

Skyline Sales Top $326 Million For Year

Skyline Corporation, the world's largest builder of shelter for living and recreation, reports sales for the fiscal year ended May 31, 1972, were up 29 percent to $326,812,145 from $252,393,072. Net earnings rose 37 percent to $19,772,983, equal to $1.76 per share, from $14,409,157, equal to $1.28 per share.

"The record performance of the fourth quarter helped make fiscal 1972 our twelfth consecutive record year," said Arthur J. Decio, Skyline board chairman and president. Sales for the quarter totaled $98,214,030 and earnings were $6,730,451. Commenting further on the record results, Decio complimented skyline people noting "the positive influence of dedicated and disciplined people in maximizing earnings." During the year the recreational vehicle line was expanded by the addition of a motor home. The Escape made its debut in late February at a new 50,000 square foot plant in Hemet, California. "On the basis of regional testing, we are now ready to manufacture and market the motor home nationally in fiscal 1973," Decio advised.

"In response to increased demand for both mobile homes and recreational vehicles, eleven new plants were made operative in fiscal 1972; ten additional plants are under construction, and seven more are in the planning stage. "The eleven plants added this year had the positive effect expected of them. Their real contribution will be measured in 1973 and beyond," Decio stated. A 20 percent dividend increase was approved by the Board of Directors payable July 1, 1972, to shareholders of record June 16. The increase raises the quarterly dividend to 6 cents per share, or 24 cents on an annual basis.

"Aggressive plant and product programs support Skyline's enthusiasm for the '70's. With the continued loyalty and effort of Skyline personnel, the Company will capitalize on the opportunities in the growing markets for mobile homes and recreational vehicles," Decio concluded.

Headquarters for the Skyline Corporation are in Elkhart, Indiana. The Mocksville plant opened in 1971.

Yadkin River Claims Life Of Davie Man

The body of a man who disappeared late Monday in the Yadkin River was found around 4 p.m. Tuesday afternoon on the Forsyth side of the river.

David Eugene Beamon, 28, of Advance Rt. 2, went into the waters of the Yadkin River around 6 p.m. Monday during an outing with three other men and two women and disappeared.

Witnesses say he swam part way out into the river and began flapping his arms. Janis James of Advance Rt. 1, who was fishing near Beamon when he went under, said:

"He just began circling his hands in the water. I thought he was just kidding, but then he went under twice and just disappeared."

She and the other two witnesses, Peggy Robbins of 828 Railroad Street, Mocksville, and James Cope of Advance Rt. 2, all said that Beamon did not yell at any time.

George Dull, chief of the Lewisville Rescue Squad, said the first call was received at 6:59 p.m., Monday. He said that about 35 men from Lewisville, Forsyth, Davie and Winston-

Salem Rescue Squads dragged the river until 1 a.m., Tuesday. Rescue efforts were resumed at 7:30 a.m., Tuesday and continued until the body was found around 4 p.m.

The site where Beamon disappeared is about a half a mile off Center Church Road in southwest Forsyth County. Janis James said the group selected the site "because it was so isolated."

She said she and the other girl had planned to swim at the river and were joined by the four men who were visiting at her house. In addition to Beamon and Cope, these included Gary Walker of Advance Rt. 1, and Terry Slater of Advance, Rt. 2.

Slater had two row boats at the site and the party rowed out to an island in the river. All concerned are in their 20's.

"I was just wading around in the river when David (Beamon) dove in. He just swam a little way out and disappeared," she said. "The only thing he said was, 'Good gosh, the water's cold!' when he first stepped from the island into the water. Then he dove into it."

Gladys Beamon, wife of the missing man said he suffered convulsions last Thursday and had to be taken to a hospital in Lexington for treatment. He was an employee of United Furniture Works in Lexington and Lexington is also the home of his wife, from whom he was separated.

Five boats and skin divers were at the river Tuesday searching for the body.

Beamon is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Beamon of Rt. 2 Advance.

Funeral services will be held at 11 a.m. Thursday morning at Eaton's Chapel. The Rev. William C. Anderson will officiate. Burial will be in the Huntsville Baptist Church Cemetery.

Rain Dampens Local Blue Grass Festival

Red, white, and blue crepe paper streamers were draped around the stage of the arbor at Clement Grove. Chuck Tomlinson (one of the co-chairmen for the event) announced the name of the group, Southern Bluegrass Boys, and music filled the air as the 1st Annual Clement Grove Grass Festival and Fiddler's Convention got under way.

The crowd was small and most of the people in it were from out of town, but lack of people didn't seem to hinder the enjoyment of the crowd and the group. And as the Southern Bluegrass Boys started "Rocky Top" the crowd really began to get in the mood of the festival. Two women began to dance, or "try to dance" as they stated. And they seemed to be enjoying it. One of the women, Mrs. Frances Case, from Mayodan, N.C. said that this was the third convention she, her husband, and two friends had been to this weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Anders of Maiden, N.C. were enjoying the convention also. They heard about it and decided to come. They go to a lot of conventions Mrs. Anders said.

The Albert Elustondos of 613 Wandering Lane, Mocksville said that this was the first convention they had ever attended. They were enjoying it, and Mr. Elustondo said he hoped that it wouldn't rain.

Four bands, Smokey Ridge Boys, Southern Bluegrass Boys, Chicken Hot Rod, and the Blue Grass Liberation had been hired for the afternoon. About 20 bands were expected Tuesday night for the "Old Time Fiddlers Convention."

The event was sponsored by the Mocksville Jaycees and the Davie County Boy Scouts. Bill Foster, the other co-chairman for the event, said the convention was being held because the Jaycees and the Boy Scouts wanted to do something for the town on July 4th. They hoped if this one succeeded to make it an annual two-day event.

A crowd of about two thousand was anticipated for the night's festivities, but was held down because of rain.

Do You Dread Taking License Test?

Get nervous when you face the prospect of taking that driver license test? The Department of Motor Vehicles is taking steps to relieve you of some of that fear.

A state wide program of classroom refresher courses for persons preparing to apply for licenses in being initiated by the department. The classes will be available to individuals applying for their first license, seeking renewals or for others who feel they need specialized instruction to meet licensing requirements.

C. S. Waters, adult driver education coordinator for the Driver Education and Accident Records Division of the department, is in charge of the project.

Waters describes Course I of the program as a four-hour course (two two-hour classes) as a program for new drivers or persons facing license renewal. It is for individuals, he says, for people who feel a need for refreshing their knowledge, comprehension and application of traffic laws in their driving.

Course II, according to Waters, is for individuals who, because of lack of reading skills, feel they need oral instruction before attempting to obtain their licenses. This will consist of four two-hour classroom sessions.

Both classes are being offered as a public service by the department. Attendance is voluntary and free of charge. Persons interested in participating in either course should contact their nearest Driver Education Representative or Driver License Examiner for information.

Classes will be scheduled on a basis of public demand.

Cancer Society's Research Program

The American Cancer Society initiated the first scientific and organized approach to Cancer Research. In 1945, only a total of $1,000,000 was available for Cancer Research.

The Society has expended almost $250,000,000 through its National Office and Divisions in support of research. The voluntary legislative efforts of the American Cancer Society have helped to promote the increase in funds, and the generosity of the American public through the Society's Annual April Crusades has aided substantially.

Public Health Service grants are allocated in much the same way as those awarded by the American Cancer Society and the two groups work hand in hand. Coordination is through cooperation with staff personnel and scientific reviewers. Many people who serve on the scientific review groups for the Society also serve in similar capacities for the Public Health Service. The Institute and the Society frequently have supported projects jointly.

The American Cancer Society assumes a cooperative role in helping shape governmental programs. "We can take immense pride in having helped bring about the strongest cancer control program the government has ever undertaken. May we match it in saving more lives from cancer and in improving the quality of life for all cancer patients," stated officials of the organization.

Birth Announcements

Chinese Food seems to be the thing these days. I have made Sweet and Sour Chicken for a long time, but a friend of mine gave me the recipe for Sweet and Sour Pork, and it turned out to be better than I thought. In fact it was good!

Sweet and Sour Pork

- 1 egg white
- 2 tablespoons flour
- 4 oz. pork tenderloin, cut in oblong strips
- 2 tablespoons vegetable oil
- 1/4 onion, shredded
- 8 strips green pepper
- 8 strips carrots
- 1 teaspoon finely chopped fresh ginger
- 8 cubes Sweet & Sour pickle
- Few drops white wine
- 1/2 cup chicken stock
- 1 tablespoon vinegar
- 1 tablespoon tomato paste
- 1 teaspoon corn starch
- 2 tablespoons water
- 2 cherries

Mix the egg white with flour, adding a little water if necessary to make a thin batter. Dip pork pieces in the mixture. Fry quickly in deep oil until crisp. Meanwhile, prepare the sauce as follows: Put the 2 tablespoons of oil in a pan and bring to a boil, add onion, pepper, carrots and ginger. Stir quickly 1-2 minutes, add pickle and sprinkle with wine, put in stock and boil 1 minute. Add honey, vinegar and tomato paste and stir quickly. Add corn starch, mix with water and stir quickly. Add pork and stir again. Serve with rice with cherries on top.

When you eat Sweet and Sour Pork you will imagine you are in China. Rice is eaten at every meal in China. The Chinese cooks have great skills in making their foods flavorful. They serve a variety of vegetables, meat, fish, fowl, and pork, soy beans and bean products. They eat with two slender sticks called chopsticks. The Chinese are truly great cooks.

Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Sain and paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Henry Crotts, both of Route 4. Great-grandparents are Dallas Winters of Route 2, Mocksville, Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Sain of Rt. 3, Mocksville, Mr. and Mrs. Duke Tuterow of Rt. 7 and Mrs. Nettie Crotts of Rt. 4.

The "Mailbox" Of Advance, Route 1

Oscar B. Poindexter

Oscar Poindexter is a man who likes to laugh.

You can tell that by looking at the "laugh lines" around his eyes and by seeing how easily he breaks into a grin when he talks of his adventures as a mail carrier on Route 1, in Advance, for the past 28½ years.

Last Friday, June 30, Poindexter carried out his deliveries to the people that have come to readily recognize him and his little Volkswagen as they make their daily rounds.

But, last Friday was more than just an ordinary day. It was the last time Oscar Poindexter and his "bug" would make the rounds on Route 1, Advance.

After 30 years of service to the United States, first as a radio operator in the Air Force during World War II, and then as a rural mail carrier, Poindexter was retiring.

As you read this, he will probably be stretched out in his favorite spot, if it's not raining. That spot is a comfortable lounge chair under a green shade tree near the Poindexter home on U.S. Highway 801, near Advance.

Poindexter wanted to be photographed in that shady spot, for he said that's where he plans to spend most of his time now.

"I told my wife that people travel hundreds of miles to find a cool spot that's still not half as good as this one," he said, pointing to the chair under the tree.

Poindexter and his wife, the former Ruth Bowden, were both born and reared in the area where they now live. In the process of raising four sons, they lived in Clemmons for ten years.

But now, they are back in Davie County, where Mrs. Poindexter says the "quietness" and the people make life so enjoyable.

No one can retire from a job after 28 years, as Poindexter has done, without having several hours' worth of memories and tales.

With an obvious sense of what makes a good story, Oscar Poindexter has collected memories much like he has collected Indian arrowheads in great abundance.

He can tell you, for instance, of the time he helped save a little girl's life after she was hit by a truck.

He can tell you of the time a swarm of bees completely covered a mailbox, and all he could do was sit in his car and take pictures with a camera that he just happened to have handy.

He can tell you of those special people in his life, the kids, the ones he loves to talk with, the ones who called him "Mailbox," and ran to greet him.

Oscar Poindexter can also tell you of the difficulties in having to deliver mail to eight John Smiths. "You just learned who got what from where," he explains.

All of the stories that he tells you happened, of course, on his mail route.

"I really feel old," he said, "when I stop to think that I've seen kids around here born, grow up, and marry."

He remembers quite a few of those kids, too.

When Poindexter started his mail route, after service in several countries during World War II, he delivered mail to both Routes 1 and 2 in Advance.

As the years went by and the area's population increased, his load was so heavy they brought another man to handle Route 2, leaving him with Route 1. At one time, he said, his delivery on Route 1 alone included 677 boxes.

The day began at 6:30 a.m. for him, often extending until 5 p.m.

In all his years of delivering mail, Poindexter has only missed two days due to the weather. Both times it was the result of what he calls "A four letter word that I don't want to hear around my house."

Snow.

Poindexter hates it, but even so, it has provided him with some good stories.

Mrs. Poindexter tells of the time her husband called home on a snowy day and asked for help from his sons.

"He said a mailbox had wrapped itself around his bumper," Mrs. Poindexter said.

Then there was the day a helper opened the car door, stepped out, and disappeared into a ditch covered by a snowdrift.

Poindexter laughs heartily when he remembers that day.

Like her husband, Mrs. Poindexter has a knack for remembering a good story.

"One thing Oscar never did," she said, "was read other people's mail."

She backs that up by telling about the time he carried a package around for several days without being able to determine who was to receive it. It was addressed to the school where Mrs. Poindexter was teaching, but they did not accept it because they were not expecting such a delivery.

At the same time, Mrs. Poindexter, who was expecting a package, asked her husband if he had seen a parcel addressed to her.

No, he told her, he hadn't seen it.

Poindexter had just about given up on trying to find the destination of the package in his car, his wife said, "then he noticed my name in the corner."

Even though he will no longer be driving the approximately 75 miles that meander through Route 1, Advance, Poindexter will not lack for things to do.

He has his ham radio operation, a carry-over from his days as a radio operator in the Air Force. Poindexter has reached people behind the Iron Curtain on the radio, he said, as well as operators in many other parts of the world.

He and his wife are members of the North Carolina Archeological Society, and they love nothing better than searching for Indian artifacts.

The Poindexters have an impressive collection of arrowheads and other Indian relics, the results of pursuing their hobby for several years.

"We've traveled all over looking for Indian artifacts," he said.

Poindexter described his collection as "Sunday-go-to-meeting" arrowheads. "These weren't the ones they hunted with," he said. "These were the ones they used for show in ceremonies."

Poindexter is an avid photographer and hunter, and he has his dogs, Sheba and Bruno.

"Sheba has only three legs, but she manages to get around. She's almost as smart as a human," Poindexter said. The dog's leg had to be amputated after she was hit by a truck.

With all their other interests, the Poindexters still take time to do work in Gospel Light Baptist Church in Walkertown.

So now, even though he is retired, Poindexter may not spend as much time under that tree as he plans to.

Poindexter's retirement was due in part to a skin injury which he received during World War II. His skin is photosensitive and sunlight and road dust bring pain.

But, he admits having mixed feelings about leaving "some of the finest people in the world."

"A lady asked me the other day if I was going to celebrate after I finished my last day," he said. "You don't leave a job and all those people after 26 years and celebrate."

Three-legged Sheba and Bruno pose with their master, one postman who does not dislike all dogs.

Oscar Poindexter points out some of the prize Indian artifacts he and his family have uncovered over the years.

Oscar Poindexter "hams it up" at the controls of his amateur radio setup.

Flood Insurance Is Available

Agnes Ushers In The 1972 Hurricane Season

Pushing walls of water with the harsh breath of death, Hurricane Agnes came ashore and smashed her way up the East Coast leaving many dead, hundreds homeless, and millions of dollars of destruction in her wake.

Thus the 1972 hurricane season made its debut, and from June until November the parade will continue. The Insurance Information Institute warns, and although most hurricanes hit in late summer and early fall, Agnes proves that the rule always has exceptions.

While nothing can be done to stop this vicious and destructive force of nature, the Institute notes that much can be done to blunt its effects.

To begin with, flood insurance - not generally available until a few years ago - can now be purchased in some 1,100 towns and cities under a relatively new program operated jointly by the federal government and private insurance companies.

"While most property insurance policies do cover wind damage," the Institute said, "the usual property insurance policies - except under limited circumstances - do not provide protection to homes or household possessions for damage caused by tidal wave, high water or overflow whether wind-driven or not. An exception is a loss caused by rain entering a building through an opening made by the wind."

The Institute pointed out, however, that there are many kinds of insurance which cover movable properties in case of floods.

For example, automobile comprehensive policies cover losses caused by flooding.

With a hurricane packing a punch including 75 to 100-mile-an-hour winds, six to 12 inches of rain and tides 10 to 20 feet above normal, it is difficult to overemphasize the importance of considering insurance to cover both wind and water damage.

A glance at the hurricane record in recent years, the Institute said, shows that Hurricane Betsy caused $715 million in insured damage in southern Florida, Louisiana and Mississippi in 1965; Camille brought $225 million in insured damage to Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama, and Florida in 1969; and Celia delivered a $300 million blow to southeastern Texas in 1970.

The Institute urges property owners to examine their insurance coverage thoroughly and not to hesitate to seek the counsel of their agent or broker if necessary. They should learn exactly what coverage they now have and what additional coverage they should consider.

Meanwhile, the insurance industry stands ready to move into any hurricane-threatened area with special catastrophe procedures.

Special adjusters are often on their way to an area even before the hurricane hits so that they are on hand to open special offices and thus be in a position to begin immediately adjusting losses and expediting payments.

Rock & Roll Group In G'boro

One of the fastest rising English Rock & Roll ensembles, "HUMBLE PIE" will visit the Greensboro Coliseum Monday, July 10, for an 8:00 p.m. performance.

Frist arriving in America for a nationwide tour in 1969, crowd reactions were less than enthusiastic. However, the group returned to England and on the basis of a step by step program of musical rejuvenation, and with the immediate success of their recording of "Humble Pie" and "Rock On", the group has now been established as an accepted top drawing power.

Comprised of Steve Marriott on the guitar, piano and organ, Jerry Shirley on drum and piano, Dave Clempson, guitarist and vocalist, and Greg Ridley, bassist and guitarist, the group now records on A & M Records and followed up their initial successes with their recording of "Performance - Rockin' The Fillmore", and have been recognized in recent months by increasingly larger crowds on their latest American Tour.

Also joining Humble Pie will be another popular group, "Black Oak Arkansas", and a new figure on the charts, "Eagles".

EDITORS' NOTE: Tickets priced at $4.00, $5.00 and $6.00, are now on sale at the Coliseum Box Office. Mail orders should be mailed to Greensboro Coliseum Box Office, 1921 W. Lee Street, Greensboro, N. C. 27403. Checks should be made payable to "Humble Pie", and accompanied by a stamped, self-addressed envelope for return of tickets.

to owners of damaged property. Full page advertisements often are run in newspapers advising residents what to do both immediately before and after the storm to protect their property and to recover their losses as fully and quickly as possible.

BEFORE THE STORM

In order to enable insurance companies to serve you more quickly and efficiently when you do have a loss, the Institute points out several steps you can take now:

- Make an itemized list of personal property, including furnishings, clothing and valuables. Photos are helpful. These steps will assist the adjusters in settling your insurance claim and also help to prove uninsured losses, which are tax deductible.

- If you do not understand or have questions about your policy, contact your agent or company representative.

- Keep your policy in a safe place, such as a safety deposit box. Know the name and location of your agent and the company which issued the policy.

AFTER THE STORM

If your home, apartment or business has been damaged, here's what to do:

- Make temporary repairs to prevent further loss from rain, wind or looting. The expenses of such repair are covered by most policies, so save receipts.

- Contact your agent or company as soon as possible. If you have to leave home, leave an address or telephone number where you can be reached.

- Be patient. All losses will be adjusted and claims paid as quickly as possible, but hardship cases are handled first.

- Don't assume your settlement will be the same as your neighbor's. Policy forms differ and storm damage is erratic.

FLOOD INSURANCE

Flood insurance is available through the Federal Insurance Administration of the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development, and the program is administered by the National Flood Insurers Association, comprised of approximately 100 private insurance companies.

The flood insurance provides protection against losses caused by the overflow of inland or tidal water or the unusual and rapid accumulation or runoff of surface waters from any source.

An individual can obtain the insurance only if his community agrees to meet federal standards for land use and adopt reasonable flood control measures to reduce exposure to flood hazards.

The U.S. Government says more than 7,000 communities are flood-prone. Of these, more than 8 in 10 have not applied to HUD for eligibility -- and therefore have no flood insurance protection.

Even in the eligible communities, relatively few property owners have taken advantage of the flood protection.

In the estimated 1,100 areas where flood insurance is available, coverage up to $17,500 can be obtained for single-family dwellings and up to $30,000 for multi-family dwellings and all business. Rates are 40 to 50 cents per $100 of insurance on any residence building. For business properties, the rates and 50 cents per $100 if the property is valued over $30,000.

March Of Dimes Storkline News

The March of Dimes Storkline was two years old July 1. Although the service itself is in infancy, it has helped many human infants to good health by answering questions.

Parents ask the Storkline questions about prenatal care and pregnancy. Doctors who specialize in the subject answer through a confidential reply by mail. The service has been a tremendous success and will continue its third year.

The National Foundation-March of Dimes stresses that prevention and research are the keys to defeating the nation's second largest killer, birth defects. The Storkline helps get the preventive information to the public, and March of Dimes research scientists tackle the secrets of the cell and birth.

Last year over 6,800 babies were born with birth defects in North Carolina. With properly informed parents, this number could have been drastically reduced.

County Chapters of the March of Dimes across the state urge the public to use Storkline for prenatal information. The Storkline is a toll free 24-hour a day service reached by dialing 1-800-432-6546.

Who Cares?

By WIM OSBORNE
Guest Columnist

Who cares when you are lonely?
When out of the depths of your inner self, soundless cries for friendship, love and understanding, beat against unyielding walls? When each changeless day is unlit by even a small glow of expectation?

When you act a clown to cover true feelings—afraid of rejection? When daily tasks become shadowed by the eternal sameness—Who cares?

Who cares, when in quiet desperation, with slipping hands, you hold tightly to the hope that things will change? When you no longer dream—for what's the use?

When the tears, unshed for years, fail to come and wash away the loneliness and despair, so you can hear a small voice whisper, "I care."

God cares! And when we find this truth we begin to discover others who care. A word, a smile, a pat on the back, or a favor when you least expect it, and you can feel yourself being pulled up from the pit of despair.

Situations, which before had seemingly unsurmountable walls, open up and allow you to pass, with head and heart light, to better things.

The seat of despair and the bed of self pity make very uncomfortable resting places. Be still and hear the soft voices of those who care.

You may hear more voices than you ever dreamed you'd hear.

Be very still and hear the voice of God!

N.C. Symphony
Seeks New Conductor

CHAPEL HILL — A committee has been appointed to select a new conductor for the North Carolina Symphony, according to an announcement by C. C. Hope Jr. of Charlotte, president of the North Carolina Symphony Society, Inc.

The retirement of Benjamin F. Swalin, long time director of the orchestra, will become effective when a new conductor is elected. This is in keeping with the terms of a phased retirement agreement reached by Swalin and the Symphony Society trustees last August.

Swalin, 71, became director of the North Carolina Symphony in 1939. Over the years he has been largely responsible for the development and growth look at the pencil!

It was his first trip to Washington. He was only six. Everything had to be analyzed by the standards of a first-grader!

Tell him it's the Washington Monument . . . he still thinks of it as "The Pencil." Time for his parents to learn a lesson:

Suppose he had never seen a pencil. What would it have meant to him then? Probably nothing!

A child needs standards by which to measure all he encounters. The standards may be simple—but he uses them. With them he associates the things he wants to remember.

The Church provides your child with simple religious standards. He still needs your help to grasp the truth he must master. But the standards you and he learn at Church are the foundation of his character . . . the inspiration of your own. In his terms: the pencil with which tomorrow is written.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . .
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Christmas Shop Operates 364 Days A Year

By Paul Phillips
State Travel Editor

MANTEO, N. C. — Eddie Greene, it might be said, celebrates Christmas 364 days a year. The one day he doesn't celebrate it is on his birthday. Then he gives himself a Christmas present.

Greene is owner of the Island Gallery and Christmas Shop, one of North Carolina's unique travel attractions.

Library News

Our Country! A wonderful book to introduce during this week when we are celebrating the birthday of our country! This is a book about America, conceived and produced by the editors of the Book Division of U.S. News and World Report to provide a well-balanced picture of the United States.

Since much of the news, by its very nature, tends to play up the unusual, the dramatic, the shocking, the result often has been a distortion of reality! And in times of stress, the positive values of the nation are submerged and lost sight of.

Our Country! is an attempt, in words and pictures, to recover a sounder perspective and appreciation of our country and ourselves. While recognizing the great problems besetting our country, this book focuses on the qualities of Americans and their institutions which hold the promise of overcoming these ills and of clearing the way for still greater advances.

A large and unique collection of photographs—453 in all, with 150 in color—illustrate American life in all its variety. There are pictures of ordinary Americans living ordinary lives at home, at work, at play, showing the warmth and strength in their faces; and there is also the humor of Americans who do not believe in taking themselves too seriously.

In addition, the book includes breath-taking shots of the magnificence of the land, the work of our finest lensmen.

But this is not just another picture book. It is factual, comprehensive, as well as entertaining. It tells us something about our society and ourselves, past, present and looking into the future we can expect our youth to build. A handsome and enjoyable book!

It is always "the night before Christmas" — be it June or January — in Greene's shop.

The shop and gallery is the culmination of a love affair for Greene. The romance began in 1953 when he came down to the Outer Banks as a dancer and assistant choreographer of the outdoor drama "The Lost Colony". Since then he has traveled all over the country with musicals. In between shows he was a professional Christmas tree decorator. One year he decorated 550 trees between Labor Day and December 1.

But he continued his courtship with North Carolina. Finally, he decided to come to the Outer Banks and set up the shop and gallery. The shop is now five years old.

"I fell in love with the Outer Banks," explains Greene. "I always spent my vacation here. I never had a vacation anyplace else."

"The time came when it was now or never to try my own project," he added.

And Greene's ideas are now fused into a shop that shows the creative ability of its master.

The Christmas Shop is an interesting experience. It doesn't take long to get caught up into the Christmas spell in the shop. One almost gets the feeling that it is "the night before," but then you realize it's May.

Greene and his assistant, Richard Lacerre, keep between 15 and 16 trees decorated throughout the year. Sometimes the number will vary. Gathered around each tree are baskets, boxes, etc., of everything needed to recreate a Greene tree.

Each tree, of course, is unique and one of a kind. One of the favorites of visitors is the "Seashore Tree." It is decorated with polished shells, starfish and beach holly. The "Victorian Tree" features red velvet roses and cardinals, while the "Grandma Tree" is decorated with traditional antique ornaments.

All of Greene's trees follow a theme, ie, "Children's Tree," "Red, White and Blue Tree," the "Bird Tree," "Yum Yum Tree," "Mouse Tree," "Angel Tree," "Soldier Tree," and "Drum Tree." Each is a work of art.

Greene has successfully captured nostalgia. It is not uncommon for a customer to purchase an ornament because they "had one just like it when they were young."

It would be an impossible task to come up with an exact total number of ornaments, etc. However, Lacerre estimates there are over 1,000 different kinds. Handmade wooden ornaments, felt and egg decorations, European glass ornaments and whimsies, and things to make ornaments with are found in the shop.

"Often, people will come in with cameras and pads just to get ideas for their own trees," points out Lacerre. "Many people make their own decorations after seeing some of ours. Many times they will make the decorations as gifts," Greene added.

Handmade decorations are found throughout the shop. Some 10-15 craftsmen make the articles for Greene.

The Island Gallery, while displaying the works of artists, is in itself an art piece created by Greene. The gallery has many rooms and cubicles decorated or created to show the artists' work at its best.

An interesting thing about the gallery is some of its rooms contain boarding that was washed up on the beach after a storm.

"When I used to go beachcombing in the early days of the gallery, I would look at the beautiful boarding and wish I could find a use for it. Then we thought of covering the walls with it," said Greene.

The Island Gallery at times contains at least the works of 100 artists. "I try to keep at least that many and this of course includes the crafts people."

There is no question that the art gallery falls into the unique classification like the Christmas Shop. But it is the Christmas Shop that one remembers.

More on the gallery later. Say after Christmas.

Forms For No Tax Withholding Available

Internal Revenue Service forms, used by students and others who expect to have insufficient income to owe tax this year, and owned no tax for 1971, are available in the Greensboro office of IRS.

When these forms (W-4E) are filed with the employer, the employer is not permitted to withhold income tax from the employee's wages, although it has no effect on FICA (Social Security) tax withholding requirements.

Filing form W-4E makes it unnecessary for the employee to wait a full year to file a return to get his refund.

Forms W-4E, filed in 1971, are no longer valid. New forms W-4E must be filed by those qualified, even though they filed the form last year.

Following is a breakdown of the categories of citizens who should file form W-4E with their employer if they were not required to file a 1971 tax return and want no tax withheld from their wages this year.

1. A single person who expects to earn under $2050 in 1972.

2. A married couple whose combined wages will not exceed $2800 this year.

3. A married couple one over age 65, if their combined wages will be less than $3550, who expect to file a joint return.

4. A married couple, who are both over 65, but whose income will fall short of $4300 in 1972, who expect to file a joint return.

Employers needing forms W-4E should order them from Internal Revenue Service, 320 Federal Place, Supply Section, Greensboro, N. C. 27401.

Some of her duties at the post office — putting up mail and waiting on customers.

Mrs. Virginia Waters Embarks On New Career

Retirement!

Roy Cartner presents Mrs. Waters with a certificate of appreciation for her service with the post office.

"I'm a little excited about getting away from the grind, but I am also sad because it is the end of an experience and a certain phase of my life," was the reaction of Mrs. Virginia Waters about her last day at the post office.

Mrs. Waters has been working with the Mocksville Post Office since 1934. Friday, June 30th, was her last day with the post office after 35 years and 2 months service.

Her duties have consisted of clerical work, putting up mail, waiting on people, office work and reports. She has been assistant postmaster of the Mocksville Post Office since January of 1966.

One of the first things Mrs. Waters plans to do after her retirement is throw away her clock and calendar. She says so much of the work at the post office has to be planned around certain times and schedules.

While working at the post office Mrs. Waters says she has met a lot of nice, considerate and cooperative people. And she feels that some of the local people in Mocksville are as interesting as people are anywhere else.

But Mrs. Waters has also had a few criticisms about people she has met while working at the post office. People often forget the importance of having their mail properly addressed and often blame the post office because they don't receive it.

Another of her pet peeves is people that come in and ask for a bunch of stamps. She recalls one Christmas when she was particularly busy, a man came in and asked for some stamps. So she asked him how many he wanted, and he replied oh, just enough to mail a few Christmas Cards.

Waiting on the public has been part of her duties at the post office.

On another occasion, also during the Christmas rush, a gentleman came in and asked for some stamps and then said, "I don't suppose you could put them on the cards for me, could you."

The Post Office was located in the Sanford building on the corner where the Fashion Shop is now when Mrs. Waters first went to work in 1934. Many changes have taken place in the postal system since then.

There were only four rural routes then and now there are seven. The postal receipts were for about $10,000 a year then and now are about $180,000 a year. The post office moved to its present location in 1957 and has since been enlarged.

"Women's liberation was not the reason for taking a job in the post office. I just needed the job," Mrs. Waters said. "There may have been a little discrimination, but the department stresses non-discrimination, equal wages for equal work, and promotions when it is your time to be promoted."

Refurbishing her home on 437 Salisbury Street is one of the activities that Mrs. Waters has planned for her retirement. She collects some antiques but only those that she thinks will "enhance her home."

She also plans to continue with what she calls her "amateur photography" and uses her grandchildren (5 girls and a boy) for (Continued Page 2B)

The General Store Opens At Tanglewood

by Nancy Miller Culp

The General Store, one of the most unique gift shops in Forsyth County, opened last Saturday in the old tack shop at Tanglewood Park. The shop features craft items from area guildsmen and specialty pieces from throughout the world.

The General Store is an outgrowth of months of planning by General Park Manager Ray Whitley and Winston-Salem Craft Guild President Jerry Davenport. Board members of the Winston-Salem Craft Guild—Mrs. Dot Nowell, Mrs. Norma Jean Taylor, and Mrs. Nancy Michael, have assembled and displayed local craftsmen's items for the shop.

The General Store will be open daily from 10 a.m. until 9 p.m. this summer. After Labor Day the store will be open on week-ends. Volunteers from the Winston-Salem Craft Guild and members of the newly formed Tanglewood Auxiliary will staff the store.

In a conversation, while the shop was being readied for opening, Mr. Whitley said, "The response to this project on the part of the Winston-Salem Craft Guild has been excellent." And, the variety of the merchandise attests to that group's enthusiasm.

The shop's decor is the product of Guild member's time, energy and artistic effort. The interior of the store is off-white with sunflower yellow trim complemented by black and white gingham cottage curtains. The focal point of the main room is a brick fireplace which has been painted white and accented with a yellow mantle.

The fireplace serves as a display area for mantle and hearthside items, and as one walks toward it his eyes are attracted by the diverse crafts from numerous area craftsmen.

On one wall there are Paul Revere style sconces fashioned in tin by L. B. Beddingfield, tapestry by Emily Hyatt, framed dried flower miniatures by Mrs. T. Powell Watts, and paper mache plaques by Mrs. Ellie Sink.

Nearby are decoupage and folk paintings on wall plaques, pie tins, and pocketbooks done by Mrs. Norma Jean Taylor, Mrs. Dot Nowell, Mrs. Betty Cline, Mrs. Nancy Michael, and Mrs. Doris Munt.

Arranged in glass cases are pieces of leatherwork by Reuben Cason, lapidary by the George D. Wolfe, batik and lacrame pieces by Leslie Deane, ceramics by Judi Brydges, and crocheted beads and beaded baskets by Mrs. Wilmar Bishop.

A doll bed near the hearth holds stuffed animals and dolls which are made by Mrs. Dorris B. Campbell. Grouped around the walls are pieces of furniture—rock tables made by Floyd Boles and hand made pieces by Clark Taylor. Mr. Boles' table tops include rocks which have been collected from throughout the world and are attached to hand made wooden bases.

Contemporary craft items at the shop include hanging patio candles which have been made from a conch shell filled with beeswax and suspended by a leather strap. Near the shop door is a symographic hanging. The hanging is made from a string and tack design on a blue felt background. Both of these are by Marquis Williams.

Specialty Items

Among the specialty items at the General Store are tables and decorative pieces by Snyder of Carolina. The Thomasville based company manufactures original designs in coffee tables and end tables which are made from the pine hatch covers used in World War II Battleships.

OPENING SOON Country Store

The General Store before it opened last week had this sign out front. It is located in the old tack shop next to the Tanglewood stables.

Heavy metal banding and the massive proportions of the pine characterize the tables which are sculptured by natural distressing. Each is finished in a natural burnished spice patina finish which has a hand-rubbed luster.

Bits of metal from bullets, as well as the heavy iron flush-mounted handles which the seamen used in lifting the hatches from the ships' decks attest to the authenticity of the pieces.

Another table in the Snyder group is the "Swamp Fox" which is made from pine harvested in the pine forests of South Carolina where the Revolutionary War Leader Francis Marion once hid his troops. These tables are designed with tops from rounds of pine attached to wrought iron bases.

Other items in the Snyder line include bookends and decorative backdrops fashioned from the hatches and finished in the hand-rubbed patina finish. V. Gilbert Snyder, Jr., president and Evelyn F. Snyder, executive vice-president of the company, have made their tables and accessories available in California, metropolitan New York, Virginia, South Carolina and several North Carolina cities; however the General Store has the local franchise for the collector's items.

When the store has its complete inventory Mr. Whitley said that its merchandise would include the crafts and specialty items as well as gourmet cheeses and candies.

Photographer Returns

C. W. Robinson, professional photographer for 55-years, will return to the Enterprise-Record office on Wednesday and Thursday, July 12 and 13, to make pictures of Davie County people for our files.

This is a part of the extensive campaign of this newspaper to update our photographic files. The project seeks the cooperation of leading Davie County citizens to make new, excellent retouched photographs available for newspaper use.

In each issue of this newspaper the need arises for photos of individuals. In most instances a photograph is not available or is outdated. Cooperation in the Enterprise-Record's campaign for new, high-quality, retouched photographs will assure that pictures of individuals are available in our files for instant use.

Mr. Robinson of Charlotte has 55-years of experience throughout the southeast in portrait work and comes to Mocksville most highly recommended.

There is no cost or obligation whatsoever on the part of the individuals to be photographed. Each person photographed will be furnished proofs and allowed to select the photo he or she prefers to be placed in the Enterprise-Record files.

Teen-Age G.O.P.

The Teen-Age Republican Club (TAR'S) of Davie County will hold a meeting on Monday, July 10, at 8 p.m. at the Court House. A film entitled "Man, Freedom and Government" will be shown and permanent officers will be elected. Everyone is invited, especially all youth between ages of 13-19.

ACQUAINTANCE

I love the acquaintance of young people, because, in the first place, I don't like to think myself growing old. In the next place, young acquaintances must last longest, if they do last; and then young men have more virtue than old men; they have more generous sentiments in every respect. Johnson.

models. She said she already has drawers full of pictures she didn't know what to do with.

Mrs. Waters has three children, Mrs. Carol Foster of Mocksville, Mrs. Raymond Skidmore Jr. of Norwood and Major Samuel Edwin Waters, who is missing in action in Vietnam.

A little traveling will also keep Mrs. Waters busy. She plans to visit her niece who is living in Hawaii. Her daughter-in-law and grandchildren live in California and she wants to visit them. And she would also like to go on a tour of Europe. Her nephew is touring there this summer and has been sending pictures and presents. Everything looks so pretty in the pictures that she thinks she will go.

It looks as though Mrs. Waters plans to keep pretty busy in her retirement. And does she plan to do some visiting at the post office?

"Well, I told them I didn't know if I would do so much visiting, but I would try to throw them a little business," she said.

Davie Babe Ruth Team Wins District Title

The Davie County Senior Babe Ruth baseball team won the district title at Statesville last Friday.

Davie, having been defeated by Cabarrus 5 to 7 earlier in the week, needed two victories over Cabarrus for the title. Playing inspired ball, they overcame the odds taking 6-2 and 1-0 verdicts for the championship.

In the first game, Davie behind the four-hit pitching of Paul Ijames streaked to a blistering 6-2 victory. Davie started the scoring in the second inning with singles by Randy McDaniel and Ricky Allred and a two-run single by Arny Riddle; a single by Mike Diggins scored Riddle for the third run. In the fourth inning, Riddle led off with a triple and scored on Ridenhour's single. Davie added the final insurance runs in the seventh as Paul Ijames singled and scored on a triple by Mike Alexander; David Poplin's sacrifice fly scored Alexander for the final Davie run.

Ijames struck out three in gaining the victory. Hitting was paced by Ijames and Arny Riddle with two hits each.

In the final championship game, Davie behind the one-hit pitching of Randy McDaniel squeaked out a 1-0 victory. Davie scored in the second inning as Randy McDaniel walked, moved to third on Terry Johnson's bunt single, and scored as the first baseman threw the ball away at third.

Tattle Tales

By Gordon Tomlinson

The time was last Wednesday afternoon. The opening scene takes place at the Davie Tractor and Implement Company.

Sheek Bowden and J. W. Jones, engrossed in a discussion concerning farming problems, walk out of the building to go to the farm of Mr. Jones. Sheek Bowden gets into the right hand passenger side of the pickup. Mr. Jones assuming Sheek would him to drive, walks around and gets under the wheel. Off they go to Mr. Jones farm.

Meanwhile, back at Davie Tractor and Implement

Company, Ed Walker finishes his business and goes to the parking lot to where he had just a few minutes prior, left his truck. It was gone.

An alarm was turned in to local officers of a stolen truck. The message was sent by radio to the Salisbury headquarters of the State Highway Patrol. Soon all officers in the entire area were being alerted to look out for the stolen truck.

Meanwhile, Deputy Sheriff Lewis Jones was home mowing his yard. The pickup containing J. W. Jones and Sheek Bowden passed by and all waved. Having his radio monitor on, Deputy Jones heard the alert for the stolen truck. The truck answered the description of the one that had just passed.

So, Deputy Lewis Jones stopped his mowing and went to the home of J. W. Jones. There encountering Sheek Bowden and J. W. Jones, he asked: "Whose truck are you driving?"

And, with puzzled expressions, J. W. Jones and Sheek Bowden turned to one another, each asking:

"Isn't this your truck?"

And so sheepishly, and taking a lot of kidding, they returned the truck to the rightful owner, and the alert for the missing truck was cancelled.

Even after posting bond, an inmate of the local jail had quite a time getting out one morning last week.

It seems that when the jailer attempted to open the door, it stuck. Try as he might, it wouldn't budge.

Sheriff Joe Smith finally came to the rescue and the man, a short time later, was able to walk out.

Pharmacy Comments

Alcohol & Cars Don't Mix

Not only do alcoholics harm themselves and their families, but given a car they become killers. Dr. R. Page Hudson, chief medical examiner, reported recently that during the past 24 months 73% of all single-car fatalities on N.C. highways involved alcohol-drugged persons. In addition, 66% of pedestrian fatalities over 15 years of age were influenced by alcohol.

Chronic drinkers have just as great a problem as drug addicts. Despite social presures to "accept" problem drinkers and legal pressures to "put-down" drug addiction, a truly great tragedy both in our state and throughout the nation remains our social attitudes toward alcoholism. With over 9 million chronic cases in the country plus millions more waiting in the wings, alcohol misuse has spread to epidemic proportions!

When will we face-up to the realities of alcohol and its unmitigated threat to human life?

"The Tonight Show" Is No. 1 Among College Students college students.

"The Tonight Show Starring Johnny Carson" is the number one choice for late night television viewing among college students -- a previously unmeasured audience, a recently-issued study has revealed.

The study, conducted by Gilbert Youth Research, Inc., showed that nearly two million college students -- one third of all full time college students -- watch "Tonight" in a two week period. It also concluded that over 750,000 college students view an average "Tonight" telecast.

The statistics further show that 34 percent of all college students viewed the "Tonight" show at least once within the two week period; 25 percent watched late movies (non-network); and 16 percent viewed Dick Cavett.

(The study was conducted in April-May, 1971, before CBS Late Night Movies series began).

Highland Games This Week

The 17th annual Highland Games and Gathering of Scottish Clans, where one can witness an ancient legend with scant modern flare, will lure in the neighborhood of 25,000 persons to Grandfather Mountain's MacRae Meadows on Saturday and Sunday.

The impossible-to-imitate tones of the bagpipes...the whirling kilts of the dancers...the grunts and groans of the athletic event competitors...the flashing beauty of the Scottish clan tartans...the yapping of the sheepherding dogs...the bouncing bonnets of the marching drummers.

They'll all be a continuous part of the gala ceremonies which are as traditional and authentic as any similar gathering held anywhere in America. To gain a more complete glimpse of Scotland, one would have to travel there for first-hand observation.

The pageantry of the two-day festival has resulted in such enthusiastic response from both spectators and participants over the years that the event has become the largest of its kind...anywhere. A total of 132 clans and septs were represented at last year's gathering.

Highland Dancing competition opens the Highland Games at 9 a. m. on Saturday. Piping competition starts at 11 o'clock, as does the Highland Sailing Regatta on Loch Dornie at nearby Grandfather Golf and Country Club.

The Guests of Honor, Colonel Donald Cameron of Lochiel, Scotland, and Ian Roderick Macneil of Barra, will be presented at 1:30 p. m. as the pipe bands pass in review.

Cameron is the 28th World Chief of Clan Cameron and Macneil is the 46th World Chief of Clan Macneil.

At 2 o'clock, the track and field events begin. One of the first events to reach a conclusion will be the Mountain Marathon in which some 50 runners will be reaching the field to complete a 26-mile jaunt which began some three hours earlier in Boone.

Athletic competitions scheduled for Saturday afternoon include the dashes of 100, 200, 400 and 800 yards, the one and two mile runs, the long jump, high jump and triple jump, the pole vault and the shot put. In addition, dancing, piping and drumming contests continue throughout the afternoon.

The formal Tartan Ball for clan representatives, sponsors, officials and invited guests, will be held Saturday night.

On Sunday, a worship service and the Kinning of the Tartans launches the official festivities at 11 a. m. The Guests of Honor will be introduced at noon, followed by the start of the Highland Shoot archery competition.

Exhibition Highland Dancing is slated for 1 o'clock while a new event -- fencing -- begins a half hour later.

Every public library in North Carolina, in the words of Jane Wilson of the State Library, should have at least one staff member who is "child broke".

Miss Wilson is director of children's services for the State Library in Raleigh which coordinates many programs with libraries across the state. One of her primary concerns is to see that libraries have the materials children need, that the children know about them, and that they feel welcome to use them.

Accomplishing this task often involves taking the library to the children rather than waiting for them to come in. From churchyards to recreation centers, local public libraries are being urged to send staff members out to meet younger children and to introduce them to the pleasure and satisfaction offered by their library.

Several innovative federal programs channeled to the local level through the State Library are specifically designed to make contact with the hanger set. With names like PLACE (Public Library Action for Children's Education), OWE (Operation Weekend), and REACH (Reaching Every Adult and Child Here), these programs attempt in various ways to break down the barriers that traditionally have separated the overwhelming majority of the American public from the resources of their public libraries.

In many cases the tools used in the various programs to reach children are not expensive, and the whole effort is geared more to accomplishing a change in attitude than in the expenditure of funds. One program, for instance, included a workshop for pre-school children on understanding the body senses. The only "equipment" was a bag of popcorn which the children "equipment" in terms of sight, touch, smell, temperature, and taste.

In some instances the financial investment is more substantial. The cost, for instance, of film and sound equipment and specially equipped buses to carry the library to the children can be expensive, but as Jane Wilson says, "nothing is more expensive than a functionally illiterate child."

A major trust of the children's services program is to assume the very young children that someone does care, and secondly to involve their parents who often do not or cannot read themselves. The question children most often ask librarians involved in the new "field service" programs is "How long are you going to stay?"

North Carolina's state-owned historic sites provide a wealth of pleasure and knowledge for adults, children, natives, and visitors.

Located literally from the mountains to the sea, these properties tell stories of development on Carolina soil from before white men arrived, on into the twentieth century.

Among the earliest sites are Town Creek Indian Mound in Montgomery County; the state's first incorporated town at Bath; and the ruins of colonial Brunswick Town, founded in 1726 near the present-day town of Southport.

Colonial life can be better appreciated after visits to such places as Historic Halifax, Tryon Palace at New Bern, Alamance Battleground, Moore County's House in the Horse shoe, and the James Iredell House at Edenton.

The early days of statehood are represented by a memorial to Richard Caswell (the first governor of the state) at Kinston; Somerset Place, a gracious eastern mansion of the early 1800's and the birthplace in Pineville of James K. Polk, eleventh president of the United States.

The "Tragic Years" of the Confederacy can be relived at Fort Fisher, which kept the port of Wilmington open till near the end of the war; at the remains of the Confederate ship "Neuse" at Kinston; at Bentonville Battleground in Johnston County where the last major battle in North Carolina was fought; and at the Bennett Place near Durham where the war ended for this state and most of the South.

Also included among these tangible reminders of our past are the birthplaces of two outstanding governors: Zebulon B. Vance near Asheville, and Charles B. Aycock near Fremont.

For those planning trips across North Carolina this summer, a brochure entitled "Land of Beginnings" serves as a convenient guide to our state-owned historic sites. It contains additional information about each site including highway directions and is available free on request from the Department of Art, Culture and History in Raleigh.

WHAT DID YOU THINK OF SUPREME COURT RULING

E-I-E-I-O Old MacDonald....

....Where Did Your Farm Go?

If Old MacDonald had a farm today, he'd probably be thinking about moving to town.

And on that farm there would be no horse, sheep, or milk cow—unless the MacDonald place was the theoretical average farm.

Down on the new American farm, the National Geographic Society says, fewer farmers on fewer but bigger farms are raising a somewhat different barnful of livestock for the needs of more people than ever.

Many a farm family, long reckoned to be as solid as a silo in making the American way of life, is being plowed under in competition with big business agriculture highly tuned to efficiency, cost accounting, market trends, and scientific management of crops and livestock.

More and more farmers are selling to a bigger neighbor who is buying up and consolidating their spreads into farm factories.

Chinquapin News

Sunday was a very sunny and beautiful day and enjoyed by everyone.

Visitors of Mr. and Mrs. C.C. Cain were Miss Baily, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Scott and children Lovella, Erie, Shirley, and Hubert Junior West. Mrs. Faye Carter accompanied by her nieces enjoyed dinner Sunday evening at Mocksville.

Miss Lovella Scott was home for the holidays; we are very glad to know that Lovella is enjoying school at Winston Salem State University. Lovella is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Scott and granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. C.C. Cain.

Agriculture and the Bureau of the Census tell the story in statistics.

In the last 51 years, the number of farmers, families, and hired hands living on American farms has dropped from 32 million to just under 10 million. Today only 1 out of 21 Americans is on a farm.

At the same time, the 6.5 million farms averaging 147 acres in 1929 have been combined into 2.7 million averaging 389 acres. The Nation's total farm fields and pastures have increased from 956 million acres to 1,118 million acres.

Last year the American farmer still on the job produced enough food and other products for 47 people, about 40 at home and 7 abroad. Ten years ago he supplied the agricultural needs of only about 26.

Out in the barn, some of Old MacDonald's friends may be missing, or at least becoming scarce.

Milk cows are not yet a vanishing species, but the Nation's dairy herd of 12.3 million head is only half as big as it was at the end of World War II.

Sheep flocks total only 18.5 million head today, compared with 19 million 130 years ago. 44.9 million just after the Civil War. Man-made cloth has blanketed much of the wool industry, and many sheep-men have ignored the range wars of the Old West to become cattlemen.

Horses and mules may be found only on big Western ranches. The last time they were counted, in 1959, there

Robert Somers Deplores Outlawing Of Death Penalty

Robert Vance Somers, Republican candidate for State Senate, today issued the following statement on the U. S. Supreme Court decision outlawing the death penalty: "I was shocked and disappointed to learn that the United States Supreme Court has ruled capital punishment illegal. It is my understanding that the Court indicated that State Legislatures may still enact statutes on capital punishment providing that said statutes comply with certain restrictions imposed by the Court. I assure the people of the twenty-first Senatorial District that I shall support legislation providing capital punishment for certain crimes in this State. When law enforcement officers are being killed in the line of duty at the highest rate in history, something has got to be done. In my opinion, an effective and Constitutional law providing capital punishment for convicted killers of policemen is the first step that should be taken. I will support such legislation.

Plastic has come to the hayfield in the form of plastic twine. According to Charles O'Connor, New Holland Division of Sperry Rand baler twine product manager, the new plastic twine is being used to tie bales in California and Arizona where wire had previously been used. O'Connor adds that plastic twine now eliminates the problems caused by wire which was hard to dispose of and created a health hazard to animals.

North American farmers shipped 1.163 million bushels of wheat and wheat products throughout the world during 1970 making this continent the world's largest wheat exporter.

The percentage American families spend of their disposable income on food is expected to drop this year, 1972, from the 1972 rate of 16 percent to around 15.5 percent, according to the U. S. D. A.

Tame hay, Canada's biggest field crop, occupied more acres during 1970 than the combined acreage of rye, flaxseed, potatoes, mustard seed and corn and oats for grain, according to New Holland Division of Sperry Rand.

Democratic Nation Telethon July 8-9

From the time that mass communications eliminated the 'railroad whistle-stop' campaigns of the 1800's and early 1900's, America's small communities - once the back bone of political decision-making - have been isolated from the mainstream of national politics.

Next month, mass communication will unite hometown U.S.A. with the national political decision-making process.

The catalyst is the Democratic National Telethon, an unprecedented fund-raising concept which will provide television viewers 19 hours of star-studded entertainment combined with an opportunity to make contributions to the Democratic National Party. The ABC network show begins at 10 P.M., Saturday, July 8, and concluded at 5 P.M., Sunday July 9. The party's national convention convenes in Miami the following day.

Residents of small communities may telephone their pledges of contributions by calling a telephone number which connects them with one of the 32 regional telethon centers across the nation. In the Carolinas, a 140 phone bank will be manned by volunteers (Over 600) in Charlotte, N.C. at the Carolinas Trade Mart. Regional Chairman for the Carolinas Region, Harvey J. Diamond reports that everything is on "go". He has a working committee carefully handpicked to "get the job done".

Charlotte stockbroker J. Pat Butler is assistant chairman; business woman Mrs. Ann Wood is in charge of the 450 volunteer phone operators; manpower consultant Aubrey Keen will head the 100 volunteer tabulators. Volunteers have been sought and recruited throughout both North and South Carolina. Volunteer workers will accept pledges and mail decals and membership cards to contributors. Those who hold Master Charge or Bank Americard credit cards may charge this contribution against their accounts.

Veteran television producer Bob Banner will be executive producer with Dick Foster as associate executive producer. Ruth Berle will be Director of Talent. Arrangements. The Telethon will originate live and on tape from Los Angeles, Las Vegas, Nashville, and Miami.

Democratic National Chairman Lawrence F. O'Brien has termed the program "one of the most exciting fund raising techniques in politics, presenting America's outstanding talent in a unique way - an event of historic importance in our party's commitment to bring people back into the political life of our democracy."

New federal tax provisions give a 50 percent tax credit against political contributions up to $25 (a $12.50 credit) for a single taxpayer and $50 (a $25.00 credit) for a married couple filing jointly.

Stars and personalities who will appear from Los Angeles, Miami or Nashville include Andy Williams, Johnny Carson, Lorne Green, Hank Williams, Jr., Eddie Adams, Marty Allen, Steve Allen, Ernie Anderson, Lynn Anderson, Paul Anka, Burt Bacharach, Jim and Henny Backus, Max Baer, Jr., Red Buttons, and Pat Buttram.

Others on the show are James Caan, Bernie Casey, Peggy Cass, Tim Conway, Jackie Cooper, Norm Crosby, Jimmy Darrin, John Davidson, Angie Dickerson, Gene Farmer, Gail Fisher, Henry Fonda, John Forsythe, the Goldiggers, Robert Goulet, Rosie Grier, the cast of "Hair", and Rafer Johnson.

Also taking part are Dean Jones, Sally Kellerman, Alan King, Jack Klugman, Harbey Dorman, Abbe Lane, Carol Lynley, Shirley MacLain, O.B. McClintock, Phyllis Newman, Oliver, Johnny Paycheck, Tony Randall, Ratchell, Hele Reddy, Carl Reiner and Joan Rivers.

Large Tree Is Uprooted

Eddie Sidden and Tiffany Smith climb over the tree that was uprooted in the yard of Mr. and Mrs. Grant Smith on 615 Cherry St. in Mocksville, June 29. The tree had been planted for 16 years. Evidently the tree's root system did not extend far enough into the ground to hold it. No other trees in the yard were blown over and the uprooted tree did not do any damage. Mrs. Smith called the town workers when the tree fell, and they came out and cleared the tree off of the street. (Photo by James Barringer)

... about your Social Security

by Vernice Fulcher

My brother teases me a lot and when he told me how he came by a mongrel pup recently I was sure he was just "putting me on!"

It seems that about a week ago an unclaimed mother dog entered the neighborhood with four pups just big enough to wean. She left a puppy at four different homes. The homes were not close to each other, but each home did have at least one other dog. Two days after she left the pups, mother returned to each home, stayed about an hour, was obviously satisfied her children had good homes, left and has not been seen since. This story must be true because the puppy is so ugly not even my brother would have asked for him!

The concern for their young in the animal world has always fascinated me. In this respect I suspect all mothers are pretty much like human and animal. Many working women might be interested to know of the protection they are earning for their children under social security. The children of a working mother have the same protection on her work as they have on their father's in case of the mother's death or her disability. For more details on this subject, write or call us for the free booklet No. 35 entitled YOUR SOCIAL SECURITY.

Our telephone is: 633-6470. Our address is 105 Corriher Avenue, Salisbury, NC 28144.

Q. I will be age 62 soon and I will be filing for my social security benefits. I do not know what proof of age will be acceptable to prove my correct date of birth. What should I do?

A. You should call your local social security office to find out what evidence may be available to establish your correct date of birth. The personnel in the social security office will be glad to assist you and can furnish you addresses of where to write, fee requirements, and information required to obtain the proof.

Q. I inquired about sending a claim for reimbursement on my doctor's bill. The social security office requested me to obtain an "itemized bill". What is an "itemized" bill?

A. An itemized bill shows the date, place, description, and charge for each service you received. This information enables your Medicare office to process your claim more efficiently. Be sure you show your name and health insurance claim number exactly as it's shown on your health insurance card.

AGE

Probably the happiest period in life most frequently is in middle age, when the eager passions of youth are cooled, and the infirmities of age are not yet begun; as we see that the shadows, which are at morning and evening so large, almost entirely disappear at mid-day. T. Arnold.

Farm Tips

By Dr. J. W. Pou
Agricultural Specialist
Wachovia Bank & Trust Co., N.A.

A new black muscadine grape called Noble has been developed at North Carolina State University and is being released to nurserymen for plant increase.

Plants of the new Noble variety should be generally available for planting by 1973.

Noble is described as a high yielding, good quality muscadine grape suited for commercial production and home plantings in North Carolina.

Noble is self-fruitful, winter-hardy, productive, vigorous and retains its fruit well. The black fruit makes "good to excellent" red table wine and excellent unfmented juice and jelly. The fruit of Noble is also good to eat as fresh grapes. It ripens in early mid-season.

Noble out-yielded the Hunt, Albemarle and Tarheel varieties in five-year comparisons at three different sites in the state. At the Sandhills Research Station, Jackson Springs, Noble produced an average of 9.6 tons per acre in a five-year test.

The new variety is believed to hold considerable promise for cracking the door to an opportunity that is untouched by the muscadine industry - the manufacture of red table wine.

Currently, white or bronze muscadine grapes are sold at a premium for making the scuppernong type wine. However, about 75 percent of the table wines sold are red or rose.

Wine made from Noble fruit was rated better than that of all existing black varieties during the past three years. It had good color, aroma and flavor.

Research also is pushing the day forward when the farmers of the Piedmont and Mountain sections of North Carolina may have a new forage crop.

The crop is crownvetch, a native of Eastern Europe. Crownvetch was brought to the United States more than 100 years ago as an ornamental plant. It is now being tested as a possible forage crop by U. S. Department of Agriculture scientists working at North Carolina State University.

Results so far indicate a future for crownvetch if several problems can be overcome. For example, crownvetch grows well in mid-summer when most other forages are in short supply. It is resistant to most insects and diseases, and a recent study shows that crownvetch can be as nutritious as alfalfa. In the particular lot of hay tested, dairy heifers gained faster on crownvetch than on sericea lespedeza or alfalfa.

Dr. J. C. Burns who participated in the feeding study said daily gain of heifers on crownvetch was twice that of heifers on sericea lespedeza and exceeded the daily gain for heifers on alfalfa.

Burns attributed the higher gain to the fact that the heifers on crownvetch ate 16 pounds of hay each day, while the heifers on alfalfa ate 13 pounds and those on sericea ate only 12 pounds.

Animals consumed more crownvetch because the particular hay fed was more nutritious and more digestible than either the lespedeza or alfalfa hays. No problems were encountered in getting the heifers to eat the new forage, as has been reported with some livestock.

Despite its advantages, Dr. Burns said it was too early to encourage farmers to plant crownvetch. Several problems of an agronomic nature have been uncovered which may take several years or more of research.

Stands of crownvetch are hard to establish, and they seem to die out after about three years. Burns and his co-workers are testing grazing patterns and fescue-crownvetch combinations that might overcome these problems.

Deaths And Funerals

BENJAMIN R. WILES

Benjamin Ray Wiles, 63, of Harmony, Rt. 2, died at Davie Hospital at Statesville.

The funeral was held Saturday at Sandy Springs Baptist Church. Burial was in the church cemetery.

Principals Now Being Paid For 12-Months

Working 12 months out of the year is no new thing for most public school principals. What is new, however, is that as of July 1, 1972, approximately 81 percent of North Carolina's principals will be paid for their 12 months of work.

"Unfortunately," says George Kahdy, Deputy Assistant Superintendent for Program Services with the State education agency and former principal himself, "most principals have always had to work year round to do a good job; they just haven't been paid for that work in the past." When the fiscal year begins, 1,515 of the State's public school principals (those having 15 or more state-allotted teachers) will begin their first full year of salaried work.

"Principals' salaries have been determined in the past by a confusing formula based on experience and the number of teachers in their schools, ranging from 10 1/4 months salary for those with the fewest teachers to 11 1/4 months salary for those with the most (usually high schools)," says Robert Mohn, Salary Certification Accountant for the State education agency. "Under the new system, a principal's salary will still be based on experience and number of teachers he supervises, but only 19 percent of the State's principals will remain on a 10 1/4 months salary. It will not only mean a raise in salary for most principals," says Mohn, "but also a much less confusing formula for determining their salaries."

Statistics on the difference between average principals' salaries for 1971-72 and the new 12-months system cannot be determined until the fiscal year begins and local school units send in their salary reports, usually around January. However, as an example Mohn noted that the principal with eight years experience who was supervising 15 teachers last year made a base salary of $1,156 per month as compared to the $1,212 per month he will make under the new 12-months system. At the top of the scale, a principal with eight years experience and supervising 80 or more teachers made a base salary of $1,456 per month in 1971-72 and will make $1,526 under the new calendar. This represents an increase of $56.00 per month for the principal with a small school with at least 15 teachers, and an increase of $70.00 per month for the principal with a large school. Mohn noted that base salaries for principals going on the 12-month system will range from $1,102 per month at the lowest to $1,526 at the highest.

Since principals will be considered full-time state employees, will they receive the same benefits as other state employees? "They will get the same number of holidays and sick leave," says Mohn, "with one exception. Vacation time cannot be accumulated and carried over from one fiscal year to the next." Mohn explained that this is because the State is footing the entire bill for the extra salaries and the allocation of funds must be re-evaluated each year and re-negotiated with the General Assembly every two years.

What will principals do with their "extra" time? "Most won't have a whole lot of extra time," says Kahdy, "but many local units have already scheduled in-service opportunities to help strengthen principals' management skills. Some principals are attending institutes sponsored by the Department of Public Instruction, and a few will be using their educational leave (leave with pay that is available to all full-time State employees) to take job-related courses at local colleges and universities." Several local school units have already pooled their resources to sponsor a week-long workshop for principals at Banner Elk to prepare them for their full-time status.

The State Board of Education recently approved a policy statement suggesting that principals use their time to review and evaluate their school's educational programs, to initiate new ones that they feel are necessary, to involve the community in more school-community activities, and to conduct summer programs appropriate for both the school and the community.

State School Superintendent Craig Phillips is suggesting two new emphases for principals as they become full-time employees. "We hope principals will put more time into evaluating and improving their instructional programs, such as offering a wider variety of choices to students. And we hope each principal will strive to involve the community in what is going on in his or her school."

The Department of Public Instruction is sponsoring a series of ten two-day conferences in ten locations across the state this summer (beginning July 10 at East Bladen High School in Elizabethtown) to emphasize the importance of broadening the role of the public school principal. Superintendent Phillips added, "The principal who has a good instructional program and involves the community in that program usually has both a cooperative student body and a cooperative community with which to work."

New School Budget Is Being Considered

Some "finagling" by the Davie County Board of Education plus an additional allocation of $6,250 from the board of commissioners, would make it possible to get by without making the drastic cuts previously thought necessary.

In other action at the meeting last week, the board considered requests for the reassignment of students from one district to teachers to the State payroll, plus additional allocation of $6,250 from the board of commissioners, would make it possible to get by without making the drastic cuts previously thought necessary.

In other action at the meeting last week, the board considered requests for the reassignment of students from one district to another in the county. Individuals will be notified by mail of the action taken on each request.

The board adopted a fixed pay date for all employees of the Davie County schools except school bus drivers. The date will be the 25th of each month.

The mid-monthly meeting of the board of education, school administrators, and members of the school advisory councils was set for 7:30 p.m., July 16, in the board of education office. In general, the purpose of these monthly meetings is to keep those concerned with the operation of the Davie County schools better informed. The topic for the July meeting is "School Transportation".

County Allocates $657,757 For Davie County School Purposes

A grand total of $657,757.00 has been appropriated by the Board of County Commissioners to cover school expenses for the 1972-73 fiscal year. This includes a local school budget of $288,682.00 plus $70,000.00 approved as matching funds for a federal project and $299,075.00 to cover the principal and interest on school bond money.

The local school operating fund was increased from $282,432.00 to $288,682.00 when the Commissioners, in their meeting Monday approved an additional expenditure of $6,250.00 for a school bus. Under the present State system, it is the responsibility of the county to purchase the original or first bus and then the State pays for all replacements.

The $70,000.00 was approved earlier by the Commissioners to be used as our share of matching funds for a new vocational building at the high school. The $70,000.00 will generate approximately $350,000.00 of Federal money," said County Manager John Barber.

Principal and interest on school bond money totaling $299,075.00 is the largest single expenditure and when added to the other expenditure amounts to a staggering 46.80 percent of the total county budget for 1972-73.

The estimated additional revenue for the 1972-73 fiscal year over the previous year totals $106,007.00. Of that amount the schools will receive $85,676.00 or 89.21 percent of new money available for county services.

Davie Grocer Wounded In Shoot-Out

James Albert Tise, 53, remains in serious condition at Forsyth Memorial Hospital, Winston-Salem after being shot four times Thursday night shortly after closing his place of business.

Although no arrests have been made at this time, Davie County sheriff Joe Smith says they "have made a good deal of progress on the case." He also said the State Bureau of Investigation is assisting the local department in the investigation.

Tise had locked up his Crossroad Grocery Store on Highway 64, east of Mocksville, and according to his wife, he had just sat down on the seat of his nearby parked truck when he was ambushed in the darkness.

"He had just laid his money and pistol on the seat beside him," she said her husband told her "when he was hit in the back of the head and shot at the same time."

"James immediately pitched the money under the seat and began firing at them," she continued. "And he kept shooting until he emptied his automatic."

In the meantime, Tise was shot two more times with a pistol and once with a shotgun, miraculously escaping death.

Mrs. Tise said the incident happened around 11 p. m. or 11:30, only about ten minutes after she had turned off the inside lights, assisting her husband in closing the store. She left for home, expecting him to be only minutes behind her.

Mrs. Tise quoted her husband as saying there were at least three, possibly four, negro ambushers who then fled empty-handed.

Her husband then made his way out of the truck, she told, in hopes of stopping a passing motorist. Four of five cars passed before one finally did stop to help. This was two boys, which she was unable to identify, but said one of them was from Winston-Salem. They rendered first aid and immediately went to a nearby house to call for an ambulance, during which time Sheriff Joe Smith arrived on the scene.

Although they had never had any trouble at the Cross Roads Grocery Store, which they bought a little over a year ago,

"South Pacific" In Salisbury

The successful Broadway show "South Pacific" will be presented at the College Community Centre, Catawba College, Hedrick Little Theatre, in Salisbury July 20-22 and July 27-29 at 8:15 nightly.

It will be directed by Martha Bradner Cline.

The following are excerpts from a review of the show written by Edmund Tomlinson of Mocksville:

"For the first three months of 1949, the news that Rodgers and Hammerstein were about to open a new show on Broadway caught the imagination of the theater-going public. The immense success of "Oklahoma" had demonstrated that these two men offered the theater a new kind of entertainment; a highly appealing evening of musical drama. On April 7, 1949, their new play opened at the Majestic Theater in New York City. When "South Pacific" ended its run 1,925 performances later, it had made theater history.

The story behind "South Pacific" goes back seven years before opening night to January, 1942, when James Albert Michener, a teacher and textbook editor for the Macmillan Company, enlisted in the Navy and was assigned to duty in the South Pacific. With little to do, Michener spent much of his time observing the people who shared his world. From his observations, he gleaned enough material to write a book about these people. The finished product was a series of nineteen loosely joined sketches entitled "Tales of the South Pacific". He mailed his text to his employer, Macmillan, in the summer of 1945. The Macmillan editors liked the work and with a few changes agreed to publish it. In January of 1947, the book was published. Later on the same year it was awarded the Pulitzer Prize for fiction.

Advance copies of the book had been mailed out to various persons and organizations, one of whom was the story department head at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. Through a handing down process the book gradually fell into the hand of Joshua Logan and Leland Hayward, the director and producer, respectively, of the stage production "Mister Roberts." Both men recognized the dramatic potential of the book and entered into an agreement with Michener for the rights to produce a play.

From Logan and Hayward the book was passed on to Richard Rodgers and Oscar Hammerstein 2nd.

The book was a collection of episodes which took place during the American action in the Pacific during World War II. From Michener's nineteen stories they chose the May-December love affair between Nellie Forbush, a Navy nurse, and Emile De Becque, a French planter. And, the unhappy love affair between Joe Cable, a Seabee, and Liat, a native girl, on the island of Bali Hai.

One of the more interesting characters in the book was Tony Frye, yet he appeared in neither of the stories. After several attempts to work him into the story, he was dropped, and DeBecque became the hero.

The next problem was a method to relate the two stories. This was achieved by having DeBecque and Cable go on a dangerous mission together. When the play was finished, the only problem remaining was the musical score. Rodgers decided to write music that reflected the personality of each person.

With the play and score completed, lining up the cast became the next order of business. In 1948 Ezio Pinza announced that he was available for a play or a picture. Rodgers and Hammerstein knew of Pinza's great reputation as an opera singer and signed him for the part of Emile. They then decided to approach Mary Martin, who was then starring in "Annie Get Your Gun", about the role of Nellie. After a little coaxing, she agreed and the main members had been cast.

Full rehearsals began on February 2, 1949. The company went to Boston and New Haven on March 7, for four weeks of trial runs before the Broadway opening a month later. April 7, 1949, the curtain rose on the first New York show. The next morning critics had only the highest praise for "South Pacific".

The Rodgers and Hammerstein version is not a faithful adaptation of Michener stories even though they do retain the same basic story line. In both stories Nellie and Emile meet at a party. Through continual meetings they gradually get to know and love each other."

In the Salisbury production Ensign Nellie Forbush will be portrayed by Pam Carter. Emile De Becque by Everette Smith.

The secondary romantic theme is that of the likeable American Marine, Lt. Joseph Cable (James Cress) and the lovely Tonkinese girl, Liat (Christine Brincefield). Surrounding them are such fascinating characters as Bloody Mary, Liat's shrewd and avaricious mother (Liz Hood); Luther Billis (Jim Lloyd), a knowing and earthy Seabee who plays a wonderfully comic role in the amateur entertainment provided by the temporary residents of the island.

The principal romantic theme may be outlined as follows. Nellie Forbush and DeBecque fall in love, and the varying moods of their affection are represented in such songs as the ebullient "I'm Gonna Wash That Man Right Outa My Hair" (which Nellie sings while taking a shower on stage) and "A Wonderful Guy", and the exquisite "Some Enchanted Evening". Nellie's love for the planter cools on learning that De Becque had married a Polynesian woman on first coming to the island and that he had by her several children, now under his care for their mother has been dead for some time. Seeing that Nellie is avoiding him and realizing the reason, De Becque volunteers to go on a dangerous spy mission with Lt. Cable. The latter is killed on this expedition, but De Becque returns. Nellie, meanwhile has grown deeply fond of De Becque's young native children; now fully appreciates the high quality of the planter. Their romance achieves a happy conclusion.

Did you know that those big plastic bottles you usually throw away when empty make wonderful bird houses? And, all the beautiful red birds that I have seen making their nests might just like a home like this:

Rinse the bottle out carefully and discard the cap. The cap is discarded so that the odor from the bacteria which might collect inside where the birds gather can have an escape hatch.

The top is so narrow that even heavy rains cannot get into the bottle.

The next thing to do is to cut two or three small holes in the bottom of the bottle. This allows for any moisture which might collect in the bottle to drop through.

Take a sharp knife and cut at least two holes on each side of the bottle about the size of a silver dollar. These two holes give the birds cross ventilation.

All that is left to do is to hang the plastic bird house on a branch of a tree. The handle of

by Brenda Summers

Congressman Earl Ruth visited Davie County Thursday, July 6, the second stop in his campaign tour of the eighth congressional district.

Ruth, a Republican, is seeking his third term in the U.S. House of Representatives. In this "initial" campaign visit to the county, Ruth spent Thursday morning in Mocksville, and Thursday afternoon in Cooleemee.

In an interview, Ruth discussed his views on some of the national issues. Ruth says his basic philosophy as a Congressman is "first fiscal responsibility—not spending money we don't have; second, taking power from the federal government and giving it back to the state; third, the government should not do things for people that they can do for themselves; and fourth, the government must maintain a strong defense—which implies we must protect ourselves from enemies outside of our border and fight crime inside out borders."

This philosophy, he said, states how he evaluates and votes on bills.

Ruth said he was sorry to hear the Supreme Court's ruling on capital punishment of two reasons: "We are now in an era when we need more legislation to fight crime, and I would like to see the states have the right to pass their own laws regardless of the severity."

Stating his position about the gubernatorial, senatorial, and presidential races, Ruth said that he is endorsing all the Republican candidates.

In discussing the war, Ruth said "I don't know anyone who is in favor of the war. The differing opinion is on how to terminate it. I feel that the President's Vietnamization program will be a success."

As for the draft, he said the president was working toward a zero draft, but a general order cannot be put on the draft because the war could take a turn for the worse. Then the order—promise—would have to be changed.

Ruth said he had been one of the leaders in Congress on the anti-busing provision. He was the Congressman who made the motion to instruct the House Conferees to include the House version of anti-busing in conference. He was also a member of a six-man committee to help get the bill from the judicial committee which would make a constitutional amendment to prevent busing.

Although Ruth has not sponsored any bills, he has co-sponsored several. He is a member of the Education and Labor Committee and the Veterans Affairs Committee.

The eighth district includes Davie, Yadkin, Rowan, Cabarrus, Stanley, Union, Anson, Montgomery, Moore, Richmond, and Scotland Counties.

BACHELOR

A bachelor's life is a splendid breakfast; a tolerably flat dinner; and a most miserable supper.

Humility is the opening of the doors of our souls to the indwelling presence of God.

Now that the holidays are over and things are falling back in place, we should all count our blessings.

Sunday was a beautiful day and there was a good attendance at Cedar Creek Baptist church. Everyone was happy to have our pastor, the Rev. Hay and Mrs. Hay back with us Sunday. They had been out of town to attend the funeral of Mrs. Hay's aunt. Our sympathy is extended to them.

After a lively Sunday school, the devotionals were conducted by Brothers George Scott and Thomas Eaton. Rev. Hay delivered the sermon using as his text, "Lord if thou wilt, thou can make me clean." It was a great spiritual message.

House guests of Mrs. Lucy Tatum were her grandchildren, Misses Cynthia and Lena Brown of Fork.

Mrs. Lula West was blessed during the fourth of July holidays to have several of her children and grandchildren to enjoy the days. Visiting her were Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo West Jr. and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. John West and children of Winston-Salem, Professor William West and family of Goldsboro, Sgt. and Mrs. Henry West of Texas, Mr. and Mrs. James Rhynehardt and children of Columbus, Ohio, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin West of Newark, N. J., and Mr. and Mrs. Allen Transou and children.

Lonnie Williams, E. J. and Mrs. William Eaton attended the St. John's Day of Free and Excepted Masons of the 11th district, The Corinthian Lodge No. 17 and Rose Demoll Chapter 531 Order of Eastern Stars held at the Petersville Baptist Church Sunday, July 2, 1972.

Guests of Lonnie Williams recently were Will Hall and Mr. Dulin of Winston-Salem.

Miss Martha N. Sitzer has recently moved to Winston-Salem to live.

Sgt. and Mrs. Henry West of Texas and Julius Rhynehardt called recently at the home of Mrs. William Eaton. Other callers were Mr. and Mrs. James Rhynehardt and children of Columbus, Ohio, Rev. and Mrs. L. R. Howell of Marion, N. C., and George Foote of Four Corners.

Mrs. Morgan Campbell and daughter, Sharon of Winston-Salem and Mr. and Mrs. Samuel V. Eaton of Michigan called at the home of their brothers, Alta and E. J. Eaton and sister Cora Bailey's home in Winston-Salem.

Alta Eaton made a trip to South Carolina and visited his sister-in-law and brother, Mr. and Mrs. Guy J. Eaton and daughter. Guy accompanied him home for a few days.

Sgt. Henry West and Mrs. West have returned to their home in Texas.

House guest of Mrs. Nora Eaton for a few days is her aunt, Mrs. Mary Brown and her granddaughter, Ivey of Winston-Salem. They visited her brother, Millard Cain and Mrs. Alva Crawford in Mocksville Saturday.

Darryl and Kenneth Eatons, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Odell Eaton have gone away to camp for a week. We hope they will have a good time.

Mrs. James Horne is on the sick list. She desires your prayers that she will soon be out again.

The pastor and church members were happy to have Avery Foster and Neal Booe to worship with us Sunday.

Sgt. and Mrs. Henry West of San Antonio, Texas, spent two weeks with his grandmother Mrs. Lula West of Route 5, Mocksville. He also enjoyed the visit of his father, Mr. Edwin L. West and wife of Neward, N. J. He also has another grandmother on Route 5, Mrs. Nora Eaton.

Whatever you want to save, and whyever you want to save it, Central Carolina Bank has a plan for you.

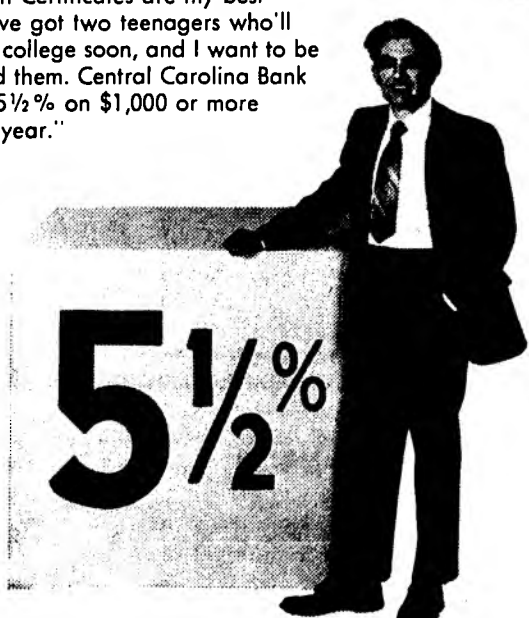

"I keep my savings in a 4 1/2% passbook account at Central Carolina Bank. The money's always ready for emergencies—like that terrible time I chipped a tooth. At the same time, I can earn 4 1/2%, the highest legal interest, and I can deposit or withdraw any amount at any time."

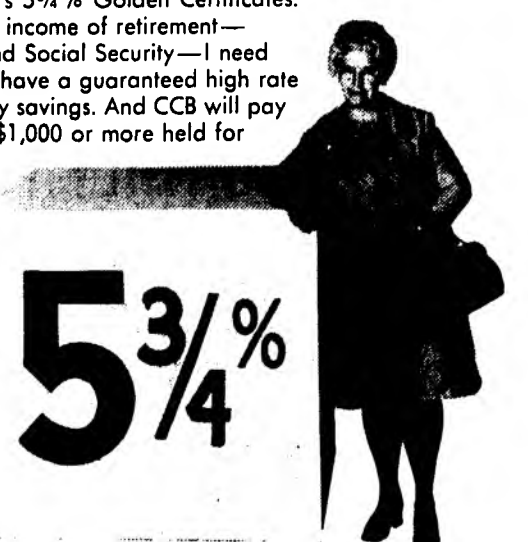

"We keep our money in a 5% Golden Passbook Account at Central Carolina Bank. We're saving for the down payment on a house, and $500 or more earns 5% interest. Our money is available during the first ten days of any calendar quarter, or any time with 90 days' written notice."

"I believe Central Carolina Bank's 5 1/2% Golden Certificates are my best investment. I've got two teenagers who'll be ready for college soon, and I want to be ready to send them. Central Carolina Bank will pay me 5 1/2% on $1,000 or more held for one year."

"My savings are invested in Central Carolina Bank's 5 3/4% Golden Certificates. With the fixed income of retirement—my pension and Social Security—I need to know I can have a guaranteed high rate of return on my savings. And CCB will pay me 5 3/4% on $1,000 or more held for two years."

Jesse Helms dug post-holes for the R-E-A the summer following his graduation from high school. He was paid 25 cents an hour, and when he went off to Wake Forest that Fall, he had a total of sixty dollars and 50 cents saved up . . . That's all. Those were depression days, and there was no money — just opportunity for those who really wanted to make it. Jesse Helms washed dishes for his room and board at Wake Forest, and held down two other jobs at the same time — including one in a newspaper office over in Raleigh. He was three o'clock in the morning getting to bed — but he made it. Jesse Helms has never asked for the EASY way. All his life he has worked to help make things better than he found them. He was described recently as the citizen who has done more for crippled children than any other man in the history of North Carolina. This Jesse Helms is the man you can help send to the United States Senate — with your vote, in November.

Sol Potts Of Advance...

Octogenarian Farmer

He was hoeing the beans in his garden because "last year the grass 'bout took them," Mr. Sol Potts told us when we stopped by to talk with him.

Leaning on the hoe, he talked about his garden, the farm, and his day's activities.

"Pawshee" as the grandchildren call Mr. Sol had been up since before six that morning, and after finishing his breakfast, he had come back to the homeplace to do some work. He would probably stay at the farm until about four and then return to his son Vestal's home where he has lived since 1961.

His wife, Ida, and he moved in with Vestal, because his wife and children felt that it would be safer than staying at the homeplace alone since they were getting older. But Mr. Sol is happy living at Vestal's if he can go back to the old homeplace everyday.

Still active at the age of 85, much of the time he can be seen riding about his 30 acre farm on the Ford tractor he bought in 1959. It is the only tractor he has ever owned. Before buying the tractor, he had always used a mule or horse to plow his garden. As we walked toward his house, he told about one team of mules he had owned. Everytime that he would lay the line down they'd take off.

He was wearing blue overalls and a grey work shirt, and a cap was on his head to protect it from the sun. A small stick was in one of the pockets of his overalls which he said he used for dipping snuff. "But I've tried to quit using it so much cause I found out it was against me."

Mr. Sol has always lived in Davis County, and was born right up the road from here (the farm) he said. "Times were hard back when I came up. People didn't go to the store and get nothing then like they do now. If people came up now like they did then, they would starve to death. A lot of people don't know how to plant a garden now. I use to work twelve hours a day for 50 or 75 cents."

As he sat down on the porch of the old homeplace, he told us that he, his wife, and children had built the house. It had taken a "near good while" to build it because he also had a job and the farm to look after. One part of it he "just never did get finished because so many things just kept coming up."

Although he has always farmed, he has also had other jobs. He has worked at a little of everything he said which included working for the railroad for a year and a half and working for the power house at Idol dam in Forsyth County for 30 years.

And Mr. Sol walked to work. He has never owned a car or possessed a driver's license.

In the past he has done a lot of hunting and fishing. "At one time I could sell fish and make more than I could from a day's work." Since he "could never do much with a fishing pole he always used a seine because it was quicker and he could catch more."

His health has always been good, he said, "but my legs aren't too good now. And I have trouble hearing."

Ida, his wife, died in 1961. Seven of his twelve children, Paul, Frank, Vestal, and Robert Potts, Mrs. Ulla Ledford, Mrs. Altea Cornatzer, and Mrs. Ruby Ledford, still live in the county. Three of the children George Potts, John Potts, and Mrs. Lizzie Frye are living in Winston-Salem. Two of his daughters, Mrs. Modell Hunt and Mrs. Madeline Joyner live in East Bend.

Times and people have changed.

He has 34 grandchildren and 12 great-grandchildren.

As we drove off, Mr. Sol climbed on his tractor. He had to go check on a road that had about washed away from the rains.

Mr. Sol still had plenty of work at the homeplace that he had to take care of before he returned to Vestal's that afternoon.

Cooleemee Fights Increase In Phone Rates

Residents of Cooleemee presented two petitions opposing a telephone rate increase for their community to the North Carolina Utilities Commission, Tuesday.

One of the petitions is signed by 663 residents served by the Western Carolina Telephone Company's Cooleemee exchange.

The other is signed by eight Cooleemee residents who own a total of 3,625 shares of stock in Western Carolina's parent company, Continental Telephone Co.

The Western Carolina

Company has proposed rate increase that would more than double the cost of certain types of telephone service in the area.

The base rate for a private business phone, for example would increase from $7.50 to $19.00; for private residential phone, from $5.75 to $9.85; for a rural four-party line, from $3.75 to $9.25.

The proposed rates are higher than those the utilities commission recently approved for Central Telephone Company which serves Mocksville.

Mocksville residents may call any part of Davie County free whereas Cooleemee residents must pay distance charges if they call any outlying area except Mocksville.

John Barber, a Cooleemee resident who is also Davie County Manager, said that Western Carolina's 950 Cooleemee subscribers realize that some increase in rate is justified because of inflation that has affected everything.

"But, we just feel like what they're asking is completely out of line when you consider the service on the Cooleemee exchange," he said.

The Cooleemee subscribers are asking for a broader area that they can call toll free. They would like to be able to call anywhere in the county as well as to Salisbury and Cleveland, which are just across the river in Rowan County.

Mr. Barber said that the only change in service recently in Cooleemee was the addition of direct dialing.....which was not asked for.

"If this is the only improvement Cooleemee subscribers are going to get, we just can't afford direct dialing," he said.

It was pointed out Tuesday to the utilities commission that approximately 150 people on the exchange are retired and living on fixed incomes and that it would be almost impossible for them to absorb the increase Western Carolina is asking.

Stockholders who are petitioning against the increase hold shares that had a combined value of $75,000 on July 1.

Mr. Barber attended the utilities meeting Tuesday accompanied by John T. Brock, county attorney; Charles E. (Bud) Alexander, a county commissioner and resident of Cooleemee; Granville Spry, president of the Cooleemee Senior Citizens Club; and William Owens, a member of the club.

Hurricane Precautions

Screaming winds and walls of water, the calling cards of hurricanes have killed more than 13,000 Americans since 1900. The property damage caused by these calling cards over the past 72 years runs to the billions of dollars.

In the past few weeks a lady named Agnes left in the wake of her visit many dead and thousands homeless. The Insurance Information Institute urges those who live or plan to vacation along the East and Gulf Coasts this summer or fall to take a few precautionary measures.

No hurricane can strike the U.S. coast without ample warning. Satellites track hurricanes hundreds of miles before they reach the mainland. Ships, aircraft and radar continually chart their movement.

When a hurricane threatens, the National Weather Service - the nation's watchdog against storms - warns residents in the area at least a day in advance.

SAVING LIVES

Drowning causes more than 75 per cent of hurricane deaths. Most lives would be saved if people heeded evacuation warnings and moved out of low lying coastal areas to high ground - beyond the reach of flood waters.

Ruggedly built homes on high ground provide a safe refuge. But mobile homes should be moved or evacuated.

When evacuation warnings are issued, leave early and go to a prearranged shelter. Long before the peak of the storm, flooding, toppled utility poles and downed power lines can prevent escape. Gas up cars in advance because fuel stations may be out of operation.

Hurricane waters drowned more than a quarter million persons in East Pakistan in 1970, mainly because of the lack of shelter and evacuation routes.

PROTECTING PROPERTY

Buildings can be protected against hurricane winds, which can drive a plank like an arrow through a tree trunk, fling pieces of buildings through the air like shrapnel and flip a mobile home or car like a tinkertoy.

The greatest damage to buildings usually occurs to glass, roofs and exterior walls. Tape, boards or shutters can protect glass. Large windows and garage doors should be braced.

Moveable objects such as bicycles, trash cans, boards and outdoor furniture can become dangerous missiles. They should be anchored or stored inside.

Cars should be moved to high ground, and small boats moored securely, moved upstream or taken out of water.

Heavy roof covering and durable siding can withstand severe winds. Mobile homes not anchored to the ground are especially vulnerable.

Hurricane Celia destroyed half of the 9,000 mobile homes in the Corpus Christi area in 1970. Those that were properly secured to the ground with cables sustained minor damage.

WEATHERING A HURRICANE

Perhaps the most important precaution to take during a hurricane, according to the Institute, is to listen to newscasts for advice from authorities. Having a battery-run radio is a necessity in case of power failure.

Persons in a hurricane area should stock emergency supplies - water, food, cooking and lighting equipment and tools.

WATER. Store surplus drinking water (one quart per person per day) in sealed containers in case the supply fails or is contaminated. Drinking water can be sterilized by boiling, water purification tablets available at drug stores or household chlorine bleach.

FOOD. Stock a five-day supply of nonperishable food - soup, canned goods, juice and fruit.

COOKING. Use a stove that runs on canned heat or kerosene in case of power failure.

LIGHTING. Keep flashlight and extra batteries, lantern, candles and matches handy.

TOOLS. Have hammer, nails, screwdriver and saw ready to make emergency repairs during and after the storm.

To prevent wind damage, keep a window open on the side of the building opposite the wind. If a window is blown out - open more. To avoid fire and electrocution, shut off gas, electricity and water where they enter the building.

When the power is off - avoid unnecessary opening of refrigerators and freezers. Use dry ice, if available, to preserve food. If in the midst of a hurricane there is suddenly a calm - beware. This is most likely the eye or center of the storm passing directly over. This lull may last from a few minutes to more than a half hour. Remain inside - the high winds will return.

People have been killed by venturing from the eye to the high wind area surrounding it.

After the hurricane, avoid lowland areas. Even though the winds subside, flooding may continue. Roads undermined by coastal flood waters may collapse under a car's weight. And overhanging power lines kill many people.

Notify police and hospitals of persons injured. Report dangling wires, broken sewer and water mains to utility companies or police.

COMMUNITY RESPONSIBILITY

Communities as well as individuals bear responsibility for safeguarding life and property - particularly through advance plans and legislation regulating land use and establishing hurricane-proof building standards.

As population and industrial development become more concentrated, more people and property become subject to hurricane hazards. Weather officials say that a hurricane could kill 20,000 to 50,000 persons in certain densely populated areas unless communities plan safe evacuation routes, enact and enforce improved building codes and limit population density.

New buildings public and private, should be constructed so they can serve as shelters during an emergency. And land susceptible to flood waters should be left unoccupied.

Stringent tie-down measures should be enacted and enforced for mobile homes. And evacuation routes should be planned in advance.

The hurricane season starts in June and lasts through November. Now is the time to get ready.

Truck Overturns

A truck being operated by R. L. Whitaker of Mocksville, Rt. 1 overturned on its side on the Dulin Road last Friday. State Highway Patrolman R. E. Hahn investigated.

Stacy

Counts His

Grandparents

Little Stacy Spry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Spry of Midway Street, Cooleemee is well-blessed with grandparents - ten of them to be exact. And, with the exception of his paternal grandparents who live only eight miles away, all live within walking distance of him. Grandparents have a reputation for spoiling their grandchildren and if there is any truth in this, Stacy should be good and spoiled. He was a little short-changed with only two aunts and not any uncles, but the grandparents make up for this. They were all together for the first time on Sunday to help celebrate Stacy's birthday. He was three years old on July 2. While sitting on daddy's knee, Stacy names over each grandparent. They are: (L-R) Mr. and Mrs. M. O. Spry, paternal grandparents; Mr. and Mrs. Cicero Ridenhour, paternal great-grandparents; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Gales, maternal great-grandparents; Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Miller, maternal grandparents; Mr. and Mrs. Grady Spry, paternal great-grandparents, and of course, his mommie. Cooleemee Senior Citizens County Manager John Barber was guest speaker at the Cooleemee Senior Citizens regular meeting on Monday at the fellowship hall of the First Baptist Church.

There were 69 members and 10 visitors in attendance.

Following the devotions, led by Mr. J.H. Jarvis, several members participated in a program under the direction of Mrs. Margaret Seders.

"The Creakers Club of the Florida Everglades", which was composed of five club members and a choral group of six members, known as the "Dead Sea Islanders" entertained the group. Mrs. Seders also contributed to the entertainment with the reading of the fable of "The Little Red Hen."

The meeting was adjourned with the singing of the club's theme song. Refreshments of sandwiches, cookies, juice and coffee were served.

The next scheduled meeting will be held on July 24, with the Hat Band from the Cone Mill Club in Salisbury as guests.

Cooleemee Homemakers

The Cooleemee Home Makers Club will hold their regular meeting Friday, July 21, with Mrs. Mabel Head at her home on Watt Street at 7:30 p.m.

CCB Annual Report Earns Award

Central Carolina Bank's 1971 annual report has received the Merit Award of "Financial World," an investment and business weekly published in New York by Gunther Publishing Company.

CCB president Paul Wright, Jr. last week learned that the bank's annual report was selected on the basis of content, design and typography from five thousand reports which were reviewed in the Thirty-second Annual Report Survey conducted during 1972 by "Financial World".

The award, according to its donors, is given for "diligent effort in providing shareholders with pertinent financial information for investment decision-making, and in a manner more easily read and understood."

The report for which the award was given was a 22-page booklet, liberally illustrated with photos, charts, and tables. The covers of the report were facsimiles of the face and back of a CCB stock certificate, and were protected by an outer cover of transparent parchment.

Four Charged With Damage

Four Cooleemee boys have been charged with throwing a cement block through the window of the home of Edith Ijames of Cooleemee on July 3rd. Damage was estimated at $25.

Edith Ijames signed the warrants charging Levi Pruitt, Lonell Pruitt, James Nelson Neeley and Robert White with damage to personal property.

Bond for the boys was set at $100.

Fire Damages Cozart Home

An estimated $2500 damage was done to the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Charley Cozart on Mumford Drive in a fire occurring at 1:10 a. m., Sunday.

The Mocksville Volunteer Fire Department answered the call and extinguished the blaze.

Mocksville Fire Chief Andrew Lagle said the fire apparently was caused by a short in a floor lamp setting the drapes on fire. There was considerable smoke and water damage.

... about your Social Security

by Vernice Fulcher

This is not a weather report but I believe there is a need to explain the meaning of the word "Freeze" with respect to social security. In the past month I have been asked to explain "freeze" to three different civic groups and at least a half-dozen individuals.

First of all, it isn't a one word subject, it is two - "disability freeze". At one time disability monthly benefits could be paid only if you were a certain age. A young person, no matter how disabled, could not get a check but could file for a disability freeze. This only helped him as far as figuring his social security benefits later in life. Fortunately, the law was changed and today instead of filing for a "freeze" a young person who is disabled files for a monthly check. In fact we have one little girl only 3 years old receiving a disability check from her very own work. At only a few months old she became a model. Since a person under 24 needs to have worked only 1 1/2 years under social security, when she became disabled at 3 years old she qualified for a monthly check.

If you have any questions about any part of the social security program, get in touch with a representative at 105 Corriher Avenue, Salisbury, NC. Our telephone number is 633-6470.

Girls Softball Teams Invite Spectators

Early in May of this year four local softball teams were organized with girls ranging in ages—10-12 years.

The following teams of more than 40 girls were organized and are now active:

The Braves, coached by Mrs. J. E. Latta; assistant coach, Mrs. Lester Diggins.

The Cardinals, coached by Mrs. Donna Card; assistant coach, Mrs. Nancy Beaver.

The Giants, coached by Mrs. Ernestine Grant; assistant coach, Mrs. Nellie Barker.

The Pirates, coached by Mrs. Beatrice Smoot; assistant coaches, Mrs. Shirley Lanning and Mrs. Martha Scott.

Each team has played at least four games in competition with one another. Gary Foster has served as umpire. The Giants are leading in wins, followed by the Cardinals, Pirates and Braves.

Mrs. Frank Thomas, organizer, pointed out that the coaches and assistants are working diligently, voluntarily and dedicatedly with the girls and are realizing some rewarding results.

"The girls are learning to be part of a team and experiencing some wholesome recreation, while developing and discovering some potential talents. They are also realizing a good relationship with others as they have fun working for their rewards, learning to share and overcome a loss with friends, to try to win again...as well as sharing a victory with friends who lost," said Mrs. Thomas.

However, Mrs. Thomas pointed out that something is missing at the games—the encouragement that comes from parents and friends.

"We invite you to be our spectators at Rich Park where our games are played and to give encouragement to these girls," said Mrs. Thomas.

Blue Angels To Perform In Winston-Salem

The 1972 Winston-Salem Jaycee Air Fair, July 29 at Smith Reynolds Airport, will feature static displays of Army tactical air power presently in use in Viet Nam. In addition to other displays, the public will be allowed to closely inspect and enter three of the United States Army's tactical support aircraft.

The largest of the aircraft, U.S. Army "Chinook" cargo helicopter carries four crewmen, thirty-three combat troops or up to 16,000 pounds of cargo. The twin-rotor helicopter is currently being used as a personnel and cargo transport in the field in Southeast Asia and has a top speed of 174 knots per hour.

Also on display will be a U.S. Army "Huey" or "Iroquois". This single-rotor utility helicopter has a crew of four and carries 13 combat troops or up to 4,000 pounds of cargo. It also is used as a personnel and cargo transport, with a top speed of 120 knots.

The smallest of the Army helicopters on display will be the U.S. Army "Kiowa" light observation helicopter with a one-man crew, able to carry a total of five personnel. The "Kiowa" is used for reconnaissance and observation in the field and has a top speed of 120 knots.

Helicopters, aircraft, weapons and other military equipment will be on display during the Air Fair on Saturday, July 29, at Smith Reynolds Airport in Winston-Salem, North Carolina.

Mizell Plays Twin Cedars

Fifth District Congressman Wilmer "Vinegar Bend" Mizell enjoyed two rounds of golf last week at the Twin Cedars course.

On July 8th, Rep. Mizell played an 18-hole round in which he birdied the no. 12 par 4 hole. He returned on Saturday, and played 27 holes. In the first 18, he had four pars including the tough par 3 eighteenth. In the second 9 holes, he parred the first hole.

Rep. Mizell told Bob Benson that he really enjoyed his round of golf at Twin Cedars and remarked that this was the first time he had an opportunity to play in the past six months.

Eight-Race Program At Bowman Gray

Gerald Compton of Martinsville, Va., the bespectacled speedster who has become the hottest thing in Bowman Gray Stadium stock car racing, will be trying for his fourth straight victory Saturday night in an eight-race program which will be a key factor in track championship battles.

Three divisions of NASCAR drivers and a field of women contestants will race in the program, which is scheduled to get under way at 8:45 p.m. on the municipal stadium's quarter-mile asphalt track.

The 40-lap main event for the Modified Division and the 20-lap feature for the Hobby Division will be "double point" races, which are scheduled twice annually at NASCAR-sanctioned tracks. Drivers will be awarded double the usual number of points in the standings that determine track, state and national title.

The Claiming (novice) Division also will be in action, for the first time in more than a month, and the women drivers - in Claiming Division cars - will vie in a "Powder Puff Derby" race.

Compton, who won his third straight stadium start before a Ladies' Night crowd of 12,000 last week (he missed the June 24 Rose City 200 race), leads the track standings in the featured Modified Division by a 14-point margin over defending champion Max Berrier of Winston-Salem.

That is not a comfortable margin. Saturday night's race offers 100 points to the winner, with a drop of four points per position - which means that Berrier could take the lead in the standings by finishing only 4 positions ahead of Compton.

Alfred Hill of Jonesville is on top of the standings in the Hobby Division, with a 48-point lead over Don Smith of Walkertown. Bobby Colvard of Elkin, who ranks sixth, claimed his second straight victory in last week's Hobby feature - matching Hill's victory total this season. Ron Towery of Lexington, fourth in the standings, has won three Hobby features.

Yadkinville drivers Mitchell Warden and Monroe York are fighting for the lead in the Claiming Division standings, in the closest title battle. Each has won twice, and Warden is on top of the rankings by just six points over York.

Saturday night's program will include two 10-lap heats and a 40-lap main event for Modified cars, two 10-lap heats and a 20-lap feature for the Hobby Division, a 15-lap Claiming race, and a 10-lap "Powder Puff Derby".

John Towell Is Now A "Shellback"

Navy Petty Officer Second Class John R. Towell, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Towell of Route 1, Mocksville, N.C., was initiated into the Solemn Mysteries of the Ancient Order of the Deep, designating him a "shellback," during traditional ceremonies at the aircraft carrier USS America.

His ship, homeported at Norfolk, Va., crossed the Equator sailing south in the Atlantic Ocean enroute to Southeast Asia.

Pony League

Behind the no-hit pitching of Larry Carter and the hitting of Larry Jones and Craig Seaford, Branch Bank defeated Sheffield 12 to 0 in a pony league baseball game. Jones drove in 5 runs, while Seaford hit a bases-loaded home run. Maxie Melton added a single and double in two at-bats.

Branch Bank and North Davie ended the season tied for first place. A play-off this week will determine the regular season champion.

Man Charged With Exposure

A Mocksville man was arrested Saturday night in Salisbury and charged by police of that city with indecent exposure.

BRANDS OR GENERICS

Several years ago, the Federal Drug Administration removed a widely-used heart medicine from drug store shelves because the strength of the product varied so greatly from brand to brand that the drug could no longer be relied upon as a safe and effective remedy.

What went wrong? Doctors had used the medicine for years, but in time so many producers of the product existed that few were proficient enough to meet the quality control standards required of the drug.

This incident illustrates the important difference that may exist among drug brands of the same product. Just as you may have discovered certain brands of products in the supermarket are superior to others, the perience has proven that certain drugs can be relied upon for their quality. Thus, you can rest assured that he is prescribing, to his knowledge, the best medicine available. You can also rest assured that we stock the very same high quality medicines that your doctor prescribes.

Blue Angels To Discuss Navy With Students

The Navy's Blue Angels, scheduled to perform July 29 in the Jaycees Air Fair at Smith Reynolds Airport, will spend part of their time in Winston-Salem talking to high school students who are interested in attending the Naval Academy or pursuing a career in Naval Aviation. The highly skilled pilots, although not normally cast as career counselors, will hold personal interviews with prospective candidates in connection with the Naval Academy's Information Program.

Members of the world famous flight demonstration team, all veteran Navy officers, became pilots through one of two general routes: (1) By completing four years of training at the Naval Academy and then entering flight school at Pensacola, Florida, or (2) By earning a degree from an accredited civilian college or university before entering flight training.

Lieutenant Commander James M. Vogel, N. C. State Coordinator for the Academy's Information Program, will arrange a time and place for the interviews. Further information can be obtained by writing Lieutenant Commander Vogel at 2500 Cherokee Lane, Winston-Salem, 27103, or by calling (919) 723-2365.

HERE'S A REAL STORY OF SUCCESS

Did you know that the 17th President of the United States did not learn to read and write until he married at the age of 18? That's correct. Andrew Johnson was taught how to read and write by his wife, the former Eliza Cardie. From there, he went on to become President of the United States in 1865.

Johnson was not able to receive a formal education because his father had died when Johnson was only four years old. Johnson was trained as a tailor and that was his trade at the time he went into politics. He was elected to several posts in Tennessee and finally to the governorship. He also served in the U.S. Congress and in the Senate. He was Vice-President when he succeeded to the Presidency after the assassination of Abraham Lincoln.

A true-life success story is always a thriller. Let us be a part of your success story. Our customers are always important to us and we try our utmost to see that you receive only the best service.

"THE MARRIAGE OF A YOUNG STOCKBROKER"

RICHARD BENJAMIN JOANNE SHIMKUS ELIZABETH ASHLEY

Tar Heel Spotlight

Both the diversity and the trends in what North Carolinians think about are reflected by the IN-WATS reference calls received by the State Library in Raleigh.

IN-Wats is short for Inward Wide Area Telephone Service, a key tool in the State Library's program to make its resources (and those of other major libraries in the state) available to every citizen.

The system ties together the 299 Public libraries across the state with a toll-free communication system that makes it possible for patrons of the smallest libraries in the state to have rapid access to the materials found in the largest—which may be far distant from their homes.

The IN-WATS reference program was initiated in 1968 and has grown steadily in the number of people using it and in the service it offers. Participating public and school libraries are provided with a special unlisted number for the State Library. Requests for materials on any subject not available in the local library can then be relayed directly to a source that can offer them. In about eighty percent of the cases, the State Library can fill the need from its own resources, and the remaining twenty percent are relayed immediately to libraries of the major universities.

State Librarian Philip Ogilvie initiated the IN-WATS reference service in 1968 as the first of its kind in the nation. Now adopted by several other states, the system is widely used by private citizens wanting information on everything from antiques to zithers.

IN-WATS Librarian Virginia Gibson, who receives most of the calls during regular library hours (an automatic answering device takes over after the library is closed) indicates that the service is also often used by local government officials, legislators, doctors, lawyers, and other seeking specialized or technical information.

In contrast with the wide variety of one-of-a-kind requests for information that come in are the "floods" of similar requests often generated by events in the news. President Nixon's recent trips abroad, especially the visit to China, for example, created a new interest in the country's history and culture that kept the IN-Wats line busy for days.

The basic value of the IN-WATS reference service is that it increases the resources of every library in the state, both in terms of personnel and collections. Now that the State Library has joined the former Department of Archives and History, the State Art Museum, and other related agencies in the new Department of Art, Culture and History (as a result of state government reorganization) plans are being made for the establishment of an office of public affairs and an expanded information service to answer any question by any citizen at any time.

Did You Know?

The "Rasp" the "Hayseeder," and the "Blasting Powder," may not be household words today, but they were among the many early newspapers that served North Carolina.

These and many other papers—most admittedly with more commonplace names—are preserved on microfilm at the State Archives in Raleigh and are available for use by any citizen.

The project to preserve all the early newspapers of the state was begun in 1959, and today virtually all of those published prior to 1901 (of which copies could be found) have been copied.

The "Nor" Carolina Gazette" published at New Bern is the oldest paper in the collection with one copy dating back to November 15, 1771. Others dated prior to 1800 were published at Edenton, Fayetteville, Hillsborough, Salisbury and Wilmington.

The number of papers that have existed in North Carolina almost defies believability. Charlotte and Greensboro, for instance, have both had about thirty each; Wilmington has had more than forty; and Salisbury has had more than fifty. Our capital city of Raleigh has had almost 150 separate newspaper enterprises. Needless to say, many of the papers that proliferated during the 1800s were very short-lived.

Over one thousand separate newspaper titles have been photographed in this effort to preserve an important source of information about our state's history, and all are available on microfilm for public use. Copies can be viewed at several major libraries around the state in addition to the State Archives in Raleigh. A 106-page booklet entitled "North Carolina Newspapers on Microfilm" lists all the papers, and it is available in practically any North Carolina library.

Around The Old Well

Southerners really are different, and are likely to stay that way.

Southerners, of course, have known this all along. But now UNC sociologist John Reed—who is also Southern—has written a book that proves it, once and for all.

While some have predicted that "Southern" may be soon spelled with a lower-case, to denote location and connote nothing, Reed says we may expect to have the capital-S "South" for quite a while. This is the thesis of his new book, "The Enduring South."

"For a long time to come, we can expect that the South will be something more than simply the lower right-hand part of the country," says Reed, a Tennessean. "Although the region is, in some respects, rejoining the Union at last, the accommodation is a tentative one. Southerners continue to seem themselves as others see them, as different."

The three basic areas which pinpoint North-South differences are loyalty to state and community, attitudes toward the private use of force and violence, and religious (or quasi-religious) beliefs and practices. Reed concentrates on analyzing these three critical factors, drawing on 30 years of public opinion polls and comparing them with the mainstream of American attitudes and values.

And he observes that it was perhaps naive to expect the recent social and economic changes that have taken place in the South to obliterate regional differences.

"The South has been undergoing social and economic change, off and on, for most of its history," he says. "The idea that 'modernization' by its nature must produce uniformity seems to rest on an exaggerated view of what the regional differences are ... the Southern culture seems comfortable within the range of those consistent with urban industrial society."

As for "Mass culture," Reed says that "one of the differences between South and North seems to be that the former is, by institutional arrangement, more resistant to the culture of mass society."

Finally, Reed predicts that "if their culture serves Southerners, for better or worse, in dealing with a hostile 'outside,' it will probably continue to serve as long as the outside world seems to be hostile."

The North, traditionally, has been the "outside" Reed notes, and the occasion for sectional animosity has usually been the South's racial institutions, although other issues have served at times. "If South's race relations improve or the North's deteriorate, while Southerners may yet realize their ancient wish to be let alone."

Still, Reed echoes C. Van Woodward's doubt that the nation will ever lose its need for a scapegoat, or ever find another as satisfactory as the South. Also, he adds, it seems unlikely that a nation as large and varied as the United States "will be long without conflicting sectional interest."

"The Enduring South," published this month by D. C. Heath and Company of Lexington, Mass., is Reed says, addressed to three distinct sorts of readers: sociologists, students of the South, and "that elusive group, general readers."

Each group should certainly find much of interest in its 133 pages. For example a few chapter titles: Yes, but Not in the South; Southerners, Who, What and Where: To Live—and Die—in Dixie (on Southern violence); and The Bible Belt (on Southern religion).

The book is also extremely readable. Says Edwin Yoker Jr. of the Greensboro Daily News in the Forward: "Without at all compromising the social scientists' exacting standards of inquiry, Mr. Reed renders his findings readable and even entertaining. I pause to note this since he professes a discipline not universally celebrated for the vigor, clarity or grace of its prose; and all three qualities mark his own."

Reed's book includes many interesting tables which measure such things as typical traits Southern college students attribute to Southerners, gun ownership by region, corporal punishment in childhood and schools, and regional differences among Protestants in selected manners and morals. The findings of one poll: College students said Southerners were conservative, tradition loving, courteous, loyal to family ties, and conventional, while the traits most often applied to Northerners were industrious, sophisticated, aggressive, progressive and conceited.

Reed is assistant professor of sociology at UNC

Bits Of Life

The Plus Sign

Grandpa and I had taken a seat about half way down the church. A woman and a small child sat down just in front of us. The little girl, rather impatient, was saying something to the woman. We overheard.

"Mama, Mama" she said as she begged for an attentive ear.

The mother finally gave over. She whispered, "What is it, dear?"

"Mama, why is that big plus sign up there in the front?"

"That is a cross, honey. That represents Jesus Christ. Now hush dear, you promised to be quiet if I brought you to daddy's church. They always have the cross in the front of daddy's church."

The child's curiosity was subdued, but not satisfied.

After a few moments of silence, she tugged again at her mother's sleeve and said, "Mama, is that big plus sign what makes life add up?"

"Yes, dear, that represents Jesus Christ. He makes life add up anywhere. He is life's plus sign."

Grandpa and I took a casual glance at each other and settled in our seats as the opening hymn began.

We already had our sermon for the day.

Richard Clark Addresses Independence Day Rally

Richard Clark, Democratic candidate for Congress from the 8th District, assured an Independence Day rally in Aberdeen that "We can and will preserve our cherished liberties - if the government and its leaders speak the truth to the American people and in turn act on the truths voiced to them by the people."

Speaking at the Fourth of July celebration for Moore County citizens, Clark said, "If the American example to the Fourth of July celebration for Moore County citizens, Clark said, "If the American example to the world is to be one of expanded freedom for the individual, prosperity with justice for all, and peace among contending nations of the world, we must regain an enthusiasm for coming to grips with the really tough issues."

"We have," Clark said, "a great reservoir of human qualities to summon to the task - we can be generous neighbors, hard workers, tolerant of differing opinions, able to compromise." However, if these human resources are to be unleashed to work for the public interest, two things are needed, according to Clark.

"First, government must again be open, to truly hear what is on people's minds. Second, leaders must again place confidence in the will of the people. We have shown we will act and choose wisely if we are honestly given all the facts."

Letters To Editor

Dear Mr. Tomlinson:

The deep concern of Mocksville and Davie County residents and churches for those in the Corning-Painted Post (New York) area who suffered such severe losses in the flooding of Tropical Storm Agnes two weeks ago is indeed to be praised.

We are most grateful for the response shown since the appeal was made in the Enterprise-Record (June 28 issue) and over the local radio station WDSL.

Some of us who have been "transplanted" to Davie County in recent years through employment with the Ingersoll Rand Company formed a work committee to collect articles of clothing, bedding, baby foods and furniture, canned goods, cleaning aids and disinfectants, personal toiletries and small appliances.

Rev. Charles Bullock, minister at First Baptist Church, was kind enough to let us use the Fellowship Hall for a collection and storage point. The most generous response of our friends and neighbors kept a group of ladies busy sorting and packing at the church for ten days. Several church groups brought in clothing and canned goods, as well as individual contributions, and those by Belk's, S. W. Brown Co., Daniel's Furniture, Lowe's Food Store, and Wilkins Drug Store.

Miss Anita Boger

Scott, but living is.

Mr. Scott, I think you should reconsider some of your thoughts. You seem to be worrying about community's road. But I assure you there are others. So I don't think legal actions would help very much. The main highways should be kept in the better conditions. Mr. Scott I don't know your race and I don't care but race doesn't determine whether a road is paved or not. There's not one black person living on my road. So really you are in no position to complain. There are others in the same boat. I strongly appreciate the workers on the Road Commission, who works all during the nights when snow is at its peaks, the air is cold and their families are waiting impatiently, and who works when the sun is pounding hot. It beats right on their rugged bodies. They have a longing to retire in a building with a brisk cool drink, but they still strive on. Who does this for us and our roads - no one except our Davie County Road Commission.

On July 7th a total of 124 large cartons plus 18 pieces of furniture were picked up by transport truck furnished by Branch Trucking Co. and sent on their way - destination: Fire Station, Painted Post, New York. These items will be distributed by a group from the I-R Service Association to any residents of the area whose homes and possessions were damaged or lost.

It would please us to be able to say a personal thank you to each individual who supported our cause so wholeheartedly, in addition to an expression of appreciation from our less fortunate friends and relatives who will benefit from your generosity.

CORNING-PAINTED POST FLOOD RELIEF COMMITTEE

Dear Editor:

I have a few comments on a letter wrote by Eugene Scott. In his letter he asked, "Are we really progressing?" I believe we surely are. Just because things aren't moving up fast around him, he is not satisfied.

It's a big job keeping the roads half way decent looking. Maybe if those who work for the Road Commission weren't so busy picking up litter, digging and cleaning ditches, and mowing grass, more roads could be paved.

Mr. Scott spoke of his community's black population having an influence on the paving on Cedar Creek Road. That's ridiculous! I'm fifteen years old. I have lived on this dirt road all my life and it's never been paved. But there are some advantages to living on a dirt road. One for instance is people drive slower so their cars don't get dirty. The second advantage is there aren't as many people traveling these days on dirt roads, so the children are safer.

I think Mr. Scott displayed his attitude in a "snobby" way. Please pardon the expression, but he did. I think he should let time takes its course. Look how long I have waited and I am still waiting, but I don't mind it. For progress isn't everything, Mr.

Employment Info To Be Collected

Information on employment and unemployment will be collected in this area by the Bureau of the Census, U. S. Department of Commerce, during the week of July 17-21, Joseph R. Norwood, Director of the Bureau's Data Collection Center in Charlotte, announced Monday.

The survey is taken monthly by the Bureau for the U. S. Department of Labor. Statistics on conditions in the labor force are prime indicators of economic conditions of the country.

For example, the May survey showed that there were 4.3 million unemployed, or 5.9 percent of the labor force. After seasonal adjustment, this was the same level as in April and March. Employment, however, increased slightly over the previous month, a continuation of a year-long upward trend. Since May 1971, the number of jobholders rose by 2.3 million, totaling 81.4 million in May of this year.

All information about individuals and families provided the Bureau is held confidential by law and can be published only as statistical totals. Interviewers who will visit households in this area include: Mrs. June C. Bullabough, Route 1, Box 27-A, Mocksville, N. C. 27028.

For Miss Barber

Miss Jann Barber, bride-elect of Jim Pickering, was entertained Saturday with a bridal luncheon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Essic of Farmington. Hostesses were Anne Essic, Karen Frye and Kathy Shore.

Upon arrival, the honoree was presented with a corsage of white carnations. A pink tablecloth with a white lace overlay covered the table complimented by a pastel centerpiece of daisies, mums and carnations. Arrangements of wildflowers decorated the home.

The menu consisted of ham, green pea casserole, congealed salad, melon balls, rosy apples, stuffed celery, pickles, iced tea and lime sherbet.

After the meal, Miss Barber was presented with a mixer. Among the fourteen present was Mrs. Vance McGugan, mother of the bride.

Richard Clark Listening To Mood Of Average Citizen

Richard Clark, Democratic nominee for Congress from the Eighth District, stayed away from the politicians during the past week's national convention and went into the rural areas and small towns of his district to "listen to the mood of the average citizen."

As a result, Clark says he was "very surprised at the depth of the distrust of what's going on in Washington, and that extends to the White House, especially among Governor Wallace's supporters. They are looking for someone they can trust, who will shoot straight with them and follow through on what they promise."

Yet having watched the Democratic convention, Clark said, they still don't believe anybody has heard their feelings and responded. While the convention was "certainly the most open in our history," he felt the party was mistaken not to incorporate some of Governor Wallace's sound ideas in the platform.

Commenting on the McGovern-Eagleton ticket, Clark said that it would be defeated in North Carolina if the election were held today. "Even though our people distrust the Nixon Administration, they're very unsure that McGovern provides the answers." As particular trouble spots Clark cited "too-liberal thinking on welfare with not enough emphasis on work, the busing plank, and worry about cutting defense spending too much. We could never accept being a second-rate power."

However, Clark would not say that the national ticket could not turn it around by November, "if only they really listen and speak to the concerns of our people."

As to the effect on his own race to unseat a Republican incumbent, Clark welcomed his opponent to tie-in with the Nixon Administration because "disillusionment with it is so strong. I have a record of independence and all I have to do is establish that. I won't be beholden to any special group, and I would take on a McGovern proposal as quickly as a Nixon one if not in the interests of the Eighth District. That is why I'm working my district so extensively, to hear clearly what's on peoples' minds."

Love may exist without jealousy, although this is rare; but jealousy may exist without love, and this is common; for jealousy can feed on that which is bitter, no less than on that which is sweet, and is sustained by pride as often as by affection.

Inmate Uses Time For Craft

Woodrow Wilson has nothing but time on his hands for a while and so he keeps himself busy making picture frames. The only tools he uses are his hands and empty cigarette packages. By tearing the cigarette packages in strips, covering them with the cellophane, and folding them a certain way, he can soon produce a most colorful frame. The only charge is a full package of cigarettes.

Wilson is in the Davie County Jail, where he is awaiting trial in Superior Court next month for assault with a deadly weapon.

In the meantime, everyone around the jail is saving their empty cigarette packages and keeping him busy.

Carolínians Car Destination Is Florida

When North Carolínians travel by car, their number one destination is Florida, according to an annual survey by the North Carolina State Motor Club.

The states were ranked according to the number of routing requests the motor club received from its members. The Sunshine State was a runaway winner for the second straight year with Georgia second.

Tar Heel travelers asked for information on their own state, too, and North Carolina ranked third in the poll. Virginia was fourth. The top four states ranked exactly the same as a year ago.

For 1971-72, other destinations in the top ten were New York, Texas, California, Tennessee, Canada, and Pennsylvania. This compared with the 1970-71 finish (in places five through ten) of Texas, Tennessee, California, New York, Pennsylvania and Louisiana.

As a service to members, the motor club furnishes marked maps showing the most direct and the most scenic routes from North Carolina to requested destinations. Club President Thomas B. Watkins said that the opening of Disney World near Orlando, Florida, contributed heavily to the first-place win for Florida.

Watkins said there was an eight per cent increase in the number of requests this year over last year.

Locals Attend Furniture Expo

J.T. Smith, Jr. of Mocksville Furniture and J.T. Smith and Mrs. J.T. Smith, Jr. of Smith Furniture Co. registered at the Southern Furniture Exposition Building for the High Point summer furniture market, July 10-13, 1972.

Furniture dealers from throughout the Southeast attend this regional market where they can view the latest fashions for the home and plan for the logistics of moving home furnishings from the manufacturer to the consumer.

The country's leading interior designers have created beautifully decorated room settings for the furniture showrooms here in the 30-acre Southern Furniture Exposition Building, focal point of these summer and winter regional events and the internationally famous Southern furniture markets in April and October.

Retailers use the decorating ideas seen in the showrooms for room displays in their stores, giving customers the current techniques of interior design.

GRIEF

Bion, seeing a person who was tearing the hair off his head for sorrow, said, "Does this man think that baldness is a remedy for grief?"

HAPPINESS

Former Miss N. C. Named Carowinds' Top Ambassador

Patsy Gail Wood, Miss North Carolina of 1972, has been selected as chief ambassador for Carowinds, the family entertainment complex opening next spring of Charlotte.

Carowinds President E. Pat Hall made the announcement, describing Patsy as a "native Carolinian with all the qualities of beauty, charm and graciousness that reflect what Carowinds intends to be."

In her new role, Patsy will spend a busy summer appearing on radio and television talk shows in both Carolinas and traveling to theme parks throughout the United States.

Her schedule begins this week with trips to Six Flags Over Georgia and Opryland at Nashville, Tenn.

As Carowinds No. 1 ambassador, she will also head the Carowinds Ambassadors Club. Members of the club will receive a special spring preview of the park, a monthly newsletter and a pre-opening souvenir of Carowinds.

The 73-acre park, now under construction on the North Carolina-South Carolina line near Charlotte, will offer more than 100 rides, shows and other attractions in settings from the pages of Carolina history.

A native of Benson, N.C., Patsy has just completed a year as the state's pageant queen. The experience served as ideal training for her new duties with Carowinds.

"The enthusiasm of the people at Carowinds carried me away," Patsy said. "I'm amazed at the way Carowinds is being developed. It's so exciting being a part of something like this while it's happening."

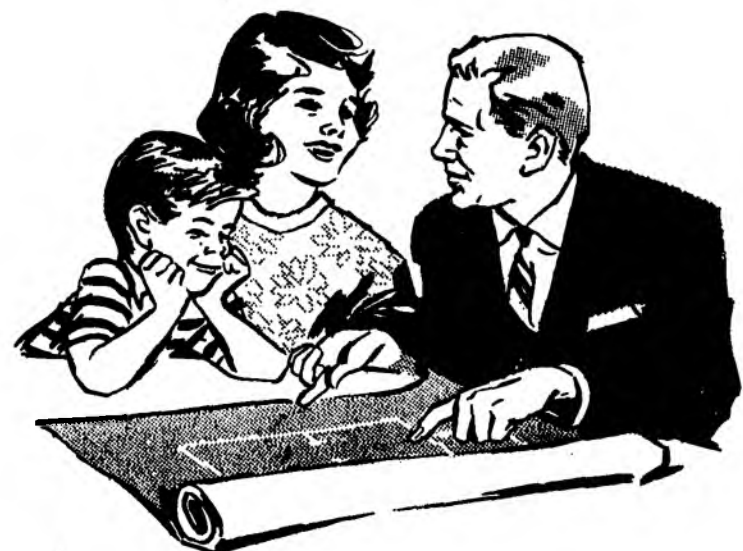

A 1969 graduate of East

Carolina University, Patsy was an elementary school teacher for two years. She still has her pageant scholarship, which she can use for travel or to further her education.

Her education background is a major asset now because Patsy will help Carowinds develop a Carolina heritage program to be implemented in school systems.

Carowinds President E. Pat Hall and Carowinds Chief Ambassador Patsy Gail Wood.

These cool ideas help you save electricity.

Don't cool it too much

Set your thermostat to the highest comfortable temperature. For most people, it's about 76° to 78°. Each degree lower will add about 8% to your air conditioning cost.

Keep your cool indoors

Windows and outside doors should be kept closed when your air conditioning is on, to keep cool air from escaping outdoors.

Turn off the sun

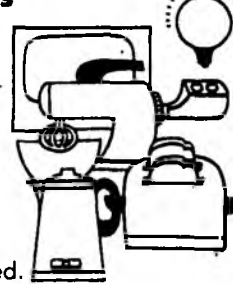

Close blinds, shades and drapes on the sunny side of your home, to keep out the sun's hot rays.

Give your range a rest

Avoid using your oven and surface units any more than you have to. Cooking hot meals adds heat and moisture

Control the heat-producers

Turn off heat-producing lights, irons, TV sets and other appliances when not really needed.

This illustration shows a hair dryer and a clothes iron, both of which are heat-producing appliances. The hair dryer is on the left, and the clothes iron is on the right. They are depicted in a simple, line-art style.

Rich Park. . .

Alive With Summer Fun!

The summer recreation program at Rich Park, Mocksville is well into the sixth week of an eight week program.

Recreation director, Clyde Studevent, Jr. says during this program they feature six pee wee baseball teams, (age 8-10), four little league baseball teams (age 11-12), and four girls softball teams, in addition to the arts and crafts, tennis, and a number of activities for youngsters six to 14 years of age. He feels they have something of interest to offer any child within this age group.

... Mrs. Pat Latta instructs Gena Studevent in hitting the softball while Janice Hunter is hind-catcher!

Studevent has a group of local adult instructors working with him during this program, who are willing to lend a hand wherever they are needed.

He says he will also be available to give instructions in most sports during the program, as in years past.

The attendance has been very good thus far, and is expected to continue throughout the program.

Old Homeplace Re-Visited After 60 Years

SUMMER IS... vacation time... leisure time (for some) ... reunion time with family, old friends and places ... and remembering. R.L. (Bob) Foster, who lives on a 200 acre Dairy Farm just off Highway 158, recently re-visited his old homeplace which is located on the Bixby Road just behind the Norman Chaffin home. Mr. Foster, who is 84 years old, had not been back to the "old homestead" in the past 60 years. His son-in-law, Gary Smith, who is a professional photographer, accompanied the Fosters, his wife and granddaughter to recreate a duplicate picture of an old picture. At the top left is a reprint of a picture the family thinks was made in 1906 by Mr. Smith's uncle

Census Survey Of Monthly Employment To Be Conducted

Between March, 1970 and March 1971, 36.2 million people - 17.9 percent of the population - changed addresses, according to the Census Bureau. But fewer people moved this year than last year, according to Bureau figures, when 18.4 percent of the population changed addresses.

The survey showed that peak mobility rates occurred among persons in their early 20's, and age group that is going to school, finding employment, serving in the Armed Forces, and setting up new households. The mobility rate was 43.8 percent in the 22 to 24 age group. After this peak is reached, the rates generally decline with increasing age. Among those persons who first married during the survey year, the mobility rate was especially high, as might be expected - 83 percent.

The Bureau noted the vast majority of people who move stay in the same county. Of the 36.2 million who changed addresses last year, only 13.1

Tattle Tales

By Gordon Tomlinson

Bryan Sell doesn't claim to be any Luther Burbank, but he did figure he could grow tomatoes.

Well, Bryan set out a row of tomatoes in a garden in the rear of his home on North Main Street. The plants grew and waxed a beautiful green...but Bryan could find few little tomatoes.

About three weeks ago he and his wife went away of one of their camping expeditions. They were gone about two weeks.

The day after arriving home, his wife Elma went to the tomato patch and was astonished about what she found. She told Bryan:

"While we were gone all our tomatoes ripened, fell off the vine and are rotting!"

So, Bryan ran out to see for himself... and sure enough...there were the rotten tomatoes under the vines.

And now on the same block there is a Methodist minister by the name of Ardis Payne. Bryan told this neighbor that he had the fastest ripening tomatoes one could imagine. The Rev. Payne too was skeptical, and asked to see "those fast ripening tomatoes."

Going to the tomato patch, Ardis emitted a chuckle:

"Bryan, someone's playing a trick on you. You haven't had any tomatoes on these vines!"

And Bryan had only to look next door to find the jokester. It was the one and only Otis Hendrix...the man that helped "Boy" Rodwell to think he had the "layingest hens" in the country by planting eggs in their nest. This time he had excited Bryan with almost overnight tomatoes.

Comedy At Barn Theatre

On July 11th, the Barn Dinner Theatre opened ONE FLEW OVER THE CUCKOO'S NEST by Dale Wasserman.

The story deals with a convict who is given a choice of either going to jail or accepting therapy in a mental institution. He chooses the mental institution and, being a brash, loudmouth, compassionate individual, he immediately attempts to tip the scales in favor of the inmates. How he succeeds in his own manner to accomplish this is a joy to watch.

Steve Fischer plays the role of McMurphy, who finds the authorities in the mental hospital worse than in any self-respecting prison. Judy Leavell plays the merciless Nurse Ratched. Gary Carpenter is Chief Broom, a gentle giant of an Indian; Randy Ball (Dale Hardy) is head of the ward. The other patients are John Fitzgerald, Ron Koon and Mark Haber. Bob MacGonigal and Joe Barone play the doctor and aide. Susan Beamish and Pam Gotcher are nurses.

Comedy is always one of the most intriguing ways to make a serious point, and never was there a better example than here. The dialogue is sparkling, brisk, modern, direct and very funny.

The play is directed by Bruce Borin.

Regional Broad Jump Winner At Charlotte

Billy Etchison Jumps Way To National Junior Olympic Finals

by Brenda Summers

"Last year I was disappointed that I couldn't go to the district meet because I wasn't old enough. But my parents told me to try again this year and do good," said Billy Etchison.

And that's what Billy did.

Billy, the youngest boy participating in the broad jump at the Region III Junior Olympics Saturday, won. And the victory won Billy an all expense paid trip to Spokane, Washington to participate in the National Junior Olympics.

"I was just about as happy as I'll ever be," was Billy's reaction to winning the event. He was second place winner in the broad jump for intermediate boys, in the state junior olympics this year, and last year he was first place winner for the broad jump in the junior division.

Billy won the District Junior Olympics with a jump of 21 feet, seven inches which is his longest jump ever.

A rising freshman at Davie High, Billy has been participating in track at the Pinebrook Elementary School for the past two years. Besides the broad jump, Billy runs the 440 some, the 880 relay, and

Branch Bank Wins Championship

Dean Beal allowed North Davie only three hits in pitching Branch Bank to the Davie County pony league championship. Branch Bank and North Davie ended the season tied for first place.

Larry Carter hit a double to drive in two runs in the second inning after Kim Seaford and Larry Jones had singled. Branch Bank won the game 4 to 1.

Branch Bank will meet Mocksville in the play-offs beginning Wednesday.

Coolleemee Homemakers

The Coolleemee Homemakers Club will meet Friday, July 21, at 7:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Mabel Head on Watt Street, Coolleemee.

Billy Etchison

participates in the high jump.

Billy said he did not know right now whether he would continue participating in the other events in the future but he does plan to continue with the broad jump at the high school for the next four years.

He practices about an hour and a half at home and at the high school every other day.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Billy Etchison of Route 1, Advance, have been very encouraging Billy says. Billy's father and Coach Barger may drive out to Washington to watch Billy in the National Junior Olympics on August 15.

Coach Barger said that in the past the coaches also received an all expense-paid trip. He said he did not know why they were not receiving one this year, but he hopes he will be able to attend anyway.

Coach Barger also said that as far as he knew this was the first time anyone from this area had gone to the national finals. Barger feels that Billy's chances are pretty good in the finals.

Other athletes from Davie also participated and placed in the finals in the district meet at Charlotte. Andy Atwell placed second in the mile with a time of 4:15.1. Steve Bolt of Huntsville, Ala., was the winner of the mile again this year. He edged Atwell last year by one tenth of a second.

Atwell also finished third in the two-mile run with a time of 9:52.0. Tim Austin placed in the mile. William Spry was knocked out in the morning events and did not get to participate in the finals Saturday afternoon.

Kathy Boger of Pinebrook placed fifth in the broad jump. Arlene Church, Kathy's coach, said she thought Kathy could have done better except she had been recovering from an injury in the past month and had been unable to practice very much.

Teresa Chapell, who placed third in the state junior division high jump, went but was unable to participate because she was too young.

Athletes from North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama, Tennessee and Florida participated in the District III meet. The athletes participating were the first three place winner in the state meets that were 14-17 years old.

First place winners in each event in the district meets will participate in the National meet. Athletes from 12 districts will be participating.

In Winston-Salem - Jaycee Air Fair To Feature Parachute Team

The Winston-Salem Jaycees announced Monday that in addition to the Navy Blue Angels, the Jaycee Air Fair scheduled for Saturday, July 29, will feature the 82nd Airborne Division Parachute Team.

The "All American" Parachute Team consists of ten jumpers, one narrator and one ground control man. The demonstration they perform normally consists of four separate passes over a drop area at 12,500 feet with execution of four jumps.

The first jump, scheduled for 2 p.m. at the Smith Reynolds Airport will be a Baton Pass accomplished when two jumpers come together during free fall and pass a wooden baton from one to the other. The baton, engraved with the name of Congressman Wilmer Mizell, will be presented by one of the jumpers to Congressman Mizell after the completion of the Baton Pass at the Air Fair.

A Cut-A-Way will demonstrate how a parachutist would release his main parachute should it become malfunctioned and safely open his second parachute.

The most spectacular of the demonstrations will be the formation jump which demonstrates how four jumpers can control their rate of fall and maintain a standard directional heading with the team leader to present a formation flight very similar to that of the Blue Angels.

The final jump will demonstrate the newest and fastest parachute in the world today,

SOME JELLYFISH ARE VERY LARGE

More than likely, if you are like the average American you probably think that all jellyfish are about the size of your hand or smaller because this is the size usually seen at the beach when the jellyfish wash up into the shallow water. This is the common jellyfish, but there are much larger specimens.

In fact, jelly fish have been known to grow larger than six feet in diameter. Wow, that's a lot of jellyfish. Stepping a small jellyfish at the beach can be quite painful-stepping on one six feet wide would really be a serious matter. All jellyfish are equipped with stingers and should be avoided.

But don't avoid us. Our friendly, courteous personnel like people and enjoy serving you. Come by today and sample the service. You'll find that it's great.

Ten Event Race Program Saturday At Bowman Gray

With defending champion Max Berrier back on top of a hot battle for the track championship, the stock car racers will return to Bowman Gray Stadium Saturday night for a 10-event program that includes "ministock" races as an added attraction.

Berrier, of Winston-Salem, is only two points ahead of Gerald Compton of Martinsville, Va., in the standings that will determine the track title in the featured Modified Division. Berrier took the lead from Compton last Saturday night with a third-place finish in a "double-point" race won by Billy Hensley of Ridgeway, Va.

A field of 80 to 90 cars is expected for Saturday night's program. Practice runs will start at 6:30 p.m., with the first race at 8:45 p.m. On the schedule are two 10-lap feature for the "mini-stock" cars; and a 15-lap race for the Claiming Division.

The "mini-stock" are imported compact sedans, modified for racing, of the North State Mini-Stock Association. Modified, Hobby and Claiming races at the stadium are sanctioned by NASCAR.

Hensley led all the way last week in winning the Modified feature, his second victory of the season and the 21st of his career on the municipal stadium's quarter-mile asphalt track. Perk Brown of Eden finished a close second, with Berrier third and Wayne Johnson of Eden fourth.

Compton's seventh-place finish—the first time in nine starts here this year that he has not finished in the first five—ended a three-race winning streak for him. It also sent him from a 14-point lead to a two-point deficit in the track standings.

Alfred Hill of Jonesville took his third 1972 victory in the 20-lap Hobby feature, increasing his lead in the standings for that division, and Ken Styers of Winston-Salem got his first victory of the season in the 15-lap Claiming race.

Syers' wife, Linda, made it a family affair by driving the same car to victory in a 10-lap "Powder Puff Derby" race for women drivers.

Pharmacy Comments

Not too bad . . . huh?

Here's one for the home-folk . . . A popular local attraction around New Bern, N.C., in 1890 was Caleb D. ("Doc") Bradham's drugstore and soda fountain, known as Bradham's Pharmacy. It seems that Doc's customers were eager patrons for cola concoctions that he whipped up.

Intrigued by the popularity of Coca-Cola drinks, Bradham experimented with a variety of blends until he found one he liked. The result was so popular that Mr. Bradham knew he had himself a hit. Needing a name for his new drink, Bradham bought the rights in a registered name, "Pep-Cola," and then registered his own, "Pepsi-Cola," to describe his drink - Cola for the extract of the cola nut, and Pepsi because it pepped one up.

Early advertisements claimed Pepsi-Cola was "refreshing, invigorating, a fine 'bracer' before a race, and a splendid restorer afterwards." Many of us Pepsi fans have to admit the same even today. So many, in fact, that PepsiCo, Inc., is a billion dollar business operating in 123 countries and territories. Not too bad for a small-town pharmacist, huh?

Miss Jane Click At National Soroptimist Meet

The Soroptimist Club of Winston-Salem, N. C., an organization of business and professional women, announced that the Soroptimist Federation of the Americas, Inc., is holding its 22nd biennial convention in Chicago, July 16-20.

Miss Jane Click, President of the Winston-Salem Club and delegate to the Convention, said the convention will be attended by delegates from the 910 local Soroptimist Clubs through the United States, Canada, Mexico, Panama, Costa Rica, Brazil, Venezuela, Peru, Chile, Japan, Korea, and the Philippines, all of which are part of the Federation. Miss Click is the daughter of Mrs. Mae L. Click of Mocksville and the late Fletcher Click.

Soroptimist is the world's largest women's classified service organization with 50,000 professional and business women in executive capacities as members. The first club was formed in Alameda County, California in 1921. Soroptimist is a combination of the Latin words "soro" or sister and "optima" or best and means "the best for women".

Miss Jane Click said Soroptimists are career women who give their time and financial support to many community service projects, individually and as a group. Although not a women's liberation group, she said the organization has from its founding sought to advance the status of women, especially through individual achievement by women in the business and Professional world.

Presiding over the convention at the Palmer House in Chicago will be Miss Katharine Stinson, Soroptimist president for 1970-72. Miss Stinson, of Washington, D. C., was the first woman to obtain a degree in engineering from North Carolina State University and was the first woman aerospace engineer to be employed by the Federal Aviation Administration.

President-elect of the Soroptimist Federation of the Americas is Mrs. Eileen M. Biddwell of El Centro, California, an educator. She will take office following the convention and serve as president until 1974.

The first gold coins manufactured in the South were struck in Rutherfordton, North Carolina one hundred forty-one years ago this month.

The year was 1831, and North Carolina was already well established as the gold mining center of the nation.

Christopher Bechtler, a German immigrant who had opened a jewelry store in Rutherfordton the year before, was keenly aware that the lack of coins in circulation had a stifling effect on the economy. Much gold was available from approximately sixty mines operating in the state, but exchanging it in the form of dust or nuggets was awkward at best. The nearest place at which gold could be coined was the United States Mint at Philadelphia.

After petitions to establish a branch of the Federal mint in or near North Carolina failed, Bechtler was encouraged by several prominent miners to manufacture his own press and dies and to establish a private mint.

During July, 1831, he began striking coins in two denominations, $2.50 and $5.00, and during the following year he struck the first gold dollars coined in the United States.

Bechtler died in 1847, and with the depletion of the richest gold deposits, the mint closed in the early 1850s. In the intervening years, however, $2,250,000 worth of gold was converted into coins that were distributed all over the world. Though the coins were not authorized by any governmental agency, they were traded as freely as if they had been struck by the United States Mint.

The success of the Bechtler operation is said to have provided a boost for the economy of North Carolina and much of the South, and to have influenced the establishment of a branch of the United States Mint at Charlotte in 1837.

The Bechtler coins are today very scarce and are highly valued by collectors—from just over a hundred dollars up to several thousand dollars per coin. The machinery used to manufacture them is scattered over several states, though some of the original dies and coins are held by the North Carolina Museum of History in Raleigh.

The program consists of recreation, discussions, competition, election of state officers and a lot of fellowship.

"North Carolina 4-H Congress offers an excellent opportunity for personal growth and development," comments Dr. Chester Black, state 4-H leader. "It is an event that 4-H'ers look forward to each year with great anticipation."

During the week state winners are determined in some 30 demonstration programs and various judging activities.

Favors Will Be Given

...about your Social Security

by Vernice Fulcher

The beauty of wild flowers covering an entire field or hillside is something to behold!

Recently I saw a three or four acre field which looked as if it had been painted blue. Nearly every hillside is dotted with golds and yellows. They look as though they have been planted and cared for by a master gardener. Well, perhaps they have!

In my yard I plant and replant before my efforts are rewarded and then there is a constant battle with insects and snails. Even with the best care I can possibly give, the unexpected happens. Needless to say, every little bloom that makes it is fully enjoyed.

The unexpected happens throughout life and it is almost impossible to prepare ourselves for it. Every day I talk with people who are not only grieved by the loss of a loved one, but totally baffled and confused not knowing where to begin their tomorrow. So many young widows have told me it would have been such a comfort to them if they had known a little about social security or had an idea of the financial help they could have counted on from the program.

While things are rosy and you have the time, get some information about survivor benefits under Social Security. Write or call and ask for booklet 35b, SOCIAL SECURITY INFORMATION FOR YOUNG FAMILIES. The security of knowing is free for the asking. Our address is 105 Corriher Avenue, Salisbury, NC 28144. Our telephone number is 633-6470.

Q. I have lost my Medicare card. How can I get a replacement?

A. Telephone your nearest social security office and give them your claim number. They will assist you in getting a duplicate.

Q. I am past 65 years of age and receiving monthly retirement benefits. Recently I have become disabled and have to spend most of my check for doctors and medicine. Can I get an increase in my check due to my disability?

A. Disability benefits are payable only to people UNDER age 65. There is no additional payment to those who are 65 as the disability program was designed to help those who are not old enough to receive retirement benefits.

Q. I am a newlywed who plans to keep working until my husband completes dental school. My employer tells me I should have my social security card changed since it still shows my maiden name. Is this necessary? I understand you only receive one number in your lifetime anyway.

A. It's true you keep the same social security number for life. However, your employer is right. For social security record-keeping purposes, your name and number both must be correct to assure proper credit for your earnings. The people at the social security office can quickly issue you a new card showing your new name.

Kappa Homemakers Have Meeting

The Kappa Homemakers Club met Thursday afternoon, July 13, at 2 p.m. at the Community Building. Mrs. W. M. Carter was hostess.

Mrs. William Walker presided. Seven members and two visitors were present. During the business "Rules and Regulations" for using the building were discussed and approved. "District Special Interest Day" was announced for August 17 at Guilford College. Plans for a Fair Booth were discussed.

After leaders reports, Mrs. West presented the lesson "Chicken American Style". She gave out recipe sheets for serving chicken and served a "Hot Chicken Salad".

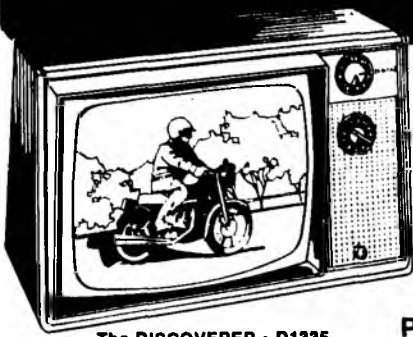

After the Club Collect, Mrs. Betty Prevette led the group in a game with Mrs. Grace Ralledge winning.

Rick Snipes on his water bed and his "way-out" basement room.

Rick Snipes • The Water Bed Lifeguard

by Marlene Benson

"Try it, you'll like it!" "A water bed - that is. "Once you try it, you'll never sleep on a regular bed again," says Rick Snipes of Cooleemee, who has been a water bed owner for the past six months.

The water bed was a gift on his 14th birthday from his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Snipes.

Rick's room is in the basement of their home on Marginal Street Ext., mainly because the water bed is supposed to be used on a concrete floor - but with a "way-out" room like Rick's, that's the place for it.

He built the frame for the water bed himself, which gives the added support needed around the side seams. It takes 250 gallons of water to fill the 72" X 60" balloon-type mattress and it weighs one ton.

Rick, who is known around the Snipes household as the "Water Bed Lifeguard" says it takes about three hours to drain the water bed, using a garden hose. He usually does this about every six months and refills it. He always adds three cups of Clorox to keep down the algae and bacteria.

When they bought it, the salesman told him he could put goldfish in it, but Rick said they couldn't possible live without oxygen and in all that Clorox, and besides, he says he has enough trouble keeping the fish in his aquarium alive.

Rick is a typical teenager with a taste for the odd and unusual.

He has a bean bag chair in his room, burns incense, loves lights that not only give off a colorful glow, but quiver while doing it. He also has a "black light" and one wall is decorated with black light posters, which glow with fluorescent colors if the room is lighted with only the black light.

He and his friends have had a great deal of fun with the black light. Rick recalls one occasion when one of his teachers and several other students were in his room with only the black light burning. The teacher's polka-dotted underwear glowed in the dark, right through his dark trousers. Everyone got a big laugh out of that he said.

Rick has bought a great many of the posters, including a life size one of Raquel Welch, but he has also made a lot of them himself.

After he finally got his water bed, Rick became most impatient for his mother to make his bedspread and curtains, which he wanted out of the patriotic red, white, and blue. Mrs. Snipes couldn't get them made as quickly as he wanted them, so he made them himself. They're not professionally made, but he did a pretty good job on them.

He also did a pretty good job on the lamp shades he covered, and on making the mobile that hangs directly over his bed.

His only problem is Betsy and David, who love to explore in their older brother's room when he isn't home.

David says he thinks he could probably learn to swim on the water bed and Betsy says she'll get it in a couple of years when Rick goes off to college.

But Rick says, "No," he may even drain the water out and take it with him.

Rick will be leaving for summer camp before long, but he hates to leave his water bed at the mercy of his younger brother and sister. However, he gives them strict orders, for what it's worth, that his room is "off limits" to both of them.

The water bed is their biggest temptation, and who could blame them. It's a lot of fun to bounce on ... almost like riding the waves at the beach. And almost everybody loves the beach.

Bowens Attend Furniture Mart

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Bowen of Western Auto Association of Cooleemee registered at the Southern Furniture Exposition Building for the High Point summer furniture market, July 10-13, 1972.

Furniture dealers from throughout the Southeast attend this regional market where they can view the latest fashions for the home and plan for the logistics of moving home furnishings from the manufacturer to the consumer.

The country's leading interior designers have created beautifully decorated room settings for the furniture showrooms here in the 30-acre Southern Furniture Exposition Building, focal point of these summer and winter regional events and the internationally famous Southern furniture markets in April and October.

Retailers use the decorating ideas seen in the showrooms for room displays in their stores, giving customers the current techniques of interior design.

Pfizer Presents Check To Board Of Health

The Venereal Disease Control Section of the N. C. State Board of Health today was presented a gift of $2,500 by Pfizer Laboratories to be used for venereal disease education in North Carolina.

According to Myron J. Arnold, venereal disease education coordinator, the money will help pay for films, printed material, workshops and other expenses incurred as part of an education program being set up to aid schools in bringing the best venereal disease information available to students.

North Carolina ranks among the top 10 states in the nation in number of venereal disease reported, Arnold noted. Last year, 23,846 new cases of gonorrhea alone were reported in the state.

Phamphlet From Better Business Bureau

Beware of the growing number of "multi-level" selling operations that assume a chain distribution approach and concentrate more on bringing people into the operation than selling their products.

The warning and an explanation of "multi-level" selling concerns, as well as guidelines for prospective investors, are in a new pamphlet published by the Council of Better Business Bureaus, Inc., according to R.E. Hitchcock, Managing Director of the Better Business Bureau.

The Council and the Bureaus along with many attorneys general in the country are now working to curb the dishonest and misleading practices in cases where they exist.

The pamphlet does point out that some "multi-level" selling operations provide reasonable part or full-time employment to persons who want to sell products. Consumers are urged to consider each venture carefully and use the pamphlet and guidelines listed. Information on specific firms can be obtained from the Better Business Bureau.

Farm Tips

Two new peach varieties with high quality fruit, superior disease resistance and cold tolerance during bloom have been developed at North Carolina State University.

The new peaches, named "Winblo" and "Rubired," were developed at the Sandhills Research Station, Jackson Springs, by horticultural scientist Franklin N. Correll and plant pathologist C. N. Clayton.

The researchers said the new peaches "could make significant contributions to the North Carolina peach industry in at least three areas: disease resistance, resistance to browning and tolerance to cold weather at bloom time."

When the commercial peach crop was heavily damaged by cold weather in 1964, both Winblo and Rubired were less severely damaged than the crop in general. Compared to the 15 percent "normal" crop produced in the area that year, Winblo produced 25 percent of a full crop of excellent fruit. During the same period, Rubired produced from 30 to 50 percent of a full crop.

Varieties with this apparent bud-hardiness are sorely needed by our peach industry, Dr. Clayton commented. All too frequently, the North Carolina crop is heavily damaged by late spring freezes.

Rubired is of Redhaven and Dixired parentage. At the Sandhills Research Station, this new variety has ripened between June 12 and June 26. This harvest period indicates that Rubired could give growers a variety that ripens just after the Candor variety and just before the varieties Pekin and Redhaven, thus filling a gap in the harvest season.

The fruits are medium to large, medium yellow and semi-freestone. Rubired's resistance to bacterial leafspot is described as "very high" and is one of its outstanding characteristics.

First picking dates for Winblo have ranged from July 10 to July 21 at the Sandhills Research Station. This is at about the same time the Loring variety ripens. Researchers Correll and Clayton said data indicate Winblo has an advantage of resistance to bacterial leafspot, which is rated "moderate to high."

The flesh of Winblo, which has the Redskin variety as one of its parents, is bright yellow. Fruits are very firm with excellent flavor. They are fully freestone when ripe and medium to large in size.

Both new varieties have shown good resistance to flesh browning when it is exposed to air. Rubired's rate of browning is described as "very slow" and Winblo's as "slow."

The new varieties have been going through a period of plant increase from foundation stock and are expected to be generally available for commercial planting by the end of this year.

Farm Tips

By Dr. J. W. Pou
Agricultural Specialist
Wachovia Bank & Trust Co., N.A.

The introduction of an "exotic" breed from the West Indies holds some promise of reviving North Carolina's almost defunct sheep industry.

North Carolina State University animal scientists see some ray of hope that the Barbados Blackbelly, recently introduced into the North Carolina State University Experiment Station flock, can provide the breakthrough needed to resolve some of the problems that have practically removed sheep from the Tarheel farm scene in the last 20 years.

The Blackbelly, which evolved over generations of natural selection in the warm, humid Caribbean climate, has performed well in heat tolerance tests in North Carolina. Crossbred ewes (half Blackbelly) conceived and lambed out of the normal season "much better than any of the other breeds," according to Dr. Lemuel Goode.

Dr. Goode says preliminary research indicates that the Blackbelly might be used to breed heat tolerance into a crossbred commercial ewe, making possible year-around lambing.

"We believe we must have a sheep that can breed and lamb anytime of the year," Dr. Goode commented. "This is essential in providing a year-around supply of lamb, which would be required by the market."

Another contribution the Blackbelly apparently can make is resistance to internal parasites. Internal parasites are a serious problem in Tarheel sheep but they haven't seriously affected the hearty Dorset-Blackbelly crossbred sheep used in recent parasite studies.

Another "plus" for the Blackbelly is that it grows hair instead of wool. The world is burdened by an over-abundance of wool at the present time and markets are depressed. Under these conditions, farmers probably would rather have a sheep that didn't have to be sheared.

"The lack of heat tolerance in our sheep probably has caused us more trouble than all the other factors combined," Dr. Goode explained. "We have serious problems with the Dorset breed, for example, in heat affecting fetal development."

If further research substantiates that the Blackbelly, or crossbreds carrying that breed's traits, can be used in a multiple lambing program, the way could be opened for year-around production. Efficiency would increase significantly.

Bits Of Life

The Doughnut Peddler

By ROSCOE BROWN FISHER

While in New York Grandpa Brown and I decided to take in Coney Island. Strolling down the boardwalk, all we seemed to see were people, people, people — milling masses in every direction. Many Bits of Life here. . . I reasoned. The next day the Daily News estimated the crowd at Coney to be one of the largest — well over a million. One of Coleridge's stanzas from "The Ancient Mariner" came to mind:

"Water, water, everywhere,
And all the boards did shrink;
Water, water, everywhere,
Nor any drop to drink."
This is the way the rhyme spilled from my mind:
"People, people, everywhere,
Walking to and fro;
People, people, everywhere,
Nor any soul I know."

Suddenly, out of the crowd and up the boardwalk, came our bit of life — a buxom woman. She had a good face, except perhaps prematurely aged. Dressed in many colors, she was whistling, walking with ginger, and swinging a huge basket on her arm.

The boardwalk was crowded, terribly crowded; nonetheless, she was getting along at an amazing rate of a woman her size — except when hailed by a customer. The basket, swinging on her arm, was two-thirds full of tasty-looking doughnuts. In the same hand she carried a long, greasy stick, stacked high with doughnuts. She apparently kept the stick full for display, always selling the doughnuts from the basket. The multi-colored scarf about her head, along with her gingerly stride, set her apart. She wore run-over shoes.

Observing her, I wondered what was on her mind. How long had she walked to and fro upon the boardwalk? Could she think of anything else as she sold the doughnuts? What kind of home did she come from? Had she always sold doughnuts? Did she have other shoes? Was there much to eat at home besides doughnuts?

The doughnut woman left an indelible imprint upon my inner mind. She was a bit of life time would not erase from memory.

Cheshire of Mocksville.

The Green Meadows Girls Auxiliary will have a white elephant sale in the Fellowship Center this Saturday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Proceeds will be used for the Christmas in August project and a camping trip, handicrafts, notions, bottles etc. will be on sale. Anyone having items to donate for this project call or see some of the members. Also they want scads of customers this Saturday.

PERMANENT LABELS

Permanent care labels will add to the cost of clothing and piece good items. But they should also save the consumer money by 1) extending the life of the garment and 2) acting as an aide in comparing upkeep costs of garments.

However, these two objectives will not be met unless the consumer takes time to read and follow care instructions found on labels, cautions Harriet Tutterow, extension clothing specialist, North Carolina State University.

Early Sunday Racial Incident Threatens Town Of Mocksville

Mocksville and Davie County law officials are continuing their investigation this week into a series of incidents that threatened to erupt into a race riot in the wee hours of Sunday morning.

According to information obtained by local law officials and this newspaper the series of incidents occurred as follows:

There was a party Saturday night at 517 Pine Street in Mocksville, at the home of Mrs. Vivian Sellers. Around 12:30 a.m., Sunday morning Robert Nichols of Statesville (reportedly son-in-law of Mrs. Sellers) and Dennis Ramsauer, also of Statesville, went to Service Distributor No. 1 on Wilkesboro Street to obtain ice and soft drinks.

While these two blacks were making their purchases at the Service Dist. station, a blue Mustang occupied by two white boys pulled into the area. One of the white boys got out of the car and hit Nichols about the head with a chain.

While this was taking place, Mocksville police were called and Policemen Dickie Groce and William Adams arrived on the scene. They found the Mustang gone.

Nichols, cut up about the head and face, was taken to the Davie County Hospital emergency room. While he was being treated, 15 or 20 blacks gathered at the hospital...reportedly unruly and angry. Officers and parents of Nichols tried to get the group calmed down and they were asked to leave. During this, one of the blacks reportedly made the remark: "We're going to tear Mocksville up."

Policemen Groce and Adams left the hospital and went back to Service Dist. No. 1 in the effort to obtain more information concerning the blue Mustang. While at Service Distributors they received a call that a group was at Martin's Hardware and General Merchandise at the Depot breaking windows. The two officers hurried to the depot where they found front windows broken out of Martin's Store.

At this time all off-duty policemen and deputies sheriff were called back on duty. This was around 2:05 a.m.

Mocksville Chief of Police was called back to duty. Passing Heffner's on North Main Street, Chief Foster heard the bugler alarm go off and reported it to the radio control office. Chief Foster immediately pulled into the Heffner lot and checked the building, front and rear, but found no one. However, he did find five panes of glass broken out of the front of the store.

Mocksville police, Davie Sheriff officials, and State Highway Patrol then proceeded to seal off the area surrounding the depot. Cars leaving the area were stopped and a number of occupants were taken to the local jail for questioning.

However, as of Tuesday no arrests had been made directly involving these incidents although some were arrested on other charges.

Johnny Hendrix was called in to stand guard at Furches Motors in the effort to prevent possible damage to cars in parking lots.

James A. Tise, Home From Hospital

James Albert Tise, 53, returned to his home on the Demon Road last Friday from the Forsyth Memorial Hospital.

Tise is recuperating from gunshot wounds received when he was ambushed at the Crossroads Service Station on July 6th.

Sheriff Joe Smith said that investigation into the shooting is continuing but no arrests had been made as of Tuesday.

Jim Hunt Here

Jim Hunt, Democratic candidate for Lieutenant Governor, will visit Mocksville on Monday, August 3rd.

He will be at the Martin and Martin office at 8 a.m.

Man Killed Saturday In Wreck On US 601

One person was killed and two others injured Saturday afternoon in a head-on collision on US 601, about seven miles north of Mocksville.

Jimmy Ray Cowan, 22, of Woodleaf Rt. 1 was killed in the accident. His wife, Mrs. Teresa Dalton Cowan, 22, was injured as was Sam Cain, 67, of Mocksville, Rt. 5.

State Highway Patrolman Andy C. Stokes said the accident occurred around 2 p.m. Saturday. He said Cain was driving a 1966 Chevrolet pickup truck and was traveling north on US 601. Cowan was driving a 1970 Volkswagon and was heading south on US 601, and veered across the center line, striking the pickup head-on. The Volkswagon was completely demolished.

This was Davie County's 3rd highway fatality for 1972.

The Davie County Ambulance Service and the Davie County Rescue Squad answered the call to the wreck. Marvin Hellard, Billy Doss, Eugene Harris, Carl McCullough, Larry Allen, Luther Ashley, Lonnie Tutterow, Felix Williams and Patrolmen A. C. Stokes and J.

L. Payne all aided in freeing the body from the wreckage.

Funeral services for Cowan were held Wednesday at the Emmanuel Pentecostal Holiness Church. Burial was in the church cemetery.

He was born in Rowan County to James L. and Edna Mae

Craftwood Grand Opening This Weekend

by Brenda Summers

Craftwood Development will have its grand opening Saturday, July 29th, and Sunday, July 30th.

Craftwood is the third area in the county to be developed by Davie Building Company, a subsidiary of Town and Country Construction of Mount Airy.

Sheffield Park was started by Davie Building Company in June of 1971, and the second, Goodwill Heights, located about one and one half miles from Sheffield Park is now being developed.

Craftwood, a 266 acre tract located on Milling Road in Mocksville, presently has 24 houses under construction or already finished. Eleven of these houses have already been sold.

A model home which is completely furnished will be featured at the opening along with seven other houses of various types which are finished, but not furnished. The model home is also used as the office for the development since it is centrally located and thus makes it easy for people to get in contact with representatives.

Mrs. Julia Howard, sales representative for Davie Building Company said that anyone interested could tour any of the other houses finished or under construction, if they had not been sold. Anyone that wishes to buy a house that is under construction may pick their own color schemes and carpet.

The houses include a variety of types. The all-electric houses have at least three bedrooms and one and one half baths. Some of the houses have basements, some have carports, and some have utility rooms. There are several split level houses. Prices start at $17,900 and go up to $29,000.

Lots in Craftwood are divided into six sections. Section I has three-fourths of an acre lots, and Section II has one-half acre lots. Some of the other sections will have bigger acreage in the lots. Mrs. Howard said the other lots would mainly depend upon the demand.

She also estimated that approximately 100 houses could be built at Craftwood, but that too would depend upon the public demand.

Craftwood Development plans include a tract to be used as recreational area for the

Grant Approved For Farmington Health Clinic

A federal grant to establish a health clinic in Farmington has been approved by the Appalachian Regional Commission.

The $68,407 grant will establish a health clinic in the office which has been abandoned since 1963. A family nurse will be employed to run the clinic.

The Farmington Medical Center, Inc., with James E. Essie as president, was assisted by the Bowman Gray School of Medicine in forming a plan and applying for funds from the commission. The application was submitted by the Northwest Economic Development Commission.

The announcement was made from the office of Congressman Wilmer Mizell in Washington.

The clinic plans calls for it to be open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday. At this time it cannot be determined just when the clinic will begin operation or who the nurse will be.

Ingersoll-Rand Largest Taxpayer In Davie

Ingersoll-Rand Company, Mocksville, North Carolina, has become the largest taxpayer in Davie County in 1972. The world's largest manufacturer of portable air compressors made substantial additions in modern machinery and equipment and in new facilities during 1971 to become Davie County's largest single taxpayer.

David Hendrix, Davie County Tax Supervisor, noted that increased investment by Ingersoll-Rand Company and other growth and development throughout Davie County have helped prevent property tax increases over the past few years. The increased tax base has allowed the county to maintain the same property tax rate thus benefiting homeowners and farmers throughout Davie County.

Ingersoll-Rand's tax bill for 1972 was $87,640.14 for Davie County and an additional $88,437.23 for the Town of Mocksville for a total of $176,277.37.

Golfdominiums -- New Life Style At Bermuda Run

A little over two years ago Bill Satterfield announced plans for the Bermuda Run Country Club. These plans included a group of condominiums which Satterfield appropriately called golfdominiums.

Today, two units built under Satterfield's direction are completed and occupied. Each has four individual units within which range in price from $35,000 to $55,000 each.

Among the eight families now living in the golfdominiums are Satterfield himself and his wife, Millie, and Bermuda Run's touring pro, Lanny Watkins and wife, Rachel.

The golfdominiums have numerous sets of French doors which open onto terraces and balconies that overlook a lake and the Bermuda Run Golf Course.

The golfdominiums are designed for entertaining and an outside feel prevails throughout each unit. Each has a terrace with a built-in barbecue grill.

The overall effect is a combination of airiness and nostalgia made by the combination of cedar shake roofs, bi-level glassed entrances and an abundance of post lanterns. Satterfield says that the design shows both a strong Mediterranean and Spanish influence.

Inside the foyer of the Satterfield golfdominium yellow and burnt orange in the carpet and foyer pieces is a prelude to the strong use of color throughout much of the interior.

In the living room the setting is a dramatic blend of colors and textures with yellow shag carpet, green silk print sofa and chairs and an occasional chair of antiqued white caning filled with loose cushions of a per-simmon color.

The style of decor is overwhelmingly electric, but traces of the current trend toward Oriental furnishings are found in both the fabrics and in the wooden detailing on several chairs and tables.

The adjacent dining room, which Mrs. Satterfield called her favorite room, is in the same vibrant yellow, green and white. Chairs and tables are of a distressed white finish. White and green velvet draperies frame the French doors leading to the terrace. Wallpaper is foil and repeats the green and white motif on a shimmering background.

The nearby den continues the color scheme only with the use of persimmon, and in its darkness, the room offers an abrupt change from the light colors of the adjoining rooms.

Here, the colors denote masculinity with a predominance of brown, burnt orange, mushroom and black. Again the window treatment is outstanding with both valences and draperies done in the same contemporary print velvet as the sofa.

Many of the furnishings were selected for the Satterfields by local decorator Reece McClure who is associated with Interiors Limited and Erwin-Lambeth of Thomasville. The Bermuda Run Clubhouse was decorated in a similar style under his direction.

All of the golfdominiums built by Satterfield have split foyers with the living room, dining room, den and kitchen on the first floor and bedrooms above. Units are designed with both two and three bedrooms.

Next to the Satterfield's, the Wadkins apartment reflects the couple's youthfulness in the thoroughly mod decor used throughout the first floor. Colors range from pale gold carpet to camel tones accented by rich browns and white. Furnishings are heavily upholstered with steel trim.

One of the most memorable accessories is a large Oriental screen of waterlilies which is mounted behind the dining room table. The other is a collection of clippings and trophies from Wadkins' golf career.

Although most of his trophies are displayed in the Bermuda Run Clubhouse, a wall beside the bar has been devoted to framed newspaper clippings about Wadkins. A standout in the living room is a large gold and silver wine service which was a gift to Wadkins when he played in the Morocco Invitational last year.

Upstairs the Wadkins' master bedroom offers a change of pace from the contemporary furnishings. Here, petal valences frame a set of French doors that lead to a balcony, and the oversized bed is accented by a romantic Roman-Style canopy of the same blue and gold used in carpet and draperies.

From the carport of the Wadkins' golfdominium the newest units, which are being built by Salem Ventures, are visible. According to an artist's sketch in the Bermuda Run Sales Office, these units will be in a rustic style with a combination of native mountain stone and stained redwood exteriors.

Salem Ventures has an option to build as many as two-hundred fifty units at Bermuda Run. But, work now is underway only on Phase I of a multi-phase program which includes seventy-one units. All of these are scheduled for completion by next spring.

Presently only about one-third of these are begun, and some are scheduled for a September completion date. According to Sales Representative Carol Clark of Salem Ventures, an open house is planned for these units in September.

More Golfdominiums under construction by Salem Ventures.

Lanny Wadkins den serves as a display area for many of Lanny's trophies and memorabilia.

Mrs. W. R. Satterfield enjoys cooking in the Golfdominium home.

Looking Young
Regardless of her age, no woman today wants to look old. Here are a few suggestions that won't prevent old age but certainly can help prevent the problems that may make you look that way.

To ward off wrinkling around the neck, on the hands, beneath the eyes, begin every night using a rich oil specially designed for these areas. Cream and massage hands several times a day. For cleansing—never use soap on your face; a gentle cleansing cream will keep your skin looking younger longer.

Facial exercises are a must to help you tone up throat muscles and set rid of a second chin. Do this one daily: make a long neck, breathe normally and hold chin up. Keep head forward and shoulders down; force the neck muscles out, increasing the repetitions. Now repeat, this time forcing the chin muscles out as strongly as you can, to the count of six. (Imagine you are rolling your tongue back and pressing your fingers against the chin muscles.) Relax. Repeat five times. Gradually increase the repetitions.

The luncheon table was overlaid with a pink linen cloth and the centerpiece was a silver bowl of red and pink roses.

After the luncheon Miss Hall presented her attendants with ginger jars with her wedding date inscribed on each jar.

Covers were laid for Miss Hall, her mother, Mrs. William E. Hall, the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Edward Vogler of Advance, the bride-elect's grandmother, Mrs. Paul H. Haynes of North Wilkesboro, her aunts, Mrs. Alice Key and Mrs. Marilyn McNeil, both of Jacksonville, Florida, Mrs. Joe Jarvis and Mrs. Sam Wolfe of Winston-Salem and Miss Debbie Griffith of Hendersonville, Miss Nancy Preston of Yadkinville, Miss Annette Marsh of Greenville and Miss Cindy Glascock of Mocksville.

The dining room table, covered in a Belgium linen and lace cloth, was centered with a bouquet of pink and white flowers. Other arrangements of summer flowers decorated the living room and den.

If you like a big city for a vacation then you would like St. Louis, Missouri.

There is a song that says "Meet Me In St. Louis", but I would really have a hard time meeting anyone there because it is huge and very midwestern.

The Gateway Arch is really one of the most outstanding things I have seen. It is very shining as it is made of stainless steel. We took the elevator to the top and it is called a unique passenger transportation system. Your ride to the top of the 630 foot structure will be an unforgettable experience.

There is a special capsule transporter, the only one of its kind in the world. Each transporter is a unit consisting of 8 barrel shaped capsules joined together for a train-like vehicle. Each capsule holds 5 passengers and in this you ride to the top of the Observation Room and you can see all of St. Louis. Then, you'll board your capsule and go down the other side. The ride takes about 4 minutes up and 3 minutes down. It is the nation's tallest National monument and cost 11½ million dollars.

There is an Underground Visitors Center beneath the Gateway Arch. The Museum of Westward Expansion in the 19th century was planned to cover four major subjects. The Land... how it was acquired; the Men... who mastered it; the Significance and Meaning of Westward Expansion to our nation; and Our People.

Historic companions of the Gateway Arch are the old Court House, now a museum of a century ago when trappers, traders and settlers passed through St. Louis on their way west. We toured this old Court House and it is very interesting.

The old Cathedral has served as a house of worship since 1834 and it is still standing very erect and is beautiful.

Then, there is Bush Memorial Stadium, something you must not miss. A baseball game there would be a Cardinal game and just to hear the cheers is quite an experience.

There are many hotels and motels in St. Louis and good food, much of it German. If you like to shop, there are many fine stores and you can buy anything you would ever want.

I must not forget the Zoo. It covers 83 acres in Forest Park. It is one of the largest, best equipped Zoos in the world. It operates the year round and in summer presents famous trained animals on stage. We took the train ride through.

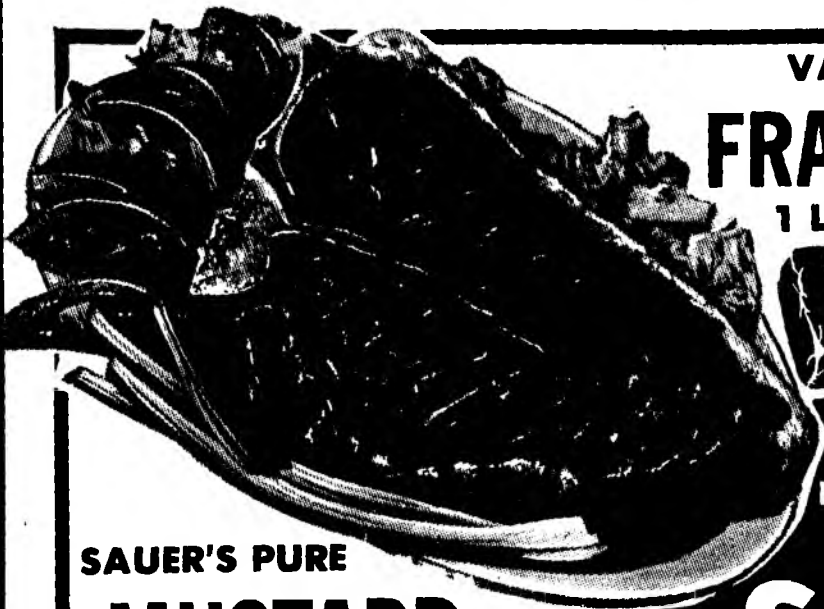

There are many more points of interest but I have tried to point out the most outstanding ones to me... the ones I will not forget.

Seven Boy Scouts from Davie County left Sunday by chartered bus for the Boy Scout Ranch Philmont in Cimmaron, New Mexico.

Magistrates At Special School

Three Davie County magistrates attended a special school last week in Lexington. Tony Green, Sameul W. Howell and Mrs. Ruby Purvis attended special classes on the issuing of warrants. The classes were taught by H.W. Zimmerman, District Solicitor, and Mr. Whittenton.

It was reported that the 22nd Judicial District, comprised of Davie, Davidson, Alexander and Iredell counties, was among the top districts in the state in the operation of the new court system. This included furnishing of facilities for the new system (court rooms, jail, magistrate offices, etc.) clearing the dockets of old cases, etc.

The purpose of the school, as requested by Judge Hubert Olive, was to bring more uniformity and necessary completeness in the writing of warrants.

JUDGES

Two husband and wife teams and a judge at last year's pageant have been selected as judges for this year's event. Mr. and Mrs. David W. Myers of Elkin, N.C., Mr. and Mrs. Albert Gundger, of Asheville, N.C., and Mr. Tracy M. Lounsbury, Jr. of Winston-Salem will be the five judges.

David W. Myers has been active in the Elkin Jaycees and Elkin Civic affairs for several years. He has been a judge and master of ceremonies in pageants throughout North Carolina. He has been the producer and director of Miss Elkin Valley Pageant (one of the top ranked local preliminaries in the country) for the last 10 years. He attended the last 11 Miss North Carolina Pageants, and he attended the 1968 Miss America Pageant as a member of the Miss North Carolina Pageant Committee.

Mrs. David Myers has held several beauty titles including Miss Majorette North Carolina, Miss Teenage North Carolina, First Runner-Up of Miss Majorette America, and Miss Personality U.S.A. She has been active in Elkin Civic affairs and she has judged over 50 pageants in North and South Carolina. She also attended the 1968 Miss America Pageant as a member of the Miss North Carolina Pageant Committee. The official chaperone for Miss Elkin Valley to the last 10 Miss North Carolina Pageants, Mrs. Myers has also been the Ladies Director and co-ordinator for the Miss Elkin Valley Pageant for the past 9 years.

Albert Gudger is a past Vice-President of the North Carolina Jaycees. In 1952 he was named the "Outstanding Young Man of the Year in Kannapolis", and in 1960 he was named the "Outstanding Man of the Year in Asheville." He is active in Asheville civic affairs. For the past 15 years, he has judged local state, and festival pageants in the Southeast. In 1972 he will be a judge for Miss Texas, Miss Michigan, and Miss West Virginia pageants.

Mrs. Mary Frances Gudger has judged many pageants in North and South Carolina for the past 10 years. She has been involved in all phases of pageant activity including producer, talent advisor, and chaperone. She was the official chaperone for Maria Beale Fletcher, the 1962 Miss America.

Tracy M. Lounsbury, Jr., was a judge in last year's Miss Mocksville pageant. He is very active in Winston-Salem civic affairs. A UNC graduate majoring in Radio, Television, and Motion Pictures, Lounsbury has been the television director of LSTP-TV in Minneapolis, Minn., and program director for WTOB-TV in Winston-Salem.

JAYCEE COMMITTEES

Jaycee committee chairman for this year's pageant are as follows: general chairman, Al Fullbright; assistant chairman, Chuck Tomlinson; finance chairman, Bobby Knight; ad sales, Gene Tutterow; program book, Bill Ijames; production and staging, Ross Wands; director of pageant, Ron Brown; publicity, Al Spainhour; judging, Bob Shelton; concessions, David Taylor; usherettes, Jim Tutterow; hostess committee, Tom Drillet; gifts and scholarships, Jack Kountz; ticket sales, Don Smith; and records and recognition, Tommy Turner. Pageant activities continue as Saturday night August 5th approaches and the crowning of a new "Miss Mocksville".

Cattle Lost

According to the County Agent's Office, a few cattle have been lost in Davie County due to the recent heat wave. Farmers that have cattle on concrete should plan for sprinkling devices or prepare for the cattle to have access to a wooded area when the temperature reaches 90 to 100 degrees.

children. Mrs. Howard said that they hoped the recreational area would include a few tennis courts and basketball goals.

Sheffield Park, which now has 30 houses, was started by the company on June 23 1971. All of the homes in it were sold and occupied by April 20, 1972. Four of the houses in Goodwill Heights have been sold, and four more are under construction.

All of the houses have a one year builder's warranty. If anything happens to the house within a year other than "the normal wear and tear", the company will correct it.

Davie Building Company has its own construction crews, which do the framing, the inside and the finishing. They have six crews with three or four people in each crew. Davie Building Company also does build some houses for people that own their own lots. But the company does use local plumber and electricians.

Davie Building Company is made up of two parts, the construction company and the brokerage company. They will do the brokerage for houses in the county that have not built.

Town and Country Construction, the parent company of Davie Building Company also has 12-15 other subsidiaries in other counties. Approximately 250 houses a year are built in Surry, Stokes, and Yadkin by Town and Country.

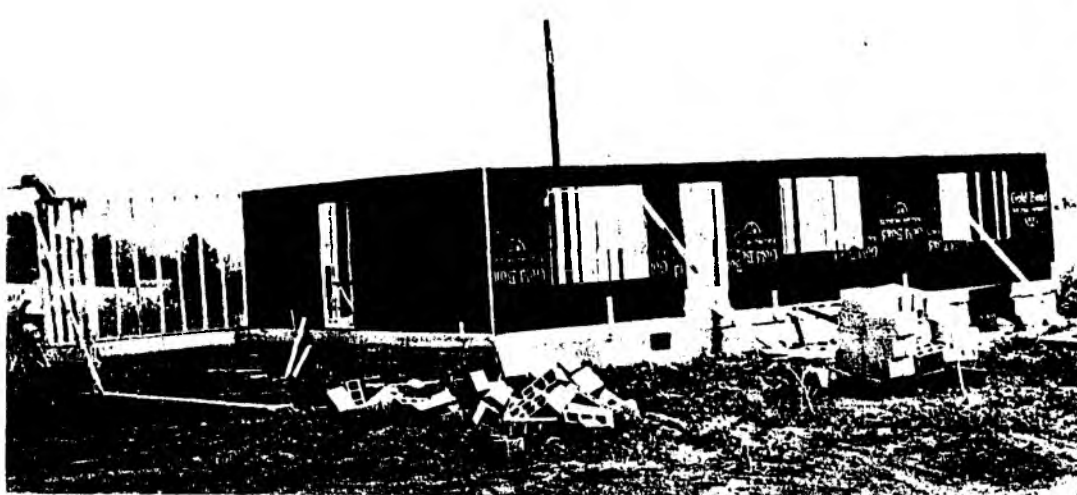

Robert J. Loville, Jr. and John Banner are the owners of the company. Town and Country Real Estate in Mount Airy is also part of the company.

Mountain Lumber Company is owned by Town and Country Construction and this is where most of the subsidiaries get their supplies. Mrs. Howard explained that since the company owned a lumber company and since they could buy brick and other supplies in such large quantity, the company could sell a house for a lower price than most individuals could build the same house.

Mr. Howard says that Davie Building Company is mainly interested in developing Craftwood right now, but she also thinks the company will probably continue to develop in other areas in the county if land is available.

Smokey Says:

Edd McBride Takes New Job

J. Edd McBride, the coordinator of education for gifted and talented students in North Carolina, has resigned to become assistant superintendent of the Montgomery County schools.

McBride, who has been one of the leaders shaping the development of the North Carolina Governor's School in recent years, taught at the Davie County High School from 1963 to 1966. He left Davie in 1966 to accept the position in Raleigh.

McBride said his switch was to get closer to classroom education and to find a "new professional challenge". During the past six years he has doubled the number of classes for talented students in North Carolina schools and has raised the number of school districts with such classes to 114. There are 152 districts in the state.

Two years ago, he helped start a teacher training institute as a part of the Governor's School. The institute is an attempt to get some of the teaching techniques used at the school into use in other public schools.

The Governor's School itself, institute for talented high school students held each summer at Salem College, is one of the showplaces of the program for exceptional children in North Carolina. Several times during McBride's term, enlarging it or duplicating it elsewhere has been mentioned.

McBride said he does not foresee any immediate change in the operation of the school as a result of the changes in the state department.

He said he will be in Winston-Salem today and Friday for an evaluation visit to the school by six educators and artists in North Carolina and Virginia. The family will move from Raleigh to Montgomery County in early August.

Among other things in his new job, McBride said he will be responsible for special education in Montgomery County. The county is the site of a camp for emotionally disturbed children run by the Learning Institute of North Carolina.

Bits Of Life

The Other Side

By Roscoe Brown Fisher

Readers will recall that daughter Mary Fisher Lemons has assisted from time to time as guest columnist for Bits Of Life. Several weeks past when Mary did a column, it brought to mind an incident in her life which happened when she was much younger:

While out of town I looked for a little return gift for Mary, then a vivacious two-year-old. A pocket-size mirror seemed to be the very thing. There was nothing unusual about it except that on the back there was a picture of Christ holding a lamb.

On my return I presented little Mary the gift. Her special interest in the small mirror caught my attention. She kept turning it over and over, looking at herself... then looking at the picture of Christ on the back.

I waited quietly but anxiously as I watched the child, for I knew something was coming.

Shortly, apparently somewhat perplexed, the child looked up and said, "Daddy, I can't see Jesus when I look at myself."

In gratitude for her innocent bit of life, I reached down and lifted the child—mirror still in hand—to my lap. "Yes, dear," I replied, "God's world... and also our lives... would be more beautiful if we realized we cannot see Christ when we look at ourselves."

Mary smiled as if she understood.

Vacation pay is being distributed among wage employees of Burlington Industries, Inc., during the summer vacation season. Charles A. McLendon, senior vice-president of Burlington, said payments to Company employees coincide with manufacturing plant vacations. These payments, together with similar amounts paid before the holiday season last December, will total almost $10 million for the Company's 1972 fiscal year. The local Burlington plant in Cooleemee will close for vacation from July 31st through August 5th. Burlington employees at plants in 12 states will share in the summer payments, Mr. McLendon said. Individual amounts are based on employee's length of service. These payments are in addition to benefits provided by Burlington's profit sharing retirement plan for hourly-paid employees. In 1971, members of the Burlington plan had more than $9 million credited to their accounts.

Land Of Oz To Host 750,000th Visitor Soon

The Land of Oz will host its 750,000th visitor within two weeks, and company officials plan to give a free weekend at Beech Mountain to the person marking this number. Open since the summer of 1970, the outdoor themed adventure park draws tourists and other guests from over the entire nation, as well as Canada and Mexico. It is one of the two most popular tourist attractions in the Tar Heel State. Oz is located at the pinnacle of Beech Mountain near Banner Elk. Carolina Caribbean Corporation President D. Dwight Crater said that an all-expense paid weekend for two for three days and two nights is going to the winning person. Included are meals, lodging, golf, tennis, swimming, horseback riding and other summer activities at Beech. The corporation developed Beech, as well as Land Harbor of America, a resort for campers at Linville, N.C.; the Triple-C-Mini Ranches near Charlotte; The Reef, a resort complex, consisting of 101 villas and extensive recreational facilities at St. Croix in the U.S. Virgin Islands. According to Crater, the three-quarter million mark will more than likely be passed on or about August 1. More than 300,000 persons each year prior experience Oz. About 75,000 toured Oz so far this summer. Oz is a recreation of L. Frank Baum's Wizard of Oz tales. Visitors travel the mountain-top park along the fabled Yellow Brick Road, meet the characters and Dorothy and visit Emerald City rebuilt and fitted into the centuries-old forest glens and glades on Beech.

Taxpayer Practitioner Exam Is Set By IRS

Application forms for the examination which qualifies persons to practice before the Internal Revenue Service are now available at the Greensboro District Office. The examination will be given in the Greensboro District Office on September 25 and 26, 1972 for tax practitioners who are not attorneys or certified public accountants. IRS District Director, J. E. Wall, emphasized that the right to represent clients in tax and other matters before IRS is limited to persons who meet the highest standards of technical proficiency and ethical conduct. In 1971, twenty-one persons in North Carolina took the exam. Completed applications, accompanied by a fee of $25 payable to the Internal Revenue Service, should be sent by September 1, 1972, to Director, Audit Division, Internal Revenue Service, Washington, D. C. 20224.

ASC News

With every indication that farmers will continue to face a tight grain storage situation and box car shortage at the peak of harvest, adequate on-farm storage is more important than ever. Loans for on-farm storage and drying equipment are available through County ASCS Offices. Producers who will need storage are urged to get their loan applications in now. Some producers may not know loans now can be made for building storage facilities to hold up to two years' eligible commodities produced on a farm. Also, the maximum amount for loans on dryers is 85 percent of the net cost. A producer can also get funds for essential in-storage operating equipment. The term of the loan is five years with four annual installments. The first installment is due one year from the date of disbursement. The interest rate is 4 1/2 cents per month for each whole unit of $100.00 or fraction thereof. This is equivalent of an annual percentage rate of 5.52 percent. Farmers with adequate grain storage facilities on their farms are in a better position to market their crops in orderly fashion and improve their income. Normally, a bumper harvest means a fall in prices for growers. Those who can store their crops aren't caught in the bind of having to sell just when prices are lowest. Farmers interested should visit their local ASCS office for details.

Library News

Welcoming patrons, delighted children eagerly waiting-these greet the Bookmobile Librarians as they traverse the Davie County roads dispensing books and happiness from the familiar, lumbering gray Bookmobile of the Davie County Public Library.

Their story of the trips they take hold ones attention-stories of an acceleration in their "book business" during summer months when children are at home, of neighbors who care enough to suggest a certain book for a friend down the road and who remind them of other families who would enjoy their service. They have added new roads to their route, and in summer find their trips longer and book circulation swelling, despite hot days.

Although adults are busier with gardening and canning, they make up their reading time in colder months when children are in school and indoor weather affords more time. Not so the vacationing young folk who throng around the shelves stocked for them, and on the whole are extremely well-behaved--(this compliment from the librarians.) Mrs. Barbara Clontz and Mrs. Linda Donahue find themselves offering many friendly little extra services such as carrying messages from one patron to another-things above and beyond the call of duty-and the appreciation for their good service is evidenced in the cookies and flowers proffered by grateful patrons, the long, cool drinks ready for them in summer, and sometimes hot coffee on blustery winter days.

In addition to all this, they help to re-stock the Cooleemee Branch Library on their monthly visits and try to remember individual tastes of their readers when filling their bookmobile. Since they say they serve persons from two (yes, that's right) to eighty years of age, their work requires patience, retentive memories and above all a genuine interest in people and their needs.

For Barbara and Linda the trips are not quite so long, the summer days not quite so hot when they see the fruits of their labors in happy faces and happier lives.

Tax Relief For Flood Victims

The IRS has established special procedures to expedite processing of refund claims for flood victims who suffered property damage in recent months, according to J. E. Wall, IRS District Director for North Carolina.

New legislation provides that taxpayers who suffered losses during the first six months of 1972 in all sections of the country which have been declared disaster areas by the President can claim deductions for the losses by filing amended returns for 1971 on Form 1040X. Corporations should use Form 1120X. As of this date no North Carolina counties have been declared disaster areas by the President. However, North Carolina taxpayers who suffered losses to property they own in designated areas may be eligible for the relief procedure. Wall said appraisals as well as photographs of damage can be very helpful in establishing the amount of loss.

To expedite refunds taxpayers should mark the words "Disaster Agnes Loss," at the top of the amended return. Wall also advised that a special post office box number is in use at the service center in Chamblee, Georgia to receive amended returns from flood victims. North Carolina taxpayers should send their returns to: P. O. Box 47704, Doraville, Georgia 30340.

Even though the 1971 amended return procedure may not be available to many North Carolinians, they are entitled to claim casualty losses sustained in 1972 on their regular returns to be filed in 1973.

For details on casualty losses, Wall encouraged the public to telephone toll-free to Greensboro by dialing the long distance access code followed by 800-822-8800.

Letter To Editor

Dear Editor:

I am tracing my father's family line whose name was Allen, and I have reached a stalemate. I wonder if there is any Allen line in Davie County who knows for a fact that William Allen was their ancestor.

This William Allen gave in his tax repeatedly in Farmington Township until his death in 1849 (I think he died then). This was the only Allen to give in his tax in that township other than a Sarah Allen and my greatgrand father who was Peter Allen.

If there is any one who does know for a certainty that this was his ancestor please call or write me. I would appreciate it very much.

This William Allen gave in 131 acres every year until his death.

I have some rather interesting information on him and if he is established as some one else's ancestor, you may have what I have on him.

Thank you.

Sincerely,

Mrs. Estelle Allen Smith

Bloodmobile Collects 138 Pints

The Red Cross Bloodmobile collected 138 pints of blood at the First Presbyterian Church in Mocksville Monday, July 24. There were 17 recipients, 5 replacements and 22 first time donors.

A Mobile Laboratory was used for the first time, and of the total number of pints collected, 41 units of whole blood had the platelets spun out for the use of patients who have leukemia or who are hemophiliacs.

There was a special call for O Negative blood and 14 donors answered the appeal which was made by radio and telephone calls.

Mrs. Dee Hudspeth, Bloodmobile Volunteer chairman reported "that apparently the humid weather and people on vacation did not prevent us from having a very successful visit Monday. Also, we would like to issue a special thanks to everyone who came and participated at the Bloodmobile."

The following businesses were represented by two or more donors: Ingersoll-Rand... 43... 1 rejection; Heritage... 35... 11 rejections; Housewives... 8; Students... 5... 1 rejection; Davie County Hospital... 5... 1 rejection; Davie County Board of Education... 4; Belks... 2; Hanes... 3; U.S. Postal Service... 2; Roadway Express... 2; Western Electric... 2; Wilkins Drug Company... 2; Foster's Jeweler...

s... 1 rejection; Department of Social Services... 1 rejection. Other occupations and businesses represented... 18.

The Needle!

Some people are just afraid of a needle. And being well-fortified doesn't always alleviate this fear.

This was illustrated Tuesday at the emergency room of the Davie County Hospital. James Henry Myers of the Foster Apartments apparently had too much intoxicants and hit his fist against a glass door, receiving a severe cut. Mocksville Police Chief Joe Foster took Myers to the emergency room of the Davie County Hospital and left him for treatment, as he was called back to his office.

After Chief Foster left, Myers refused medical treatment and ran from the emergency room into the woods behind the hospital.

Mocksville Policeman Doug Seaford and Wayne Galther answered the call from the hospital and found that a hospital orderly had already caught Myers. They assisted in getting Myers back to the emergency room where 12 stitches were taken to close the wound in his hand.

He was then carried to the Davie County Jail and booked on public drunk charges.

Wins $100 In Contest

Mrs. Alice Britton of Depot Street, Mocksville, is shown receiving a $100 check from the Davie Chamber of Commerce president John Butero. Mrs. Britton was the winner of the Seventh Annual Mocksville Bargain Days Mystery Contest, sponsored by the Davie County Merchants Association. The drawing was held on Saturday, July 22, by the WDSL staff at the broadcast site on the court square, Mocksville, at 1:15 p.m.

Skyline And Mobile Homes Are Rotary Club Topics

Skyline Corporation and the mobile home industry was discussed for members of the Mocksville Rotary Club on Tuesday by Doug Anderson, Divisional Sales Manager for Skyline.

Mr. Anderson told the Rotarians that the mobile home industry accounted for 95 percent of all home sales below the $15,000 price... and that the average cost of a mobile home was around $7,500.

He also revealed that the under 30-years-of-age group accounted for over half the market for mobile homes. The ten largest mobile home producers accounts for more than half the total production. Skyline is the largest producer of mobile homes and has been in existence for 14 years. Last year this company had $326-million in sales, producing over 57,000 mobile homes. The corporation was number one in the United States for the second consecutive year for return on stock.

Mr. Anderson revealed that Skyline has 39 plants in operation, ten more under construction, and seven more in the planning stage.

The local plant of Skyline covers 80,000 sq. ft. At the present time the plant employs 53 persons and is producing six mobile homes per day.

"This is just a fourth of the capacity of the plant. Eventually we will produce 24 mobile homes per day and employ around 200 persons here in Mocksville," said Mr. Anderson.

Mr. Anderson is a native of Nebraska and has lived in Alabama and Texas for the past ten years. After graduating from college he spent four years in the U. S. Air Force as a Russian language specialist, interpreter, military advisor, and saw duty with the security service in Cambodia and Laos.

He has worked as a salesman for the Frieden Division of the Singer Company and sold computer input and data processing equipment for two years. He went to work for the Skyline Corporation in Decatur, Alabama as a salesman. He became product sales manager in Alabama and was promoted to his present position and transferred to Mocksville in October of 1971.

Johnny Roberts had charge of the program and introduced Mr. Anderson. President Wayne Eaton presided.

Conducted by the Department of Civil Engineering, School of Engineering and the Division of Continuing Education with the assistance and sponsorship of the North Carolina Section of the American Water Works Association, North Carolina League of Municipalities and the North Carolina State Board of Health, the purpose of the school is to improve the general level of water plant operation.

The latest developments and sound techniques are taught in classes organized by the North Carolina Water Works Operator's Association to meet the needs of operators at all levels. Operators who attend this school and pass the examination meet the requirements of the certification law passed by the 1969 General Assembly.

The contest is sponsored by the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company in association with the National Association of Conservation Districts (NACD).

J. C. Dagenhart, Stony Point, who was named the district's outstanding cooperator, and J. L. Rice, Statesville, member of the district's governing board, will be guests in December on a four-day, vacation-study trip to Marco Island, Florida. With representatives of other first-place districts throughout the nation, they will observe conservation projects and agriculture in the area and enjoy the island's recreational facilities.

The awards program gives recognition to first and second place conservation districts and to the outstanding cooperators of all competing districts in the 50 states and Puerto Rico.

Dancercise Course At YMCA

The Spruce Street Y.M.C.A. has scheduled a "dancercise" course for women beginning Thursday, August 3, at 7:30 p.m. The lessons will be one hour sessions for six weeks.

Discotheque (rock) dancing will be featured. This type of dancing is relaxing, good exercise and improves coordination. It is learned individually (without partners).

Basic patterns are easy and the style can be mastered at home by practicing in front of a full length mirror while listening to popular "rock" recordings.

There is no hand or body contact in discotheque dancing and body movement is emphasized rather than step patterns.

This is a new feature of the ballroom program and the classes are under the direction of Mrs. Dorothy Covington, Y.M.C.A. adult dance director. No special clothing is required.

Registration may be made by calling Mrs. Covington or Whit East at the Spruce Street Y.M.C.A.

BACHELOR

I have no wife or children, good or bad, to provide for; a mere spectator of other men's fortunes and adventures, and how they play their parts; which, methinks, are diversely presented unto me, as from a common theatre or scene. Burton.

Citizens Two Way Radio . . .

Adds To Enjoyment Of Outdoors

As millions of American families prepare to take to the outdoors this spring and summer, one piece of equipment is becoming more and more common — citizens two-way radio.

In some cases this is in the form of a portable for use in the field, but more often it is a unit installed in a vehicle to communicate from a camper, station wagon, boat or even an airplane. Because of the relative low cost and easy operation of this type of radio, it is ideal for emergency communications as well as an aid to the enjoyment of the outdoors. Presently 1.5 million motorists, nearly one out of sixty, are already equipped with this inexpensive, easy-to-use two-way radio.

Fisherman's Friend

Fishermen can communicate with one another whether on land or by boat to determine where they're biting and what bait is most successful. Many small boat operators, particularly on the inland lakes, find CB radio the only practical two-way system they can afford. While present Coast Guard policy does not provide for universal monitoring of CB channels, help can be summoned on Channel 9 and other channels due to the large numbers of volunteer monitors.

Keep in Touch — Anywhere! When camping, family members can communicate for several miles. The "telephone habit" children have developed in the city carries over into two-way radio to relieve parental anxiety so that everyone has more fun. Sudden weather emergencies or medical needs can be communicated to avoid serious complications caused by delay.

A recent development has aided the whole process. This is the designation of citizens radio Channel 9 as an official motorists assistance and emergency channel by the Federal Communications Commission. In addition to reporting accidents, disasters and other emergencies, motorists can call for road service, traffic information and travel directions to reach a destination.

The chances are excellent, almost anywhere in the country, that your message will be received by one of the tens of thousands of both volunteer and official assistance stations that are listening to the emergency channel 24 hours a day. 7 days a week to handle just such situations as yours. The monitor in turn telephones the nearest appropriate authority and in a matter of minutes, help is on the way.

One nationwide organization, REACT, has approximately 40,000 trained volunteers. Many independent citizens radio clubs perform similar services. Growing numbers of police departments, fire departments and civil defense organizations are cooperating. All together, the Electronic Industries Association estimates that nearly 3 million citizens radios already are in use in homes, boats, on the farm and in vehicles — not only to help out in emergencies but for personal communication by the average citizen.

Easy To Own and Operate

Citizens radios are as easy to use as a telephone — flip the selector knob to the desired channel, and push a button on the microphone to talk. Release the button to listen. No tests or special technical knowledge are required, but you do need an FCC license, obtainable on request. The fee is $20 for five years. The requirements for ownership are very simple. Citizens radios can be purchased at many department stores, electronic distributors and radio shops.

In addition to the emergency frequency, 22 additional channels are available for personal or business communications. For considerably less than $150, a radio may be purchased on which you can communicate on all 23 channels.

The Citizens Radio Section of the Electronic Industries Association has an informative pamphlet available that answers many questions about personal citizens two-way radio. It may be obtained by writing to E. I. A. Service Dept., 21 E. Hubbard, 11th floor, Chicago, Ill. 60611.

"Ladies Night"

At Bowman Gray

Perk Brown, Max Berrier and Alfred Hill are sharing the limelight as NASCAR's stock car racers prepare to return to Bowman Gray Stadium for Saturday's night 12th meet of the season - a 10-event "Ladies Night" program which will include races for "mini-stock" cars.

Brown - the slow-talking, fast-driving country store operator from Eden who has won more stadium races than any other man - led all the way last week in taking his third victory of the season and the 41st of his career on the quarter-mile asphalt track.

Berrier finished second in the 40-lap feature for Modified cars and increased his slender lead over Gerald Compton in the track standings that will determine the season championship which Berrier won last year for the first time. Berrier, the Winston-Salem ace who won eight races en route to the 1971 championship in the track's featured Modified Division, has only one victory this season.

Hill, the Jonesville driver who has opened a big lead in the standings for the Hobby (amateur) Division, got his second straight victory and his fourth of the season in last week's 20-lap Hobby Feature. The performance moved him to a 66-point lead over second-ranking Don Smith in the Hobby standings.

Terry King of Winston-Salem got his first 1972 victory in the 15-lap race for the Claiming (novice) Division last week, climbing into a second-place tie with Monroe York of Yadkinville in the Claiming standings. They are only 16 points behind leader Terry Beasley of High Point.

Gene Jones of Graham registered his second stadium triumph of the year in the 20-lap "mini-stock" feature.

A field of 70 to 80 cars is expected for Saturday's nights event. Practice runs will start with the opening of the gates at 6:30 p. m., and the first race is slated for 8:45 p. m.

The program will include two 10-lap heats and a 40-lap main event for the Modified cars; two 10-lap heats and a 20-lap feature for the Hobby Division; two 10-lap heats and a 20-lap feature for "mini-stocks" (imported compact sedans); and a 15-lap Claiming race.

As usual, observance of "Ladies Night" - with free admission to women - is expected to attract a near-capacity crowd to the 17,000-seat stadium.

Genetics, Infants, & Vitamins

Geneticists are classifying a growing list of inherited diseases. According to Dr. Leon I. Rosenberg, Director of Medical Genetics at Yale University, some of these diseases are so new that many pediatricians do not know that they may be detected in many mysterious ill infants, and treated with massive doses of vitamins.

Recent genetic research has focused on the problem of "inborn errors of metabolism." In many cases, such inborn diseases seem to prey exclusively on infants. Twelve of these diseases appear to be related to the body's abnormal dependence on vitamins, and all twelve seem to share a common characteristic, each apparently resulting from a defect in the body's ability to metabolize vitamins properly. Vitamins B1, B2, B6, B12, and D have thus far been implicated.

Current research carries an important message to pediatricians: If the physician sees a child that fails to thrive, is intolerant to protein, or has unexplained acidosis, (acid in blood), then that child ought to ring a bell for further study with regard to inborn metabolic diseases.

Veterans Eligible For Flood Relief

The Veterans Administration has outlined disaster relief measures for veterans whose homes were damaged or destroyed by tropical storm "Agnes." H. W. Johnson, Director of the Winston-Salem VA Regional Office, announced today.

Administrator of Veterans Affairs Donald E. Johnson noted that VA closely cooperates with Federal, state and local officials in aiding disaster victims.

"We will do everything we can to help," Johnson assured veterans who suffered losses from the storm.

He said VA is taking these steps for veterans:

-providing counseling and assistance in obtaining repair or reconstruction loans from the Small Business Administration or other Federal, state or local agencies.

-reinstating wherever possible GI loan benefits of veterans whose properties were totally destroyed, so they may obtain other guaranteed or direct loans.

-extending reasonable leniency to veterans with VA loans in default because of a disaster, and encouraging private mortgage lenders to do the same.

-making supplemental loans to veterans, where economically feasible, for repairs on uninsured, partially destroyed properties obtained with loans held by VA.

VA also may guarantee loans by private lenders to eligible veterans who have not used their GI loan benefits to buy or construct homes, or repair damaged properties, subject to certain lien requirements. Also, VA can make direct loans for the same purposes in areas where this type of loan is authorized Johnson pointed out.

Veterans or survivors whose properties obtained through VA assistance were damaged or destroyed by tropical storm "Agnes" or other disasters should contact their nearest VA office for assistance.

Tattle Tales

By Gordon Tomlinson

We all are creatures of habit...and some times strange and amusing things happen.

Take Mrs. Mary Forrest for instance.

Mary is the manager of the Mocksville-Davie Chamber of Commerce office. As such she is constantly signing papers as "Mary Forrest, Manager."

She and her husband, Roy Forrest, have a joint bank account. Their printed checks read: Mary or Roy Forrest.

Recently Mary signed one of these checks and without realizing it added the word "manager" after her name. For this she has been exposed to considerable ribbing such as: "Mary Forrest, Manager of a personal check, certainly makes it clear who is in charge at home!"

Branch Bank recently had a Master Charge contest and Larry Staley won a television set.

WHAT IS HORSEPOWER?

"Horsepower" is a word tossed casually about, but it is doubtful that few of the persons who use this word can define it. Horsepower is a measurement of the power capabilities of engine. One horsepower is the force needed to lift 33,000 pounds one foot per minute. Now, that's a lot of power!

Actually, one horsepower is considered half again the power which can be generated by the average horse. So, old "Nelly, the Nag," is not even considered to constitute one horsepower. No wonder it took so long to get about in a buggy back in the good old days. It's a lot easier with an automobile with a 300 horsepower engine under the hood.

We generate all the horsepower possible to serve your needs when you do business with us. Sample our fast, dependable service at your earliest convenience.

Guardsmen Return Home

North Carolina Army National Guardsmen of the 2d Battalion (Mechanized), 120th Infantry, returned to their home stations Saturday (July 22) following two weeks annual training at North Fort Hood, Texas.

Guardsmen will be driven from the military reservation to nearby airports where they will board chartered aircraft for the flight back to Charlotte's Douglas Airport.

The units, identified by their home towns, were scheduled to Charlotte on the following schedule:

Mount Airy and Newton, 10:05 a.m.; Mocksville, 1:40 p.m.; Morganton, 1:55 p.m.; Lexington, 2:52; Elkin, 2:50 p.m.; Salisbury, 5:30 p.m.; and Hickory, 9:15 p.m.

Chow Time!

MEN OF THE 2d Battalion (Mechanized), 120th Infantry, North Carolina Army National Guard, have one of many meals in the field during training exercises at North Fort Hood, Texas. Of the 15 days spent in Texas, most of the Guardsmen were in the field at least six days. This included the National Guard detachment from Mocksville.

Farm Tips

By Dr. J. W. Pou
Agricultural Specialist
Wechsler Bank & Trust Co., N.A.

The dominance of crops in North Carolina agriculture will end in the next five years and the state's $2 billion farm industry will strike a close balance between field crops and animals.

While King Tobacco will continue to contribute more than any other single commodity, it will, for the first time, lose ground.

These are conclusions reached in what is described as the most thorough study ever made of North Carolina's agricultural problems and potentials.

The study went into the formulation of the new five-year program of the N. C. Agricultural Extension Service, "Impact '76."

Each county in the state has planned, with the help of local citizens and under the direction of county extension agents, its own five-year development effort under the umbrella of the statewide program.

Projections indicate the highest degree of diversification ever for Tarheel farming. Income of the animal segment is pegged at $914 million and that from all crops at $990 million. A total increase of 19 percent is predicted, giving the state a gross farm income of $2.1 billion in 1976.

Planners indicate that income from poultry will approach the half-billion dollar mark by 1976, increasing nearly 42 percent. Broiler income could increase 55 percent.

Big gainers in livestock are expected to be hogs, 42 percent, and beef cattle, 25 percent. By 1976, income from these commodities and milk should total $424 million.

The field crops outlook is dominated by the projected slight decline - 7.3 percent - in income from blue-cured tobacco. This projection is based on the anticipated decline in acreage and pounds sold, even though an average price per pound of around 83 cents is foreseen by 1976.

The growth of soybeans and grain is tied closely to the state's rising position in animal agriculture. Corn income could climb 26 percent and soybeans 24 percent in the five-year period.

Larger farming units will be required for an adequate income from the major field crops and livestock commodities. But this doesn't mean small farmers necessarily have to leave the farm. There are opportunities for them, principally in certain specialty fields.

These opportunities are in the area of fruits, particularly strawberries, grapes and apples; vegetables; and ornamental and greenhouse crops.

Income from sweet potatoes could increase $6 million in five years to $22 million. Strawberries could jump 25 percent. Acreage of muscadine grapes could increase from 600 to around 2,000 acres with a tripling of income from this commodity to $1.5 million.

Trellised tomatoes continue to represent an opportunity in certain areas, particularly with respect to increased yields per acre. These could increase by 5 to 10 tons through better production practices.

She spoke on the expanded program for nutrition in Davie County, and gave an interesting discussion of the importance and desirability of the use of more chicken in our diet as a good source of protein. Her talk was labeled "Chicken American Style". She called attention to chicken's high protein qualities, low in calories, low cost and emphasized care in selection, handling and preparation for freezing, etc.

She gave each member a printed list of recipes for cooking chicken and this included some of Thomas Jefferson's favorites, that were used at Monticello.

Mrs. West had prepared a casserole of hot chicken salad, which was served along with the hostess delicious congealed salad and fruit punch. This is her recipe. Try it sometime. It is so good.

Hot Chicken Salad

2 cups stewed chicken, chopped
1 cup diced celery
3 hardboiled eggs
1/2 cup mayonaisse
1 tb. lemon juice
1 can creamed chicken soup
1/4 cup silver almonds, or water chestnuts
Salt and pepper to taste

Mix and put in buttered casserole and top with prepared cornbread dressing or bread crumbs. Bake in 400 oven for 20 minutes.

LINVILLE CAMPER RESORT -- Campers at Linville Land Harbor in Western North Carolina enjoy this new community activities building and swimming pool. The resort has tennis, sailing, excellent fishing, and a golf course in progress. Carolina Caribbean is the developer.

Linville Camper Resort Development

Land Harbor resort campers at Linville are enjoying a new activities building, tennis courts, swimming pool, shuffleboard courts and paved parking.

Outdoor lovers from all over the Eastern United States have made the Land Harbor concept work at Linville, along with its developer, Carolina Caribbean Corporation.

The firm is a resort and recreation-land developer based at nearby Beech Mountain, N.C. Campers of all types buy and rent sites at a Land Harbor. In addition to the community building and existing sports, heavy grading and excavation is in progress for the nine-hole golf course at Linville. Fairways and tees are already shaping up and contractors predict all construction will be finished next spring.

Land Harbors offer owners of cottage and recreational vehicle sites total resort living without ever having to worry about finding an overnight or weekend site.

Most owners construct permanent deck-patios at Land Harbor operations. Many include storage sheds and outdoor fireplaces for use with the varied campers and recreational vehicles.

Secluded, wooded lots and patios are complemented by the main village area and five strategically located bathhouses, where public phones and laundry and bathing facilities are present.

Indoor games, community meetings and dances, and parties take place in the new activities building adjacent to the large swimming pool.

Other seasonal happenings are sailing and canoeing, excellent fishing in fully stocked 65-acre Linville Land Harbor Lake, and occasional rallies of visiting "RV" owners. Regular square dances and entertainment take place at the village.

For those not occupying the sites, Carolina Caribbean Corporation provides a rental service. Full utility hook-ups exist at all Linville sites.

At the Linville site, minutes away from the Blue Ridge Parkway off U.S. 221, the land is a blend of true wilderness and the developed resort facilities on prime medium elevation ground. Several major resorts and tourist attractions are only minutes away.

There is a trout hatchery on the premises and 20-inch fish are commonplace when residents and visitors challenge the Linville River and the Land Harbor Lake.

Commercial support services adjacent to the resort are nearing completion. Included are a grocery and a service station.

Land Harbors of America plans several other such resorts throughout the South, according to corporation officials.

Local Student Doing Internship Work

Morrison Gray Carter Jr. of Advance Rt. 2 is a Mars Hill College intern with Southside Baptist Church in Lincolnton conducting a direct service project in summer youth programs. He is a senior religion major.

All told 62 students are involved in Mars Hill's annual summer internship program which began in 1969. The interns had to write a learning contract specifying their learning objectives of jobs or experiences and the processes by which they were to accomplish their objectives. Contracts had to be signed by an academic department chairman and a faculty advisor.

Dr. Edward Angus, academic internship director for the college's community development institute, said "Summer jobs can be learning experiences, which implies all jobs can be. The internship program gives students familiarity with experiential learning and they will be more able to recognize potential in any job for learning."

Not all internships were jobs, though, he said. He cited one student who had to take a two-week military training course. Before the course the student took a battery of psychological test to determine how he related to people and to himself. After the course he took the same test and, by comparing the two results, he will see the effect the training had on him, Angus said.

Fifty-one of the interns are involved in projects in the Southern Appalachian region. Mars Hill is located in the mountains of western North Carolina near Asheville.

"Jesse Helms is not one of your back-slapping, hand-wringing, affable garden variety political office seekers." — Virginian Pilot 7/27/72

Down in Monroe, where Jesse Helms was born and reared, the folks remember him who worked three different part-time jobs — afternoons and evenings, after school and all day Saturday. Those were the depression days, and times were hard — and Jesse Helms learned that America is a land of opportunity for those who make the effort. This is the same Jesse Helms who was overwhelmingly nominated for the United States Senate back on May 6. He's the Jesse Helms whom you can help elect to work for you in Washington. He's not a politician — he's a citizen candidate who is concerned about the future of our children. Jesse Helms is a man who has earned scores of awards because he cares about people and because he has worked and fought for the principles of freedom and justice. North Carolina knows where Jesse Helms stands. You can stand with Jesse Helms in November.

Golden Age Club

Wednesday morning at ten o'clock, 42 senior citizens gathered in the Rotary Hut for their regular monthly meeting.

After a hearty welcome from the president, Jim Bowles, a song fest was enjoyed by the group. The Rev. Bob Cook from the Sheffield United Methodist Church was guest speaker and he delivered a message of encouragement. He said, "There is a purpose in the living of our lives, that each person gains by living above the circumstances of day to day existence." He closed with a prayer of Thanksgiving.

A new member, Mrs. Nellie W. White was voted into the membership of the club. Visitors included Mrs. Louise Nading of Winston-Salem, Mrs. Ina A. Potter, Mrs. Lois Glascock, Rev. Cook and John Barber who were welcomed.

Mrs. Ruth Preston was honored for a July birthday anniversary.

The program was presented by John Barber, County manager of Davie County. He discussed different Community Centers in Davie and told of some of the educational things that are being planned to be carried out in these centers.

J. S. Haire dismissed the meeting with prayer after which light refreshments and a social half hour was enjoyed.

... about your Social Security

by Vernice Fulcher

Until this year my vacation consisted of a visit with my folks on the farm. This year my husband and I decided to branch out a little, and after a week-end at Mon's we drove to Virginia for a few days. The day we left the weather was beautiful and our excitement high. We had planned to see everything we could possibly squeeze into five days. On Tuesday the news broadcasts were filled with reports of the hurricane, but we kept thinking it would not come our way. You know how it is, you think those things just happen to someone else. The rain came and still our spirits weren't dampened. Wednesday we were in Charlottesville when we finally decided the weather would prevent our going through the mountains. The water began to rise and one after another the roads closed. Only then, when we were virtually "trapped", did the seriousness and danger begin to sink in! We were lucky because we managed to leave just ahead of the worse, and instead of stopping in Richmond as we had planned, we came on home. Over and over I kept thinking what a close call for us and how terrible off so many who were not that lucky. No doubt, most thought as we did, "it won't happen to me."

Disability and death are two things we also think of as "just happening to the other fellow." Neverthe less, every day I talk with disabled workers or survivors of worker who feel it couldn't happen to them. It won't hurt to have a little knowledge of what you can depend on from social security if something should happen to you. Why don't you call or write us today and ask for Booklet No. 35, YOUR SOCIAL SECURITY.

Our address is 105 Corriher Avenue, Salisbury, NC 28144. Our Telephone Number is: 633-6470.

Q. My father opened a bank account for our week-old son. The bank asked for his social security number. I thought you had to work to get a number. Are they wrong? Or am I?

A. Sorry, but you are wrong this time. The bank needs a social security number to report interest credited to his account to the Internal Revenue Service. You can get an application blank from the social security office and complete it so your son will have a number of his own.

Q. Someone told me my mother could receive a widow's benefit although she is only 53 years old. Is this true?

A. Disabled widow's benefits are paid to women who (1) are disabled, (2) are at least age 50, (3) and became disabled to do any work within 7 years from the date her husband died or within 7 years after the time she drew benefits as a mother. Your mother should contact a social security office for more detailed information.

Q. I will be 65 years old in two months. I am working and not eligible for social security benefits. I've heard I should apply for Medicare anyway. Is this true? Can I be covered by Medicare?

A. You can enroll in the Medicare Program and have full coverage starting with the month you are 65 if you apply now. Your working does not affect your eligibility for Medicare in any way.

They laughed when I bought my first Bond.

In my neighborhood everyone was poor. Most of us were lucky if we had enough food to eat or clothes to wear. So like most kids we spent a lot of time talking about the things we wanted out of life. Things like owning a big car, wearing fine clothes and going to all of the best places. Boy, we could hardly wait to grow up.

Like the other kids I had little odd jobs in grammar school but I got my first real job when I started high school. I was a junior clerk in a big department store. That's where I first heard about U.S. Savings Bonds. My boss asked me if I wanted to join the Payroll Savings Plan and I said yes. A month later I got my first bond.

When my friends found out they really had a good laugh. Imagine buying U.S. Savings Bonds when there were so many other great things to buy. Well, they kept laughing and I kept saving all through high school.

After graduation some of us wanted to go to college. And that's when my Bonds really came in handy. They not only helped pay my tuition, but also helped buy some books.

Well, I'm a senior now and looking forward to graduation. Unfortunately, a lot of my friends never even got started. And to think, they laughed when I bought my first Bond.

Now U.S. Bonds pay 5 1/2% interest when held to maturity of 5 years, 10 months (4% the first year). Bonds are replaced if lost, stolen, or destroyed. When needed they can be cashed at your bank. Interest is not subject to state or local income taxes, and federal tax may be deferred until redemption.

Take stock in America.

Vets Corner

Q. What should I do if my VA benefit check does not arrive on time?

A. Two things. (a) Wait long enough to be sure the mails have cleared. (b) Write to the VA regional office which has your claim file, including your name if you're a veteran, or the deceased veteran's name if it is a death claim, and your claim number. Never write the Treasury Department, as this will only prolong the delay in receiving your check.

Sunday was a good day at the Green Meadows church as the fifth anniversary was observed. Members and friends enjoyed a bounteous luncheon at the enclosed fellowship center. The center was dedicated at the noon hour. The day was very hot and the lemonade barrel was the center of attraction. The Rev. A. C. Cheshire, who was the first pastor of Green Meadows church was the evening speaker.

Gray Matthews was admitted to Davie County hospital on Saturday afternoon with chest pains. He is receiving treatment in the coronary unit. Tests thus far do not show an attack, but the treatment is being given as a precautionary measure. He is not allowed visitors at this time.

Mrs. Gray Beauchamp returned home on Sunday from Davie County hospital. She is now in satisfactory condition. Mr. and Mrs. Jesse King visited Mrs. Bessie Smith at her home on Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Nester and daughter, Jeannie, Mrs. Betty Nester and Mr. and Mrs. Omar Bowman enjoyed an excursion on "Twetzie" on Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. Joe Langston and grandson, Jimmy spent a few enjoyable hours on Saturday with Miss Phoebe Eaton at her homeplace.

The Mitchell Wheeler family enjoyed a few days vacation at the beach last week. Mrs. Linda Carter and Mrs. Elaine Bowles joined as hostess at the home of Mrs. Bowles on Saturday evening honoring Mrs. David Felts with a pink and blue shower. A color scheme of green and yellow was used in the refreshments and decorations. The honoree received many gifts.

Kathy Carter was honored with a party at her home Saturday for her third birthday anniversary. Host and hostess were her parents. Several little friends were invited for the occasion.

Seems almost everyone enjoys hearing the cute things our children say - so here's a few: Angie Boyer, who is almost three years old, lives near the fire station in Farmington. She is a bit frightened of the alarm, so to reassure her, Angie's mother tells her when it sounds at noon that it is saying, "It's time for lunch." On a recent night in the wee hours of the morning, the alarm sounded awakening Angie, so when her parents went to her bed, she said, "It's saying time to get up!"

Loretta Bowles age two, carried her plate to the refreshment table and put it up near the salted nut dish and said, "Mama, I want some more pinto's".

Jeannie Nester was playing in the backyard at her grandmother's and a neighbor brought some corn. Jeannie immediately started shucking an ear of the corn and when told to stop messing with it, she said, "Well, I am not eating it, I am just picking the hairs off!"
