National Hospital Week To Be Observed Here

The growing role of the hospital as a community health center will be highlighted by the Davie County Hospital during National Hospital Week starting Sunday, May 9, Administrator William E. Roark announced today.

In explaining the theme for the observance, "Your Hospital Cares - but who loves a hospital?" Mr. Roark said: "We think this question is a natural one for the public to ask and we intend to answer it by dramatizing the concern we have for individual and community well-being and the ways in which this concern is involved in our 7 day-a-week, 24-hour-a-day activity." He added that National Hospital Week is only an attention getter for what happens all year long.

This is the 50th annual National Hospital Week sponsored by the American Hospital Association. More than 7,000 hospitals throughout the country will be participating.

Chapel Proposed For Davie Hospital

William E. Roark, Jr., Administrator of the Davie County Hospital, told the ministers that in the proposed expansion a small chapel would be included. Mr. Roark discussed the need for enlarging and expanding the Davie Hospital.

Davie Is Now In 8th Congressional District

Davie County now moves into the 8th Congressional District as the result of the enactment of the redistricting legislation last week by the North Carolina General Assembly.

The bill accomplishes the task of redistricting by shifting only ten counties from one district to another. It leaves all 11 of the state's congressmen in present districts.

In the realignment of the 8th, represented in Congress by Earl Ruth of Salisbury, Davie and Yadkin counties were added and Lee County eliminated. The district is now composed of Scotland, Anson, Union, Richmond, Mon-gomery, Stanly, Cabarrus, Rowan, Yadkin, Davie and Moore counties.

District Court Speeds Disposition Of Davie Trials

The District Court system has speeded up the trial and disposition of criminal and civil actions in Davie County.

And it has also increased the work load in the office of Clerk of Court, Glenn Hammer.

The system became effective, by state law, in Davie County on December 8, 1970 and all matters handled in the office of Clerk of Court for that month were included in the yearly report for 1970.

However, Mr. Hammer has compiled records for the first quarter of 1971, or January 2 through March 31, under the District Court.

On January 2nd there were 284 cases pending, criminal and civil, or which had not been tried or disposed of.

For the first three months of this year, 684 cases were added making a total of 948 cases on which action had to be taken.

During that period, 710 cases were disposed of, either by trial, and by settlement or agreement in civil matters.

As of March 31st, Mr. Hammer reported 238 cases were pending.

In addition to these cases there were 14 juvenile matters disposed of by the District Court judges. Juvenile matters formerly were handled by clerks of Superior Court.

Other work handled in the office has also shown an increase during the three months which has necessitated the employment of additional personnel.

Under the new system, operational costs of the office are paid by the state and no county funds are expended for this branch of county government.

Court cost collected for cases are divided as follows: $8.00 General Court of Justice remitted to Raleigh; $2.00 Facility fee to county or municipality; $2.00 Officer's fee remitted to county or municipality for which arrests were made and not to officer; $3.00 Law Enforcement Officer Benefit and Retirement remitted to Raleigh. Total cost $15.00.

Mr. Hammer also reported that the new District Court system requires the use of more forms than previously.

In a breakdown of activities, Mr. Hammer said the following accounts are maintained in his office: Trust accounts, 98; partial payments, 102; Judgements, 29; Cash Bonds, 55; Alimony and Support, 92.

In many alimony and support actions, the defendants are ordered to make payments for their wives and children into the office of the clerk of court and this is then paid to the recipients or the court order.

Processed during the three months were these matters: Divorces, 10; Passport Applications, 9; Special proceedings and foreclosures, 53; New Estates, 47; Total 190; Commitments, mental and alcoholic, 7; Adoptions, 10.

In addition, 1,064 checks were written in the Clerk's office.

This office also draws jurors and issues juror and witness fee check, for which they are reimbursed by the state.

Tunnel Ran From House To Cave

Who Built The Roberts House?

The so-called Issac Roberts house is located on US 601, north of Mocksville.

Who built this house and when?

Research by Miss Flossie Martin has not been able to come up with the answer to this question but the following has been established:

The house was there when Issac Roberts bought the property in 1873 from Thomas Scott Martin, trustee for Abraham Pruette.

In 1880, Abraham Pruette conveyed the tract to Thomas Scott Martin, trustee for Pruette. In 1887 Pruette had been the high bidder when the John Hendricks heirs sold the property for division. It does not seem likely that Abraham Pruette built the house between 1857 and 1860.

Perhaps it was built earlier by some members of the Hendricks family. The Francis Monroe Hendricks house still stands north of Dutchman's Creek.

Grady Reavis of Mocksville Rt. 5 says that at the time the Roberts bought the house it had two large rooms and a hall down stairs and the same upstairs, with a very small "servant's room" over the front portico. The kitchen was built at some distance from the house and both the house and kitchen were of logs. When Mr. and Mrs. Issac Roberts became the owners, they built a back porch, kitchen and dining room and weatherboarded the outside. They also made changes inside the dwelling.

Mrs. Robert Davis recalls this house as she first knew it as follows:

The kitchen had been moved down the hill and an ell, including a kitchen and dining room had been added to the back of the original house and was separated from it by a sort of breezeway. In later years a bathroom was made from the breezeway.

Many stories of historical interest have been associated with this house. One of these concerns a tunnel that many say once ran from the house to a cave a distance from the house. This is mentioned in the James Wall HISTORY OF DAVIE COUNTY.

Regarding this tunnel, Grady Reavis of that community told Miss Flossie Martin the following:

Abraham Pruette had one or two sons that were dodging service in the Civil War. Officers sent to get them could see them through the windows in the house. However, going inside the house no boys could be found as they had escaped through a trap door under the stairs, into the cellar and out through the tunnel. However, Mr. Reavis only knew the house after the Roberts had remodeled it, so never saw the trap door.

Mrs. Nannie Roberts Hayes, who lived in this house for many years, said the tunnel was rediscovered when men were plowing a field and the horses broke through into the tunnel.

When was this tunnel built and for what purpose?

Many speculate that it may have been built between 1830 and 1850. The old "Georgia Road" passed close to this house and this was the route followed by slave traders. Could this have been used in connection with an underground slave route?

The present owners of this house and property are Mr. and Mrs. Norman Bullard and Mr. and Mrs. John E. Hutchins.

Bob Hope Show To Be In Charlotte

GOLF'S TRIBUTE TO IKE
Comedian Bob Hope and other well-known personalities will play a benefit performance in the Charlotte Coliseum on May 31.

Carolnians who make a $10 donation to Golf's Tribute to Ike will be given two tickets to the special live show. The event here will be part of a nationwide campaign to raise funds for the Eisenhower Medical Center, Palm Desert, California, and Eisenhower College, Seneca Falls, New York.

Golf's Tribute to Ike is a joint project of the United States Golf Association and the Professional Golfers Association.

Charlotte bank executive Graeme M. Keith is a national Vice-Chairman of the project, coordinating the drive in cities and towns within a 50-mile radius of Charlotte.

"We are really excited about the news that Bob Hope will bring his show to Charlotte to help raise money for this outstanding cause. Mr. Hope's friendship with President Eisenhower was well-known, and his efforts in behalf of the

S. C. Gardens To Remain Open

Only a few days remain for visitors to see Magnolia and Cypress Gardens which close May 1. Middleton Place Gardens and Plantation Stables will remain open throughout the year.

All three of the gardens still have some color as late blooming azaleas are joined by dogwood and wisteria. Especially pretty now are the entrance to Cypress Gardens and certain areas of the other two gardens.

All three gardens report good seasons this spring as hundreds of tourists from Vermont, Texas, Pennsylvania, Alabama and every other state in the union have toured the world famous gardens.

A boat trip at Cypress Gardens for these remaining days can be relaxing and something that will be long remembered. One paddles among gigantic cypress trees in black waters that are covered with the pink and red blooms of azaleas.

Although Magnolia Gardens will be officially closed, many people will still drive into the area along Highway 61 to visit the nursery which features hundreds of varieties of plants.

At Middleton Place each season will bring new flowering plants. In addition, there will be plenty of activity in the stables as baby farm animals grow into cows, horses, hogs and sheep.

Youngsters will also have an opportunity to see a blacksmith shop, a carpenter shop and coopering shop. On May 16, a Greek Spring Festival will be held at Middleton Place.

Cypress Gardens is owned and operated by the City of Charleston. The other two gardens are privately owned.

Eisenhower Medical Center have already raised more than $2 million", Keith said in a news conference here today.

Coming to Charlotte with Hope will be Les Brown and his band. Keith said it is expected that other famous performers and public figures will be added to the program as soon as arrangements are completed.

Donations to Golf's Tribute to Ike are tax deductible. Persons wishing to make a donation - and get two tickets for the Bob Hope performance - may do so at any bank office or savings and loan office within 50 miles of Charlotte. The donation also gets the donor a souvenir tag for his golf bag that bears a likeness of President Eisenhower.

As part of the local tribute, golf clubs in the area have been asked to designate Saturday, May 15, as Golf's Tribute to Ike Day at their clubs.

Golfers playing that day and making a $10.00 donation at the first tee will be given the opportunity to sit in a special section near the Coliseum stage if they win the low-net tournament held at each participating course. These winners and their spouses will enjoy this special privilege along with the club pro and his spouse.

Mocksville ABC Bill Is Killed

A bill to permit an election on liquor stores in Mocksville, already passed by the House, was killed yesterday in the Senate Alcohol Beverage Control Committee.

The committee vote was overwhelming - to the chagrin of the sponsors, Reps. J. P. Huskins and A. L. Smith, both Irredell County Democrats, and the pleasant surprise of Sen. Donald Bingham, a Davie Republican.

At the same meeting, the committee approved a measure to permit an ABC election in Jefferson. A Senate-passed ABC bill for West Jefferson was rejected in the House last week.

Discussing the Mocksville bill, Huskins made it clear that he and Smith wanted the measure approved. He said town officials, including the mayor, had requested the bill and, even after being told that Bingham opposed it, they told him to go ahead and try to get it through.

"By introducing it, we have already suffered whatever onus that attaches to it," said Huskins. "We certainly don't want to stop here. We want a favorable report."

Bingham told the committee he opposed the measure because only a small percentage of the county's population (about 13 per cent in Mocksville) could bring liquor to the entire county.

It became apparent, from members' comments, that the committee did not look with favor on the bill.

Sen. Claude Currie, R-Durham, the 81-year-old dean of the Senate, told Huskins almost apologetically that the committee "usually goes along with the feelings of the senator."

Of the 10 voting members of the committee present, only Sen. John Henley, D-Cumberland, opposed the motion to give the Mocksville legislation an unfavorable report.

specials, Hope makes no secret of the fact that while he loves TV and movie-making, it is being face-to-face with a live audience that gives him his biggest thrill.

The pointed topical humor he projects on his TV shows becomes even more telling in his personal appearances. Local politics and politicians, sacred cows and celebrities, provide his material.

Hope's fame has grown through the years through 53 motion pictures and his other, myriad activities. His overseas tours to entertain servicemen make up an odyssey that began in 1941 and continues to this day. He has spent every Christmas but two, since 1948, in the military hotspots of the world.

His love of sports fostered the annual Bob Hope Desert Classic Golf Tournament, now in its 12th year, which raises thousands of dollars every year for desert charities.

O.J. May Aid Heroin Habit

A controversial glass of orange juice once a day is helping many heroin addicts break the habit.

Methadon, a synthetic drug and painkiller that was once used as a substitute for morphine, is being given to addicts in their daily glass of orange juice at drug rehabilitation centers throughout the country, one of which is the Cross Bay Methadone Treatment Center in Queen, New York.

A report in the current issue of PAGEANT Magazine explains that the controversy, over the use of methadone with heroin addicts stems from the fact that it is indeed a drug. Switching an addict from heroin to methadone, the argument goes, is like switching an alcoholic from Scotch to gin.

Dr. Stern, one of the medical doctors at Cross Bay, refutes this comparison. In switching a person from a drug that is a daily dealer in death to a drug that enables him to live, he points out in PAGEANT, methadone is being used as an antinarcotic agent, not as a legal substitute for heroin.

"Some critics tell us that methadone is a crutch. But it's not; it's a potent and potentially lethal medication that makes men and women able to function in the real world," Dr. Stern stresses in the magazine. "On heroin, a man lives his life by the clock, he has to have that heroin every three to six hours. But on methadone, the ex-addict can lead a normal life."

Farmington News

by Nell H. Lashley

Little Molly Kathleen arrived Saturday morning, May 1, to bless and make glad the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Jackson. She was weighed at the Baptist Hospital in Winston-Salem at a little over seven pounds of loveliness. Both parents and baby are doing fine.

Saturday night in the Fellowship Hall of the Methodist Church four hostesses Mrs. W. W. Spillman, Mrs. Charles Lashley, Mrs. John Hartman and Mrs. Norman Blake entertained honoring Mrs. Joey Mason with a miscellaneous baby shower. The Hall was attractively decorated with arrangements of Spring flowers. Refreshments of lime punch, white iced cake squares with pink rose buds decoration, and nuts were served from the linen covered table by Mrs. Lashley and Mrs. Blake. Seated at the Honoree's table were her mother, Mrs. Harmon Willard, Miss Kathy Howell, Miss Wanda Hartman, Miss Debbie Willard and Miss Teresa Blake, who helped in the opening of the many gifts from the guests. About sixty guests called during the evening. Goodbys were said to Mrs. Hartman and Mrs. Spillman.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Huffman and son, Jerry, were weekend guests of Mrs. Huffman's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Jarvis.

Miss Margaret Brock and Mrs. Nell Lashley visited Mr. and Mrs. Guy Cornatzer in Baltimore Sunday afternoon. Sunday guests of Mrs. W. E. Kennen were Mr. and Mrs. Hoyle Wedenhouse, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Williams of Concord. Mr. Wesley Williams arrived here Sunday and is opening his mother's house for her arrival on Tuesday. Mrs. Margaret Christian and Mrs. J.W. Williams are expected to get here by Tuesday noon from Beaufort, S. C.

Homemakers Meet

Wednesday at noon 13 members of the Pino-Farmington Home Makers Club gathered at the home of Mrs. Clyde Teague where they enjoyed a covered dish dinner in her lovely dining rooms. Food in abundance prepared by the members was served smorgasbord style from the sideboard table. New and old recipes had been used in the preparation of the many delicious and tempting dishes of food. Recipe swapping was in evidence.

After dinner the program and business meetings were held. Mrs. Wade Furches gave the program discussing the function and care of the skin. The kind of food eaten has on the texture of one's skin. She closed by saying "Your skin tells others about your health habits." During the business a letter was read from Debbie Conseen, the Cherokee Indian girl the Club has been sponsoring the past year. She wrote of the improvements in the schools for the Indians. Many Indian boys and girls are now completing High School and College, and holding responsible jobs in Washington D.C. and also in Tennessee.

Mrs. Ostene West commented on the new method of refinishing furniture products. Mrs. John Holdsworth was appointed as representative to the Farmington Development Association. Mrs. Elva Cash won the door prize. The Club closed with singing followed by the Club Collect.

We are also grateful to Radio Station WDSL for its help, and to everyone who added so much to a pleasant week for patrons of all ages.

Our special thanks to Bruce and Nancy Roberts for taking time from their very busy schedules to visit and give their interesting program. Seven hundred and twenty four persons toured the library and attended the National Library Week programs.

Remember the Davie County Public Library is YOUR library and is always open to the entire citizenry of the county. Don't wait for another year and another National Library Week to pay us another visit.

Letter To Editor

Dear Mr. Gordon Tomlinson: I would like for you to put my little article in the Enterprise Record:

Friends In Georgia

Mr. and Mrs. Carl C. Merritt Jr. of Whigham, Georgia, Route 2 who are sending in their renewal for the Davie County Enterprise Record want to say a big "hello" to all of their friends and relatives in and around Mocksville.

Mrs. Ruby Jones Merritt is a native of Mocksville and was born and raised in the Davie Academy Community. She had lived there all of her life until she married. She says she always is glad to get her home town paper. The people she knew while growing up were dear to her. She can remember when Mr. Stroud was editor and a friend of her dad's and how well she loved Mr. Johnstone of Mocksville. He was a real citizen of Mocksville and Davie County. His family has our deepest sympathy.

The weather down in south Georgia is beautiful.

Dear Mr. Roark:

It would be difficult to find words to express our gratitude to the staff of Davie County Hospital, the doctors, nurses, and technicians for the care and attention given us for the past four months.

We were in an automobile accident about 5:30 p.m. on Saturday, December 26, 1970, just outside of Mocksville on Highway 601, North. The Davie County Ambulance Service was called and we are most grateful to them for their prompt arrival and for the proper services rendered by their attendants at the scene of the accident.

We were taken to the hospital where the nurses, X-ray technicians, Lab technicians, Dr. Slate and Dr. Fox worked diligently with us in the emergency room, and after admitting us to the hospital, stayed late in the night performing emergency surgery and other necessary treatment.

During these four months, Dr. Slate, Dr. Fox, the nurses on the hall, the private duty nurses and the nurses' assistants have rendered excellent services, and they have always done so in a most pleasant manner, making us feel that our comfort was their only concern.

We cannot praise the qualities of Davie County Hospital enough. Everyone has been wonderful! Thanks from the bottom of our hearts for everything.

Sincerely yours,
Mr. & Mrs. Spofard Cave
Mrs. Virida Cave

Tattle Tales

By Gordon Tomlinson

It takes a tough snake to resist the advances of two determined women. But then...a tough snake, it was!

It all happened one day recently when Mrs. Gene Smith (hereafter to be referred to as Letty Jean) came home and spied a big snake in her mother's yard.

Letty Jean rushed to her mother, Mrs. Leota Foster, and told her about the snake.

"We must get rid of it before Chris gets home," said Mrs. Foster as the two women began to formulate their plans for killing the snake.

Getting a shovel and a hoe, Mrs. Foster told Letty Jean: "I'll put the shovel on the snake's back and hold it while you chop it's head off," Mrs. Foster told her daughter.

And so they slipped up on the snake. Mrs. Foster quickly pinned it down with the shovel and with it secured, Letty Jean began chopping at it's head.

After several good licks with the hoe, it was apparent to Mrs. Foster that her daughter wasn't making much progress in cutting the snake's head off.

"Let me chop it...you hold it," said Mrs. Foster and the two changed assignments. And Mrs. Foster chopped and chopped.

"This is the hardest snake to chop I've ever seen," muttered Mrs. Foster between blows. Then came the dawn.

"Why this is Chris' rubber snake that Sarah brought him," said Mrs. Foster. A moment of stunned silence was followed by hilarious minutes of laughter as the two women reviewed the comical episode.

But it wasn't funny to Chris. Because his mother and grandmother left him with a headless rubber snake.

Two county officials managed to escape from the Davie County court house late last Thursday afternoon by using a ladder from the second floor.

They were identified as John T. Brock, county attorney, and David Hendrix, county tax supervisor.

The two men were busy at

Interest Revives In Grandfather Clocks

Emperor Clock Company of Fairhope, Alabama has succeeded in generating a revival of interest in the traditional grandfather clock. The renaissance began just two years ago.

"General acceptance of grandfather clock ownership has been nation-wide," reports George Fowler, President. "Sales have been so good that it pushes production to meet the demand. It appears that the traditional grandfather clocks are a national status symbol." Fowler added.

"Grandfather clocks are among the most treasured furniture pieces handed down as heirlooms from generation to generation. They grow in value and survive the changes of time," Fowler said. "The Emperor Clock Company enhances the beauty and charm of cherished grandfather clocks by using modern manufacturing methods. The heretofore high cost of quality grandfather clocks is thus reduced to a popular price range," Fowler stated.

Wood, cut from solid mahogany and walnut, under the skill of southern furniture craftsmen, and movements, imported from West Germany, give Emperor Grandfather Clocks a warm, rich beauty and lasting dependability as a time-keeping instrument.

Each clock features the well-known Westminster Chimes. Other models offer a choice of the Westminster, Whittington or St. Michael Chimes.

Emperor Clock Company not only sells assembled, unfinished cases without movements, and completely finished clocks with movements, but also "do-it-yourself" kits for building your own grandfather clock. Emperor Clock, in addition, offers detailed blueprint plans of each model at a nominal cost.

work when the court house closed at 5 p.m. and everyone except them left. All doors were locked when they got ready to leave.

Recalling the ladder propped against the new addition, the two men went upstairs and out to the addition. Slowly climbing down the ladder, they escaped from the court house.

Burlington Industries' newest operation...Versatech... located in Cooleeemee, has placed on the market its first product. It is an intermediate paper stock made of textile fibers which will be used in the manufacture of fine writing paper.

George E. Norman Jr., vice president in charge of the New Business Ventures Department of Burlington under which Versatech operates, said the production climaxes six months of equipment installation and experimentation at the Company's plant in Cooleeemee, N.C.

He also announced that the RSM Company of Cincinnati, Ohio a firm with a long history of intermediate product sales is serving as sales agent for the Versatech product. RSM (formerly the Railway Supply & Mfg. Co.) has been owned and managed by the same family for more than a century. During this period, it has been an active supplier of natural and man-made fibers to manufacturers using these materials, with particular emphasis on cotton fibers for the cotton content paper industry. The company has participated in many innovations, including the development of the use of cotton linters in papermaking.

The product is marketed under the trade name "Bur-Cel 100". Fibers from Burlington plants and other firms is processed at the Burlington facility, and through re-cycling and manufacturing steps is converted into intermediate pulp. Paper manufacturers will further process the pulp as an ingredient of writing paper.

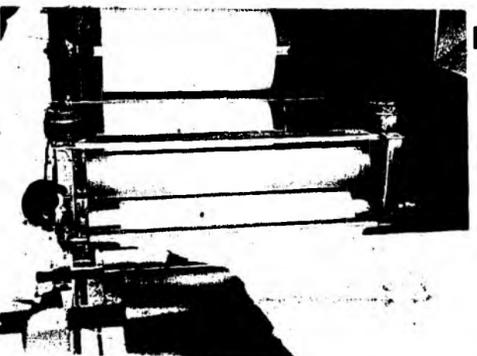

The wet-process fiber, in a washer-beater, is washed, refined, reducing the fiber length to a required level, and bleached.

Sheets of pulp are readied for the hydraulic press, where 750 tons of pressure will compress the 38" stack to 20". Computerized equipment measures the average moisture of the 300 pound bale as it is prepared for shipment.

Video monitoring aids in process control of the paper pulp conversion process.

A web of pulp lap is carried through finishing equipment and dried in 60" to 64" widths. The pulp is slit in half and cut into 32 x 28 sheets to be pressed, packaged and shipped.

Employees Can Request Withholding

For the first time, agricultural, household and certain other employees may choose voluntarily, if their employers agree, to have income taxes withheld from their wages under regulations published in the Federal Register for Thursday, March 18, 1971.

J. E. Wall, District Director, said that final regulations authorize voluntary withholding on wages paid on or after January 1, 1971. Proposed regulations were published in the Federal Register on that date.

Agricultural employers will report tax withheld on the annual Form 943 along with Social Security taxes. Beginning April 1, Agricultural employers will become subject to the same rules for depositing these taxes that apply to other employers. Until then, Social Security taxes are deposited in Federal Reserve and authorized commercial banks in accordance with the current rules.

Income tax withheld on household workers will be submitted quarterly with the Form 942 or the Form 941, if applicable.

The Tax Reform Act of 1969 permits the extension by regulation of income tax withholding, where appropriate on a voluntary basis, to certain types of income which are not subject to mandatory income tax withholding. Thus, employees not subject to mandatory income tax withholding may be able to avoid having to pay estimated tax if they request the newly allowed withholding and their employers agree.

The new regulations cover most employees not otherwise subject to mandatory withholding. The regular rules on withholding rates, agreements for additional withholding filing requirements, etc. also apply to voluntary withholding.

If there is now withholding currently, an employee may request voluntary withholding by filing a Form W-4, Employee's Withholding Exemption Certificate, with his employer.

The regulations provide a procedure for requesting voluntary withholding for a limited period of time.

The agreement becomes effective when the employer accepts it by beginning the withholding. Either may terminate the agreement by notifying the other in writing giving proper notice in accordance with the regulations.

Additional withholding, over and above the regular withholding rates, may be requested. For example, a clergyman who enters into a voluntary income tax withholding agreement with his church may have additional amounts withheld to cover his self-employment tax. Others may want to request additional withholding to avoid paying estimated tax.

News and Comment from our Raleigh Bureau - 1975 Charles Tel.

YOUNGER... Approximately 250 Tarheels journeyed (less than an hour's flying time) to Washington last week for the annual meeting of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce.

This convention, which regularly attracts about 4,000 people from throughout the country, drew more North Carolinians than usual.

Reason: Archibald Davis of Winston-Salem was being sworn in as the new president of the Chamber. This happens to be one of the most important non-governmental positions in the world.

As usual, the North Carolina Chamber of Commerce Executives Association staged a dinner honoring members of the State's Congressional delegation and their staffs. Over 400 in attendance at this event.

All over the place during the cocktail party and banquet was U. S. Senator B. Everett Jordan. Although undergoing serious surgery at Duke Hospital in late winter, he has never appeared livelier. His never-be-still activity prompted one wag to remark: "One more operation like the last one—Old Ev will be a young man again."

D. C. POLITICAL NOTES... Nick Gallifianakis seems to be our only Congressman to succumb to the long-hair styles of the modern day...although at least two others seem to have become careless with their haircuts... —It may be that Nick (as was hinted) is in truth planning to run against Sen. Jordan next year...He made a giant's step in this direction a day or two after the dinner by naming a Negro attorney to his Washington staff...able Duke graduate Eric Michaux. —GOP Congressman Earl

Ruth of Salisbury got a good workout in long strides around the huge Shoreham Hotel dining room...announced publicly that "I'm shaking hands with everybody until we get these Congressional districts straightened out..."

—Why did the News & Observer's star reporter in Washington, Roy Parker, leave the nation's capital to work the political beat in Raleigh? Word on the Potomac is that Parker loves Washington, liked his work, but "they gave him such a good thing back in Raleigh that he just couldn't afford to turn it down..."

—Did the Negro Congressmen make a deep impression upon President Nixon during their recent eyeball-to-eyeball conference with him in the White House? Yes, indeed. They won major concessions. For instance: It is now definitely understood that the President's daughter, Tricia, will wear in her forthcoming wedding a bouquet of African violets.

—Will this be a big wedding? Yes...this big: Dr. Billy Graham will be chief usher; and Dr. Norman Vincent Peale the ring bearer.

HUMPHREY AGAIN?...Don't say goodbye just yet to Hubert Horatio Humphrey as a future President—possibly in 1972. Like Senator Everett Jordan, Humphrey seems to have found the fountain of youth. It seems only the other day that we were counting him out forever. But the gossip in Washington is this—keep an eye on Hubert. He's as sassy as ever—even though just a few days from 60. And he's still running.

James Reston, political reporter, says Humphrey's hair is a miracle, growing darker with the passing years. He's an important U. S. Senator again.

The man he replaced (scholarly Eugene McCarthy) doesn't think much of this (being in the Senate after running for President). Says McCarthy: "When somebody runs for President and comes back to the Senate, he's not treated the same. He's rejected. The way it was when Lazarus came back from the dead. They wouldn't deal him in the card game—they thought he might have learned something on the other side." But just a lot of good Democrats don't agree with Eugene.

A L R E A D Y A D - JOURNED... Only Virginia and one or two other states out of the total of 50 do not have legislatures in session this year.

So, odd-numbered years are the lawmaking years. But of the roughly 47 legislatures that have been in session since January 1, a total of 31 are still grinding away. As of May 1, 18 states had adjourned. Alas, North Carolina had barely reached the halfway mark—arbitrarily set at April 15.

Georgia (which meets annually) called it a day several weeks ago. Others which have adjourned their sessions are: Hawaii, Idaho, Indiana, Kansas (meets annually and carries all bills over to next session), Maryland, Mississippi, Montana, New Mexico, North Dakota, South Dakota, Utah, Vermont, Washington, West Virginia, and Wyoming.

BIG TIMES...The Scott administration decided not to oppose the Presidential Primary vote for North Carolina. So, look out for big times in North Carolina next March and April. Since Tarheella promises to

SOUTHERN CORN LEAF BLIGHT

Florida (R. D. Berger): SCLB found on field corn (50-50B) rarely in early March, with slight development by end of month. Lesions found on first leaf suggesting origin from seed-borne inoculum. On 1 April, most plants free of H. maydis; few "hot spots" with 1-12 lesions on lower leaves. Oldest corn in early tassel stage. Drought undoubtedly curtailed spread of SCLB. Rainfall at Belle Glade in March was 0.9 inches (48 yr. avg. 2.9 in.); compared to 15 inches in March 1970 when SCLB was epidemic (9 April 1971).

Georgia (R. H. Littrell & D. R. Sumner): Viable inoculum in residue collected from 9 counties from north to south Georgia; more inoculum in optimum germ tube length after 1 hr occurred at 35 degrees C. Norman McGlohon reports that 95 percent of all corn planted in Georgia is normal cytoplasm - no blight seen on any varieties surveyed.

Minnesota (T. Kommendahl & D. S. Lang): Of 21 seed lots from different companies, the average of infected kernels in ragdoll tests was less than 1 percent. However, 13 of 15 seed lots from one other company contained infected kernels and averaged 6 percent, ranging from 2-18 percent. Viable inoculum was found in field-stored leaves collected in March.

South Dakota (C. M. Nagel): About 5 April, leaves collected from the field were found to contain viable inoculum of H. maydis as tested by inoculation of corn in the greenhouse. Lowest outdoor temp recorded was -28 degrees F. and the highest 70 degrees F. (1 April).

Texas (R. A. Frederiksen & J. Amador): Lower Rio Grande valley surveyed. Weather dry and little disease found. Seedlings from H. maydis infected kernels averaged less than 1 percent blight in the field. No sporulation above ground evident. Traces of leaf infection from both races O and T found on corn from 6-leaf seedlings to silking corn. No SCLB on fields in the upper coast & coastal bend on 3 April.

Wisconsin (D. C. Army): Of 78 farmers' seed lots germinated, 16 developed H. maydis on kernels, ranging from 1-17 percent. All but 2 in B or T lots; 38 lots were N. Corn debris collected late March caused infection on seedlings: infected material above snow was more potent than that below snow. Planter box treatment with B and T seed recommended using maneb.

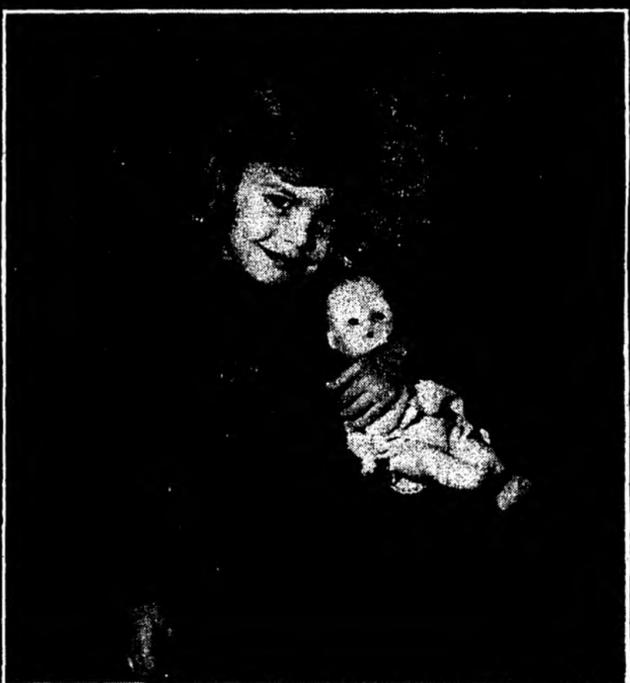

North Carolina: (Fusarium moniliforme), which caused a seedling blight has been found on corn seedlings sent in from Wake, Cumberland and Robeson Counties. The blight occurs during germination and in the early seedling stage (1st to 3rd leaf stage) when the soil is cold, rarely later. Low temperatures during germination influence the amount of disease. Characteristic symptoms are a water soaked rotting of cortical tissue. Fusarium moniliforme (seedling blight) is usually not a problem after the weather becomes warm and favorable for corn production. Crop rotation and plowing under of crop refuse aid in reducing the volume of inoculum. Yellow banding seen on corn seedlings at this stage may be the results of some chemical. Test plots in 1969 showed this type of phenomenon when systemic insecticides were used.

A few albino (white) plants are showing up in fields. Probably will be more prevalent in 1971 because more F-2 being planted.

"We are deeply concerned with the health, welfare and happiness of all handicapped children."
— Robert L. Denny, Executive Director

Are most mentally retarded persons also physically handicapped?

The great majority of mentally retarded persons are neither physically deformed nor socially unacceptable.
However, many of them do have physical handicaps.

Is mental illness the same as mental retardation?

No. They are separate and distinct conditions. Mental illness is often temporary and may strike at any time during the life of an individual. Mental illness can be treated and often cured. Mental retardation, however, is quite different.
Mental retardation is incomplete mental development.

Medical treatment, special education, training, rehabilitation and proper care will help the retarded to live satisfactorily. But so far no treatment has been discovered which will raise their intelligence to normal.

Isn't most mental retardation inherited?

No. Recent studies have shown that there is evidence to prove that most cases of mental retardation come from causes which have nothing to do with heredity. Malnutrition, economic deprivation, lack of intellectual stimulation in the developing child are major causes of mental retardation.

Proclamation

Governor Proclaims Symphony Month

Governor Bob Scott has issued a proclamation declaring the month of May "North Carolina Symphony Month in North Carolina."

In making the proclamation, which comes at the beginning of the Symphony Society's annual statewide membership drive, the governor called the North Carolina Symphony "one of the finest state symphonies in the nation."

"The North Carolina Symphony is committed to growth in quality, growth in versatility, growth in service, and growth in renown," said Gov. Scott, "and it is deserving of special appreciation and recognition from all the citizens it has so faithfully served through the years."

The proclamation cites the Symphony's 26-year record of traveling throughout the state, performing for Tarheels in their local communities.

Special attention is called to the fact that the orchestra has traveled over 225,000 miles; given more than 3,000 concerts; performed admission-free concerts for more than three-and-a-half million North Carolina school children.

Governor and Mrs. Scott have been regarded as staunch supporters of the arts in North Carolina throughout the governor's term. In the past year Gov. Scott has devoted considerable time and energy to helping the Symphony raise needed funds to match a $1 million Ford Foundation challenge grant.

Moore's Manager Attends Meetings

Bill Hylton, manager of Moore's local store attended a merchandising session at his chains headquarters in Cheraw, S. C. recently. The meeting included managers from each of Moore's 64 stores located in N. C., S. C., Ga., and Ala.

This marked the first consolidated gathering of the entire Moore chain. The meeting was held to plan Moore's Spring and Summer promotional activities.

It began with an open period in which the managers examined exhibits which displayed Moore's new Spring and Summer lines. Maintaining the exhibits were the buyers for each department.

Refreshments were served as the managers circulated through the exhibits and introduced themselves to their fellow managers from the other states.

The main business session followed the open period. Business trends and new products were briefly discussed by the buyers of each department. Three store managers spoke of their experiences in promotional efforts as a guide to the other managers.

After the business session, a buffet luncheon was served to everyone in attendance.

J. G. Owens, executive vice president of the chain, said of the event: "This has been called a historic meeting for us and it is. We've never all come together before. With this meeting, we hoped to inspire our folks and reap benefits in the future. We feel that we have achieved our goal."

Chairman of the Board of B. C. Moore and Sons, W. Bryan Moore, had these thoughts on the meeting: "We're in a position to have the best year we've ever had. I'm encouraged for the future because of the enthusiasm I've seen here."

Symphony Society
Membership Drive
Gets Underway

The Davie County Chapter of the North Carolina Symphony Society launched its membership drive for 1971-72 season at a kickoff dinner Thursday April 29th.

Coordinating this year's drive are Charles Dunn, chapter president, and Mike Hendrix, chapter membership chairman.

Davie County is one of fifty communities in which Symphony Society membership drives are being held during the first two weeks in May, "North Carolina Symphony Month" in the Tarheel State.

The announced goal of the local drive is to raise $1650 to support 2 local appearances by the North Carolina Little Symphony next season.

The Little Symphony will play an evening concert and an admission-free educational matinee for area school children. The children's matinee is supported by Symphony Society memberships.

"The North Carolina Little Symphony's annual visit to Mocksville is a major event for all of us, adults and children alike," said Mr. Dunn. "We are quite excited that the orchestra will be returning next season, and we are confident that the people of Davie County will help us reach the necessary $1650 goal."

Mr. Dunn explained the four types of memberships: --Individual memberships: one-dollar for students, five-dollars for single adult memberships, or eight-dollars per adult couple; --Donor: contributors of $25 and above; --patron: contributors of $100 and above; --Corporate: businesses, schools, clubs contributing $25 or more.

A season membership admits the bearer to all evening concerts sponsored by the North Carolina Symphony Society. Last season 50 such concerts were given.

Mr. Hendrix, chapter membership chairman, urged that all persons interested in purchasing a 1971-1972 season membership contact him at 634-2783 after 4 p.m.

First Lieutenant Robert L. B. Swain and his associates at Eglin AFB, Fla., have been especially recognized by the Secretary of the Air Force as members of the Air Force Systems Command (AFSC) currently observing its 10th anniversary.

Lieutenant Swain, son of Mrs. Birdie Swain, Rt. 7, Spartanburg, S. C., supports operations of the AFSC Armament Development and Test Center which directs the Air Force non-nuclear munitions program.

He and command personnel were commended by Dr. Robert C. Seamans Jr. for their part in the great achievement in defense aeronautics, missiles, space and electronics during the past decade. Dr. Seamans stated that future U. S. progress would "unquestionably depend upon the research and development efforts of AFSC" which manages the acquisition of Air Force aerospace systems.

Bottles. . . Bottles. . . Bottles!

by Marlene Benson

She has tables sitting full of jars, bottles and jugs at various places in her home.

Bottles, Bottles, Bottles . . . Bottles everywhere!

And that's just what you find in every nook and corner at the home or little store of Mrs. Alma King of Route 1, Advance in Davie County.

Mrs. King is one of many bottle collectors in this area and it appears to be a growing hobby.

Digging around in an old trash pile or digging in an area where you might find an old unusual bottle or jar is Mrs. King's idea of a fun day.

She became interested in this hobby about three years ago when her husband and a neighbor friend brought home a couple of old fruit jars.

"It's like any other habit," she smiled, "it grows on you."

There must surely be a great deal of truth in that statement. In only three years, Mrs. King has collected close to a thousand old bottles and jars.

Unlike many collectors, she isn't interested in buying or selling anything for her collection.

She simply enjoys the sheer pleasure of finding an old bottle or jar and then cleaning it up herself before putting it on display.

"I've never sold but one bottle in my life," Mrs. King said. "It was a white Dr. Pepper bottle and I sold it to a man for three dollars. He wanted it so badly. He just begged me out of it."

Mrs. King hopes to complete her set of White House vinegar jugs. The ones she has have an apple design on them and she says they are at least 30 years old.

Also, on display in her house, which is combined with a little store kept by Mrs. King and her husband, is a 1908 fruit jar that once contained Apple Pie Ridge pure apple cider vinegar, a numerous collection of drink bottles, Avon decanter bottles, syrup bottles, baby food jars and just bottles . . . and more bottles.

She commented that the Mrs. Butterworth syrup bottle, now on the market, will someday be a collector's item, as will most odd shaped bottles and jars.

In the yard behind the house, bottle crates are firmly anchored on the wall of an outside building and many of them are completely filled with soft drink bottles of all descriptions.

She even has tree limbs planted in the ground, with the smaller limbs trimmed to the correct size for holding various sizes of jugs and bottles. It was rather amusing and quite unusual to see "jug trees" in their back yard.

One of Mrs. King's most unusual bottles was found in a trash pile and it was encircled with scenes resembling Treasure Island. The scenes were painted in bright colors of green, yellow, red, and white on the clear bottle. "Federal law forbids sale or re-use of this bottle" was written at the base of the bottle neck.

Mrs. King did not know for certain what the bottle had contained but she believed "it must be a type of wine or whisky bottle."

Like all collectors, Mrs. King enjoys spending some of her leisure time going through her collection and re-arranging them from one table to another.

"Sometimes I find things that I had forgotten I had."

Bottles are getting plenty hard to find around the Advance area and Mrs. King says she will "have to get away from home and start looking somewhere else."

And with helping her husband mind the store, cooking, cleaning and the variety of sewing and handmade items she also does . . . she is still hooked pretty good by the "bottle collecting bug" and no doubt, Mrs. King will find the time to get away and dig in a few abandoned trash piles.

Bottle Tree

Mrs. King arranges a big jug on one of her bottle trees that stand in their back yard.

Unusual Bottles

One of Mrs. King's most colorful and unusual bottles has scenes from 'Treasure Island, the words "Federal law forbids sale or re-use of this bottle" written at the base of the bottle neck.

Mrs. King has several bottle racks filled with soft drink bottles for her collection. She is shown looking over some of them in a full rack.

A Whole New World

By ROSCOE BROWN FISHER
When I first met Tommy, some months ago, he was lying on a narrow bed: a crumpled-up, legless, Vietnam casualty. Dejected, homesick and tired of being moved around, he told me.

Tommy's relationship with the army and his short-lived experience in Vietnam are not unlike many others. Yet, there was something different about him.

Just out of high school, at 18, on August 28, 1969, John Thomas Myers enlisted for two years in the army. Making an effective infantryman out of this youthful chap moved with the usual procedure: Eight weeks basic, nine weeks infantry training... then eleven days leave.

Five and a half months later - February 10, 1970 - he is catching a plane with a dozen other "GI's" - some scared and some not - for the Vietnam war front.

Three months later, May 28, he is up-front in Cambodia - the sixth day of the campaign. Then a booby-trap - a claymore mine... set up by the North Vietnamese for "Paty stompers" like Tommy and his buddies. A buddy lost a leg and an arm. Tommy both legs - above the knees.

Tommy's new world began! Quick action by fellow-platoon "GI's" kept Tommy from bleeding to death. Then to the 48th Surgical Hospital at Tay Ninh... and on to the 3rd Field Hospital in Saigon for more permanent surgery and efforts to save the stubs.

On October 24 Tommy becomes a statistic in the Veteran Administration: Retired... same as a 20 year serviceman. In the bargain, Tommy gets a wheelchair, two artificial limbs, future hospital care, PX privileges, and a monthly check.

"I'm just so glad to be alive," he said. "I'm never going to complain. For many of my buddies the world closed out completely... for them there is no tomorrow."

"You realized you are facing a new world?" I queried.

"Yes, I know," he answered, as he intently peered from his mobile chair at the golden sunshine outside the tall window. I'll miss running through the woods this spring... barefooted... and the leaves... and the cool water of the streams... and the mud between my toes.

"But there are some advantages," he added as he smiled. "I'll never worry about 'cold feet'... and never have to trim my toe nails... and never have to stand in line. Now I am a midget and can fit in many small places... and I have a car with hand controls. I can go places."

Ten minutes later as I arose to leave, I noticed Tommy had crawled from his wheel chair and lay on the floor inviting his brother to come and wrestle with him. I left them tumbling about on the other side of the room.

Tommy seemed so glad to be alive.

Young Driver Hits Stop Sign Friday

State Trooper J. L. Payne investigated an accident Friday, April 30th, on the Jericho Church Road west of Mocksville, at 11:50 p.m.

Rickey Alan Lashmit, 16, of Hemlock Street, Mocksville, driving a 1968 Ford, was traveling east, ran off road on right and into stop sign at the intersection of RPR 1139 and 1116 and the car went down an embankment.

Damage to the car was estimated at $150 and to the stop sign $40.

Permafrost covers about 24 percent of the world's land area, or about 12.5 million square miles.

Pampering Of Athletics

In the past week or so three major colleges have abandoned basketball because, they explained, it is simply too costly to keep the program going. Over the years a number of institutions have quit football, and an even lesser number has given up intercollegiate sports altogether because of the cost. But right now the whole thing is reaching the crisis stage, and there is nobody to blame but the coaches and the administrators who have simply let the costs run away.

Many years ago in simpler times schools played schedules with others of their kind nearby. Then there came into being the intersectional game. It was an event, a rarity, if you please. But now the intersectional game is as common as gully dirt, and here is one reason costs are soaring. Where teams used to ride in cars, or at very best on a bus, they now ride in the luxury of chartered jets, stay in the finest hotels, dine on the juiciest steaks, and of course receive all their schooling free.

There was a time when the visiting team arrived, that it was quartered on the campus in a flop house sort of arrangement. These accommodations were not always plush, and sometimes even were not clean, but they were inexpensive. But the coaches soon sold the athletic directors on the idea that the boys could play much better if they stayed in a hotel. Then with speedier transportation to far distant points, came the idea of going a day or two ahead of the game to let the players get adjusted to the new surroundings. It almost seems that the players are as delicate as hot house plants.

Now there is no solution to this muddle. Costs have to be cut, but there are certain schools which will not try to reduce expenses, so the others will either have to keep up or give up. Many will choose almost certain that in the future there will be decided gradations of collegiate athletics. Club sports will become more popular and are certainly more in line with current campus thinking. The collegiate radicals love to point to poverty in the community and then cite the cast expenditures on athletics as an indication that the priorities are mixed up. Of course the poverty level will not be helped one whit by the complete abolition of intercollegiate athletics, but it makes good radical talk.

There are remedial measures short of the abolition of sports. A return to common sense will help. It is nice to have an athletic dormitory where the jocks live in luxury, but it certainly is not necessary. What is called a training table is frequently gourmet food in unlimited amounts. Guys can play ball and do well on a strong diet of ground beef and navy beans. There are just too many luxuries which, under present conditions, are unjustified and extravagant.

In order to bring some sort of order into the problem, there must be a national meeting of the minds. I seriously doubt if there is enough intelligence, and certainly there is not enough guts in the NCAA to approach and handle the problem. It will have to come conference by conference until at last some day in the future the preponderance of college sports will be played by schools with sensible spree now going on will simply not be able to get a schedule, and they too will slow down and become solvent.

It will be a good thing for everybody when the expensive pampering of athletes as though they were china dolls is abandoned, and everyone can go ahead and play ball for the fun of it, and the people who watch don't have to feel inferior because they are not kept in a sterile atmosphere and protected by such horrors as not sleeping in one's own bed the night before a contest.

Andy Atwell Breaks Conference Record

Davie Third In North Piedmont Track Meet

Andy Atwell of Davie High set a new North Piedmont Conference record in the mile run last Friday at the annual conference meet at North Rowan.

Atwell ran the mile in 4:39.65, breaking the oldest record on the NPC books. East Rowan Ronald Kirk had held the record of 4:43.5 since 1964.

Davie scored 101 points for a third place finish in the conference meet. East Rowan was first with 123 points and North Rowan second with 109 points.

Bill Cohen of West Rowan was the meet's individual star with three first places. He won the 100, 220 and 440-yard dashes for 30 points, leading West to a fourth-place finish with 77 points.

Other scoring included North Davidson, 38; Mooresville, 19; South Iredell, 18; North Stanly, 10; and North Iredell, 3.

Atwell's was one of only two records broken Friday. The other was the mile relay team of North Rowan that broke the old record with a time of 3:34.0. The old mark of 3:34.3 was held by a 1970 West Rowan team.

Jerry Goodlett of Davie High triumphed in two events, the broad jump and the triple jump, and also ran on the second-place 880-yard relay team. He finished with 22 points.

Terry Smoot of Davie won the shot put with a heave of 45 feet, 4 and 3/4 inches.

Goodlett had a first place broad jump of 21 feet and a winning triple jump of 41 feet, 10 1/2 inches.

The top six finishers in individual events and the top three teams in relay events qualified for the Piedmont bi-conference meet at South Rowan on Friday. Athletes from the South Piedmont Conference will also be competing.

The track season winds up on May 15 at Davie High when the Western North Carolina High School Activities Association finals will be held.

Andy Atwell crosses finish line in 4:39.65 setting new North Piedmont Conference Record.

UNC Football Recruiter To Speak At Athletic Banquet

Clyde Walker, Chief football recruiter for the University of North Carolina, will be the featured speaker at the annual Davie High School athletic banquet on Friday, May 21st.

Walker, who never had a losing season in 12 years as coach at Raleigh's Needham Broughton High, is now chief recruiter and administrative assistant on Bill Dooley's football staff at UNC.

The athletic banquet is sponsored by the civic clubs of Davie County and honors members of all the athletic teams at Davie High. Awards will be presented to the outstanding athletes as well as monograms during the program.

As coach at Broughton, Walker had a record of 87 wins, 27 defeats, and 9 ties. His 1966 team won the Class 4-A regional championship. His 1961 team won the state championship.

Walker is a native of Poplar Branch in Currituck County. He attended high school in Norfolk, Va., and attended Mars Hill Junior College for two years. He then went to Catawba, where he was graduated in 1951.

He obtained his master degree from Carolina in 1961. During the summer of 1950, while a student at Catawba College, Walker played baseball with the Mocksville Millers in the Yadkin Valley League.

Doug Chappell

Doug Chappell Sets New ASU Record

Douglas Chappell, a 1969 graduate of Davie County High School, set a new track record for Appalachian State University Saturday at the NAIA District No. 6 Track-Field Championship at Conrad Stadium in Boone.

Chappell, a sophomore at ASU, ran the 440 Intermediate hurdles in 55.7 seconds, breaking the previous record of 58 seconds, which was set by former ASU coach Jerry Mayhew in 1967.

Chappell came within one-tenth of a second of tying the NAIA record of 55.6 which has been held by McGowen of Western Carolina since 1969. This is his first year for participating in the intermediate hurdles.

He also placed fourth in the high jump meet.

Chappell has been selected as one of the ASU representatives to participate in the qualifying at Duke Stadium in Durham on Friday for a track meet to be held there on Saturday.

Those who qualify for this meet will be running against top competition throughout the state. The meet is being sponsored by WTVD-TV, channel 11, in Durham.

Douglas is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Chappell of Coolemeec.

Davie County Tops North Stanly, 6-2

Davie High took a 6-2 victory over North Stanly last Friday night in a baseball game at Rich Park.

Paul Ijames fired a three-hitter and drove in two runs to lead the War Eagles.

The win was Davie's 10th of the season against two losses. The War Eagles still trail East Rowan, who stand 11-2 on the year, by a half game.

Davie scored three runs in the second when Robert Anderson singled, Paul Ijames reached first on a fielders choice and Billy Wall singled to lead the bases. Craig Ward then crashed a triple scoring all three runners.

Davie To Participate In North-South Track Meet

The Davie High track team will participate in the Piedmont bi-conference track meet Friday at the South Rowan stadium.

Davie placed third in the North Piedmont meet last Friday. East Rowan scored 123 points to win this meet; North Rowan tallied 109; and Davie 101.

Boydton High's powerful Hornets, unbeaten in official track competition for two years will be favored to win their second straight North-South track crown.

The only track event in which Boydton has not finished in first place in two years was last month's Metroline Relays in Charlotte. The Hornets placed second, but scoring was not based on individual performance, and it is not considered as a defeat.

Last year Boydton won the South Piedmont, Piedmont bi-conference and Western North Carolina High School Activities Association championships.

Andy Atwell, Davie High's outstanding junior miler, could break the record Friday in this event. The record for the mile is held by Terry Helms of Kannapolis, who had a time of 4:36.8 in 1968. This year Atwell has run the mile in 4:30.1 and 4:32.45.

ADVANCE NEWS

A large number attended the Special service held at the Methodist Church Sunday night to hear the Rev. J. J. Starling of Thomasville, a former pastor deliver a wonderful message. Members from Elabaville, Fulton and Mocks joined the Advance congregation for this service. Prior to the worship service a fellowship supper was enjoyed at the community building. Our pastor, the Rev. W. C. Anderson, will conclude these Special services next Sunday night at 7:30. Everyone is invited to come and worship with us.

Mrs. Becky Sowers of Southmont and Miss Mary Ann Fritz of Welcome were Monday visitors of Mrs. Ben Mock. Miss Rebekah Talbert and Mrs. Minnie Bryson attended the Talbert reunion held in Albemarle Sunday. Approximately 175 friends and relatives enjoyed this happy occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. Thurmond Cornatzer and son, Donald visited their son and brother, Pvt. Gary Cornatzer at Fort Campbell, Kentucky this past weekend.

Mrs. Lettie Shoaf of Yadkin College was a Friday afternoon visitor of Mrs. Walter Shutt.

Miss Cora Hartman has been confined to her home by illness this past week. We missed her at church Sunday and we hope she will get well soon.

Mrs. Connie Cornatzer is a patient at Forsyth Memorial Hospital. A speedy recovery is wished for her.

Mrs. Reclie Sheets was pleasantly surprised last Wednesday morning by the arrival of some cousins from Saint Louis, Missouri whom she had never met. They were Mr. and Mrs. Ted Bannister. Mrs. Bannister was a Cornatzer before marriage. Mrs. Sheets and her guests visited many relatives in the community and also the old Cornatzer home place.

Mrs. John Caldwell of Crumpler and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Tugh of Aberdeen, Maryland were Wednesday afternoon guests of Mrs. Phil Hoots and Mrs. Reclie Sheets. Sanitary Landfills Answer Waste Problems

LANDFILLS....In the United States each person throws away an average of seven pounds of solid waste a day or more than one ton a year. That's a lot of garbage when multiplied by a population of 265 million.

Soil Conservation Service helps communities by telling them what sites are most suitable for sanitary landfills. Surveys show if the soil will absorb wastes properly; whether it is too steep, stony or shallow for easy use and proper water control; or whether it will support plant growth. SCS also recommends erosion control measures and water disposal practices for disposal sites as well as plant varieties to cover the fill or to screen. Final site selection and design of the landfill require teamwork of soil scientists and others. Request from cities and counties are made to local soil and water conservation districts for assistance.

Although landfill is far from a perfect answer to disposal, properly conducted, it is the method most successful for many communities to date.

Jehovah Witnesses Hold Seminar

D. J. Thomas, district director for Jehovah's Witnesses said, "This is the age of rebellion." He spoke at a gathering of 1600 during a 14 day circuit assembly in Salem, N. C. His topic was "What is Behind the Spirit of Rebellion?"

He added, "There is widespread resistance as well as open rebellion against the establishment, the established order of society. This spirit is so widespread that it touches everyone to some degree.

"This however, is no surprise. This has long been foretold in the Bible. We are thankful, however, since the Bible also gives us the solution.

"To identify the source of the spirit of rebellion we need to go no further than read who caused the first human parents to rebel against God. This evil spirit is primarily responsible for the widespread spirit of rebellion as well as for imperfect conditions that stimulate rebellion against people." To support these statements, Thomas read from Revelation 12:9; 16:13-16.

Sometimes those in rebellion are sincere. They are moved by injustices and problems. Others rebel for selfish reasons. But whether sincere or selfish reasons, rebellion has failed to solve man's basic problems.

"The real solution," declared Thomas, "is found in the Bible. And that is something for which all professed Christians pray, that is, God's Kingdom. To benefit one must follow God's ways as found in the Bible. Avoid rebellion against God; do not oppose the arrangement he permits."

Concluding, Thomas revealed, "The Witnesses have already overcome many of mankind's problems - they have beaten their swords into plowshares, overcome racial problems, materialism, and family breakdown. They have a purpose in life. Even now they are actively working for the new system by God where injustice will not be permitted."

Jerry C. Smith, local presiding minister, expressed gratitude for the upbuilding Christian information the local members received from the program, based on the theme, "Implanting of the Word."

Is it too late for good weed control in corn? Not yet.

You can still apply the No. 1 weed killer, AATrex® herbicide. It gets almost all the grass and broadleaf weeds in corn - if you spray before they're 1 1/2" high.

So, don't give in to a weedy corn field. There's still time to spray AATrex. We'll give you all the information you need on this post-emergence application of the herbicide that is safe to your corn.

Davie Schools Have Received $74,084 From NDEA Program

January, 1971, marked the beginning of the thirteenth year that North Carolina schools have been aided by funds from Title III of the National Defense Education Act (NDEA). The bill, enacted by Congress in 1958, has provided an accumulated total of $22,779,083.79 in federal funds for the purpose of improving instruction in various academic subjects in the elementary and secondary school.

All students in grades 1-12 in the public schools of North Carolina have benefited from NDEA Title III, according to Joseph B. Webb, State coordinator of the program. For the twelve-year period from 1958-1970 Congressional District 5 has received a total accumulated sum of $1,992,610.98. Within that district Davie County school unit received $74,884.83 of the total sum.

According to Webb, local education agencies obtain money by submitting projects but they must be able to match federal funds with local funds. The money is used to buy equipment and materials to strengthen instruction in twelve academic areas. NDEA Title III money has been used specifically in North Carolina to acquire planetariums, video tape recorders, scientific equipment, foreign language laboratories, and equipment used in reading centers. The bill does not allow the purchase of consumable items, that is, items which are consumed in use during a one-year period, added Webb.

Without the support from NDEA Title III North Carolina public schools would find it difficult to continue offering the experiences they now provide and to move toward more comprehensive programs in the future, said State Superintendent Craig Phillips. "During this period of tremendous change throughout our State, we must have all the resources possible to meet the needs of North Carolina's school children," Phillips said.

Davie School Calendar Is Adopted

The school calendar for Davie County schools has been approved by the Davie County Board of Education.

The calendar, however, is subject to revision in the event the ten-month employment for teachers is approved by the N.C. General Assembly.

The calendar calls for the Davie schools to open August 24th with pupil orientation day. The first teacher day will be August 23rd.

Exclusive of makeup days, May 25th will be the final day of school. Makeup days are subject to be added on to the calendar at the end of school with June 2 and June 5 being teacher day. Makeup days not taken will be added to the end of the Easter Holiday.

School holidays will be as follows:

- Sept. 6 Labor Day
- Sept. 24 NCAE District Meeting
- Nov. 25-26 Thanksgiving
- Dec. 20 - Dec. 31 Christmas
- January 20 Teacher Day
- March 31 - April 1 Easter

Davie Board Hears Reports

MOCKSVILLE - Progress reports were made by various individuals during Monday's meeting of the Davie County Commissioners.

Several petitions were presented for requests for blacktopping of roads. All were approved and forwarded to the State Highway Commission.

Postal Rates Go Up Sunday

This is the final week of the 6-cent stamp. Sunday, unless a federal judge frustrates the U. S. Postal Service, postage rates are going up. It will take 8-cents to mail a letter and 11-cents if you send it by air. Penny postcards, which have cost a nickel for a long time, go up to 6-cents. And all second and third-class rates, plus some fourth class rates will increase by from 10 per cent to 20 per cent. Special delivery and registered mail costs also go up. The May 16 issue comes under what the Postal Service claims authority to make temporary increases in postal rates pending a recommendation by the Postal Rate Commission. A group of mail users, led by magazine and newspaper publishers, have challenged the right of Postmaster General Winton M. Blount and the nine other members of the Postal Board of Governors to use such authority. In a suit filed in U. S. District Court in Washington, the mailers are seeking an injunction to halt the increases until the rate commission, which begins hearings next Monday on a permanent, $1.45-billion-a-year revenue proposal, has time to act. Judge William B. Bryant is tentatively scheduled to rule early this week, but postal authorities profess confidence he will not block the temporary rate increases. The Postal Service has printed up billions of the eight-cent Eisenhower stamp, record best seller in its 6-cent version, and the 8-cent American-flag stamp, also popular at 6-cents.

Davie Symphony Drive In Final Week

The 1971-72 membership drive of the Davie County Chapter of the North Carolina Symphony Society has entered its second and final week. Membership chairman Mike Hendrix reports that initial response has been good and that a successful completion of the drive is hoped for within a few days. The Chapter is seeking to raise $1650 to support two local appearances by the North Carolina Little Symphony next season. And evening concert and an admission-free educational matinee for area school children is planned. Charles Dunn, chapter president, urged area residents to give their full support to this effort to bring North Carolina's famed touring orchestra back to Mocksville next season. "This is one cultural opportunity too pleasurable to all of us to pass up," Mr. Dunn said.

Memberships may be purchased in the following categories: student, $1; adult, $5; couple, $8; corporate, $25 and up; donor, $25-$99; and patron, $100 and up. Mr. Hendrix pointed out that a season membership admits the bearer to all of the statewide evening concerts sponsored by the North Carolina Symphony Society. Fifty such concerts were given last year. Davie Outlay For Cigarettes Is $958,000 Annually

What have Davie County residents been doing lately about their cigarette smoking? To what extent have the campaigns conducted by the Public Health Service and others led them to cut down on their consumption or cut it out completely? The findings are that many of them have quit permanently and many others are trying to do so. As for the large remainder, however, they are smoking as much as ever. That is the trend in most areas. The Department of Agriculture reports that 1970 was the first year in four in which there was a rise in per capita consumption of cigarettes by adult smokers in the United States. The average was up nearly two packs annually. According to a survey made by the National Center for Health Statistics, the ones who are 'tutting' down on their cigarettes are the light smokers - those who use no more than 10 per day - and elderly people. There was a marked increase, however, on the part of those who smoke one or more packs a day. In Davie County, in the past year, cigarette sales came to approximately 8,288,000 packs, according to a breakdown of regional figures released by the Tobacco Tax Council. Related to the local population over age 18, this was equivalent to 276 packs per capita. Compared with some areas of the country, this was low and, compared to others, high. The average nationally was 202 packs. It was 218 in the South Atlantic States. A decline has been noted in the number of women smokers in the last few years. There are now some 300,000 fewer female smokers than there were in 1966, survey figures show, despite a population increase of three million adult women. According to Dr. Daniel Horn of the National Clearing House on Smoking and Health, giving up cigarettes seems to be more difficult for women than for men. And, even when they do quit, they find it harder to stay quit. How much does the average Davie County smoker spend per year for cigarettes? Approximately $81 it is estimated. For the local community as a whole, the total is close to $958,000.

The action was taken after it was brought to the board's attention that mini bikes were being ridden at high rates of speed over the nature trails in the park and had done considerable damage. It was also stressed that this practice was very dangerous not only to the mini bike rider but also to small children who may be using the trails. Mayor D. J. Mando asked cooperation of the parents in prohibiting the use of mini bikes in Rich Park.

REA Administrator Addresses Crescent Electric Annual Meeting

An estimated 1500 members and friends were present for the first annual meeting of members of Crescent Electric Membership Corporation held at the Iredell County Fairgrounds on Saturday, May 8, 1971. The highlight of the meeting was an address by David A. Hamil, Administrator of the Rural Electrification Administration. In his address Mr. Hamil stressed his belief that mergers and consolidations of rural electric cooperatives are a means of meeting increased demands for better service and realizing economies which offset the effects of inflation and the rising cost of doing business. Speaking at the first annual meeting of the Crescent Electric Membership Corporation, Mr. Hamil praised the directors, management and consumer-members of the two former cooperatives for the decision to consolidate their systems for greater efficiency. The consolidation came about last July when the Davie Electric Membership Corporation, Mocksville, and the Cornelius Electric Membership Corporation, Cornelius, formed the new Crescent cooperative in Statesville. "This is an outstanding case of two neighboring systems, each strong and able to survive any foreseeable challenge ahead, deciding that they could do an even better job for rural people by pooling their resources in a single organization," Mr. Hamil said. "Through this consolidation you have increased your ability to provide better and more reliable service to your consumers," he added. Other benefits of the consolidation, Mr. Hamil said, include "strengthened management, operating efficiencies, and savings from quantity purchasing, combined billing and bookkeeping, and other labor-saving techniques. These benefits should grow as the new cooperative gains experience as a single operating entity." The Federal official pointed out that the management of the two former cooperatives worked out the arrangements for the consolidation, and sought the approval of their membership before presenting the plan to REA. "This is the way it ought to be," he said. "We in REA stand ready to assist you in these matters, but it must be your decision. When you do ask for our assistance, you can be assured that when we can see efforts to provide better service to your membership, then we are going to approve such a request." The new cooperative received its first loan from REA April 5, 1971. The $917,000 loan will be used to build 67 miles of line to serve 1,100 new consumers. The cooperative has assumed all obligations of the two older cooperatives and is presently serving some 20,000 consumers over about 3,000 miles of line. Mr. Hamil is a Colorado rancher who is serving his second term as REA Administrator. He first served in the post from 1955 to 1961 and was named to the position again in January 1969 by President Nixon. Donald D. Rice, General Manager, reviewed the formation of Crescent and spoke briefly of the efforts to consolidate the two systems. All directors were re-elected on a staggered and district basis as follows: District 1, Mecklenburg County; Sidney Burris 3 yrs., T. L. Brotherton 2 yrs., Kenneth Westmoreland 1 yr. District 2, Iredell County; Shirley Johnson 3 yrs., T. N. Crawford 3 yrs., J. S. Dobson 2 yrs., Donald Johnson 2 yrs., Floyd Morrow 1 yr., W. B. Renegar 1 yr. District 3, Lincoln, Gaston & Catawba; Eugene Dellinger 3 yrs., Henry Gabriel 1 yr. District 4, Rowan & Cabarrus; Jimmy Horton 2 yrs., W. J. Myers 1 yr. District 5, Wilkes County; Conrad Eller 2 yrs. District 6, Yadkin County; E. R. Crater 2 yrs. District 7, Davie County; R. L. Seaford 3 yrs., T. B. Woodruff 3 yrs., Paul Stroud 1 yr. District 8, Alexander County; Russell Oxford 3 yrs., Larry Payne 1 yr.

Bill Dryden Purchases Weekly In Florida

Mr. and Mrs. William A. Dryden, former residents of Mocksville, have purchased a weekly newspaper in Jacksonville Beaches, Florida. The paper, THE LEADER, is reported to be one of Florida's largest weekly publications.

Mr. Dryden, a nephew of the late Ollie C. McQuage, was associated with his uncle in the operation of THE MOCKSVILLE ENTERPRISE shortly after World War II. Mrs. Dryden taught at the Mocksville High School.

For the past 17 years the Drydens have published a paper in the Berlin-Ocean City resort area of Maryland. Mr. Dryden's newspaper training was obtained on the Washington Post before the war, moving from there to International News Service as a rewrite man and copy desk editor. He entered the army shortly after and served with the artillery.

Mrs. Dryden is a graduate of Oregon State University, and has been teaching kindergarten for the past three years. She has also taught Home Economics and English. She has been active in PTA, Girl Scouts and community work.

The family are members of St. Paul's Episcopal Church in Berlin, Md., where for many years Mr. Dryden served as vestryman and senior warden. He is a member of Arlington Lodge No. 102, AF&AM in Virginia. He is also past president of the Berlin Lions Club and past zone chairman, past president of the Berlin Chamber of Commerce and local Berlin PTA's.

Soon after leaving Mocksville, the Drydens managed a newspaper in Tappahannock, Va., and in 1952 bought a paper at Heathsville, Va., which they sold in 1954 to go to Berlin.

The Drydens have five children: Amy, 17 and Abby, 13, are in high school; Marty 21 and Marlene, 19 who are in college in Maryland; and a son, Mark, 22, is working for an advertising agency in New York.

The Problem Of Animal Waste

Growing concern about animal waste treatment, use, and disposal coincides with the public's concern about the overall problem of waste management and environmental quality. Determination in agriculture will assure that wastes arising from rapid use of new technology will be handled properly. The rapid increase in livestock numbers can be attributed to the need to feed more people and to the increased per capita consumption of meat. As with crops, technology in handling livestock over the past 15 years has become highly mechanized. Poultry enterprises involving 1.5 million laying hens or cattle feeding operations involving 100,000 head produce wastes in large quantities. Disposal of wastes and abatement of odor have become major problems.

High density confinement of cattle, hogs, or poultry generally compounds the problems of waste utilization or disposal. Adequate acreages of and usually are now available or accessible for proper utilization or disposal. Most cattle feedlots are covered with soil or concrete. However precipitation, flushing and livestock movement produce runoff whatever the surface.

Animal wastes should not be spread on snow covered or frozen land to avoid later runoff and stream pollution. Some infectious diseases are common to animals and man.

Agriculture finds itself in the challenging position of being able to use or dispose of vast quantities of animal wastes without polluting the water, soil, or air. Using animal wastes as a source of plant nutrients and as a soil amendment may decrease as the cost of chemical fertilizer decreases. Handling, transporting, and spreading costs now virtually rule out the extensive use of animal wastes as a major source of plant nutrients. To be competitive with chemical fertilizers, the built-in costs of using animal wastes must be compensated for, and more efficient means must be developed to facilitate their use on cropland. In those situations where feed production is part of the livestock rearing enterprise, the use of manures on cropland usually avoids problems in disposal. Many operators attempt to reduce the costs of animal waste disposal by applying excessive amounts of wastes on readily accessible land. This practice increases the water pollution hazard.

Research is needed to determine optimum rates of animal waste application for various land uses on the major soil series. Where it is necessary to detain runoff from feedlots or retain liquid manure for several months from confined units, costly structures are required.

The healthy smell of animal manure is becoming less appreciated by the feedlot operator's neighbors and can lead to serious confrontations. A logical solution to this problem would be a program of rural zoning which sets aside specific areas for livestock production. Under such a program, associated odors would be accepted as part of the business of rearing livestock. The absence of effective land use regulations has led to court cases and judgements against the livestock producer, who once established, has no protection simply because he was there first. Soil and Water Conservation Districts can provide technical assistance to landowners in planning and applying soil and water conservation measures that reduce organic waste pollution.

Census Seeks Info On Dual Job Holding

How many people are supplementing their regular pay check with a second job? Joseph R. Norwood, Director of the Bureau of the Census regional office in Charlotte, announced today that information on the subject will be collected during the week of May 17 from a number of households in this area. The questions are in addition to the usual ones asked in the monthly survey on employment and unemployment conducted nationwide by the Bureau for the U. S. Department of Labor.

Results of this monthly survey provide a continuing measure of economic conditions in the country. The March survey found that unemployment, on a seasonally adjusted basis, had edged up to 6.0 percent from 5.8 percent in February, and that this increase was largely among 16 to 24 year-olds, many of whom were entering the labor force for the first time. Total employment remained basically unchanged at 78.5 million.

Interviewers who will visit households in this area are: Mrs. June C. Bullabough Route 1, Box 27-A Mocksville, N. C. 27028

FRESH SUMMER FRUIT SALAD

Arrange in an attractive pattern on a bed of lettuce the following fresh fruits (any or all): peach halves, nectarine halves, pineapple wedges, orange sections, tangerine sections, honeydew balls, cantalope balls, grapefruit sections, sliced unpeeled apples, blueberries, strawberries, green grapes (frosted with sugar) and red grapes. Serve with olive oil, fresh lemon juice or fresh orange fruit salad dressing.

FRESH ORANGE FRUIT SALAD DRESSING

1/2 cup fresh orange juice
1 tablespoon fresh lemon juice dash salt
2 eggs, separated
6 tablespoons sugar
1/4 cup heavy cream whipped grated orange rind for garnish

Heat orange juice over low heat. Beat lemon juice, salt and egg yolks together in the top of a double boiler. Gradually beat in 4 tablespoons of the sugar. Slowly stir in the hot orange juice. Cook over hot water until thickened, stirring constantly. Beat egg whites until they form soft peaks. Gradually beat in the remaining 2 tablespoons of sugar. Fold into the cooked mixture. Chill. Fold in whipped cream just before serving. Garnish with grated orange rind. Makes about 2 1/2 cups. Great to serve on a hot summer day!

Air Force Recruiter Adopts New Slogan

"Get the skill of a lifetime!" This is the slogan currently being used by the local recruiter, Sgt. Chaffin, to interest young men in a career with the U. S. Air Force.

With unemployment on the increase and the cost of getting technical or formal training sky-rocketing every year, our young men would be wise to check into this avenue of employment, training and opportunity.

The slogan itself is certainly one of truth. Throughout our country today there are countless thousands of men who have indeed gotten their "skill of a lifetime" from having served in the U. S. Air Force. Pilots, mechanics, photographers, plumbers, carpenters, IBM operators, firemen and journalists are just a few of the trades one can obtain from a four-year tour with the Air Force. In fact, every Air Force job has a counterpart in the civilian community and most of those who do not choose to remain in the field for which they received training in the Air Force will still admit that their overall training benefited them in seeking employment on the civilian market.

One other thing which should be of interest to those seeking a higher education, but can't afford it, is the educational opportunities in the Air Force. At every major Air Force base there is the opportunity for one to obtain college credits, with the government footing most of the bill. Thousands have earned college degrees through the various education programs.

If you are a high school graduate between 17 and 27 years old and looking for your "skill of a lifetime" contact Sgt. Chaffin at Post Office, Winston-Salem.

While cashing in on these opportunities you will also be doing what millions before you have done--investing in the future of America.

State School Superintendent Craig Phillips will open the day's activities at 10:00 a.m. Other distinguished observers include industrial representatives, personnel directors, and contractors from across the State. Members of the General Assembly have also been invited to attend.

Contests in auto mechanics, bricklaying, carpentry, cosmetology, drafting, electronics, graphics and industrial communications, health occupations, machine shop tailoring, and welding will be held from 10:00 a.m. to 12:00 noon in Dorton Arena.

A special feature of the day will be the Plymouth Trouble Shooting contest, co-sponsored by the State Education Agency and Plymouth Motors. Troubleshooting teams from 53 schools will compete in the contest. Slated to begin at 1:00 p.m. in the parking lot of Dorton Arena, the contest is designed to test each team's ability to locate and correct malfunctions on an automobile in a limited amount of time.

Trophies and awards go to first, second, and third place winners, as well as an opportunity to participate in national competition in Indianapolis, Indiana in June.

Winning troubleshooting teams will be awarded cash prizes and all expense paid trips to national competition, also to be held in Indianapolis, Indiana.

Some 150 displays set up by trade and industrial students across the State will be on view during the day. According to John Blanton, Trade and Industrial Education Consultant with the State Education Agency, the displays, both live and static, will range in subject area from aerospace to welding. Blanton added that he expects some 2,000 high school students to observe the day's activities.

Contest winners are to be announced at 2:30 p.m. Judges for all contests are representatives of schools, trades and industries who have expertise in the 12 areas of competition.

According to State School Superintendent Craig Phillips, the Annual Trade Fair presents an important opportunity for schools to let the public and industry know what students are learning in the area of trade and industrial training. There are over 43,000 trade and industrial students now enrolled in North Carolina's public schools. It is through such training that Tar Heel students can become future leaders of North Carolina trades and industries, added Phillips.

The Senate has passed the Emergency School Aid bill authorizing the appropriation of $1.5 billion in Federal funds for fiscal 1972 and 1973 for the desegregation of local school districts. I voted against the bill on final passage when I was unable to obtain approval of a number of amendments to make the bill acceptable.

The amendments which I offered and which were rejected would have barred the use of Federal funds by private nonprofit religious organizations operated for the primary purpose of religious training; would have barred the use of funds by nonprofit private schools which discriminate against teachers and student on the ground of religion, in addition to race, color, or national origin; would have conferred upon parents the right to choose the public schools which their children will attend; would have prohibited the busing of children to change the racial composition of a public school; would have extended to all school children the right to attend the public school nearest their home; and would have provided that $1.5 billion in funds be divided among all the States in proportion to their school populations for general education free of Federal coercion to achieve "racial balance" in neighborhood schools.

I have long been concerned about the use of Federal funds for any religious purpose. The First Amendment gives every American the right not to be taxed for the support of religion, and this bill went so far on the question of intergration that it undertook to provide for the payment of money to a church school to persuade it to desegregate its student body. Frankly, I do not believe that it is any business of the Federal Government to undertake to say what the racial composition of a church school shall be. The Constitution clearly intended to keep the church and the state separate, and yet, under the bill as passed by the Senate, the Federal Commissioner of Education would acquire by redirection the power to determine the racial composition of student bodies in church schools.

Moreover, I think it is a tragedy that today children in the South are denied the right to attend the school nearest their homes. Our country has embarked upon a policy of intolerable tyranny when it seeks to compel little children to be bused to and fro over the face of the earth merely to integrate their bodies and not to enlighten their minds. The Constitution, according to its true intent and meaning does not require this, and I do not believe that such a policy accords with sensible educational practices. The longer we travel this road of administering the schools through Federal edicts, now directed for the most part against Southern schools, the greater will be the folly.

One almost marvels at how ridiculous people can get when they try to resort to all kinds of methods to bring about compulsory integration under all circumstances in the schools. When this bill came to the Senate floor, it contained language that would not even permit local school administrators to separate students in their classes according to their mental ability, or even to place disadvantaged students in remedial training classes. It was feared that to give administrators this authority would permit Southerners to racially segregate classes even though there are more than 20 provisions in the bill to forbid that practice. After much debate, I was able to get an amendment adopted to allow for ability grouping in elementary and secondary schools for instructional purposes.

The Senate debate has demonstrated anew that there are enough votes to enact drastic legislative proposals aimed at the South but not at the North. Fortunately, there are some signs that this practice may not continue much longer.

Cords and Cords Of Pulpwood

How Much Wood?

"How much wood.... would a wood chopper chop.... if a wood chopper.... would chop wood?.... goes a familiar tongue twister.

And most any day along the railroad track behind the Mocksville Depot one can see stacks and stacks of pulp wood awaiting shipment and wonder: "How much wood is shipped out of Mocksville to the pulpwood factory?"

W. T. Spencer has been operating the Spencer Pulpwood Company here since 1950. That was the year he and his family moved from Tennessee to Mocksville. In Tennessee he was engaged in a similar operation.

In the beginning Mr. Spencer bought and shipped the pulp wood to the Champion Paper Company. However, sometime ago he switched to Boatwater and now sends the pulpwood to the Carolina Division of Boatwater located at Catawba, South Carolina. Boatwater, an English firm, manufactures newsprint and some plywood. They ship their products all over the United States and also overseas.

Mr. Spencer estimates he buys around 9,000 cords of pulpwood a year. At the present time he is paying $18 per cord for pine and $14 per cord for hardwood.... which would make the total purchase in excess of $160,000 per year.

"Winter is my busiest season", says Mr. Spencer. "This is the time the farmer has more free time and uses it in cutting and thinning out his pines."

Mr. Spencer says the pulpwood ranges from 4-inches to 22-inches in diameter but all must be cut in 5-foot lengths.

Brought to his yard at the depot, the pulpwood is unloaded from the truck onto the yard.... and then later loaded on flatcars for shipment to Boatwater.

In loading and unloading, Mr. Spencer and his helpers use a Hyster hydraulic lift, capable of lifting three cords of wood at one time.

Anywhere from 19 to 29 cords of wood may be loaded on each railroad car. On the car, a pick is used to straighten up the logs. Also the logs must be aligned evenly along the side as only a 10-inch clearance is allowed.

It is estimated that during the past year more than 450 railway cars of pulpwood was shipped out of Mocksville....which is an average of around a car and a half every working day.

Cedar Creek

A friendly smile is a contagious thing when it comes from deep down in one's heart. It makes friends and to gain friends is to smile and be friendly.

There was great joy and happiness around Cedar Creek Baptist Church Sunday on the annual homecoming and Mother's Day.

An enjoyable Sunday School was reported by Supt. Thomas Eaton.

Morning worship devotionals were conducted by Brother Thomas Eaton and Brother E. J. Eaton. The Rev. Dr. W. B. McLaughlin of Winston-Salem and instructor at A & T University in Greensboro, N. C., brought a wonderful message on homecoming and how one should be appreciative of the home. It was real interesting and encouraging and enjoyed by all. His family accompanied him here.

Three p.m. devotionals were conducted by members of the Galilee Baptist Church of Winston-Salem and the spiritual hour. The Rev. W. C. Hay brought a spiritual message on the work "Joy". There was a real visitation of the Holy Spirit on our Mother's Day.

There were several guest churches represented. Where there is joy there is sorrow also. Our prayers go out to the Lyons and Scott families and Wilson family.

Sgt. Guy Eaton of Fort Jackson, S. C., was here Saturday and Sunday visiting his sister, Mrs. Cora Lee Bailey who is a patient at Forsyth Memorial Hospital in Winston-Salem. E. J. and Alta and Mrs. Minnie Morrison of Bethania also visited her.

Mrs. George Scott is also a patient in the Davie County Hospital in Mocksville. Mrs. Wiseman is still not doing well. Our prayers go out to all shut-ins.

Mother's Day callers at the home of Mrs. Lula West here her children, Mr. and Mrs. Lonzo West, Jr. of Winston-Salem and William West of Goldsboro, N. C., also L. Sgt. Glenn West and Mrs. West and children of Ft. Bragg, N. C.

Mrs. Daisy Tatum and daughter and grandchildren Mrs. Nellie Lyons, Mrs. Ella Tomlin all of Winston called Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ambros Brooks.

Darryl and Kenneth Eaton, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Odell Eaton, were home for Mother's Day.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Cain and children of Trap Hill worshiped here Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jessie Brown and children of Fork called Sunday at the home of their mother, Mrs. Lucy Tatum.

Mrs. Minnie Morrison and daughter called recently at the home of her father, Mr. Lonnie Williams.

Mrs. Queen McKnight of Winston-Salem who underwent surgery recently at the Kate Bitting Reynolds Memorial Hospital is recuperating satisfactorily at home and able to be up and around the house and says thanks to her many friends for their cards, flowers and prayers. Everyone was so nice to her and her mother, Mrs. Nora Eaton, says thank you, too.

There will be a spiritual singing Sunday evening, May 16th, at 3:00 p.m. at the Cedar Creek Baptist Church sponsored by the choir. Everyone is invited to come out and enjoy these spiritual singers. - The Rhynehardt Sister.

This Is National Hospital Week
Why's Of Hospital Cost

How would you like to go to a hospital for treatment only to find a world of machines?

You could explain your symptoms to a computer and receive a diagnosis in seconds. Your room assignment would be automatic and you'd be conveyed there by a remote-controlled cart. The room would be spotless when you arrive-having just been cleaned ultrasonically.

If you needed something, you would press your buzzer, allowing your computer-nurse to appear on the closed circuit television screen in your room. If it couldn't handle the problem, it would call in the computer doctor. All laboratory tests would be evaluated by another skilled machine, and still others would plan and serve your meals.

The system probably can't be beat for efficiency, but some disadvantages remain. Computers can't seem to cope with a patient whose heart suddenly stops. And a rather callous attitude is taken toward the patient who is still in pain after they prescribe medication. Surgery by computer also presents some unique problems.

It seems that as long as the patient's illness fits into the computer's program, the treatment is adequate. But failure of one treatment or unusual complications can't be programmed. Computers also can't be programmed to care about patients, even the most seriously ill.

In some ways it's unfortunate that computers can't replace the hospital's doctors and nurses, dietitians and therapists, personnel directors and administrators, pharmacists and lab technicians. If they could, your hospital bills would be more than cut in half because you wouldn't be paying people's salaries. But if you were the patient, how would like recovery to depend on a computer?

"Here at Davie hospital, we're certainly introducing automation in areas where it can be used effectively to save the patient's money and time," William E. Roark, Jr., hospital administrator, explains.

"But most hospital care depends on judgments and personal services. These simply can't be automated - at least not in the foreseeable future," he added.

Why does it cost so much to rely on human employees rather than mechanical ones? Unlike machines, a person can't work 24 hours a day - in fact, hospitals sometimes have to hire five people for one job in order to cover three eight-hour shifts, seven days a week. People also have to be given coffee breaks, vacations, sick leave, and other benefits which the less demanding machines never insist upon.

Without round-the-clock staffing, hospitals couldn't be prepared as well as they are. Expensive equipment and facilities, and the people to operate them, are ready any and all the time. This costs money, but anyone who has an accident at 3:00 a.m. appreciates the fact that hospitals don't offer their services only during "prime time."

Two-thirds of a hospital's total costs are in payroll, while business and industry devote only one-third of their budget to salaries. In addition, payroll is frequently higher in the hospital field because so many skilled employees are needed. (In the hospital field, one in three employees is highly skilled and trained, while in the auto industry the average is one in six.) Salaries of all hospital personnel must be competitive with those of business and industry in order to keep all hospital services operating.

Other factors contributing to rising health care costs are expense of supplies, the cost of doing business with Medicare, and keeping up with new and needed equipment for patient care. But these elements are secondary compared to the personnel, or people factor.

Salary expense can't be pared down or eliminated because "personal" services to patients must be administered and only "personnel" can provide them. Because of this, the advances in medical technology have improved patient care but haven't replaced people. In fact, more personnel are required; almost twice as many today as two decades ago.

"As health care becomes more complex, more trained people are needed to staff hospitals," Mr. Roark said. "And as this happens, care becomes more expensive. Health care costs more per day in 1971 than it did in 1961, but the length of a hospital stay is usually shorter. If a person must enter the hospital, he would prefer a five day hospital stay at $50 a day to ten days at $25 a day," he commented.

Everyone agrees hospital costs are high," explains Mr. Roark. "Everyone would like to have the same quality care at bargain prices. But if the hospitals were to give a 20 per cent discount, where would they find the money to meet payroll and other expenses?"

"Cutting back on services would result in an immediate cut in costs, but this would be unacceptable for both the community and the hospital," Mr. Roark said. "What is needed is a total effort to develop new ways of delivering and financing health care, and an increased understanding by the community of the factors contributing to increases in health care costs."

8 Points Of Interest On Sunday's Tour

Rowan Historical Tour

A bus tour to points of interest in Rowan County will be conducted on Sunday, May 16, from 2 to 6 p.m.

Highlights of the tour will be the restored Setzer School, considered the state's oldest log school house; several of the state's oldest German and Presbyterian churches, Michael Braun's Old Stone House, which was built in 1766 and restored in recent years; the Dutch Ovens, used by German families for cooking prior to 1800; and the Rowan Museum, featuring several rooms furnished with original, authentic pieces in the Federal Period style.

The tour will begin at the Rowan Museum at 116 South Jackson Street. Guides and light refreshments along the route will be provided by the Rowan Museum, sponsor of the tour and winner of several awards for its work in restoration projects in the county. Costs will be $4. In case of rain, the tour will be postponed until May 23.

CHAIRMEN

Mrs. Clarence Mayfield, Mrs. Clarence Klutz and Mrs. James Hurley are chairmen of the tour for the museum.

Guides will be Claude Pickett, J. H. Knox, Jim Lloyd, Ernest Hardin and Jim Brawley. Committee chairmen are Mrs. Allen Johnson, Mrs. Graydon Patterson, Mrs. Julian Robertson and Mrs. Fred Stanback, tickets; Mrs. John Hanford, buses; Mrs. Edward Taylor, maps; Mrs. Dan Nicholas and Mrs. Linwood Foll, refreshments.

The tour ticket entitles the holder to the bus trip, guided tour, brochure, map and light refreshments.

POINTS OF INTEREST

Here is a thumbnail sketch of the eight points of interest to be featured:

ROWAN MUSEUM is located in a home built by Judge James Martin in 1819. It is considered a fine example of domestic architecture of its period. Its columns, pilasters, pedimented windows and elaborate plaster work reflect the classical trend of the 19th Century. Several rooms have been furnished in the Federal Period style with original, authentic pieces, many made by the early craftsmen of the area. Other rooms in the museum feature historical material pertaining to local, state and national figures who lived in Rowan.

SETZER SCHOOL is considered the oldest public log school in the state. Its restoration has attracted statewide and some national recognition. Setzer School, which was moved to its present site off Mahaley Avenue, was winner of the Cannon Cup Award in 1962. Purpose of the restored school is to show the present generation what school life was like in the days of our forefathers.

THYATIRA PRESBYTERIAN Church Graveyard has been called the "Westminster Abbey" of North Carolina because so many heroes of the Revolutionary War and early statesmen are buried there. John Knox and Jean Gracy, grandparents of President Polk, Mathew and Francis Lock of Revolutionary fame and ancestors of former Vice President Alben Barkley are buried on the wooded hillside behind Thyatira, North Carolina's oldest Presbyterian Church for which records exist.

STIREWALT'S OLD BRICK HOUSE, an architectural gem, is one of Rowan's oldest and best designed homes. It features a huge chimney with a diamond design in brick and a marble clock face set in the wall at the second floor level.

THE DUTCH OVENS are the only ones of its type remaining in the county. They are typical of ones used by the early Germans in baking exemplified by excellent breads, varieties of cakes and pies.

ORGAN LUTHERAN CHURCH was organized in 1774 and the present church erected in 1791. John Stirewalt built what is believed to have been the first organ in the state for the church when it was completed.

LOWER STONE CHURCH is the mother church of the Evangelical and Reformed (now United Church of Christ) faith in this area. The present church was erected in 1795. Both Organ and Lower Stone graveyards contain many markers inscribed in German.

OLD STONE HOUSE, built by Michael Braun between 1758 and 1766, is an excellent example of how well-to-do German families of the period lived. Purchased by the Rowan Museum in 1959 and restored and furnished authentically, the restoration project received the initial Jacock Award. Large native stones were laid in durable mortar to form massive walls in this old home which is striking for its simplicity.

Tied For First With East Rowan Davie Meets North Iredell Here Friday In Finale

Davie High, hot in a battle for first place in the North Piedmont baseball race with East Rowan, will play North Iredell here Friday night in the final game of the regular season. Play will get underway at 7:30 p.m. at Rich Park. East Rowan is scheduled to play its final game at North Davidson, Friday.

Davie held off a seventh inning Mooresville rally last Friday to take a 3-2 North Piedmont Conference win. The win was the 12th of the season against two losses for Davie. East Rowan also has a 12-2 record.

Mooresville loaded the bases in the bottom of the seventh inning with none away but could only produce two runs. Davie county came up with a crucial double play, when Mooresville's Wayne Farr hit a ground ball to third baseman Paul Beaver, who threw home to catcher David Poplin. Poplin then fired to first baseman Robert Anderson to complete the double play. Butch Nantz followed with a line single off the glove of Anderson, scoring Mooresville's two runs. The Nantz hit was the only Mooresville single of the game. Davie's Paul James pitched the one-hitter, striking out five and walking two. James collected his seventh win of the season against two losses.

Davie opened the scoring in the fourth inning when Arnie Riddle walked and was moved to third on consecutive sacrifices by Poplin and Danny Correll. Riddle then raced home on an Alan Lineberger error. Billy Wall led off a two-run rally in the fourth frame for Davie with a single. Randy McDaniel tripled to score Wall and Craig Ward singled, scoring McDaniel. McDaniel led the Davie hitting with a double and a triple.

Demolition Derby Winner Linville Has Best Trout Lake

For years, 65-acre piece of almost barren earth greeted mountain visitors driving into Linville from the south on N. C. 181. Then, almost overnight, that piece of dirt became 65 acres full of water. And trout - plenty of them, and all sizes. "We've already got about as good a trout lake as you'll find anywhere," says Tom Reeves, who gives those trout plenty of tender care. "And it's going to get better. It should be the best trout lake in Western North Carolina."

"It has some good trout," says Reeves, "but the best streams are Lost Cove Creek and North and South Harper Creek. And over on 181, Upper Creek and Steele's Creek have always been good." And for those who want to seek out-of-the-way places, "the people at the Game Preserve can refer you to a number of small streams that have good fishing."

own the old state fish hatchery, so we'll feed them and grow them and then stock them," says Reeves. "We want our land owners and their guests to have the best fishing possible, and that's what they're going to have."

The New York Times And South Carolina

Over the years the New York Times has managed to create and perpetuate a myth of excellence by sticking to an appearance which was out of date a half century ago, and by generally writing everything over the head of the average reader. This has been true in sports as well as in the news and editorial columns of the paper. It also has some snobs like Tom Wicker, who, through a divine revelation, apparently know everything. But there has always been one positive thing about the Times. It is so conservative in its approach to news, and so deadly determined to avoid even the smell of sensationalism, that most of what it prints in the way of news is factual to a fault.

But on April 10 a guy named Gordon White undertook to scald the University of South Carolina for getting out of the ACC. It was obvious that his source was Gamecock Basketball Coach Frank McGuire. Frank was quoted as saying, "Dietzel's trying to sabotage a great basketball program, but he won't. We'll still get good opponents, and we'll still make the championship tournament."

Now everybody who will listen knows that McGuire doesn't like Dietzel because he says so loudly, emphatically, and publicly. McGuire didn't like the athletic director when he was coaching at North Carolina, and he didn't like Eddie Cameron who was athletic director at Duke. He contends that Cameron is responsible for a lot of his problems in the league, and he may well be right.

Dietzel, however, is smoother than McGuire. He doesn't knock his basketball coach. He denies there is any friction between them, and he always speaks well of the basketball team. Of course he threw McGuire out of the athletic office building as soon as he got to Columbia. He reduced Frank from assistant athletic director to simply a coach, and on one occasion he did not introduce McGuire when he might have, and thus the rift widened.

This guy, writing in the New York Times, tried to make it appear that South Carolina was lowering the standards of its school to get more and better athletes at a cost of academic accomplishment. This distortion drew a sharp and widely circulated reply from Dietzel. Paul pointed out that South Carolina's academics have not been prostituted at all. Instead, the Gamecocks have simply put themselves in line with the rest of the country, and have made all their students eligible for athletics. Not another athletic conference in the country has any requirement that an athlete must make any particular score on the College Board exam. The well publicized 1.6 grade rule applies everywhere but the ACC. It's a pity that South Carolina had to get out of the league to be competitive.

In the Big 10, the Big 8, the Southeast, the Southwest, and in the major independents over the country, a 1.6 is good enough for any student athlete. What's more, many venerable institutions have abandoned all entrance requirements as far as Blacks are concerned. The feeling is that Blacks have generally been culturally deprived, and thus they are admitted without coming up to any standards. If they make good in college, then it is reasoned they have overcome their early disadvantages. Many of the best athletes nowadays are black, and South Carolina is now in a position to go after them if it wishes just as others are doing.

The New York Times ought to look at some of the Northern schools and their recruiting practices. It has little knowledge, and less business meddling in the ACC and with South Carolina than Tom Wicker has in trying to run the White House.

Davie High scored 30 points last Friday to come in sixth in the bi-conference meet at South Rowan.

Boyden High's powerful track team breezed to its second straight bi-conference championship with 176½ points and set 10 new records. Thomasville tallied 59 points for second place.

Help Needed For Mentally Retarded

The North Carolina Association for Retarded Children is anxious to secure names of professional people who have time to give either part-time or full-time for work with the Mentally Retarded.

Anyone interested is asked to pick up a brochure from the local Health Center or contact the local association for retarded children or Mr. Carey S. Fendley, Executive Director, North Carolina Association for Retarded Children, 801 Lawyer's Building, Raleigh, N. C. 27601.

According to statistics compiled by the North Carolina Association, one out of twenty mentally retarded people in North Carolina reside in state institutions. There are five thousand beds in four centers, but there are one hundred and fifty thousand mentally retarded in North Carolina. Turned around, this means that nineteen out of twenty mentally retarded reside in our communities. Increased activity and new services are needed for these people.

Our communities are badly in need of programs to support these retarded. Attempts to start new services have been hampered by lack of professional guidance. New programs will include prenatal, post natal, early identification therapy treatments, special education, sequential programming, vocational training, job placement follow-up, independent homes, living opportunities, that can be provided in the communities. Many of the state agencies failed to budget programs for the new biennium because they do not have the personnel available to staff a community program.

The state association will compile a list of professional people available in every community to staff programs for the mentally retarded and the handicapped.

Coast Line

Near Edenton... When F. us from Rocky Hoke community get out of school on spring afternoons, some of them go fish dipping. Some go the short distance to Rocky Hoke Creek, a shallow, lazy, four-jump-wide stream, to get herring that have traveled at least 100 miles from the ocean to get there during the annual spring spawning run.

Last week a boy, about 12, was there for his first try. He had a new dip net. His mother, two sisters, and toddling brother came along too.

He waded into the shallow creek beneath a highway bridge. The water was clear and up on the bridge the girls could look down and see herring swimming here and there. They would let the boy know when some swam his way. The boy held the net underwater so fish could swim into it. He didn't have much luck. But after a while one swam in and he yanked it out. The family was delighted. Some time later he caught two more. Horray! his entourage cheered. A half hour passed before he caught the fourth one. That got the oldest sister, about 15, hopeful. "You're going to get enough for supper!" she said with gee whiz wonder. But mom's patience, or more probably time, had run out. She loaded the kids in the car and they left.

About four miles from the bridge, Rocky Hoke flows into wide Chowan River. The Chowan is the main river in N. C. where river herring spawn. There is a big commercial fishery there.

The morning of the day I saw the boy catch four herring, I saw two commercial fishermen on the river going to shore with a load of close to 10,000 pounds of herring in their boat. They had had a good morning. It takes many boats to fish the more than 500 pound nets (fish traps) in the Chowan. One pound net can trap thousands of fish a day during the peak run.

On the west bank of the Chowan, at Colerain, a big fish factory was humming with activity. Some 200 employees were cleaning, processing, and packaging herring.

All this varied activity in a small area illustrated an important, though often overlooked, aspect of coastal fishing inside the Outer Banks. No matter if it is herring or shrimp or whatever, it is always many faceted, and always has the big of it and the small of it.

France imported so much horsehair from Germany for wigs in the 17th century that it upset the trade balance. Colbert, finance minister to Louis XIV, sought vainly to have wigs banned, fearing the French treasury would be drained of gold.

Southern Corn Leaf Blight - Report 6.

Alabama (Luther Farrar) - reports that 18 counties observed 175 fields last week. 174 were N cytoplasm - 1 field was volunteer corn. Many areas in Alabama had no rain from April 1 through April 22. Corn varies from 1 to 4 leaf stage - No Southern Corn Leaf Blight reported to date in Alabama.

Texas (Wendell Horne) - Drought conditions in our area that has delayed planting and reduced stands in many areas. Weather conditions have not been favorable for the development of Helminthosporium maydis, and only a trace been reported on foliage of the 1971 crop.

Dr. Jose Amador and Dr. R. A. Frederiksen surveyed the Lower Rio Grande Valley on April 2 and observed occasional seedlings (less than 1 percent) that showed symptoms of wilting, stunting, and chlorosis. Observation of the seed coat at the base of the seedling revealed a black fungal growth which later was identified as being H. maydis. An indefinite streak condition was present on leaves of affected plants and was typical of an absorbed toxin effect. Dr. Amador has made subsequent inspections of the area and reports that toxin effects symptoms seem to be diminishing.

The variety observed was White Master, which is on sterile cytoplasm. This is one of the hybrids produced on "T" cytoplasm which has shown resistance to H. maydis - race "T".

In addition, southern corn leaf blight, caused by races "O" and "T", was found on volunteer corn and corn planted in the fall that had survived several frosts occurring prior to April 2. Most of this volunteer and left-over corn has now been plowed under.

Dr. Frederiksen and Dr. Amador further report that only traces of foliar infection caused by both races "T" and "O" were observed on corn in all stages of growth from six-leaf seedlings to those in the silking stage. Seedling blight occurred only in isolated fields and its occurrence in those fields could be described only as a trace.

Kentucky (A. S. Williams) - reports Flea beetle damage and cold damage on corn in Kentucky. No blight at present.

North Carolina - Dew line reports have come in from Pamlico, Hyde and Northampton Counties. The corn observed has been in the 1 leaf stage of growth. Stands have been fair to good. No blight reported. Congratulations to Jim Rea, G. W. O'Neal, Henry Harvey and Elbert Long for being first. Let me hear from the other 17 counties in the Dew Line system. Also a note from all counties on the stage of growth and general condition of corn in your area will be helpful.

Florida - No further report or change from Report 5 has been received from Florida this week concerning the situation in that state.

Miller Assigned To Agriculture Dept.

A Yadkin County native, Charles I. (Chuck) Miller, Jr., has been assigned by the North Carolina Department of Agriculture to work with the horse industry of the state on a part time basis.

The appointment was made by North Carolina Agriculture Commissioner Jim Graham, who cited Miller's knowledge of horses and his interest in promoting them in the state.

"Chuck Miller has been an avid horseman for 15 years," Graham said, "showing at many shows, mostly in North Carolina."

"Our statistics division is preparing now to conduct a horse survey in the state. It will not surprise me if the survey indicates the need for a full-time horse specialist," Graham continued.

Miller is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles I. Miller, Sr., of the Courtney Community of Yadkin County. He is a graduate of the Courtney High School and North Carolina State University in 1967 with a degree in Animal Husbandry.

Since joining the North Carolina Department of Agriculture in 1970 as a Livestock Marketing Specialist he has worked with many sales in the state grading cattle and swine.

"I have always enjoyed horses and presently stable my five horses on my fathers cattle farm" Miller said.

"Commissioner Graham is extremely knowledgeable about the horse industry and is extremely interested in seeing it developed further. I am very excited that he has asked me to help him accomplish this."

Here's Your Answer

By Bernadette Hoyle

"All but a small percentage of retardates can gain some measure of independence if given adequate help." Robert L. Denny, Executive Director I am 16 years old and for several years I have helped look after my neighbor's little girl who is retarded. I might like to work with children like this when I finish school, but I'm not sure. Can you help me?

The best way to find out is to serve as a volunteer worker with the retarded. Some opportunities for this would be a summer camp, a day care center, a Sunday school class or other activity for the retarded. Young people who are volunteer workers with the retarded often decide on a career in mental retardation. Write us for information on volunteer services for the retarded and careers in mental retardation.

Why don't the schools pay Special Education teachers more money than other teachers?

A salary differential has not been approved. Most people recognize that the special education teacher must be a very "special" person in order to work effectively with the retarded. For this reason, there is scholarship help available for those persons interested in following a career in special education, even though the salary on the job may not be higher than that of other teachers.

My son is mildly retarded, according to my doctor. He will soon be of school age. Would it be good for him to be in a special education class?

Not necessarily. Your physician, health nurse and teacher will be glad to evaluate your child and place him in the class best suited to his individual needs. Often, the mildly retarded do very well in a regular classroom, if some tutoring or individual help can be arranged. Contact your school for help.

Though corn did not spread throughout Europe until the 18th century, it had long been the principal food crop of the Mayas, Aztecs, Incas, and other Indian tribes, the National Geographic Society says. Corn pollen taken from drill cores 200 feet below Mexico City was about 60,000 years old.

STRAW VOTE? ... With the big Primary--Presidential and otherwise--less than a year away, hundreds of local and State political leaders are wondering who is in the lead for Governor.

Who would be in the forefront if the vote were held today? That is the question--and the topic of conversation at Democratic fish fries, barbecues, and ramp conventions.

Is Lt. Gov. Pat Taylor? How about Attorney General Robert Morgan? Or is the leader State Senator Hargrove (Skipper) Bowles?

As presiding officer of the State Senate, Lt. Gov. Taylor stays in the news. He is quite popular with the Scott Administration and with the rank and file of the legislators.

Although Skipper Bowles formally announced last week that "I'm not running for Governor yet," he has opened a second office in Raleigh. His regular office, of course, is in the Legislative Building. But now he has a sort of branch office in a Raleigh apartment building.

And, in addition to his legislative clerical assistant, Bowles has Doug Dibbert manning the new department. Reports here are that Bowles' mail equals that of 10 regular members of the Legislature.

Also, what a lot of people don't seem to know is that Hargrove has more personal wealth than Bob Scott, Pat Taylor, and Robert Morgan combined. With some to spare.

However, consensus seems to be that Bowles would rank third if the election were held this month. And, of the three, Attorney General Morgan seems to be the shortest on finances. A big, big worry at the moment.

Reports persist that a sampling of public opinion will be made for one of the candidates "early this summer". It just might be in preparation at this time.

With the rather acute balance now seen in the popular appeal of Messrs Taylor, Bowles and Morgan, the results of an impartial poll (if such there be) could have a far-reaching effect at this particular time.

EVERYBODY... Now who's running for Lieutenant-Governor? Answer: nearly everybody. Begin with Roy Sowers, personable director of Conservation and Development.

Here's a partial listing of others said to be interested in making the race: Lindsay Warren of Goldsboro; John J. Burney, Jr. of Wilmington (State Senate leader); State Sen. N. Hector McGeachy, Jr. of Fayetteville; House Speaker Phillip P. Godwin of Gatesville; Veteran House Leader (at 45) Ike Andrews of Siler City; Allen C. Barbee of Spring Hope, another legislative veteran; former Revenue Commissioner L. Sneed High of Fayetteville; and House Member Perry Martin of Rich Square, probably the Legislature's sharpest debater; and Lauch Faircloth of the Highway Commission. To mention a few--and each is a capable leader and well qualified for the No. 2 position.

NEW CHAMPION?... There are certain political occupations in these parts that actually pay much better--though with less prestige--than political office.

Grapevine rumor has it that Speaker Godwin may become a member of what is sometimes referred to as the "third house". You have the upper house (the Senate), the lower house (the House), and the third house (the lobbyists).

Easily the champion of this group is Hathaway Cross, who has all the grace, charm, dress and dignity of your favorite undertaker.

Cross, like Godwin, is a native of Gatesville. He is a former member of the Legislature. For several years he was a member of the N. C. Probation Commission. His principal clients are: textile firms and the trucking industry. And, fortunately, everybody seems to love him.

You might refer to Mr. Cross as a Southern planter, for he has gently laid to rest more bills than you can imagine. Word is that hemayoe tiring of the occupation, which requires patience, tolerance, deep love for your fellow man, a good education (he's an attorney), and a broad range of knowledge and contacts.

Cross is sixtyish, is well fixed financially. If Godwin doesn't take a judgeship or go for higher office, he might become associated with his fellow Wake Forest University alumnus, Hathaway Cross.

Speaker Godwin has all the attributes necessary for the position; and, in time, might become the new head of the Third House.

CONSUMED?... A lot of legislators are asking what has happened to the N. C. Consumers Council, Inc. At the fourth annual meeting of this organization held in Raleigh on April 26 a total of 39 people including the speakers, the press, and agents from State University were present.

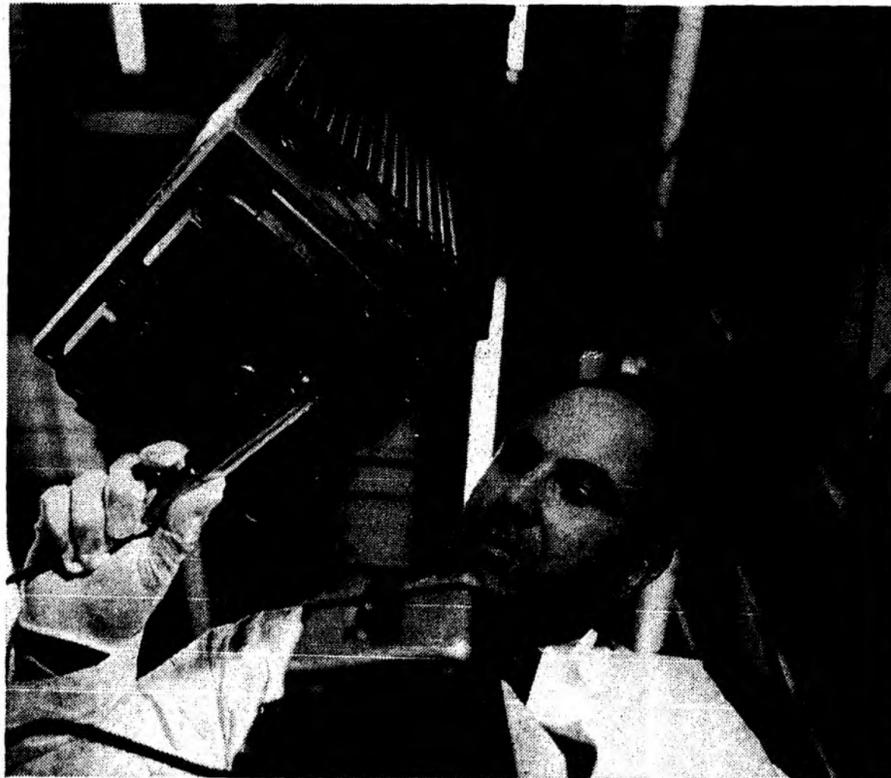

The first meeting of the Council, held in Memorial Auditorium, attracted some 2,000 people.

Another session--this one at Meredith College--was also regarded as successful. Principal drawing card was Mrs. Virginia Knauer, the President's Betty Furness on the consumer front.

Charge it up to lack of leadership, lack of program, or inability to sell members--nobody seems to be sure. Nevertheless, the N. C. Consumers Council (Representative Richard Clark of Monroe was president this past year) as of now seems to be barely alive.

It may be that the excellent activity of the Consumers Division of the Attorney General's office (established since the birth of the organization) has, in effect, consumed the Consumers Council.

Lionel Lewis is a health physicist.

He works for you.

His job is to make certain that our new nuclear-electric generating stations are safe --for our personnel, for the public, and for our environment.

And he's highly qualified to do the job. Only one out of six health physicists has risen to "certified" status. Lionel Lewis, who has been working with nuclear power for 17 years, has achieved that distinction.

As a member of Duke Power's staff, Lionel works closely with our engineers in the design, construction, and operation of our nuclear plants. He is involved with monitoring the radiation levels of the plant and components (such as the nuclear fuel assembly in the photo above). He also makes other extensive studies including the natural radiation that already exists in the air, water, vegetation, earth and even wild animals near our plant sites.

The goal of our scientists: the most efficient operation with uncompromising total safety. As a result of their efforts, the radiation from our nuclear plants will be much less than from an ordinary TV set. And this is only a small fraction of the amount determined to be safe by the International Commission on Radiological Protection.

Duke Power's team of environmental scientists are making sure we stay good neighbors --to you and to Mother Nature.

More About Tommy

By ROSCOE BROWN FISHER

"For many of my buddies the world closed out completely. For them there is no tomorrow. I am never going to complain." Tommy's story seemed glued to my soul. His words kept intruding upon my inner mind. He — so young, so vibrant, so unwilling to give up... and legless; but still dreaming. This time I found him more reserved, less talkative. Soon he was willing to share more of his new world.

"Do you think losing your legs in Cambodia served a purpose?" I asked.

"Sure, but it should have been done sooner, much sooner. I went over and risked my hind-end. . . and lost my legs. They gave me a purple. . . and I said 'thank you'."

"As you look back, what lingers in your mind?" I asked.

"There was the five seconds we stood motionless after my buddy tripped the mine. . . then there was an incident at the hospital in Japan; The chaplain. . . rather short in size — he stood at the foot of my bed when I came around from the anesthetic. My stubs looked awfully ragged. — 'Don't worry, son, about the outside,' the Chaplain said. 'What will make the difference is what is on the inside of you.'"

"And you have not forgotten?"

"No. . . and I never will."

"What would you like to tell people if you could have your say? Like one, two, three," I suggested.

"First — I'd tell them I was glad to be alive.

"Second — that experience is the best teacher, so strive for knowledge and wisdom.

"Third — I'd like to tell them what two worlds are like — the one I had before I went to Vietnam and the one I face now — and to stop complaining.

"Fourth — I'd like to talk to young people and tell them there is a lot of beauty in the world, like outside that window — and to appreciate life, and use it for good things.

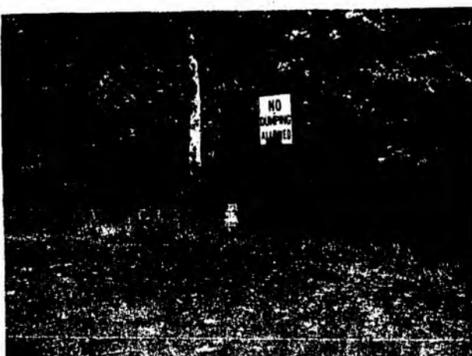

"Fifth — If I had it to do over, I would enlist again and give my legs for my country. I believe history will prove Vietnam was not a lost cause."

"Do your toes ever hurt you, Tommy?" I asked.

"Yes — some, but not like they used to. That is part of the training they give bio-laterals in Atlanta. You rub and rub to help desensitize the nerve endings."

The VA has taught Tommy many things about his new world. . . and how to get around in it — like driving his hand-operated car. He has made three trips to Atlanta, alone, a distance of 328 miles from his home in Davie County, North Carolina.

This time as I left Tommy I felt a new tenderness in my heart for the 15,000 youths of America still being sent to Vietnam each month as replacements.

Local Gemologist Cut Famous $100,000 Emerald

The $100,000 "Carolina Emerald" in the news this week was cut by Jerry Call, formerly of Cooleemee, now a professional gemologist of New York. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Call of Ephesus and is married to the former Pauline Benfield of Statesville, who is associated with the Commercial Lapidaries Ltd. of Mocksville.

And the first public mention of this emerald appeared in an article by Marlene Benson published in this newspaper January 22, 1970. The article concerned the operation of Commercial Lapidaries Ltd. of Mocksville in which Jerry Call has an interest. Concerning what is now known as "The Carolina Emerald" the article had the following statement attributed to Mr. Call:

"Recently a rock found in a new mine in Hiddenite found the largest emerald crystal ever found in the North American Continent. The crystal weighed approximately 1400 carats. This mine is also open to the public now.

This emerald crystal weighed 89 carats. After several attempts to sell it locally, he finally took his highest offer and sold it to William Baltziet, president of American Gems, Inc. and operator of the Rist Mine where it was found. Michael R. Santangelo of New York purchased the emerald and sold it to Tiffany. Santangelo has now bought the Rist Mine under the name of "Emerald Forest, Inc."

Jerry Call cut the stone last fall in New York producing a 13.14 carat emerald.

Tiffany Vice President Henry B. Platt set the stone's value at $100,000. The finished gem is about as big as a thumbnail and about half an inch deep. The emerald will be displayed in the firm's New York store and probably will go to a museum later.

"The Carolina Emerald" historically can vie in importance with the 14.42 carat "Uncle Sam Diamond", the largest American diamond yet cut states Robert Crowningshield, director of the New York Office Geological Institute of America. And, Paul E. Desautels, Curator of Mineralogy at the Smithsonian Institution says the gem is superb, and that no collection in a museum, including their own outstanding display, contains one even approaching the "Carolina Emerald" in size and quality.

Jerry Call, a graduate of the Cooleemee High School acquired his training from the Geological Institute in Los Angeles prior to accepting a position with the Geological Institute of America on Fifth Avenue, New York.

In June 1969, Mr. Call in conjunction with business associates opened the Commercial Lapidaries Ltd. here.

This has grown until it is said to be the largest cutting shop in the United States.

Last fall Jerry Call set up a new company, Jerry Call, Inc., in Brazil, South America. He is there at the present time taking expeditions into the jungles where the gem mines are located. The stones are cut in Brazil and are brought back to the New Jersey office for sale and distribution throughout the United States.

Recognized as one of the most outstanding gemologists in America, Jerry Call also cut the duplicate of the famous Elizabeth Taylor diamond, valued at over one million dollars, and he also duplicated the "Idols Eye", one of the worlds most famous diamonds.

Mrs. Call and children, Darlene and Katrina, are making their home in Mocksville until such time as they can join Mr. Call in Brazil.

DAVIE COUNTY

ENTERPRISE RECORD

THURSDAY, MAY 20, 1971 $5.00 PER YEAR - SINGLE COPY 10 CENTS

Patterns Of The Rain

More than six inches of rain fell in Davie County last week and the above is typical of many pools and ponds that were formed. James Barringer made this unusual picture with a Nikonat 35 mm camera with a Nikkor 50 mm lens, at a speed of 500th of a second to stop the interesting patterns as the raindrops fell. (Photo by James Barringer).

Rain Drenches Area

More than 5 inches of rain fell in Davie and the surrounding area during a three-day period last week.

The downpour began about 11:30 a.m. last Wednesday and continued all night and then resumed on Thursday.

Thursday
Friday saw some sunshine hit the area but the rains began again Saturday morning and continued on into the night.

The rains caused streams to overflow their banks and flood the lowlands.

Corn crops in the bottomlands along the Yadkin River and the creeks that feed into it were definitely damaged.

Mobiland To Hold Grand Opening

A grand opening celebration is planned for this weekend by Mobiland Mobile Homes located on the Yadkinville Highway, next to Reavis Ford.

This firm is owned and operated by Jerry Harmon and features brand name mobile homes for sale.

"We guarantee satisfied customers and operate a full time service department," said Mr. Harmon.

Fred Kirby of SBT-TV fame will be on hand Sunday at the lot with his horse "Calico". There will be free refreshments and door prizes. The open house celebration will run Sunday from 2 p.m. to 6 p.m.

Kicking off the celebration on Saturday will be a musical program Saturday evening by "Tall Paul and his tall men" from WFMX.

Mr. Harmon, a native of Statesville, said the firm would be open from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. five days a week; Saturday until 6 p.m. and on Sunday from 2 p.m. to 6 p.m.

Davie Cropland Damage May Exceed $1-Million

More than 37,538 acres of cropland were severely damaged by heavy flash rains in Davie County.

Soil losses ranged on this land from 10 tons to 100 tons per acre. More weight of soil was lost per acre than amount of corn, tobacco or soybeans that will be produced per acre. Damage from floodwater to pasture, crops and fixed improvements is estimated to be $93,487.00 in Dutchman Creek Watershed area alone. Total agricultural damage in county is expected to exceed $1,000,000.

The loss of the surface soil from the runoff means not only a loss of natural fertility but also the nutrients that have been added from fertilizer applications. The finer portion of this soil is always removed first and the highest in fertility. Nutrients from erosion losses will easily exceed the removal of nutrients by crops on this land. Maintaining a satisfactory physical condition of this land will be difficult for future crops.

Approximately 10,800 acres sustained less than 2 to 3 tons of soil loss due to combinations of conservation practices used. Stripcropping, grassed waterways, grass rotations, and no-tillage practices were effective in reducing runoff from the storm.

Conservation work can reduce sedimentation by as much as 90 percent. Soil from the upland filled lakes, streams, roadside ditches and farm drainage ditches. Cost of removal is from 40 cents to $1.00 a cubic yard. Cost of keeping it out of these places through proper conservation practices would be only a fraction of the cost of removal. Erosion reaches its highest peak from May to August in Davie County. Sediment pollution is not only our highest-volume pollutant, it's one of our most expensive. It carries other pollutants, which arrive there along with sediment and runoff water.

Will Davie Be Next?

Surry County has quit the Regional Air Quality Control Board. And it appears that Davie is thinking of doing the same thing.

The Surry County commissioners voted to drop out of the program effective June 30, the end of the fiscal year.

This is just another episode in a long period of haggling about the relative merits of the local antipollution efforts as opposed to state control.

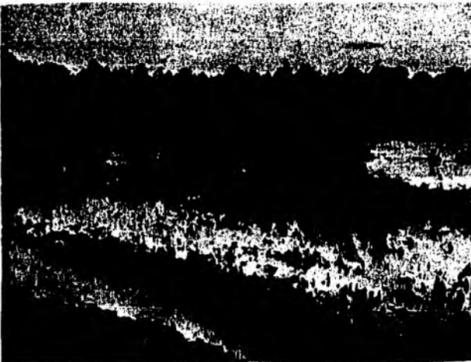

Under the state law, the state Board of Water and Air Resources has primary jurisdiction over air pollution. But both local governments have the option of having their own antipollution forces and stricter laws than the state's. The Surry Commissioners agreed that they could save money by simply letting the state do the job. Under the proposed Regional Air Quality Control Board budget for next year, Surry would have had to put up about $5,500.

The Surry commissioners felt that the service they were getting from the regional board did not justify the money they were putting into it.

Their decision was no great surprise. Last year, when the antipollution standards for this area were brought before the public, the most vocal opposition to them was from Surry residents, some of them representing industrial interests there.

The argument over the standard turned out to be moot, however, since the board ended using essentially the same standards as those adopted by the state.

Now that the decision has been made in Surry, the action is expected to shift to Davie. John Barber, a member of the regional board is also the Davie County manager.

Cancer Fund Drive

Jeff Wells, Crusade chairman for the Davie County Unit of the American Cancer Society, has announced that a total of approximately $1700 has been raised for the Crusade to date. Of this amount, one fourth is kept in the county to be used by local patients to assist them in helping to pay on their medicine. A number of memorial contributions have been made during the local Crusade. Members of the Interact Club and the Junior Civitan Club helped raise money by a door to door canvass. Mr. Wells has expressed appreciation to all who have helped to make this worthwhile endeavor a success. He reminded the public that blanks for assistance may be obtained from Roy Cartner. Also, that contributions can be made at any time by contacting Miss Cornelia Hendricks, 511 Park Avenue, Mocksville, treasurer of the Davie County Unit, ACS.

New Intensive And Coronary Care Unit To Be Shown At Hospital

On Sunday, May 30, 1971, between the hours of 3 p.m. and 5 p.m., Davie County Hospital will hold open house and introduce to the citizens of this area the newly renovated and equipped Intensive and Coronary Unit.

This unit consists of nursing station and facilities to handle up to six patients at a time. The unit is located in the new portion of the hospital where formerly four patient rooms were. During the open house the fire exit will be opened to allow visitors to enter and leave the hospital without having to go through the remainder of the building.

This unit will receive its first patient sometime during June 1971 after having been thoroughly checked out and approved under the watchful eye of the North Carolina Medical Care Commission. The monitoring equipment is General Electric, the latest available, and all other equipment is new and purchased for this unit.

The Nursing Service of Davie County Hospital has been undergoing training for the type patient care in excess of one year. Study and planning for the renovation and equipment started in September 1970.

"You are invited to come with us and we feel you will leave with a greater sense of security knowing the type services are available locally. This unit's renovation and equipment have been handled by the Board of Trustees, without a request for financial assistance. The Bond Issue to complete other vital additions will be placed before the public on June 29, 1971," said William E. Roark, Jr., Davie Hospital Administrator.

Post Offices Go Under New Mail Processing System

The U. S. Postal Service has approved plans for operating an area mail processing center in Winston-Salem to handle all out-of-town mail from 26 postoffices in Northwest North Carolina.

The postoffices of Mocksville, Cooleemee and Advance in Davie County are included in this plan.

The new system supposedly will speed the delivery of local and outgoing mail by using mechanized equipment in Winston-Salem.

The local postoffices will process only the local mail, sending all out-of-town mail to Winston-Salem.

The postal service said this will relieve crowded working conditions in the post offices and concentrate each postmaster's efforts on local service.

In addition to Mocksville, Advance and Cooleemee, included in the plan are postoffices at Mount Airy, Clemmons, Yadkinville, Boonville, Cleveland, Dobson, East Bend, King, Lewisville, Pfafftown, Pilot Mountain, Rural Hall, Toast, Walkertown, Westfield, Ararat, Bethania, Cycle, Hamptonville, Low Gap, Pinnacle, Tobaccoville and Woodleaf.

The Postal Service said the new system may require the transfer of "a relatively small number" of workers from area postoffices to the Winston-Salem processing center.

But it said the transfers will be made according to agreements with postal unions and "no career employee will lose his job...."

The Postal Service contends that the new processing plan will save money and reduce the need for new postal facilities in the area, as well as speed up mail delivery.

At the present time the 26 postoffices cancel and sort into the various distribution bags all out-of-town mail which is taken to the sectional center at Greensboro.

Under the new system, these postoffices will send all out-of-town mail, unsorted and uncancelled, to the Winston-Salem postoffice.

The date when this new system will become effective has not yet been announced.

Women Out Number Men

Davie Has 10% In Over 65 Bracket

There is increasing interest in Davie County these days in the over-65 segment of its population.

The men and women in that age bracket are emerging collectively, as a more important element in the local economy than ever before.

Proportionately, they have been expanding at a more rapid rate in the last ten years than most other age groups. Approximately 1 out of every 10 local residents is now in the plus-65 category.

And, because the majority of them have become more self-sufficient than their counterparts were in previous years, their status as consumers has risen.

As a result, they have become the sales targets of manufacturers and merchants who have found that they can boost their sales volumes by giving special attention to the needs and desires of the elderly.

Politically, also, they are being courted. Their influence is great, not only because of their growing size but because most of them get to the polls on election day. In Davie County, the latest figures show, those in the over-65 bracket now number 1,883. Of the overall population they represent 10.0 percent. In 1960 they totaled 9.0 percent.

Throughout the United States as a whole, the upper age group constitutes 9.9 percent of the total. It represents 9.6 percent in the South Atlantic States.

In most parts of the country, the figures show, women have a much better longevity record than men. This is borne out by the last census, which counted 139 women over 65 for every 100 men.

In Davie County the number of women of that age is 1,051 and the number of men, 832.

Although many elderly people are having a hard time these days, financially, because of the constantly rising cost of living, the majority are holding their own by virtue of increased social security benefits, medicare and special tax reductions.

As a group, their combined purchasing power is about $45 billion a year, which is much better than it was 10 years ago.

Surry Quits Regional Air Board

Barber said last week that he had not talked with the Davie Board of County Commissioners about Surry's withdrawal, but that he hoped they would decide to remain with the regional program.

Despite the disagreements over the air quality standards, no polluters have been taken to court so far. There have been a number of warnings issued to polluters in all three counties, however.

The regional board has set a policy of waiting for a somewhat dramatic case to be the first one in court. So far it has not come along.

Local antipollution officials agree that Surry's withdrawal is a step away from a trend which is being promoted by the federal agencies who control the money, toward having regional control boards.

This area lies in an 11-county region designated by the state as a logical region for antipollution efforts.

Long Skirts Not For Activity I

The long skirts are O. K. . . they're just not for playing kick-ball. Vicki Carroll (far left and far right) tries her luck, only to find that the long skirt gets in the way of kicking and running. Cathy Tutterow (center photos) can find a remedy, just pull up that long skirt and kick away. Whether to be athletic or be in style - it's a tough decision for girls these days. (Photo by James Barringer).

Symphony Gives Young Musicians Opportunity

Young musicians are given an opportunity to make their professional debut through the Davie County Symphony's annual "Young Artists Auditions for Young Artists." More than a hundred young musicians have appeared with the orchestra through the Young Artists program. This year's auditions are not able to participate in the program of the Boy Scouts of America due to lack of troop organizations in their communities. A recent survey conducted in the local schools showed wide spread interest among the boys and there seems to be no lack of sponsoring institutions but there is a scarcity of adult leaders.

MRS. DAVID REID HOYLE Linda Whitaker

Miss Linda Whitaker Weds David Reid Hoyle

The marriage of Miss Linda Faye Whitaker and David Reid Hoyle was solemnized in an outdoor setting, Saturday afternoon, May 15 at the home of the bride.

The ceremony was outstanding in its simplicity, making use of the natural surroundings as a beautiful and impressive background for the vows which were spoken before the Rev. Downs Spitzer of Winston-Salem.

The atmosphere of the occasion was evident in the attire of the bride couple. The bride wore an ankle length peasant dress of blue, intermingled with white. A garland of flowers encircled her hair and she carried a bouquet of spring flowers. The groom's shirt, made by the bride, was of peasant style, outlined with a border of heavy embroidery.

Following a brief wedding trip, the couple will make their home in Chapel Hill, where both will continue their education at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill.

Music for the wedding was provided by Miss Pamela Leary of Mocksville, roommate of the bride.

Modern Day Wedding... The young people of today are eager and willing to accept changes that are suitable to the modern age and have the nerve, that is lacking from the older generation, to use these changes openly and bravely.

To David Hoyle and Linda Whitaker, who were married Saturday at the home in Mocksville, weddings should be held to the bride couple, and under the close supervision of the Rev. Downs Spitzer had a beautiful and very sacred wedding ceremony appropriate to this modern age.

The traditional love songs and the most sacred old hymns were used. Guitars were softly played by Beth Hoyle and Pam Leary as accompaniment instead of the customary organ or piano.

The ceremony, written by Rev. Spitzer, was very sacred and most unusual as it centered the wedding party and guests had speaking parts, also.

Soil Stewardship

At a time when pressures grow on the land, it is useful to remind ourselves of the origins and history of the Soil Stewardship observance. They stress the allegiance of all men to God and their dependence on His grace for all good things.

One week each year, beginning with the fifth Sunday after Easter, churches of most faiths hold special soil stewardship services. The sponsors are the National Association of Soil and Water Conservation Districts, with the guidance of an interdenominational Soil Stewardship Advisory Committee. In North Carolina, the observance is sponsored by the North Carolina Association of Soil and Water Conservation District Supervisors.

The theme "The World and They That Dwell Therein", is developed to emphasize that the basic motivation for the conservation and orderly development of natural resources is man's recognition of his responsibility under God to protect and use wisely His precious gifts of soil, water and the myriad of related elements making up our environment.

In America, the Soil Stewardship observance traces its origin to the Rogation Days. In parts of the South, churches and congregations traditionally set aside the fifth Sunday after Easter as Soil and Soul Sunday.

In 1946, this became Soil Stewardship Sunday when the editors of FARM AND RANCH Magazine suggested to a number of Southern religious leaders that one Sunday be set aside to give special recognition of man's obligations as stewards of the land.

In 1954, the FARM AND RANCH passed the sponsorship to the National Association of Soil and Water Conservation Districts. The original sponsors felt that a still wider observance of Soil Stewardship Sunday could help bring about a national awakening and recognition of man's obligation to the Lord's earth. In 1956, the observance was extended to a full week. In 1971, Soil Stewardship week is being observed this week, May 16-23.

Social Security News

Retardation and other mental disorders are the most common affliction among some 260,000 people 18 and over who are getting social security "childhood disability" benefits. Childhood disability payments go to people who have been disabled from childhood (before age 18) if one of the parents eligible for social security benefits retires, becomes disabled, or dies.

A study by social security showed that 65 percent of the 260,000 people getting these benefits are disabled because of mental disorders. In 1957, mental disorders accounted for 47 percent of the total. Most of the rest of the childhood disability group suffer physical diseases of the nervous system and sense organs.

Childhood disability is defined as "severe impairment that occurs before 18, prevents substantial gainful employment, has lasted for 12 consecutive months, or is expected to last for 12 consecutive months, or is expected to result in death."

During an 8-year period covered by the study, only 10 percent of all childhood disability beneficiaries stopped receiving social security payments. About 6 percent of them died. About 2 percent married and became ineligible for benefits, and about 1 percent showed physical or mental improvement enough to be no longer classified as disabled.

The majority of childhood disability beneficiaries have been handicapped since birth or early childhood, according to the study. Half are 30 years old or more. About one-fourth are 18 or 19 and about 90 percent of that group have received social security benefits before they were 18 as dependents of retired, disabled, or deceased workers.

The average childhood disability payment from social security is about $73 a month.

MIZELL'S Action Line

Q. Dear Congressman Mizell: There has been a lot of talk lately about the economy. My question is: Back in the "good old days" of the 30's, what was the employment situation? A. D., Pfafftown.

A. In 1932, there were 12,060,000 Americans unemployed, representing 23.6 percent of the civilian labor force; in 1933, the severest year of the depression, there were 12,830,000 or 24.9 percent of the civilian labor force out of work; and in 1939, they numbered 9,480,000, or 17.2 percent of the civilian labor force.

Q. Dear Congressman Mizell: How much of its purchasing power has the U. S. dollar lost in the past 10 years? It seems a dollar won't buy anything any more. J. S. A., Glade Creek.

A. Since 1960, the purchasing power of the dollar has dropped 27 percent. Based on the purchasing power of the 1957-59 dollar, today's dollar is worth about 70 cents.

Q. Dear Congressman Mizell: How much have taxes increased in the last decade? R. O., Winston-Salem.

A. Federal taxes have decreased over the past ten years, from a tax liability of $420 in 1960 on a $5,000 income for a family of four to $206 in 1971. But State and local taxes have gone up 600 percent in ten years.

Q. Dear Congressman Mizell: Around budget time every year, we are told that some types of government spending is "uncontrollable." What could possible fall under that category? L.K., Rural Hall

A. Such funds include "Open-ended" programs such as social security, medicare, interest in the national debt, etc. Also included are costs of postal operations directly related to mail volume, certain legislative and judiciary expenditures, and outlays from contracts and obligations of prior years.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Sir:

This is written to complain about all this vandalism that is being done out at Rose Cemetery. It is not a late misdemeanor either, for my husband has been dead several years, it happened the second day after he was laid to rest, every wreath was removed except three (artificial and all) before they even wilted. No one had permission to do this. But I kept silent about it because I did not want to create a scene, thinking it would not happen again. But it has happened several times when I purchase new flowers and place out there in memory of him.

Right below our family plot, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Young have a plot. Besides flowers being stolen many times, a photo of her son was encased in his marker, which the Salesman that sold the marker to the Youngs, said it could never be removed without chiseling it out of the stone, but apparently someone had time and energy to prize the photo out of its place in the stone threw the damaged photo on the ground, and went on their merry way with no conscience that some day their bodies will be laying beneath the sod. It is true they cannot hurt the dead but it certainly makes the living feel very badly, to think there is such a low and common person or persons even in our home-town.

Signed by
Mrs. M. L. Motes
Mrs. W. C. Young

Dear Sir:

I am very concerned about the loss of the large tree that was cut down beside the courthouse this past week. To me, this was both a shame and a great loss. I sincerely hope that those responsible were justified in their actions. If the tree was diseased, or presenting a real threat to the welfare of the community, then I congratulate them for their efforts. However, if that tree which had been growing before many of us were born, was cut for pure convenience or to make room for more man-made structures, then I question the values of the people of Davie County.

FHA Raises Limit On Loans

Farmers Home Administration credit can now be available to farmers whose real estate debt may total as much as $100,000, according to James V. Smith, Administrator of this credit agency of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

The new limit is authorized in recent legislation. It changes a 10 year-old maximum of $60,000 that has been outmoded by increases in land values and farm sizes.

Although the average FHA loan of $24,000 is far below the limit, the legislation has the effect of fixing $100,000 as - The maximum amount FHA alone may lend to a farmer on real estate to buy, enlarge or improve a farm, or - The maximum amount of real estate financing for one farmer that FHA may share with other lenders.

Mr. Smith said the legislation is expected to have wide effect in drawing more private capital into credit-scarce rural areas - an objective sought the past two years as FHA has stressed its participation in family farm financing with other lenders.

The agency can subordinate its mortgages to private individuals, banks and other commercial lenders, or Federal Land Banks when the other lenders' loans are for authorized FHA loan purposes.

The Administrator said the new $100,000 total debt limit will help many young farmers and others, who could not get sufficient credit from any one lender to finance their needs from combinations of lenders including FHA.

The new act also makes Viet Nam veterans eligible for priority consideration of loan applications. It abolishes a requirement that applicants enjoying veteran's preference must have a farm background, but requires training or experience in farming.

The Farmers Home Administration conducts farm, rural housing and community facility loan programs through a nationwide system of more than 1,700 rural offices.

Hospital Jobs

It takes about 200 varieties of jobs to adequately staff a large hospital. Not just doctors and nurses. All to make your hospital a good place to go when you have to.

How a minus on your paycheck can be a plus in your future.

Sound confusing? It isn't, really. When you join the Payroll Savings Plan where you work, an amount you designate will be set aside automatically from each paycheck. That's the "minus."

That amount will then be invested in U.S. Savings Bonds. That's where the "plus" comes in. Because you're automatically saving for your future, with one of the safest investments there are: U.S. Savings Bonds.

And, by deducting a little at a time from each paycheck, you don't feel the pinch financially. Before you know it, you'll have quite a tidy sum tucked away.

And now there's a bonus interest rate on all U.S. Savings Bonds—for E Bonds, 5 1/4% when held to maturity of 5 years, 10 months (4% the first year). That extra 1/4%, payable as a bonus at maturity, applies to all Bonds issued since June 1, 1970... with a comparable improvement for all older Bonds.

Put a little "plus" in your future. Join the Payroll Savings Plan.

Bonds are safe. If lost, stolen, or destroyed, we replace them. When needed, they can be cashed at your bank. Tax may be deferred until redemption. And always remember, Bonds are a good way to save.

Take stock in America.
Now Bonds pay a bonus at maturity.

North Carolina farmers helped earn national recognition in President Nixon's recent White House Salute to Agriculture, according to H. O. Carter, State Executive Director for the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

The President, in a unique tribute to agricultural achievement said, "Thanks to American Agriculture for making us the best fed, the best clothed people in America; thanks to American Agriculture for providing the basic industry that is essential for any nation to be strong."

He cited specifically a 300 percent per man-hour productivity increase for Agriculture in the last 20 years, comparing it with the 150 percent increase recorded by other American industry.

Mr. Carter said, "We should recognize that this national salute to Agriculture is a salute to North Carolina farmers as well as those in the other 49 states."

"In our farm program agency, the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, here in North Carolina is, of course, most interested in the crops under the set-aside farm programs, corn, grain sorghum, wheat, and cotton; those under marketing quota programs, tobacco and peanuts; plus crops which are eligible for the loan, principally soybeans, barley, oats and rye."

"Some 93,461 farms in North Carolina are participating this year in the new market-oriented set-aside farm programs. Some of the restraints on production and kinds of crops which were imposed in previous years have been removed, as was noted by President Nixon recently in a national speech on Agriculture," Mr. Carter said.

"The President told the Nation that American farmers have proven their ability to capitalize on new opportunities and can compete successfully whenever they have the chance to compete. Mr. Nixon said he is determined to see that Agriculture has that chance," he said.

President Nixon told the Salute to Agriculture audience: "It is a rule in a free society that whoever produces more should be compensated for more. The income per capita of those who live on America's farms has gone up in the last 20 years. But in terms of sharing in this increased productivity, those who live on America's farms, those who produce from America's farms, have not had the rewards from increasing productivity that their colleagues who work in American industry have had for their increase in productivity. "It is that problem that we have been addressing ourselves to. It is that problem in which, of course, we need cooperation among all branches of Government, the Administration, the Congress, and the farm community, to see that America's farmers receive their fair share of a dramatically increasing productivity."

The focus on farming which was initiated May 2 with comments on Agriculture by the President, broadcast nationwide, culminated in daylong

Governor's Golf Tourney June 4

Winners in the First Annual Governor's Amateur Invitational Golf Tournament will capture more than just a handsome trophy.

They'll win a "free vacation" and they might just drive home a new automobile.

The tournament, scheduled June 4 at the Piedmont Crescent Country Club in Graham, will launch the "Explore North Carolina" travel program. The program is a joint undertaking by the Travel and Promotion Division of the Department of Conservation and Development and the Travel Council of North Carolina.

Top travel attractions, resorts, etc., have donated all-expense paid weekends for two in each flight. It has not been completely firmed up due to insurance, but three automobile agencies have offered cars as give-aways for holes-in-one.

Tournament chairman Ed Hicklin of Burlington says some 60 persons have already sent in their entry fees and some 20 persons have indicated they will not play golf but will attend the awards banquet and festivities.

Lieutenant Governor Pat Taylor has indicated he will play as has Duke basketball coach Bucky Waters and Lee Petty of the famed racing Pettys.

Representatives from the Court of Appeals, Attorney's General's Office, as well as other state agencies have indicated they will play in the tournament.

The tournament will have 10 flights and be limited to 120 participants. There will be a flight of women golfers as well as professional flight.

In addition to the winner's prizes there will be other "unusual" awards for top duffer, most shots, best dressed, etc. Each contestant will receive a souvenir bag tag that will indicate participation in the tournament.

The Travel and Promotion Division will also have on display its new ten-foot portable in-state convention booth. The booth will be a color photo display of the "Explore North Carolina" opportunities and will be used in the future at conventions of regional and national significance in the Tar Heel state.

The Mid-South Golf Museum of Raleigh will also have a portable display of antique golf equipment.

"We are real pleased with the progress of the tournament," said Charles Barbour, director of the Travel and Promotion Division. "We think it's going to really kick off the program in fine style."

"Purpose" is a folk musical about God. Wherever "Purpose" has been presented it has been acclaimed for the message that it brings and the way in which the message is brought. It is indeed a happy, lively work of music, but at the same time it is a thought provoking work of art.

"Purpose" is a musical that recognizes and expresses in a unique way the need for people to have a purpose in life and also points the way as to how this purpose may be discovered and achieved. It emphasizes the fact that one can only find a meaningful purpose for his life in the context of God's will for life.

The forty member choir is directed by Mrs. Letty Smith. Mike Hendrix is organist. Miss Lynn Hicks will play the flute.

"Purpose" is one of several services presented by the choir along the line of contemporary worship. "Tell It Like It Is" and "Good News", well-known musicals, have been presented. The choir has also been a part of "The Winds of God" and the "Folk Advent Service".

"Day care for small children is outgrowing its baby-sitting origins and moving toward educational, recreational and social growth activities that help physical and mental development." Robert L. Denny, Executive Director

My daughter is mentally retarded. Can I have her sterilized so she cannot have children?

Contact your County Department of Social Services. This is always done on an individual basis and after considerable study and evaluation.

If I could just put my retarded child in day care, I could get a job to help pay for many things our children need. I don't know how to find out about a place like that here.

Call your County Department of Social Services and find out if there is a day center for retarded children in your city.

My little boy is very retarded and I have never taken him to Sunday school because he does not behave like other children. He has a pretty voice and likes to sing and he can recite, too. What can I do?

The number of churches in North Carolina that offer special classes is growing steadily and this movement is one of the finest things that has happened in our state in recent years. Contact your minister. If your church does not have such class, ask your minister to contact us and we will help him get a class started. (If you have questions you

SOCIAL SECURITY

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q. My neighbor told me it was important to check on my earnings credited under Social Security. Is it true?
A. Yes, you should check your earnings record every 2 or 3 years. Call or write your social security office for a post-card form to make your request. This is important because social security benefits are based on earnings and you could lose valuable benefits if your earnings record is not correct.

Q. I have prescriptions that have to be filled every week because of a kidney problem. My drug bill is almost $40 a month. Will Medicare help pay for my drugs?
A. No. Medicare only pays for drugs furnished while you are in a hospital or extended care facility and drugs that you cannot administer yourself. There are studies underway that may someday lead to a change in the law to include all drugs.

Q. My claim for Medicare payment was returned to me because my doctor's bills were not itemized. What information should be shown in order for the claim to be processed with out delay?

A. First be sure that your statement from the doctor shows the date, place, description of each service, and the charge for each service. Then fill out your part of the claim form with your name and number as they appear on your Medicare health insurance card. Enter your mailing address and telephone number, if any. Describe your illness or injury and sign your name. For additional information on how to fill out a Medicare claim form, check Your Medicare Handbook or call your social security office.

J.O. Etchison Machinist, Craftsman For Over Fifty Years

Story and Photos by David H. Hauser

In a small, rather inconspicuous gray building just a short distance out Lasater Lake Road, near Clemmons some of the most highly technical skill and craftsmanship is employed to produce aluminum and brass sandcastings, specially machined parts and in some instances prototypes of newly designed machinery for businesses and industry throughout the area. Over the entrance to the 80 by 34 foot building, a sign just visible from the road reads: ETCHISON MACHINE WORKS. To passers-by, the sign provides only a guess about what goes on there, in comparison to the many operations carried out in the speciality job shop. It is one of few such independent machine shops and foundries in operation today and still has a healthy business even though many companies have their own operations. There are still some things that businesses can not do or that are not economically feasible for them to undertake, so shops such as Etchison's Machine Works fill a particular need.

The master craftsman, pattern maker, and as well prototype designer in some cases is the owner J. O. Etchison, now retired—but not all together.

"I'm just a flunkie around here now," replied the modest 70 year old machinist craftsman who can still operate every machine in his shop with the utmost skill and precision to form metal into required proportions within the closest of tolerances.

Etchison had no formal training in the trade, but began with a desire to learn as an apprentice in the machine shop of R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company in 1921.

Many years have passed since that time and along with them many tons of brass, aluminum and steel have been formed at the machine works into everything imaginable; from aluminum plates for a banjo maker, to huge brass gears for industry and even some of today's electromechanical devices.

"This is not a production shop," explained Etchison. "We could hire more people and do more work, but I don't want the headache," commented the tall white haired craftsman who has put in his years as an employer and worker, in the machine trades.

"Companies want prototypes built and that fits our situation fine." After a piece of machinery or part is designed, made and refined at the machine works, then if the company decides it is economical to have it manufactured in large quantities, it is taken elsewhere to be mass produced.

"The hard part has already been done for them," Etchison said. "After you have the first one made, production of others is then easy." But in situations where it is not economical to have a piece of machinery mass produced because only a small number are needed, the machine works' speciality job shop and foundry produces some items in limited quantities.

Etchison, even though he is supposed to be retired, admits he works or as he says piddles a half-day now and then making wooden patterns of pieces to be cast, or designing a jig for some special type job that is to be done. He just can't seem to get his interest away from the shop which has been his life's work, but now is run by his son.

Thinking back over the past Etchison remarked, "I've been in this type work over 50 years." He suggested, "You might say all I've ever done was something pertaining to machinery."

Etchison first became interested in machines as a farm boy seeing the huge steam driven tractors and thrashing machines. Born in Cana in 1901 and growing up on a farm in Davie County, Etchison was not yet 20 years old when he and Marsh Dwiggin of Mocksville began working on T-Models when they first came out and started becoming popular. This was at what was then Mocksville Motor Company, similar to today's auto repair garage.

"I decided I didn't like that after working there a year or two," Etchison said, "and went to Winston-Salem."

"My first job there was running engines in B. F. Huntley Furniture Factory," he recalled.

Shortly thereafter he decided he would like to get into the machine shop trade and in 1921 he started his apprentice work at R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company.

After working at Reynolds for six years in the trade, he then worked at smaller shops for a while and then in 1932 went to work in the machine shop at Brown and Williams Tobacco Company.

Sixteen years later in 1948, at the age of 47, he said, "I decided to put in a machine shop of my own and opened up Etchison Machine Works on Brookstown Avenue in Winston-Salem."

"When I started out I had only a drill press and a lathe," Etchison recalled.

A vertical lathe shaves down a huge disk of steel.

Assembling parts for a prototype for the textile industry.

Etchison's meager venture when he set out on his own is quite in contrast to the number and size, as well as the different types of machinery his shop employs today to do a multitude of different jobs. Today his largest lathes will handle a piece of metal up to 48 inches in diameter and as much as 12 feet long.

After Etchison's son Gray served a hitch in the Army, he joined his father in the business at the shop in Winston-Salem and has been in the business ever since.

About 15 years ago, Etchison and his wife Fieda who keeps books for the business moved to a farm on Lasater Lake Road.

A skilled hand...

"After retiring about eight years ago," Etchison recalled, "we built our shop out here with the idea of slowing down a bit." "But we have all the business we can handle and most of the time stay behind."

"There's only one other machine shop that does work similar to what we do," Etchison declared, "There just isn't anybody else to do the work anymore."

When Etchison moved his shop to Lasater Lake Road, he needed a good foundry man. So, he purchased Hellard's Brass Foundry which had been doing casting for him for nearly 20 years and Jack Hellard came to work for him.

Hellard who lives on Rt. 2, Hampton Road, Clemmons had grown up in the family trade and took over the Hellard Foundry on Link Road and Hutton Streets in Winston-Salem when his father died.

Today Hellard does sand-castings of aluminum and brass for the Etchison Machine Works and several local industries, as well, on a small scale.

What does a retired machinist do for a hobby? Looking among the myriad of machines, tools and equipment in the shop, Etchison pointed to one particular apparatus.

"That's what I like to make," he said with a smile. "It's a model of a small steam engine."

Etchison's steam engine interest has remained with him since his early boyhood days. He has several models he has made and has ever attended the Old Time Threshers Convention in Mt. Pleasant, Iowa in years past he said. The annual event attracts people with steam driven tractors, threshing machines, and autos from all over the United States.

In addition to his interest in machines, in earlier years when radios first came out Etchison was one of the first in his community to build one.

"It was a three tube model," he said as he began to describe the first time he got it working.

"I pulled my T-Model up to the bedroom window of the house and hooked the car's battery to the set," he said, "and connected the antenna wire to the bedsprings."

It was about midnight when Etchison got the radio working. "The first station I picked up was somewhere in Mexico, and I couldn't understand a word of it!" he recalled with amusement.

"But I wouldn't know a thing about radios today," he concluded.

Many years have passed since J. O. Etchison started in the machine shop business. And there are few left that have his skill and capabilities in the machine shop trade.

"He's the best!" said one man who knows him and his work. Many have depended upon him to make a broken part for a piece of machinery or design a new part for the tobacco or textile industry just to name a few, as well as a number of other local industries.

Over the years he has built an outstanding reputation as a man and a machinist — and today his work speaks for itself.

The speciality job shop.

J. O. Etchison operates one of the shops many lathes.

Son, Gray Etchison and foundryman, Jack Hellard pour hot brass into sand molds to make castings for the tobacco industry.

JOE J. PATNER, 66

He was a "Yankee" from the "North".
And his words: "I felt as if I was invading the 'South'."
The time was 1937. Mocksville had one traffic light. It was in the middle of the square.

Coming down North Main Street he went under the traffic light and continued down South Main... looking for Mocksville.

He stopped at South End Barbecue and asked a man he was later to know as the late C. V. "Pop" Miller:

"Can you tell me where Mocksville is?"

And "Pop" Miller replied:
"Son... you've just passed through it!"

He was a guy named Joe. This was his introduction to Mocksville.

This guy named Joe had left his cold homeland of Pennsylvania to come south to work with a new venture... the rural electrification program. This guy helped to string the first electric lines that brought light and electricity into the rural areas of Davie, Yadkin, Wilkes, Alexander, Iredell, Rowan and other counties that first formed the Davie Electric Membership Corporation.

And this guy named Joe met a girl teaching school at Cooleemee... they fell in love... and were married. And to this union was born a daughter... that received the utmost in care and devotion for 25 years.

This guy named Joe liked people... and with almost every acquaintance he found another friend. In his words, "my northern roots became more imbedded in southern soil and I became a permanent part of the land."

With the exception of his family, his first love was his job and to this he was most dedicated. Working closely with J. C. Jones and other rural electrification pioneers, he did his part to completely electrify the rural sections of this area.

And this guy named Joe had other interests. He was interested in his community and participated in various phases of civic activities. He was an active member of the Mocksville Masonic Lodge No. 134, and served many years as treasurer. He was a most active member of the Mocksville Rotary Club and served many years as secretary. And he was a lover of beautiful flowers and spent many hours in developing one of the most picturesque yards and flower gardens of the entire area.

A man with a big heart... a man of immense loyalty and devotion... a man who appreciated the art of both giving and receiving kindness... this was a great guy named Joe J. Patner.

Wordsworth once said:
"The best portion of a good man's life is his little, nameless, unremembered acts of kindness and of love".
And this to his many, many friends was the guy named Joe Patner.

Bendetsen Reports To Annual Meeting

This year will bring substantial improvement over 1970 for U.S. Plywood-Champion Papers Inc., and "1972 should be a record year for us," Karl R. Bendetsen, chairman and chief executive officer, told the company's annual meeting of shareholders Thursday, May 13th.

Mr. Bendetsen expressed his optimism during a business-by-business analysis of the $1.3 billion company's operations.

Reporting that the company's Drexel Enterprises division had a successful spring market two weeks ago, Mr. Bendetsen predicted that Furnishings would register "a much better second quarter and excellent third and fourth quarters." The Company's Furnishings operations include Drexel, Heritage, Southern Desk and Birmingham Ornamental Iron, as well as Trend Industries, a maker and marketer of tufted carpeting.

"Our encouraging market showing," Mr. Bendetsen said, "comes on the heels of a strong March, which was the best month for Drexel Enterprises since December 1969. Trend also operated in the black, no mean feat in today's carpet business. Birmingham Ornamental Iron was ahead not only of last year's results but of its plan as well. All are ahead of the fourth-quarter level of 1970, a more important comparison."

March seemed to mark a turnaround for Plywood-Champion's other companies as well, Mr. Bendetsen said, adding that Building Materials led the surge.

"During March," the chairman noted, "actual housing starts began to approach the seasonally adjusted annual rates, which reflect such conditions as weather.

"Our Building Materials business, consisting of U.S. Plywood, Diversified Products, Plywood of Canada and Weldwood of Canada and Lewers & Cooke in Hawaii, is a leading supplier for the housing industry in all categories—conventional stick builders, the makers of mobile and modular homes and also the builders of low-rise and high-rise multiple-family structures. Of course, we also supply non-residential builders and the makers of furniture."

The number of actual housing starts this year, Mr. Bendetsen predicted, "would center on 1,750,000 although they could reach 1.8 million. In addition, mobile home manufacturers are anticipating they will ship out 425,000 units, as against slightly fewer than 384,000 in 1970. The Modular Housing Association of the U.S. estimates modular housing units at 100,000, which would be 300 per cent higher than $970."

While noting that "our Building Materials company benefited from increased prices of lumber and plywood," Mr. Bendetsen added that "inspite of inaccurate headlines, such prices have not soared to dangerous heights. As a matter of fact, they are still below the levels of the mid-1960s. I expect them to rise somewhat above current levels and then stabilize."

The Paper and Allied Products Company is following the trend of the general economy, Mr. Bendetsen said, adding that Champion Papers did slightly better in the first quarter of 1971 than in the last quarter of 1970.

"The fine papers market—papers for quality printing, periodical and business uses—generally follows slightly behind the ups and downs of the levels of general economic activity," he said. "Demand for our papers rose in March, coming after a time when Champion Papers outperformed it competition."

The chairman noted that the company's new pulp and paper mill in Courtland, Ala., "has come on stream at a timely period just ahead of a period of rising demand for our fine papers."

Mr. Bendetsen added that the Distribution and Converting Company, did better in first-quarter 1971 than in fourth quarter, 1970. This company consists of Nationwide Papers and Federal Office Products in the Distribution division; Federal Envelope, the converting arm; and International Trade.

During the business session, four members of the board of directors were re-elected to serve until the 1974 annual meeting. They are S.W. Antoville, retired chairman of the U.S. Plywood Corp.; Dwight J. Thomson, special assistant to the chairman, and George H. Watkins, president of the Distribution and Converting Company.

The appointment of the firm of Arthur Andersen and Co. as independent public accountants for the company was approved.

Two shareholder proposals were voted down overwhelmingly. One would have changed the manner of voting, so that unmarked proxies would no longer have been counted as votes for management. The second would have ended the company's stock option plans for key employees.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

(Anyone in Davie County having a question concerning Social Security may write in care of this newspaper and the question and answer will be included in a subsequent column).

Q. I will be 65 in about 3 months. My company will retire me then. I need to see about my social security and Medicare but can't take off from work. The social security office is closed when I am off. How can I go about making my application?
 A. Use your telephone. Call the social security office while it is open. They will complete your application and send it to you to be signed and returned. They will discuss with you the proofs you need to help establish your claim, suggest ways to get them if you do not already have them. If you do have some and the chances are you will, you can send them back with your application. In most cases it will not be necessary for you to go to the office. Remember, use your phone!

Q. I plan to move to another city in the near future but don't know the date or the new address as yet. I do not want a delay in the delivery of my social security checks. How is the best way to get my address changed so there will be no delay?
 A. As soon as you learn your new address and the date you will be there, you should telephone the nearest social security office and give them this information and your claim number. They will take care of changing your address. Then you should tell the post office in case the change of address is not received in time to send your check to the new address, the post office will then forward your check to the new address. The future checks will then be delivered to the new address.

Q. I don't like paying social security taxes, I'm young and single so what good is social security to me?
 A. By paying into the social security program you are not only building a retirement supplement but you are also presently covered for benefits should you become disabled to work now or later.

Bits Of Life

Brother Herman

By ROSCOE BROWN FISHER

Each time I tell this story I think of the chills which would have gone through the brothers as they would have searched for the lifeless corpse of the lad in the murky waters of the Yadkin.

But he was pulled from the river and had another chance to live... to romp and play again... to grow up amid the trials and errors of youth... and to make some small imprint on the lives of others... this way, to show his gratitude for his second chance at life... and to always carry a silent "note of thanks" in his heart for "Brother Herman."

It was part of growing up: Rather so often, slipping away from the family chores, inviting a few fellow Boy Scouts, piling into the old T-model, and delightfully pulling up to the grassy banks of "Ye ole Yadkin," seven miles from the home in Salisbury.

The older boys... excellent swimmers... clothes off, hit the slightly swollen river, pronto.

The smaller one would be all right farther down stream in the shallow waters where the flat-bottom ferry landed.

Brother Herman... a good swimmer also... not so sure of the safety of the younger brother, denied himself the refreshing plunge into the river's tumbling, cool waters. He led his younger brother down the narrow road to the shallow waters above the ferry landing.

The lad was happy, paddling in the river in the shade of the huge oak, its limbs casting protective shadows from the heat of the hot August sun.

Ten minutes later, the rolling Yadkin River had carried the chap, unknowingly, away from shore. Time to let down and touch bottom, he thought. But not so... no place for his small feet. He was over the spot where the ferry landed. A deep hole there, from the incessant beating of the ferry against the bank's soft soil.

The lad is under, Up, once. A yell. Panic. Down again. A small head bobs up, once more. By this time, Brother Herman is near. A large hand reaches out, grasps a smaller one... and they make it to shore.

Years go by, but the little boy never forgets... and he recalls, in the days that followed, how Brother Herman often led him along the road of life, pointing to the lovely, and good, and wholesome things for those who have the eyes to see them.

Often I have lain awake upon my pillow, especially grateful for Brother Herman, who waded around with the "little one"... and saved the life of his brother, Roscoe Brown Fisher, from the rolling waters of the Yadkin River.

Little Caleb Helps Grandmother

"They don't smell good!"
That's what little Caleb Nolley III says when he sniffs the pretty tulips in grandma's flower garden. He can't understand why anything so pretty doesn't smell good.

Little Caleb Nolley III has a ball when he comes to visit his grandma and grandpa, Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Nolley of the Gladstone Road, Cooleemee.

Grandma has lots of pretty flowers and spends a great deal of time working them.

Little Caleb thinks that's just too much work for grandma, so he borrows one of "Papaw's" hats, and with his very own little hoe, lends a hand.

He digs away! And helps grandma pull the grass and weeds from around the long row of tulips.

Occasionally, he'll stop and smell one of the pretty tulips, and each time he'll just wrinkle up his nose and say "they don't smell good!"

Caleb is the three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Nolley, Jr. of Conover.

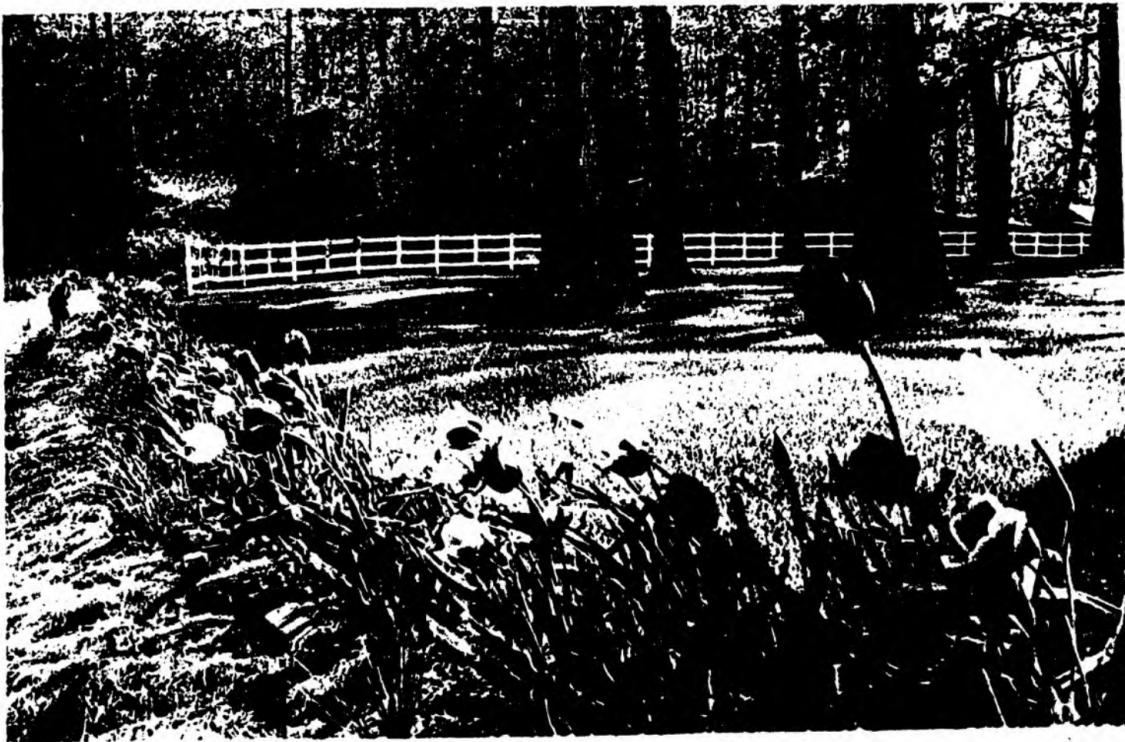

Caleb always wears one of "papaw's" hats when he's working in the yard. He has to wear it backwards so it won't fall down over his eyes.

Barringer

With a little hoe, just his size, Caleb works mighty hard digging around grandma's flowers. For such a little fellow, big weeds are a tough job to dig up.

Looking down the long row of multi-colored tulips, a little fellow could easily be overlooked.

Caleb decides to take a closer look at the flowering dogwood tree and he was just barely tall enough to grab the lowest limb.

"... at away!"

News From Your County Farm Agent

Southern Corn Leaf Blight Report No. 8

Nine North Carolina counties reported from observations made in 65 fields the weeks of May 3 through 14. No Southern Corn Blight found. In spite of the cool weather - stands are reported as good. Fusarium moniliforme continues to cause damage in some areas. Corn in most areas reporting is in the 2 to 5 leaf stages of growth. (May 17)

Alabama (Luther Farrar) - No Southern Corn Leaf Blight has been identified in Alabama from observations made in 36 counties surveying 570 fields including 14 volunteer fields. Alabama has experienced unusually cool weather. Most of Alabama corn areas have had good rains this past week.

Arkansas (M. C. McDaniel) - No observations or reports of Southern Corn Leaf Blight were received. Recent rains should improve growing conditions in Arkansas.

Florida (T. A. Kucharek) - The status of Southern Corn Leaf Blight has changed in Florida. Volunteer, T cytoplasm field corn in one field in Alachua County has southern corn leaf blight on the lower leaves. The degree of infection is 1 and the growth stage is 4. Because Southern Corn Leaf Blight lesions are predominantly on the volunteer and the 1971 planted T cytoplasm in the same field has just a few lesions, we feel that inoculum is from local debris and not from south Florida. Southern Corn Leaf Blight now present in three counties in Florida (Palm Beach, Dada and Alachua) Report Dated May 10.

Georgia (Norman McGlohon) - The plant disease clinic receives 15 to 20 corn samples per day. The symptoms on most samples are due to cold weather. No blight has been found in Georgia as of May 11 - observations were made in 18 counties surveying 127 fields.

Kentucky (A. S. Williams) - Observations made in 5 counties surveyed 20 fields - a good deal of cold and Flea beetle damage reported. Helminthosporium maydis found on volunteer corn in Logan County (May 10).

Mississippi (William F. Moore) - No Southern Corn Leaf Blight found in farmer's fields. Helminthosporium maydis has been observed on 300B on T cytoplasm in scattered areas planted as indicator plants.

South Carolina (Fred Smith) - Varieties observed in 46 fields in 5 counties primarily N cytoplasm. Some blends, open pollinated varieties F-2 on N cytoplasm, and FLINT VARIETIES ARE BEING SURVEYED. Corn being surveyed is in stage 1 mostly, with some stage 2. Rainfall normal in most areas of state. Temperatures cool at night.

Texas (Wendell Horne) - 14 counties reporting from observations made in 28 fields. 1 field in growth stage 7 had a disease rating of 0.5. Occurrence of the disease is not considered alarming at this time.

Plan No. 100

Persons interested in a low-to-moderate cost house that offers plenty of flair and the "look of today", may find their wishes answered.

A model house, designed by the Community Development Group, School of Design, North Carolina State University, offers 1090 square feet of living space. A porch and carport can be added.

The house is designed in two levels, with the children's bedrooms and play area on the second floor, and the parent's bedroom and general living space on the first floor.

With double deck beds, four children can easily be accommodated in this house and they can have the privacy of living, playing and sleeping away from the adult's living area.

A house with many of these same features was constructed on the State Fair grounds, Raleigh last fall.

Anyone interested in building this type house could probably do so for around $12,000.

Blueprints of Plan 100 are available free to Tar Heel residents by ordering through your county Extension agent or by writing to Extension Biological and Agricultural Engineering, North Carolina State University, P. O. Box 5906, Raleigh, N. C., 27607.

Man's Best Friend Is Lowly Earth Worm

The humble earthworm makes the busy bee look like a loafer.

The remarkable worm works so hard and so well that it could justly claim to be man's best friend.

No less a scientist than Charles Darwin wrote: "It may be doubted if there are any other animals which have played such an important part in the history of the world as these lowly organized creatures."

As a soil creator, conditioner, and preserver, the earthworm has no rivals, the National Society says.

Tirelessly boring through the ground, an earthworm eats its weight in organic matter and mineral soil every 24 hours. It takes in leaves, grass, stems, dead insects and animals, larvae, and the like along with subsoil.

All of this material passes through the worm's formidable digestive system, which includes a muscular gizzard where soil is thoroughly ground. The residue is deposited in the familiar mounds called "castings."

These castings actually are enormously rich topsoil. Compared to the surrounding earth, castings contain five times as much nitrogen, seven times as much phosphorus, eleven times as much potash, and three times as much magnesium - in a form that plants can readily use.

More than 1,750,000 earthworms may churn through one acre of rich farmland, producing as much as 40 tons of topsoil every year. Their tunnels aid root growth, allow air to penetrate underground, and

Mizell To Deliver Graduation Address

Fifth District Congressman Wilmer D. Mizell will deliver the graduation address at Davidson County Community College it was announced today by College President Dr. Grady E. Love.

The spring graduation is scheduled for May 28 at 8 p.m. at First United Methodist Church in Lexington. Some 109 graduates of the college's vocational, technical, college transfer and adult high school divisions are expected to receive degrees and diplomas.

A native of Vinegar Bend, Alabama, Mizell became known throughout the nation as "Vinegar Bend" Mizell during his ten years as a pitcher with the St. Louis Cardinals and the Pittsburgh Pirates. In 1959, he was named to the National League All-Star team. The following year he helped pitch the Pirates to a National League championship and a World Series victory over the New York Yankees.

After retiring from his baseball career, Mizell worked in Sales Management and Public Relations for the Pepsi-Cola Company in Winston-Salem, North Carolina, where he had once pitched in the minor leagues.

Turning his attention to politics, Mizell was elected in 1966 to the Davidson County Board of Commissioners and served as Chairman of the Board. He was elected to his Fifth District seat in 1968 and again in 1970. He was named Distinguished Citizen of 1969 by the George Washington University, in Washington, D. C. He holds honorary memberships in the U. S. Army Athletic Assoc. and the U. S. Naval Academy Athletic Assoc. He was named Christian Athlete of the Year in 1969 by the Southern Baptist Sports Association. He is married to the former Nancy Ruth McAlpine of this county and they have 2 sons, Wilmer David, Jr., 14 and James Daniel, 8. Mizell is a deacon and lay speaker in the Christian and Missionary Alliance Church.

Besides farmers and fishermen—who have found angleworms good bait for centuries—the earthworm aids archeologists. Their ceaseless activities over the centuries gradually have helped to cover and preserve ancient cities.

A few years ago, worms even pointed the way to a lost city. An archeologist searching for an ancient Roman city outside Vienna saw bits of brightly colored soil among worm castings. Analysis showed the bits to be from Roman frescoes. The site was excavated, and the remains of Roman buildings emerged from a thick layer of humus.

The common earthworm (Lumbricus terrestris) comes equipped with tiny clusters of bristles on each segment. The bristles serve as hooks as the worm extends and shortens its body and so propels itself.

For its size, an earthworm is amazingly strong. A worm weighing just one-thirtieth of an ounce can move a two-ounce stone - 60 times its own weight.

Lacking lungs, the earthworm breathes through its skin. It can live for months submerged in water without food, but a heavy rain may force it from its burrow because water filtered through soil contains little oxygen. Then the ground surface may look as if it had been "raining worms."

Curiously, in spite of the earthworm's omnivorous appetite, it does have a sense of taste. In a laboratory, worms will pass up cabbage if celery is offered and reject celery if carrot leaves are available.

Senator Sam Ervin Says

The Nation's Capital has seen many demonstrations in the span of its history. The tempo of protests has accelerated in recent years, but until last week, for the most part the rallies and the marches have been within the bounds of the constitutional freedom which guarantees "the right of the people peaceably to assemble, and to petition the Government for a redress of grievances."

Clearly, however, the May Day demonstrators' actions cannot be condoned as lawful conduct sanctioned by the First Amendment. Any reasonable review of the demonstration leads inevitably to the conclusion that it was conceived and carried out as a conspiracy to halt by unlawful means the processes of the Federal Government. While one can and should tolerate peaceable demonstrations which have a legitimate purpose, there can be no justification for actions which seek to block highways, streets, and bridges, and which deny users of these traffic arteries their legal rights to travel in safety and free from criminal interference.

For the present purpose, it is unnecessary to chronicle all of the criminal acts perpetrated by these demonstrators. Nor is it essential to recount that I have always been a great believer in the right of the people to meet and petition Government for a redress of grievances by their lawful actions and words. What is of importance, now that law enforcement officers have restored order to this City, is to distinguish between permissible and on-permissible conduct under the First Amendment guarantees in a day when our whole system of government is being challenged.

These relevant truths should be our guideposts. The First Amendment undertakes to make the minds and spirits of men free. To this end, it guarantees to every person in our land freedom of thought, freedom of speech, freedom of the press and freedom of religion. One may exercise these freedoms either as an individual or in association with others having a common lawful purpose. Furthermore, the First Amendment expressly recognizes a collective freedom, i. e., the right of the people "peaceably to assemble and to petition government for a redress of grievances."

Moreover, the right of dissent, which is the right to differ from others in opinion, may be said to be a part of the First Amendment. Under our Constitution, men can be punished for what they do or fail to do, but not for what they think or believe.

Even so, it is abundantly clear that the Amendment requires that all of these freedoms be exercised in a peaceful and law-abiding manner. This requirement is explicit in the declaration that those who wish to petition government for a redress of grievances must assemble peaceably, and is implicit in the nature of the freedoms themselves. They are designed to enable people to inform and persuade others, not to coerce them. Also, the Amendment does not authorize any acts what ever except non-violent acts tantamount to the freedoms it secures such as peaceful demonstrations and peaceful picketing, which merely proclaim the views of the participants and do not infringe on the rights of others.

No nation can prosper nor progress when the rule of the mob supersedes the rule of law, and if society must resort to the enforcement of the law, when reason ceases and demonstrators resort to the tactics of anarchists, that is the price all must pay.

THE LAND AND THE PEOPLE

Jim has a college degree in agriculture—Helen, a diploma from junior college. And they're back on the land.

Less than five miles from the farm where they'll start their married life is a church. They'll be part of it.

For they know the greatness of the nation in which they were born; a greatness rooted in the land and the people.

It's the same land their forefathers tilled.

It's got to be the same kind of people.

That's why there's a church less than five miles away. . . and why they'll be part of it.

MRS. VERDIE CORNATZER, Coolee, Bluemont Knitting Mill - "When I went to the beach and stayed in an air conditioned room. I didn't cook or do anything. I said I just wouldn't go if I had to cook. We ate out every meal and I really enjoyed that vacation."

DEWEY WILLIAM, Coolee, retired - "In Florida, about three or four years ago. We just went down there looking around - sightseeing. That's a beautiful place."

"WHAT IS THE BEST VACATION YOU EVER HAD?"

Photos by James Barringer Interviews by Marlene Benson

CAROLYN LANE, Rt. 4, Mocksville, Coolee sixth grader - "Uh, going to Washington, D.C. I think it was on July 4th, last year. I got to see the White House, the Monument and the river an Arlington Cemetery."

EVERETTE TUCKER, Davie Academy Rd., Carter Elec. Co. - "My wife and I took a trip around the country some years back. We toured Tennessee, Indiana, Arkansas, Alabama, Louisiana, Georgia, and South Carolina. We drove between 1800 and 1900 miles in one week and also visited some people in Missouri. No one but the two of us and we really enjoyed it."

TONY DANIELS, Coolee, Davie sophomore - "Last summer. I went to Daytona Beach with my parents. I did just about what I wanted to do. Mom and daddy went their way and I went my way."

News and Comment from our Raleigh Bureau - PDS Charles T. R.

UNLIKELY...Although many of the nation's 50 legislative bodies have "split" sessions, a little informal checking with members of the N. C. General Assembly shows this on-gain-off-gain-gone-again-Finnigan is not likely to occur in this State for some time to come.

One of the many reasons it is not in the cards is that one man plumping for it is Sen. Norris C. Reed of New Bern. Although regarded as able Sen. Reed is something of a loner.

The New Bern attorney thinks it might be a good idea for the Legislature to recess for two months—a summer vacation so to speak—and then come back for a study of the heavier matters.

But the average legislator looks back over the three months (since January 13) and decides he would rather "work to the end of the row" and call it a day.

THE SEVEN...They won't submit for publication, but some of the old-line Democrats are already shaking in their boots about the effect the Presidential Primary next spring is likely to have on the party.

They are still haunted, in fact, by the Democratic Convention in Chicago less than three years ago. Admittedly a nightmare, said one old-timer last week.

"But this time," he added, "they will be right here in our midst."

In 1968, gubernatorial Candidate Bob Scott turned his back on the national scene. And, had he not, he might not be Governor today. This is the feeling of many.

In 1972, four of those in the forefront in Chicago will be "speaking at every crossroads in North Carolina." There certainly can be no back-turning next year, come what may. How will our State Democratic Party react? There are fears that the seven-ring circus could swing the State solidly Republican "from constable on up", as one party stalwart has put it.

Picture if you will Teddy Kennedy making speeches, handshaking with crowds in Waynesville, North Wilkesboro, Eden, Siler City, Farmville, Chadbourn, Manteo. Firm-chinned grins.

Then there is Hubert Humphrey. He will be out to win back the State he lost to Nixon in 1968. Regarded as "too liberal" a few years ago, he now may go down as the "most conservative" of the seven now seeking the Democratic Presidential nomination next year.

The others: Ed Muskie, regarded as having the inside track to the nomination; Birch Bayh, close friend of the Kennedys (made $44,000 in addition to his salary in 1970 with speeches); Harold Hughes, not as well known as the others, but a definite candidate from Iowa; and Henry M. (Scoop) Jackson, strong U. S. Senator from Washington (60 next year) and Sen. Sam Ervin's big favorite among the seven.

we see a President from south of the Mason-Dixon Line and east of the Mississippi River. Harry Truman, although from Missouri and twang-tongued as a Yankee, does sincerely regard himself as a Southerner. But he originally got into the Presidency through being FDR's running mate in 1944.

The same is true of Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, who went in as John F. Kennedy's running mate in 1960.

These are the closest we have had to a Southerner since the Civil War—and death opened the gates of the Presidency for them.

SAVING...One of the things slowing down the Legislature's spending is that North Carolinians are not spending money like they are expected to.

This means less sales tax...and this is bad? Not if you like the idea—rather old-fashioned it's true—of saving money.

Not a lot of attention was given it, but in 1970 the sales of Savings Bonds in North Carolina were the highest in 25 years. That was in 1945, last year of World War II. Ask not what Tarheels have done for the pesky sales tax, but what they did for Uncle Sam...in 1970.

EITHER-OR...If Ed Muskie of Maine should become the man, Governor Scott could overnight become a national figure.

However, if it should turn out to be Ted Kennedy—a good possibility—then Terry Sanford might be North Carolina's bright boy. The same would also be true if the nod goes to Hubert Humphrey.

Consensus is that only Sanford and Scott—both young and liberal—have national stature on the political front.

TOURIST CENTER...Ever thought about Charlotte as a tourist city? Hardly. Nevertheless, people in the travel industry say that Charlotte's Carowinds—they are dealing in miracles—will soon be a "second Disneyland."

Buy strawberries with a full red color and a bright luster, firm flesh, and the cap stem still attached. The berries should be dry and clean, and usually medium to small strawberries have better eating quality than larger ones.

A number of parents, grandparents and friends attended the magnificent performance of the pupils of Miss Judy in her eighth presentation of "Talent on Parade" in the Reynolds High School Auditorium in Winston-Salem, Friday night. It was played to an over running full house. Participants from here were Gela Brock, Mary Lashley, Catherine and Ellender Johnson and Joe Brock.

The Jarvis family gathered at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Jarvis, Sunday honoring the mother on Mother's Day. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Boger from Raleigh, Mr. and Mrs. Lester, Mrs. Dale Cranfill from Mocksville, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Allen and children, David Jarvis and family and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jarvis, Jonestown Road.

The softball and baseball season is showing; the bats are swinging and the balls are flying through the air. All ages of boys and girls, men and women are practicing on the Community Ball Diamond, getting in fine shape. The square dances in the community gym on Friday nights are well attended. Dancers and audiences are well pleased with the caller and the outstanding rhythmic music. Come out and try tapping your feet. It's fun.

A Mother's Day cook-out at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Hartman Sunday evening honored their mothers, Mrs. George Hartman of Mocksville and Mrs. Grady Riddle of Yadkin Valley. Other relatives and their children also enjoyed the occasion.

Last year, all John Benson saved was $54.32. This year, he joined the Payroll Savings Plan.

Poor John. Money just seemed to slip right through his fingers. Every time he planned to stash something away, there wasn't anything left.

Then John decided to join the Payroll Savings Plan where he works. Now, an amount he specifies is automatically set aside from his check before he gets it. And invested in U.S. Savings Bonds.

Because John has become such a systematic saver, he's almost forgotten about it. When he gets around to remembering, he's going to have quite a nest egg laid away.

And now there's a bonus interest rate on all U.S. Savings Bonds--for E Bonds, 5 1/4% when held to maturity of 5 years, 10 months (4% the first year). That extra 1/4%, payable as a bonus at maturity, applies to all Bonds issued since June 1, 1970... with a comparable improvement for all older Bonds.

If you keep forgetting to save something out of your check, join the Payroll Savings Plan and let somebody else do the remembering for you.

Bonds are safe. If lost, stolen, or destroyed, we replace them. When needed, they can be cashed at your bank. Tax may be deferred until redemption. And always remember, Bonds are a proud way to save.

Take stock in America. Now Bonds pay a bonus at maturity.

Davie Receiving $1,874,000 In Grants

In the distribution of Federal funds to communities across the country, via the various grants-in-aid programs, how has Davie County been making out?

What portion of the grants made during the past year, totaling $23.5 billion, went to the local area?

Judging from state-by-state figures compiled by the Tax Foundation, a national non-profit organization that watches government taxation and spending, Davie County's allotment was relatively large.

During the past fiscal year, an estimated $1,874,000 was awarded for local purposes under a number of aid programs.

Throughout the State of North Carolina as a whole, the grants totaled $507,000,000, the Tax Foundation reports, based upon figures it obtained from the Treasury Department.

The grants were made to help the state and its communities with such needs as urban renewal, roads, school construction, child welfare, health facilities and education.

The amounts, it is explained, refer only to grants-in-aid and do not cover other Federal spending in local areas, such as for goods and services. On the other side of the ledger is the cost of these benefits to the local communities. They are paid for out of Federal income and excise taxes that are collected from local residents and allocated to the aid programs.

Davie County's contribution for such purposes in the past fiscal year was approximately $1,593,000, a breakdown of the foundation's figures shows. The statewide total came to $431,000,000.

In most parts of the country, the grants and the costs do not balance out equally. There is no attempt to make them balance. The determining factor in awarding grants, it is explained, is each community's needs and requirements, weighed against the needs of other localities.

As a result, in some areas the contributions to the aid programs far exceed the return in the form of grants. In others the reverse is true.

The extent to which the grants have multiplied in size in recent years is indicated by the Treasury Department's figures which show that they have climbed from nearly $7 billion in 1960 to $23.5 billion last year.

Day Long Kindergarten Next Year At Cooleemee

Under Title I of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act, a day-long kindergarten program will be held at the Cooleemee Elementary School during the 1971-72 school year. The program will accommodate twenty-five children; these children must be 5 years of age on or before October 16, 1971. Priority consideration will be given to children who are economically deprived but other applicants may apply. Parents interested in having their children attend the kindergarten program should pick up application blanks at the Cooleemee Elementary School or from the Board of Education Office in Mocksville.

Mocksville Elementary School has applied for a state-sponsored kindergarten program; in the event this program is not approved, a Title I program will be held at the Mocksville Primary School to serve county residents who qualify for the program. Applicants for the Mocksville program will be surveyed at a later time.

Parents interested in the Cooleemee kindergarten are urged to complete application blanks as soon as possible before enrollment reaches capacity.

Contaminators Must Register

Beginning July 1, all persons in North Carolina operating air contaminant sources, with the exception of two classes, will be required to register with the State Department of Water and Air Resources.

The classes of contaminant sources exempted are home heating and motor vehicles operation.

The registration requirement is among three additional air quality control regulations adopted recently by the Board of Water and Air Resources.

The other new regulations deal with the control of odorous emissions and compliance with emission control standards.

At the same time, the Board amended its regulations on open burning and visible emissions and established emission control standards for particulate matter and sulfur dioxide.

The regulations and emission control standards become effective July 1.

The open burning regulation was amended to permit the burning of leaves, tree branches

County-Wide Zoning Is Discussed For Rotary

County-wide zoning was discussed for members of the Mocksville Rotary Club, Tuesday.

Nick Meiszer, Forsyth County Manager, discussed the zoning that had been in effect in Forsyth since 1967.

Mr. Meiszer defined zoning as a legal instrument that regulates the use of land by private individuals.

"Zoning is a means of preserving the desirable and preventing future mistakes. It is not a cure-all but helps to shape our communities of the future," Mr. Meiszer said.

Legislation Would Aid Woman Injured In Davie County Wreck

Special legislation for the relief of a Yadkin County teacher severely injured in a wreck in Davie County in 1967 was offered in the General Assembly last week.

The measure would authorize the state to pay Mrs. Edythe Kathryn Huggins $18,641 in addition to the $15,000 she has already been allowed by the N.C. Industrial Commission.

The legislation was introduced by Rep. J. Worth Gentry of Stokes and Rep. Jeter L. Haynes of Yadkin County. The facts of the case, as set forth in the bill are:

On Oct. 17, 1967, Mrs. Huggins was driving a car that collided with a State Highway Commission vehicle, which allegedly made a left turn into her lane.

Then a "relatively healthy," 36-year-old woman, she suffered a crushed skull, had her left eyeball knocked out of its socket and suffered other injuries.

Medical experts have given her permanent partial disability rating of 20 percent of the knee, 50 percent of the left ankle and foot and 20 percent of the left hand.

As a result of this accident Mrs. Huggins has incurred medical bill of $33,681 and received permanent brain damage that will not permit her to fully perform her normal duties.

On Jan. 4 the Industrial Commission heard the case and a month later ordered that she be paid $15,000 damages, the maximum allowed under the state Tort Claims Act.

Though this sum was to be in full settlement of all of her rights by reason of the accident, it still left $18,641 in medical bills not covered by the commission order.

The bill would provide for payment of the additional $18,641 out of the state's general fund.

The accident occurred on October 17, 1967, around 8:30 a.m. on US 601, 7.5 miles north of Mocksville near the I.G. Robert Store. The accident occurred in a dense fog.

Mrs. Huggins, 34 years of age at that time was operating a 1963 Chevrolet and heading South on US 601. The state truck, operated by Thomas Oscar Keller, was heading north and attempted to make a left turn into a rural road and in the dense fog turned in front of the Huggins car.

Mrs. Marie Reavis Hall, 34, also of Yadkinville was a passenger in the car and was also injured.

Former Baccalaureate Sermon Abandoned

Seniors To Attend Special Church Services

Graduating seniors of the Davie High School this year will attend special programs Sunday at the church of their choice in lieu of the annual baccalaureate sermon.

Jack Ward, Principal of the Davie High School, said that this would give the individual senior a chance of recognition and worship in his or her own church. All seniors are requested to attend church and wear their caps and gowns.

Mr. Ward announced that approximately 275 seniors would receive diplomas in the graduating exercises on Friday night. These exercises will be held again this year in the football stadium and will feature talks by the three top members of the graduating class.

For the Sunday services, the Turrentine Baptist Church and others have issued a special invitation to any senior without church affiliation to join them for the special 11 a.m. service honoring the graduates.

Davie Board Oppose State Blue Law Bill

The board of directors of the Mocksville-Davie Chamber of Commerce held their monthly meeting last week at the Chamber's office on the Court Square in Mocksville.

The board went on record opposing a bill called "The Sunday Bill" dealing with blue laws prepared by the N. C. Attorney General's Office.

It was reported that the board of directors of the Mocksville Chamber of Commerce felt that it should be the right of each county to decide on blue laws, and that the board of commissioners of each county should set up the regulations for its county. It was pointed out that many counties in North Carolina already have Sunday blue laws and the board simply felt the people should have a right to decide what they want.

At The Davie County Hospital

New Coronary And Intensive Care Unit To Be Shown

The new Intensive and Coronary Care unit of the Davie County Hospital may be viewed by the public Sunday afternoon.

Between the hours of 2 p.m. and 5 p.m. Sunday, the hospital will hold open house to introduce the citizens of this area to the new unit.

This unit consists of a nursing station and facilities to handle up to six patients at a time. The unit is located in the new portion of the hospital.

"The name of the game is increasing the survival rate," said William E. Roark, Jr., Davie County Hospital Administrator. "Surveys have indicated that the death rate from coronary attacks and other serious illnesses can be cut when such equipment we are now installing is used".

The monitoring of the individual patient in this unit will be done by equipment leased from General Electric for $25,000. Other equipment has been purchased by the hospital costing from $15,000 to $20,000.

"This equipment was selected by the doctors, nurses, directors, and other advisors.....and all agreed on this which is the latest and best equipment made", said Mr. Roark.

This unit will receive its first patient sometime during June 1971 after having been thoroughly checked out and approved under the watching eye of the North Carolina Medical Care Commission.

The nursing service of the hospital has been undergoing training for the type of patient care this unit demands. Studying and planning for this unit started in September 1970.

Dr. Bob M. Foster will serve as coronary advisor for the unit, and Dr. Francis Slate will serve as the intensive care advisor. Mrs. Betty Hough will serve as the head nurse of the unit.

Bits Of Life

More About Herman

By ROSCOE BROWN FISHER

For years I have sought the answer to Herman's attitudes: His kindly nature and disciplined unselfishness, his willingness to go the extra mile . . . and this without question or query, I have often thought . . . here is a guy who will give you his last set of underwear . . . a guy with a big heart . . . an immense loyalty . . . a guy who understands the art of both giving and receiving kindness. "I've always tried to put the well being of others before my own," he said simply when questioned.

Herman George Fisher has seen many summers: Salisbury High . . . then to Roanoke College, where he held several state track records . . . and on to Southern Lutheran Seminary for his B. D. while president of the N. C. Luther League. Ordained in 1931, he has given 42 years to the Lutheran ministry in eight churches.

Recently, I had the opportunity of an automobile trip and a personal chat with Brother Herman. Massive, floating clouds moved across a blue evening sky, showing the handiwork of God . . . and setting the stage for a break-through to Herman's personality.

"What is your philosophy of life?" I asked.

"I try to do and say the things that will help people, and I've always avoided doing or saying anything that will hurt anyone."

"Speak on," I pleaded.

-Friendship is a loan. Those you meet along the road of life lend you a bit of their personality . . . and it's yours to hold forever . . . and you should not abuse it, but rather thank God.

-Life is precious and God is good. Consider yourself, at any age, fortunate and take the rest of it as a bonus.

-A person's scale of values and attitudes determines his sincerity towards those who love him and those he loves.

-Each thought, each word, each deed adds some strength or weakness to each life we meet along the way.

-Wise is the young man who decides early on a wholesome scale of values and remains faithful to them.

"Who would you say gave you your greatest inspiration?"

"My grandfather, George Fisher, who showed me the value of honest work. My mother, who taught me life is good to those who love goodness. And Grandpa Brown, who said, 'To live and let live . . . and lift a little more than your share.'"

MR. AND MRS. GLENN SMITH, . . . of Advance, Route 1, will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary Sunday, May 30th, at the Open House in the Fellowship Building of Bethlehem United Methodist Church. The couple have no children. Host will be nieces and nephews. (Photo by Gray Smith)

These hot days make us want to move out of doors and entertain or even use the grill for our own family cooking. We have been inside so long during the winter months. It is very nice to be outside where we are not restricted by walls. The nicest thing is that we can expand. Foods that are good cooked on the grill are steaks broiled on the open grill, hamburgers, hot dogs and many more. Barbecued pork, chicken, beef, any of these can be grilled successfully.

One of the best are steaks. They are the supreme eating. A good steak is a beautiful thing and should be treated with respect. It is never better than when cooked over charcoal.

Cuts and grades of steaks make a difference in the likes and dislikes. Always be sure you buy Grade A. Meats are stamped prime, choice commercial and utility, according to their quality.

Learn to recognize good beef when you see it. The flesh should be good clear red. The fat should be very white and firm. There should be a pleasant marbling of little veins of fat and no odor.

Any cut of steak is a luxury today, so if you are serving steak you may as well have the best. One large steak sliced after broiling is sometimes a better buy than four or six small steaks.

To make the right fire will take about 30 minutes. The coals should be gray and you should be able to hold your hand over it for only something less than three seconds. Throw in some soaked Hickory chips. Place the steak well coated with oil on the grill. Turn it once, salt the cooked side and leave until it is cooked to the desired doneness. The time will vary with the thickness of the steak. For this reason, it is a good idea to always cook the same type of steak for guests. Test by pressing with the fork. You may have to cut into it a few times to keep from cooking it too long. Turn it out onto a hot plate or platter. Melt a big glob of butter over it. Baste with meat stock and add wine. Sprinkle with parsley.

Letter To Editor

Dear Sir:

We, as residents of the Fran-Ray Rest Home would like to thank all the Social Workers of Davie County and especially Mr. Mitch Matthews for his many hours of hard work in planting flowers around our home this spring. We would also like to thank Mr. Don Smith, owner of Mocksville Garden Center, for donating many different kinds of plants for this, our home away from home.

It is wonderful to know there are still some people in this troubled world to give of their time and products to make others happy.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Anna B. Davis
Fran-Ray Rest Home
Mocksville, N. C.

Dear Sir:

An issue will soon be facing the citizens of Mocksville that could have an effect on the growth of this town. If the issue of whether Mocksville will be allowed to have ABC stores is passed by the N. C. Senate, it will be left to the citizens to pass the bill.

There is no controversy over the matter that the ABC stores will make the beverages easier to be had. There are those who feel that if one is going to drink he should have to travel to obtain his drink. But by having to drive to the neighboring counties, there is a danger to others who are on the highways. Also, many of those who drink will drink without these stores present by means of a bootlegger.

Nearly every citizen is aware that Mocksville is in need of additional funds which tax money could provide. In a recent article in the Winston-Salem Journal, the proposed breakdown of the tax money from sales was disclosed. There would be additional money for the educational, library, and recreational facilities. As it is now, the counties of Rowan and Forsyth are getting this money while Mocksville and Davie are getting the litter.

I am sure that the present of stores will have no great change on my life. However, I am concerned with the continuing progress of Mocksville. When the time comes, I hope that the citizens of Mocksville vote for the best of the community.

Memorial Gift Is Thoughtful

A memorial gift to the American Cancer Society is a living memorial - a thoughtful gift and a tribute to someone loved.

Memorial funds are used to support the Society's fight against cancer through coordinated programs of research, education, and service. Contributions support cancer research in hospitals, laboratories and clinics. They provide fellowships for doctors and scientists and provide education to laet the public to cancer's early symptoms and urge prompt diagnosis and treatment. Memorial gifts make possible service needed for patients stricken with cancer.

Memorial funds in Davie County should be sent to Miss Cornelia Hendricks, treasurer, 811, Park Avenue, Mocksville, N.C.

Cancer Society, and a memorial card is sent to the family of the deceased, with the name of the person honored and the name of the group or individual donor. These contributions may be in any amount and are tax deductible.

The American Cancer Society is grateful to families, individuals, and groups who are using this practical means of assisting the Society in expanding a counter attack on cancer.

Congressman Wilmer "Vinegar Bend" MIZELL'S ACTION LINE

Dear Congressman Mizell: Traffic gets worse and worse. Do you have any idea how many cars and trucks there are on the highways these days? R. D., Winston-Salem.

At present, there are some 80 million cars and another 20 million trucks and other vehicles on the road. And the number is increasing at the rate of 6,000 per day.

Dear Congressman Mizell: In your radio tape recently, you mentioned that a form was available that can use a person's name to be removed from mailing lists of pornography peddlers. What has been the response to this ruling, and where can these forms be obtained? S. W., Glade Valley.

More than 70,000 Americans have asked to have their names placed on the "anti-smut" list. These application forms can be obtained through your local post office.

CAPITAL CLIPBOARD

News and Comment from our Political Bureau - 425 Clinton Rd.

LESS TOGETHERNESS...Charles B. Deane, Jr., freshman State Senator from Rockingham—with all the fire of his late father—in a committee meeting last week crossed verbal swords with Sen. Herman Moore of Charlotte.

Senator Moore motors to his apartment at 2326 Champion Court.

Sensors Deane and Moore have their own private offices in the Legislative Building—No. 2113 and No. 1102—half-a-block apart in that rambling departmentalized, catacombed, beautiful, but cubed edifice. They see each other "in passing".

And that's one of the troubles. The legislators don't know each other well enough. They are not together enough as friends with a common purpose.

RALEIGH HOMES...When each days session ends—usually between five and six (after committee meetings) — the legislators fly to their individual nests.

Senator Gordon Allen of Roxboro takes off to Spanish Trace Apartments, with Sen. Zeb Alley to Colony Town Houses, and Sen. Jack Baugh to Quall Ridge Apartments, and Hargrove (Skipper) Bowles to Royal Hill Garden Apartments. Just a sampling of the widely varying addresses of the lawmakers.

MAN-TO-MAN...When 75 per cent of them used to stay at the Hotel Sir Walter, they walked down the street together. In the Capitol, there was close personal contact all day long each legislative day—literally belly-to-belly because of crowded conditions. Laugh—but it made for close personal and mental contact...and never-dying friendships.

At the hotels (Sir Walter, Carolina and Andrew Johnson—the GOP hangout) they sat in the lobby and talked, visited each other in their rooms and drank. Vigorous, deep-gutted, man-to-man, earthy conversation...with now and then a wandering female to add spice to the evening.

THE STRANGER...Once, several years ago, a street-walker staggered into a Sir Walter room. Smoke-filled and crowded with out-of-town visitors was this particular place. Waving a pink kerchief over her head, she inquired if her old friend so-and-so was in there, had anybody seen him. The name—one of the best-known in State Government at that time—caused a hush to fall over the discussions.

It's a good thing the old hotels are close-mouthed. But they—the togetherness they created—brought a blending, a melding, a jelling of thought and action needed today.

UNACQUAINTED...Most of the legislators in 1969 and again this year are staying at the Hotel Hilton—out near State University—about two miles from the Legislative Building.

But alas, only six of the 170 legislators are at the Hotel Sir Walter this year. Only one State Senator resides there—Sen. Carl D. Killian of Cullowhee. He is now famous as the introducer of the bill to put a three per cent sales tax on newspaper advertising.

Senate Clerk Roy Rowe lives at the Sir Walter—as does Reading Clerk Gene Simmons.

The only lawmaker residing at the Carolina this session is Oldtimer Ralph Scott, uncle of the Governor. This is the same hotel Senator Ralph's brother used as headquarters in races for Governor and, later, for the U. S. Senate. Terry Sanford in 1960 took the same road.

Jim Vogler, dean of the House, would feel out of place except at the Sir Walter.

Where do the legislators live? All over town...literally. Thus the old community feeling has all but disappeared. Every lawmaker has his room, his apartment, his office...and his (sharply personal) opinions.

Democracy at work; and longer sessions. And, in the not-too-distant future, annual—and long—sessions.

QUITE ILL...Kenneth Royall, former Secretary of the Army, one of the great legal minds of this century and father of Kenneth Royall Jr., chairman of the powerful House Appropriations Committee, has been at death's door at Watts Hospital, Durham, for many days now.

Although he is around 78, his mother is still living and quite active. Vigorous mentally and physically.

CARL GOERCH...While he has to be high much over 80 years of age, Carl Goerch apparently stays on the go most of the time.

A vigorous aviator all these years now, they say he at last has given up flying his own plane. Hard to believe...but he is still driving and traveling by air and otherwise...and still finding interesting things to see and write about.

Example... "It's approximately 840 miles from Raleigh to Fort Lauderdale. After passing through South Carolina and getting into Georgia and Florida, we saw only five cars, going and coming, bearing North Carolina license plates."

The Jungle Behind Our House

By Marlene Benson

To explore the wild, is all a part of growing up.

And romping through the woods on a warm spring afternoon is right down Hugh Lagle's alley.

Hugh, 13 year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Lagle of Mocksville, has an ideal jungle behind his home on Maple Avenue. Well it's fun to pretend that it's a jungle.

The land is actually part of the Clement Estate and no one is looking after it, so it has gown into a youngster's paradise.

Hugh's younger sister, Susan, 9, likes to tag along, but has a little trouble keeping up with her jungle brother.

Hugh scoots up a sycamore to the tree house, that he hasn't quite completed, with ease. Sister Susan tries, but usually stops about half-way up. She doesn't believe it's quite as easy as it looks when big brother does the climbing.

Susan still doesn't give up the woods completely and head for home. There are still things out there of interest, even to one so feminine.

A patch of violets growing wild, is tempting to any young lady, so she doesn't hesitate to pick a pretty bouquet.

The children have several little paths through these woods, making it quite easy to find their favorite spots. Mr. and Mrs. Lagle said that the youngsters spend a great deal of time roaming around out there and they love it.

They also love the privacy the woods give to their back yard.

Hugh peers through a thicket, as if spying on something of great interest.

Susan Lagle stops half-way up the tree leading to brother Hugh's tree house. To get up there is not quite as easy as it looks, especially to a little lady.

Hugh tries out his rope swing. . . grapevines are out, except maybe, for Tarzan.

From the forks of this ivy covered tree, you can observe all that moves around below, even the cars traveling busy Highway 601 into Mocksville.

And they do look becoming in her dark hair.

Susan tags along behind brother Hugh as they continue to explore.

Players Oppose Merger

Last summer the Cougar basketball camp for boys featured Billy Cunningham and Jerry West, both stars of the NBA, and at the time it seemed to me rather self defeating that an ABA club would go into its rival league to get some people to baby sit the kids and purportedly teach basketball over a week's period. It was almost a tacit admission that there were no real biggies in the ABA. That such was pretty much the case as far as availability to the Cougar camp was concerned did not make it any more palatable to those who were hoping for the ABA to succeed.

Most of the conversation in the evening when I was there was limited to West talking to Cunningham and Cunningham talking to West. Everyone else listened. And most of what they had to say was to extol the virtues of the older league in which they played, and to sort of down grade by omission and indifference the ABA. Clearly both thought the ABA was a helluva long way from coming up to snuff as far as professional basketball is concerned.

Now the leagues are about to merge and when that feat is accomplished the ridiculous salary scales in basketball will be no more. So the players in both loops are trying to stall it off every way they can. They got a Federal court order, but this will be vacated if the proper enabling legislation is passed by Congress exempting professional basketball from the anti-trust laws. Football and baseball already enjoy this protection.

And here is Billy Cunningham who really didn't think much of the ABA joining ranks with a gang of other players to promote a Super Bowl of basketball in Houston's Astrodome. The idea behind the super silly pickup game of star from one league against the other is to demonstrate that the leagues are truly equal and don't need to merge to allow the ABA to catch up.

The game of course, will lack the sanction of either league, and both commissioners have insinuated they will do whatever is needed to stop the players from engaging in a pointless exhibition. There is no question that the NBA is a superior league, and that the ABA has several years of developing to do before it can compete. Certainly the best NBA team could beat the best ABA. However, down the line there is less difference. But if the players were to stage this game, and the ABA were to come out smelling like a rose, then there would arise a horrible odor which might seem to indicate some of the NBA stars had done less than their best. This is the only way they could prove that the leagues are equal, because obviously they are not.

Basketball players are not necessarily burdened with great business sense, but they ought to have intelligence enough to know that the bankrupting practices of overzealous procurement cannot long prevail. Certainly owners are generally very rich men or corporations that can stand a healthy loss, but nobody is going to put up with millions slurping down the drain as has been the case since the ABA got rolling.

The players should soon face up to the fact that the honeymoon is over. The six and seven figured no-cut contracts are all but a thing of the past, and some of the big "stars" who have been slopping around, playing one end of the court, hogging the ball, and causing dissention will have to get on the team to get a truck to drive.

All-star game in Houston? Balony. It won't draw enough people to pay the rent on the Astrodome, and what's more, the chances of its ever being played are so small I don't know why I have wasted all this time and space on such an imbecility.

Irvin Riley To Exhibit Works Of Art

Irvin Riley, a Winston-Salem artist who works at the Ingersoll-Rand Company in Mocksville, will have his art works on exhibit at the Farmington School Gymnasium on Saturday, May 29th, from 3:30 until 7:30 p.m.

There will be a picnic supper at 6 p.m. and everyone is invited to come and bring a well filled picnic basket. Plans have been made to eat out on the lawn, however in case of rain the supper will be in the gym.

Riley, who teaches several classes in Mocksville, has been responsible for much of the growing interest and the development of talent among so many in the county. His works are now on exhibit at the Arts and Science Museum in Statesville, N. C.

Plans are being made for his students to have an exhibit at the Town Mall Shopping Center in Salisbury in the early part of July. This exhibit will be called "Expression '71". The students will also have an exhibit in Mocksville in September, the time, date and place to be announced later.

Everyone is urged to come out on Saturday, May 29th, and participate in this picnic and see Mr. Riley's works which will be on display.

Local Student Goes To England

Miss Sharon Howell, Mocksville on May 24 will begin a three week experience in the British Isle which will include living in the homes of members of British Methodist families.

Miss Howell and 38 other members of the Pfeiffer College Concert Choir will fly out of New York in late May for a three weeks concert tour of the British Isle under the sponsorship of British Methodists.

While on their tour, the choir members will stay in the homes of Methodist people who will serve as their host and guides in some of the most historic and colorful areas of England and Scotland.

Dr. Richard H. Brewer, Director of the Choir, notes that the invitation is an outgrowth of a concert given by the Pfeiffer Concert Choir during their highly successful 1969 European Concert Tour.

A British Methodist minister, the Rev. Leonard P. Barnett, Finchley Methodist Church, Essex Park, London, heard the group sing and was deeply impressed. Later he wrote Dr. Brewer as follows:

"We enjoyed your 1969 concert so very much along with the friendships made. I wanted others to have the same rich musical and personal experience which was ours. Accordingly, we have arranged concert dates for you in some of the great churches and halls of Britain and Scotland."

"... then, I wanted to introduce you to the treasures of our land... enable Pfeiffer students to make new friendships among our people, to contrive bigger horizons, and to be more solidly based as persons."

Miss Howell, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Howell, 812 North Main Street, is a rising senior majoring in English.

Members of the choir have given a concert almost every Sunday evening since mid-winter to help finance the airline transportation cost of the trip.

Dr. Brewer, in commenting on the tour, had this to say: "We are deeply indebted to all who have assisted in making this trip possible. We believe the educational aspects of the trip will be immeasurable in that local British people will be our host, our tour guides and generally make us a member of their family circle."

"We believe also that the impression our choir members create will help our English and Scottish friends have a better understanding of American youth and attitudes."

The British Isle itinerary includes the following places: Doncaster, Yorkshire; Priory Place, Doncaster; Gosforth, Newcastle-on-Tyne; Edinburgh; Inverness; Buckie, Banffshire; Carlisle; Coventry; Salisbury; Wadebridge, Cornwall; Newquay; Newton Abbot; Chardlers Ford, Hampshire; Canterbury, Kent; Carshalton Beeches, Surrey; Kenton, Harrow; and Finchley, London.

State Pageant In Charlotte

The 63 contestants in the 1971 "Miss North Carolina" pageant will combine their talents in an original composition "It's Time To Fly" by Loomis McGlohon.

While the production is centered around travel, the emphasis will be on recognizing these young women as they reach a high level of personal development. This original production takes note of the fact that each contestant has spent numerous hours of hard work in molding an outstanding young woman and now "It's Time To Fly".

The sets, which have been designed by renowned designer, Jack Pentes, will carry out the travel theme with an airport and sea shore scene. The opening number is set in an airport terminal and the contestants and guest stars will arrive on stage from an airplane announced by master of ceremonies, Ty Boyd. The set will include an airplane wing, ramp, luggage carriers and ticket counters.

Swimsuit competition will take place at a sailing dock with actual sail boats to be used on stage. For talent, Hollywood backstage will be the backdrop. Evening gown competition will be an "Opening Night" scene with an actual Rolls Royce and Broadway marquee.

Three original songs have been written for the pageant including the opening number, "It's Time To Fly", "Talent Counts Fifty Per Cent" to be sung by Mary Ann Mobley and "Clancy" to be sung by actor, Gary Collins, during the swimsuit competition. In addition, Betty Lane Evans Blissette (Miss N. C., 1968), Judi Klipfel Spivey (Miss N. C., 1969) and Donna Marie Black Crozier (Miss Nebraska 1963) will join their talents in an original skit written by Mr. McGlohon especially for the pageant.

Of course, each contestant along with Connie Lerner, the reigning Miss North Carolina, will play an important part in the production numbers. The Charlotte Jaycees have been able to obtain the services of former Miss South Carolina and Maid of Cotton, Kemp Staggs, to help the girls with their stage presence, walking, turns, etc. Hollywood choreographer, Alice Lamar, will choreograph the production.

It is interesting to note that the contestants will be complemented by more skilled professionals than ever before.

The Miss North Carolina pageant will be presented by the Charlotte Jaycees, June 13-19, at the Owens auditorium in Charlotte. Ticket information is available by contacting Dave Drinkard, P. O. Box 4489, Charlotte, N. C. 28204.

Fresh North Carolina strawberries are back in season and are now being featured at most grocery stores. Delicious and beautiful, fresh N. C. strawberries are the perfect compliment to every meal.

Art Workshop

An art workshop for parents of young children will be offered by the Salisbury-Rowan-Davie Supplementary Educational Center. Two sessions will be conducted on Monday and Tuesday, June 7 and 8 from 9 a.m. to 12 noon.

The workshop is designed to suggest creative activities which can be done in the home using discarded household objects or inexpensive materials.

Mrs. Brenda B. Watts, Center Art Specialist, will be the instructor. Mrs. Watts hopes to open a new way of seeing and expressing for both parent and child. If you are going to have a hyperactive youngster on hand this summer who cries, "Mommy, I want something to do", you can take some exciting and educational time-filling activities.

This course will also be excellent preparation for church school or nursery school workers.

The workshop will be conducted at the Center's Gallery, 314 North Ellis Street, Salisbury, North Carolina. Enrollment is limited to twenty people. An instructional fee of $7 will be payable at the first session. You may enroll by calling the Center.

"SHOULD A WIFE WORK AT PUBLIC WORK?"

Interviews by Marlene Benson

THOMAS KEATON, Rt. 3, Mocksville, unemployed. "I think so. Well, I'm not married myself, but most wives do work. Most wives ain't satisfied without they're working."

JOHN TAYLOR, Mocksville, unemployed. "Yes mam, to help out with the bills."

MRS. FRANCES VENABLE, Winston-Salem, co-owner Mocksville Fashion Shop. "Yes. I've always thought so if there were no small children at home. I stayed home as long as my children were small."

DICKY GROCE, Mocksville, Mocksville Police Dept. "If the husband don't want to starve to death, she had better work."

JACK KOONTZ, Mocksville, Mail Clerk. "That all depends on the children at home. I think a wife's place is at home with small children, but if they are big enough to look after themselves, then it's different."

NASCAR Schedules Special Program For Saturday

Beauty and stock car racing will combine efforts this weekend at Charlotte's Speedworld and Concord Speedway.

Friday night's Speedworld "100" special race in the Supersports Division will feature 75-laps of racing for the Supersports cars and a 25-lapper for the Charger Division. Two ten-lap heats will be run in each division, making a total of 140-laps of super racing for spectators.

A like program is scheduled for Concord Speedway on Saturday night and both Supersports program winners will receive a first place payday of $825.

Girls galore will be available at each track and all have hopes of being crowned either Miss Speedworld or Miss Concord Speedway. The winner, at each track, will represent the speedways for a whole year and each will ride in the parade lap of Darlington Raceway's Southern 500. Both beauty queen winners will receive hundreds of dollars in prizes.

Union, S. C.'s Billy Scott will be the man to beat in the Supersports feature at both tracks. Scott has driven his Camaro to victory circle a total of five times this season at both Speedworld and Concord.

Charger drivers expected to run out front are Gary Galloway of Charlotte, Mustang; Joe Childress, Thomasville, Ford; Arnold Klutz, Salisbury, Chevy; Tony Therrell, Salisbury, Ford; and Carl Reeves of Cooleemee in a Chevrolet.

The Friday night program at Speedworld gets underway at 8 p.m. and the Saturday night feature at Concord opens at a like time. Both tracks open at 6 p.m. for practice and early fan arrivals.

Vets Corner

EDITOR'S NOTE: Below are authoritative answers by the Veterans Administration to some of the many current questions from former servicemen and their families. Further information on veterans benefits may be obtained at any VA office or your local service organization representative.

Q. I purchased a home under the GI Bill, and have now been notified that the property is going to be condemned to make way for a Federal highway. Can I have my loan eligibility restored to purchase another home?

A. Yes. The VA may restore the amount of a veteran's entitlement previously used for any loan on a home which has been taken by condemnation or otherwise by the United States, any state, or any local government agency for public use. However, before there can be any restoration of entitlement, the GI loan on the property must have been paid in full, or the VA just otherwise have been relieved of liability under the guaranty.

Q. I have a rather large dividend accumulation on deposit with the VA insurance service. May I withdraw it?

A. Yes. You may withdraw all, or any part of the accumulated dividends.

ASC News

A producer referendum on the wool and lamb market-development program will be held June 7 through 18 by mail.

"Any wool producer in Davie County who has owned sheep 6 months of age or older for at least 30 consecutive days during 1970 may cast a ballot in the referendum," said J. N. Smoot, Chairman of the County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) Committee.

The mail referendum will be conducted by ASCS county offices. Ballots may be mailed in or producers may cast their vote by coming into their ASCS county office.

The outcome of the referendum will determine whether or not deductions from wool payments to producers will be continued. The deductions, as authorized in the National Wool Act, would be up to 1 1/2 cents a pound on wool and 7 1/2 cents a hundredweight on unshorn lambs, the rates for the past 5 years.

These deductions are used to enlarge the market for wool and lambs through advertising, merchandising and education. The promotion program is carried out under an agreement made between the Secretary of Agriculture and the American Sheep Producers Council (ASPC).

Producers have voted 4 similar agreements into effect since 1955. For the agreement to be extended through 1973, the June referendum must show approval nationally by at least two-thirds of the producers voting, or by producers having at least two-third of the volume of wool production represented by the vote.

If a new agreement is not approved by producers, no deductions will be withheld from wool payments on 1971 marketings. The ASPC programs would continue only as long as the present reserve fund permits or until some other agreement might be approved by producers.

The Chairman said that ballots are being mailed to all known wool and lamb producers in the area. Ballots may be mailed to the county ASCS office of delivered in person, as soon as they are received. Ballots must reach the county office no later than close of business on June 18 in order to be counted.

Springers File Suit On Corn Seed

The David Springers of the Point Farm in Davie County are suing more litigation.

They have just brought suit in U.S. Middle District Court in Greensboro against 18 seed companies, a result of last year's attack of Southern corn blight. Springers seek $10,800 in actual damages and $25,000 in punitive damages from the seed companies. He claims the seed companies were warned that corn blight was imminent but they continued to produce a highly specialized seed that was not resistant to the disease.

Last year the Springer farm brought suit for $2 million from the city of Winston-Salem and Schlitz Brewing Company for damages allegedly incurred by pollution of the Yadkin River caused by the city and the brewery.

Salisbury settled a more minor claim with the Springers a few years ago. When the City's water system was being renovated, the N.C. Department of Water and Air Resources demanded that the municipality's water intake be located in the North Fork of the Yadkin from its old location near the South Fork which the State biologists said was more polluted than the North Fork.

A small island had to be crossed to reach the proper location. The Springers objected. The City Public Works Manager Tony English said the island did not exist 35 years ago that it had been formed by the natural currents of the river. The City settled the claim for $2,000, plus $229.90 through the Davie County Clerk of Court's office.

Modernize with flameless electric heating. It's the heart of the quietest and most comfortable home environment you can get...the electric climate. There are no combustion rumbles to startle you. No loud sounds to break into a nap. Instead, electric heating gives you comforting peace and quiet. It also gives you gentle, even warmth. From ceil-

Pamela Cash Crotts Is Wingate Graduate

Wingate College's 75th spring commencement exercises were held on Sunday, May 16th, with well over five hundred graduates stepping up to receive degrees.

Pamela Cash Crotts of Davie County, received an associate in science, secretarial science degree, at the commencement.

Dr. W. Perry Crouch, secretary-treasurer of the North Carolina Baptist State Convention, was the principal speaker at morning baccalaureate services. His grandson, William Henry Crouch, Jr., of Charlotte, was a member of the graduating class and delivered the invocation.

During the afternoon graduation exercises a crowd of 3,000 persons filled the Sanders-Sikes Gymnasium to witness the awarding of degrees and the presentation of medals, prizes and awards.

In lieu of a formal graduation speaker, the graduates heard briefly from each of the two top-ranking honor graduates: Janice Selena Head, of Seven Springs, N.C. and Mrs. Betty Herrin Burris, from Rt. 4, Albemarle. Dr. Budd E. Smith, president of the college conferred degrees and delivered farewell remarks. Diplomas were presented by H. Conrad Bridges of Charlotte, chairman of the college's board of trustees.

K. Smith Cup. This is an annual award normally given to the student with the best attitude, leadership, and most positive contribution to campus life. This year, for the first time, the college faculty voted to make duplicate awards. Other commencement awards included the C. C. Burris Medal to Linda Sue Carmichael, of Wilmington, as the Best all-around girl; the A.F. Hendricks Medal to Dennis Eugene Yates, of Rockingham, the Best all-around boy; the H.K. Jaycees Win State Awards

At the N.C. State Jaycee Convention held in Winston Salem at the M.C. Benton Convention and Civic Center last weekend, Mocksville was the only Jaycee chapter to have two of its members receive "outstanding state awards."

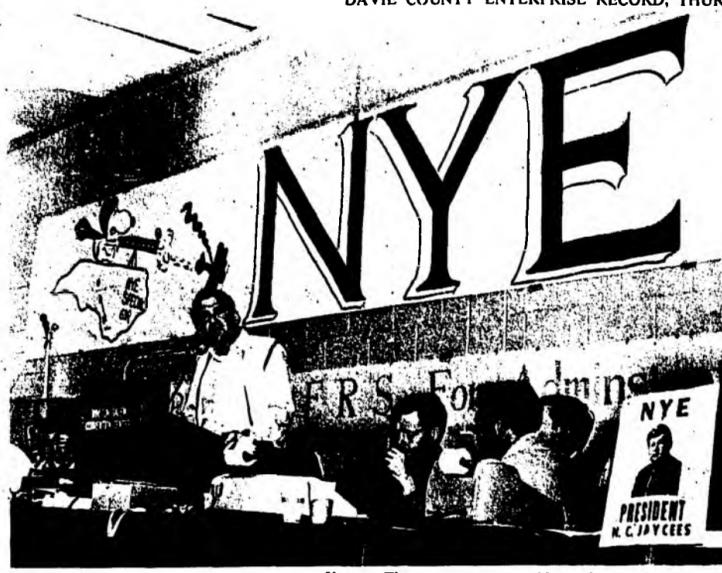

Vernon Thompson and Ken Sales were each one out of five Jaycees in the state in their respective capacities to be so honored.

Thompson was awarded an outstanding local presidential plaque, while Sales was recognized as an outstanding state director.

Julius Sulter was named in the top ten SPOKE award winners for the state. SPOKE is an award for a first year Jaycee for outstanding participation.

Company President Praises Jaycees

The way to improve our society is not by dropping out, but rather "by joining hands and working toward worthwhile and achievable goals" through personal commitment, the North Carolina Jaycees were told Friday, May 21, at the awards banquet of their annual meeting held in Winston-Salem.

Featured speaker for the evening was Milton E. Harrington, president of Liggett & Myers Incorporated.

"I only have to look over the list of your North Carolina Jaycee projects to see a record of commitment by young men unparalleled by any other group in America today," Mr. Harrington said. "Complaining about our social problems is one thing; but joining together in an organized, businesslike way and building a hospital, a social center, a state zoo, or whatever, gives substance to what otherwise would be merely wishful thinking."

"Here in North Carolina Jaycees there is a spirit of cooperation which can give more meaning to the aspirations of our young people, and more substance to their efforts."

Mr. Harrington, who is a native of North Carolina and a graduate of Duke University, dwelled at length on the commitment Jaycees have made to the $200,000 U. S. Professional Match Play Championship golf tournament, which will be played August 25-29 at The Country Club of North Carolina, Pinehurst. The tournament is sponsored by L & M., the club and the PGA Tournament Players Division. Mr. Harrington is general chairman.

The North Carolina Jaycees are responsible for advance ticket sales for the tournament. Half of their proceeds will be contributed to the proposed State Zoo, and the other half will be divided among the individual chapters to be used for their local public service projects.

"We believe this new annual championship will be the most exciting golf event of the year and future years," Mr. Harrington told the young businessmen. "We expect this tournament to make Pinehurst the first real 'capital of golf'. And, rumor has it that Pinehurst, with a long golf tradition, may be the future home of the PGA." He did not elaborate on this statement.

The Winterville, N. C. native, who is an ardent golfer, opened his talk with a bit of history. "In the beginning, the game of golf found itself in much the same position as my other favorite subject, tobacco. Golf attracted a lot of government interest, and most of it was aimed at stopping people from enjoying themselves. Back in the 18th century the Scottish government passed a rule making it unlawful for anyone to indulge in golf."

"But," continued the president of L & M, "golf, like tobacco, has survived and flourished, and never more outstandingly than here in North Carolina. As I look around me today, I see a lot of evidence that both activities will continue to survive and prosper."

About eight million tons of wild hay, including prairie grasses, were harvested by farmers and ranchers in 1969.

Seniors Warned Of Correspondence Schools

Graduating seniors who are unable to continue their education at some college or university may be interested in a report from the Better Business Bureau which indicates that some correspondence schools will mislead them and their parents in order to sign them up for an expensive home study course.

Although there are many reputable correspondence schools in the country, the files at the Better Business Bureau indicate that many of our local citizens can be hoodwinked. In an effort to help you distinguish between the reputable operated school and others, the Better Business Bureau hereby sets forth a few suggestions which it hopes will help you to avoid the minority of unscrupulous operators.

With reference to employment promises, job seekers can avoid disappointment and loss by insisting upon proof of any published or verbal claims as to furnishing jobs or in any way helping students to obtain jobs. Request names and addresses of a substantial number of graduates for whom the school claims to have obtained positions and then write or contact those purportedly satisfied students for the purpose of obtaining first hand information on their experience.

Most schools insist that students sign a contract so that there will be no misunderstanding about the amounts and terms of payment, cancellation provisions, courses covered, etc. This is for your protection as well as the school. Do not sign unless you wish to contract. Read and understand before you sign. Remember that the school agrees to supply only what is in the WRITTEN CONTRACT. Therefore, do not rely solely upon oral representations of the salesman.

Beware the salesman who employs high pressure methods, such as "You had better sign now - the price for the course is going up next week," thereby trying to obtain your signature on the contract before you investigate. A legitimate and reputable institution will always stand investigation; it is proud of its reputation of honesty and integrity and will be glad to have you check with unbiased individuals.

The most serious problem regarding correspondence schools is with so-called "Civil Service Schools," and the following information supplied by the United States Civil Service Commission will be of interest to those who are contemplating applying for a Civil Service position:

1. No civil service school has any connection whatever with the Civil Service Commission or with any other agency of the Government.
2. The Commission has no agents who sell "civil service" courses or accept fees or commissions for securing applications for Government positions. It does not conduct such courses.
3. No school can properly promise success in passing civil service examinations or guarantee Government employment.

4. No school is given advance information regarding the need for civil service employees. They do not know in advance of coming examination.

5. No school is given information regarding examination questions or any other civil service information that is not available to the general public.

6. The Commission recommends no school. It is unnecessary to take a course with any so-called "civil service" school in order to compete in any of the Commission's examination, or to learn about them. Free sample questions showing the type and kind of questions that will be asked in any particular examination are usually available for individual use.

The Bureau does not recommend nor act as a reference for any school, nor does it give a list of schools in any field.

TODAY'S WORLD

The Winston-Salem Better Business Bureau will attempt to furnish factual information, but no advice, about specific schools whose names you

Air Force Recruiter Says Diploma important

Thinking about dropping out of high school? Don't! That's the advice of Sgt. Chaffin, local Air Force recruiter. While seeking young men between the ages of 17 and 27 to go into the Air Force, Sgt. Chaffin says that he finds himself counseling many of the youth he comes in contact with on the importance of a high school diploma. "It's true," he said, "that a young man can obtain his high school diploma in the Air Force. But," he continued, "the individual who gets his diploma before joining the Air Force is much better off."

According to Sergeant Chaffin most of the jobs in the Air Force call for individuals with at least a high school diploma. "For this reason," he said, "the individual who goes into the Air Force without a diploma is limited on the number of career fields he can go into."

Cana News

The Cana Homemakers Club met at the home of Mrs. Mary Pope on May 20th. The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Wade Hutchens. She read for the devotion "A Parent's Prayer" from the Biblical Recorder, imploring help and guidance in the rearing of children. The song "Old Smoky" was sung, led by Mrs. Thelma Brewer.

Mrs. West made an announcement regarding the sale of season tickets for the North Carolina Symphony. Committee reports were made. Mrs. Thelma Brewer discussed the symphony program. Mossa Eaton made a report on our garden friends, "Lady Bugs" and "Praying Mantis". Both are valuable assets as they destroy many injurious insects. Mrs. Mary Pope commented on nutrition and Mrs. Ruby Leagans discussed suitable cleaners to be used on carpets and rugs. She suggested shampooing with household detergent or foam which would be picked up by the sweeper. Blue Lustre being the most highly recommended.

The question on re-finishing furniture came up for discussion. Mrs. West gave a brief on the technique of using a new solvent, "Formby" for removing gold finishes. This is available at J. Miller's paint shop and Harris Builders and Supply Company in Winston-Salem.

Mrs. West called attention to a seminar on "Environment - My Responsibility". This will be held in the near future at Meredith College, Raleigh. The following is on the agenda for discussion - air, water, solid waste control and the citizen's role.

An outline, prepared by the University of Kentucky, was used by Mrs. West in her discussion of "Drug Abuse and Misuse". Mothers and homemakers everywhere should be alerted to the growing menace of drug abuse, prevalent today by youth and adults. So many drugs are habit forming, and should only be taken under a doctor's prescription. Definite steps should be taken to help those who are tempted and avoid the tragedies that follow.

We were delighted to have Mrs. Carl Horton join our club at this meeting. The hostess had lovely arrangements of flowers in her living room, dining room and den. These were made of beautiful early summer flowers from her yard and garden - iris, peonies and mock orange. She served delicious refreshments of "Heavenly Hash", salad, cheese bars, and cool green punch.
