxapahaw to succeed the late W. Kerr Scott in the U. S. Senate. Next to Griffin himself, Jordan has meant most to the organization. He and Griffin gee-haw perfectly . . . and he has been successful in getting the top business men in the nation as speakers at the Citizens annual meetings.

For a time it began to look as if the N. C. Citizens Assn. would expire by stages as Griffin moved toward retirement. It is seldom in the papers (but it gets things done!). Citizens will go on to new heights under the leadership of Ed Rankin. Look for it. He's a natural for the job.

60 Second Sermon

By FRED DODGE

TEXT: "Only the service consider service shameful." — Eif Thomas.

A haughty young man, returning to his home town after a stay in the city, strutted into a local dining room. Pushing aside the menu, he asked pompously,

"I say, do you have any wild duck?"

"No," said the waiter who knew him when, "but we can take a tame one and irritate it for you."

The waiter may have been sarcastic, but he did offer service. It is well established that life attains meaning only through service. Dr. Albert Schweitzer, a great soul dedicated to service, stated, "One thing I know; the only ones among you who will be really happy are those who have sought and found how to serve." When happiness and satisfaction in life depend upon serving others, why is it employed so seldom? Perhaps it is because too many of us confuse service with servility. We are too proud and self-centered to serve. We think that serving others diminishes us. Actually, those who serve acquire stature. Only small persons consider serving others shameful.

No one is honored for what he receives. Honor is the reward for what he gives. To be happy and satisfied, remember, that service is not servility. It is the mark of a truly great and free individual.

Uncle Dave From Davie Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

I didn't git to the session at the country store Saturday night on account of some of my old lady's kinfolks dropped in on us fer the week end. They didn't seem to know nothing about the bad shape things was in around Washington and the country in general and all they talked about was how much money they was making and how far ahead of the Joneses they was gitting. I couldn't squeeze in a word edge-wise and all I could do was set and listen.

After they took off Monday morning I was thinking about having a word with my old lady about roamin' kinfolks but I changed my mind. I was like the feller when the Judge ask him if he'd ever been mad enough to bop his wife one and he said he'd never been mad enough but he didn't never have the nerve.

If you don't git to the session at the store Saturday night you ain't got what them Washington column writers calls a "consensus" on the situation, and all you know is what you read in the papers. The fellers at the store usual diagnoses the news and you git to the real bottom of things.

But I've clipped several pieces out of the papers that I aim to take to the sore Saturday night and git diagnosed. First off, I see where the Congress is fixing to make the third Monday in February legal fer Washington's Birthday, the last Monday in May fer Memorial Day, the first Monday in July fer Independence Day, the last Monday in October fer Veterans Day, and the fourth Monday in November fer Thanksgiving Day.

I don't know how the tellers will vote on them new birthdays but fer me personal, Mister Editor, having Thanksgiving on a Monday instead of Thursday was desecrating the graves of our Pilgrim forefathers. Them Congressmen had ought to be ashamed of theireselves.

But it looks like we was slow but shore doing away with all our old American traditions. I can recollect, fer instant, when you'd go to church on Sunday and they would be a half dozen sweet little old white-haired grandmothers setting in the front pews. Today nobody but the wimmen at the beauty parlors knows which ones was was gitting ready fer their first wedding.

And here's one I clipped fer the fellers Saturday night. The Civil Service Commission has give a new order fer all workers: "In the event of attack on the United States and until further notice A. Section 831.107 of Subpart A Subsections 831.502 B and 2 and C a and 2 Subpart E are suspended and B. Part 831-831 is added to the Commission regulations." I want to see Clem Webster of the Great Society diagnose that one, Mister Editor.

Yours truly,
Uncle Dave

Quarterly Dividend Of 20c Per Share Is Declared By CCB

Central Carolina Bank has increased its regular dividend from 15 cents to 20 cents per share, Charles F. Bahnson, CCB assistant vice president, said yesterday.

Directors of Central Carolina Bank on September 12 declared a quarterly dividend of 20 cents per share, payable October 2 to shareholders of record of September 15. This brings total dividend payment so far for 1967, to 80 cents, as compared with a total of 60 cents per share paid in 1966.

In other action at its Durham meeting, the board authorized management to explore with bank supervisory authorities the possibility of increasing capital funds through the issuance of debentures.

Bahnson said that board members heard a report from management that total assets at the end of August had increased to $83,170,925, an increase of 14 per cent over totals for August 31, 1966. Deposits advanced from $72,749,839 to $83,026,533 during the same period, and loans outstanding moved up by 10 per cent to $51,086,375.

The directors also elected Hubert L. Bailey of Advance to membership on the bank's Mocksville Board.

Taxpayers Ask I.R.S.

Question and Answer Column No. 67-37

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q - I just started my first job. How many exemptions should I claim for withholding purposes? I'd rather get a refund than have more taxes to pay next year.

A - If you claim no exemptions on your withholding certificate then more will be withheld from your paycheck than if you claim one exemption for yourself.

Note that if you do not claim all the exemptions you are entitled to on the withholding certificate filed with your employer, you have not forfeited your right to claim them at a later date. You can, and should, claim all the exemptions you are entitled to on your income tax return.

Q - My cleaning woman doesn't have a Social Security number. Should I just leave that information out when I file the quarterly return on the wages I pay her?

A - No, a Social Security number is needed so that her earnings may be properly credited to her account. This will help make sure that she receives the Social Security benefits she is entitled to.

Application for a Social Security number should be made on Form SS-5 available at local IRS and Social Security Administration offices.

Q - My income so far this year has been lower than I expected. Can I just forget about the next installment of my estimated tax or do I have to file an amended declaration?

A - If your tax liability appears to be greater or smaller than you originally estimated then an amended declaration should be filed. You will find the form for doing this printed on the bill for the third installment which is due September 15.

If you do not receive a quarterly bill, send a postcard to ask your local IRS office for a copy of Form 1040-ES (Amended).

Q - I just stopped working to go back to school. When should I get my W-2 statement showing my earnings and withholding?

A - Your employer should provide you with a statement of wages paid and taxes withheld at the end of your employment. If you have not received such a statement ask your employer about it.

Look how this flameless electric range cleans its own oven. All you do is whisk.

Wonderful things happen when you start cooking with a new flameless electric range. For one thing, many flameless electric ovens clean themselves automatically. Just think instead of stopping, scouring and scrubbing—you set the simple controls. That's all. Your oven cleans itself.

Not only that, but you'll notice a flameless range keeps your kitchen cleaner—including your walls, cabinets and curtains. Your kitchen stays cooler and more comfortable, too. And because electric cooking is so automatic, you'll cook with new pleasure and ease.

Talk to your favorite electric appliance dealer or Duke Power soon about a flameless electric range... and start on your way to the cleanliness, the convenience, the joy of Total Electric Living.

"An Apple a day for the teacher." Well, apples are good for everyone, so here's a quickie for dinner today. It goes good with everything and can be cooked on top of the stove. Really delicious and glistening!

Peel, core and quarter 6 to 8 cooking apples, 2/3 cup raisins plumped in hot water. Bring to a boil in saucepan 2/3 cup honey, 2/3 cup sugar, 2 tsp. cinnamon, 1/2 tsp. red food coloring and boil for ten minutes. Add apples and cook until tender, turning often to cook evenly. Lift apples onto platter and pour raisins and syrup over all. May be served as is or with ice cream.

A Casserole for a cold day

Put 2 cups of red kidney beans drained into a casserole, add 1/2 cup grated sharp cheese, add 2 more cups of kidney beans, and sprinkle 1/4 cup more of grated sharp cheese. Add 6 to 8 small white onions cooked. For a topping

Farmington PTA Has Reception

The Farmington School PTA held the first meeting of the year Monday, September 11, with Mrs. Gilbert Boger, president, presiding.

Rev. Paul Hart, of Bethlehem Methodist Church, made an inspiring talk on how we should strive to have wisdom, knowledge and understanding to live and do our best in our surroundings. His talk was based on quotes from the book of Psalms.

Room count was won by Mrs. Duncan's first grade.

Punch and cookies were served at a reception held after the business meeting, giving all parents an opportunity to meet the teachers.

Farmers Home Agency Makes $190,000 Water System Loan To Faith

A $190,000 direct loan to the town of Faith in Rowan County, North Carolina, to develop a central water system has been approved by the Farmers Home Administration, reports Melvin H. Hearn, the Agency's State Director.

The loan will enable the town of Faith to drill deep wells, install pumps and well houses, construct a 300,000 gallon standpipe storage tank, and lay 30,000 feet of pipeline. Fire hydrants will be located at strategic intervals along the lines. Construction of the system will provide some 3000 man-days of labor for engineers, well drillers, operators of ditch digging equipment, laborers and others. Some 25 people will be employed in the construction of the water system.

The town has no water system at present and the people now obtain their water from individual wells. Individual wells are difficult to obtain because of the granite formation "dry" the surface. Many wells go dry each summer and are contaminated.

The new system will provide water to 190 residences, 12 businesses and one school in addition to the local fire department. The system has been designed to provide potable water in sufficient quantities to all present users as well as provide for future growth of the area.

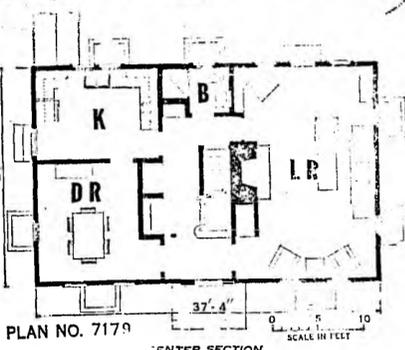

It should serve to make the town a more attractive place to build homes and industry.

The Farmers Home Administration loan will be secured by general obligation bonds recently approved by the town voters in a local water bond referendum, and repaid over a period of forty years.

Mayor of the town is Mr. Marcus Sifford of Faith, North Carolina.

The North Carolina Fund, first statewide anti-poverty agency, is conducting one of three major low cost home ownership for the poor experiments—soon to be evaluated by Mobilization for Youth, Inc., of New York City. MYF has received a $38,400 six-month grant from the Office of Economic Opportunity to study housing programs administered by the Fund, the Housing Development Corporation of Washington, D. C., and a city housing authority program in Philadelphia, Pa.

1 1/2 Story Home Built In Stages

One of the main features of the 1 1/2 story house plan developed for the Agricultural Extension Service is that the house can "grow" as the family grows. It is designed with the idea of its being built in stages.

The center, or main part, of the house is self-sufficient and contains a full basement with workshop, shop, utility room and a large recreation room with fireplace and closets.

The first floor contains a large living room with fireplace and an outside entrance at the rear of the house. The bathroom contains a large shower stall. The modern kitchen has two revolving corner base cabinets, dishwasher, range,

There is a separate dining room, hallway and coat and cleaning equipment closets.

The second floor has a full bath and two large bedrooms with plenty of closet and storage space.

The plan includes a one story addition that contains a study, bedroom with closet, bath and storage closets. It also has an outside entrance.

Another addition could be a one-car garage with storage for garden equipment, work bench, etc.

Either or both of the additions could be built at the same time as the main house or at a later time as the need arose.

Detailed working drawings of this plan (7179) may be obtained by writing to the Extension Agricultural Engineer, N. C. State University, Raleigh, N. C., or from your county agricultural agent.

Blackwelder Reunion At Chestnut Grove

The annual Blackwelder Reunion was held Sunday, September 10th, at Chestnut Grove Methodist Church. According to older members of the family, they have been meeting for about a half century.

For many years the families met at the home place of Allen Monroe Blackwelder, who moved from Stanley County to Davie County in 1853. After building his own home, he helped to establish a school and a church. The school is now William R. Davie Elementary School and the church is Chestnut Grove Methodist Church. Mr. Blackwelder was one of six members at the beginning and donated much of the timber for the church's construction. He was the first person to be buried in the cemetery.

Clyde Blackwelder, president, welcomed guests to the Reunion and recognized the only living grandchild of Allen M. Blackwelder. She was the daughter of Hector Harris Blackwelder.

Mrs. Paul B. Blackwelder showed the group a book entitled "Blackwelder and Allied Families" which traced the family history from the little town in the Black Forest of Germany from which they came showing a picture of the Lutheran Church they attended. Also, a picture of the first ancestor to come to America. For many years they retained their German name which was SCHWARTZWALDER.

Mrs. Osby Blackwelder brought greetings from the descendants of Allen M. Blackwelder who live in Missouri. She also had a copy of their family history.

Lester Blackwelder was in charge of publicity and arrangements for the meeting.

The president appointed Mrs. Osby Blackwelder chairman of a committee to work on local family history.

Cope Reunion

The annual Cope family reunion will be held Sunday, September 24 in Park Recreation Center. All relatives and friends are invited to attend. Luncheon will be served at 1 p. m.

'68s Top Secrets are here 1968 Chevrolets

The 1968 Chevrolets are the very essence of modern design. Every line, every curve is in close harmony. It's a smooth, uncluttered look with roof lines compatible with body lines, grilles and bumpers that blend gracefully into long, rounded fenders. Clean, flowing, beautiful in their simplicity, these '68 Chevrolets are rich and advanced in styling beyond any you've ever seen. A MORE SILENT RIDE And for 1968, we've gone to every length to give you more peace and quiet inside. The most sophisticated computers have been used to strategically isolate noise and vibration. Shock absorbers have been improved. The wheel stance on many models is wider for greater smoothness. Exhaust systems have been redesigned to make them whisper-quiet. Even the clocks tick more softly. A sound car is a silent car. The '68 Chevrolets are the most silent, highest quality cars we've ever built. UNIQUE ASTRO VENTILATION There's a whole new idea in ventilation, called Astro Ventilation, for Camaro, Corvette and the elegant Caprice Coupe. It's also available on many other models. By opening two new vent-ports on the instrument panel, you bring in outside air that can be directed where you want it. This way, you can leave your windows rolled up and add still more to your peace and quiet. BETTER PERFORMANCE There are new engines, a bigger standard Six and V8. There's a new 250-hp V8 you can order that runs on regular fuel. Many new engine components increase dependability and keep your new Chevrolet running stronger. There's a new rear axle ratio you can add for greater economy. On most engines equipped with automatic transmissions, there's a special heater for the carburetor which gives you more efficient performance in cold weather. And with every engine, you get the new GM exhaust emission control. master cylinder brake system with warning light, plus many more new features. Among them: energy absorbing front seat backs, and safety armrests that shield the door handles. MUCH MORE THAT'S NEW There are new roof lines, some formal and graceful, others sporty and quick. There are new instrument panels, richly designed and all controls within easy reach. There are new interiors, new vinyls, new fabrics, new colors. There are models with Hide-A-Way windshield wipers and headlights that disappear behind grilles. There are new side marker lamps, new recessed taillights. There's even a new ignition alarm buzzer that reminds you not to walk away and leave your keys in the car. These are the newest, the most different, the most dramatically changed Chevrolets ever. And they're at your Chevrolet dealer's now. You'll thoroughly enjoy slipping behind the wheel, experiencing the smooth new handling and library-quiet ride and, more than anything, seeing and feeling the even greater quality built into every new Chevrolet for 1968.

Davie High Rebels Meet W. Rowan Friday

The Davie County Rebels will meet their arch rivals the West Rowan Mustangs in a North Piedmont Conference game Friday night at 8 p. m. at the football field. Kickoff time is set for 4 p. m. in a game that will go a long way in settling the conference championship.

Davie County's Rebels defeated East Rowan's Mustangs by a score of 7-0 Friday night, September 15, at the East Stadium.

Jason Lacey, Sportswriter for the Salisbury Post, wrote the following account of the game:

Davie County's Rebels struck for a first-quarter touchdown and controlled the ball for most of the game, making East Rowan's home opener by a score of 7-0 last night at the East Stadium.

The Rebs ground out 171 yards on the ground and racked up 11 first downs. Halfback Dennis Cartner was the big gun for Coach Jack Ward's charges. He rushed for 74 yards and was the workhorse for Davie. Henry Johnson carried the ball for 31 yards and Hank Ridge, Davie fullback, ran for 34 yards.

Davie County scored the second time it got the ball. Quarterback Joe Mando fired a 15-yard touchdown pass to Don Everhart, who made a driving catch in the end zone for the score. John Norton, Jr. added the extra point, and that was all that Davie needed for its first win of the year.

Davie squared its record at 1-1 overall and 1-0 against conference foes. Albemarle of the South Piedmont Conference whipped the Rebs last week by a score of 20-0.

The Statistics

Davie County

Player	Yards	Loss	Net
Cartner	18	75	1 74
Ridge	8	34	0 34
Johnson	15	32	1 31

East suffered its first setback of the young season, and its record is also 1-1. The Mustangs surprised South Rowan last week by a 16-0 score. East is 0-1 in the NPC. Jack Phillips led the East rushers with 53 yards. The stout Davie defense limited the Mustangs to only 56 yards total rushing, as it held the other East backs to only three yards.

East quarterback Tony Yarbrough completed three passes for 49 yards. In the final minutes of the game he connected on 14-yard and 31-yard aerials to Gary Earnhardt.

Davie coach Davie Ward was pleased with the way that his charges controlled the tempo of the game. "We wanted to play ball control and throw early, if we had to," said Ward after the game.

"Joe Mando and Ronnie Shoaf, our offensive and defensive quarterbacks, respectively, did a real fine job for us," said Ward, who was pleased with his entire team's showing.

East coach W. A. Cline said, "We just didn't go consistently." "We couldn't get any offensive drive going, and that got us all off our game plan." "Davie's defense and ball control offense was the whole key to the win."

East took the opening kickoff, but it was forced to punt to Davie. The Rebs took over on their own 35-yard line, but they lost the ball three plays later as Gene Ligon, East defensive end, recovered a Johnson fumble.

PENALTY HURTS
A 15-yard clipping penalty halted East's drive, and the Mustangs booted the ball to Davie at its own 36-yard line. Cartner ran for four yards, and Ridge got six more and the first down.

Davie stuck to its grinding ball. The speedy Cartner then ripped off an eight-yard jaunt into East territory at the 48-yard line. Johnson hit for two yards and another Reb hit for two yards. Mando hit Gene Shelton with a short pass. Shelton pitched back to Ridge, and Davie picked up two more yards.

Mando then fired a 22-yard pass to halfback Dale Smith at the East 22. Ridge ran for three yards, and Johnson got four to move the Rebs to East's 15-yard line. Mando hit Everhart in the end zone for the score with 2:43 showing on the clock. Norton booted the extra point for a 7-0 Davie lead.

East stayed bottled up in its own territory and managed only two first downs during the entire first half.

HENRY JOHNSON
—Back and Linebacker—

FRED BAILEY
— Goes Both Ways —

control offensive attack and didn't give East an opportunity to handle the ball. Yarbrough got East rolling late in the fourth quarter. East started a drive on its own two-yard line. Yarbrough hit Earnhardt with a 14-yard pass. After an incomplete pass, he fired a 31-yarder to Earnhardt at the Davie County 47-yard line.

With time running out, Yarbrough again went back to pass, but a torrid Davie pass rush made him throw early. Johnson intercepted at the Davie 41-yard line, and the Rebs ran out the clock.

Health Tips FROM THE American Medical Association

Mumps is a virus infection of the parotid gland, one of the salivary glands, immediately below the ear lobe and behind the angle of the jaw, says Today's Health, the magazine of the American Medical Association.

The best sign of mumps is a tender, smooth, firm swelling that covers the corner of the jawbone where it turns upward toward the ear, the magazine reports.

Mumps in a child is usually only mildly incapacitating and moderately uncomfortable. Many cases in children are so mild as to go unreported by parents. A mild medication for fever and the discomfort of mild headache and muscle aches may be used as needed.

Normally the child recovers in five to seven days.

In the teenager or adult mumps is more serious. The virus is more likely to involve other areas such as the pancreas, and to result in a more substantial pain and severe loss of food intake.

The danger for mumps with its potential for sterility in the ovary or testis is well known. The chances of sterility are only and only slightly increased, however. Physicians usually advise a complete bed rest for a week with mumps. Great care should be taken to avoid greater complications.

Mumps is a highly contagious disease. Contact with saliva or contact with the mouth of an infected person is the most common way the disease is spread.

Most cases of mumps are mild, but it is important to note that some cases are severe. Most cases of mumps are mild, but it is important to note that some cases are severe.

Central Carolina Bank To Open Here Monday

Central Carolina Bank will open for business in its new Mocksville Office on Monday. The colonial style building on the corner of South Main and Water Streets has been under construction since February.

The Rev. James Ratchford will pronounce the dedicatory prayer. M. H. Murray, chairman of CCB's Mocksville Board; George W. W. Hill and Paul Wright Jr., Central Carolina Bank chairman and president, will represent the bank; and Mayor D. J. Mando will cut the ribbon.

The new bank office contains more than 4,200 square feet of usable floor space, and is located on a plot 220 feet deep, thereby providing 25 parking spaces and ample area for drive-up window service.

Features of more than passing interest are: A spacious conference room, with outside entrance, which will be available for public use; A lobby desk for customer convenience and customer service; A night depository for commercial use, accompanied by a letter drop for use by individual customers outside banking hours; large coupon booths for use by safe deposit customers; 120 safe deposit boxes in sizes up to 40 x 15 inches.

The new Central Carolina Bank . . . located on the corner of South Main and Water Street in Mocksville . . . will open Monday. A grand opening and public open house is scheduled for next weekend.

Direct Distance Dialing Goes In Effect Saturday

A new service will be at the fingertips of all Mocksville Telephone users beginning at 8:00 a.m., September 30, 1967. The new service, called Direct Distance Dialing (DDD), has been in the planning stages about two years for the local telephone exchange.

cities are listed in the regular Mocksville telephone directory. The directory also contains dialing instructions and a list of many cities that can be dialed direct.

This system will enable local telephone users to dial direct most of their out-of-town, station-to-station calls without the assistance of an operator. Switching and recording of calls is virtually automatic. An operator will, however, come on line after the dialing is completed to obtain the telephone number from the person making the call.

Here, briefly is what happens when a person spins the dial on a Direct Distance Dialing call. When the number "1" is dialed the telephone is connected to the huge electronic brain of the DDD center. If the call is to Atlanta for example, the dialing of the Atlanta area code 404 directs the call to the Atlanta long distance circuits then dialing the Atlanta number, completes the connection. At this point the long distance operator comes on the line and asks for the Mocksville telephone number. The operator quickly punches in the number on a special DDD switchboard and the call is released to speed-on-to-its-destination.

Merger Of Banks Is Approved

The merger of The Bank of Davie in Mocksville into Branch Banking and Trust Co.-of-Wilson was approved Wednesday September 20, by the State Banking Commission.

Under merger terms, Branch Banking will acquire two new offices where The Bank of Davie now operates in Mocksville, thus breaking into the populous Piedmont for the first time.

John Johnstone, cashier of The Bank of Davie, said the firm's recent growth has outstripped its ability to offer customers all the services they need. "It is impossible to offer these services to the community without a merger," he stated.

Johnstone said holders of 88 percent of the local bank's stock voted in favor of the merger. There were no votes against it.

Absorbing the two Bank of Davie offices in Mocksville will bring Branch's total office to 43. The closest Branch Office to Mocksville is in other action, the commission gave its permission to three banks to open new branch offices in various communities.

The commission approved applications from Wachovia Bank and Trust Co. to open a branch at Hovis Road and Green Street in Charlotte; Commercial and Farmers Bank in Rural Hall to establish an office in Stanleyville; and The Northwestern Bank in North Wilkesboro for a branch at Cloverdale Avenue and Miller Street in Winston-Salem.

New teller's window facilities were authorized for First-Citizens Bank and Trust Co. in the Meadow community eight miles east of Benson, and for Northwestern Bank at Taylor's Warehouse in Winston-Salem.

The commission also approved requests from Wachovia to move the tentative location of its Surgaw Street Office in Charlotte from North Tryon Street to a site across the road; American Bank and Trust Co. in Monroe to relocate its drive-in branch there from 318 N. Hayne St. to Roosevelt Boulevard and Piedmont Bank and Trust Co. in Davidson to move its Mooresville branch from 188 N. Main St. to a new building across the street.

Davie Methodist Training School To Start This Sunday

The Davie County Methodist Leadership Training School will be conducted at the First Methodist Church in Mocksville, Sunday, October 1 through Thursday, October 6, at 7:30 p. m. each evening.

This annual school provides the opportunity for officers of the church, church school teachers, workers with youth, members of the Commission on Education, and others seeking to learn more about the church, its organizations and methods of service.

Courses being offered this year include:

"Using The Bible With Children," is a course offered for a study of the program of the Methodist Church and methods of planning for use of the Bible in guiding the religious development of children. Both parents and teachers will find this course helpful. It will be taught by the Rev. Glen McCulley of Dallas, N. C. Mr. McCulley is a native of Lenoir, N. C. and received an A. B. degree from High Point College and a B. D. degree from Duke University. He has held pastorates at First Church, Charlotte; Trinity Methodist Church, Winston-Salem; Action Methodist Church, Asheville; First Church, Norwood and is now pastor of First Methodist in Dallas, N. C. He is married to the former Evelyn Loven and has two daughters, Lucretia, age 12, and Mary Evelyn, age 8.

"What It Means To Be A Christian: Daily Problems of Senior High Youth" will be taught by the Rev. Reginald J. Cook of Winston-Salem. This course is being offered for young people ages 15 to 21. It deals with Christian attitudes and behavior in all types of situations and relationships. Mr. Cook is a native of Maiden, N. C. and received his education at Pfeiffer Junior College, High Point College and Duke University. He has served the following appointments in the Western North Carolina Conference: St. John's Methodist Church in Gastonia; New Hope Methodist Church in Winston-Salem; Burkhead Methodist Church in Winston-Salem and is now pastor of Crews Methodist Church in Winston-Salem. He is married and the father of three children.

"Adult Learning In The New Curriculum" will be taught by the Rev. Thomas R. Sigmon of Hickory, N. C. This course is designed to orient adult classes to a new day and a new way to understand the Methodist Church's Ministry with adults and to make the adult class a more effective teaching-learning group. It will introduce and prepare the way for the new adult study units for the coming year. All presidents and teachers of every adult class, church school superintendents, commission chairmen and superintendents of adult divisions should enroll. Mr. Sigmon is a native of Catawba County and received an A. B. degree from Lenoir Rhyne College and a B. D. degree from Duke Divinity School. He is District Director Christian Social Concerns for Statesville District. He is married and has two children.

Miss Thorne Is College Instructor

SHIRLEY THORNE

Miss Shirley Diane Thorne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Thorne of R. 1, Mocksville, has been appointed Instructor of Mathematics at Lenoir Rhyne College for the academic year 1967-68.

Miss Thorne is a 1963 graduate of Cool Springs High School in Iredell County and a 1966 cum laude graduate of Catawba College. For the past year she did graduate work in mathematics at Wake Forest University. This summer she taught high school at the Forsyth Technical Institute in Winston-Salem.

Dwight Blackwelder In Veterinary School

Dwight Blackwelder, son of Mrs. T. A. Blackwelder, Jr. and the late Mr. Blackwelder of Mocksville, R. 2, has completed three years of study of Veterinary Medicine at N. C. University, and has been accepted at the University of Georgia, School of Veterinary Medicine for further study.

Patsy Davis Is Dana Scholar

Miss Patsy Davis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter C. Davis of Route 2, Advance is among 60 Guilford College students who have been awarded Charles A. Dana Scholarships for the 1967-68 academic year. Mr. Charles Chilton, director of financial aid, announced the scholarship recipients.

Dana Scholarships range from a minimum grant of $100 to full tuition for one year, with consideration given to financial need.

The Dana Scholars are selected on the basis of 1) scholarship, 2) leadership, and 3) character. Students are eligible for the scholarships after completing their first year of college.

A Dana Scholar may be reappointed each successive year during his college career, provided academic standards are maintained and there is evidence of the development of effective leadership.

The scholars participate in carefully designed programs of special study throughout the year under the leadership of selected professors. They are expected to tutor or to assist the faculty and serve as an advisory committee on faculty and administration.

Rep. Boger On G. O. P. Committee

Rep. GILBERT L. BOGER

Rep. Gilbert L. Boger is one of twelve men in North Carolina who have been selected to serve on the N. C. Republican Legislative Campaign Committee. This committee is composed of eight members of the legislature and four who are non-members.

Their job is to recruit the finest, largest, and most electable slate of legislative candidates in Republican history. Each member is assigned certain areas of the state to assure that there will be candidates for every House and Senate seat.

Last year nearly one half of the seats were uncontested in the general election.

Schools Closed Friday For NCEA Meeting

Schools in Davie County will be closed all day Friday, September 29, in order that teachers may attend the 45th Central District Convention of the North Carolina Education Association being held in China Grove.

Increased attention will go to associational affairs when more than 2,000 educators convene at the meeting.

During the General Session, Dr. A. C. Dawson NCEA Executive Secretary, will preside over a panel which will discuss sanctions legislation. "The Triad of Education," an address by Dr. Tom Haggai, World Ambassador, High Point.

Others appearing on the program are Dr. Charles F. Carroll, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, Raleigh; and Miss Helen Wells, NCEA President, Asheville. Harold Davis, of Handleman, will preside over the General Session.

Other district officers are: Ralph K. Brown, Salisbury, Vice President; Rhonda Robbins, Davidson County, Secretary; and Arnold Lingle, Salisbury, District Director.

The Central District includes the counties of Chatham, Davidson, Davie, Lee, Montgomery, Moore, Randolph, and Rowan.

In addition to the main program scheduled for South Rowan High School, the five NCEA district divisions will hold sessions. The divisions are: Classroom Teachers, Directors of Instruction, Principals, Retired Teachers, and Superintendents. There will be a meeting to organize a new division for the system of community colleges.

The 23 departments hold morning business and instruction meetings. Officers for the following year will be elected by both the divisions and the departments.

The chief appeal to the public of direct distance dialing is speed. It takes only about 4 seconds longer to make a DDD call than it does to dial a local call. Telephone users can dial only station-to-station calls, operators will continue to dial person-to-person calls, collect calls, credit card calls, and other type of calls requiring operator assistance.

With the DDD system, the U. S. and Canada are divided into numbered areas, each identified by area codes. When making long distance calls you dial "1" to reach the special equipment, dial the 3 digit area code and then the distant city telephone number. An operator will come on the line and say, "Your number please." You give the number of the telephone you are using.

If the city you are dialing is within your area, the area code is not dialed. You only have to dial "1" and then the telephone number. For example, Mocksville and Salisbury are in the 704 area. To call Salisbury dial "1" and the Salisbury telephone number. Area codes for distant

While all of this is going on, electronic billing equipment is silently, but accurately, recording the information that the operator would record manually. The machine keeps its books by punching holes in the large roll of paper that slowly, but constantly moves through the device. Once a day a technician removes the tape and sends it to the accounting center. A series of electronic machines transfers the necessary information on each call to a separate card. These cards are then used in preparing customer's bills.

C. J. Wilson, Local Representative, on the direct distance dialing said, "direct distance dialing is very fast and it can save the customer money. A spin of the dial sends your call across the nation as simple as dialing your neighbor down the street. By calling station-to-station with DDD, you can save up to 35 percent on some calls. Operators are still essential and they will be on the job 24 hours a day to offer assistance and handle calls that you cannot dial direct."

Jeff Bowden Wins In Skeet Shoot

Jeff Bowden, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sheek Bowden, Jr. of Wilkesboro Street, won in the Sub-Junior division of the Tar Heel Open Skeet Shoot (the past week-end).

The event was held at the Tar Heel Gun Club in Advance and ended Sunday.

Jeff completed in the 12-gauge Sub-junior division and was judged champion.

Homemakers Plans Club Meetings

The James Cross Roads Homemakers Club will meet Wednesday, October 4, at 1:30 p.m. at the Community Building with Mrs. E. M. Tutterow.

The Baltimore-Bisby Homemakers Club will meet Thursday, October 5, at 2:00 p.m. with Mrs. O. R. Hoos.

Rotary Views Scout Slides

Harry Monsees, Scoutmaster of Troop 575, showed slides of his recent trip to the Boy Scout Ranch at Pilmont for members of the Rotary Club at their regular meeting Tuesday.

Mr. Monsees gave an interesting commentary as he showed the slides. Eight local Scouts were on the trip with Mr. Monsees.

O. K. Pope, first vice president, presided at the meeting in the absence of the president, Roy Collette. Dr. Bob Foster had charge of the program and introduced the local Scoutmaster.

Guests included Dr. Henry Sprinkle of Mocksville, and Foy Grubb.

A chicken pie and barbecue supper will be held Saturday, September 30 at Bethel Methodist Church. Serving will begin at 5 p. m. Boxes to go will be available.

Methodist Women Plan 'QUIET DAY'

Members of the Women's Society of Christian Service of First Methodist Church will participate this week in one of the most important annual observances of Methodist women throughout the United States.

The "Call to Prayer and Self Denial," initiated by Methodist women in 1867, as a week of prayer and self-denial, focuses on guided mission study, a much needed offering for special mission projects, and a deepened spiritual life. More than 1,600,000 women in 35,000 Societies and Guilds in all 50 states will join in the observance.

The Call is sponsored by the Women's Division of the Methodist Board of Missions. The Division, one of the four major units of the Board of Missions, is a national body through which all local Woman's Societies and Guilds function.

The theme of the 1967 Call to Prayer and Self-Denial is "Feed My Sheep," taken from John 21:17, emphasizing love and brotherhood through care for children and young women in the United States and leadership training for national women around the world. The two major events of the observance are the Program Meeting for interpretation of mission projects to which money from a special offering will be given, and the Quiet Day service of prayer and meditation.

The "Quiet Day" service will be held at 6:30 p. m. Friday, September 29, at the Methodist Assembly Grounds at Swofford.

CCB Announces New Bank Service

Central Carolina Bank is now offering to savers a new service, not previously available anywhere in the state, Charles F. Bahnson, assistant vice president in charge of Davie County operations, said yesterday. The service is Golden Passbook Account, which carries a 5% daily interest rate, offers the convenience of a passbook record, and has many other advantages, Bahnson said.

Golden Passbook is designed for the saver who wants maximum return on his money, but without the need for coupon clipping, fixed maturity dates, or long-term commitments of his funds. It offers flexibility of interest payment in that interest may be credited to the account, paid by check, or withdrawn in cash at any time. Unlike a conventional savings account, anyone — individual, corporation, organization — may save through a Golden Passbook Account.

Bahnson said that there are a few necessary limitations. Opening deposit must be in the amount of at least $1,000. Any additional deposits will be in amounts of at least $100. Withdrawals of principal may be made only with 90 days notice.

The advantages, Bahnson commented, are more than enough to offset the necessary limitations. "For the first time," he said, "An investor can have the high rate usually offered by a certificate of deposit combined with the convenience and flexibility of ordinary passbook savings."

Our lesson Sunday morning was, "The Continuing Witness." Christal witness continues. Paul set Rome as his goal. As christain missionaries we must set goals for the manifestation of God's work. Paul knew this was going to be a tedious journey, yet he pressed forward to a mark of higher calling.

C. C. Cain is doing nicely after having a little accident with a mule. Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Carter, Mrs. Henrietta Holman and Mrs. Ida Mae Howell visited Mrs. Faye Carter and Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Cain, Sunday. Recent visitors of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Cain were Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Naylor of Mocksville, Rev. E. L. Clark and brother, Noah Howell, Mr. and Mrs. William Cain and family, Mr. and Mrs. Hubert West and family and Mrs. Hilda Miller of Winston-Salem.

The Chinquapin Grove Baptist Church pastor and members were invited to worship at Clement Grove Church Monday night. Several of the Chinquapin members attended Revival services at Mt. Nebo Baptist Church, Sunday.

Swicegood Named On Committee

Jerry Swicegood has been appointed as the Young Republican Committee Chairman to the "Draft Stickleby for Governor" committee, according to an announcement made by Phillip Kirk of Salisbury.

Mr. Kirk is chairman of the Young Republican division of the Draft Stickleby for Governor Committee.

Mr. Swicegood, at 24, is the youngest county commissioner in North Carolina. He was 23 at the time of his election. He is a real estate broker, an insurance salesman, a grocer and owns a farm.

Kirk, in announcing these appointments, said, "Stickleby has strong support among Young Republicans and we are in the process of setting up a state-wide organization in his behalf."

Kirk is currently North Carolina's Young Republican of the Year and was named first runner-up as National Young Republican of the Year in 1967.

Marcus T. Hickman of Charlotte is the State Chairman of the Draft Stickleby for Governor Committee.

Davie County people enjoy crafts and books about crafts. An enticing new volume, Artisans of the Appalachians, is ready for them at the Davie County Public Library. It is by Edward L. Dupuy and is subtitled A Follie of Southern Mountain Crafts men. Mr. Dupuy says, "The purpose of the book is to preserve in word and pictures the individual lore of some of the more interesting, important, or best craftsmen of the Southern Appalachians." Don't miss this attractively illustrated and interestingly presented story of the talented artisans of the Appalachians!

There will be a moratorium on overdue books during the month of October. This means that if you have any books out and they are overdue, just bring them back to the library. You will not be fined. The new librarian wants to start fresh and clean, and it is difficult with overdue book records to keep track of. If you find any library books in your house while you are doing your fall cleaning, please bring them back to the library during October and no questions will be asked. Remember from October first to October 31st there will be no charges made for overdue books.

Watch the World Series on TV at the library! A new set will be loaned by Edd Howard of Edd's Radio and Television Service. Thanks to him the public is invited to watch the Series in the library.

Nurse Pens 3rd Novel

Jettie Golden Zachary is the pen name of an experienced nurse who has been registered in five states and has written her third novel which has just been published by Carlton Press.

"Sheltering Oaks" is the name of the new book. It was preceded by "Willow Lane" and "Meadows."

Jettie Zachary has supervised in two states in diverse fields of nursing. She is a member of North Carolina's State Nurses' Association and the American Nurses Association.

The fly-leave on the cover of "Sheltering Oaks" is as follows: The title of this refreshing and readable novel is the name of the gracious and lovely home into which the novel's lively heroine, Cordelia, is surprisingly accepted by a newly won friend, the warm and sympathetic Carrie. It is at Sheltering Oaks where Cordelia comes to know Sherrill, Carrie's brother, who irks her, annoys her, interests her and eventually falls-in-love-with-her. This does not terminate the adventures of Cordelia; instead it is in this book the springboard of a good many vivid and fascinating chapters in which the reader eagerly shares Cordelia's emotions, and fortunes, good and ill.

Under Miss Zachary's expert handling, Cordelia emerges as a real and understandable person. She is no one dimensional heroine; she is at first a girl, and then a woman of integrity and charm, and above all, spirit. She is always human, outspoken, quick-witted and quick acting. She is never a pale milkop of a leading lady, and in a book chock full of incident she emerges as completely believable.

Subsidiary characters such as Sheila, the nurse, are honestly and colorfully delineated; with this character, and in various hospital scenes, the author's long experience in the nursing profession makes for credibility and authenticity.

Cordelia's fortunes are always surprising, although not always happy. Dark clouds of emotional disturbance gather in a mounting sequence of events, but her natural warmth and good sense are restored to make for a sunny and warranted conclusion.

This is a romance which both moves & it moving. It is written with much sympathy and good will, and makes for a most satisfying and absorbing experience to the reader.

About People

By ADELAIDE S. ELLIS

Mr. & Mrs. James Wesley Bryant have returned to New York after spending three weeks here with their mother, Mrs. Mary Bryant. James went fishing several times while here & reported catching fifty seven pounds of fish. Evidently he let his line down on the other side.

Mrs. Louise Gaither, Mrs. L. Vale of Salisbury and Mrs. Adelaide Ellis attended the 75th anniversary of the Fall Convocation held in Winston-Salem. It was held in State College auditorium on Sunday, September 24. Dr. Francis L. Atkins, retired State College president, gave the address.

Mrs. Alice Gaither who was a patient at Davie County Hospital, has returned to her home.

Mrs. Odessa Foster who has been confined to her home with a sprained ankle for a few weeks, is able to be out again.

Henry Dulin is at home after being treated at Davie County Hospital.

Elliot Wilkes, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilkes, is a student at Rowan Tech in Salisbury.

Mrs. Bessie Newsome who has lived in New York for some time, has come home to stay with her children and mother, Mrs. Mary Bryant.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our thanks and appreciation for the many acts of kindnesses, thoughtfulness and prayers shown us during my hospitalization.

Advance W. S. C. S. To Meet Oct. 10

The W. S. C. S. of Advance Methodist Church will meet Tuesday, October 10 at 7:30 p. m. in the Community Building.

Officers of the Thomasville District will present the program. Many visitors are expected.

Yadkin Valley News

The Rev. Jimmy Dillworth delivered the 11 o'clock message at Yadkin Valley, Sunday morning.

The Rev. Lawrence Hobson has been elected to serve as pastor of Yadkin Valley Baptist Church for the coming year. He will begin his year, Sunday, October 1.

Homecoming will be held at the church Sunday, October 15. Guest minister will be the Rev. Bobby Tuttle of Fair View Baptist Tabernacle, who will bring the message each evening throughout the week. A picnic lunch will be served following the Sunday morning service. There will be special singing in the afternoon. The public is invited to attend.

Miss Christine West is spending the week in Stokes county with her aunt, Mrs. John Frank Frye.

Mrs. Geraldine Foster has returned home from the hospital and is improving from recent surgery. Janice Douglit was home from college for the week-end.

Clayton Foster has returned to his home from the hospital. His hand is much improved and he and his family attended church, Sunday.

WMU was held at Mrs. Maggie Hendrix's home with 14 members present. At the conclusion of the meeting the hostesses served doughnuts and coffee.

Mrs. Neil Wrenn is spending a few days with her daughter, Mrs. Betty Caudle and family.

Mrs. Herman Allen spent Monday with Mrs. Addie Martin and Ruby McBride and mother.

Mrs. Addie Martin and Mrs. Stella Hauser were honored Sunday with a fellowship dinner at the home of Mrs. Maude Hauser. Eighty-one relatives and friends attended.

Ninety-four per cent of families in Canada Township, N. C., (population 600) earn less than 2,000 a year. The only local "industry" is seasonal — a Christmas tree farm. No one has a telephone; no one gets a newspaper.

Rescue Squad To Have Fish Fry

The Davie County Rescue Squad will have a Fish Fry Saturday, October 7, beginning at 11:30 a. m. and continuing until 8:30 p. m. at the Rescue Squad Building on the County Home Road.

Fresh flounder, slaw, french fries, hush puppies, dessert, tea and coffee will be served.

Due to an increase in the cost of fish and other supplies, there will be a slight increase in the price of the plates.

The Auxillary is asking for help in making cakes. "If you will make a cake for us to serve, please call 634-2145 or after 5:00 p.m. 492-7773," said an officer of the group.

"Any member of the Auxillary will be happy to come by and pick up your cake. Please come out & support a very good county project."

"Christian Beliefs For Methodists" will be taught by Dr. James E. Hull of Greensboro College, Greensboro, N. C. This course is opened to the general membership of the church. It deals with basic Christian beliefs and the relevancy of these beliefs in the light of recent rapid scientific change. Dr. Hull is a native of Laurel, Mississippi, and is now this year to the college's Department of Philosophy and Religion. He received his A. B. degree from Southern Methodist University and his B. D. from Perkins School of Theology of S. M. U. The Ph. D. degree was awarded by the University of Edinburgh, Scotland in 1959. He is a member of Omicron Phi Tau honor society. After serving as a chaplain with the United States Navy, Dr. Hull was an associate minister in Huntington, Scotland, and Minister of Christian Education to a church in Scarsdale, New York. He came to Greensboro College from Lambuth College in Jackson, Tenn. where he was chairman of the Department of Religion and Philosophy. He is married and has three sons.

The Rev. Gilbert Miller is Dean of the School. This school is sponsored by the WNC Conference Board of Education, and by the 11 Methodist Churches in the Mocksville area. All members are urged to take advantage of these courses.

Magazine Drive In Mocksville

The students in grades 4-8 in the Mocksville School District are again conducting their annual fall magazine drive. Some student will ask you to look through a list of quality magazines. You most likely will have some in your home at the present time. This student will be able to place you a new order or renew a present subscription.

Our school will earn good commission on your subscriptions, new or renewal. The money received will help satisfy needs not normally provided for by school budgets.

In addition to the money earned, our magazine programs contribute, economically and culturally, to the community and gives every student a chance to do something for the school, as well as to develop himself personally.

"Should you have a renewal order or be interested in a new subscription and no student calls on you, please call the school at 634-2740. Your support is greatly appreciated", stated Vernon Thompson.

Joe Mondo and Kathy Peoples were elected president and secretary of the 1968 senior class on Tuesday, September 19.

Beginning early last week the halls of Davie began to glow with colorful, as well as funny, campaign posters. On Tuesday morning, preceding the actual voting, campaign speeches or antics were presented by the candidates and their managers before the entire Senior class.

The candidates and their campaign managers for president were as follows (the candidate in each case is listed first): Freddie Bailey-Gene Johnson, Larry Johnson-Bruce Isaac, Joe Mondo-Phyllis Quillin, Dianne Register-Shirley Young, Michael Seamon-Janice Carter. For secretary the candidates were George Clineard-Mike Barney, Bonnie Day-Suzanne Martin, Barbara Glasscock-Jenny Clement, Darlene Godbey-Linda Frye, Delia Hinkle-Lavada Markland, Vicki Michael-Pat Chandler, Kathy Peoples-June Harris, Tanya Stewart-Mitzi Brigman, and Barbara Whitaker-Susan Nash.

Dianne Sain has been selected to write the news for the team page in the Salisbury Post. This will be done through the journalism class taught by Mrs. Tom Beaver.

The first meeting of the newly formed FBLA club was held Monday. Officers chosen were as follows: President - Betty Durham, Vice President - Tanya Stewart, Reporter - Dianne Sain, Treasurer - Bonnie Day, Historian - Chris Paschall, Mrs. Jimmy Kopley is the club adviser.

Joe Gregory is the Old Rebel for the 1967-68 school year. Joe is a senior and is planning to go into service after graduation. The Rebel is chosen each year by the cheerleaders.

Junior varsity cheerleaders were chosen Thursday, September 14. They are Teresa Cook, chief; Linda Bowden; Joyce Call; Annette Eckard; and Cathy Hinkle. Debbie Bingham is their alternate.

Here And There

By MRS. JOE H. LANGSTON

Grover Allen passed away in Salisbury last week. He had lived in this community several years ago and older people will remember his parents as Mr. and Mrs. Waston Allen.

A group of ladies from Green Meadows Woman's Missionary Society attended a session of instruction and planning for mission work in the coming year, held Monday at the Flat Rock Baptist Church in Yadkin County.

A large crowd gathered at the home of Mrs. Maude Hauser Sunday for a fellowship luncheon, in honor of Mrs. Stella Hauser and Addie Martin from Marshalltown, Iowa. They both grew up here and will be remembered as Stella Thomas and Addie King.

Mr. and Mrs. Dallas McKnight of Fayetteville and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Blake of Greensboro were Sunday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Howard.

All the children of Mrs. Fred White gathered at her home Sunday for a luncheon to celebrate her 72nd birthday anniversary and 55th wedding anniversary. She is bedfast and her conditions remains the same.

Mrs. Bill Wyatt recently had the misfortune to fall and break her arm.

Mrs. Addie Martin and Mrs. Maude Hauser spent Friday with their sister, Mrs. Bessie Smith. Thursday afternoon, they visited Mrs. Nannie and Mrs. Sophia Butler.

The WMS of Green Meadows Church will meet Monday, Oct. 2, at 7:30 p. m. with Mrs. Joe Langston. This month's study has a very interesting subject, "Buddhism in the U. S. A. All members are urged to be present. Visitors are welcome!"

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Langston visited Mr. and Mrs. Milton Livengood at Fork, Sunday. Mrs. Livengood is recovering from a broken pelvis.

Area 10 Nurses Meet At Center

Area 10 of Licensed Practical Nurses Association met Thursday night, September 12, at Whitaker Care Center, Forsyth Memorial Hospital, in Winston-Salem.

The president, Mrs. Hattie Thompson, presided. A membership drive to be completed by the October 17th meeting at Griffith Fire Department in Winston-Salem is planned. There will be an informative program at this meeting. Also, the Hospital that secures the most new members for the Association will receive a plaque to be displayed in their own hospital in honor of the LPN's and recognizing their work. Mrs. Nancy Foster is chairman of the membership drive for Davie County. Anyone who wants to join the Association is asked to contact her.

Mrs. Gwyn Cleary is vice president of the Association and also program chairman. Mrs. Anna Mae Owings is assistant program chairman. Mrs. Ruth Payne and Mrs. Foster are on the Publicity committee and Mrs. Payne is also on the Flower committee.

It was reported that around 50 LPN's attended the Cancer Seminar that was held at Forsyth Memorial Hospital September 7.

The following attended the Association meeting Tuesday night: Mrs. Cleary, Mrs. Foster, Mrs. Owings, Mrs. Payne, Mrs. Bernice Schrest, Mrs. Barbara Graves and Mrs. Beatrice Hendrix. These also attended the Seminar with Mrs. Juanita Lagle and Mrs. Pauline Gregory.

West Va. Evangelist To Hold Meeting

Wallace Skipper is presently preaching for the Church of Christ in Parkersburg, West Virginia, but he became known in this part of the state when he formerly preached at the South Main Church of Christ in Winston-Salem.

Mr. Skipper, author of several workbooks and publications, has held meetings in Ohio, Pennsylvania, Alabama, North Carolina, and West Virginia. He has been asked to come to Mocksville to speak in a protracted meeting of six nights duration. He has consented and will be here at the Church of Christ on North Main Street for their Fall meeting beginning this coming Sunday, October 1st, and closing on the evening of Friday, October 6th. The time of service will be at 7:30 p.m. each night.

Everyone is invited to attend any or all of these meetings. If you don't have a way to the meeting but would like to attend, transportation will be provided gladly. Just call the local minister, Marlin Rohrbaugh, at 634-2666 if you need transportation.

The public is cordially invited to attend any or all of these meetings.

1967 4-H AND YOUTH HORSE SHOW HELD SATURDAY

The 1967 4-H and Youth Horse Show was held Saturday, September 23, at the Mocksville Saddle Club Arena. Twenty-two boys and girls were present to exhibit their skill in horsemanship.

Seven entries won high-point trophies. These were presented to the boy and girl in four divisions who accumulated the highest number of points throughout the twenty-one class event.

Receiving trophies this year were: Penny Handlin and Don Miller, Junior 4-H; Marty Conzalter, Junior Youth; Crystal Pruitt and Nat Angell, Senior 4-H; and Lou Young and Lewis Kooztz, Senior Youth.

Other entries were: Lois Handlin, Lee McClamrock, James Miller, Don Miller, Nan Angell, Renee Hamilton, Ronald Hamilton, Roger Hamilton, Regina Hamilton, Stanley Pruitt, Mickey Groce, Dena Petticoord, Nena Pruitt, Billie Snow, Martha MacAvoy, and Debbie Bingham.

Ribbon girls were Betsy Bingham and Denise Wall. Mr. R. C. Handlin was ringmaster. Judging the Horse Show was Mr. Lonnie Michaels of Lexington. Mrs. Clyde Jordan kept the points.

Others helping to make the show run smoothly were Mr. Clyde Jordan, C. N. Boyer, Clayton Groce, and Charles Williams.

Refreshments for the Horse Show were donated by several business firms and 4-H club members, parents, and leaders. Preparing, serving, and selling food were several dedicated 4-H leaders: Mrs. Huston Hockaday, Mrs. Charles Carter, Mrs. Clayton Groce, Mrs. Fred May, Mrs. C. N. Boyer, Mrs. R. C. Handlin, Mrs. Calvin Petticoord, and Mrs. Lillian Kooztz.

Special entertainment was provided by "The Invaders", a combo composed of Charles Williams, Steve Randall, Mark Fuller, Gary Seaford, Robert Dwiggin, and Vance Seaford.

Sponsors for the Horse Show were: Borden's Dairy, Dot's Beauty Shop, Bill's Barber Shop, C & M Ranchwear, Sealtest Dairy, John E. What do 2 1/2 million American boys and girls have in common with youth on six continents? The answer, says Nancy Hartman, Davie county extension agent, is 4-H. She also points out that 4-H and 4-H-like programs are benefiting 75 countries throughout the world.

National 4-H Week to be observed in the United States, Sept. 30 - Oct. 7, will salute 4-H'ers everywhere. With its theme—4-H, A World of Opportunity, activities will focus on local, state, national and international achievements of the head, heart, hands and health program.

Locally, Agent Hartman says, 4-H Week activities will emphasize the opportunities 4-H offers the boy or girl 9 to 19 years of age. Exhibits and displays will feature the work of current 4-H members. Several events and activities are designed to encourage other youth to join 4-H.

According to the county extension agent, now is a good time to join 4-H. Clubs are reorganizing for the new year and new clubs are being formed in the county. Contact the County Extension Office, in the Co. Off. Bldg., phone 634-2664, for help in joining a club near you or starting a new club.

Locally, the 4-H Week Observance will relate the important contributions made to the 4-H program by volunteer leaders and encourage capable men and women to lead 4-H Clubs.

Statewide and nationally, the week's observance will include a 4-H Report to the Nation, recognition of Friends of 4-H and a drive to expand the 4-H program.

Internationally, the vitality of 4-H is demonstrated through the International Farm Youth Exchange program which has operated in 68 countries, 4-H'ers new in the Peace Corps and through 4-H sister clubs and pen pals activities.

CLARKSVILLE

The Clarksville 4-H Club met Friday, September 8, at the home of Glenn Reavis.

Pam Hendricks called the meeting to order. Susan Beck led us in our pledges.

For our devotions Mrs. Glenn Reavis used Isaiah 40:8 as scripture and "God's Truth Cannot Be Destroyed", as her topic for the devotion. Mrs. Reggie Ingram led our prayer.

For business we discussed getting our record books in on time. Our program was left open for demonstrations by any member who wished to give one in order to help them get an award on their project. Tammy Beck gave us a few tips on sewing. Shirley Reavis gave a demonstration on baking a cake.

For refreshments Pam Hendricks and Dawn Ingram served cookies, potato chips, and drinks. Shirley Reavis also served cake she made for her own birthday. The refreshments were served by candle light, which the children enjoyed very much.

After refreshment the group sang songs and played games until their

Great idea. Make up your own license plate for 1968.

Here's how:

Just choose any word, combination of letters and numbers, or combination of numbers alone, up to a maximum of six characters. A dash (-) or & may be used, in addition. Then fill out the application, and mail it along with a check or money order for $10, prior to the October 1 deadline. Part of this fee goes for the beautification of North Carolina highways and part will be used to help promote travel in our state. In addition to this cost for a personalized imprint, you must pay a regular license fee upon issuance of the plate.

Here are a few examples from applicants who're making up their own personalized license plates for '68: RELAX; TIGER-1; V-I-P; BG & OC; ROBERT; SPORT-3; JWT-LMB; 614-987. The use of personalized plates is restricted to private passenger vehicles.

MAIL TO: PERSONALIZED PLATES, DEPT. OF MOTOR VEHICLES, RALEIGH, N. C. 27602. I hereby make application for a personalized license plate for 1968, and certify that my operator's or chauffeur's license has not been revoked or suspended within two years prior to the date of this application, for any reason other than lack of liability insurance. * My check or money order for $10.00 is enclosed. * A false statement in this regard will cause cancellation of plate and forfeiture of fee paid.

Davie County Little League Football Gets Going!

Uncle Dave From Davie Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:
Most of the session at the country store Saturday night was look up by Ed Doolittle and Zeke Grubb expounding on the evils of our times. Ain't neither one of 'em ever had it so good but to hear 'em talk you would think they was just afore gitting swallered by the whale that got pore old Jonah.

Ever time Ed goes by the bank to pay a little on his note he bums a copy of the Wall Street Journal off'n somebody there. You can always tell when he has been to the bank on account of he brings a few $10 words to the session at the store.

Saturday night, fer instant, he reported we was approachin' a stage of "hospitalitis" in the country. He told the fellers he had saw this piece where it would cost $60 a day in the hospital by 1970 and $70 by 1975.

Ed said he had a heap of respect fer doctors and the medic profession but they was gitting to be victims of our new Great Society thinking. He claimed the more it cost the faster doctors was sending folks to the hospital. He said in the old days, if a feller was sick, the doctor would come by the house onct a day, give him some pills and a heap of good advice and the feller would be up and back at work in a week. But now, allowed Ed, if a feller had roomatism in his big toe the doctor would put him in the hospital and keep him in what they call "intensive care" fer a week.

Zeke was agreed with Ed, said the more it cost at the hospital the more they was gitting overflowed. He predicted the time was coming when the only feller past 50 years old in a community that still had his appendix, gall bladder and tonsils would be the doctor.

And another thing, said Zeke, we was starting to suffer from what Ed and the Wall Street Journal would call "postalitis." He had took note where it was going to cost 5 cents to mail a post card. He reported this piece in the papers said the Post Office Department was now running $1.2 billion in the red and letters was going to cost 6 cent and air mail 10 cent. He was of the opinion we might have to call off the war agin poverty fer about two year to bail the Post Office out from closing down complete.

Personal, Mister Editor, I figger Ed and Zeke was just trying to make big talk lamenting and complaining about these matters. Both of them was covered with Medicare and "hospitalitis" is the least of their worries. Furthermore, ain't neither one of them mailed a post card in 10 year. They want today at yesterday's prices. In a manner of speaking, what they would like to do is to steal home with their foot on third base.

Yours truly,
Uncle Dave

60 Second Sermon

By FRED DODGE

TEXT: "Ambition can creep as well as soar." - Burke.

An ambitious garage owner worked many schemes to become successful. At the age of 43, he died suddenly. At the Pearly Gates, he gave his age. St. Peter, remarking it was unusual to call one so young, checked his files and turned to the garage man.

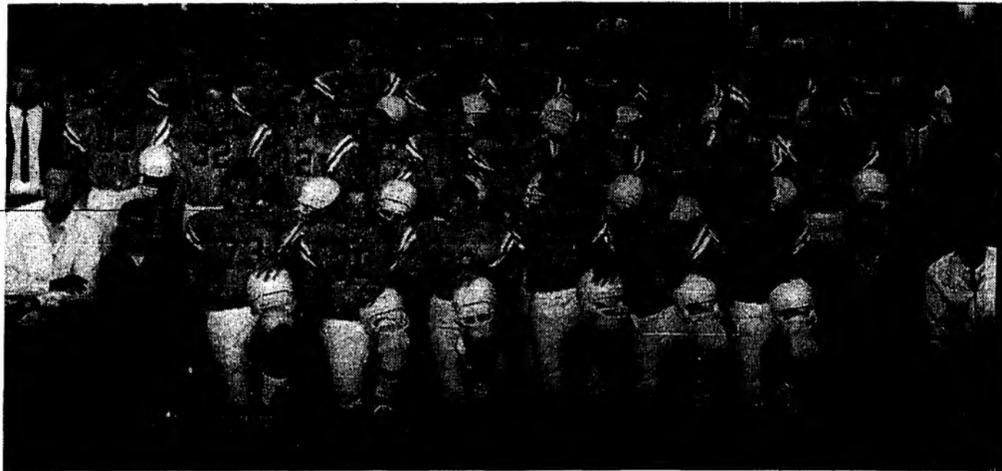

"I'm afraid you're wrong about your age. You're much older. According to the working hours you charged your customers, you're at least 127."

It is well to be ambitious, yet "ambition can creep as well as soar." Even those with soaring ambition may fail and destroy themselves if they employ inferior methods. A historical example is that of Aaron Burr. He was brilliant, a college graduate at seventeen, Revolutionary Colonel at twenty-one, a United States Senator and Vice President at forty-four. When Alexander Hamilton criticized his power ambitions, Burr killed him in a duel. Finished politically, Burr plotted to form an empire in the Southwest. He was

The first games of the Davie County Little League Football Association were played last Saturday night at the Davie High School Field. These games and others to come, are the culmination of a lot of hard work and planning by many civic minded citizens.

For sometime the need and the desire for a football program for boys in the final stages of elementary school has been recognized. Boys of this age naturally are interested in football and some program was needed whereby they could participate with protective equipment and under supervised control.

For several years, Cooleemee has had a little league program, playing in a league in Rowan County. This meant that the boys of that community had access to a program that their contemporaries did not.

It was early last summer that several interested citizens such as John McDaniel, Zollie Anderson, Bill Ward and others took it upon themselves to initiate a football program for the elementary school age boys. At first it was planned to field only two teams. However, after several public meetings it became apparent that the interest was such that it would require more than two teams.

Last August it was decided to develop a county-wide program. Teams were formed at Shady Grove, Farmington and two at Mocksville.

John McDaniel was elected president of the Association; Bill Ward, Vice-President; Donald Riddle, Secretary; and Leo Cozart Treasurer. A purchasing committee to see about uniforms and equipment was appointed. This consisted of Lester Blackwelder, chairman; Bill Ward, Richard Brock and Zollie Anderson.

Davie County businesses contributed to a fund to provide uniforms and equipment. The Mocksville Lions Club, Farmington Ruritan Club and the Mocksville Jaycees likewise came through with substantial contributions. This, plus a candy sale conducted by the boys themselves, made it possible to buy the needed equipment.

The uniforms and equipment were purchased by the association and allocated to the four teams (25). The teams chose their names and with the arrival of the equipment, practice began early in September. The teams and their coaches are as follows:

Shady Grove Panthers: Bill Ward, Head Coach; Assistants, Don Eaton, Arville Stanley and Ronnie Foster. Ken Burton is the General Manager.

Farmington Packers: Donald Riddle is head coach. His assistants are Paul Spillman, Danny Smith, Dwight Jackson. Richard Brock is General Manager.

Mocksville Redskins: Kenneth Howell is head coach. His assistants include Mike Branham, Zollie Anderson and M. H. Groce.

Each team has its own cheerleaders. The association has its rules governing playing and practicing. Now that the season is underway, practice is limited to twice per week. Games will be played each Saturday night at the high school field, with the team alternating, playing one another in doubleheaders.

The association makes a nominal charge for spectators to view these games which goes to help defray expenses. In addition, the association also operates the concession stand. Any money taken in goes back into the program for additional uniforms, etc.

There is an association rule that all boys must play in each game if physically fit. This is to enable all boys to fully participate and takes the emphasis off of just playing the best in an effort to win.

In the season's openers last Saturday night, the Redskins defeated the Packers 7-6 and the Colts defeated the Panthers, 26-0.

"The total aim of the program is to develop boys not only physically . . . but mentally and morally as well", said the president, John McDaniel.

NO GARDEN . . . After years of pulling together, pushing apart—but meantime growing—the fine communities of Leaksville, Spray, and Draper voted at long last a few days ago to become one city.

This is something few neighbors have been able to do in this State and Nation.

Examples: Minneapolis and St. Pauls, in Minnesota, should be one tremendous city. They are not—odds are—never will be. The same goes for San Francisco and Oakland in California.

There are many twin cities which will never be one . . . except geographically. Consider Wilkesboro and North Wilkesboro. Only the Yadkin River separates them.

Jonesville will never, never become a part of Elkin. Only the old Yadkin divides them. Jonesville apparently wants no part of Elkin. And Arlington, a prosperous little village which lies snugly against Jonesville to the south, voted the other day that it did not want to become part of Jonesville.

So—as you were, men.

But in Rockingham County, as noted, Spray, Draper, and Leaksville people showed they had grown tired of the old Tri-City name.

Voting to become one, they also adopted the name of Eden for the big city. But, hold on there: the whole thing—as far as the name goes—could yet land in court.

Edenton, away down east and former capital of this colony says it is already receiving mail which should be going to Eden. What gives here—and isn't the Post Office Department supposed to keep down confusion of this kind?

So, it looks as if—unless something happens—we will have in this fair State an Eden, and the youngest city in the State, and an Edenton, one of the oldest.

Edenton, incidentally, is not without its name troubles otherwise. There is a Denton, no mean city, in Davidson County. Some of the mail goes to W. Denton—or West Denton. A lot of it that is supposed to go to East Denton—E. Denton—ends up, as you might expect, on the Albemarle Sound 275 miles to the east.

All of which has the on-the-ball manager of the wide-awake Edenton Chamber of Commerce a little perplexed. His name is Bob Moore. And, to confound the situation, he was formerly a toiler in the vineyard in what is now Eden. He went from Tri-City to Edenton.

There you have it . . . and it's no garden of Eden . . . but . . . ton of trouble . . . at the moment.

DRIPPING . . . The way things look now, North Carolina will add more population to legal whisky stores this year—1967—than it has, totally, in the past ten years.

From little communities of 3,000 to large ones of 50,000, the people are voting in ABC stores.

Main reason: They are getting tired of seeing all that money—and all those lovely taxes—going to nearby areas. Little St. Pauls, in the edge of Robeson, had been seeing it for a decade flow to Fayetteville.

Davie Rebels Play At Mooresville Friday

West Rowan roared back in the final quarter after Davie had scored to go ahead to rack up two touchdowns and defeat the Rebels 21-13. Previously the Falcons had scored 7 points in the first quarter and the Rebels had scored six early in the second.

On Friday night, the Rebels will play at Mooresville against a strong team that were pre-season favorites to cop the North Piedmont crown. West Rowan scored early last Friday night when Butch Young took a punt on his own 42 and raced 88 yards for a touchdown. Adding the extra point, the Falcons led 7 to 0.

The Rebels came back and with the running of Dennis Cartner and the passing of Joe Mando, moved to West's 25 before being halted just prior to the end of the first quarter.

The Rebels held and forced West to kick. A short punt gave the Rebels the ball on the West 40. Cartner carried for 5, but on the next play the Rebels fumbled and West recovered. However, the Falcons immediately fumbled the ball back to Davie.

Mando hit Cartner for a first down on the 20. After two thrusts into the line had gained only 3 yards, Mando hit Cartner who carried over for the touchdown. Norton's kick for the extra point was blocked by a hard charging West line.

Joe Mando hit 12 out of 15 passes the first half for 105 yards.

The two teams waged defensive battles during the third quarter.

With the opening of the final quarter, West was on Davie's 23. Joe Towell broke through to spill Morgan for a big loss on third down and West punted into the end zone.

Taking over on the 20, Mando hit Don Everhardt who romped 48 yards before being overhauled. Dale Smith added 4; Cartner added 4; and then Cartner picked up the first on the 18. Smith and Cartner carried for another first in four plays which, plus a penalty, gave the Rebels the ball on the 5-yard line.

Davie lost 2 on the first play and tried another into the line which went for no gain. Mando then tossed a short pass to Cartner who carried to the two. On the next play Cartner carried over. Norton split the uprights for the extra point and Davie led 13 to 7 with 7:53 remaining on the clock.

Davie was offside on the kickoff and on the second attempt West returned to their own 42. With Morgan and Young starring, the Falcons moved on long runs for a score in about 53 seconds. Adding the extra point, they were back in the lead 14 to 13.

Davie received, but 3 plays later fumbled and West recovered. The Falcons scored in seven plays, going over from the one. They added the point and with 2:40 to go had a 21-13 victory wrapped up.

The Rebels were hindered in their attempt to fight back with the loss of Joe Mando who was injured shortly after sparking Davie into the fourth quarter lead and had to sit out the remainder of the game. During the game he completed 13 of 22 passes for 159 yards.

MORE ABOUT
Gastonia had watched its thirty citizens drive in droves the 30 miles to Charlotte. It went in to the wet column.

A leading business man in Gastonia—and personally a dry—put it this way last week: "K' they left here to get a little whisky... and that was all... it wouldn't be so bad... but they come back loaded down with everything—shoes, furniture, and groceries. We had to put a stop to it."

And this is what is happening... all around... this summer... as we become dripping wet.

FOOTBALL... Although the season is just getting under way, advisors report that the air is full of surprises as well as pigskins. Some tremendous disappointments, too.

Despite the fact that all members of the Big Four—Duke, Carolina, State, and Wake Forest—have had bowl bids, Tarheel has never had a national champion. We just can't... cannot... make it. In the old days—before the Rose Bowl cut loose from teams of the East and Southeast—Duke was a frequent visitor to the West Coast. The only time the Rose Bowl was played away from Pasadena, Cal., was in 1942... and in our own Durham, North Carolina.

But football champions—in spite of all our importing of players from everywhere—we have not had.

We tried desperately, however. Here's how we tried:

Wallace Wade's Alabama team was national champion on the gridiron in 1925 and in 1928 and in 1930.

Flameless home heating—so cozy and warm—is part of the joy of Total Electric Living

What happens when you change to modern flameless electric heating in your present home?

You get flameless heat that's gentle, even and truly comfortable. Heat that's cleaner and quieter. Your whole home stays cleaner—curtains, walls, window sills... everything.

And electric heating is dependable and efficient. Maintenance and repairs stay low because there are few or no moving parts in most systems. And fuel dollars are not wasted up the chimney in smoke. Automatic flameless heating offers you the widest variety of systems to choose from, many with individual room temperature control.

So make a clean break with the past... and old-fashioned systems. Check into the modern benefits of flameless electric heating.

Although Duke Power neither sells nor installs the equipment, our heating specialists will gladly furnish additional facts.

Four Corners

By MRS. L. S. SHELTON

Homecoming and Revival services will be Sunday at Courtney Baptist Church.

Sunday visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Baily were Mrs. Pauline Crater and two sisters, Stella Mae and Frances, and Mr. and Mrs. Manus Welborn all of Winston-Salem.

Mrs. Irene Warren of Winston-Salem, Mr. and Mrs. Gailther Latham of Pine, Mr. and Mrs. James Nance and Debbie of Cornatzer and Gray Laymon and Stevie visited Mr. and Mrs. George Laymon Sunday.

P. W. Fox and Mrs. Seaford of Salisbury visited Mrs. Joe Shelton, Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Von Shelton entertained their daughter, Cindy with a country ham supper on her birthday anniversary. Guests enjoying the occasion were Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Holder, Miss Norma Holder of Winston-Salem, Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Shelton and Con of Mocksville, Mr. and Mrs. Grady Smith of Farmington, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Parrish and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Shelton.

Some of the children and grandchildren of Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Shelton, Sr. visited in their home Sunday. Other visitors were Mr. and Mrs. Waldon Reavis and Mr. and Mrs. Manus Welborn of Winston-Salem.

This community extends sympathy to all the White families in the death of Mrs. Mary Sain White, early Sunday morning.

Cedar Creek

Cedar Creek

The fall weather is cool and nippy. It puts a Hurrah in the farmers these days filling silos, mowing hay and plowing ground for small grain.

There was a good attendance at Sunday school and worship services. The senior class was beautifully instructed by Mrs. Lillie Scott. The afternoon worship service was conducted by brothers Everett Easton and Julius Reginol. The pastor, the Rev. Warner Hay brought the message. Guests attending worship service were Mr. and Mrs. Warner Naylor of Mocksville and Mrs. Geneva Shaw of Winston-Salem.

Mrs. Luther West, Home Economist, and Mrs. Prudence Johnson, a poverty worker recently organized a Homemaker's Club at Cedar Creek with the women of the Cedar Creek and Chinquapin communities. We hope to name the club at the next meeting which is scheduled for October 16, in the Educational building at Cedar Creek. The following officers have been elected: President—Miss Helen Frances Howell; Vice President—Mrs. Juanita Parks; Secretary—Miss Betty Eaton. We send out a very special invitation to the ladies to come and join our Homemaker's Club, and enjoy the good fellowship. Come and get good information on the temporal side of life as well as the spiritual side, for they both should be intergrated. Visitors will be welcomed anytime.

Recent callers at the home of Mrs. Lula West were her sister, Miss Pearl Eaton of Winston-Salem and Mr. and Mrs. John West of Winston-Salem.

Callers at the home of Lonnie Williams Sunday were Elmer Smith and a friend, Mrs. Shaw of Winston-Salem.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Transou are the happy parents of a new baby boy, Allen.

The Rev. and Mrs. L. R. Howell attended worship services at Mt. Nebo Baptist Church in Harmony, N. C. Sunday.

Callers several days ago at the home of Mrs. William Eaton were Mrs. Lester Morrison of Bethania, Mrs. Ethel Adams of Winston-Salem and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Eaton and daughter of New York. They also called at other homes in the community.

DIRECT DISTANCE DIALING is just around the corner for telephone users in Mocksville. It's the NEW, FASTER way to call long distance. DDD is rocket fast... it's easy... it's exciting. This modern long distance service will begin on September 30, 1967. With DDD, telephone subscribers can dial most of their station-to-station long distance calls direct.

The United States and Canada are divided into more than 100 telephone areas, each identified by a three area code. The appropriate "Area Code" will be used when dialing all points outside your "home" (704) area.

HERE'S HOW IT WORKS...

To dial your own Long Distance calls, you first dial the "Access Code" "1" which connects you with the long distance equipment. If the call is to a point in the 704 area, you will then dial the distant telephone number. If the call is to a point in another area, you will dial the appropriate three numeral "area code" followed by the distant telephone number.

Detail instructions for completion of direct distance dialing for DDD calls are included in the telephone directory.

The Bread of Life

You are invited to visit the Churches of Christ in your community to hear the gospel preached in truth and simplicity. The wise man Solomon once wrote, "There is a way that seemeth right unto a man, but the end thereof are the ways of death." (Prov. 14:12) How applicable these words are for the Twentieth Century. There are throngs of "good" people in our nation who are living by high moral standards and a strict conscience, but who are on the other hand, NOT well pleasing to God. Why? Because far too many individuals are following the paths that SEEM right to them, but will only lead to a eternal damnation.

ONE Spirit, even as ye are called in ONE hope of your calling; ONE Lord, ONE faith, ONE baptism, ONE God and Father of all, who is above all, and through all, and in you all," (Eph. 4:4-6)

Are you a member of that ONE body? Have you been baptized in that ONE baptism? Have you been saved in that ONE way? Then what are you waiting for . . . the judgment? It will certainly be too late then! . . . prepare to meet thy God." (Amos 4:12)

Kenneth K. Hyder, Min. Jericho Church of Christ (ADV.)

Going Away To School

Let us seek after the "old paths" of which Jeremiah the prophet spoke. These are the paths of righteousness that the psalmist spoke of in Psalm 23. Jesus died for mankind thereby making only ONE way by which we can be saved today. "Neither is there salvation in any other: for there is none other name under heaven given among men, whereby we must be saved." (Acts 4:12)

Senator Sam Ervin Says:

Congress moves toward the ninth month of this session with a large backlog of legislative proposals still awaiting action. The Congressional agenda is so lengthy that there is little talk of adjournment even though October in recent years has been the usual completion target.

The major problem to be resolved is the financial one. The gap between proposed spending programs and anticipated revenues has become so great that there are genuine fears about Treasury finances. The basic question is whether there will be enough appropriation cuts to avoid serious fiscal trouble. The Administration is urging Congress to enact a ten percent surtax on individual and corporate incomes, and to complete action on the ten regular appropriation bills now pending in the House and Senate. Congress wants Administration support in reducing spending before it takes up the tax bill.

As almost everyone knows, there is little public support of a tax increase, and particularly so at a time when domestic spending programs are rising rapidly. Still the Administration has shown little inclination to cut and trim the budget it has presented, and there the matter rests.

The Senate began debate last week on the $8 billion anti-poverty authorization bill. The program has been criticized on many counts for some time, and the fight in the Senate and House over this bill is expected to be a long one.

The omnibus "Civil Rights Act of 1967" is undergoing hearings by the Constitutional Rights Subcommittee which I chair. The proposals for this year's "rights" package include the unpopular open housing provision. One of the problems in conducting hearings on this year's bill has been that earlier scheduled hearings were cancelled because of Senate floor debates.

The anti-crime measures are yet to be acted on by Congress. Key measures range from a constitutional amendment on this subject, which I have proposed to permit the use of voluntary confessions in court trials, to the proposed Law Enforcement and Criminal Justice Act of 1967. The latter measure would help states and cities and towns improve their methods of local enforcement through Federal grants.

Two education bills are yet to be acted on by the Senate. The elementary and secondary education bill passed the House on May 24th. The higher education bill has yet to be acted on by the House and the Senate.

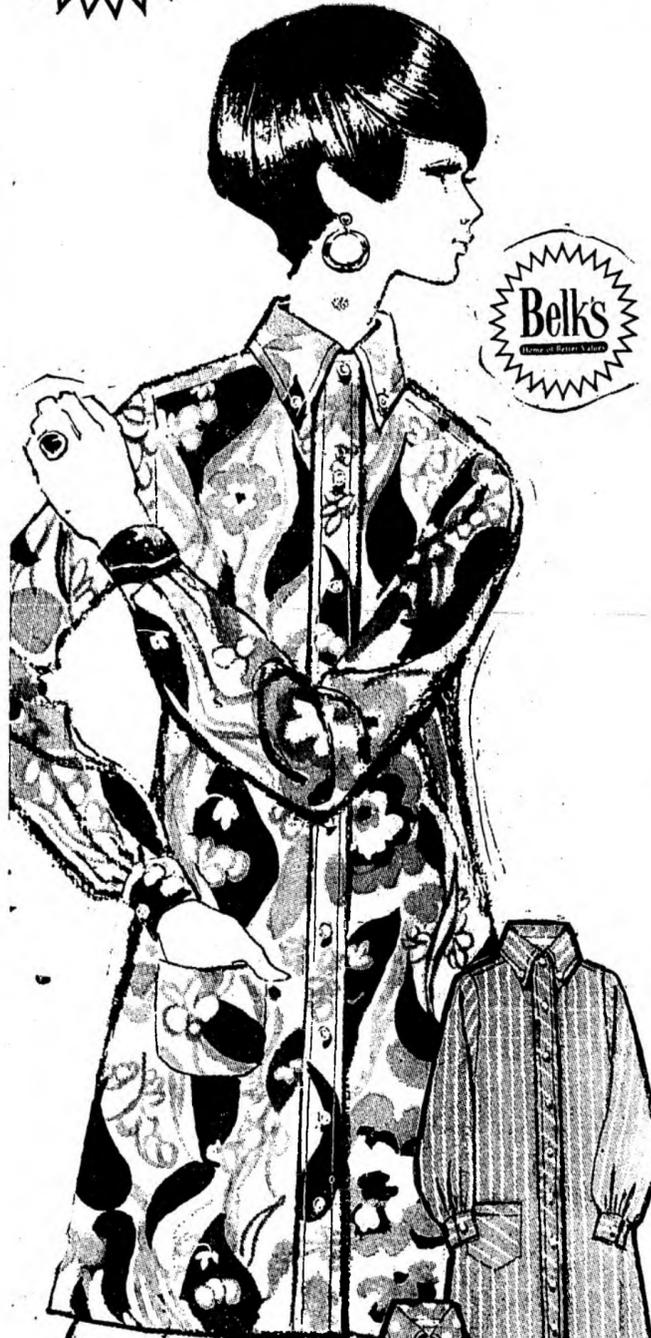

The Senate Finance Committee is now considering the House-passed social security amendments, including a 12.5 percent increase in pension benefits. As approved by the House, the measure would also tighten public welfare programs which disperse funds to dependent children.

These measures and many others await Congressional action in the time remaining before adjournment.
