Davie Designated Disaster Area By U. S. Department Of Agriculture

Davie County was recently designated as a disaster area by the Secretary of Agriculture under Public Law 85-59 as a result of hurricane damages which caused excessive rainfall or flooding.

Funds have been allocated for cost-share assistance to farmers who perform emergency conservation measures to rehabilitate farmlands damaged by the flooding.

Practices available under the Emergency REAP are as follows:

- F-4-B (3) Restoring Farmland and Conservation Measures:
- (A) Removal of excessive deposits of debris and sediment.
- (B) Shaping, grading, filling, or leveling of eroded or gullied land, or slide areas.
- (C) Repairing terraces, terrace outlets, levees, sod waterways, farm ponds, and farm drainage systems, including reestablishment of necessary vegetative cover required by technical standards for the conservation measure.

Advance Post Office Offers Carrier's Exam

The United Postal Service has announced an examination for substitute rural carrier of record at the U.S. Post Office in Advance.

All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, national origin, sex, political affiliation, or any other non-merit factor.

Applicants are now being accepted and examination will be given to establish a register of eligibles from which future carrier of record vacancies in the Advance post office will be filled. All interested persons who meet the requirement are urged to apply.

Application card PS Form 2479AB is available at the U.S. Post Office in Advance. Applications must be submitted to the postmaster of the Advance Post Office before August 17, 1972.

No Arrests In 2 Cases

Investigation is reportedly continuing in the case involving the ambushing of James Albert Tise on July 6th and in the assault incident at a local service station on July 23rd.

Local law officials report no arrests have been made in either case.

Mr. Tise is reported still improving at his home from the gunshot wounds suffered when he was ambushed July 6th as he closed the Crossroads Grocery on US 64 East.

conservation problems caused solely or principally by excessive rainfall or flooding in June 1972.

Maximum Federal Cost-Shares for these practices shall not exceed 80 percent of the actual cost of materials, labor, and machinery used for eligible restoration measures.

The initial sign-up for these practices will be from July 31-August 11, 1972. Funds are limited so interested producers having farmland damaged by the flooding which needs

Escapee Is Recaptured

Leonard Mayhew, who escaped from the Forsyth Prison Unit two weeks ago, was recaptured around 2 a.m. Wednesday morning by members of the Davie County Sheriff's Department.

Break-Ins At Greasy Corner

An attempted break-in at a service station at Greasy Corner was thwarted early Tuesday morning when the owner or operator appeared on the scene.

At least two men fled. Members of the Davie County Sheriff's Department, assisted by bloodhounds brought from Salisbury, continued the search throughout the night.

It was also discovered the Jerusalem Fire Department Station had been broken into but nothing apparently was reported missing.

Jim Hunt Here

Jim Hunt, Democratic candidate for Lieutenant Governor, will visit in Mocksville on Thursday, August 3rd. He will be at the Martin and Martin Law Office at 8 a.m.

New Deputy Is Named

Robert Cook of Mocksville Rt. 7 has been named as deputy sheriff of Davie County.

Sheriff Joe Smith announced that Deputy Cook assumed duties as of July 26th.

Deputy Cook is a native of Davie County and has been a member of the Thomasville Police Department for the past three months.

Patrolman Hahn Resigns

State Highway Patrolman R. H. Hahn, who has been stationed in Mocksville since January 5, 1970, has resigned effective July 31st.

Mr. Hahn plans to return to his home in Waynesville. His first station with the highway patrol was in Davie County.

Storm Damage

A thunderstorm, with high winds, did extensive damages in certain areas of Davie County Tuesday evening around 7 p. m.

Many roads were closed with trees blown across; telephone and electrical power service was disrupted in many areas.

Full extent of the damages had not been determined at press time.

Rate and Data Service. It gives comparable data for every section of the country.

In Davie County, it shows, a large part of the dollar went to stores selling food and automotive equipment. Between them they garnered 47 percent of all retail business in the area.

Throughout the United States as a whole, they accounted for only 41 percent and in the South Atlantic States, 42 percent.

The breakdown reveals that food sales alone, in bakeries, butcher shops, supermarkets, grocery stores and such amounted to $5,022,000, compared with the previous year's $4,725,000.

This was solely for food bought for home consumption. It does not include money spent in restaurants and in other eating and drinking places.

Business was good, also, in the automotive field, where sales of cars, motorcycles and related products added up to $5,609,000. The 1970 total was $4,747,000.

Department stores and variety shops selling general merchandise grossed $1,560,000, as against the prior year's $1,471,000.

Those carrying coats, dresses, hats, shoes and other wearing apparel did $337,000. Previously it was $342,000.

The receipts in stores selling furniture and other home furnishings came to $1,014,000. The former total was $874,000.

No Speaker This Year

Masonic Picnic Is Next Week

by Brenda Summers

Time quite often brings changes. And the changes frequently alter or end past traditions.

And this year there will be a departure from a tradition at the Annual Masonic Picnic Day to be held at Clement Grove in Mocksville, Thursday, August 10th. A featured guest speaker will not be a part of the morning program.

The 92nd Annual Picnic Week is August 7-12.

"It is an evolution process. The traditional speaker had been drawing less and less of a crowd; and it was embarrassing to have a state figure there when only 100-200 people showed up and often some of those did not listen," explained Lester Martin, Jr., vice-chairman of the Masonic Picnic as reasons for not having a speaker this year.

"We felt we needed to revise the program to keep it current with changing customs and times. We will still have a morning program, though, which will feature the Davie High Band and the Oxford Orphanage Glee Club," Martin said.

He added that dignitaries from the Eastern Star and Oxford Orphanage would also speak to the crowd. The Masons do not plan to eliminate the morning program entirely because they felt they needed some type of program where people could meet and congregate before lunch instead of standing in line in the hot sun at the gate.

Martin said he was sure that they would continue with the famed picnic dinner as long as the housewives would prepare the meals. In the past few years approximately 700-1000 people have come for the famed dinner which features country ham, fried chicken, all types of sandwiches, cakes, and pies.

A Day Early

Because of the 92nd Annual Masonic Picnic the publication of the Enterprise-Record will be moved up one day next week.

Next week we will print and mail our issue on Tuesday instead of Wednesday. The deadline for news and advertising for this issue will be Monday, rather than Tuesday.

The issue next week will be combined with our annual Masonic Picnic edition and should reach all subscribers on Wednesday.

Davie Would Get $241,084 Under Revenue Sharing

If the revenue sharing bill passed recently by the House of Representatives is adopted by the Senate and signed by the President, preliminary figures show that Davie County governments will receive a total of $241,084, according to Congressman Nick Galifianakis. Of this amount, the Town of Mocksville would receive $30,547 under the proposed plan.

Galifianakis, a member of the House Appropriations Committee, voted for the revenue sharing when it was approved 274 to 124 by the House on June 22.

Formally titled the State and Local Fiscal Assistance Act of 1972, the measure calls for North Carolina's state government to receive about $36.3 million annually and Tarheel county and municipal governments collectively about $76.8 million. A total of approximately $113.1 million in federal revenues would flow into North Carolina.

"This bill is not perfect, but it is an improvement over the present state and local tax situations," Galifianakis said. "It will equalize some tax inequities and will breathe new life into many of our hard-pressed local governments."

Hospital Seeks Electrical Bids

The Davie County Hospital is readvertising this week for bids on the electrical work for the proposed enlarging and renovating its facilities.

The readvertising became necessary because of the lack of response by electrical contractors to the proposal advertised on June 29th. Only three bids were received last Thursday on the electrical contracting and five are required. Ample bids were submitted on all other phases of the proposed construction. However, no contracts could be awarded until all is complete.

Proposals will be received on the electrical work until 2:30 p. m. Thursday, August 17th. The work consists of the addition of outpatient facilities and alterations to the Davie Hospital. The work includes electrical wiring, lighting systems, electrical equipment and appurtenances thereto, as described in the drawings and specifications.

Rainfall

Following a wet June, the month of July proved somewhat drier.

A total of 2.45 inches of rain was measured here during July according to C. F. Meroney, Jr., official measurer for the county. The normal rainfall for July is 4.88. Rain fell last week was .83 inches.

Schedule For Landfill

Effective August 1st the Davie County Landfill will be open daily from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m., Monday through Saturday. This time will be in effect through the day light saving time period.

The announcement was made by County Manager John Barber. Mr. Barber said a new schedule would be adopted at the end of daylight saving time this fall.

"All citizens are urged to use the landfill but instructions must be followed in disposing of trash at the landfill," said Mr. Barber.

Horse Struck; Rider Injured

The rider of a horse is in serious condition at the Forsyth Memorial Hospital following an accident Friday on NC 801 near Macedonia Church.

Ann Griffin Allen, 27, of Advance, Rt. 1, was seriously injured when the horse which she was riding was hit by a 1964 Ford being driven by Woodrow Wilson Howell, 50, of Mocksville, Rt. 2. The horse was killed.

According to State Highway Patrolman A. C. Stokes, the Ford was headed east on NC 801 when the horse and rider came from a side road into the path of the car. The horse reportedly was running out of control of the rider when it ran onto the highway into the path of the vehicle. The horse, valued at $500, was owned by Oscar Blackwell of Advance, Rt. 1.

Damage to the car was estimated at $400. The accident occurred around 6:10 p. m., Friday.

New Soil Conservationist Is Transferred To Davie County

Clifford N. Sybolt, Soil Conservationist with the USDA-Soil Conservation Service, has been transferred from Fairmont, West Virginia to Mocksville, where he will fill the position of Soil Conservationist in the Davie Work Unit, effective July 24, 1972.

A native of Kingwood, West Virginia, Mr. Sybolt is a 1967 graduate of West Virginia University where he received his B. S. degree in Animal Science. He has been employed by SCS since his college graduation, after earlier service as a student trainee.

In his new assignment, he will be responsible for giving technical help to farmers and other landowners, as well as units of government who are cooperating with the Davie Soil and Water Conservation District.

He is married to the former Jeanne Cox of Waynesburg, Pa., and they have one son, Andy. They will be residing in Sheffield Park and are members of the Methodist Church.

Mr. Sybolt is a member of the Soil Conservation Society of America.

Davie Grocery Bill Exceeds $5-Million Per Year

How much are Davie County families spending per year? Where are they spending it and for what?

According to figures just released, consumer outlays in local retail stores for food, clothing, furniture, cars and other commodities were at a higher level during the past year than had been expected.

Most local families, enjoying bigger incomes than in other years, were in a position to spend more freely and they did so, but somewhat cautiously.

With the war still going on and with inflation and unemployment disturbing factors in the national economy, they chose to limit their expenditures, putting the excess into savings.

All in all, however, local merchants had a good year, compared with 1970.

The facts and figures, showing how the consumer dollar was distributed locally, are contained in a new market study made by the Standard

Rate and Data Service. It gives comparable data for every section of the country.

In Davie County, it shows, a large part of the dollar went to stores selling food and automotive equipment. Between them they garnered 47 percent of all retail business in the area.

Throughout the United States as a whole, they accounted for only 41 percent and in the South Atlantic States, 42 percent.

Now that picnicing is a gala function with the young and the old alike we are always hunting simple recipes to take with us and not be an over-strain on the mother. If you like yourself and love your home and family we will relax and take it easy once and a while. If have found a quick-n-easy Baked Bean recipe that might be just what you are looking for.

QUICK-N-EASY BAKED BEANS

1 cup chopped onions
2 tablespoons fat
6 cans (1 lb. each) pork and beans

1 can (8 oz.) tomato sauce
2 tablespoons salt
1 cup chili sauce
1/4 cup brown sugar
1/4 cup prepared mustard
12 slices Canadian Style Bacon

Cook onions until soft in hot fat for about 10 minutes. Stir in remaining ingredients. Pour into a quart casserole dish. Bury bacon slices in the beans. Bake uncovered in 325 degree oven for two hours. Towards the end of baking time fork bacon to top. Before serving, garnish with a few onion slices. Makes 12 to 14 servings. For the remainder of this picnic lunch, serve a tossed salad, brown bread, watermelon and lemonade. Perfect for that gang just out of the old swimming hole!

Then there is the simple: CANADIAN STYLE BACON TREATS

8 slices Canadian style bacon

cut 1/2 inch thick
3 cups German potato salad heated
4 English muffins medium size, split and toasted

Broil Canadian style bacon about 2 or 3 inches from the heat. Brown one side of bacon for about 5 to 6 minutes. Turn on other side and broil for 3 to 4 minutes. Put 1/2 cup potato salad on toasted muffin half. Top with a slice of Canadian style bacon and garnish with a Kabob of ripe olives, green olives, pickled onions, cantaloupe pickled.

DEVELOPED BEEF PATTIES

1 lb. ground beef
3 tablespoons catsup
1 tablespoon worcestershire sauce
1 tablespoon grated onion
1 tablespoon horseradish
1 tablespoon prepared mustard
1/4 cup fine diced bread crumbs
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1 clove garlic, minced

Combine all ingredients. Mix well and shape into patties. Charcoal grill or broil, allowing three inches between heat and surface of meat. Brown on one side 6 to 8 minutes. Brown on other side 4 minutes longer. This outdoor summer treat is best when served with baked beans, potato chips, relish, cup cakes and oatmeal cookies and fruit punch.

You will long remember this extra tasty food, whether it is at a party, picnic or swimming.

Heffner - Aaron Wedding Ceremony Saturday In Salisbury

Miss Grace Lyndelle Aaron became the bride of David Oren Heffner Saturday, July 29, at Omwake Deaborn Chapel in Salisbury. Rev. Charles Bullock, pastor of First Baptist Church in Mocksville, performed the 7 p.m. ceremony. Terry Williams, organist, presented the musical program.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Edwin Aaron of 504 Richmond Road in Salisbury. She is a graduate of Salisbury High School and is also a Dean's List graduate of Western Carolina University with a BS degree in early childhood education. While at WCU she was a member of the Sigma Kappa sorority. She was a teacher at the Mocksville Elementary School and is now employed as director of the Chapel Hill Day Care Center in Chapel Hill, N.C. She is the granddaughter of Mrs. N.C. Powell of Winter Haven, Florida.

The groom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oren Judson Heffner of 733 Park Avenue, Mocksville, is a graduate of Davie County High School. He is a Dean's List graduate of Wake Forest University with a BBA degree. His fraternity at Wake Forest was Delta Kappa Epsilon and he was treasurer. He served as president of Alpha Kappa Psi, and was student assistant to Bab Graduate School of Management. He will attend the school of law and the graduate school of business at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill where he will obtain a Master of Business Administration Juris Doctor degree. Mr. Heffner is the grandson of Mrs. J. B. Sharpe of Mocksville and Mrs. Claude Heffner of Maiden, N. C.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of silk organza trimmed with Alencon lace and tiny seed pearls with an A-line skirt, empire bodice and long bishop sleeves with Calla point at the wrist. The cathedral length train was trimmed with Alencon lace and seed pearls. Her headpiece was a band of organza loops decorated with matching lace and seed pearls and held an elbow length veil of illusion. She carried a cascade of miniature pink and white roses, lily of the valley, stephanotis and white satin streamers tied with love knots.

Miss Charlene Watkins of Charlotte was maid of honor and Mrs. Roger Secrest of Wingate was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Pam Isley and Miss Susan Hurst of Winston-Salem; Miss Cynthia Heffner of Mocksville, sister of the groom; and Mrs. Leslie Herring of Cullowhee. The attendants' dresses were of imported taffeta plaid in shades of light pink, hot pink, blue and yellow with hot pink ties and headpieces. The dresses featured sailor collars. They carried cascade bouquets of miniature pink roses, yellow daisies and gypsophylla with pink streamers.

Kathy Addington of Winter Haven, Florida, a cousin of the bride, was a junior bridesmaid. Steve Heffner of Mocksville, brother of the groom, was a junior usher. The refreshment table, covered with a white linen cloth, was centered with an arrangement of Queen Anne's lace and fern.

Organ music was provided by Jerry Moore during the reception. Mrs. Fred Santiago presided at the guest register. The tables were decorated with garlands of smilax and nosegays of pink roses. Other arrangements of snapdragons and antherium were placed around the club. Candelabras were used on the serving table and mantle with flower arrangements.

For her wedding trip to Florida, the bride wore a gold knit ensemble with striped bodice and black top stitching. Her accessories were black and her corsage was of roses.

FINAL PARTIES

Final parties feted Miss Lyn Aaron and David Heffner of Mocksville on Friday and Saturday prior to their Saturday evening wedding at Omwake-Deaborn Chapel, Catawba College.

On Friday evening the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oren Heffner of Mocksville entertained at a rehearsal dinner at the Lamplighter Room of Howard Johnson's for 25 which included members of the wedding party. The Rev. Charles Bullock, pastor of First Baptist Church, Mocksville and Mrs. Bullock.

The bride wore a long dress of multi-color print on white pique. The table was centered with an arrangement of roses in mixed shades.

WEDDING BREAKFAST

A wedding breakfast held at 12 noon on Saturday at the Salisbury Country Club honored the bridal couple.

Hosts included Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Crayton, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hardesty, Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Lampert, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Rangeley, Dr. and Mrs. Alan Scott, Mr. and Mrs. James Wittington. Mr. and Mrs. James Scott.

The 63 guests included members of the wedding party, families of the couple and those from out of town to attend the wedding.

The bride's table, covered with white net and lace, was centered with a silver bowl holding pink Sweetheart roses and white snapdragons, flanked by silver candelabra with epergnettes holding more of the pink rosebuds.

Nosegays of the pink rosebuds and white snapdragons centered the family table.

Vogler - Hall Wedding Held Sunday At First Baptist

Miss Elizabeth Hall of Mocksville and Enoch Edward Vogler, Jr. of Advance were united in marriage in a double ring ceremony Sunday, July 30th, at 4 p.m. at First Baptist Church. Rev. Charles E. Bullock conducted the ceremony.

The music for the wedding was presented by Mrs. Donald W. Bingham, organist, and Mrs. Paddison W. Preston of Yadkinville, the bride's aunt.

Mrs. Preston sang "The Greatest of These Is Love" by Bitgood. The bride's bridesmaids were "Wedding Processional" from "The Sound of Music" and "Trumpets Voluntary" by Purcell. The recessional was "Toccata" by Widor.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Hall and the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. E. Edward Vogler of Advance. The bride is a 1970 graduate of Davie County High School. She has attended Wake Forest University and UNC-Greensboro. The groom is a 1969 graduate of Davie County High School. He attended High Point College for two years. He is presently a senior at UNC-Chapel Hill.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of ivory organza. The high neck, Empire bodice and lily point sleeves were enhanced by Alencon lace and seed pearls. The skirt and attached train were bordered by matching lace and pearls. Her headpiece was of silk illusion mounted on a Juliet cap of Alencon lace and seed pearls. She carried a single white orchid trimmed with white roses and stephanotis on a Bible which was printed in 1818 and has been carried by five generations previously in marriage ceremonies. She also carried the wedding handkerchief of her great, great grandmother, Susan Poindexter Johnson, who was married August 23, 1859. The bride is one of several descendants to carry this handkerchief to the altar.

Miss Nancy Preston of Yadkinville was her cousin's maid of honor and Mrs. Katie Hairston of Raleigh was matron of honor. Their full length gowns were of apricot chiffon trimmed with embroidered ribbon. They carried bouquets of orange, yellow and green daisies and stephanotis. Bridesmaids were Miss Cynthia Glascock of Mocksville, Miss Annette Marsh of Greensboro, Miss Debbie Griffith of Hendersonville and Mrs. Joseph B. Jarvis and Mrs. Samuel R. Wolfe, Jr. of Winston-Salem, the latter a sister of the groom. They wore identical gowns and carried identical flowers like those of the honor attendants.

The groom's father was best man and ushers were Ronald H. Vogler of Cullowhee, the groom's brother; William Hall of Mocksville, the bride's brother; Dave Wyatt of Winston-Salem; and, Robert Tutterow, Freddie Wall and Tim Allen, all of Mocksville.

The ring bearer was the bride's cousin, Master Brian Key of Jacksonville, Florida. The bride's brother, Sam Hall, and the groom's brother, Tim Vogler, served as acolytes.

A reception was held in the church Fellowship Hall by the bride's parents immediately following the ceremony.

The table was covered with a white lace cloth and centered with an arrangement of yellow and white mums. Silver candelabra and white tapered candles were used. A silver punch bowl was also used.

Madisons Honored By Daughter On Anniversary

In honor of the 50th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Royd B. Madison, their daughter, Mrs. William B. White, Jr. of Tampa, Florida, was hostess at a reception at their home in Garden Valley Estates in Mocksville Sunday, July 23, from 2 to 5:30 p.m.

Mr. and Mrs. Madison and Mrs. White greeted the guests and Miss Jerry Van Hoy and Mr. and Mrs. Harper Van Hoy directed the people to the dining room. Miss Kathryn Arey and Mrs. Bill Howard poured the punch and Mrs. William B. Brumble served the cake, cheese flowers, sandwiches and mints. The cake was three tiered and decorated in yellow and orange roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas White and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rauch greeted the guests in the gift room. Mr. and Mrs. Ross K. Clendenin showed the guests "The Picture Room" where pictures of all former school children and all the traveling friends of the couple were on display. Mrs. Jewell Sloan Zachary and Miss Blanche Wilhelm kept the guest register.

Goodbyes were said to Rev. and Mrs. H. Wade Hutchins and Mr. and Mrs. G.R. Madison. Over 350 people called during the afternoon. There were guests from South Carolina, Virginia, Florida and Rose Belle Mauritius, Indian Ocean. The Madison's grandchildren, Mr. and Mrs. W.T. White of Gainesville, Florida, and Mr. and Mrs. James G. Warner of Jacksonville, Florida, were among those present.

The honorees received congratulations and best wishes from West Virginia, Virginia, Florida, Alabama, South Carolina, Cairo, Egypt, Israel, Jerusalem, Paris, France and Fairbanks, Alaska.

Mrs. Madison wore a gold dress that she had made and she had also made the necklace she wore. The gold satin and net tablecloth and most of the decorations in the home were also of her own creation.

The Madisons have lived very interesting lives. They taught school for over thirty years. He was principal of the school most of the time and he was an athletic coach for many years. In fact, he has been called "double dribble."

Mrs. Madison taught the 1st grade for many years and she had been involved in handicrafts. In fact, she has lost count of the teas, banquets, homes and weddings that she has decorated for. And, she done professional sewing for over twenty years.

Now, both of the Madisons have been conducting tours.

Tar Heel Spotlight

Department of ART, CULTURE, and HISTORY
Sam Ragan, Secretary

Prior to 1948 most discussions of American silversmiths made no reference to North Carolina. A widespread opinion was expressed by one citizen who said, "This was a very poor state, and the early people could not afford silver."

A study authored by the late Dr. George Barton Cutten and published in 1948 by the Department of Archives and History disproved that statement, at least in part. Dr. Cutten documented the existence of about 180 silversmiths who worked at their craft in North Carolina between 1739 and 1850. (Many, admittedly, were silversmiths only on a part-time basis.)

The published booklet contained the names of all the known silversmiths, a brief biography of each, a listing by the locality in which they worked, several photographs of silver pieces made in the state, and several examples of the "touchmarks" by which the silversmiths identified their work.

Entitled "The Silversmiths of North Carolina," the booklet has been out of print since the mid 1950s and has become a relatively valuable collector's item in its own right.

Due to the continuing interest and demand, the booklet is now being revised with additions for reprinting this fall. Since the first printing, thirty-four additional Tar Heel silversmiths have been documented and will be included.

A list of all known silversmiths who worked in the state is already available free on request from the Office of Archives and History. It might prove interesting to write for the list if you have any old unidentified silver and to find out if possibly it was made right here in North Carolina prior to 1850.

In addition, it is likely that there were other silversmiths working in North Carolina that have not yet been identified, but should be included in the new

Two Charged In Incident At Miller's

Two have been charged with a public disturbance as a result of a near fight at Miller's Diner Restaurant early last Saturday morning.

Terry McDaniel of Cooleemee and William Prigden, Jr. of 317 Russell St., Lexington were charged by warrants issued with the following conduct:

"Did, sensationally cause a public disturbance at Miller's Diner on Hwy. 64 near the city limits of Mocksville, by engaging in conduct creating the threat of imminent fighting, to wit: by using abusive language in a public place, Miller's Diner-Restaurant and by fighting in a public place the 29th day of July, 1972."

Mocksville Policeman R. W. Groce investigated the incident. The two are scheduled to be tried at the August 14th term of District Court.

Parkway Playhouse Season Finale

Damn Yankees is a musical comedy about baseball! And that's just where the fun begins, as this rollicking, tuneful romp through the American League takes the Parkway Playhouse stage August 2-5.

This is the fun-filled story of an aging Washington Senator's fan who leases his soul to the devil for a chance to help his team beat the Yankees and win the championship. There's more at stake than just a pennant though, and the winner is (who else?) the audience!

Lauren K. Woods, who has directed this season's productions of Auntie Mame and I Remember Mama, is once again in charge. His directorial duties extend onto the stage for Damn Yankees, as he also plays the manager of the luckless Washington Senators.

Steve Seyfried, in his third year at Parkway, plays the role of Mr. Applegate, the conniving devil who brightens the play by trying to make everyone unhappy. Sue Atherton portrays Applegate's talented temptress, Lola, who dances up a story herself along with choreographing the rest of the show.

Gloria Shott, seen last week with Mutt Burton in Plaza Suite, plays Meg Boyd, the ultimate baseball widow. James Parker, the Parkway designer for the past two seasons, takes to the stage in the role of Joe Boyd, Meg's super-fan husband.

Jerry Colbert plays young Joe after he has been transformed into a fantastic baseball player by Mr. Applegate. Tom Hoffman is Gloria Thorpe, the inquisitive female sports reporter who tries to separate the natural from the supernatural.

Damn Yankees is an entertaining musical from start to finish, and talk about a winning score - "You've Gotta Have Heart", "Whatever Lola Wants", "Two Lost Souls", and many others.

The fun of a whole baseball season is crammed into the script of Damn Yankees, and the Parkway Playhouse brings it all the life Wednesday through Saturday, August 2-5. Curtain is at 8:30 p.m. The Parkway Playhouse is located in Burnsville, N. C., just off Highway 19E. Damn Yankees is the final show of the six play schedule, and closes out the twenty-sixth consecutive Parkway Playhouse season.

August Is Top Month For Touring In N. C.

Take golf's first "doubleheader," add the United States Amateur gold tournament, toss in some of North Carolina's oldest festivals, and you come up with exciting entertainment for August. August is a fine month for travel in North Carolina, according to the State's Travel and Promotion Division.

Pinehurst and Charlotte will have the eyes of the golf world beamed in on them when top players gather for money or fame. The Country Club of North Carolina at Pinehurst will host, August 22-27, golf's first doubleheader with Liggett & Myers Open and the U.S. Professional Match Play Championship.

Golf's first twinbill will bring together players like Jack Nicklaus, Lee Trevino, Gary Player, Arnold Palmer, and last year's Match Play winner, DeWitt Weaver. The L & M Open is 72 holes stroke play, with a strong field of 144 pros, including the major tournament winners in 1972. The purse is $100,000, with the winner's share at $20,000. Climaxing the twin outing will be Match Play Championship on Saturday and Sunday, August 16 and 27; two days, 36 holes each day. The field will be 16 champions competing for $150,000 total prize money with the winner taking $40,000.

Charlotte Country Club will host the country's top amateur golfing event, the United States Amateur August 30-September 2.

The amateur stars will compete over the 6,729 yards (from the back tees), par 71 layout. Famed architect Donald Ross designed the course and the greens were revised by Robert Trent Jones. The tournament is returning to North Carolina for the second time in 10 years. It was held at Pinehurst Country Club in 1962. "See North Carolina First" will be the theme of the second annual Old North State CB(radio) Jamboree, August 5-6, at Raleigh's Dorton Arena on the State Fairgrounds. Some 24 booths will display Citizens Band and related equipment. The Jamboree is free with door prize tickets being sold with proceeds going to the Tammy Lynn Home for Retarded Children at Cary. Over 100 door prizes will be given away with a tent camper and minibike being the top prizes. Entertainment will be provided throughout the jamboree.

Raleigh will also be the scene of the fourth annual Tar Heel Regatta. This boating event, August 12-13 on Lake Wheeler provides plenty of thrills for the spectators. Over 150 boats in the ten classes sanctioned by the American Power Boat Association will compete, and set their sights on world records. Many of the boats will hit over 100 m. p. h. on the straightaways. Sponsored by the Optimist Club of Raleigh, proceeds from the race will go to support Optimist Youth Projects in Raleigh and Wake County.

Long time running festivals, fairs and celebrations are also an important part of August activities. They include the 13th annual Sidewalk Art Show at Hendersonville August 3-4, the Yancey Youth Jamboree at Burnsville also on the third and fourth.

Asheville hosts the 45th annual MountainDance and Folk Festival August 3-5. This event is one of the more popular ones held in the high country. Another long running event is the annual Horse Show at Blowing Rock. This year's edition is number 49 and will be Apple Festival will also be at Hendersonville August 28-September 4. This will be the 25th annual apple celebration.

August is the last month of the so called Big Three of summer-June, July and August-but it has enough interesting activities that it does not have to take a back seat. Burnsville's "village green" will be the scene of the 16th annual Mount Mitchell Craft Festival August 8-11.

The Drum Majorettes of America National Finals will be held at Asheville August 14-19, and the 10th annual John White Art Show will be held at Manteo August 17-19. The Carolina Sailing Club Regatta at Kerr Lake is August 19-20.

Old Salem at Winston-Salem will hold its Salem Band Concert on Salem Square on the 22nd.

Deaths And Funerals

ROBERT L. SPRY, 57

Robert Lee Spry, 57, of 832 East Lafayette Street died Thursday at 11:30 p.m. at the Rowan Memorial Hospital. He had been seriously ill for 12 days.

Born Jan. 18, 1915, in Davie County, he was a son of the late Hyrum and Mary Lou Gobbie Spry. Educated in Davie County schools, he was employed at the N.C. Finishing Co. and was of the Baptist faith.

Surviving are his wife, the former Emma Lou Shehan; two daughters, Mrs. Ronnie Lee Gaskey of 29 Palms, Calif. and Mrs. Nancy Louise Russell of Amarillo, Tex.; three brothers, Brade of Cooleemee, Gurney of Route 11, Salisbury, and Houston of Alabama; a sister, Mrs. Rachel Troutman of Route 3, Salisbury, and seven grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted Sunday at 3 p.m. at the Lyster Funeral Home Chapel by the Rev. Roscoe Fisher of Cooleemee Presbyterian Church. Burial was in Rowan Memorial Park.

GUY J. EATON

Guy J. Eaton, 56, retired Army Sergeant of 2209 Lee Street, Columbia, S. C., died July 20 at Moncrief Army Hospital, Fort Jackson, S. C., after a brief illness.

He was born to the late Samuel and Bessie Eaton, February 4, 1916 in Mocksville, N. C.

Prior to his discharge from the army May 20, 1965 he served his country as a Platoon Sergeant in Co. A 16th Bn. 4th Tng. Bde. Ft. Jackson. During his career he served in Ft. Bragg, N. C., Ft. Gordon, Ga., Ft. Sill, Okla., Texas, Germany and Korea.

After his retirement he served the State of South Carolina as a Custodial Officer at the Manning Correctional Institution in Columbia. Upon successful completion of courses at the University of South Carolina in March 1969, Mr. Eaton was promoted to Correctional Officer. On November 20, 1969, Guy J. Eaton was named Correctional Officer of the Year by the Alston Wilkes Society "in recognition of outstanding ability, accomplishments, and service to his community, state and profession."

Mr. Eaton is survived by his wife, Mrs. Margie D. Eaton, retired Army Sergeant, and his daughter, Peggy. He is also survived by an aunt, Mrs. Enice Sutton of Monroe, Michigan, a sister, Mrs. Cora Bailey of Winston-Salem, N. C., four brothers; Samuel and John of Ecorse, Michigan, and Alta and Everette of Mocksville, N. C.

Burial services were held Sunday at 3 p.m. at 16 Bn. 4th Tng. Bde. Chapel 4, Jackson Blvd., Ft. Jackson. Interment was held at Lincoln Cemetery.

Card Of Thanks

Frankie Carl Tatum Perhaps you sent a lovely card, or sat quietly in a chair, perhaps you sent a floral piece, if so we saw it there.

Perhaps you spoke the kindest word as any friend could say. Perhaps you were not there at all, just thought of us that day.

Whatever you did to console our hearts, we the family of the late Frankie Carl Tatum offer our heartfelt thanks. The Tatum Family.

look at the pencil!

It was his first trip to Washington. He was only six. Everything had to be analyzed by the standards of a first-grader!

Tell him it's the Washington Monument . . . he still thinks of it as "The Pencil." Time for his parents to learn a lesson:

Suppose he had never seen a pencil. What would it have meant to him then? Probably nothing!

A child needs standards by which to measure all he encounters. The standards may be simple—but he uses them. With them he associates the things he wants to remember.

The Church provides your child with simple religious standards. He still needs your help to grasp the truth he must master. But the standards you and he learn at Church are the foundation of his character . . . the inspiration of your own. In his terms: the pencil with which tomorrow is written.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . .
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Kashmir "House Of Many Stories"

Yet until the future of the disputed area is settled, the prospect of further conflict between the two neighbors will remain.

At a five-day meeting at Simla, 170 miles north of New Delhi, Indian Prime Minister Indira Gandhi and Pakistani President Zulfikar Ali Bhutto agreed to withdraw troops from their mutual borders everywhere except on the cease-fire line that runs through Kashmir.

Their countries have fought three wars in the Himalayan province in the past 25 years. Including some 480 square miles captured in the fighting that ended last December, India now holds about two-thirds of Kashmir's approximately 86,000 square miles, the National Geographic Society says. Pakistan has the rest.

Each nation considers the other a foreign occupier in Kashmir. The Kashmiri, who have lived under a succession of foreign rulers for at least 2,000 years, undoubtedly will survive the present quarrel.

Their land has invited conquest throughout history for two compelling reasons: its strategic location and its beauty. Called the "House of Many Stories" because its terrain rises in abrupt tiers, Kashmir lies in the foothills of the Himalayas and shares borders with China, the Soviet Union, and Afghanistan, as well as India and Pakistan.

Kashmiri songs still tell of Alexander the Great, one of the region's first successful invaders. Kashmir's early history is related in Rajatarangini, a Sanskrit account of the state's conquest by Hindu kings who ousted numerous petty rulers.

Muslim armies toppled the Hindu princes in the 14th century and most Kashmiri were converted to Islam. In 1585 Kashmir was annexed by Akbar, the Mongol emperor of India.

During 200 years of Mogul rule, the Vale of Kashmir became the summer home of emperors. The mountain-ringed valley of the Jhelum River, a mile above sea level, was declared by Akbar to be his "private garden."

Akbar's son, the Emperor Jahangir, built the famed pleasure garden of Shalimar. The Vale, 85 miles long and from 20 to 25 miles wide, inspired poets and composers with its palaces, sparkling lakes and canals, and elaborate gardens of almond, rose, and jasmine.

In 1753 the Mongols lost their "Happy Valley" to Pathans from Afghanistan. In turn, Mrs. Brenda Martin of Statesville Rt. 8 has completed requirements for a Bachelor of Arts degree in nursing with a complementary in religion at Pfeiffer College. Mrs. Martin is the wife of Jim Martin, and they have one son, Brent. She is the daughter of Mrs. Odell Renegar, Mocksville Rt. 6, and the late Mr. Renegar. Mrs. Martin is a graduate of the Davie County High School and the Davis Hospital School of Nursing in Statesville where she is employed on the faculty as a pediatric clinical instructor.

Sikh warriors from the Punjab drove out the Pathans in 1819. Kashmir became part of the British Empire in 1849, by an agreement that retained a dynasty of Sikh maharajas.

When predominately Hindu India and Moslem Pakistan obtained independence from Britain in 1947, Kashmir's Hindu maharaja ceded his domain to India. Pakistan claimed the land because most of the nearly 400,000 Kashmiris were Moslems. War broke out the following year.

With United Nations intercession, a cease-fire was arranged in 1949. Fighting was renewed in 1965 and again last year, when India helped Bangladesh to secede from Pakistan.

Though the adversaries now have pledged not to resort to arms again, they still must decide how to share the beauty of Kashmir.

Annual Folk Festival At Asheville Aug. 3-5

For 45 years, the first weekend in August has been mountain dancing, pickin', and singing time in Asheville, North Carolina.

This year more than 300 talented folk performers from towns like Robbitt Ham, Sandy Mush, and Hanging Dog will gather in the city August 3 to 5 for the Annual Mountain Dance and Folk Festival, the National Geographic Society says.

As in past years, the squire of South Turkey Creek, Bascom Lamar Lunsford, age 90, will be on hand to get the opening breakdown underway "along about sundown."

"Mr. Bascom's" festival, called the oldest of its kind in the United States, began on a simple dance platform at South Turkey Creek, then moved to a city square in Asheville, it outgrew the square, was washed out of a ball park, and finally settled in the City Auditorium.

"The oldtimers are going," sighs Mr. Bascom. "You've got to look harder and farther to find people who play in the old way. This is still the richest source of folk music in the country, but change is coming fast."

To encourage new talent, Mr. Bascom and his son, who now manages the program, set aside an hour before show time each night to audition those who want to be heard. Many go on in a pre-program show.

The festival caters to its own. No attempt is made to bring in name performers, and the bearded fans who follow the folk circuit usually find themselves playing outside the stage door. One of Mr. Bascom's favorite performers, Aunt Rilla Wallen Ray, 86, has played at the last two festivals. "When I was little," she explains, "my uncle, Mitch Wallen, fiddled and played the fife. I learned from listening to him, and I played the banjo until I got married. Then about six years ago my grandson gave me his banjo and I've been playing ever since."

The Lunsfords schedule their entertainers by "audience mood." A crowd lulled by the grace and rhythm of a smooth square dance team can suddenly be startled to life by hunter Sam Hunnicutt's traditional call to his bear dogs.

Nestled in the Southern Appalachians, the Asheville area was settled about the time of the Revolution by homestead seekers who came to the region with their worldly goods on their backs. Old ways of speech and song still can be heard in a few isolated coves and windy ridgetops.

From the mountains, riding a crest of popularity, folk music has traveled to fashionable city supper clubs and college auditoriums. Along the way, performers have adopted clothes so rustic that proud mountain folk would be ashamed to wear them in public. Others have donned city duds far too fancy for the humble origins of the songs they sing.

The Lunsfords do their best to keep the Asheville festival authentic in appearance and content. "Go natural," advises Mr. Bascom. "I've stuck to that right straight through and through...I won't caricature the mountain folks."

Cloud Seeding Cuts Down Hail Damage

Scientists are working to melt away the icy menace of "Hail Alley."

Every summer, hailstorms beat a path of destruction across the United States, and Hail Alley bears the brunt of the damage. The region stretches from southeastern Wyoming to western Kansas, the National Geographic Society says.

The storms concentrate at the point where Wyoming, Colorado, and Nebraska meet. Cheyenne, Wyoming, at the heart of the target area, reported more hailstorms over a 40-year period than any other weather station in the country.

Hail destroys $200 to $300 million worth of crops and property in the United States each year—a greater toll than that taken by the more spectacular tornadoes.

Kansas and Nebraska usually lead all the states in hail losses because their enormous wheat crops are ready for harvest just at the time when the threat of hail is the greatest.

A single storm in Nebraska once smashed wheat that would have yielded some three million bushels.

In spite of its devastating power, hail has caused only one known death in the United States—a Texas farmer who was caught unprotected in a field 40 years ago.

Hail Alley is the logical home of the National Hail Research Experiment, a cooperative effort involving a number of government agencies and universities. It's now in the midst of the second summer of field work in the northeastern corner of Colorado.

Researchers hope in the next few summers to find out just what happens inside hailstorms and whether man can modify or prevent them.

"Experience in the Soviet Union already indicates that cloud seeding may be the answer," writes Dr. Walter Orr Roberts in a recent National Geographic article.

The theory on which the Russians operate suggests that hailstones grow as they move slowly through freezing levels, buoyed by strong updrafts reaching as much as 65 miles an hour.

"When the weight of the ice finally exceeds the force of the updraft, the stone falls to earth. From two miles up, if it is not more than three-quarters of an inch in diameter, it may totally melt before it reaches the ground."

"Guided by this theory, the Russians have set up batteries of anti-aircraft guns and rockets in the wheat fields of the Caucasus. When radar pinpoints the position where hail is beginning to form, salvos of explosive charges containing silver iodide are fired high into the storm clouds.

"The tiny silver iodide crystals serve as freezing nuclei; they scavenge out water vapor and turn it to sleet before it can become damaging hail. The Russians say they have reduced hail damage by 85 percent in some regions, and they now apologize if hail falls in the seeded areas."

Masonic Picnic

hear a long speech and the time of the program are two of the reasons Martin thinks the program has not been drawing a large crowd in the past few years.

Martin said he thought this was the first year the Masons have not had a speaker on the Picnic Day. He added that they would see how the program works this year, and next year they may decide to go back to having a speaker.

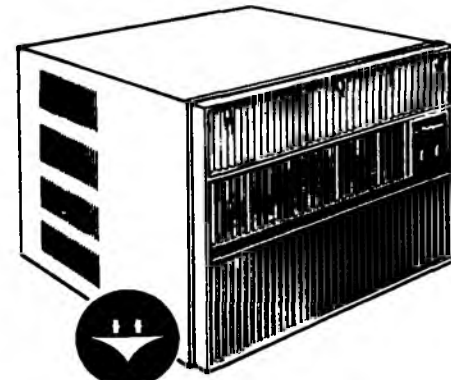

More emphasis will be placed on the evening programs this year because the evenings have drawn larger crowds in the past few years. A rock group is scheduled to play Thursday night at the Clement Grove arbor, and a string band is scheduled for Friday night. Plans for the other nights are not definite yet, but Martin said they were encouraging amateur groups to participate in the programs.

Lee's rides will also be a feature of the week's evening activities.

So with the changing times, so changes the traditions of the Annual Masonic Picnic. But other traditions continue which will probably make the event as successful this year as it has been in the past.

HOW TO CATCH A KING

The king mackerel came up in a rush and hit the frantic menhaden in a leap that carried him a full three feet out of the water. Still in the air, the king somersaulted through half a dozen other anchored lines before he finally hit the water tail first in a shower of spray. Several lines were tangled, and the menhaden was gone. So was the king.

The angler who had lost the bait reeled in his slack line and looked at it. Two treble hooks had been in the menhaden's back.

"I don't see how he could have missed those hooks," said the fisherman, shaking his head in disbelief.

Other anglers on the Emerald Isle Pier had occasion to make the same statement that day as cautious kings "picked" their baits with out touching a hook. Kim Tavasso landed a 13-pound king, but three other king mackerel were hooked by other anglers and lost. The hooks pulled out of one just as he was about to be gaffed, and tangled lines caused the loss of two others. Such tragedies are certainly not foreign to that hardy breed of pier fishermen who float live baits of the end of piers.

From the nearly three dozen ocean piers on the North Carolina coast, float fishing with live bait has become quiet popular, particularly on piers from Atlantic Beach south. King mackerel, cobia, little tuna (called albacore locally), big Spanish mackerel, red drum, sharks and an occasional tarpon are caught.

A few years back, before the sport became popular, anglers would rig up a six-foot wire leader under a large float. On the terminal end, they would put a 3-4 to 5-0 single hook and dangle a treble hook under it on a short strand of wire. The live bait, usually a bluefish, was hooked in the back on the single hook and allowed to swim freely off the end of the pier. The drag on the reel was set lightly so a striking fish wouldn't break the line.

But in recent years, more and more fishermen have begun float fishing, and it is hazardous to free-float a live bait now because they tangle with other lines.

In recent years, anglers have been "anchoring" their baits using a second rod. It works well, requires less attention, and seems to catch as many fish. It is confusing to describe the way these rigs are anchored, but an angler interested in trying this kind of fishing can easily see how it is done by observing the rigs in use on the ends of piers. Then you can rig your own.

You'll need two rods. Some anglers prefer to fish a long boat rod with a conventional reel (such as a 4-0 Penn Senator) filled with several hundred yards of 30-pound test monofilament. They usually use a saltwater spinning rod with at least 20-pound test line for the anchor rod. Others prefer to use two spinning rods; one for fishing and one as the anchor rod.

The materials-leader, hooks, swivels, etc.-can be bought at the pier tackle shop. Also, take a cloth pin. Don't ask why. You'll see after you've observed the rigs used on the end of the piers.

In addition to using anchored rigs, many pier fishermen are also using smaller hooks. Instead of the large single hooks used a few years back, No. 4 treble hooks are being used. The reason is that they are less visible in the water, and you are more likely to get a strike.

The choice of live baits is not always left up to the angler. Some of the best baits are often not available. Most are snaggd with treble hooks from passing schools, but if you are handy with a throw-net, you can occasionally catch your bait in the net. Jumping mullet and thread herring rank a close second to menhaden as bait, and a footlong bluefish is also very good.

If none of these is available, some fishermen use spots or sea mullet, and kings will hit them sometimes. Tarpon, for some reason, seem to prefer spots, hogfish or pinfish.

When you get a strike, keep your drag light and don't bring the fish to the pier until he's practically dead. A green fish is hard to gaff, and a sure bet to wrap your rig around a piling.

Letter To Editor

Dear Editor,

Let me make this perfectly clear: I am not the alleged Dwight Eugene Sparks accused of transporting untaxed whiskey, etc. We are not -- I repeat -- are not one and the same. I do not, nor have I ever met, seen, or heard of the man under question despite his fine name.

Immediately after returning from a year at college where I left with honors, I was bombarded with insulting questions and accusations concerning subversive activities that I was supposedly alleged with. Taken aback, I immediately discovered the mistaken identities. I am Dwight Alan Sparks, 1971 graduate of Davie County High School, sophomore at Western Carolina University, and defender of liberty and justice, and honor and dignity for all. I am not, nay, nor have I ever been arrested, charged, or convicted of any of the alleged crimes that Mr. D. Eugene Sparks has levied against him.

Let the record show that I am not he, nor is he I. I am

Sincerely,
Dwight Alan Sparks

UNC-G Offers Doctorates

The University of North Carolina at Greensboro offers 12 concentrations of doctoral degree studies in six academic schools or departments. The areas are educational administration, curriculum and teaching, guidance and counseling, music education, physical education, English, psychology, child development and family relations, clothing and textiles, foods, nutrition and food service management, housing and management and home economics education. During the 1971-72 academic year, 150 candidates were enrolled in the various doctoral programs.

PARTING

Never part without loving words to think of during your absence. It may be that you will not meet again in life. Richter.

Milk Promotion

In what is called a show of "remarkable progress," North Carolina dairies are becoming the best in the South. North Carolina State University extension dairy specialists said figures show that Tar Heel cows on Dairy Herd Improvement Association records last year produced an average of 13,037 pounds of milk each.

For the supermarket shopper who measures milk in different terms, that's about 152 gallons or 608 quarts per cow.

At the same time, it might come as a surprise to learn that of 60 milk markets in the United States, North Carolinians should be drinking more milk.

A group of dairy producers in the state have mapped out plans for an extensive fluid milk advertising and promotion plan. This will be designed to not only help the producer sell more milk, but to convince more people that milk is a refreshing beverage as well as a wholesome food item.

The promotion plan was conceived by the North Carolina Farm Bureau Dairy Service Committee which is composed of dairy producers elected by fellow dairy farmers across the state. However, the program is open and available for every dairy farmer in North Carolina. Consumers get a bigger bargain in milk today than ever before. In 1929, for instance, one hour of labor would buy 3.9 quarts of milk. Today one hour of labor buys about 10 quarts. An, the quality has never been better.

COMPASSES

Compasses used by mariners in the 11th and 12th centuries were made by rubbing a sewing needle against a lodestone to magnetize it, when laying the needle on a narrow piece of wood floating in a basin of water.

Accent on AGRICULTURE

What Next?

Many farmers are living in a state of apprehension these days wondering what is going to happen to them next.

Each time the Price Commission and the Cost of Living Council start talking about rising food prices, farmers expect the worst.

During the last week of June, there were a couple of scares. First, President Nixon removed quotas on meat imports for the rest of this year for the stated purpose of increasing the supply and holding down prices.

The second scare came when the President issued another executive order extending price controls to fruits and vegetables, eggs and seafoods after the first sale. No controls were put on the farm price of these commodities.

The Administration stated that it issued this order more to restrict mark-ups and profit margins for middlemen and supermarkets in the food industry.

Egg producers, who have been suffering from drastically low prices for two years, are puzzled as to why their product was included in the new order. There is also some concern that the controls over fresh produce at the distributor level could work their way back to the farm level, as wholesale buyers might put increasing price pressure on farmers.

Americans now spend only 15.6 per cent of their after-tax income on food, which is the lowest percentage in the world, according to USDA. This is down from 20 per cent in 1960.

Why then the price control gimmick? It's an election year and consumers outnumber farmers. Apparently neither the Administration or Congress is willing to face up to the real cause of inflation and high prices--excess government spending.

VA Reports

Check Increase

Nearly 2.2 million veterans with military service connected disabilities will receive checks with 10 percent cost of living increases in September, H.W. Johnson, Director of the Veterans Administration Regional Office, reported today.

President Nixon signed Public Law 92-328 granting compensation increases June 30. The increases won't go into effect until August 1.

Allowances for dependents of veterans rated at least 50 percent disabled are included in the increases, the first since those provided under Public Law 91-376 two years ago.

"I am pleased that these benefits will soon be helping over two million of our most deserving men and women," Mr. Nixon declared after signing the measure.

Johnson stressed that the increases will be paid automatically, and that eligible veterans need not contact the agency to receive them.

With the 10 percent increase, a 50 percent disabled veterans compensation would go from $135 to $149 a month, and a 100 percent disabled veteran would receive $495 monthly instead of $450.

Before the 10 percent increase, some veterans adjudged to have suffered certain specific severe disabilities could draw as high as $1,120 a month. They would receive $1,232 monthly under the increased rates. However, Johnson said, compensation in this category is decided on an individual basis.

Public Law 92-328 also provides a $150 a year clothing allowance for veterans who wear prosthetic devices because of service connected disabilities, if these devices tend to wear or tear their clothing. Wheel chair patients are included. Additional details on that benefit will be announced later, Johnson said.

Still another provision of the new law makes peacetime veterans eligible for compensation at the same rate as wartime veterans, instead of the 80 percent of wartime rate which has been in effect for 40 years. This equalization provision will not go into effect until July 1, 1973.

Johnson said compensation is paid to veterans whose injuries or diseases were incurred in line of duty (or aggravated by it), and who were discharged or separated under other than dishonorable conditions.

Dancercise

Course At YMCA

The Spruce Street Y.M.C.A. has scheduled a "dancercise" course for women beginning Thursday, August 3, at 7:30 p.m. The lessons will be one hour sessions for six weeks.

Discotheque (rock) dancing will be featured. This type of dancing is relaxing, good exercise and improves coordination. It is learned individually (without partners).

Basic patterns are easy and the style can be mastered at home by practicing in front of a full length mirror while listening to popular "rock" recordings.

This is a new feature of the ballroom program and the classes are under the direction of Mrs. Dorothy Covington, Y.M.C.A. adult dance director.

No special clothing is required.

Registration may be made by calling Mrs. Covington or Whit East at the Spruce Street Y.M.C.A.

RONNIE ROSE...of Route 1, Mocksville, caught this large catfish in Dutchman Creek early Wednesday morning, July 26th. The fish weighed 4 1/2 pounds and measured 24 inches long. Ronnie was fishing with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Rose and his grandmother, Mrs. Clorena Scott. The group had been fishing only about 15 minutes using Bream hooks with Catawba worms. Ronnie is only 11 years old and was mighty proud of his prize catch!

The Ellis Reunion will be held August 13th at the Smith Grove Ruritan Club. The doors will be opened at 11:30 a. m. should anyone like to come early. Come and bring a well filled basket. Dinner will be served at 1 o'clock.

Mrs. John Cope is still improving, and is able to sit out on the sun porch at the nursing home.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Snider and boys and Mr. and Mrs. Kenny Ellis were Sunday luncheon guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ausbon Ellis.

Important Reminder

Reading Program Booklets must be returned to the Main Library and the Cooleemee Branch by Friday, August 4th. Those readers on Bookmobile routes may return their booklets to the Bookmobile on it's next regular visit to their routes.

Farm Tips

By Dr. J. W. Pou
Agricultural Specialist
Wachovia Bank & Trust Co., N.A.

Large parcels of North Carolina's tidewater blacklands are being drained and put under the plow in one of the most concentrated land development efforts in the history of the state.

An estimated 150,000 acres have been cleared and devoted primarily to grain and soybean farming since the mid-1950's, according to Woody Upchurch, agricultural information specialist at North Carolina State University. The potential is about one and a half million acres lying largely between the Albemarle and Pamlico sounds in Washington, Beaufort, Tyrrell and Hyde counties.

There is a touch of irony in the fact that this is in the same area where English colonists first attempted to settle the new World. They were thwarted, possibly in part by the land itself, just as others who have followed them have been defeated in attempts to cultivate the rich but difficult soil.

Even now, a pioneering spirit is required of those who are finally succeeding. Men like Al Hubers and Garritt Boerema are examples.

Hubers moved from Iowa 12 years ago to clear and farm 1,040 acres of the rugged blackland. He came east because the opportunity to expand was severely limited back home.

Boerema, who came to America 21 years ago from Holland, settled in the area after several years of employment at various jobs. A dairy family, the Boermas were recognized nationally last year as "Farm Family of the Year."

During the fifties and early sixties, many of the major drainage canals were dug, mainly by the Lake Phelps Land Company, making this land accessible for agricultural development.

The newly accessible land has been acquired by farmers from many parts of the country as well as by farmers in eastern North Carolina. Once acquired, very little of the land has changed hands.

Corporate developers are also working in this swampy region, which until now has yielded hardly anything but scrub brush, pond pine and frequent forest and land fires.

The corporations are big enough to bear the cost of ownership and clearing but too big perhaps for the personal kind of management that makes grain farming profitable.

The result is, much of the land coming into production is being rented or leased by individuals. The owners share in the returns on a percentage basis, providing an incentive for both the landlord and tenant to put into the operation those things necessary for big crop yields.

It's an arrangement apparently favored by farmers who are looking for larger production units but who are unable to bear the cost of ownership.

The soil itself is black with organic matter. The organic content can often be as high as 70 to 95 percent. This layer of organic soil may be very shallow or very deep; it may be underlain by a heavy clay subsoil or by sand. Each of these factors affects the manner in which the land must be farmed.

"There isn't any doubt that much of this land has the potential to grow 200-bushel corn," said Steve Barnes, N. C. State University soil specialist. The opportunities with soybeans and wheat are real good also, and the commercial production of a large number of horticultural crops is another possibility.

Individual farms in the area range in size from 200 to 25,000 acres. Rows are straight as an arrow and a half mile or more long, ideally suited for the most efficient use of big machinery. Labor doesn't have to be a problem. One man can tend 400 to 500 acres essentially alone.

The area has many things going for it plus the fact that the amount of available agricultural land nationally is shrinking. So despite its peculiar problems, it is not surprising that this area is finally being opened up in a big way.

Why The Doctor Doesn't Make House Calls

Dr. C. O. Plyers, a family doctor in Thomasville, N.C., is typical of the old family doctor, yet represents a new breed at the same time.

The doctor's day, documented in the current issue of The Saturday Evening Post magazine, begins at 8:00 a.m. in the town hospital, and courses through 13 hours of hospital and office diagnoses and treatments, only to end where it begins, back at the hospital at about 9:00 p.m.

The flow of Dr. Plyer's day fully indicates why he can no longer make house calls, but he explains his reasoning on the subject in The Saturday Evening Post article anyway. "I used to handle about a half-dozen house calls a day," he says, "but I found that most of them weren't necessary. If it's a serious matter, I tell my patients that I'll meet them at the emergency room of the hospital."

"I also realized that the time I spent on the road getting to and from the patient might have been used to treat a half-dozen patients back in the office—patients who needed medical care just as urgently as the one in the house. So by making house calls, I was actually reducing the health care I could deliver to the community, instead of expanding it."

"Another factor," adds Dr. Plyer in The Saturday Evening Post article, "is the astonishing rise in the amount of scientific apparatus connected with medicine. It's been estimated that a cardiac patient encounters, on the average, some 400 different medical devices during a month-long stay in the hospital."

"So if a patient has an emergency, I feel it's better for his health to have him brought to where we have the full equipment to handle the emergency," concludes the doctor.

Hubert Call and Paul (Spider) Booe. . .

Terminating 85 Years Of Store Keeping

Paul (Spider) Booe (L) and Hubert Call, partners of 29 years, have a combined total of nearly 85 years of experience in the storekeeping business. They are shown in front of Call & Booe's Superette in Cooleemee, where they shared their partnership.

Call and Booe in Cooleemee, owned and operated by Hubert Call and Paul (Spider) Booe for the past 29 years, was sold Monday to Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Stout of Edgewood Circle, Cooleemee.

The selling of Call & Booe Superette ended a storekeeping career of nearly 85 years total experience for the two partners.

Call worked in his first grocery store in 1929 for Mr. J. S. Daniel at Greasy Corner for seven years. He then worked five more years with C. B. Hoover at his store in Gladstone.

Little Dana Head, two-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Head of Cooleemee learns to shop early at Call & Booe's Superette, as long-time customer, Royd Swicegood, waits his turn.

In 1941, Call became a partner with the late T. B. Chaplain at their present location, where they operated under the Chaplain & Call Grocery until Paul Booe bought Chaplain's interest in 1943.

Booe got his first storekeeping job when he was just a teenager in 1925. He worked for Swink, & Deadmon Grocery for a short while in Hellardtown and later for Swink, Everhart & Garwood at their Gladstone Store where he worked regularly after school.

Upon his graduation in 1930, Booe also worked for C. B. Hoover for eleven years.

The first couple of years Call & Booe was strictly a grocery store. But Paul Booe became interested in electrical appliances and as he was returning home from World War II, he came by way of Richmond, Virginia where he visited the Hotpoint Service School. Hotpoint appliances were distributed in North and South Carolina at this time.

In 1945 Call & Booe became a retailer for Hotpoint.

Later, when television was introduced to the public, they also added them to their stock.

Booe attended several service schools conducted by General Electric and Hotpoint through the years, therefore Call & Booe have always been able to provide service for the appliances and T.V. sets they sold.

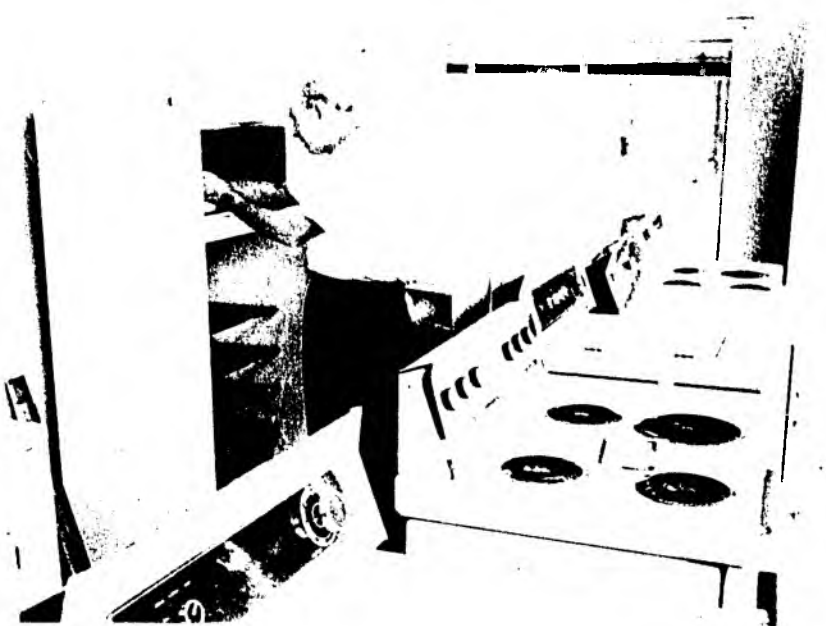

As the years rolled by, Call handled the grocery end of the store and Booe took care of the appliances.

Mrs. Call also played a big part in the store. She began working as cashier in 1945 and worked until the store was sold this week.

Mr. Booe says he doesn't plan to retire, but he doesn't plan to work the long hours he has been accustomed to working in years past. He will continue to do T. V. and appliance repair work, and in fact, he says he has a great many calls on his assignment list for this week.

Booe said, "We made a good go of it, which proved you can get along in a partnership business". And he added, "I'm not leaving here broke."

Mr. Call, on the other hand, says his future plans include a little relaxation. "They tell me it's great fun to fish," he said, "and I want somebody to teach me how to fish."

Mr. Booe is shown in the appliance department of the store. He spent most of his time here, when he wasn't out on a service call.

Call also commented that he had sent word to Walt Shoaf of Cooleemee "to make the Liar's Bench in the shopping center a little bit long, cause he's gonna have some company."

NEW OWNERS - Vernon Stout of Edgewood Circle, Cooleemee is shown with his family as they begin their new venture as owners of Call & Booe Superette in North Cooleemee. They are (L-R) son Mickey, wife Helen, and daughter Pam. This could work into quite a "Family Affair" and in the near future Stout says they plan to change the name to Stout's Superette.

Mr. Booe, also, did his share of work in the grocery side, whenever he was needed.

The Beanes also spent a couple of days in Asheville with her brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. Randy Arney. They returned home Sunday evening.

Accident Saturday On Depot Street

Mocksville Policeman Wayne Gaither investigated an accident Saturday, July 29, at 6:30 p.m. at the intersection of Depot and Bailey Street.

Sherman Desi Arnold, 16, of Route 7, driving a 1957 Chevrolet, was traveling west on Depot Street. At the intersection of Depot and Bailey Street water was running across the street following a hard rain and when the car hit the water it went into a skid as the driver applied his brakes. The car turned around in the street and struck a utility pole owned by Duke Power Company.

Damage to the car was estimated at $200 and $40 to the utility pole.

The accident caused the power to be off about an hour in parts of north Mocksville.

GROWTH AT UNC—G

Enrollment at the University of North Carolina at Greensboro has increased 87 percent over the past nine years, from 3,737 in 1963 to 6,983 during the 1971-72 academic year. During the same period, graduate student enrollment has nearly quadrupled—from 480 in 1963 to 1,836 in 1972.

84 Year Old Rides Minibike

Albert Sain, 84, took his first minibike ride last week with James Myers at the wheel. Mr. Sain of Route 3, Mocksville said the ride was fine as long as James didn't go too fast, but says "I don't want to ride by myself." Mr. Sain also commented that he doesn't care about taking an airplane ride. Until two years ago when he suffered a stroke, Mr. Sain said it had been checked by a doctor. Prior to that time, he probably would have ridden the minibike solo, or even tried an airplane ride.

Social Security Checks In Davie To Increase $528,000 Annually

How much do Davie County residents stand to gain as a result of the hike in social security payments, soon to go into effect.

What will be the average size of retirement checks to local beneficiaries, under the new schedule. Based upon the latest figures from the Social Security Administration, which give the number of recipients in the area and the amount they were getting at the beginning of 1971, their total benefits will be approximately $528,000 greater per year than they were before.

During the last four months of this year, when the new rates will be effective, their payments will rise by $176,000.

The new bill, as voted by Congress, provides an across-the-board boost of 20 percent for the 28 million retired or disabled workers and their dependents who are getting social security checks.

Under the new scale, the annual payment for a retired single worker would go from an average of $1,596 to $1,932; for the average retired couple, from $2,676 to $3,240; for the single worker with maximum benefits, from $3,888 to $4,632.

Just how much a worker collects after retirement, is directly related to his earnings during his active years and, in turn, to his contributions to the pension fund.

The latest annual report of the Social Security Administration shows payments going to Davie County beneficiaries at the average yearly rate of $1,011 per recipient.

Beginning in the early part of October, when the first checks reflecting the increase will arrive, covering the month of September, the local average will be $1,213 per year.

What it adds up to, for the local community as a whole, is pension receipts next year of approximately $3,168,000, as compared with the 1970 total of $2,640,000.

The increases will be automatic. No application for them need be made.

As for the rise in the tax rate needed to pay for the bigger benefits, there will be none until January 1st, according to the new legislation.

Carowinds

A 100-yard strip of golden concrete now marks the place where the border of the two Carolinas passes through the entrance to Carowinds.

In a colorful ceremony dedicating the mansion entrance to the new theme park, Carowinds President E. Pat Hall described the occasion as "the beginning of a new era of harmony between the two Carolinas."

Hall also announced that the 73-acre family entertainment complex south of Charlotte will open Saturday, March 31, 1973. The states' new pageant queens, Connie Dorn of Kinston and Bonnie Corder of Columbia, assisted Hall in pouring the golden concrete strip on the Carolina border which divides the magnolia-lined gateway to Carowinds.

Lights have been set in the strip so that passengers on the 340-foot Carowinds skytower, as well as passengers in planes will be able to see the state line divide the park at night.

Carowinds guests will be tossing coins in a unique bi-state pool in the center of the courtyard.

Burlington Reports Earnings Increase

Burlington Industries, Inc., reported this week an 18 percent increase in net earnings and a 10 percent increase in sales for its third quarter, compared to the same period last year.

Net earnings for the quarter ended July 1, 1972, were $12,583,000 or 47 cents per share, compared to $10,617,000 or 40 cents per share for the same quarter last year.

Consolidated net sales for the quarter ended July 1, 1972, set a new quarterly record of $471,024,000 compared to $428,653,000 for the same quarter a year ago.

Net earnings for the first nine months of the fiscal year were $36,228,000 or $1.36 per share on 26,636,000 average shares outstanding, compared to $35,963,000 or $1.36 per share on 26,366,000 average shares outstanding for the same period last year.

Sales for the nine months were $1,355,046,000, or 4 percent above sales of $1,298,910,000 for the comparable period last year.

Charles F. Myers, Jr., chairman and Ely R. Callaway, president, said: "The increased sales and earnings in our third (June) quarter confirm continued strength in home furnishings markets and improved demand generally in apparel fabric markets. Our earnings have not yet fully reflected the improved demand, partially as a result of the substantial costs of major manufacturing equipment and product changes begun about twelve months ago. About two-thirds of these costs for the development and expansion of knits, action wovens and start-up of new home furnishings products have now been absorbed."

Earnings for the third fiscal quarter and the first nine months of 1972 include, respectively, about 6 1/2 cents and 17 1/2 cents per share of investment tax credits under the Revenue Act of 1971.

Results for the third quarter and the nine months of 1972 include the acquisition of National Upholstery Company on a pooling of interests basis from the beginning of the current fiscal year. National Upholstery sales were about $7 million for the nine months, and the pooling had no effect on per share earnings.

The Board of Directors of Burlington Industries, meeting in New York July 25, declared a regular quarterly dividend of 35 cents per share, payable September 1, 1972, to shareholders of record at the close of business on August 4, 1972.

LINCOLN SCHOLAR

Dr. Richard Current, who holds the position of distinguished professor of history at the University of North Carolina at Greensboro, is the author or co-author of 14 books. He is widely recognized as one of the leading authorities in the U. S. on former President Abraham Lincoln. Four of his books are on Lincoln, and others deal with the period in which Lincoln served as president.

Lotta Turtle Soup!

Eddie Milholen and Mike Head of Cooleemee have the makings for a lotta soup. The four turtles weighed a total of 71 pounds with the largest weighing in at 28 pounds. The turtles were caught on Hunting Creek Monday.

For nearly a week, much of North Carolina lay under a thick blanket of haze. There was almost no wind. The air was thick and stale. Trees only a few hundred yards away appeared faded, like the crests of faraway mountains.

The heat was stifling, and many people—the lucky ones—hovered near air conditioners. As torrid as the temperature was, the sun often shown only weakly through the haze, reminding some of the kind of light that accompanies and eclipse of the sun.

"I'll be glad when these clouds blow away and it cools off," remarked one acquaintance. "I'VE NEVER SEEN IT SO HAZY."

But he was wrong. The sky wasn't cloudy. What he called "haze" was air pollution, and it hung over the state so thick recently that many people thought it was cloudy.

Air pollution is not new to North Carolinians, but we still aren't accustomed to week-long sieges of the dense kind of air pollution that occurred in the state recently. There fore, it is not surprising that some people barely recognize it for what it is.

For one reason, much of it comes from out of state, drifting south, but we also have plenty of our own from automobiles and certain types of industry. The recent air pollution problems in North Carolina were the results of what scientists call a temperature inversion.

W.E. Knight, chief of the Air Quality Division of the Office of Water and Air Resources says that it's "like putting an large umbrella over a chimney." Layers of air become trapped and air pollutants cannot escape. Instead, they get thicker and thicker until a change in the weather releases the stagnant air.

During the recent inversion in North Carolina, Knight said that much of the pollution was trapped at an elevation of 1500 feet, and although the inversion lasted several days, the pollution levels were not as high as expected. Knight further indicated that surveys showed that sulphur dioxide (primarily from coal burning facilities like power plants) and nitrogen dioxide (from automobiles) did not exceed the limit where they might have had an adverse effect on public welfare. And, he said that these pollutants did not approach the higher standards which would mean that public health was also endangered.

Knight said, however, that surveys showed that dust, fly ash and other forms of what is called "particulate matter" slightly exceeded the standards where public welfare was adversely affected. These two instances were in Durham and Forsyth counties, and they are not the first times "particulate matter" has exceeded this standard.

Knight said that local air pollution did not cause the problems this time because much of it rose to join the out-of-state pollution at 1500 feet level. Of course, luck played some part in this because if the inversion had lasted a few more days, pollution levels near the ground would have risen sharply. In areas where automobile traffic is heavy or where certain types of industry (such as power plants or paper mills) exist, the air pollution problem is potentially much more serious, and could even affect public health.

"If the condition had persisted, we could have required a reduction in local pollution emission," said Knight. "And if it had gotten bad enough, we could have ordered a shut down of polluting industries. We have the laws to do that now."

We will see air pollution again in North Carolina, and we will undoubtedly see a lot of it. Hopefully, the time will soon be past when someone would mistake it for "clouds."

Daniel And Haynes Duo Win Hickory Hill Tonrney

Hickory Hill's member-member golf tournament was played Saturday and Sunday with 46 players participating. Team best ball with full handicap was the format and low scores were the order of the day.

Bill Haynes and Bill Daniel finished in a tied with Jim Whittaker and Dave Ward at 17-under par (127 total for the 2 days).

In a sudden death play-off, Daniel and Haynes both had net birdies on the first hole to win after Whittaker missed from four feet.

Third place went to Al Fullbright and Vernon Thompson with 16-under-par.

Fourth place (15-under) was nailed down by Gene Stiller and Nick Mando with a great comeback effort on the second day of play when they shot a 12-under-par.

Also noteworthy was the comeback effort of Clyde Young and Fred Crabb with 10-under par.

Demolition Derby At Bowman Gray Saturday Night

A "Demolition Derby" will share the billing with a "Ladies Night" observance as added attractions in a rain-delay NASCAR stock car racing program Saturday night at Bowman Gray Stadium.

Track Manager Joe Hawkins announced that the "Demolition" event--a wrecking contest, in which the drivers use old cars and the object is to smash into each other (the last one still able to move is the winner)--will be added to the "Ladies Night" observance which was rained out last week.

Perk Brown, Max Berrier and Gerald Compton will be resuming their duel for supremacy in the quarter-mile asphalt track's featured NASCAR Modified Division in the 40-lap racing main event. Brown and Compton lead the victory column with three 1972 triumphs apiece, and Berrier--with one victory--is just ahead of Compton in a torrid battle for the lead in the track standings.

Gages will open, and practice runs for all divisions will begin, at 6:30 p.m. Saturday on the municipal stadium's quarter-mile asphalt track. The first race is scheduled to start at 8:45.

North Davie Wins First

North Davie has won the first game in the final round of the Pony League play-off. The playoff is a two best of three.

North Davie scored two runs in the first inning on two walks and two errors. In the third two more runs were scored on a walk, error, sacrifice and a fly ball.

Branch Bank added a run in the first inning as Maxie Melton doubled and came home when Larry Jones hit a triple. Branch Bank tied the game in the 5th inning when Foster led off with a single, Maxie Melton unloaded a triple, and later scored on a double by Kim Seaford.

Maxie Melton was the star of the game, with a double, triple and home run.

Robin Benson Wins Title At Twin Cedars

Robin Benson won the championship of the Twin Cedars championship golf tournament at Twin Cedars Golf Course near Mocksville.

Benson defeated Gary McNeely, 2-1, in the finals. Johnny McNeely won the championship flight consolation with a 5-4 win over Curtis Kale.

In the first flight, M.C. Deadmon defeated Kenny Jordan, 4-2, for the championship. Consolation honors went to Robert Allen, who defeated Fred Hamilton, 5-4.

Don Godwin won honors in the second flight with an 8-7 win over Alex Shumaker. Larry Hamilton defeated Johnny Eagle, 6-5, in the consolation finals.

Myers Brothers Memorial Race Is August 12th

The 12th annual Myers Brothers Memorial Stock Car Racing Spectacular has been rescheduled a day later than originally planned and will be staged on Saturday night, Aug. 12.

Announcement of the change was made by Joe Hawkins, track manager, and the sanctioning National Association for Stock Car Auto Racing (NASCAR). NASCAR's Grand National, Grand American, Modified and Hobby cars will compete in the event -- which honors the memory of the late Winston-Salem racing brothers, Billy and Bobby Myers.

Hawkins said the change in days was made because of unexpected availability of a rain date in September or October at the municipal stadium.

The event has been on a Friday night in early August for several years, Hawkins said, because the following night was the only one available as a rain date. The NASCAR schedule is full on other weekends in August and, previously, all stadium weekend dates after August were taken by football games.

"The City of Winston-Salem has informed us that several Saturday nights in September and October would be available if needed," said Hawkins.

Entry blanks have been mailed by NASCAR to all drivers and car owners in the Grand National and Grand American divisions, Hawkins said. The 250-lap main event of the program will be staged for the first time in NASCAR's new Grand National East division -- which matches the big-bore sedans of the Grand National circuit against the intermediate sports sedans of the Grand American Division for races less than 250 miles in length.

The Myers Memorial event will include the 250-lap (62.5 miles) Grand National East race, a 50-lap Modified race, and a 25-lap Hobby race. Practice and qualifying trials are scheduled from 5 to 8 p.m. on Saturday, Aug. 12, with the first race starting at 8:30 p.m. on the quarter-mile asphalt track.

Pharmacy Comments

Safety Packaging Ordered

By mid-August, most containers of aspirin will have lock-top, child resistant covers that will make opening such bottles a bit more tedious for young children. Citing aspirin as the leading cause of poisoning among young children, the FDA has taken a giant step in requiring aspirin manufacturers to adopt "child-proof" containers for their products.

Other potentially harmful products will eventually come under the FDA's poison-control guidelines, also, including some furniture polishes, oil of wintergreen liniments, narcotics, barbiturates, and amphetamines.

18-Hole Course Opens

Beech Mountain touring pro Larry Hinson, right, and professional golfer Rock Saraceni, prepare to assault the picturesque ninth hole at the mountaintop course. The back nine of the Beech Mountain Course was opened for play last weekend, completing 18 of a proposed 54 hole layout.

Highest Course East Of Mississippi

Beech Mountain Golf Course Opens 18-Holes

Golfers can now enjoy playing a full 18-holes at the highest golf course east of the Mississippi - Beech Mountain Golf Course located here.

The back nine of the Beech Mountain Course was opened for the first time last weekend, completing 18 of 54 planned holes. Nestled in and around the ridges and stands of trees overlooking Western North Carolina's mountains, the course graces land over 5,000 high.

The 6,474 foot par 72 course is one of the most beautiful and demanding mountain courses anywhere. Larry Hinson is Beech Mountain's touring pro. Hinson calls the course "distractingly beautiful".

Of the 18 scenic holes, there are four par five's and four par three's. Among the course hazards are three small lakes which add to the beauty and toughness of the course. Trees line most of the fairways, putting a premium on accuracy.

The course will be open through October then give way to Beech Mountain's ski season before re-opening in April. Play is limited to regular members: their guests, and temporary members staying in one of the Beech Mountain chalets or one of the three mountain top inns.

Beside the three 18-hole courses at Beech Mountain, Carolina Caribbean Corporation, the developer, has a course at its Reef project in St. Croix, U.S. Virgin Islands and has recently let the contract for a 9-hole course at its Linville Land Harbor resort for campers at Linville, N.C.

CGA Tournament

Twin Cedars will host the Carolina Golf Association tournament on Sunday, August 6th.

This will be a one-day handicap tournament with more than 220 golfers from all over the state slated to participate. The first tee off will be at 8 a.m.

The Twin Cedars course will be closed for regular play until after 4:15 p.m., Sunday.

Smith Grove Softball Tournament

The Smith Grove Slow-Pitch Softball Invitational Tournament will begin at the Smith Grove ball field on Friday night, August 11th at 7 p.m.

Several county teams and teams from the surrounding area will participate.

Local Golfers Among Winners

Three local golfers were among the winners in the annual four team calcutta held the past weekend at the Statesville Country Club.

Dr. Ramey F. Kemp was a member of the winning team that paid $250 to each member. John Norton was on the team that placed third and paid $125 each.

Gordon Tomlinson was a member of the team that tied for fifth place, but lost in sudden death play-off. Each member of this team received $25 in golf merchandise.

HOW BIG IS A HIPPOPOTAMUS?

It is not unusual to hear someone make reference to another individual being as "big as a hippopotamus." Of course, everyone realizes that this is stretching the truth some, but just how much?

That's right . . . a full-grown hippo can weigh 7,500 pounds or more and can be 10 to 12 feet in length. Now, that's a lot of meat to move around from place to place, so the hippo spends much of its time lounging in the water, often just floating about in a lake or a large stream.

Don't "float aimlessly" in your business dealings. You are assured of always getting the best service possible when doing business with us. See us first.

Motion picture history, production techniques, and creative usage were the topics at a two-day seminar recently conducted for all people—North Carolina librarians.

Conducted by the Audiovisual Center of the State Library in Raleigh, the seminar reflected a growing awareness of the role motion pictures can play in disseminating information and entertainment through North Carolina's public libraries.

Several of the larger libraries across the state have film collections of their own which can be checked out in much the same fashion as books. The State Library in Raleigh, in addition, makes its full collection of more than 2,000 films readily available to any citizen through inter-library loan.

What this means is that any person in the state can go to his local library whether its in one of our largest cities or smallest communities, consult the 288-page film catalog published by the State Library, and request any film for use up to one week at no charge.

Films are listed in the catalog alphabetically by title and subject. They run the gamut from "A is for Architecture" to "The Zoo and You" and from "accidents" to "zoing." Many films are primarily informational, and others lean more toward entertainment.

Last week's seminar was designed to better acquaint local librarians themselves with the value of motion picture films as library lending material and to make them more aware of the State Library's film services.

Guest speakers were John Bridges of Pack Memorial Library in Asheville; Richard Cooper, a writer, journalist and motion picture producer; Larry Misenheimer, audiovisual curator with the Office of Archives and History; and Dr. Peter Schillaci, director of education for McGraw Hill Films. The program was organized by Mrs. Marilyn Rose, audiovisual specialist for the State Library.

Plans for the immediate future call for expanding the State Library's audiovisual section, increasing the size of the film library so as to better serve all North Carolinians, and encouraging its wider use.

Champion International Registers Record Sales

Record sales for both the second quarter and first half of 1972 and a 33.9 percent jump in second quarter net earnings over the second quarter, 1971, were announced this week by Champion International (formerly U. S. Plywood-Champion Papers).

The company's sales and earnings surge reflected significant contributions by its Building Materials and Furnishings businesses and by improvements in its Paper and Allied Products business, all of which enabled the company also to be well ahead of the first quarter, 1972, results, Karl R. Bendetsen, chairman and chief executive officer announced.

Net sales in the second quarter were $479,880,000, up 18.4 percent from $405,265,000 attained in the second quarter, 1971, and 7.4 percent ahead of the first quarter of this year. Second quarter net earnings rose 33.9 percent to $16,993,000 from $12,694,000 in the like period one year ago. Earnings per common share were $0.50, a gain of 42.9 percent over the second quarter, 1971 level of $0.35, and 42.9 percent ahead of the first quarter of this year. Assuming conversion of convertible securities, income per share in the second quarter was $0.45, compared with $0.34 in the year-earlier period.

For the first six months of 1972, net sales were $926,580,000, up 20.7 percent from last year's figure of $767,573,000. Net income for the six months was $29,633,000, which represented a rise of 37.5 percent from $21,554,000 a year ago. Earnings per common share totaled $0.85, compared with $0.57 in 1971, an increase of 49.1 percent.

For the balance of 1972, Mr. Bendetsen stated he anticipated that, "the second half should be better than the first, making 1972 a fine year for Champion International although not a record year. As the year progresses, our Paper and Allied Products company will generate steadily increasing sales and earnings momentum, a trend already underway."

The company's Building Materials business registered in the second quarter, continuing advances in each of its four divisions, especially its U. S. Plywood division in the United States and its subsidiary, Weldwood of Canada, which, in the first five months of this year, achieved earnings which equaled all of 1971.

The Furnishings company, with its Drexel Enterprises and Trend Mills furniture and carpet divisions, benefitted from improvements in the general economy as well as growth of consumer confidence, achieving a high level of performance that added to the marked gains of this year's first quarter.

"Our purchase of 670,500 acres of timberlands in western Montana from The Anaconda Company will very substantially strengthen our company. We will build two very large plants, one to produce softwood plywood and the other, particleboard. This development program will cover 20 to 30 months and we will capitalize interest during construction. When these additions to U. S. Plywood come on stream, they will, from that time one, provide very important additions to our earnings stream."

"There are strong indications that residential construction will continue at a very high level this year and next and very probably for the years beyond. The improving industrial and other non-residential construction markets are particularly strong, assuring that our Building Materials business will continue its excellent performance through 1973 and beyond," Mr. Bendetsen predicted.

"Our Furnishings business will also steadily gain. As we reach the end of the summer, Champion Papers will enter a long-term era of prosperity with capacity and consumption in sound balance so that, buoyed by the general economic upturn and the resultant increasing demand for all of our fine paper products, earnings from this source will substantially rise. I believe 1973 could well be a record year for our company," he said.

WASHINGTON AND SMALL BUSINESS

Pay for Tax Collectors

Someone once said that while California has its earthquakes, Texas has Rep. Wright Patman. The inference is that both have a tendency to shake things up.

As is well known the veteran Lone Star solon, co-author of the Robinson-Patman Act, has long looked askance at the national banking policies. Recently, he dropped a bombshell.

But first, it is well to digress a bit. A major complaint of the independent business people, as evidenced by the data gathered by the National Federation of Independent Business is that they are expected to collect the social security, and income taxes from the employees, handle the paper work, and make the deposits without any payment for these services rendered as tax collectors.

According to Federation estimates, it costs at least an average of $30 per year per employee to handle this detail, but for an employer having ten or more employees, who must make a report and remittance twice a month, the costs go up substantially above this.

The monies are deposited with a bank which in the course of time remits to the Federal treasury, but in the meantime, banks have use of these collections, interest free.

Congressman Patman takes the position that this amounts to the Federal government subsidizing the banks. He claims that as much as 6 billion dollars are held by banks at a time, most of it by the big financial institutions.

He takes the position that either the banks should pay to the Treasury interest for the use of these funds, or else the Treasury should put pressure on the banks holding such funds to make lower cost home building loans.

According to all reports, the Treasury Department does not look kindly on this idea on the basis that under the present system the banks are encouraged to cooperate, and that if banks had to pay interest on the tax funds they use for a while, they would lose interest in extending this cooperation.

This is an interesting viewpoint. While the Treasury people do not want to discourage the banks from cooperation, they are not concerned with the costs of independent business in serving as unpaid tax collectors. In fact, the whole thrust of the Treasury is to continuously make this service more expensive to business.

Of course, there is this difference. If a business firm did not cooperate in collecting taxes, there would be a padlock on the door. But there is no equal compulsive force to force banks to cooperate, and under the present system, there is really no need for compulsive measures as what bank will spurn the use of interest free funds. But it does seem only fair that instead of being forced to act as unpaid tax collectors, the independent business people should receive some type of compensation.

Jim Barringer To Exhibit In Lexington

A three-man show will open at the Davidson County Art Gallery on Sunday, August 6th, at 2 p.m.

Work will be shown by Mrs. Katherine Skipper and Sam Hooks of Lexington and by James P. Barringer, Jr. of Salisbury.

The work will be on display through August 31st. The gallery is open Tuesday through Saturday of each week from 10 a.m. until 12:30 p.m. and from 2 p.m. until 4:30 p.m. On Sunday the gallery is open from 2 p.m. until 4:30 p.m.

Mrs. Katherine Skipper was born in Charlotte but has lived in Lexington for the past 24 years. She is the wife of Darrell Skipper and with their two sons live on Nottingham Drive. She attended Queen's College and studied under two Charlotte artists, Paul Bartlett and John Brady. She has also attended art classes in Winston-Salem conducted by Mrs. Mari Taylor and Walter Broener. In Lexington she has studied with A. Stuffer Myers.

Mrs. Skipper paints with oils and watercolors primarily. She is a member of the Davidson County Art Guild and the Associated Artists of Winston-Salem. She teaches regularly at Davidson County Community College, the Davidson County Art Gallery, and for the City Recreation Department.

Sam Hooks was born in Salisbury but certainly might be classified as a Lexington native as he has lived here since he was 7 years of age. He stated a day or two ago, "I probably would not be painting today if it had not been for the urging and encouragement I received several years ago. Stuffer Myers insisted that I had talent and should keep on painting and I am glad that I did. It has brought me a great deal of pleasure and it has been a delight to work with other artists and observe their techniques and use of various media."

Mr. Hooks has also studied with Stanley Robinson and Jack Berkman of Greensboro and with John Brady of Charlotte. His work has been accepted in area juried shows and he works primarily in tempera and acrylics. He is a member of the Davidson County Art Guild, the Associated Artists of Winston-Salem, the High Point Fine Arts Guild, and the N. C. State Art Society. James P. Barringer, Jr. is a Salisbury artist and works primarily in the field of photography. His work might be termed "the world around us" and it is beautifully executed. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James P. Barringer, Rt. 4, Salisbury. He attended the Rowan County Schools. He is married to the former Barbara Jackson and has five children.

Mr. Barringer has always been interested in art. He sees photography as an extension of that interest. The military offered him training in his interest and after graduation he joined the U.S. Army, first attending photography school at Fort Monmouth, New Jersey, then serving in Germany. Obligation aside, Mr. Barringer returned to Salisbury. His first job was with John Erwin Ramsey as a draftsman. He later used his knowledge of photography when he worked for Suther Studio in commercial photography. In 1965 he was employed by the Salisbury Post where he is still a staff photographer and is also the photographer for the Davie County Enterprise-Record.

Mr. Barringer has won numerous state press awards as well as had many of his photographs used as covers for state magazines. He won a Bronze Medal in 1971 in a North Carolina Art Council contest and had four prints travel with the Art Council exhibit for a year. His hobbies include painting and wood carving.

Jesse Helms
FOR U.S. Senate

"Jesse Helms is not one of your back-slapping, hand-wringing, affable garden variety political office seekers." — Virginian Pilot 7/2/72

When Jesse Helms came home from the Navy after World War II, a lot of young kids were hanging around the street corner in Roanoke Rapids, with nothing to do. So, characteristically, Jesse Helms went to work.

He and several other veterans, all members of the Jaycee chapter that Jesse helped start, hit on the idea of bringing a baseball team to town.

Roanoke Rapids didn't even have a ballpark, but Jesse Helms and his friends went to Tarboro and persuaded officials of the Coastal Plains League to let them have a baseball franchise.

They were still nailing up the grandstands when the pitchers warmed up for the first game, but Roanoke Rapids now had bleachers instead of street corners for its kids.

All his life, Jesse Helms has worked to make things better than he found them. That's why we need to send him to the United States Senate.

YES, I believe in Jesse Helms and I want to help elect him as our Citizen-Senator. I'm enclosing my contribution of:

Davie Hospital Presented With Transport Incubator

Registered Nurse Ruth Foster demonstrates the use of the Transport Incubator to March of Dimes Chairman Louise Osborne and members of the Mocksville Woman's Club. They are (L-R) Mrs. Osborne, Mrs. Knox Johnstone, Mrs. James Kelly Jr., Woman's Club president; Mrs. Dudley Collins, Mrs. Wade Groce and Mrs. Howard Hanes.

The Davie County March of Dimes, sponsored by the Mocksville Woman's Club has presented the Davie County Hospital with a Transport Incubator, which is another modern life-saving device.

The incubator is used for transferring infants or newborn babies from Davie to other hospitals when there is a need for specialized care. The Transport Incubator is designed to fit into the ambulance perfectly and is equipped for instant hook-up oxygen from the ambulance. It has its own battery pack which provided the source of power for keeping the incubator at the perfect temperature during the transfer.

The $1300 piece of equipment had only been at the hospital a couple of days until there was a need for it. The incubator was used Saturday for the first time to transport a newborn to Rowman Memorial Hospital. The baby was born with a birth defect and needed the specialized care of a pediatrician as soon as possible.

Hospital administrator Bill Roark commented that the hospital staff was pleased to have the new equipment and "it works great." He also shares the feelings of the rest of the staff at Davie that the incubator is definitely a "life-saving device."

Director of Nurses Betty Slaughter says that the future plans for the hospital include a separate obstetrics department and a separate pediatrics ward, which is much needed.

Davie county March of Dimes chairman also announced that the local chapter has sent a $500 contribution to the Intensive Care Unit for birth-defect babies at the Baptist Hospital, Winston-Salem and a $200 contribution to the Birth Defects Evaluation Clinic in Morganton.

"I appreciate the generous support of the Davie County residents", Mrs. Osborne said, "without their support none of this could have been made possible."

Mrs. Osborne concluded by saying she felt it would be helpful for the future March of Dimes campaigns to inform the citizens as to how the local contributions were used.

Loading The Transport Incubator

Shown are Alvin Dyson (L) and Marvin Hellard (R) of the Davie County Ambulance Service, assisted by Mrs. Betty Slaughter, director of nurses and R. N. Louise Osborne, local March of Dimes chairman, demonstrating the loading of the Transport Incubator in the ambulance.

Grant Awarded For Area Retired Senior Volunteer Program

ACTION, the citizens service corps, has awarded $41,117 to the Yadkin Valley Economic Development District, Inc. in Booneville, N.C. to operate a Retired Senior Volunteer Program.

The grant to the private non-profit organization was announced in Washington today by ACTION Director Joe Blatchford.

The Retired Senior Volunteer Program (RSVP) provides opportunities for retired persons age 60 and over to serve on a regular basis in a variety of community-sponsored programs.

The one-year grant will enable the group to initiate a four-county RSVP program in Davie, Stokes, Surry and Yadkin counties. The program will place 300 senior citizens in volunteer service within the first year and as many as 750 within the next five years.

Child Care

Deduction Expanded

Employed taxpayers with child care expenses may get a bigger tax break in 1972, IRS Director J.E. Wall said today.

The Revenue Act of 1971 has greatly liberalized the deduction for the care of children, disabled dependents and disabled spouses. Beginning in 1972, taxpayers with adjusted gross incomes of $18,000 or less may be able to deduct up to $400 per month for household and dependent care expenses.

The deduction is reduced 50 cents for each dollar of income over $18,000. For example, a taxpayer with an adjusted gross income of $20,000 would be limited to $3,800 (the maximum annual deduction of $4,800 less one-half of $2,000).

To qualify, a taxpayer must be employed and provide over one-half the cost of maintaining a house hold for a dependent child under 15, a disabled dependent of any age, or a disabled spouse.

For the first time household expenses incurred to permit the taxpayer to be gainfully employed may also be deducted. For example, amounts paid for the services of a maid, cook or other domestic help can qualify.

Expenses incurred outside the home for the care of a child under 15 (as, for example, in a day care center) may also qualify. But expenses outside the home are limited to $200 per month for one child, $300 for two children or $400 for three or more children. These expenses, however, shall not include educational expenses incurred for a child in the first or higher grade.

If a deduction is claimed for the care of a disabled dependent, the deduction must be reduced by the amount by which the total of the dependent's adjusted gross income and any non-taxable disability payments he receives exceeds $750. In the case of a disabled spouse, the expenses must be reduced by non-taxable disability payments.

As under the old law, a deduction may not be taken for payments to anyone who could be your dependent.

Taxpayers must itemize deductions in order to claim child care expenses. As with all itemized deductions, good records must be kept and expenses documented.

Publication No. 553, "Highlights of 1971 Changes in the Tax Law," which includes information on child care expenses is now available free at most IRS offices.

Nearly 10 percent of the population of the four counties is age 65 and over.

Established in 1966, Yadkin Valley Economic Development District, Inc. (YVEDDI) has placed approximately 600 volunteers as teacher aides, youth counselors and consumer advisers. The agency also operates 23 senior citizen clubs offering assistance and information to older adults. Jimmie R. Hutchens is executive director of YVEDDI; Linda Burchette will serve as director of the new RSVP program.

The RSVP program will place volunteers in cooperating public and private social agencies throughout the four counties. Senior Volunteers may serve in public schools, hospitals and day care centers. They also may serve in a library, rest home and a community action center. Others may be placed with the counties' social services departments. Future assignments may include parks and historic sites.

This grant is a result of President Nixon's request to Congress last fall, following the White House Conference on the Aging, to greatly expand opportunities for meaningful volunteer service for older American.

RSVP was started in 1969 by the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare and became operational last July when it became part of ACTION.

RSVP is planned, organized and operated on the local level. It is developed under the auspices of an established community-service organization or agency. Any retired person age 60 and over can become a RSVP volunteer; there are no education, income or experience requirements.

Volunteers serve in a variety of organizations, agencies and institutions such as courts, schools, libraries, day care centers, hospitals, nursing homes, scout offices, economic development agencies and other community service centers.

RSVP volunteers serve without compensation, although they may be reimbursed for such expenses as transportation and meals.

Other ACTION programs are the Peace Corps, Volunteers in Service to America (VISTA), Foster Grandparent Program, Service Corps of Retired Executives (SCORE), Active Corps of Executives (ACE) and University Year for ACTION.

You and your pet

Traveling With Your Dog

Wondering about taking your pet along on a vacation trip? If this is the dog's first long trip, he should be used to riding in the car, well housebroken for the motels en route, and in good health.

A car-sick, unhappy dog would make the trip miserable for both of you. Better to board him with friends who love him or with a clean, well-run boarding kennel.

Let's say your dog, like most, meets the travel test and you decide to take him. Good! As a member of the family, he deserves to share the fun. All you have to do is include him in the advance planning and you will all have a good time.

Most motels/hotels have pet facilities or allow you to keep the animal with you. But some do not. To avoid frustration, make arrangements before you get to your day's destination. To make this easy, the American Automobile Association has a nice booklet about it. Visit or write your local AAA and request one. Also, be prepared to post a $10 deposit for your pet's good manners in the case of a reluctant innkeeper.

If you're planning a stay in a state park, check in advance for their rule on pets. Unfortunately, many do not allow them.

Some Health Tips

For Canadian travel, make sure your pet's rabies vaccination is up to date; that's a must. Further, most states require some type of health certificate. So, if your trip will cross state lines, better check your veterinarian.

Bring along his own bowl for water and food. Also, a favorite toy or two, and his own sleeping mat for his place in the car and the motel. Little things he's familiar with add to his sense of security. Remember an opener for his favorite brand of canned dog food. It is best to schedule feedings at least 6 hours before each day's travel. And don't forget such things as a sturdy collar with his I.D. tag (better take a spare with a tag, too); a roll of paper towels; a can of flea powder for unwanted visitors along the way. . . . And have a good time!

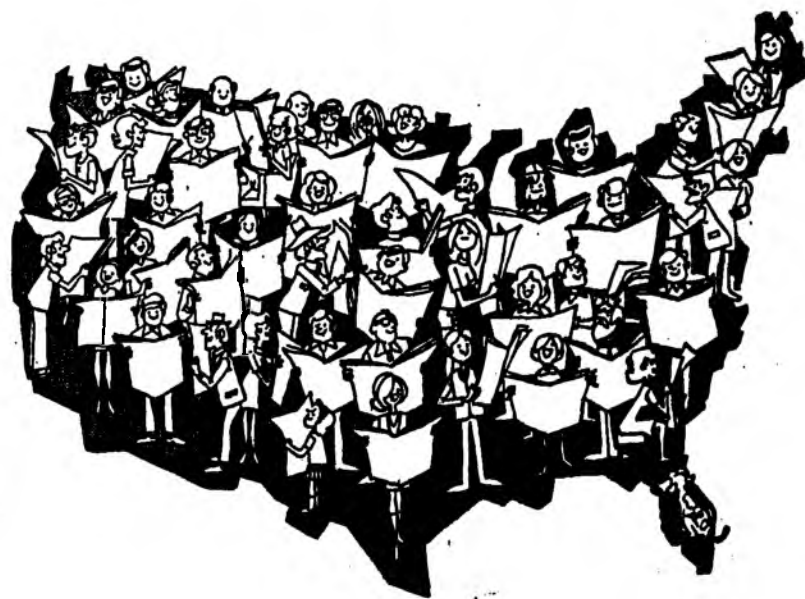

Man Sentenced For Assault

Woodrow Wilson was sentenced from 8-months to 24-months in Superior Court this week for assault with a deadly weapon.

He will be sent to the local unit of the North Carolina Department of correction.

Don't you read before you buy?

Most people do!

They count on advertising in print to give them the information they want on products that interest them — information on features...designs...and prices, for example.

People not only read about products and services, they show ads to their family and friends; they clip coupons for information and samples; they tear out ads to take along when they go shopping.

People read an ad because they want to (it's never forced on them). They can even check back later; the message is still there.

When you add it all up, print advertising — the kind you read in the pages of this newspaper — makes sense. And because it measures up to the buying habits of consumers, print makes sales. Most people read and then buy. Don't you?

DAVIE COUNTY
ENTERPRISE RECORD

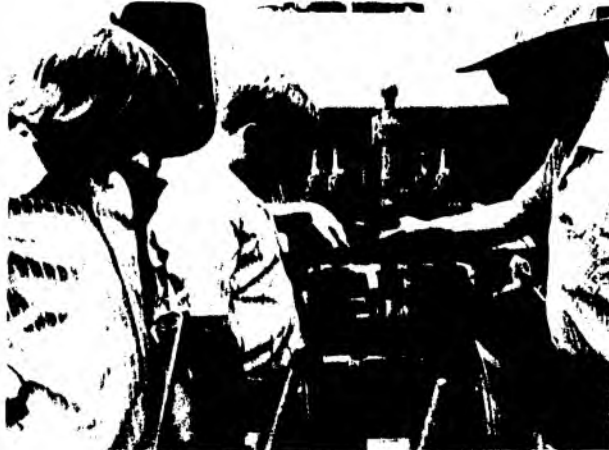

Officer Jerry Tulbert, is congratulating Alvin Chaplin, Randy Jones, Boyd West, and Ronald Jones on being accepted into membership in the Davie Junior Rifle Club.

Four Boys Accepted In Jr. Rifle Club

Four Davie County boys have been accepted into the Davie Junior Rifle Club. Alvin Chaplin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Chaplin, Cornatzer Road; Randy and Ronald Jones, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Jones, Sain Road; and Boyd West, son of Mr. and Mrs. Luther West of Farmington, are the new members.

The Davie Junior Rifle Club, a 4-H and NRA chartered club, has sponsored classes throughout Davie County to promote gun safety and a healthy respect for guns of all kinds, as well as marksmanship and target shooting as a sport.

Denny Potts and Randy Campbell watch as L. S. Bowden explains some safety features of a farm tractor.

Two Complete Farm Machinery Safety Course

Denny Potts and Randy Campbell recently completed the Tractor and Farm Machinery Safety Course offered by the Davie County 4-H Club.

This course is required by the federal law for all 14-16 year olds working on, or with farm tractors and other machinery for employers other than their parents or guardians.

This course is designed to make the youth more aware of the dangers and hazards, as well as safety features common on tractors and farm machinery.

Davie County 4-H office recommends that any boy or girl 14-16 years old, who may work for anyone other than parents or guardian, on the farm, take this course as a precaution against accidents.

ECU Nursing School Grant

The School of Nursing at East Carolina University has received two grants totaling $91,150 from the U.S. Public Health Service for operational expenses.

Dean of Nursing Evelyn Perry said the larger of the two grants, a $60,150 Nursing Capitation Grant, is renewable yearly pending increased enrollment of first-year nursing students at ECU.

She said the funds will be used to purchase equipment and to pay salaries of additional faculty personnel.

The ECU Nursing School has received several grants from the Public Health Service for student nurse tuition.

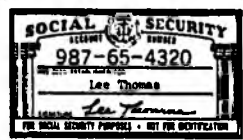

ECU Student Receives Honor

Miss Lynette Kathryn Gude, daughter of Mrs. Muriel G. Gude of Cooleemee is included on the Dean's List at East Carolina University.

A total of 2,486 East Carolina University students last spring made high enough grades to earn places on the University's official honor lists.

Most elite among the honor students are the 347 who made all A's. Next are those who made the Dean's list by earning a solid B-plus average with no grade below C.

The Honor Roll includes those students who made a B average with no grade below C.

...about your Social Security

by Vernice Fulcher

I had nearly forgotten how beautiful an early morning sunrise can be. Since I'm a sleepaholic by nature, I need a reason to get up extra early. When I was living on the farm it was not unusual to get up at 4:00 a.m. to take out a barn of tobacco and sleeping until 5:00 a.m. was considered a real treat.

Last week I had the pleasure of talking with some of the employees at PPG. It was an early morning appointment and the drive to Lexington was so pleasant. It made me realize how thankful I should be for my job and the good health to do it each day. How many people who are disabled would consider it a miracle to be able to work again! Most of the disabled people I talk with usually say something like, "I wish I didn't have to file for disability, I'd much rather work." Most of them never expected to be disabled, and only a very few have any idea what they and their families can expect from Social Security.

Learning more about the Disability Program under Social Security won't cause you a disability, but it will ease your mind and perhaps some of the financial burden if you should become disabled. For more information, call or write your Salisbury Social Security Office, 105 Corriher Avenue, Salisbury, NC 28144. Our telephone number is: 633-6470. Ask for booklet No. 29, If you become disabled.

Q. I have a child who is age 19, has 2 more years in college and plans to marry this summer. Will it affect his social security student benefits?

A. Yes, the benefits will terminate when he marries.

Q. Has the amount that a person can earn and receive all their monthly social security checks been raised?

A. No, there is a proposal before Congress to change it, but at present it remains $1680 per year.

Q. I'll be 62 years old in six months. Is it possible for me to find out how much I will be able to receive from Social Security before I file my claim?

A. Yes, since you are within six months of age 62, we can get this information for you. Call your office and give us some more information and we will get you your benefit amount within two weeks.

Social Security Representative Here August 9th

The Social Security District Office in Salisbury, N.C., which serves Davie County residents, has announced that a representative will be at the Mocksville Courthouse on Wednesday, August 9, 1972, to assist those who need to conduct social security business but are unable to go to the Salisbury office.

The representative will be in the magistrate's office on the main floor from 9:30 a.m. until noon.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe White and Mark were Sunday luncheon guests of Mr. and Mrs. Batry Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Eaton of Mocksville visited Mr. and Mrs. Joe White Sunday evening.

Mrs. Flora Ratledge has been sick the past week at home. Visitors in the home were Mrs. L. L. Taylor and family of Mt. Holly, Mr. and Mrs. William Ratledge of Deep Creek, and Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Ratledge Jr. and family.

Mr. and Mrs. George Laymon were Sunday luncheon guests of their son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Gray Laymon.

Todd Norris of Courtney spent Sunday with Gregg Beck.

Mrs. Louise Allen congratulates Joe Tulbert and Jerry Tulbert on their awards.

Marksmanship Awards Won

Two more Davie County boys have won marksmanship awards. Joe Tulbert, of Davie Academy, won his pro-marksman award on the 15 ft. range. This is the first of fifteen possible NRA awards in the 4-H, Daisy-Heddon sponsored marksmanship and gun safety classes offered through the Davie Junior Rifle Club.

Jerry Tulbert won the marksman, or second degree award, also on the 15 foot range.

Classes have been held throughout Davie County for the past several months sponsored by the Davie Junior Rifle Club, a 4-H and NRA chartered club. Daisy-Heddon Company loaned equipment for the marksmanship and safety course.

VA News

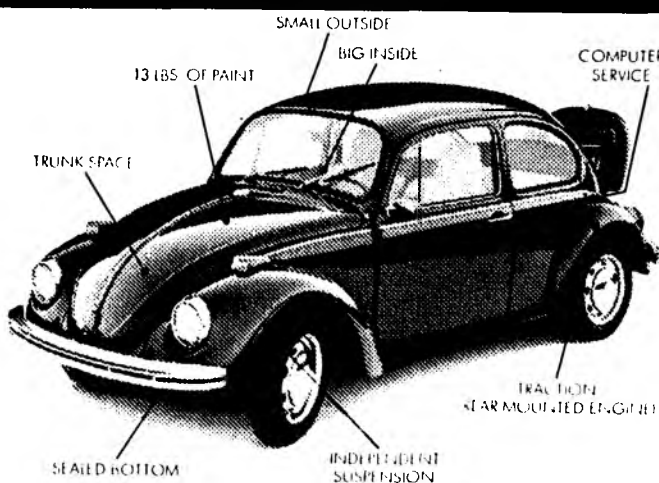

EDITOR'S NOTE: Veterans and their families are asking thousands of questions concerning the benefits their Government provides for them through the Veterans Administration. Below are some representative queries. Additional information may be obtained at any VA office.

Q. My uncle, a veteran of World War I, needs domiciliary care. Is this care available at VA facilities?

A. Yes, VA has 16 of these facilities. Suggest you advise your uncle of this. Any VA office will help him file an application for this benefit.

Q. I am a 65 year old World War II veteran. Am I eligible for a VA pension?

A. Yes, if you are single and your income from all sources is below $2,600. If you have dependents, the income limitation is $3,800. Your net worth is also a factor. Suggest you contact VA for an application form so your eligibility can be determined.

Little things mean a lot.

Surprisingly enough, our little features don't add up to lots of dollars.

At $1,999.00* a new Volkswagen is easy to buy and even easier to own.

Our warranty† is longer than anybody's except Rolls-Royce, and for efficient service nothing will beat our built-in computer service system starting later this year.

Of course, someday you may decide to sell your Beetle.

Don't be alarmed.

After 3 or 4 years used Volkswagen Beetles have had a higher resale value than other economy cars.††

Selling it is the final joy of buying it.

†† An owner maintains and services his vehicle in accordance with the Volkswagen maintenance schedule. Dove Hunt Dates Set Dove hunters can fire their first shot of the dove season at noon on Saturday, September 2.

The dates for the coming dove season were announced Monday by the N.C. Wildlife Resources Commission at its "Silver Anniversary" meeting here. As in past years, the season will be split into two parts, the first part opening at noon, September 2 and closing October 7, while the second half will open December 13 and close January 15.

The length and framework of the gunning seasons for migratory gamebirds, such as doves, rail, woodcock, gallinules and Wilson's snipe, are established by the U.S. Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife; however, the N.C. Wildlife Resources Commission picks the exact dates for opening and closing.

The Wildlife Commission set the season for rails and gallinules from September 2 through November 10. The season on woodcock will begin December 9 and end on February 10, while the season on Wilson's snipe will begin November 18 and close January 20.

The bag limit for doves will be 12 daily, as it was last season. Daily bag limits for the other migratory birds listed will also remain the same as last year. In other action, the Wildlife Commission voted to upgrade an existing program to help wild squirrels and wood ducks. The Commission will increase the payment to individuals, primarily members of youth groups, who construct and place squirrel and wood duck boxes in rural areas from $1 to $2.50 per box. Previously, wood duck boxes were not part of the program.

"We consider this not only a way to increase squirrels and wood ducks, but also as a valuable educational tool for teaching wildlife and environmental needs to youngsters," said a Commission spokesman.

The Wildlife Commission also voted to end trapping of raccoons for restocking purposes in Duplin County this coming season. In the past, raccoons for restocking in other parts of the state have been trapped in Duplin County. Also, hunt clubs that apply for raccoons for restocking will be limited to 40 raccoons per application (50 was the limit last year), and those clubs who restock raccoons must agree not to hunt them for at least one year as part of the cooperative programs with the Wildlife Commission.

At its meeting, the Wildlife Commission unveiled a large bronze plaque donated by the N.C. Wildlife Federation in memory of the late S.B. Coley of Raleigh, who was the first chairman of the Wildlife Commission in 1947. The unveiling was part of the Commission's 25th anniversary celebration.

The Commission also announced the dates of the public hearings for consideration of changes in fishing regulations proposed for 1973. The hearings will be as follows: October 9, 1972, at the Buncombe County Courthouse in Asheville; October 11 at the Rowan County Courthouse in Salisbury and October 12 at the Beaufort County Courthouse in Washington. The hearings will begin at 7:30 p.m.

Cornatzer Club Has Meeting

The Cornatzer Homemakers Club met Tuesday afternoon, July 25 with Miss Ava Barney. The vice-president, Nora Smith presided with the group having devotions and a song. There was 1 visitor, Mrs. Ella Smith.

After the Club collect the meeting was adjourned with refreshment of cake, pickles, nuts and punch.

Forestry Camp At Camp Mitchell

More than 65 boys from 39 counties throughout North Carolina attending the state's 26th annual Forestry Camp this week at Camp Mitchell.

The boys are learning principles of management and improvement of the forest, America's major renewable resource. Professional foresters and game managers from state agencies and from the forest industries are providing instruction in ecology, forest renewal, timber harvesting and processing, forest wildfire control and game management.

Sponsored by the Southern Forest Institute as part of its education program, the camp is conducted by the North Carolina Forest Service. Finances are contributed by local pulp and paper companies including: International Paper Company, Wilmington; Champion International Corp., Canton; Westvaco Corp., Manteo; and Weyerhaeuser Company, Plymouth.

In addition to their studies, the boys have frequent opportunities for swimming, boating, softball, volleyball, horseshoe pitching and other recreational activities.

A Child's Shoe

By Roscoe Brown Fisher

While in London I spent several days in the lower East Side — as it is called — where "Jack the Ripper" operated in 1888. The lower East Side is where William Booth began the Salvation Army in July of 1865.

Late one Friday afternoon while strolling along White Chapel Road, near where Booth often preached to the poor, I stepped to the side to watch the bargain-hungry crowds mill around the overly decorated booths.

Leaning against a store front, I realized I had nudged some object with my foot.

There at my feet was a child's shoe. Retrieving the small shoe — for a child of about two years — I meticulously turned it over and over. It was little worn, practically new . . . well made.

Perhaps some mother had picked up the "little one" and didn't realize until they were down the busy street, or home, that a shoe was missing.

I found myself wondering what the little boy was like. His home . . . did he cry when he missed his shoe? Were his parents good to him? Was he happy? Well fed? Hungry? Was he scolded often? Or never?

What would he grow up to be?

It was then that I compared my life to the man I might have been . . . and I was so ashamed.

There are many precious "Bits of Life" that go unused.

Sociology Course On TV Sept. 5

The University of North Carolina Television network will offer a Sociology of Educational course taught by UNC-Asheville and starting Sept. 5.

To be seen from 6:30 to 7 p.m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays on UNC-TV (Channel 33 in the Asheville area), the Sociology of Education will be taught by Dr. Walter R. Roland, chairman and associate professor of sociology at UNC-A. Dr. Roland received his Ph.D. from the University of Michigan and has written monographs and articles in this area.

It will be the first time UNC-Asheville has taken part in a UNC-TV televised course although the Asheville campus has offered programs of instruction over WLOS-TV for the past two years.

Inquiries for admission should be addressed to the Registrar, UNC-Asheville, Asheville, N.C. 28804. The three-semester-hour credit course is designed for school teachers and administrators as well as the concerned public and college or university students majoring in either sociology, one of the related social sciences disciplines or in a teacher preparatory program.

Extensive use of motion pictures and interviews with such well-known educators as President William C. Friday of North Carolina, President Samuel Spencer of Davidson, President Albert Whiting of N.C. Central and President Richard Hagemeyer of Central Piedmont Community College will be featured, along with such well-known sociologists as Professor Theodore Caplow, author of "The Academic Marketplace," and Professor Bruce K. Ecland of UNC-Chapel Hill.

"The Sociology of Education is concerned with the analyses of the important social structures, processes and problems characterizing contemporary educational institutions in the United States," Dr. Boland said. "Particular attention will be given to the study of the decision-making structures and processes in two settings which have experienced considerable turmoil and dissent over the last few years."

He cited these as institutions of higher education and those publicly supported primary and secondary schools bound in large urban communities.

"Such a study is obviously crucial to an understanding of many of the major issues concerning education today, including 'who controls our schools,' the increased unionization and militancy of the faculty, the 'community control movement,' student dissent, de facto school segregation and bussing."

Advance News

Mrs. Allen Bailey and children Edith and Todd, Mrs. Bill Zimmerman have returned from a four day visit in Arlington, Virginia and Washington, D. C. They visited Mrs. Zimmerman's daughter, Mrs. Chris Farley while her husband Mr. Farley is attending a two weeks Government school in San Francisco, California. Mrs. Farley acted as guide for her guests and everyone enjoyed tours over Washington which included the Kennedy Center and 20 other points of interest. Also a trip to the Zoo where they saw the Giant Pandas; then a boat trip down the Potomac river to visit Mt. Vernon. They attended worship Sunday morning at the Washington Cathedral. While in Georgetown they saw many beautiful Embassy buildings as they drove down "Embassy Row."

The Spruce Street YMCA's late-summer program of swimming instruction for women and girls will start on Monday, July 24.

Night classes are planned for these groups:

Girls, ages 6 through 14, classes for beginners, advanced beginner, intermediates and swimmers will meet on Monday and Wednesday night from 6:45 to 8 p.m. for four weeks.

Women, 15 years of age and over, swimming instruction at all skill levels will be conducted from 8 to 9:15 p.m. on Monday and Wednesday for four weeks.

A series of daytime classes will begin on August 1. Class sessions will be on Tuesday and Thursday for four weeks.

Yoga exercises for women will be offered from 2 to 3 p.m. Martha LeFever will instruct the Yoga class.

Non-swimmer and beginner instruction for girls will be from 2 to 3:15 p.m. and swimming instruction for all skill level women students will be from 3 to 4:15 p.m.

Students in intermediate and swimmer skill levels in all classes will receive instruction in the basic styles of swimming. Non-swimmer and beginner students will be taught the basic crawl, stroke, floating and swimming on the back, back crawl, treading water and beginner diving.

Successful students will be awarded Red Cross swimmer skill level certificates.

Iredell Man New Chairman Of Mental Health Clinic

Did You Know?

Officers were elected and plans were made to employ a part-time pharmacist at the Monday night meeting of the board of directors of the Tri-County Mental Health Complex, held at the Rowan clinic.

Charlie Walters, chairman of the board for the past two years, turned over his duties to J. Garner Bagnal, Iredell County board member and former mayor of Statesville.

Walters of Rowan and Charles Alexander of Davie County will serve as vice-chairmen for the coming year, and Mrs. Lois Teeter, administrative assistant for the clinic, as secretary.

The board agreed to attempt to hire a part-time pharmacist to dispense medication to clinic patients in Rowan and Iredell counties after learning from Director Thomas J. Lyster that the present method of dispensing medicine is illegal.

Lyster, who was attending his first board meeting after assuming his duties on July 10, said that Broughton Hospital has asked the clinic to work out a better solution.

Presently, clinic secretaries are counting and distributing pills to patients when actually a pharmacist or pharmacy technician is needed to do this.

Board member Joe Blake of Rowan said that the cost to the clinic of hiring a pharmacist might result in an added cost of medicine to patients. County commissioners may have to allot funds for this purpose, Walters noted.

Alexander told the board that presently Davie County has a working system for distributing medicine to clinic patients. The pharmacy at Davie County Hospital is filling the prescriptions, he said.

Meanwhile, the clinic will continue to operate as it has until a pharmacist can be hired.

The board also agreed to pay state hospital social workers travel expenses for visits to Iredell County patients each Monday until a full-time Iredell social worker can be hired.

Iredell has been without a social worker since the resignation of Alan Boram this month. John Whitfield, psychiatric social worker, told the board that he is interviewing social worker candidates for the job now and going to Statesville himself on Thursdays to work with patients.

Dr. Warren Young, clinical psychologist, informed the board that he is interviewing psychologists for a position in Iredell, open since the July 7 resignation of Miss Gayle Biggers.

Lyster reported on Medicaid funds, now in effect, and attempts to hire a psychiatrist for the clinic. The clinic will be paid $15 in government funds for each visit by a Medicaid patient. This will result in an increase of clinic funds, Lyster said, because in the past two weeks, the clinic has seen six Medicaid patients. At this rate, Lyster said, the clinic will take in $2,160 per year.

Lyster said that a South

Carolina psychiatrist, Dr. Craig Black, is to contact him for an interview for a job with the clinic. Board members expressed doubt in the clinic being able to employ a psychiatrist because the number of psychiatrists in clinics is "small and diminishing."

Whitfield asked the board if it would be interested in hiring a director of volunteer services to set up a Dial Help type telephone system for the clinic and provide transportation to state hospitals for families of patients.

Whitfield said that this director could work with the Dial Help program in Rowan. Iredell board members said that Statesville and Mooresville have a working situation similar to Rowan's Dial Help, and they didn't see a need for a volunteer director there.

Mrs. Teeter announced that in addition to Lyster, a part-time doctor was hired in June to handle some of the duties of a former doctor, Jane Higbee. Dr. Inge S. Gibson, hired on June 14, is working one-half day each week in Rowan and Iredell counties and one-half day each month in Davie, Mrs. Teeter said.

Mrs. Lucretia Wagoner was employed as a secretary for two months to replace two secretaries who resigned recently in Iredell County. Submitting resignations recently were secretaries Mrs. Shirley Stradley and Mrs. Nancy Pearson.

An assistant alcoholism counselor was hired to work one day a week in Davie and four days a week in Iredell at a salary of $8,220, Mrs. Teeter said. Robert J. Fetsch assumed duties as a trainee July 24. The board voted to change the title of his position to comply with local and state laws after Mrs. Sarah McLaughlin of Iredell said that Iredell commissioners had informed her of state standards to pay trainees $7,500. The board will change Fetsch's title in order to pay him the additional funds.

The board also agreed that employees who resigned in July should be given pay increases they were scheduled to receive for their last month of work.

Whitfield reported that construction work on the new clinic building is "moving along at a good pace." The roofing and outside walls are being completed and interior work is to begin in the very near future.

The board accepted the resignation of Charles H. Keaton as board member from Rowan. Keaton has moved to South Carolina.

Walters presided at the meeting. Attending were Mrs. McLaughlin, Bagnal, A. C. Craven, Alexander, Charles Dunn, William Gales and Blake.

The board will meet again on the first Wednesday night in October.

LOCATING TREES

Locating trees in the proper place around the house, requires some thought for good results. Trees frame the building if placed to the sides, point out North Carolina State University specialists, but this doesn't mean you should never have trees in front. If shade is needed in front, by all means have it. If, on the other hand, your house faces North or East, it might look better with trees only at the sides and back.

Time Extended For Leasing Flu-cured Tobacco

Flue-cured tobacco growers may now lease and transfer flue-cured tobacco quota through November 30. The recently enacted legislation will give farmers more time for making arrangements for either transferring quota to or from their farms. The previous deadline for leasing had been established as April 1.

The basic provisions of the leasing program remain unchanged. All transfers must be withing the county and any receiving farm must have an effective flue-cured tobacco allotment for the current year. Leasing both to and from a farm is not permitted during the same year.

The new provision simply extends the leasing date through most of the marketing season. Under the new law both the receiving and transferring farm must have 50 percent of the effective allotment planted in order to lease or transfer acreage. Farms with less than 2,000 pounds of basic quota may transfer to any farm with out regard to the planted acreage on either farm.

The new lease and transfer provisions are effective for the 1972 crop of flue-cured tobacco. Any farmer interested in the new leasing provisions should contact his local ASCS office for all the details.

The County Disaster Committee met Wednesday, July 5, 1972 and made recommendations to the State Disaster Committee that emergency funds be made available in Davie County for farms seriously affected by the recent flood. The assistance request is in the form of cost-share assistance for shaping, grading, filling and leveling of eroded or gullied land. Farmers will be notified if this request for assistance is approved.

Before handling and applying pesticides, read all labels and follow directions to the letter. Wear recommended protective clothing and equipment.

A girl can dream, can't she?

This time you're absolutely going to save something out of your paycheck. But, then, you really do need that pantsuit, a new coat and, of course, that perfume Eric likes so much.

Before you know it, the money's gone... and all you've got saved are your dreams.

That's why the Payroll Savings Plan is such a good idea for a single girl. When you join, an amount you specify is set aside from your check and used to buy U.S. Savings Bonds. And, it's all done before you get your check—so you can't help but save.

U.S. Savings Bonds. To help you save more than dreams.

Now U.S. Bonds pay 5 1/2% interest when held to maturity of 5 years, 10 months if 4 1/2% the first year. Bonds are replaced if lost, stolen, or destroyed. When needed they can be cashed at your bank. Interest is not subject to state or local income taxes, and federal tax may be deferred until redemption.

Take stock in America.

Now Bonds mature in less than six years.

Start a savings account now ...you're a year late already.

Linda Goolsby Crowned 'Miss Mocksville'

"Completely shocked! I was so surprised and so happy," was Linda Goolsby's reaction to being crowned the "1973 Miss Mocksville", Saturday night at the Mocksville auditorium.

Kathy Smoot was first runner-up and Miss Congeniality, and Glenda Bowles was second runner-up.

Linda is the first black to win the "Miss Mocksville" title. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Goolsby of Rt. 3, Mocksville.

For the evening gown competition, Linda wore a peach chiffon gown, and for the swim suit competition she wore a pink bathing suit.

Linda did a modern jazz dance called "Scorpio Design" in the talent competition.

In answer to the question, "If you could spend one hour with anyone in the world today, who would it be and why?" Linda replied, "If I could spend one hour with anyone in the world, I would spend the one hour with President Nixon to see if we could find a way to obtain peace in this country."

As winner of the pageant, Linda received a $300 cash scholarship, trophy, crown, expense-paid trip to the Miss North Carolina Pageant, a Bulova "Miss America" watch and two gift certificates.

Linda is a 1972 graduate of Davie County High School where she was a cheerleader for three years, chief cheerleader her senior year, a member of the pep club, Human Relations committee, girls track team and a Homecoming Sponsor.

This fall, Linda will attend N. C. Central University where she will major in Child Psychology or Early Childhood Education.

Kathy Ann Smoot was the first runner-up and Miss Congeniality. She wore a blue gown in the evening gown competition and a yellow bathing suit in the swim suit competition. In the talent competition, she portrayed Laugh-In's Lily Tomlin in the "Telephone Operator." In answer to the question, she replied, "I would like to spend the hour with my friends at college because it makes me happy to be with them, and if I am with them I know everything will be okay."

As first runner-up Kathy received a $50 cash scholarship, trophy and sportswear. She received a trophy for the Miss Congeniality award.

Glenda Bowles, the second runner-up, wore a gold brocade gown in the evening gown competition, and a navy bathing suit in the bathing suit competition.

For her talent presentation, Glenda sang "Time" and showed three paintings that she had done that portrayed three

Criminal Session Of Superior Court Held

Goins Gets Life Sentence For Kidnapping

A man was sentenced to prison for life in Davie Superior Court last week after pleading guilty to three charges of kidnapping.

George Goins was sentenced by Judge James Long to be confined in the N.C. Department of Correction for the rest of his natural life. And the sentence also included the stipulation that if he was ever considered for parole one of the conditions of that parole be that he not drink alcoholic beverages.

Goins pled guilty to breaking into the home of Glenn Kooztz in the Davie Academy Community, taking a loaded gun and holding Mrs. Kooztz and her two children, ages 9 and 12, captives for around four hours.

He forced Mrs. Kooztz and the two children at gun point into a car and had Mrs. Kooztz drive them to several places in the county. He was drinking at the time and terrorized Mrs. Kooztz and the children by carelessly holding the loaded gun at their head and threatening to kill them and others. Goins was subdued when Mrs. Kooztz caught him off guard, gave him while her brother-in-law Jack Kooztz was called to the home.

Goins was shot in the foot when he made a lunge to take the gun from Mr. Kooztz.

The arson case involving Wayne Edard Reavis was continued under a new bill of indictment. The peace warrant against Reavis was dismissed.

Mrs. Dorothy L. Carpenter, 39, was found guilty of obtaining $345 worth of food stamps by fraud. She had applied for and received one month's stamps for a 13-member family in January. She was given a one-year suspended sentence and ordered to make restitution of $345 to the Davie County Department of Social Services, and ordered to pay the court $345 in fines and court costs.

H.W. Zimmerman served as solicitor for the criminal session of superior court that last through Friday. Other cases disposed of were as follows: Herbert Mack White, larceny and breaking and entering, failed to appear for trial. Capias

Earl Jackson Barts, operating car intoxicated, case remained to district court.

Baxter Nathaniel Hairston, operating car intoxicated, driving with license revoked and larceny. Sentenced to six months in Davie County jail, considered for work release.

The charge of improper registration was not pressed with leave.

Woodrow Wilson, assault with deadly weapon. Sentenced from 8 months to two years in the N.C. Department of Corrections. To receive credit on sentence for time spent in jail awaiting trial.

David Levon Gore, operating car intoxicated and driving with license suspended. Sentenced to six months, suspended for two years. To pay $300 and cost and not to operate motor vehicles while license suspended.

Betty Baysinger Cox, reckless driving, $100 and cost.

Dale Winford Buchanan, operating car intoxicated.

David "Shorty" Nichols, discharged firearms into occupied property. Sentenced from 12 to 18 months, suspended for five years on following conditions: Make restitution of

Davie Designated To Make Emergency Loans

James T. Johnson, State Director of Farmers Home Administration in North Carolina, announced today that Davie County is receiving applications for emergency loans. Davie County was recently designated by the Secretary of Agriculture to make emergency loans as a result of damages caused by tropical storm Agnes and accompanying rains.

Loans may be made to restore property damaged by the storm and also for the purchase of feed, seed, fertilizer, and other essential annual farm operating expenses where crop losses occurred due to the storm.

Farmers in Davie County who suffered damages should contact Clarence H. Sink, Farmers Home Administration, for additional information. His office is located in the County Building in Mocksville and he is in the county each Monday morning.

Farmers Home Administration personnel from Davie County will be attending a meeting Friday, August 4, 1972, at the Agricultural Building in Winston-Salem where they will be given a detailed explanation of credit available through this program.

Masonic - D.E.V. Picnic Saturday

The 88th annual Masonic and Davie Education Union Picnic will be held Saturday at Clement Grove.

Proceeds from this annual event go for the support of the Central Orphanage of Oxford and the Davie Educational Union building fund.

An address will be delivered by the Rev. Milton Williams of the Shaw Memorial A. E. E. Zion Church, Buffalo, N. Y.

At 3:30 p.m. there will be a musical program by the Central Orphanage band. There will be a lawn party that night.

New Student Registration

New students who have moved into Davie County this summer and have not registered at the school they will attend should register at their school during the week of August 14-18.

Principals will be on duty at all schools from 8 a.m. until 3:30 p.m. and parents of new students in Davie County are urged to have their children registered during this period.

Mizell Urges Davie Farmers To Apply For Disaster Loans

Fifth District Congressman Wilmer Mizell, today urged farmers and rural residents whose property was damaged by tropical storm Agnes to apply for disaster assistance loans through local offices of the Farmers Home Administration.

Mizell, who was instrumental in securing approval for disaster aid in seven North Carolina counties most severely affected by the storm, announced Tuesday that the FHA has authorized emergency loans to finance crop production and provide for other expenses involved in continuing normal farming operations.

Counties approved for the disaster assistance are Davidson, Davie, Forsyth, Rockingham, Stokes, Surry and Yadkin.

Applications for loans may be made through June 30, 1973, Mizell said, and information on interest rates and length of time permissible to repay the loans may be obtained through local FHA office.

"I was very pleased to be able to secure this assistance for the people of this area," Mizell said, "and I urge farmers and rural residents to take full advantage of this aid."

School Busses Changing To Yellow

Some school children may be surprised to find a yellow school bus instead of the traditional Omaha Orange school bus taking them to school this fall.

Twelve Davie County school busses have been painted yellow to comply with a federal guideline announced in May by the Department of Transportation. The guideline requires North Carolina to change the color of the buses from Omaha Orange to National School Bus Yellow in order to have a uniform school bus color throughout the country.

The State Department of Public Instruction has set a four-year deadline to convert all 10,000 buses in the state to the new color.

Davie County Assistant Superintendent of Schools, Jeff Wells, explained that only one other state besides North Carolina had been using the Omaha Orange. The purpose of the guideline was to establish uniformity throughout the country so that interstate travelers would recognize the buses.

Wells said that the county had also been given a new bus by the state so the county will have a total of 13 yellow buses. The new bus will be used at Pinebrook Elementary School.

Fifty buses will be operating in the county during the coming school year. Wells said that the other buses will be painted within the next four years to

Joppa Cemetery Nominated For National Historic Register

The Joppa Cemetery near Mocksville has been nominated for inclusion on the National Register of Historic Places, the nation's official list of significant historic properties.

In submitting the nomination to the Department of Interior, Dr. H.G. Jones, state historian and administrator of the Office of Archives and History, stated that the area of Davie County around Joppa Cemetery was settled in the early 1750's, and the cemetery is believed to contain the graves of some of the earliest settlers.

Of particular interest are the grave markers of Squire and Sarah Boone, the parents of the well-known explorer, Daniel Boone. The Boones came to the area from Pennsylvania, via Virginia, and purchased land in the area in 1753.

Besides the association with the Boone family, Joppa Cemetery is also connected with a Presbyterian congregation that existed at least as early as 1767. Joppa Meeting House was apparently closed about 1863 when the congregation moved to a newer church in Mocksville.

The nomination of Joppa Cemetery was submitted in connection with the Office of Archives and History's long-range program to document the authenticity of all historic properties in North Carolina. Approval will be announced through the state's congressional delegation.

High School

Davie County High School students may pick up their class schedules at the school office during the hours from 8:30 a.m. until 3:30 p.m. on August 16, 17 and 18.

At the same time the building will be open so that incoming freshman and new students may visit and look over the buildings and campus.

The High School Dress Code will remain the same as it was for the school year 1971-72.

As second runner-up Glenda received a trophy and a $25 cash scholarship.

There were four other contestants in the pageant.

Cathy Foster wore a yellow evening gown in the evening gown competition, and white bathing suit in the swim suit competition. In the talent competition, she portrayed Lily Tomlin's "Edith Ann."

Susan Mathis wore a white evening gown in the evening gown competition, and in the swim suit competition she wore a yellow bathing suit. She presented a modern jazz routine in the talent competition.

Cindy Reavis wore a green evening gown, and a blue swim suit. In the talent competition, Cindy sang "I Could Have Danced All Night" from the play "My Fair Lady."

Celia Jean Smith wore a yellow evening gown and a white swim suit. Jean presented a baton routine to the music "Classical Gas" in the talent competition.

Debbie Bingham, "Miss Mocksville 1972", and Miss Congeniality at this year's Miss North Carolina Pageant presented a dramatic reading of The Crucifixion by James W. Johnson. In her final comments as the reigning Miss Mocksville, Debbie stated that it had been a glorious year, she had had many exciting moments - the most exciting being when she was named Miss Congeniality at the Miss North Carolina Pageant. She thanked the many people who had helped her during the year. Ty Boyd was an entertaining Master of Ceremonies. At one point during the pageant, he told the contestants he was surprised that none of them had

Larry Bumgarner Completes Course

Larry Franklin Bumgarner of Cooleemee was graduated August 2 from Piedmont Aerospace Institute, Smith Reynolds Airport, Winston-Salem.

He has successfully completed a 24 month course entitled "Aircraft Maintenance Technology-Avionics". Completion of these courses leads to two licenses - FAA with Airframe and Powerplant ratings -- and FCC 2nd Class Radio-Telephone Operator.

Mr. Bumgarner was awarded a Certificate of Competency-Aircraft Electrical Systems as well as a diploma.

He was a member of the USAF from 1966 to 1969 and held the rank of Sgt. and was a Crew Chief. He has been employed at Cartex Mills from 1969 to 1972. His wife is the former Nancy Kay Burleson of Salisbury. They have one son, Todd Franklin, born January 25, 1971.

dates that night. Special entertainment was presented by nine of the eleven former "Miss Mocksvilles". They sang a medley of patriotic songs.

Special guests at the pageant were three of the top ten finalists at this year's Miss North Carolina Pageant. They were "Miss Statesville" Bobbie Jo Morrow, who tied with Debbie Bingham as Miss Congeniality at the N. C. Pageant, "Miss Winston-Salem, Susan Moore, and "Miss Denton", Delia Garner.

The stage for the pageant was decorated in red, white, and blue.

Gene Smith was soloist for the event, and Mike Hendrix was organist.

The Saturday night pageant brought to an end weeks of preparation by the contestants, Jaycees and Jaycettes, and others as Linda Goolsby begins her reign as the 1973 Miss Mocksville.

Downtown Parking To Be Discussed

A meeting to discuss the parking situation in downtown Mocksville will be held Tuesday, August 15th, at 7:30 p.m. at the Davie County Library.

The meeting is a cooperative effort by the Mocksville Town Board of Commissioners and the board of directors of the Davie Merchants Association.

Representatives of the county government and merchants of the downtown area have been invited to attend and express their opinions on the present parking situation and possible needs for the future.

Mocksville Chief of Police Joe Foster will also be present to discuss the enforcement of parking regulations.

Census Seeks Information On Employment

A number of households in this area will take part in a nationwide survey on employment and unemployment to be conducted the week of August 14-18 by the Bureau of the Census, Joseph R. Norwood, Director of the Bureau's Data Collection Center in Charlotte, announced today.

The survey is taken monthly by the Bureau for the U.S. Department of Labor. The households interviewed are scientifically selected to represent a cross section of all households.

Statistics on conditions in the labor force from month to month provide a continuing measure of the economic health of the country. In June, for example, the Nation's unemployment rate dropped to 5.9 percent. The decline, from 5.9 percent in May, brought the jobless rate to its lowest level in more than a year and a half.

Information supplied by individuals participating in the survey is held confidential by law and is used only to compile statistical totals.

Interviewers who will visit households in this area are Mrs. June C. Bullabough, Route 1, Box 27-A, Mocksville, N.C. 27028.

A church reception was given by Mrs. Eugene Bowman, Mrs. C. F. Jarvis, Jr., Mrs. Charlie Boger and Mrs. Frankie Allen. Later, the newlyweds left for a trip to the mountains. They will live in Advance.

Since so many of us are doing a lot of traveling this summer, it's good to know a few facts. Approximately 70 percent of the US population takes at least one vacation trip within the country during the year and the principal source of transportation is the family car.

Some like the coast and some the mountains. I like them both but due to the ocean breeze, I guess I really prefer the coast. The Wilmington area and its mild climate which goes to the presence of the Gulf Stream 50 miles off the coast and the 61 percent sunshine during the winter months December through February. The temperature hits freezing only rarely and snow is even rarer. The average temperature is 64 degrees.

There is much to see in this area. Historical points of interest include museums, modern library historical buildings, Thalian Hall rich in history. This is a large white building dating back to 1859 at 3rd and Princess streets. At the rear portion of the Hall is a theatre. Actually the history of Thalian Hall goes back to 1788 when it first began. There are five plays during each season of the Broadway type. One of the productions recently was "The Sound of Music".

Then there is fishing. There is no other place better. You have a choice of fresh water fishing or salt water fishing and pier fishing.

If you like to play golf, there are many golf courses.

There are also many picnic areas, if you like a change of pace from the food places. There are many, many good places to eat...good food...motel and hotels. So, the sightseeing in this area is one of the best.

I must not forget the Orton Plantation. It is a dream from the past. It has beautiful gardens, many trees, some centuries old. Orton Plantation was founded in 1725. It's worth your drive out to see and it is open at all seasons. The Spanish Moss hanging from the trees makes a beautiful picture.

TRAVEL FACTS

Do pack all your cosmetics and liquids in a plastic bag.

Do carry your bathing suit in a plastic bag.

Do take liquid soap, soap flakes and packages of cold water soap for washing lingerie, cotton gloves and drip dries, and a portable clothesline.

Do take an emergency grooming kit.

Do take a few metal hangers.

Do consider if you want to take a travel iron.

Do make up your own medicine kit.

Do take small size boxes of soaps, powders and cosmetics.

Do take small tubes of tooth paste.

Don't forget hair spray.

1 tablespoon flour
salt and pepper to taste.

Fry bacon until crisp. Save to use later. Add bacon grease to water in which rice will be cooked. In frying pan, melt butter. Add celery and chopped bell pepper. Cook a few minutes. Add shrimp sprinkled in worchestershire sauce and dredge in flour. Stir and simmer until flour is cooked. Season with salt and pepper. Add rice and mix. More butter may be added. Stir in crumbled bacon and serve.

CLASSIC—The cotton corduroy jumper is updated with a little help from the kitchen. Quilted potholder mitts in a lively calico print replace ordinary pockets. The same print shapes a long-sleeved blouse. By Country Aire.

KID STUFF—Cotton corduroy breaks into colorful argyle print for casual school pants cut with flared legs. Styled by Chevron, they're worn with a zip-front knit top. Corduroy by Cone.

AFFORDABLE LUXURY—Color-bright cottons with an easy care finish make elegant practical as well as economical. The decorative pattern of the ready-made spread is carried out in custom cotton draperies, wallpaper, and matching piecegoods used for making the chair cushion. Melton Electric Wins District Softball Title Melton's Electric won a doubleheader in Statesville, Friday night, August 5th to win the district men's slow-pitch softball championship for the second consecutive year.

Melton's entered the Friday night competition with one loss in the double-elimination tournament while Ken's Pool Room of Advance was undefeated. Melton's won the first game by coming from behind in the last inning to win the game 10-9. In the second game, Melton's erupted for a 17-0 lead to coast into the winner's circle.

In the first game, Commie Shaffner ripped a pair of home runs and Harry Howell added a solo shot. Ricky Lagle and Shaffner had three hits each. Pee Wee Beal had four hits and Steve Ledford, Don Bailey and Wayne Hamilton added three each for Ken's Pool Room. Ronnie Ledford and Baley had homers.

Melton's scored 10 runs in the third inning. Harry Howell had a pair of homers and Denny Cartner had a single round-tripper. Howell and Lloyd Blackwelder had three hits each. Edward Beal was the only player to pair hits for Ken's.

Trophies were presented by the Statesville Recreation Commission at the conclusion of the tourney to the first and second place teams and the team displaying the best sportsmanship during the event. Miller's Sunoco of Statesville.

Individuals awards went to all the players, coaches and sponsors on Melton's championship squad. Donnie Davis of Melton won the home run trophy, ripping seven in eight games. Davis also had the most hits, 25, but since no individual may win both trophies, Ricky Lagle, with 21 hits, took the award for the player with the most hits.

Besides winning last year's district title in Statesville, Melton's also won the Dogwood Festival tournament held last fall.

Potts Goes To Thomasville As Teacher-Coach

W. G. Potts, son of Mr. and Mrs. Worth Potts of Route 3 has been employed as a Senior High teacher-coach in Thomasville, N.C.

The Thomasville city school board hired Potts to replace Charles Parnell who recently resigned to enter business.

Potts is a 1972 graduate of Appalachian State University. He is also a 1967 graduate of Davie County High School.

The 22 year old Davie County native is expected to be assigned as a civics teacher at Senior High and during the football season to assist with the coaching of the ninth grade football squad.

Potts, who is single, majored in physical education at Appalachian. He was active in sports in high school but did not participate in varsity athletics at Appalachian.

Supt. Derwood Huneycutt in recommending the employment of Potts to the school board said that he also is highly recommended by Senior High Principal Elmo Aligood and Athletic Director George Cushman, who became acquainted with Potts while he was practice teaching in Thomasville.

HOW DID CASEY JONES GET HIS NAME?

Everyone has heard the ballad, "Casey Jones," about the famous train engineer. Did you ever wonder how he got his name, Casey? Well, Casey was a nickname he picked up because he was a resident of Cayce, Kentucky, when he was a youngster.

Casey became the engineer of the Cannonball Express between Memphis, Tennessee, and Canton, Mississippi. He was at the throttle when the crack train smashed into the rear of a freight at Vaughn, Mississippi, on April 30, 1900. Roundhouse worker composed the ballad about Casey Jones and the wreck. The song became popular throughout the United States.

We may not be like old Casey in many respects, but we do try to proceed with all possible speed when a customer needs assistance. Service is our primary product and we do everything possible to provide the very best service.

Grand Jury Makes Report

The W. S. C. S. of the United Methodist Church met Thursday afternoon in the Fellowship Hall of the church with nine members present and the president, Mrs. B. C. Brock, Sr., presiding. "Jesus Calls Us" was used as an opening song. The last two chapters in the Bible study, "The Invitation - Matthew on Missions" was presented by Mrs. Nell Lashley. She said that the invitation to be God's chosen People was first given to the Jews, but because of their rejection it was extended to the Gentiles -- meaning to all people. A prayer and the song "The Voice of God is Calling" closed the program. After the business session a market basket of garden vegetables fresh from the W. S. Spillman Yadkin River farm, and warm fresh loaf bread and watermelon rind pickles from the gourmet kitchen of Mrs. Brock were auctioned off to the highest bidder. Singing a closing prayer song adjourned the meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Jackson and children, Amy and Molly, Wanda Hartman and Kathy Smith returned Friday after spending several days at Lake Norman.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lashley, Debbie, Cecil and Mary are vacationing this week at Camp Arrow Head at Myrtle Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Brock, Frank and Gela left Monday for Myrtle Beach. They will be camping at Camp Arrow Head for four or five days.

Mrs. William W. White is visiting this week with her daughter, Miss Margie White in Wallburg.

Mrs. Ruby Mauney of Kanapolis was the guest of her sister, Mrs. Wade Furches during the weekend.

Rev. and Mrs. Fred Shoaf celebrated their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary Sunday afternoon at their home, the Methodist Parsonage. Many friends called during the appointed hours of three till five to congratulate them and wish them many more years of happiness together.

Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Spillman were Mrs. F. D. Poindexter, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Donald Poindexter and son, Donnie of Huntsville, also Mr. and Mrs. Willie Taylor of Winston-Salem.

Mr. and Mrs. Max Conrad of Plafitown visited Mr. and Mrs. Grady Smith Sunday afternoon.

Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. G. N. Tucker were Mr. and Mrs. Thurman, Mrs. Douglas Lawrence and daughters, Emily and Christy, Mr. and Mrs. George Linville and daughters Lynn and Penny, Mr. Allen Linville, all of Walkertown, and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Strupe of Winston-Salem.

GOLDEN AGE CLUB

On Wednesday morning at ten, thirty-six senior citizens of Davie County happily gathered in the Rotary Hut for two hours of fellowship. The meeting opened with the singing of three requested hymns. Mrs. Elva Cash was at the piano and Mrs. Nell Lashley led the singing. Rev. Donald K. Funderburk, pastor of the Bethlehem United Methodist Church was introduced by Mrs. J. S. Haire. He read the fourth chapter of St. Mark and talked interestingly on the Sower and the Soil. He closed with an earnest prayer for guidance for each Club member and gave thanks for all our many blessings.

During the business a trip to Canada and Niagara Falls planned for the Fall was discussed. Two visitors, Mrs. W. W. Howell and Mrs. Edna Griffin were given a hearty welcome. Mrs. Mable McDonald was reported to be a patient in the Davie Hospital.

Mrs. Ruth Preston introduced Mrs. Howell who showed colored pictures of a Canadian ship she, Mr. Howell and son Stewart took in July 1971. She told about each scene as it was shown on the screen. They visited Niagara Falls, Quebec and many places in Canada. They visited the Amish villages in Pennsylvania on their return home.

During a fellowship hour a covered dish luncheon with coffee and iced tea was enjoyed.

Cornatzer

Terry Potts returned to his home from Davie County Hospital Saturday but is confined to his bed.

Mr. and Mrs. Bud Rich and Freddie and Mrs. Mary Ellen Bennett and children and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Patton vacationed at Carolina Beach last week.

Mr. and Mrs. James Shoaf, Karen and Ryman are spending a few days in Florida. Alan Bishop accompanied them on their trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Worth Potts visited Mr. and Mrs. Robert Axsen in Dobson Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Jo Bowens and girls, Luvada and Garlene, and Susan Ellis of Advance spent the weekend at Myrtle Beach, S. C. Misses Karen and Jeanie McClung of Cleveland, Ohio, are spending the week with Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Day.

W. G. (Dub) Potts is with the National Guard in Ft. Bragg for two weeks.

Pam Potts spent last Tuesday night with Debbie McCargue.

Mrs. Nette Stout was able to attend church services at Cornatzer Baptist Church Sunday after being out for some time because of sickness.

Ridgecrest To Have Name Change

The name of Ridgecrest Baptist Assembly has been changed to Ridgecrest Baptist Conference Center, assembly manager Ken McAnear has announced.

The name changes for both Ridgecrest and the Glorieta (N.M.) Baptist Conference Center were made by the trustees of the Southern Baptist Sunday School Board during their July 26 semi-annual meeting.

The Davie County Grand Jury met in regular session on July 31st with 18 members present.

The grand jury considered 15 bills of indictment. Of these 13 were found to be true bills; none not true; and two were continued for the term.

The grand jury inspected the new county jail and noted that previous recommended repairs had been made and the cells were clean and newly painted. It was noted that the following repairs were needed or recommended:

1. First door to the first cell lock sticking.
2. Window to first cell, first window bottom seal left off.
3. Light in stairway not burning.
4. Take latch off rest room door to officer's room.
5. Basement door hinges freezing up.

The following recommendations were made for the court room:

Recommend that windows in court room be fitted with some sort of covering in order that movies or slides could be shown and also to reduce glare.

Court house roof should be inspected and repaired since leaks have been noted.

The following recommendations were made for the prison camp:

Need floor tile in eating area, kitchen and food storage area. All exhaust fans in kitchen and mess hall are broken and need repairing.

Kitchen and storage area needs painting.

It was noted that the mess hall was clean and the food looked appetizing. The rest rooms have been remodeled and are clean.

Boys Town Auction On August 19th

On Saturday, August 19, WBTV, Channel 3, will telecast a day-long auction in an effort to raise building and operational funds for Boys Town of North Carolina.

The auction will continue uninterrupted from 10:00 a.m. until 1:00 a.m. as local radio and television personalities will put thousands of dollars worth of donated merchandise up for bid. Viewers will be shown the various items to be auctioned off with the appropriate description given by the auctioneer.

This is the second year of the Boys Town Auction and as a result of the project last year Boys Town was able to operate the entire year on the proceeds plus build an additional cottage, a home for 12 boys.

Boys Town of North Carolina is licensed as a child caring institution by the North Carolina Department of Welfare, and all matters of policy, program and fund raising including this auction, must meet with its approval. Boys Town is open to any adjusted and his family relationships improve, or he is placed in a foster home until he completes his education and secures employment, or until he enters the Armed Services. Boys Town can provide hundreds of homeless youths a home, if it has the money to build the facilities.

The funds raised during this auction will be used to start the construction of a third cottage and to continue its operation for another year. This fund will include the payment for professional counselors, food, medical bills, clothing, transportation, recreation, cottage parents, maintenance of the cottages, and a good education for the boys.

The auction coordinator for the 1972 Boys Town auction is Ted Bolick, a trust officer for North Carolina National Bank. Bolick has perhaps the roughest job of any concerned with the auction. He has been assigned full-time to work with the auction for a period of 6 weeks. He is in charge of everything from trouble-shooting to lining up the over 600 volunteers that it will take to make the auction a success. He must coordinate with WBTV in order to make sure that all preparations for the auction are going smoothly, he must work with the Boys Town board of directors who are working diligently at securing the $150,000 in merchandise needed to make it a success.

Bolick said, "Several hundred merchants from the Carolinas have already donated items from their business for the auction. We have everything from a $17,000 bulldozer to a Jim Walter home for $7,000, to bicycles, motorcycles, TV sets, art work, clothing, vacations, scholarships, tools, furniture, auto accessories and more." He went on to say, "Everything that goes into the auction is donated—the volunteers time, all the merchandise, all the building materials, and all of the production. So every penny that is bid for any item will go directly to Boys Town." "It is an honest community effort to try to help these boys have a better life," he stated.

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy R. Brown and their sons, Jeff and Mike, of Cooleemee, greet character, "H.R. Pufnstuf", during their recent visit to Six Flags Over Georgia. The Browns' enjoyed a full day of fun and adventure at the 200-acre historically-themed park located west of downtown Atlanta on I-20. Six Flags Over Georgia is open daily through Labor Day Weekend and open weekends only after Labor Day and through mid-November.

Math Institute At Wake Forest

An in-service institute for junior and senior high school mathematics teachers in 12 Northwest North Carolina counties will begin Sept. 7 at Wake Forest University.

The institute is sponsored by a grant of $11,072 from the National Science Foundation and is co-sponsored by the mathematics department at Wake Forest. It is designed to strengthen the subject matter background of mathematics teachers and bring them up-to-date on new methods and materials in their field.

Participants will receive a travel allowance up to eight cents a mile, free tuition and registration fees and textbook materials not to exceed $15.

Classes will meet from 6:30 p.m. to 9:15 p.m. each Thursday. There will be 15 class meetings each semester.

Dr. Ben M. Seelbinder and Dr. Ivey C. Gentry, professors of mathematics, will teach the course which carries undergraduate or graduate credit and may be used for certificate renewal or work toward a graduate teaching certificate in mathematics education.

The course, on finite mathematics with calculus, will include logic, sets, probability, matrices, linear programming, Markov chains, theory of games and concepts from differential and integral calculus.

Both Gentry and Seelbinder have just completed summer programs in preparation for the institute. Seelbinder attended a four-week NSF institute at N.C. State University on new material for high school courses on science and technology in society. Gentry took part in an institute on matrices, sponsored by the Mathematical Association for America, at Williams College.

Applications are being accepted from teachers in Davidson, Davie, Forsyth, Guilford, Iredell, Randolph, Rockingham, Rowan, Stokes, Surry, Wilkes and Yadkin counties. An applicant must be employed as a teacher of at least one mathematics course or a supervisor of instruction in mathematics or science. Previous participants may apply.

The institute will be limited to 25 participants, but Seelbinder said a few more persons may be accepted. Application forms may be secured by writing to him at Box 7344, Reynolds Station, Winston-Salem, N.C. 27109.

Revival services will be held at Mocks United Methodist Church August 13-18. Rev. Oscar Hartman of Winston-Salem will bring the messages each night at 7:30. There will be special singing each night. The Church is located on Highway 801 about twelve miles southwest of Winston-Salem.

Help Banks Check Robbery Threat

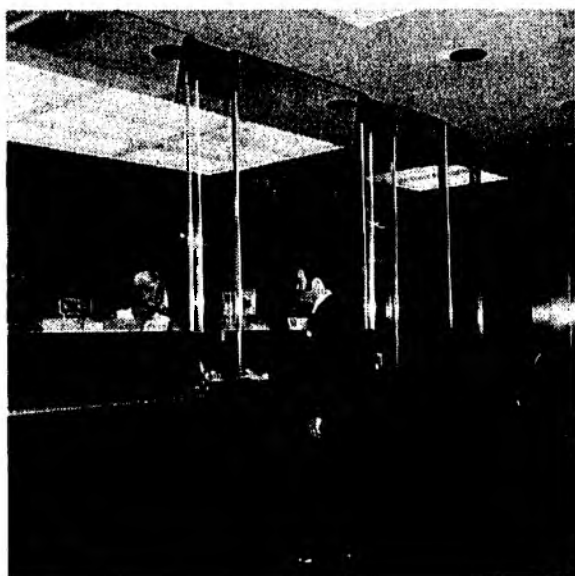

The next time you visit your neighborhood bank you may find your favorite teller behind a transparent wall. The bank isn't trying to put her on display, but to discourage would-be bandits.

No doubt about it, bank robbery is one of the fastest growing "businesses" in this country. From 1960 to 1970 the number of bank holdups in the United States increased more than six-fold — from 225 to 1,416, according to a report by the Insurance and Protective Committee of the American Bankers Association. This report also noted that cash losses from these robberies soared from $1,208,814 to $9,557,000 during that period.

The exposed almost "help-yourself" tellers' compartments at most banks provide too easy access to bandits. To reduce the chances of robbery, many banks are enclosing the tellers' compartments with large sheets of clear Plexiglas acrylic plastic.

Banks are installing shields of Plexiglas because they eliminate casual theft and discourage armed robbery by restricting access to bank assets and personnel without creating a fortress like environment. How large an area the shields cover and thickness of individual shields depends upon the bank management's assessment of its security problem. A number of banks are using 1 1/4 inch or thicker clear Plexiglas sheet when a combination of separation and protection from small arms fire is desired.

While affording exceptional security, shields of Plexiglas don't inhibit the normal flow of business. The panels are so transparent there is only a minimal effect of separation. With some installations, conversation between tellers and customers is carried on through "communicators," small circular openings in the center of the plastic sheets. At other locations, the protective panels are staggered slightly to provide "sound channels." However, the spaces between the sheets of Plexiglas are too narrow to permit a robber to push his hand between them.

With both types of Plexiglas panels, money, checks and other business papers are handled via a pass through tray of heavy gauge metal set in the counter top. The acrylic sheet is set almost flush with the tray, so no weapon can be thrust under the plastic panel.

The security panels of Plexiglas have other significant advantages. For one thing, bank personnel report they feel more secure. There is a sturdy barrier between them and would be attackers, so they feel more at ease with customers, particularly new ones. Also, the public's feeling of confidence in a bank is enhanced by this type of security measure. It's tangible evidence of the care a bank takes with its assets.

... about your Social Security

by Vernice Fulcher

The year we lived in Biloxi, Mississippi, the summer was as hot as I ever remember. The luxury of a window fan was an unfulfilled dream. One afternoon, when not a breath of air was stirring, I began to wonder if we would ever get any relief from the heat. When my husband suggested we sing Christmas carols to see if it would help us "think cool," I was will to try anything! I bet we sang "Jingle Bells" for half an hour. Although it didn't lower the temperature, it gave us a good laugh and helped us tolerate the heat.

I think it is important to see difficulties with as much hope as possible. This isn't easy to do when we face something really serious like being disabled to work. There is no way we can truly "prepare" ourselves for such an unpleasant experience, but we can learn, in advance, where to go for help.

Now is the time to get free literature about the Disability Program under Social Security. Find out how much work is needed, when payment can start, and who in your family would be eligible to receive monthly checks. Booklet No. 29, If you become disabled, answers all these questions and more. For your free copy, just write or call the Salisbury Social Security Office at 105 Corriher Avenue, 28144. Our telephone number is 633-6470.

Q. Every so often over the past several months I have seen articles in the paper about a raise for social security beneficiaries, but I've never gotten a raise in my check. When will I get my raise?

A. A 20 percent increase will be in the check you receive on October 3, 1972 for September payment.

Q. I'm going to be 65 before my husband and I want to be sure to get signed up for Medicare, but my problem is that my husband doesn't know my true age. He thinks I'm younger than he is, and if I sign up he's sure to find out how old I really am. Have you ever had that problem before? What do you suggest?

A. I ran into a similar problem and was able to work things out just fine. Social security records are confidential and without your permission, even your husband would be denied information about your age. Get in touch with your nearest social security office 3 months before your 65th birthday to be sure you have Medicare coverage as early as possible.

Q. You said a while back that $70.40 is the minimum monthly benefit, but I know a real old man who gets less than $50. How is that possible?

A. The basic minimum benefit for a person who has worked a sufficient length of time under social security is $70.40 (reduced if under age 65.) However, there is a "Special Age 72" benefit made to some persons who were 72 years old before 1968 even if they never worked under social security. This is a small benefit of $8.30.

Drexel Enterprises Makes Appointments

The appointments of Gus Tron as styling director for household furniture and Russ Lawson as a full-time designer for household products was announced today by Fred M. Council, vice president-marketing, Drexel Enterprises, a division of Champion International (formerly U.S. Plywood-Champion Papers.)

The public is cordially invited to attend.

Bits Of Life

Lest We Forget

"Grandmother is real sick, and I know she would appreciate a card from you," Mrs. Thompson said in her usual soft-spoken way.

"I will be glad to," I replied. Her grandmother was Mrs. Kitty Sue Parish, formerly of Asheville, the lady who often held Tom Wolfe, the novelist, upon her lap when Tom was a four-year-old lad.

A few additional days slipped by . . . and then I remembered. Some time was spent in selecting just the right card for Miss Kitty Sue—now 92.

That afternoon when I placed the card in the typewriter to add a few personal lines, I could not find Mrs. Parish's Georgia address. I'll write a relative for it, I told myself.

Then my second mistake—laying the card on my desk, when I could have lifted the telephone receiver, made a relatively cheap, station-to-station phone call and listen again to the real live voice of one of the dearest friends I ever had.

Two weeks went by. There was a bit of anxiety in Pauline's voice as she called from the living room. She was glancing through the papers which came while we were away. "Mrs. Parish is dead . . . was buried Saturday."

It was then that I watched my hands reach slowly forward, clasp the small get-well card, and turn it over in my hand.

"Too late . . . too late," I said half-audibly, as I again held the small card with roses and turned it over and over again . . . and again.

As I paused in silence, I recalled the time I sat in Miss Kitty Sue's delightful presence a few years earlier and watched her talkative eyes light up with a smile as she described young Tom Wolfe's long, dark curls extending to his shoulder, and related how when five or six he would follow his brother, Fred, on his vegetable peddling rounds in the neighborhood.

In the interview, Mrs. Parish recalled when Tom's sisters, Effie and Mabel, sang at the Davidson-Alexander-Patton family reunion, and when Mabel sang "Coming Thru the Rye" and was criticized because some felt the song a "little gay for the occasion."

Again I watched my hands as they carefully placed on the corner of the desk the little card with the roses—the card that was never sent.

And so it is, we often wait too long to say a kind word, or send a small card, or do a little deed—BITS OF LIFE which could make someone smile who believes in us.

I waited too long!

Christ Temple Church Moves To New Location

Christ Temple Church of God in Christ moved Sunday about eight miles and relocated in a larger church facility on Howardtown Drive off Highway 158.

The new facility was once a Penecostal Holiness Church and then later a Boy Scout Hut.

The relocation was announced by Minister James F. Johnson of Winston-Salem, pastor of the church. He explained that the relocation was necessary because during the seven months of his pastorate the congregation has grown from 3 members to 65 and "we've outgrown our guiding."

The church will keep the first location. The members have been working for six weeks to refurbish the new and larger facility which will seat 300. With renovation there is now space for a kitchen pastor's study and restrooms. New Pews were added as well as new pulpit furniture and windows.

Bishop Wyoming Wells of Greensboro, bishop of the Diocese of Greater North Carolina for the Church of God in Christ, attended the services and gave the dedicatory remarks.

The dedicatory sermon was given by the Rev. W.C. Hay, pastor of Galilee Baptist of Winston-Salem. His choir also presented special music along with the choirs from Wells Temple Church of God in Christ from Greensboro, the bishop's church, and the church's youth and adult choirs.

Others appearing on the program were Elder C.W. Johnson Jr. of Asheville; who gave the opening prayer; the Rev. George Jones of High Point, Scripture; and short talks by Deacon Willie Mackey of Mocksville; Early Booe of Mocksville and Johnson. The bishop pronounced the benediction.

Bill Myers Is Promoted Recently

William "Bill" Myers, Jr., Route 1, Woodleaf, North Carolina, recently received promotion from feed sales representative to district sales manager with his company. He will now have responsibility for distribution of their products in Davie and Iredell Counties, as well as parts of Rowan and Davidson Counties, North Carolina. A number of sales representatives will be associated with him in the organization he now supervises. Mr. and Mrs. Myers and their two children, Jeanne and Ronald, will continue to reside in Woodleaf. Mrs. Myers is the former Elizabeth Rachels, daughter of Mrs. Lula Rachels of Harmony, North Carolina. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William B. Myers, Sr. Route 1, Woodleaf, and is a graduate of the Cleveland High School. He is with the Moorman Manufacturing Company of Quincy, Illinois.

Whatever you want to save, and whyever you want to save it, Central Carolina Bank has a plan for you.

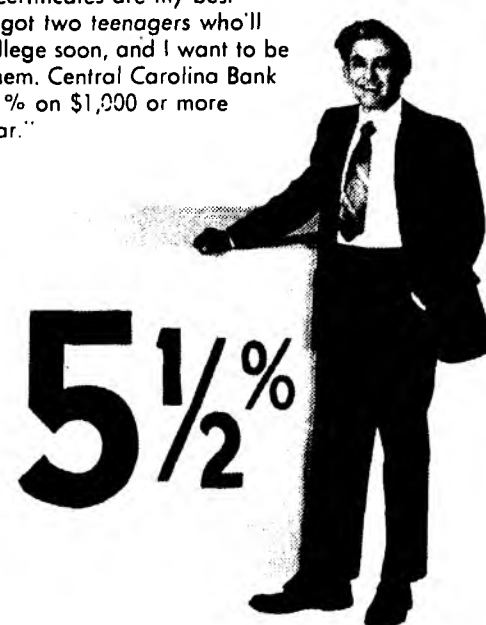

"I keep my savings in a 4 1/2 % passbook account at Central Carolina Bank. The money's always ready for emergencies—like that terrible time I chipped a tooth. At the same time, I can earn 4 1/2 %, the highest legal interest, and I can deposit or withdraw any amount at any time."

"We keep our money in a 5 % Golden Passbook Account at Central Carolina Bank. We're saving for the down payment on a house, and $500 or more earns 5 % interest. Our money is available during the first ten days of any calendar quarter, or any time with 90 days' written notice."

"I believe Central Carolina Bank's 5 1/2 % Golden Certificates are my best investment. I've got two teenagers who'll be ready for college soon, and I want to be ready to send them. Central Carolina Bank will pay me 5 1/2 % on $1,000 or more held for one year."

"My savings are invested in Central Carolina Bank's 5 3/4 % Golden Certificates. With the fixed income of retirement—my pension and Social Security—I need to know I can have a guaranteed high rate of return on my savings. And CCB will pay me 5 3/4 % on $1,000 or more held for two years."

Mr. & Mrs. Hayden Stiller

Mr. and Mrs. Hayden Stiller of Marginal Street have returned home from a ten day tour of Hawaii. They were accompanied by their daughter Mrs. Bruce Anderson. Their tour included The Pearl Harbor Cruise, Sea Life Park, Polynesian Cultural Center, and a Luau. They attended a night club where Kono, a regular of the television series Hawaii Five-O, was starring. They also saw the home of TV star Jack Lord and the site where the filming of his show takes place, along with any other points of interest to tourists.

Mr. and Mrs. Freddie Pierce and son of Atlanta, Georgia were the weekend guests of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Pierce. They returned home Tuesday.

Ray Trexler spent the weekend in Ft. Gordon, Georgia, with his son, and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Trexler. This was the first meeting with his son in 12 years. He returned home Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Anderson and Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Bivins spent the weekend vacationing at Myrtle Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. Otis Canupp and Mr. and Mrs. James Gregory left last Wednesday on a camping trip to North Myrtle Beach. The Gregorys returned home Saturday and the Canupps were joined by Mr. and Mrs. David Griffin and their son, Shea, for several days.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Blackwood and son, Alan, spent the weekend touring Six Flags Over Georgia. They returned home Sunday.

Hugh Anderson, who has been undergoing treatment for a broken hip for the past two weeks, remains a patient at Rowan Memorial Hospital. He is allowed visitors.

Mrs. Mabel Holly of Baltimore, Maryland returned home Friday after spending two weeks here with her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Mack Stout.

Lomas Carter, who has been undergoing treatment at Myrtle Beach Hospital, returned to the home of his son, Sam, at Ocean Drive Beach on Thursday where he will remain until he is well enough to return to their home in Cooleemee. He is improving.

School Food Workshop

A School Food Service all day Workshop for lunchroom managers from three counties, Davie, Forsyth and Yadkin, was held in the Mocksville Elementary Multi-Purpose Room Thursday, August 3rd. Mrs. Linda McCutcheon, School Food Service Consultant, from the State Department in Raleigh, conducted the Workshop. Miss Mattie Mae Reavis, SFS Supervisor from Yadkin County, was chairman. Mrs. Lucile Furches, SFS Supervisor and managers, Davie County, were hostesses. She and her managers did a skit on writing up menu state forms.

Eighty-five managers attended this Workshop which proved to be very useful in helping these dedicated ladies and their co-workers provide nutritional food for our school children.

Refreshments were served in the cafeteria following the meeting.

Dual Degree Program Offered

A Dual Degree Program of study between High Point College in High Point and Georgia Institute of Technology of Atlanta, Ga., providing courses to enable a student to receive a BS degree from each of the two institutions and qualified students to receive a masters degree from Georgia Institute of Technology has been established by officials of both institutions. The announcement was made by Dr. Wendell Patton, president of High Point College. The unique program will be introduced at the beginning of the fall semester of the 1972-73 academic year.

The program is designed so that an undergraduate student can attend HPC for approximately three academic years and the Georgia Institute of Technology for approximately two academic years. After completing the academic requirements of the two cooperating institutions, the student will be awarded a bachelor's degree from HPC and one of the several designated bachelor's degrees awarded by Georgia Institute of Technology.

In addition to the Dual Degree Program at the undergraduate level, highly qualified students, specially selected undergraduates from HPC will be permitted to enter Georgia Institute of Technology at the end of three or more years of undergraduate study at HPC with the intent to seek a masters level degree at Georgia Institute of Technology.

The student pursuing the Dual Degree Program may be jointly enrolled at both institutions. However, the student will not be admitted to Georgia Institute of Technology, but will remain on special standing at Georgia Institute of Technology until he meets the HPC requirements. Special student standing will not prevent him from enrolling in any course at Georgia Institute of Technology for which he has the prerequisites.

SHELLEY USES METHOD

Shelley Winters explains in the current issue of TV Movie Screen magazine the rigors of reading herself for the role of the Jewish mother from Brooklyn in "The Poseidon Adventure." "I had to gain 35 pounds for the part," she says, "so I just sat in bed for a month eating."

Mr. and Mrs. Don Foster and sons of Holly Hill, Florida spent several days here last week with his father, Guy Foster. They were enroute home after spending a couple of days in Kentucky.

Mickey Blackwood of England Air Force Base, La. is spending a 30-day leave here with his family, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Blackwood, after which he will report to California for reassignment overseas. He will serve a 15 months tour of duty in the Philippines.

Mrs. Pearl Ridenhour of the Point Road continues to undergo treatment at Rowan Memorial Hospital where she has been a patient for the past two weeks.

Mrs. Molly House continues to undergo treatment at Davie County Hospital where she has been a patient during the past week. Her son, Ray House of Eastern N.C. visited with her on Sunday.

Mrs. Lilly Blaylock and Mrs. Nell Houpe visited with Mrs. Blaylock's daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Otis Swicegood in Washington, D.C. several days last week. They also visited with her son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Billy Blaylock and her daughter and her family, Mr. and Mrs. Chuck Milholen, all of Richmond, Virginia before returning home. The Milholens drove them home over the weekend.

Mrs. John Outerkrirk and children, John, David and Kathy of Westfield, New Jersey are visiting here this week with her parents, Rev. and Mrs. Roscoe Fisher. The weekend guests of the Fishers also included, Mr. and Mrs. Greg Lemons and son, Steve, of Badin, Mr. and Mrs. Chad Honeycutt and Kim of Albemarle and Mr. and Mrs. Roger Neal of Fries, Virginia.

Teen Dems To Be Honored

The Davie County Women's Democrat Club will sponsor a back-to school covered-dish supper honoring the Teen Dems on Saturday, August 26th, at Clement Grove Picnic Grounds, Mocksville at 6 p.m. The entertainment will include a cake walk and the highlight of the evening will be the performance of live music by a well known band.

New Machine Uses External Massage To Successfully Treat Heart Disease

Almost 700,000 Americans will die of heart disease this year, more than will die of cancer, strokes and accidents combined. Actually, half of all deaths in the United States are due to heart disease, and, according to American Heart Association statistics, the frequency of heart attack is increasing particularly among younger men.

To reverse this alarming trend, The National Heart and Lung Institute, other governmental agencies and industry are embarked on an extensive campaign to battle heart attack and its causes. New drugs, surgical procedures and instrumentation are being developed almost daily.

One of the newest weapons in this battle is an electromechanical device in use in coronary care units in hospitals in Boston, New York, Chicago, Baltimore and Los Angeles that has been applied to the full range of heart ailments, from mild angina pectoris to advanced cardiogenic shock. CARDIASSIST™ is the only method of mechanically assisted heart attack therapy, other than external heart massage, that does not require surgery nor drugs, both of which can have adverse effects on the victim. The victim's lower extremities are placed in the device, and a pulsing or massage motion set up. While the heart rests between beats, blood is made to flow in the opposite direction through the aorta, increasing the flow of oxygen bearing by as much as 50 per cent. When the heart is pumping, pressure in the aorta is reduced to increase pumping efficiency and give the heart the opportunity to heal.

ONE OF THE NEWEST weapons in the battle against heart disease is Cardiasist, an electromechanical device that has been used successfully to treat the full range of heart ailments, from mild angina pectoris to advanced cardiogenic shock. In testing, the device has raised the survival rate from cardiogenic shock from less than two in ten to almost five in ten.

diogenic shock is less than two in ten. In early testing, CARDIASSIST has raised this rate to almost five in ten, an increase of 150 per cent. In angina pectoris treatment, the device is being tested as an alternative to drugs and surgery.

Since half the heart attack patients die before they reach the hospital a portable CARDIASSIST is in development. The device will also be of use in the heart attack prevention clinics now under government study.

Neil Bolton, Fair Director, Dies Suddenly

... built exposition into state's second biggest ...

Neil Bolton, 59, director of the Dixie Classic Fair since 1956 and founder and secretary of the Northwest North Carolina Development Association, died unexpectedly August 2nd in his office at the fairgrounds. He apparently suffered a heart attack.

He is survived by his wife, the former Ruth Krider; a son James Morris Bolton of Salisbury; and a daughter, Mrs. William C. Carter of Jacksonville, Fla.

Funeral services were held Friday at the Voglers Reynolda Road Chapel. Burial will be in Forsyth Memorial Park.

Mr. Bolton, who lived at 3649 Yadkinville Road, Winston-Salem, moved to Winston-Salem in 1951 and was known statewide for his agricultural work. He became director of the fair in 1956, when it was known as the Winston-Salem Fair, and it has become the state's second-largest agricultural exhibition. Mr. Bolton changed the fair's name to Dixie Classic Fair in keeping with his plans to boost agricultural and community exhibits from Northwest North Carolina's 11 counties. He had been associated with Forsyth County agriculture since 1951, when he moved here from Wilmington to serve as chairman of the Chamber of Commerce's New Department of Agriculture and Highways. A graduate of West Virginia State University's College of Agriculture in 1934, he had worked as farm agent in several West Virginia counties before moving to Wilmington in 1946. He became manager of the Winston-Salem Memorial Coliseum in 1960 and held the post until 1970. He was chairman of the Leaf Tobacco Market and the Keep North Carolina Beautiful, Inc. committee. From 1965 until 1971, he served on the North Carolina Milk Commission and was chairman from 1969-71.

One of Mr. Bolton's hobbies was auctioneering and he donated his services to the state 4-H clubs at their annual Junior Steer Sales. He was a director of the North Carolina 4-H Development Fund, Inc.

The association will start Thursday at the Chiquapin Grove Baptist Church. Rev. L.R. Howell as Moderator. It will be Thursday and Friday.

Mr. C.C. Cain is on the sick list we ask your prayers for him.

Mrs. Gertie Glenn and son Rev. Eugene Glenn visited in the Community on Sunday. Charlie Howell called recently at the home of his sister Mrs. Sarah Cain and brother-in-law C.C. Cain.

Mrs. Sarah Cain, Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Parks and children attended the appreciation dinner given in honor of Mrs. Adeline Parks held at the Pleasant Grove Baptist Church given by Rev. F.A. Leak and members of Pleasant Grove Baptist Church. The pastor, Rev. Leak delivered the 11:00 a.m. message using as a subject "The Mother Ruth."

Mrs. Sarah Cain attended the Yadkin and Davie Missionary Union held at Clarks Chapel Church in Bonnie Hill session, Booneville N.C. Mrs. Myrtle Hampton president presided.

Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Parks and family attended the Revival at Cedar Grove Baptist Church on Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Carter and family visited his parents Saturday and Sunday.

Mrs. Dewey Parks and daughter Vicky visited Mrs. Hilda Miller one day last week.

Mr. and Mrs. M.J. Frost and daughter Tonya and grandchildren called at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C.C. Cain.

Rev. B.F. Daniels of Winston-Salem visited the Cains one day last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur L. Scott and children Lovella, Eric and Shirley also visited Mrs. Scott Parent and Mr. and Mrs. C.C. Cain.

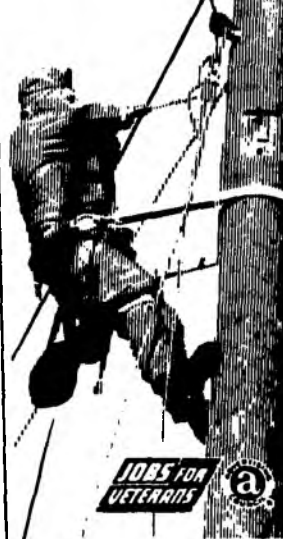

Petty officer William West has gone back to the Navy after a 30 day leave. He stayed with this wife and baby at the home of her parents Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Petree of Winston-Salem. William's mother Mrs. Millie West and Mrs. Hilda Miller carried him to the airport.

Advance News

Mrs. Hampton Eaton of Marietta, Ga., Mrs. Lillie Bailey of Cooleemee and Mrs. Georgian Foster were dinner guests of Miss Blanch Foster last Wednesday.

Alan and Anne Jones have been attending Day Camp at Tanglewood park for the past two weeks.

Mrs. Brenda Hill and Miss Karen Gaulrapp of Long Island, New York arrived last Wednesday to spend a week with Mrs. Hill's parents Mr. and Mrs. Bill Zimmerman. Mrs. Hill and Miss Gaulrapp have just returned from a months tour of Europe during which time they spent 7 days in Denmark visiting friends Mr. and Mrs. Egon Rasmussen and family. Mrs. Rasmussen is the former Inge Larsen who was an exchange student from Denmark and lived in Davie County for a year during 1960-61. Mr. and Mrs. Rasmussen have two lovely children, a four year old daughter and a four month old son. Mrs. Hill reports Inge inquired about her old friends and acquaintances in Davie County and hopefully will be able to visit here again in about five years.

Mrs. Leonard Jones underwent minor surgery at Forsyth Medical Park hospital last week. A speedy recovery is wished for her.

Mr. and Mrs. James O. Black, Mr. and Mrs. Garnett Garwood of Lexington were Sunday afternoon visitors of Miss Laura Shutt, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Shutt and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Zimmerman.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Hendrix of Union, South Carolina spent Sunday with their parents Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hendrix of Fork and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Zimmerman. They came home especially to attend his 1967 Davie High School Class reunion which was held at Rich's park in Mocksville Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Jack Carter drove to South Mountain Baptist Camp near Morganton on Monday and took a load of G.A. girls from Fork Baptist Church to camp for a week. The girls attending camp are Jill Carter, Anita Potts, Karen Wilson, Bonnie Foster, Donna Barnette, Kathy Cope, Anita Merrell and Marty Merrell the counselor. Mrs. Julia Patton accompanied Mrs. Carter on this trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hoots attended her High School Class reunion from Pinnacle school Saturday which was held at the Pinnacle Fire Department building. Classes of '34, '35, '36, and '37 met together and enjoyed a picnic supper and reminiscing the past.

Tuesday, August 29th there will be a Beef Cattle Field Day at Shelby, North Carolina. The morning program will be in the County Office Building and in the afternoon the program will consist of a tour to several feed lots.

Governor Robert W. Scott delivers the address at the 1971 Annual Masonic Picnic.

Picnic History Is Of Fun And Aids Orphanage

Mocksville Masonic Lodge No. 134 had been established in Mocksville for more than 25 years when the Masonic Picnic first started.

In the 1870's there were not many places of amusements. During the summer the three Sunday Schools of the Village would join forces and spend a day of picnicking at the "Shoals", where Cooleemee is now located.

On one of these "picnicking" occasions, it was suggested by John H. Stewart that the money left over from purchasing refreshments be sent to the Oxford Orphanage. A few years prior to this the old St. John's College at Oxford, which had been built to educate Masons' daughters, was in debt and had to be sold. In 1872 this old college was turned into an orphanage and it then became the custom for the superintendent to tour the state with a group of orphans giving concerts. Some of these were given in the Presbyterian Church in Mocksville.

In 1872 it is recorded that the Mocksville Lodge sent $25 to the Oxford Orphanage.

The minutes of the Mocksville Lodge, dated April 20, 1877, reads: "Brothers H. B. Howard, W. A. Clement and Thos. B. Bailey were appointed a committee to receive and prepare homes for Bro. J. H. Mills and the orphans who were to give an entertainment in Mocksville on the 11th day of May. Next on motion the Lodge appointed Bros. Rev. Thomas Boone, Thos. B. Bailey and W. A. Clement a committee to confer with the other Lodges of this country in regard to a grand Masonic Picnic on the 24th day of June next and report their action at our next monthly meeting."

The record also states that the Committee on the Orphan Asylum was directed to request the ministers of the three churches to take up a collection for the Oxford Orphanage on the 24th of June, a date especially celebrated in Masonic circles. Again under the date of November 16, 1877 there is another plea to the ministers to speak to their congregations on behalf of the Orphanage and to take up a collection for it.

A. A. Harbin made the motion that it be suggested to the officers of the various churches that they erect boxes in the church to receive contributions for the aid of the Asylum.

Philip Hanes made a motion that the Lodge "procure a book and solicit subscriptions from each member of the Lodge to be paid monthly for the orphan cause."

In August of 1871 a picnic was held at "The Shoals" and the hat collection taken amounted to $35.

The minutes for June 20, 1879, records that "on motion it was carried that we have a picnic on or about the middle of July for the benefit of the Orphans at Oxford, and the following committee of arrangements was appointed to arrange the Picnic at the Shoals or some other place... John H. Stewart, J. M. Howard, A. A. Harbin, P. Hanes and W. A. Clement."

At the Lodge meeting of July 18, 1879, the committee reported that they had invited a speaker for the picnic to be held at the Shoals. John H. Stewart was appointed to buy 25 or 30 aprons for the members to wear at the Picnic. J. A. Kelly and E. H. Pass were appointed to take up the collection at the Picnic, which amounted to $81.79, the date being July 23, 1879.

On April 16, 1880 it is recorded that the Worshipful Master appointed Hanes as a committee with the "A. Henly, W. A. Clement, and P. Orphan Asylum Committee to the such action regard to the Picnic as they may deem proper."

From the beginning one of the most enthusiastic workers for the Picnic was Major William B. Clement. Major Clement, although not a Mason, gave his loyal support to this undertaking until his death.

After several years of holding the Picnics at "The Shoals" they were moved to Mocksville in 1883 to a grove belonging to the heirs of John Clement.

The minutes of the Lodge for March 21, 1884, contain set by the committee of arrangements. The Worshipful Master proceeded to appoint the following brethren as a Committee of Arrangements: J. A. Kelly, Chairman; Rev. W. C. Wilson, J. M. Howard, S. A. Woodruff, W. A. Clement, J. H. Stewart and Philip Hanes.

By 1885 ornate invitations were being mailed out with the owe for that year reading:

"Invitation to the Seventh Masonic Picnic, 'Clement Grove', Mocksville, N. C. Thursday, August 13th, 1885. Address by Capt. Oct. Coke and Dr. B. F. Dixon. Exercises by a Chapter of Orphans. Signed by - W. A. Clement, W. T. Woodruff, W. K. Gibbs, C. F. Bahnsen, T. M. Monroe, Thos Butler.

The amount raised for the orphans at the Picnic of 1885 was $263.

For many years at Clement Grove the only building on the grounds was a small wooden platform where the speakers and orphans were seated. The crowds sat on benches without backs and there was no roof except the drooping branches of the Oak trees. There was also a booth where ice cream and lemonade were sold. The dinner was spread on the long tables under the trees.

The speakers in the early days were usually the superintendent of the Orphanage and some other high officials in the Masonic circles.

Around 1892 the first excursion train was run from Winston to the Masonic Picnic. This proved very successful as the receipts that year jumped to $662.95.

The Picnic of August 10, 1894 was also reported as a great success. Supt. Lawrence and a class of orphans were present, and it was reported that an excursion, "loaded down with humanity", was run from Winston and the speakers were Major Duncan of South Carolina, and C. F. McKesson of Morganton. The "Reunion of Confederate Soldiers" was held in conjunction with the picnic then.

By 1897 it was recognized that this Picnic was destined to be an annual affair and the Lodge decided to purchase the grounds at Clement Grove.

Annual Masonic Picnic Is Thursday

The 92nd Annual Masonic Picnic will be held Thursday at Clement Grove.

This year there will be no speaker. However, a program will be held under the arbor featuring music by the Davie High School Band and the Oxford Orphanage Glee Club. In addition there will be brief talks by Masonic and Eastern Star dignitaries attending. The R. C. Lee Riding Devices have been operating each night this week and will continue to operate all day Thursday.

Lowell Reavis, Master of Mocksville Masonic Lodge No. 134, has appointed Robert Hendricks to serve as general chairman for this event. Lester P. Martin, Jr., will serve as assistant chairman. These two men will be assisted by Mr. Reavis, Joe Langston, Master of Farmington Lodge No. 265, and Rufus A. Rich, Master of Advance Lodge No. 710 in the overall supervision of the famed event.

The famed picnic dinner will be spread under the dinner arbor around 1 p.m. Last year an estimated 10,000 persons paid admissions into the picnic grounds during the day and evening sessions of the annual event. Officials are making plans to handle an even larger crowd this year.

Masonic Picnic History Outlined Year By Year

JANUARY 16, 1874

The Lodge donated Oxford Asylum ten dollars.

MARCH 20, 1874

A communication from the Grand Master asking contributions to the Oxford Orphan Asylum was read and filed. Bros. E. Frost, A. Henly and E. Pass were appointed a standing committee to solicit aid for the Oxford Orphan Asylum and to make written reports monthly.

It was ordered that this lodge donate fifteen dollars to the Oxford Orphan Asylum in addition to the ten dollars donated at our January meeting.

MAY 15, 1874

The committee to solicit aid for the Oxford Asylum was not ready to make a report.

JULY 17, 1874

The committee to raise contributions for the Oxford Orphan Asylum reported no collections since last meeting.

Bro. E. H. Pass one of the committee to solicit funds for the Oxford Asylum reported thirty-one dollars, the amount he had collected for that object.

JANUARY 21, 1876

The committee for Oxford reported one and one-half dollars collected. This report was received and the same committee continued for 1876 except Bro. J. P. Cope takes the place of Bro. A. Henly.

FEBRUARY 16, 1877

The committee upon the Orphan Asylum reported (95) ninety-five cents collected.

APRIL 20, 1877

Brothers H. B. Howard, W. A. Clement, and Thomas B. Bailey were appointed a committee to receive and prepare homes for Bro. J. H. Mills and the orphans who were to give an entertainment in Mocksville on the 11th day of May next.

On motion the Lodge appointed Bros. Rev. T. A. Boone, T. B. Bailey and W. A. Clement a committee to confer with the other Lodges of the county in regard to a grand Masonic Picnic on the 24th day of June next and report their action at our next monthly meeting.

NOVEMBER 16, 1877

On motion of Bro. J. H. Stewart, the Secretary was instructed to write to the various ministers and ask them to say a few words in behalf of the Orphan Asylum and take up a collection and forward the money to Bro. J. H. Mills at Oxford.

JANUARY 18, 1878

On motion of Bro. P. H. Hanes the Lodge instructed the Committee on the Orphan Asylum to procure a book and solicit subscription from each member to be paid monthly for the Orphan cause.

APRIL 2, 1878

On motion of Bro. A. A. Harbin the committee on the Orphan Asylum be requested to confer with the officers of the various churches in our Masonic jurisdiction as to the propriety of erecting a box in the church to receive contributions for the aid of the Orphan Asylum and report of our next meeting.

JUNE 20, 1879

The Orphan Asylum committee reports one dollar on hand.

On motion it was carried that we have a picnic on or about the middle of July for the benefit of the Orphans at Oxford and the following committee of arrangements was appointed to arrange the picnic at the Shoals or some other place, (viz) J. H. Stewart, J. M. Howard, A. A.

Oxford Orphanage History

The Masons of North Carolina, as far back as 1847, began to agitate a Masonic educational institution.

For several years the matter was discussed and reached a climax in 1855 with the establishment of St. John's College in Oxford. Nearly all the Masonic lodges in the State made contributions and St. John's College was opened in the large Main Building, now the center on the campus at the Oxford Orphanage, in 1855. Ten thousand people were present when the cornerstone was laid.

St. John's College continued operation until the War Between the States, when both faculty and students entered the cause of the Confederacy. Following the War, the College had a hard time and could not withstand the severe test of reconstruction and closed about 1869 or '70.

The Grand Lodge in 1871 was faced with the question of what to do with this college site, which was then in considerable debt.

It was proposed in the Grand Lodge meeting that the property be sold and the proceeds used for the construction of a Masonic Temple. Some one brought up the question of an orphanage to provide an asylum or refuge for destitute children in North Carolina.

The institution was to be known as the Oxford Orphan Asylum, and Mr. John H. Mills, who was then Editor of the Biblical Recorder in Raleigh, was selected as its first Superintendent. Having operated a school in Oxford, and at one time having rented St. John's College building, he was no stranger in Oxford.

The Orphanage was opened in 1872 and immediately was filled to its capacity and the resources of Masonry taxed to the limit for the support of the children who were taken in. It was a singular fact that the Oxford Orphanage, under the auspices of the Grand Lodge of Masons, began as an institution for the care of children, regardless of whether their fathers were members of the Masonic Order or not.

The Picnic is fun on the R. C. Lee Rides.

Committee Chairmen Plan Masonic Picnic Arrangements

Program Committee

Donald Bingham, Co-Chm.

Graham Madison, Co-Chm.

George Martin, Co-Chm.

Bill Ward, Co-Chm.

These four men are serving responsibility to plan the first time, there will be no speaker but the committee has made plans for varied programs to be held throughout the day and night of the picnic.

Refreshment Committee

Norman Blake, Co-Chm.

Grant Daniel, Co-Chm.

Cecil Cartner, Co-Chm.

Buster Cleary, Co-Chm.

Roy Collette, Co-Chm.

Cecil Cartner, Norman Blake, Roy Collette, J. C. "Buster" Cleary, Grant C. Daniel and are serving as co-chairmen of the Refreshment Committee for the 92nd Annual Masonic Picnic. As co-chairmen of the Refreshment Committee, it will be the duty of the chairmen and their fellow committee members to supervise the purchase, sale and distribution of all soft drinks, ice cream and other refreshments for the 92nd Annual Masonic Picnic. This committee is one of the largest and the members donate their time dispensing the refreshments on picnic day that go so far in making the picnic such a success, both in enjoyment and financially.

Bingo Committee

Bill McDaniel, Co-Chm.

Eugene W. Smith, Co-Chm.

Lawrence Smith, Co-Chm.

Eugene W. Smith, Lawrence Smith and Bill McDaniel will serve as co-chairmen of the Bingo Committee. For many years this concession was leased with the picnic receiving only the rentals. Realizing it was one of the most popular and profitable concessions on the midway, the picnic committee decided several years ago to operate it themselves. The co-chairmen are responsible for organizing a schedule of workers to keep this concession going five nights and all day picnic day.

Orphans Committee

C. Spurgeon Anderson, Co-Chm.

Rufus Brock, Co-Chm.

C. Spurgeon Anderson and Rufus Brock will serve as co-chairmen of the Orphans Committee. It is the duty of this committee to look after the comforts or needs of the singing class of Oxford Orphanage from the time they arrive in Mocksville until they depart.

Gate Committee

Hubert L. Bailey, Co-Chm.

Ed E. Goodwin, Co-Chm.

FLETCHER WILLARD
Co-Chairman
Gate Committee
No Picture Available

Members of this committee are responsible for the sale of gate tickets, and collecting, in the admission of patrons to the picnic grounds. Picnic day is a very busy time for Hubert L. Bailey, Ed Goodwin, and Fletcher Willard, Jr. and the members of their committee.

Advertising Committee

Bill Merrell, Co-Chm.

Cecil Morris, Co-Chm.

Bill Merrell and E. C. Morris will again serve as co-chairmen of the Advertising and Publicity Committee for the 92nd Annual Picnic. The business of advertising the picnic is one of the most important posts. The picnic is an event in which Masons and the people of Davie County and surrounding territory take a well deserved pride in and must publicize each year through all channels.

Traffic Committee

Randall Beane, Chm.

Randall Beane will again serve as chairman of the traffic committee for the 92nd Annual Masonic Picnic. Mr. Beane is a State Highway Patrolman and has on his committee several other law enforcement officers.

Concessions Committee

Troy McDaniel, Chm.

Troy McDaniel is chairman of the concessions committee for the 92nd Annual Masonic Picnic. It is the responsibility of this committee to supervise the arrangement of all concession stands and collect all rentals. Mr. McDaniel has been active on many Masonic Picnic committees.

Finance Committee

Clyde Hendricks, Chm.

Clyde Hendricks has been an active member of the Mocksville Masonic Lodge for many years. For the 92nd Annual Masonic Picnic, Mr. Hendricks will again serve as chairman of the Finance Committee. It is the duty of this committee to maintain a record of all finances, receipts and disbursements for the picnic as reported by the various committee chairmen.

Wiring Committee

Odell Wagner, Chm.

Odell Wagner is chairman of the wiring and radio committee for the 92nd Annual Masonic Picnic. It is the duty of this committee to secure and supervise the installation of any electrical equipment needed on the picnic grounds; to arrange radio or loud speaker equipment that might be needed.

Cashier's Committee

Clyde Glascock, Co-Chm.

Cole Tomlinson, Co-Chm.

Clyde Glascock and Henry C. Tomlinson will serve as co-chairmen of the Cashier's Committee for the 92nd Annual Masonic Picnic. It is the duty of the Cashier's Committee to supervise the changing of money for the refreshments and other places. The functioning of this committee enables faster service to the customers and an accurate accounting of receipts.

Dinner, Tables & Basket Committee

Roy Harris, Co-Chm.

C. T. ROBERTSON
Co-Chairman
Refreshment Committee
No Picture Available

Roy Harris, and C. T. Robertson will serve this year as co-chairmen of the Dinner, Tables and Basket Committee for the 92nd Annual Masonic Picnic. As co-chairman they and their committee members will be responsible for the famed picnic dinner that has proved so popular and enjoyable throughout the years.

Grounds Committee

J. C. Jones, Co-Chm.

T. A. Lefler, Co-Chm.

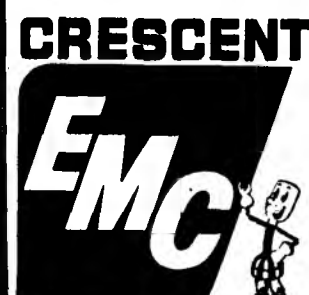

Ed Walker, Co-Chm.

J. C. Jones, T. A. Lefler and Ed Walker will serve as co-chairmen of the Grounds Committee for the 92nd Annual Masonic Picnic. These 3 men and their committee are responsible for the grounds being cleared, the arbor and tables being put into first class condition for the big dinner and the refreshment stand being readied for the sale of drinks and food. These three men have served on various committees in the past.

Senator Sam Ervin Says

WASHINGTON—Most of those who read the announcement that the Supreme Court had handed down a decision requiring reporters to give confidential information to grand juries probably dismissed the matter as a minor legal point. The truth is that the case of Branzburg vs. Hayes which involved this issue constituted a new erosion of the Bill of Rights.

In the years to come, if counter forces to not prevail, the case will undoubtedly affect the public's right to know and have access to news stories about many vital matters affecting our daily lives. For what the majority of the justices said in a 5-4 decision is that journalists cannot refuse to tell grand juries about intelligence they have received from their informants. The issue which divided the Court was not whether newsmen could absolutely refuse to give the government privileged data, but whether the government could force newsmen to reveal information on crime for which there may be no compelling need. The majority of the justices were willing to give the government wide latitude to ferret out information of this nature.

It should be pointed out that the newsmen involved, including a New York Times reporter who appeared before the California grand jury investigating the Black Panthers, did not claim an "absolute privilege against official interrogation in all circumstances." Newsmen, like other citizens, have an obligation to protect society against perils which compel ordinary considerations to be cast aside. What seems to have been given too little weight by the Court is that the public and the government both have another stake in this matter. That stake is simply this. It is better that the nation be well informed about the forces loose in our society than it is for the citizens to remain ignorant, and we risk the latter when we dry up the reporter's sources and insist that he tell anything he knows in confidence.

The difficulty is a practical one. It goes beyond the Court's critical reference to some of the news media who apparently adhere to "the theory that it is better to write about crime than to do something about it." I certainly do not condone that attitude, but believe the problem involves the essence of a free society and the particular responsibilities of its members. The rational for protecting newsmen from Government inquiry is not to protect them individually, but to insure that the public and the Government itself has access to the free flow of information so vital to a democracy. The First Amendment was designed to make Americans politically, intellectually, and spiritually free. Its prohibition against Government suppression and intimidation of the press is couched in sweeping language and for good reasons. The Founding Fathers knew that any narrow construction of the amendment's protection of the press would stifle a free society.

Let no one be deluded into thinking that the Court's opinion will condemn only the criminals. It covers the law abiding, too, who have information about governmental corruption. Who will now give a reporter a tip about some governmental "hanky-panky" if he considers the possibility that a grand jury may call in that reporter on some future occasion to reveal all that was said?

Concern over Governmental interference with the journalist's function in our society was aired recently during hearings before the Senate Subcommittee on Constitutional Rights on freedom of the press. The issue has now grown and several Senators and Congressmen have introduced so-called "newsmen's privilege" bills. It seems to me that Congress ought to inquire further into the wisdom of restoring to newsmen reasonable protections to preserve the confidentiality of their sources of information.

BY JIM DEAN

BREVARD ANGLERS STRIKE AGAIN

This past spring, I fished for trout in some streams near Brevard with two of the best fly fishermen I've had the pleasure to meet, and I wrote about it in "Wildlife Afield."

The two Brevard fishermen are brothers, Dwight and Don Ray Howell. Both are school teachers, and during their spare time, they tie very fine trout flies commercially. They fish with nothing but flies, and they fish for big trout. The measure of their success hangs on the walls of their homes and fly tying shop—long, hoggish trout with jutting jaws, most of them browns.

If further proof of their prowess is needed, Dwight holds—or held—the state record for brown trout with a seven-pound, eight ounce whopper that he caught on a fly in Armstrong Creek.

On June 18th, Dwight's record was broken--by guess who? His brother, Don Ray, of course.

I learned this bit of information quite by accident. This past week, I called the brothers to inquire about some trout flies, and happened to ask Don Ray whether he had had any luck this year.

His answer—so help me—went something like this.

"Haven't done much good this year," said Don Ray. "I've only caught one decent trout."

"Gee," I said, "that's too bad. Was he any size?"

"Fair," said Don Ray. He was 27 and a half inches long."

"He was—gulp—how big?" I stammered.

"Yeah, he was a pretty good brown, I guess," said Don Ray. "He weighed seven pounds and 11 ounces."

As I recall, I didn't say anything for a few moments. Fellow trout fishermen will understand that I was trying to get my tang untongled.

"I guess you know," I said finally, "that you have broken your brother's state brown trout record."

"He mentioned it," said Don Ray.

The details of the catch, as I recall them, are worth passing along. Late in the afternoon on June 18th, Don Ray was fly fishing in the Davidson River using a No. 4 "Bitch Creek Special!" and a four-pound test tippet.

When the fish struck, Don Ray didn't see him (her?) at first and thought it was a smaller fish until it decided to head downstream. The fish passed Don Ray in a mad dash for freedom, and stripped out all his fly line and part of the backing.

Finally, after a long chase and struggle, Don Ray managed to land the fish. The happy angler plans to have the lunger mounted for the wall in his den. Right now, the fish is frozen in his freezer.

Somehow, it doesn't surprise me to hear sometime in the future that Dwight has broken Don Ray's new mark. This thing could go on forever.

Fall Conference At Ridgecrest

Ridgecrest Chautauqua, a fall conference for Senior Adults and Senior Adults Leaders is scheduled for Sept. 25-30, 1972 at Ridgecrest Baptist Conference Center, Ridgecrest, N.C.

Feature speakers will be Henry Allen Parker pastor, First Baptist Church, Orlando, Fla., and Howard M. Reaves, retired, former pastor of First Baptist Church, Mobile, Ala.

Plans for the week include daily worship, Bible study, doctrinal discussions, fellowship funtime, short trips, handicrafts, singing and free afternoons. Free afternoons can be filled with trips, nature study, hobbies, crafts, instructions on writing church history and planning service projects. Agnes Pulant, Palmetto, Fla., is in charge of fellowship fun.

Other afternoon opportunities include discussing current events and a conference on planning senior adult ministry.

For reservations information, write to Registrar, Ridgecrest Baptist Conference Center, Box 128, Ridgecrest, N.C. 28770.

128, Ridgecrest, N.C. 28770. For additional information write to the conference director, Adelle Carlson, Church Training Department, 127 Ninth Avenue, North, Nashville, Tenn. 37234.

RADIO CITY ROCKS

While Royal Albert Hall in London has banned rock concerts, according to the current issue of Words & Music magazine, because of the actions of unruly audiences, New York's Radio City Music Hall recently held a rock show for the first time and was very well pleased with the behavior of the crowd. Others are likely to follow.

which were so ideally located for this purpose. Five acres, more or less, were purchased from Herbert Clement, one of the heirs of John Clement, in January, 1897.

By 1893 it became necessary to have a much larger committee of arrangements, whereas in former years there had been from three to six men to arrange for the picnic. In 1893, eighteen men were named to committees as follows:

Committee of Arrangements, T. B. Bailey, J. Stewart, J. A. Kelly, R. C. Brown and J. W. Jones. Gates and Grounds, W. T. Woodruff, W. A. Owens, W. C. Denny and B. L. Hopkins. Refreshments, W. A. Clement, S. A. Jarvis and V. E. Swaim. Tables, S. A. Woodruff, C. F. Bahnsen and J. A. Current. Homes, P. M. Bailey, H. E. Robertson and W. L. Sanford.

In 1889 a spacious arbor was built on the Picnic Grounds. This arbor had a high raised platform for the speakers, orphans and band. This arbor remained in use until it burned a few years ago.

By the early 1900's the crowds were increasing and the fame of the Picnic had spread far beyond the borders of the state. It had now become an annual "homecoming day" for former citizens of Mocksville and Davie County.

Improvements were made to the grounds which included the erection of a pavilion over the dinner tables where the women of Davie County set forth their delicious food in the now famed picnic dinner.

IT'S PART OF A PLAN!

It isn't often that a group or event grows inspite of itself. More often it is the result of a lot of planning and hard work!

That's the way it has been with the Masonic Picnic.
In 1876 a group of public-spirited Masons got together and took stock of needs . . . made some plans and went to work. Since that time the ANNUAL MASONIC PICNIC has been growing and is rapidly becoming one of the biggest events of the state.

BUT THE PLAN IS NOT COMPLETE

This event will continue to grow because of the enthusiasm and determination that transformed early plans into reality.

The new photos of Masonic committee members appearing in this issue were made by C. W. Robinson, professional photographer of Charlotte.

We apologize for the fact that all of the new photos made do not appear in this issue for varied reasons. The failure to return proofs on time, a few mix ups in proofs, a mail service that failed to deliver proofs and pictures on time, resulted in quite a few photos not reaching us in time to be used in this issue.

We are proud, however, of the quality of new photos we do have on file. Mr. Robinson will return for a day or two in a few weeks to make more photos for our file and we hope that those that have not, will avail themselves of this opportunity to have their picture made.

Farm Tips

By Dr. J. W. Pou

Agricultural Specialist
Wachovia Bank & Trust Co., N.A.

A Tarheel tobacco grower pulled a slip of paper from his pocket and began reading.

"It says I can bring in 12 sheets of tobacco Tuesday morning at 8 o'clock."

"I should be able to get my tobacco unloaded and be on the way back home in 30 minutes. This is quite a change from the time I spent three days and two nights waiting to get my tobacco on the floor of a warehouse."

The ease with which this grower sold his tobacco last fall is the result of a long-debated and slow-to-be-adopted practice called "scheduling," according to Tom Byrd, N. C. State University agricultural information specialist.

John Cyrus, tobacco marketing specialist for the N. C. Department of Agriculture, says scheduling has gained widest acceptance on the Eastern Belt. Up to 85 percent of the warehouses there had some form of scheduling last year.

Scheduling basically permits farmers to deliver their tobacco to the warehouse in an orderly manner.

Farmers ask the warehouse for a delivery time. They are told when to arrive with their tobacco, just as they would be told when they could see their doctor.

Under the traditional system, warehouses served farmers on a first-come-first-serve basis.

With the advent of loose-leaf selling and the usual drop in prices late in the season, the scramble to get tobacco on the warehouse floor has been hectic for a number of years.

The commissioners of agriculture in the five flue-cured states recommended last winter that warehouses adopt a scheduling system similar to the one worked out by Albert Graves, a U. S. Department of Agriculture engineer stationed at N. C. State University.

Other endorsements of scheduling have come from the Board of Governors of the Bright Belt Warehouse Association and the Flue-Cured Tobacco Marketing Committee.

Marketing Specialist Cyrus says that warehousemen who have set up "a real scheduling system and have stuck with it have gotten excellent results."

"I'd quit this business if I had to go back to the old system," said Leo Matthews of the Carolina Warehouse in Fuquay.

Matthews adopted Graves' scheduling system three days after the 1969 sales season began.

"We had to do something," he recalls. "The front lot was full of trucks waiting to be unloaded. The back lot was full of trucks and farmers were mad."

Since that time he said the warehouse had sold over 12 million pounds of tobacco, and not one pile of tobacco has set outside a single night.

Growers are given their delivery time about a week in advance. The schedule book is openly displayed for all farmers to see so that no one feels there is any accommodation of friends.

Matthews said that less than one-fourth of one percent of the farmers fail to show at their appointed time. Farmers who show up early must wait their turn as it would kill the system to do otherwise.

While scheduling makes for orderly delivery, the system still does not permit farmers to sell tobacco as fast as they would like. Growers are generally permitted to deliver about one-tenth of their crop during each week of the 10-week marketing season.

"It's a matter of fairness," one grower explained. "I'm not selling all the tobacco that I want to sell, but I'm selling according to what my neighbor is selling. If the market drops, then I don't stand to lose any more than he does."

"Jesse Helms is not one of your back-slapping, hand-wringing, affable garden variety political office seekers." — Virginian Pilot 7/2/72

What kind of man is Jesse Helms? You might ask any of the more than 500 American service men with whom Jesse Helms corresponded regularly while they were on the other side of the world, in Vietnam. He was their friend — and for many of them, he seemed a member of their family. That's the kind of man Jesse Helms is... a man who believes in doing something himself for others, instead of waiting for the government to do it. A group of soldiers named their compound in Vietnam for Jesse Helms. They painted a sign declaring their friendship for him, and posted it outside. Jesse Helms is not a politician; he's a quiet, friendly citizen who is dedicated to the cause of freedom. That's why there is now a bipartisan effort to send Jesse Helms to the United States Senate. Wouldn't you like to be a part of this citizen crusade? Goodness knows, we need Jesse Helms in Washington!

For 1920 Picnic

43rd — 1921

Dr. Howard Rondthaler of Winston-Salem was the featured speaker.

44th — 1922

Held on August 10, 1922. Henry Dwire, Editor of the Twin City Sentinel was the featured speaker and spoke on the topic: "A Heritage and Peril".

The crowd began coming at daylight in buggies, wagons, autos and trains. The excursion train which is run annually from Winston-Salem brought a large crowd.

On the program was the Erwin Concert Band under the direction of W. A. Mills.

The dinner was served under the new dinner arbor.

The sensation of the picnic was a birthday cake donated by Mrs. Z. N. Anderson, beautifully iced in white and decorated with roses and flowers. On one side in pink icing was "1878", date of the first picnic and on the other side, "1922". The cake was sold at auction by Leon Cash, auctioneer, and was bid off by G. S. Norfleet, Proprietor of the Piedmont Warehouse in Winston-Salem. Norfleet then sliced the cake and sold it piece by piece, netting $25 which was donated to the picnic.

A class from the Oxford Orphanage gave the night concert.

J. B. Johnstone served as General Chairman of the Picnic; J. F. Hanes as Dinner Chairman; Jacob Stewart as Program Chairman.

45th — 1923
Held on August 9, 1923. Weather was ideal. The morning train brought a large crowd. Cooleemee band played.

The featured speaker was J. Kenneth Pfohl, pastor of the Home Moravian Church. Mr. Pfohl came on the train which was late and apologized to the waiting crowd.

At 2:30 p.m. adjournment was made from Clement Grove to the adjoining lot where the Masons had charge of laying the cornerstone for the new high school building. Hubert M. Poteat, Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of N. C., spoke at the arbor following the ceremony.

46th — 1924

Held on August 14, 1924. Speaker was Dr. William H. Frazier, President of Queens College, who spoke on "Making Manhood and Womanhood."

The new high school, for which the cornerstone was laid last year, was inspected and termed a "splendid edifice".

47th — 1925

Held August 13, 1925. The speaker was Dr. C. C. Weaver, Pastor of the Centenary Methodist Church who spoke on "The Growing Life". Other speakers included Leon Cash, Grand Master and Thomas H. Cash, Superintendent of Forsyth County Schools.

The lawn party that night was attended by the largest crowd in history.

$2,500 was sent to Oxford Orphanage.

48th — 1926

No report was found concerning the picnic of 1929

52nd — 1930

Held August 14, 1930 with Dr. Elmer Hoke, President of Catawba College, the speaker. His subject was "Be Neighborly".

The "coolest weather ever felt for a picnic was reported, with it raining that afternoon".

A feature of the afternoon program was the introduction to the audience by Dr. L. P. Martin of L. J. S. Harris of Concord, Commander of the 1st Brigade of N. C. Confederate Soldiers and Prof. J. D. Hodges, Adjutant. Each was over 80 years old.

53rd — 1931

Held August 13, 1931. Dr. J. S. Hiatt of Statesville was the featured speaker. Sunshine and cool breezes made it an ideal day.

Evening lawn party was well attended and featured a musical program by the Oxford boys and girls.

54th — 1932

Held August 11, 1932. C. K. Proctor, Supt. of Oxford Orphanage spoke on "Masonry and It's Part In The Present World Conflict".

An electric amplifier was used for the first time and was reported most successful.

55th — 1933

Held August 10, 1933. Bishop J. Kenneth Pfohl was the speaker. 7,095 persons attended. Two airplanes carried passengers for rides.

56th — 1934

Held August 9, 1934. "Typical picnic day of clouds and sunshine". Dr. W. H. Frazier, President of Queen-Chicora College, spoke.

This event, scheduled for August 8th, was cancelled due to epidemic of infantile paralysis sweeping the state that banned children under 15 from public gatherings.

57th — 1935

NICHOLAS & MAY REVISITED

Former top comedy duo Mike Nichols and Elaine May are preparing a special for NBC-TV, informs the current issue of Rona Barrett's Hollywood magazine. Mike and Elaine got together for the first time in years for the McGovern benefit at Madison Square Garden recently and it must have given TV producers ideas.

LILY LAUGHS LAST

Lily Tomlin didn't win a release from her contract with "Laugh-In," reveals the current issue of Rona Barrett's Hollywood magazine. Mike and Elaine got together for the first time in years for the McGovern benefit at Madison Square Garden recently and it must have given TV producers ideas.

The University of North Carolina at Greensboro, which was a college for women prior to the fall of 1964, had 1,700 male students in its 6,983 enrollment of 1971-72. That figure is expected to increase this fall. University officials report that applications from male students have climbed by 50 percent over last year.

Eatons Baptist Church
Observes 200th Anniversary

Eaton's Baptist Church will observe its bi-centennial anniversary Sunday with a special service. This church dates back to 1772 and is one of the oldest churches in the entire area. A special feature on Eaton's Church and the plans for this observance appears on Page 6 of this issue. (Phot by Barringer)

Picnic Gate Receipts Show Increase

Gate receipts for the 92nd Annual Masonic Picnic were the largest in history.

Total receipts for the five day period amounted to $6,271.51, an increase of $449 over last year. Proceeds from the dinner, including ticket sales and donations amounted to $962.50, a decrease from last year of $46.25.

The bingo concession, operated five days, brought in $2,047.78. The rent of concessions brought in $1,780.

An early evening storm Monday kept down the attendance for the opening night but this was more than made up with large evening crowds thereafter.

A day by day breakdown of the gate receipts, with last year's receipts being shown in parenthesis, is listed below:

Monday: $522.75 ($573.10). Tuesday: $1126.15 ($998.55). Wednesday: $1058.15 ($859.50). Thursday: $2344.76 ($2388.92). Friday: $1219.70 ($1219.94).

Plans Near Completion For Local Community Service Center

Plans for the Community Service Center to be located at the site of the old Mocksville Elementary School on North Main Street were discussed for members of the Mocksville Rotary Club Tuesday by John Barber, County Manager.

Mr. Barber said the architect drawings and plans were now in their final stages of being approved and construction bids for the project would probably be sought in early September.

Davie County has received federal grants totaling around $360,000 to construct this project.

Plans call for removing the old classroom building and to construct a new two-level multipurpose building. In addition, the present gymnasium and auditorium buildings will be completely remodeled.

Mr. Barber said that plans for the gymnasium called for new tile floors throughout. The building will be utilized for basketball and other games and activities. There will be a portable stage. And the dressing rooms will be completely renovated.

Plans call for the auditorium to be air conditioned. The old cafeteria will be changed into a meeting room to accommodate 150 to 200 persons and kitchen facilities will be available. This room will also have a portable state. The new building will connect to the auditorium. The lower floor of this building will serve as early childhood or day care center. The upper floor will have offices for various agencies such as health department, mental health department, veterans service officer, possible social service and others. There will also be rooms where various classes can be held.

Mr. Barber reviewed the various steps taken to secure this project for Davie County.

Man Charged With Trespassing

A Gold Hill man has been charged with trespassing last Friday on the lands of Mr. and Mrs. Roy C. Hoffner near the Jerusalem Church.

Voit Nelson Efford, 24, of Gold Hill Rt. 1 was charged in a warrant as "unlawfully and willfully enter upon the lands in possession of R.C. Hoffner located on Hwy 601 south of Mocksville without a license therefor. Said land is duly posted."

Witnesses to the warrant were Roy Hoffner and L.E. Jones. Deputies Lewis Jones and Robert. Hellard investigated.

Dr. H. C. Sprinkle had charge of the program and introduced Mr. Barber, President Wayne Eaton presided.

Wayne Hill was inducted into the club as a new member by Lester P. Martin.

Car Stolen And Burned

A 1963 Chevrolet, owned by Mrs. June Bailey Smith of 531 Salisbury Street, was stolen Thursday night and was wrecked and burned.

The car was taken from in front of the Smith home where it was parked with the keys in it. The Smiths reportedly heard the car startup and drive off, immediately reported it to the police. The car was seen headed in the direction of Salisbury.

Friday morning it was found wrecked and burned on the Ralldge Road by Bobby Lee Brown, who was looking for a truck which was taken from his residence that night and was found near the burned car Friday morning. There was no battery in the truck and it was pushed off in an attempt to get it started. When this of course failed, it was abandoned.

Mocksville Chief of Police Joe Foster and Sheriff Joe Smith are investigating.

Davie Man Charged With Motel Robbery

A Davie County man was arrested early last Thursday morning and charged with armed robbery of the Lexington Motel on I-85 late the preceding night.

Lexington police identified the man as Terry E. H. Anderson, 22, of Advance Rt. 2, who was arrested in Davie County at 3:30 a.m. last Thursday.

Anderson is accused of being the man who entered the Lexington Motel about 11 p.m. the preceding night with a stocking over his head and another stocking over his hand.

Carrying a paper bag, the robber ordered the night clerk to place the money in the bag. The robber fled with about $100 and ran to where a car was parked on a nearby service road to I-85.

The car was later spotted being driven west on Highway 64 toward Davie County.

Pioneered First Automated Library System

Annie Laurie Etchison Heads Army Library Program In Europe

Annie Laurie Etchison of the Cana Community has assumed direction of the US Army library program in Europe.

A professional librarian with the US Forces since 1942, MS. Etchison was graduated by the Western Reserve University of Cleveland, Ohio, with bachelor of arts and bachelor of library science degrees.

MS. Etchison has served as post, command and departmental levels with the Army, Navy and Air Force both in the United States and overseas.

Assigned in 1945 to the US Army Pacific HQ (Hawaii), she was instrumental in organizing library services to all the Pacific islands, including the Marianas.

From 1946-1948 she served as chief librarian of General Douglas MacArthur's headquarters in the Philippines. From Manila MS. Etchison established the first U. S. military library in Okinawa.

Before taking over the Army's top library post in Europe, she served as staff librarian for Third U. S. Army at Fort McPherson, Ga. She pioneered in the development of plans for the first automated library system in the Army - later designated by DA officials as the Pilot Model Project for the Army library program. Copies of the first computer-produced book catalog from the automation project as in the Smithsonian Institute in Washington, D. C.

Under her direction five modern libraries were constructed at Third U. S. Army installations: Ft. Jackson, S. C., Ft. Campbell, Ky., Ft. Benning, Ga., Ft. Gordon, RKA, and Ft. McClellan, Ala. Libraries at Ft. Campbell and Ft. Benning were selected in 1966 and 1967 by the AMERICAN LIBRARY JOURNAL as two of the 27 outstanding constructions in North America.

Books on a variety of subjects characterize a free society, but in addition to their primary business of books, U. S. Army, Europe (USAREUR) libraries also offer their patrons the same services provided by libraries back home.

As American libraries have won increasing status as important community centers, so have USAREUR's 112 libraries kept pace by hosting discussion groups, lectures, music appreciation programs, films, story hours for children, illustrated travel talks and cultural exhibits.

Command libraries feature record collections offering USAREUR music lovers a full range of long-playing albums of classical and semiclassical music - as well as a wide selection of language, dramatic and documentary recordings.

As chief librarian for 112 Special Services community-centered libraries in Italy, Belgium and Germany, MS. Etchison has staff responsibility for 77 professional American command librarians.

Special Services libraries circulate some 15,000 reading items daily and loan upward of 5 million books annually while stocking approximately 1,650,000 titles, 114,000 phonograph records, 187,000 pamphlets, maps, etc., 7,700 magazines and 530 newspapers for US military and civilian library-goers.

Discussing Automation Techniques

Col. Robert W. Krug, Chief, Recreation Services Division, USAREUR, discusses Army library automation techniques with newly arrived head of the command-wide library program, Annie Laurie Etchison of Cana (Davie County), N. C. MS. Etchison, a professional librarian with the US Forces since 1942, arrived at Worms, Germany, from Fort McPherson, Ga., where as Third U.S. Army staff librarian she pioneered in the development of plans for the first automated library system in the Army. Jim Tise - Making A Miraculous Recovery

by - Marlene Benson

James A. Tise... the living, breathing miracle.

"I just always thought more about living than dying and people should never give up," Tise said as he told how he was hit in the head and then shot four times in an attempted robbery a little over five weeks ago.

Owner and operator of the Crossroad Grocery on Highway 64, east of Mocksville, Tise was attacked on the night of July 6, minutes after closing his establishment.

Tise said his wife left the store about ten minutes before he closed and as his son-in-law, who was also in the store, left just ahead of him (Tise) and he locked the door behind him.

The son-in-law left immediately and according to Tise, did not witness any part of the attack.

Tise then told how he was "hit in the back of the head as he opened the door to the pick-up truck and the light came on. "I never did get in the truck," he said.

After being hit, Tise said he was "shot three times with a pistol and once with a shotgun," and he was "creased two more times."

Tise said he began to return their fire and kept firing until he had completely emptied his gun. Tise was certain there were two, possibly more, negro ambushers who then fled empty-handed.

"I think anybody would have done anything to stay alive," he continued, "and I'm certain they meant to kill me. They (the ambushers) had no way of knowing whether I had $5 or $500, but they were willing to kill me for what I did have."

The incident happened around 11 or 11:30 p. m.

Tise said that he was "never able to get inside the truck," but that he never did "get completely down."

He then tried to flag down a passing motorist, "The first car did not stop," he remembered, "but the next car, a little Volkswagen with two boys, did stop."

"I brought one of the boys in the store and showed him the phone and told him to call the ambulance," Tise told. "And I gave one of them my gun and money."

Tise said he then "went back outside to see if he could tell which way they went."

Within minutes, Sheriff Joe Smith was on the scene, followed by the ambulance which took Tise to Forsyth Memorial Hospital in Winston-Salem.

Tise said he remained in the Intensive Care Unit there, eleven of the 14 days that he was hospitalized.

He underwent surgery at 12 o'clock midnight until 6 a. m. the following morning. He says they (the doctors) took an artery from his leg and put it in his arm and then replaced the one from the leg with an artificial artery. They also did abdominal surgery, but at the time felt it was too risky to remove the three pistol bullets and the almost full load of shotgun pellets in his leg. He also developed pneumonia a couple of hours after surgery.

He still has the bullets, one in his shoulder muscle and two in his chest, one of which barely missed his heart and is lodged in his left lung. "They don't hurt me as bad as my leg, which is still partially paralyzed by the shotgun blast," he explained.

Although Tise is not able to run his store yet, he spends as much time as he can there.

"I like to run this store," he said "and I've got real good customers, both black and white."

By all the laws of nature, it would appear impossible for anyone to survive an ordeal such as the one of Jim Tise. But he seems to be well on the road to

County's 4th Highway Fatality

John Stephen Bracken Killed In Auto Crash

John Stephen Bracken, 23, of Mocksville Rt. 6 was killed around 5 a.m. Monday when his car overturned on NC 801, a half mile north of the Redland Road.

This was Davie County's fourth highway fatality of 1972.

The State Highway Patrol said that Bracken was traveling at a high rate of speed when the accident occurred. He was thrown from the car and found lying about six feet from the car. Dr. B.L. Richards, a county medical examiner, said Bracken had suffered a broken neck and multiple cuts on his head and face.

Bracken was employed at the Continental Can Company in Winston-Salem and was reportedly enroute home from work at the time the accident occurred.

The car was a total loss. He was the son of the Rev. Albert and Lois Weatherman Bracken.

Funeral services were held at 4 p.m. Wednesday at the Liberty Baptist Church. Burial was in the church cemetery.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Alice Craver Bracken; a daughter, Angela Bracken of the home; a son, John Stephen Bracken of the home; his parents of Mocksville Rt. 6; two sisters, Mrs. Vickie Jarvis and Miss Renee Bracken of Mocksville Rt. 6; and a brother, Tommy Bracken of Mocksville Rt. 6.

Davie Life Insurance Holdings Estimated At $106,017,000

Residents of Davie County began the current year with more protection in the form of life insurance than ever before. The amount of coverage, per local family, was at a record high.

For the community as a whole, life insurance holdings are now estimated at more than $106,017,000.

In addition, more families carry health insurance, burglary insurance, accident insurance and other safeguards than in former years. With respect to life insurance, figures on the number of policy holders and the extent of coverage in each of the states are contained in the new Life Insurance Fact Book and in other reports.

They show that the amount of life insurance of all kinds in force in the United States is now in excess of $1.5 trillion.

In the State of North Carolina alone, according to the findings, the total is $31,771,000,000, compared with $11,892,000,000 ten years ago.

Not included in these figures are the insurance coverage provided by the Federal government for veterans and others and the insurance issued by fraternal organizations. In most families, it is found, there is a direct relationship between their income and the amount of insurance they hold. The total carried by the average family in the state is equivalent to 25.3 months of income, after taxes.

Woman Injured In I-40 Accident

A Virginia woman was injured in an accident on Interstate 40 around 3 a.m. last Friday morning.

Louise Bridgette Morarity, 19, of Alexandria, Virginia was first taken to the Davie County Hospital and later transferred to the Forsyth Hospital.

Investigation officers reported that the car crossed the median and went down an embankment.

The accident happened on I-40 between the Hwy 601 and Farmington exits.

Driver Dozes; Hits House

A car ran off the road on a sharp curve on NC 801 near Advance early Monday morning and hit the house of Vestal Potts. The accident occurred around 3:45 a.m.

The driver was Clifton Gene James, 21, of Lexington Rt. 6. He suffered lacerations of face and chest. He was taken to the Davie County Hospital where he was treated and released.

James reportedly went to sleep and his car ran off the highway into guard rail knocking down a pole, and into the Potts house.

State Highway Patrolman J.L. Payne investigated.

Royer Assumes Duties As Director Of Social Services

I.E. Royer of Newton has assumed duties here as the Director of the Davie County Department of Social Services.

Mr. Royer was formerly the Supervisor of Adoption at the Catawba County Department of Social Services.

Mr. Royer went to Catawba County from Alpena, Michigan where he was Chief Social Worker of the Community Health Center. A graduate of the University of Illinois School of Social Work with a master's degree in his field, he has 18 years of experience in the field of State Institutions, Mental Health, Family Agencies, Child Welfare and Adoption. In addition, he is a certified marriage counselor, a charter member of the National Association of Social Workers and a member of the Academy of Certified Social Workers.

His wife Marian, and son Christopher, will join him in Mocksville. The Royer's daughter, Robin, will enter graduate school at the University of Michigan this fall.

Suzanne Says...

Charcoal grilling out of doors is a lot of fun if you have plenty of time. Arranging the fire and how it burns has a lot to do with the time involved.

We should always follow the manufacturers directions and it is a good basic instruction most of the time. A simple way is to arrange a pyramid of about 15 briquets on the fire base of your fire bowl or fire box. Squirt about 1/2 cup of fire starter fluid on the cold briquets. Reseal the container and place it away from the grill. Light the briquets with a match (a long match if available.) Your fire is ready when briquets are covered with gray ash (30 to 45 minutes). Never add lighter fluid to a fire which is burning or to briquets which are warm. This could be dangerous.

If you start your fire far enough in advance you will get a good bed of coals. If you wish to add briquets, lay them where they will warm. Do not dump cold briquets on live ones. This reduces the temperature and retards barbecuing. When briquets are heated, spread over grill leaving about 1/2 inch space between briquets to avoid flame up.

Everyone likes steaks and we like steaks with a just cooked flavor. But, each to his own taste! So cook steaks the way you like them and if you have guests, the way they like them.

Steak seems to be the favorite food for most people and barbecuing is certainly one of the best ways to prepare steaks.

You'll know the time to turn steaks, when droplets of bright red juices rise on the uncooked side. Turn them just once and save the juices.

Have your steaks room temperature before grilling. Rub grill with cooking oil or fat. This reduces sticking. Turn the steak only once using tongs—never a fork. And don't worry whether they are done, well done or rare. Most people like them anyway you cook them.

If you like garlic-flavored steaks, rub both sides of steak with a cut clove of garlic before barbecuing.

BARBECUING HAM BURGERS

Make thin patties about 1/4 inch thick and if you want a double decker, put two together and put a filling between: 1 slice of cheese 1 thin slice of Bermuda onion 1 thin slice of tomato Sprinkle with cut chives or minced onion. Place between hamburger buns that have been toasted. Split on one side. Spread mayonnaise on bun. Also tomato catsup or, you might like a half slice of crisp bacon, or mustard.

Help Sought

As a part of President Nixon's pledge to the White House Conference on Aging and Congress's passage of a new program under the Administration on Aging (AOA), special efforts have been requested by the President to locate all Senior Citizens that have present or potential nutritional problems.

The President has requested that responsible agencies and officials respond promptly to expand Food Stamp and Commodity Food Programs so that eligible Senior Citizens can participate.

In order to implement these needed efforts and to respond promptly to the request of President Nixon and Congress, area citizens are requested to provide information relative to the needs of Senior Citizens in their community. By providing information quickly, more prompt services can be ensured for all Senior Citizens and funds can be more efficiently utilized.

To ensure that our Senior Citizens are provided at least one balanced hot meal per day, steps are to be implemented to develop and provide a local schools, community centers, churches, and other possible facilities, one meal for five days a week at no cost and with transportation being provided.

Pre-Nuptial Parties Fete Nichols-Wilson Couple

Miss Cathy Nichols of Salisbury and Ron Wilson of Newton, who will marry Sunday, August 27, at Millford Hills Baptist Church in Salisbury have been honored recently.

Miss Nichols is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Nichols and the family were former residents of Mocksville. Miss Nichols also did her practice teaching at Mocksville Elementary School the last three months of the 1971-72 school year and she stayed in Mocksville with her grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Irvin on Park Avenue.

The couple was honored Saturday evening, August 5th, at a dinner party at the Statesville Country Club. Hosts were Mr. and Mrs. J. Roy Harris of Mocksville and Miss June Harris of Chapel Hill.

Before dinner, the 20 guests were entertained at the Harris home in Mocksville. The hors d'oeuvres table was covered in a green linen cloth and centered with an arrangement of yellow shasta daisies and matching gypsophylla.

At dinner, guests were seated at small tables, where the green and yellow color scheme was repeated in the table covers and flowers. The couple was presented a bowl in their selected china pattern, gift of the hosts.

Miss Nichols wore a long halter dress of lavender and orchid jersey print and added a gift corsage of white rosebuds.

Included among the guests were Miss Nichols' parents and grandparents.

Sunday afternoon, August 13th, the couple was again entertained at a reception at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Nichols in Mocksville when the Nichols were joined in hospitality by Mrs. Robert Brown.

Guests from Mocksville and Salisbury called during the appointed hours of 3 and 5 p.m. and were greeted by the hostesses who introduced the receiving line composed of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Nichols of Salisbury and Miss Nichols and Mr. Wilson.

Proceeding to the refreshment table the guests were served decorated cake squares by Mrs. R.P. Martin, Jr. and lime punch by Mrs. Bob Dwiggin. Other delicacies served consisted of sandwiches and mints.

Misses Beth Kelly, Sandra Dwiggin, Tamra Hendricks and Karen Shore assisted in serving.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Short directed the guests to the den and sun porch.

The refreshment table was covered with a white brocade cloth. The floral arrangement was of white and yellow glads, mums and roses. Silver appointments were used. Decorating throughout were arrangements of roses glads, mums and candles.

The honoree wore a black and white formal gown and she was presented a corsage of white carnations by the hosts. The bridal couple received a gift of two silver goblets from the hosts.

Among the guests present were Miss Nichols' grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Nichols of Salisbury and Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Irvin of Mocksville.

The guest register was kept by Mr. and Mrs. J. Roy Harris who also received goodbyes of the guests attending.

Freddie Bailey Is Married In South Carolina Ceremony

Wedding vows of Miss Marion Louise Simrill and Taylor Frederick Bailey were exchanged Saturday afternoon, August 12, at First Presbyterian Church in York, S. C., against a background of candlelight and white gladiolus, killian daisies and gypsophila.

The 5 p.m. ceremony was performed by the Rev. Thomas F. Hudson, Rev. Carlyle A. McDonald and Spencer C. Simrill, of Louisville, Ky., brother of the bride, in a double ring ceremony.

Wedding music was presented by Dr. Benjamin Smith of Staunton, Va., uncle of the bride, and Frank P. Simrill, Jr., of York, S. C., brother of the bride, who sang "O Perfect Love". Traditional Lohengrin wedding marches were used.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Preston Simrill of Miami Beach, Florida, and the granddaughter of Mrs. Frank M. Simrill of York. She is a graduate of York High School and attended Central Piedmont Community College in Charlotte, N. C.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert L. Bailey of Advance, North Carolina. He is a graduate of Davie County High School in Mocksville, N. C., and is a Senior at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, graduating in December. He has just completed four months basic training in the U. S. National Guard. After a wedding trip, the couple will live in Chapel Hill.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of candlelight peau de soie and chantilly lace with a lace bodice, low scooped neckline outlined in lace edging, elbow lace sleeves ending in a wide flared ruffle. The A-line skirt was appliqued with lace medallions. Her cathedral length train of candlelight silk illusion was bordered in Chantilly lace and was worn mantilla style. She carried a nosegay of white roses and stephanotis, with candlelight streamers with love knots. The bride also wore an antique diamond lavalere and matching earrings belonging to her great-grandmother, Mrs. Benjamin Francis Simmons.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Silas Calhoun McMeekin, Jr., sister of the bride of Columbia, South Carolina. She wore a formal gown of candlelight Brussels lace over matching satin. The bodice was sleeveless, with a high rise neckline, edged with a narrow lace ruffle, continuing on the bodice in a bib effect with a yellow satin bow at the top. The semi-empire waist was encircled with yellow satin ribbon, ending in a bow at back waist. The A-line skirt was softly gathered, ending in a wide ruffled flounce decorated with a yellow bow. She wore a Milan straw picture hat with yellow ribbons, and carried a nosegay of Marguerite daisies with yellow streamers.

Maid of honor was Miss Eleanor Hoover Landstreet, cousin of the bride, of York, S. C., and bridesmaids were Miss Lilly Landstreet, Miss Rebecca Ann Williamson, Mrs. Ernie Patrick Adkins, and Mrs. Pamela Pratt Neely, all of York; Mrs. Katherine Smith, cousin of the bride, of Staunton, Va., and Miss Laura Manning of Easley, S. C., also cousin of the bride.

Flower girl was Miss Dena Terry of Winston-Salem, N. C., cousin of the groom. Master Silas Calhoun McMeekin, nephew of the bride, was the ring bearer.

All attendants were dressed like the matron of honor, wearing Brussels lace formal, yellow picture hats, and carrying daisy nosegays.

Mr. Bailey was his son's best man and ushers were Tommy Clay of Atlanta, Georgia, Tommy Brubaker and Harold Terry of Winston-Salem, N. C., Randall Ward, Larry Thompson and William Johnson of Mocksville, N. C., and William Bailey of Advance, N. C.

Stewart Landstreet served as acolyte. Senior ushers were Silas Calhoun McMeekin, Sr. of Columbia, S. C., Senator John Martin of Winnsboro, and John Wilkinson of Hickory Grove, S. C.

RECEPTION

Parents of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Frank P. Simrill entertained at a reception following the wedding ceremony. It was held in the parlor of McNeel Hall of the church.

Dr. and Mrs. Paul Caldwell Whitesides and Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Munn greeted guests and presented the receiving line of the parents of the bride couple and the bride and groom. The banquet refreshment table, covered with white lace over white linen, was centered with white daisies, snapdragons and gladiolus with baby's breath. Silver candleabras were used on the serving table with flower arrangements placed throughout the parlor.

The guests were served punch from a silver bowl along with bridal cake squares, sandwiches, mixed nuts, mints and cheese rings.

Mrs. Irvin J. Foster and Mrs. Barron Williamson greeted guests on the colonnade and directed them to the parlor. Presiding at the punch service were Mrs. H. J. Bryson, Mrs. Leroy Love, Mrs. Fred Hopkins and Mrs. James Moore. Mrs. W. Gist Finley and Mrs. S. K. Losry, Jr., served wedding cake. Mrs. Carl H. Hart presided at the guests register.

For her wedding trip, the bride chose a white silk suit with red accents. The skirt was fan pleated and a jacket completed the costume. Her accessories were red and she wore an orchid corsage.

REHEARSAL PARTY

Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Bailey hosted the rehearsal party Friday night at Spring Lake Country Club for 75 guests.

Following aperitifs, guests were served from a beautiful refreshment table in the Terrace Room of the Club. Punch and a large fresh mellow bowl highlighted the table, with beef fondue, sandwiches, fruit tarts, mixed nuts and sausage balls being served. The flowers of yellow and white carried the color note for the evening.

Guests included members of the wedding party, families of the bride couple and those from out of town to attend the wedding.

PRENUPTIAL PARTIES

Final parties feted Miss Marion Simrill of York, S. C., was a bridal luncheon Friday at the home of Mrs. W. S. Moore. Co-hostess for the occasion were Mrs. Carl Hart and Mrs. James Moore.

For the occasion, the bride-elect was attired in a long summer floral in varying shades of pink. The hostess presented her with a corsage of pink carnations.

The luncheon table was overlaid with a white linen cloth with a silver bowl holding yellow sweetheart roses and white snapdragons.

Prior to the luncheon the guests were served from an hors d'oeuvres tray. The menu consisted of orange salad, chicken in curry sauce, with accompanying dishes topped off with baked Alaska.

WEDDING BREAKFAST

A wedding breakfast was held at 12 noon on Saturday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fax Landstreet, aunt and uncle of the bride.

Assisting at the breakfast were two aunts, Mrs. B. J. Smith of Staunton, Va., and Mrs. M. J. Manning of Greenville, S. C.

The guests consisted of members of the wedding party, families and out of town guests.

Bennett-Hendrix Wedding Held Saturday In Smith Grove

Miss Martha Lee Hendrix and Delbert Eugene Bennett were united in marriage Saturday, August 12, at 2 p.m. at Smith Grove United Methodist Church. Reverend Fred Robbins performed the double ring ceremony.

Wedding music was provided by Joe Long, soloist, and Mrs. Fred Smith, organist.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Sherman E. Plott of Route 3 and the late G. Clyde Hendrix. She is a 1972 graduate of Davie County High School. The groom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Bennett, also of Route 3, is a graduate of Mitchell Junior College, Statesville. He is employed by Lou Healy Chevrolet in Winston-Salem.

Given in marriage by her brother, Jim Anderson, the bride wore a gown of peau de soie and peau de ange lace featuring Camelot sleeves adorned with tiny white satin bows as was the front of the gown. The "A" line skirt featured appliques of lace and extended into a chapel train. Her chapel length mantilla of white silk illusion, edged in peau de ange lace, fell from a pearl adorned Camelot cap. The bride carried a bouquet of white summer flowers centered with a white orchid.

Mrs. Harold Sheek of Route 1, Advance, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Her gown was green flocked nylon over green taffeta. Miss Cynthia Bennett, of Route 3, sister of the groom, was a bridesmaid. Her gown was yellow flocked nylon over yellow taffeta. Their headpieces were color schemes to their gowns in organza petals and illusion. They carried a single large white mum.

Sue Ellen Bennett, cousin of the groom, was flower girl. Jeffery Harpe, cousin of the bride, was ring bearer. Charlie Richardson lighted the candles prior to the ceremony.

The groom's father was best man. Ushers were Steve Bennett cousin of the groom and David Ogburn, both of Winston-Salem.

Mrs. Jim Anderson directed the wedding. Two grandparents were among the wedding guests.

For their wedding trip to Myrtle Beach, S.C., the bride wore a dress of green flocke net over white taffeta with which she used white accessories. Her corsage was the orchid lifted from her bouquet. Upon their return, they will be at home in 1-40 Mobile Village on Route 2.

Vets Corner

EDITOR'S NOTE: Veterans and their families are asking thousands of questions concerning the benefits their Government provides for them through the Veterans Administration. Below are some representative queries. Additional information may be obtained at any VA office.

Q. I am the daughter of a Korean Conflict veteran who was totally and permanently disabled by a service connected injury. I am eligible for VA's Dependents' Educational Assistance, but wonder if I can go to school less than half time?

A. Yes. However, payment will be limited to tuition cost, not to exceed $175 if you train less than half time.

Q. I need funds to finance my son's college education. May I borrow on my GI insurance for that purpose?

A. Yes, provided you have a permanent plan GI insurance policy over one year old. If you do, you can borrow up to 84 percent of its cash value. Current interest rate on such loans is five percent.

Two Hundred Years Old . . .

Eatons Baptist Church

By Brenda Summers

Sitting on the crest of the hill at the intersection of two roads both known as Eaton's Baptist Church Road, the church building almost appears to survey the surrounding community.

The founders have long since departed. Members have died. Some have moved to other communities, new members and new leaders have helped to continue the traditions. The buildings have changed, times and traditions have changed, but the memories and the dedication of many members are still a part of Eaton's Baptist Church.

The new and the old will be mingled together as Eaton's Baptist Church celebrates its bicentennial anniversary at the annual homecoming Sunday, August 20th.

Several activities have been planned for the day to celebrate the church's 200-year history.

Guest speaker for the 11 a.m. worship service will be Dr. W. Perry Crouch of Raleigh, secretary of the Baptist State Convention. Dinner will be served on the church grounds at noon. A memorial service in honor of members that died during the past year will be at 1:30 p.m. that afternoon. Also included in this service will be recognition of the five daughter churches, and a history of the church will be read by Davie County historian, Jim Wall.

A 12-page history of the church prepared for the occasion recounts the church's past. The history, written from church records and other sources, states that "the church is one of the oldest in the upper Yadkin Valley and one of the most historical in the Piedmont section of the state. It was influential in establishing other churches, of the same faith, in this area. It has among the oldest original records of Baptist churches in North Carolina."

On October 5, 1772, it was constituted as a regular Baptist church, on the "Banks of Dutchmans Creek", in Rowan County, in the Forks of the Yadkin. (The term "Forks of the Yadkin" refers to all territory between the Yadkin and South Yadkin rivers which included Davie County).

Records indicate that there were ten original members of the church. "The settlement was said to be made by a small group of pioneers, largely of English extraction, who had migrated from Pennsylvania. Territorial boundaries extended from the Forks of the Yadkin to Wilkesboro."

During this period "there were 'meeting places' in various parts of the territory to meet the needs and conveniences of the early settlers. Records show that "the usual place of meeting" seems to have been used in reference to the church on "Dutchmans Creek", which was accepted as the "mother church".

The church history describes the first church. "The 'old log meeting house' has been established as having stood, approximately, at the North East corner of the lawn at the present parsonage. It was made of large hand-hewn logs from the nearby forest. The roof was made of oak shingles; the floor of dirt and the seats from split logs; smoothed down for seating comfort with no backs to the benches. Holes four or five feet wide were left for the windows. This building was torn down in 1854 and the material later used for a school building."

Gravestones in the church cemetery date as far back as 1778.

Edward, George and Jonathan Boone, brothers of Daniel Boone were among the first members of the Dutchmans Creek Baptist Church.

Conflict over loyalties to the American cause began developing among members in 1775, and church records indicate that five members were excommunicated in 1778 because they signed a protest which was being circulated by the Tories (British sympathizers). It is believed that this incident may have caused a disruption in organization of the church during the three years after this. Records show that the church did continue to function for a few years after the war. No records exist covering the period from 1787 to December 1790.

The church was reorganized in 1790 and given the name of Eatons. The history states that "The choice of a name at this time, was probably influenced by the fact that the first land was given by Daniel Eaton, who was the son of John Eaton. John Eaton owned 360 acres in the locality. John was buried in the church cemetery when he died in September, 1789. When Daniel Eaton's estate was divided among his heirs in 1825, the portion laid out for Eatons Meeting House was excepted from Lot No. 3. This extended North from the present cemetery to an iron post at Greasy Branch.

Education was emphasized by the churches during this period. Records indicate that Fork Academy was started by the church.

The first Sabbath School was established at Eatons in April 1845 according to research done by Mrs. J. W. Etchison.

Growth in the number of church members lead to the erection and dedication of a new building in 1848. The site of the church was "the crest of the hill East of and near the site of the Old Dutchmans Creek Church."

The minutes of a church conference on February 25, 1854, state "that Ben F. Eaton reported that 'On May last, according to the order of the Church', that he had purchased a record book, and had secured the services of J. H. Foote and S. O. Tatum to transcribe the contents of the original church records to this new book, and having done so, he presented said book to the church." The book contains a complete history of activities of the church from 1790 to 1902. The book is now being housed in the Baptist Collection Room at Wake Forest University Library."

In 1872 the church celebrated its one hundredth anniversary. The history presented at that time was written and given by Dr. J. W. Wiseman. The article discusses the "philosophies and humanities of that era, and how they were developed through daily living and the importance of the church in the lives of the people in that day."

The church building was remodeled in 1890. Galleries were removed, and the vestibule and bell tower were added.

After some members of the church were told they did not need a bell tower because they had no bell, a drive was begun to raise funds for the bell. This same bell hangs today in the tower of the present building. The history states that "The bell peals have sent forth the call to worship for many years, and it has also rung, or tolled on the occasion of a death in the community. It has served well as a means of communication in this rural country-side."

The present brick building was begun in 1925 and dedicated on the 5th Sunday in June 1930. The building was made possible, largely through a gift from William T. Eaton of Winston-Salem, who was a former resident of Davie County. His ancestors and relatives had worshipped at the church.

The church parsonage was started in 1958 and dedicated in 1963.

In the past few years the sanctuary has been rearranged and folding doors have been put up to make new Sunday School classrooms. An organ has just been purchased with money secured through private donations. Recently, cushions for the pews were purchased.

This water glass and pitcher were used by ministers in the old church.

The church is presently involved in the planning stages of an education building. A building fund has been started and blue prints have been secured. The church also has plans to remodel the church pulpit area and choir area of the sanctuary.

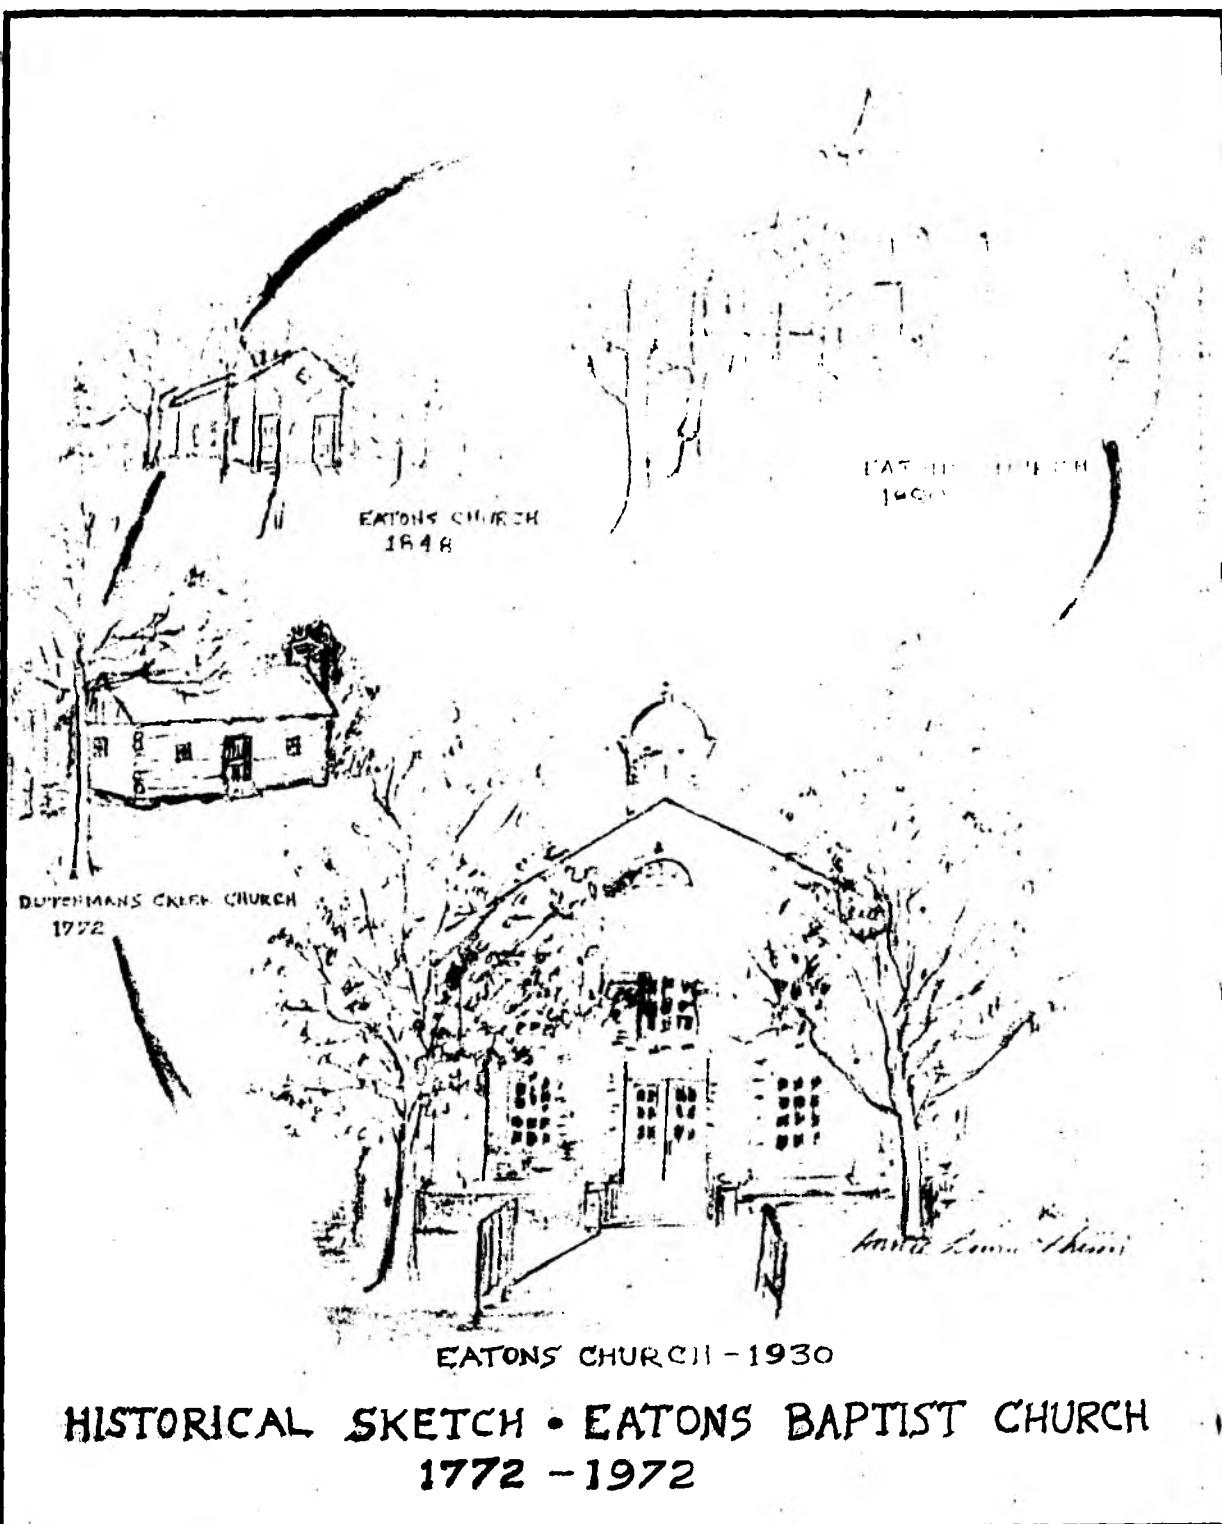

Three churches in Davie County were organized from Eaton's Baptist Church. Cedar Creek was organized in 1872; Farmington, February 1878; and Ijames Cross Roads in late 1800's. Churches in other counties are Providence in Surry County organized in January, 1805; Cross Roads in Yadkin County, September, 1835; Union Hill, (which was in Davidson County then, but now in Forsyth County) March, 1851.

Ministers that have been ordained from this church are William Garner, 1834; Edward M. Chaffin, 1835; Nathan S. Chaffin, 1847; Thomas Miller, 1849;

Mr. and Mrs. Gurney Messick of Cooleemee were honored on their 50th wedding anniversary by their son and daughter-in-law Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Messick of Castleberry, Florida, with a small reception at their home on Main Street.

Other guests attending were Mrs. Cosby Sales, Mrs. Annie Garwood and Mrs. Steve Spry, who were members of the immediate family. The Messicks also have two granddaughters who were unable to attend. Following the reception, they left for a trip to the mountains.

SBA Authorizes Economic Injury Loans For Davie

Congressman Wilmer Mizell announced today that the Small Business Administration has authorized economic injury loans for businesses in seven North Carolina counties affected by tropical storm Agnes.

The counties are Davidson, Davie, Forsyth, Rockingham, Stokes, Surry and Yadkin.

Mizell, who was instrumental in securing the loan authorization, said businesses in these counties may be eligible for SBA loans of up to $500,000 to provide temporary working capital or to pay pressing accounts.

Businesses eligible for loans will include primarily those related to agriculture and tourism.

In making the announcement, Mizell said, "I was happy to be able to help secure this government assistance for the businesses in our area adversely affected by Hurricane Agnes.

"We were able to bet some aid through the Farmers Home Administration for crop damage, and this assistance for area businesses was equally welcome. I encourage business owners in these seven counties to take maximum advantage of this assistance," Mizell said.

Music At Lake

There will be "Good Old Gospel Preaching and Singing" by the Davie Baptist Tabernacle Church group at Stewart's Lake Saturday night, August 19th, beginning at 8 p.m.

The public is cordially invited to attend.

recovery. Of course it may become necessary to remove the bullets he continues to carry around, but he feels that he will be in excellent condition to withstand surgery, if and when it becomes necessary.

Tise is well aware of his close call with death. As he was talking with his doctor, a couple of days after having surgery, the doctor told him, "Jim, you came from five and a half feet under."

"I had a lot of good people praying for me," he said. But he also admitted that he would feel much more at ease after the assailants are caught and the entire case is closed.

There have been no arrests at this time, but the Davie County Sheriff's office and the SBI are continuing the investigation.

He continued by saying, "Davie County is a good county to live in. I've been here since '33. And 99 per cent of the people are good, but that other one per cent should be stopped."

"It's getting dangerous to run a store, even in Davie... and if something ain't done about this death penalty... we won't be able to."

"If the people who made these laws were shot up like I was, they would make 'em a little stiffer."

Tise said he feels that the sheriff's department is doing all they can. "A SBI man is also working with them," he said, "but I've tried to call him a couple of times lately and they tell me he is on vacation."

"No reflection on Joe (the sheriff)" he said, "but if the governor or somebody like that had been shot, they would get right on it. But a poor storekeeper like me, they don't seem to be in a big hurry."

Tise says that now-a-days "if a person drinks too much, they are sick; if they murder, they are crazy. But I think if a person has a mind to commit murder, they're not crazy, they have just lost their purpose for living and they don't care."

Tise also commented that at any time the people could cooperate with the sheriff, "they should help Joe by telling him all they know, not only in this case, but any case because every crook is watching him."

Mrs. Tise, who is running the store for her husband, also says they will all feel much better once this case is closed.

"This is the one that almost got me", Tise said as he points to the spot where the bullet went in, barely missing his heart and is now lodged in his left lung.

Durable Waste Program In Operation Here

Through a two year grant from the Appalachian Regional Commission, NWEDC and YVEDDI have initiated an effort to remove junk cars and other durable wastes from the Northwest area. The Durable Waste Programs will develop and implement avenues to locate, centralize, and then remove to a scrap metal company, durable waste located and abandoned in communities.

A Program Director, Mike Wilkinson, has been employed to lead this effort. The Community Developer of each County CAP office will be assisting. The first 60 days will be spent reviewing other similar efforts, to locate all junk cars, to organize an Advisory Committee to concerned citizens, to implement coordination with sanitary landfills, and to implement a means of securing wrecker and crusher-hauler services.

Citizens desiring to have junk cars and other durable wastes removed should contact their County CAP Office's Community Developer.

District Homemaker's Day Is Thursday

The Northwestern District Extension Homemaker Day will start at 10:30 a.m. Thursday, August 17th in the Dana Auditorium of Guilford College.

Dr. Eloise Cofer will be the speaker and in the afternoon Arts and Crafts from each county will be exhibited.

Anyone interested in attending are asked to contact the Home Economics Office in the County Office Building in Mocksville, telephone 634-2834.

Southern Railway gives a green light to Buying in the South

We spent $179,018,291
here in 1971, much of it with small firms.

When Southern goes shopping, the total comes to millions of dollars annually. You may be benefiting from those purchases. Because whenever possible, we make a practice of buying in the states we serve.

This not only benefits local businesses, but it helps create jobs and otherwise boosts prosperity in the South.

In 1971 we spent $179,018,291—representing nearly two-thirds of our total purchases—in the 13 Southern-served states and the District of Columbia. That money went for everything from paper clips to freight cars—all kinds of goods and services needed to help us run an efficient, shipper-oriented railroad. To better serve you and the entire Southeast.

Southern feels fortunate to be part of the fast-growing South. We show it by giving a green light to buying here.

JESSE HELMS: A CITIZEN-SENATOR

"Jesse Helms is not one of your back-slapping, hand-wringing, affable garden variety political office seekers." — Virginian Pilot 7/2/72

A few years back, Jesse Helms was elected President of the Raleigh Rotary Club, the oldest and second largest civic club in North Carolina.

He didn't sit back and glory in it. He set about to challenge the club with a series of new programs — like one to raise money for a boys' home. That year, the club had the highest attendance in its history and won a district award for new members.

That's Jesse Helms — working to get things done. And that's why the Freedoms Foundation gave him two awards, and why the Raleigh Exchange Club gave him its Golden Deeds award, and why the Southern Baptist Convention gave him its national award for Service to Mankind.

All his life, Jesse Helms has worked to make things better than he found them. And that's why we need to send him to the United States Senate.

Local Vietnam Veterans Education Program Begins

Through a one year grant from the Appalachian Regional Commission, the N.C. Dept. of Administration, and NWEDC, a program is under way to implement avenues to provide direct person-to-person assistance to Vietnam Era Veterans of this area. Program activities are intended to supplement the work of Veterans Service Officers and the Employment Security Commission, to stimulate the utilization of G.I. Bill benefits, to secure adequate jobs and On-the-Job Training, to stimulate the employment of Vietnam Veterans by area employers, and to provide affirmative Advocacy for Veterans rights and needs.

A Program Director and a part-time Program Specialist will serve the four county area of Davie, Stokes, Surry, and Yadkin.

A Policy Advisory Committee, being appointed now, will meet initially on August 29 to provide continuing guidance to better mobilize efforts to meet the needs of our Vietnam Veterans. This Committee will include the Veterans Service Officer ESC, Employers, and Vietnam Era Veterans. Area Vietnam Era Veterans that need assistance should contact the Program Director Fred Blackwood, in Booneville at (919) 367-7251. The staff will be able to visit homes if desired and provide transportation needed to secure services. The Program Director will be traveling the area in a mobile office so that better services are provided.

Col. Moody Appointed To New Air Force Position

Colonel Reuben B. Moody has been appointed Director of Range Operations at Patrick Air Force Base, Fla. replacing Colonel Robert Van Arsdall who recently departed Patrick AFB for a new assignment at Sunnydale, California.

Colonel Moody is married to the former Wilhelmina Kathryn Strowd of Coolemees, North Carolina, and they have five children: Jerry, Jack Peter, Sarah and Kathryn.

At the same time Colonel Moody became the new "Beach Boss" which is the title used for the commander of the launch site rescue and recovery force during manned space flight launches.

He gained experience on the Apollo 16 mission by working with Colonel Van Arsdall during practice sessions before the flight and on launch day.

On the night of the Apollo 17 launch, Colonel Moody will direct the specialized team of flight surgeons, paramedics and firemen from an HH-33 helicopter hovering near Complex 39A. He will have a ringside view of the launch and in event of an emergency requiring the astronauts to about the mission during the lift-off phase, his team will be ready to effect their recovery.

As Director of Range Operations, he is responsible for a variety of support tasks to be provided range users including range safety.

Colonel Moody enlisted in the Army Air Corps in July 1949 and later attended Officers' Candidate School from which he received his commission as a second lieutenant in 1944. Prior to his entry into the service he attended Belmont Abbey College in North Carolina. He was born in Dillon, South Carolina.

During his 32 years of active duty, Colonel Moody has held various staff assignments in Washington, D.C., and at California and Florida bases. This is his second assignment to Patrick AFB as he previously held the position as chief of the range safety division here in 1957 and spent the next year as base commander of the Air Force Eastern Test Range Station 1 in Fernando De Noronha, Brazil. He left that post in 1958 to attend the Air Command and Staff School and then to Vandenberg AFB, California, where he became chief of the range safety office and commander of the 704th Instrumentation Squadron.

Colonel Moody returned to this area last year and until his assignment as Director of Range Operations, he served as a special assistant to the after commander.

He is a graduate of the Air Force Institute of Technology and the Air Force Command and Staff School.

Pvt. Gary Riley Has Infantry Training

Army Private Gary L. Riley, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. William L. Riley, Route 2, Advance, N.C., recently completed nine weeks of advanced individual training at the U.S. Army Infantry Training Center, Ft. Polk, La.

He received general training as a light weapons infantryman and as a mortar and recoilless rifle crewman, in addition to specialized weapons instruction.

He also was taught the proper use of high explosives and the placement, detection and disarming of mines. Teamwork was emphasized while he learned to work as a member of a rifle squad, mortar squad or direct fire section.

Pvt. Riley is a 1970 graduate of Davie County High School.

ONE OF THESE GLASSES OF WATER CAN MAKE YOU ILL.

One of these glasses of water is healthy. The other is contaminated by sewage pollution. Can you risk a drink from this one?

The problem of sewage pollution is a real one to much of rural North Carolina. Many small water and sewer systems are not maintained properly. And often communities are over proliferated with septic tanks which lead to contamination of the water supply.

County-wide or regional water and sewer systems can provide a solution. $150 million are available from the recently passed Clean Water Bond Act. But this is only a small start. It is hoped that this money can generate over $800 million in the form of grants and loans from federal agencies specifically for the purpose of water and sewer development.

Your help is needed! Let your county commissioners know that you are interested in a plentiful and safe water supply. Or write us for more information.

Harold Erickson of Mocksville with his lovely wife and two pretty daughters considers himself "THE" lucky man and says "It's great to be alive". Erickson suffered a severe heart attack a couple of months ago and although his heart completely stopped beating four times, he lives to tell about it. He was a patient in the Coronary Care Unit at Davie Hospital for 13 days and until he is strong enough to return to his regular job, Erickson spends a great deal of time pursuing his favorite hobby, gourmet cooking, and singing the praises of the staff in the CCU.

Life Savers At Davie County Hospital. . .

Coronary-Intensive Care Unit

"It's great to be alive and I consider myself THE fortunate one."

These are the comments of Harold Erickson of Hardison Street, Mocksville, who just a few short months ago suffered a severe heart attack . . . and lived to tell about it.

"I can't pay the staff of Davie County Hospital's Coronary-Intensive Care Unit anything but the highest compliments," Mr. Erickson said with enthusiasm. "And the nurses are just wonderful and very devoted to their work. If they (the nurses) hadn't known what they were doing, I wouldn't be here today."

Just a little over a year ago, Davie County Hospital added the Coronary-Intensive Care Unit to the hospital and Harold Erickson is just one of many patients who is mighty glad they did.

He recalled the night he was admitted to the Coronary Care Unit with chest pain. He was immediately hooked up to a monitor that registered his every heart beat.

"That monitor saved my life," Erickson said, "and I can't say enough good things for it."

He explained that the severe attack came the following morning and the monitor gave the nurse the warning that saved his life. Mrs. Jean Snead, RN, happened to be the "lady on the spot", in Erickson's case. He told how his heart completely stopped beating four times . . . and four times he was shocked electrically with the defibrillator, which made his heart start beating again.

"Dr. Ray Hartness and Jean Snead really knew what they were doing," he complimented.

When Erickson began to get a little better, Dr. Kimberly asked him if the defibrillator "made him nervous."

"Just wheel it over here and I'll kiss it," was his grateful reply.

Mrs. Erickson, who works in the admitting office at Davie County Hospital, and their two daughters share the enthusiasm of her husband on the hospital's Coronary-Intensive Care Unit.

In addition to the excellent care, Mr. Erickson said the encouragement from all the nurses "really does upgrade your morale, and they always had a smile."

"They know you are sick and you know you are sick," he continued, "but they always manage to cheer you up with their personalized care."

Since the Coronary-Intensive Care Unit was added June 28, 1971, hospital records show there have been 201 admissions, 16 deaths, eight Cardio Pulmonary Resuscitations, which for all practical purposes were saved, and two complete recoveries (one of which is Harold Erickson).

"There were also 33 patients who were completely diagnosed as having heart attacks," said Mrs. Betty Hough, Head Nurse of the Unit. "They all completely recovered and have gone home."

Mrs. Hough also explained that there were numerous patients admitted to CCU (Coronary Care Unit) with chest pains for Head Nurse Betty Hough checks all the equipment to make certain it's functioning properly and Mrs. Potts can rest assured that she is getting the best possible care.

The Central monitor with EKG and rate meter is located in the nurses station and makes it possible to keep constant check on each patient.

Dr. Thomas M. Funk, 92, is wheeled out of the Coronary-Intensive Care Unit by Registered Nurse Barbara Carter. Dr. Funk suffered a hip fracture and due to the injury and his age, he required more personalized care than could be given him on the floor for the first couple of days. His treatment continues after being released from the ICU.

Lynn Tutterow, R.N., demonstrates how the defibrillator is used. In the event the patient's heart stops beating, the paddles are placed on the chest and the electrical current or shock treatment may start the heart to beating again, and has certainly been proven a life-saving device. Martha Richardson, LPN, is assisting Miss. Tutterow.

Registered Nurse Jean Snead checks Mrs. Sally Potts' blood pressure while Betty Hough, RN, observes her heartbeat on the bedside monitor. Mrs. Potts was in the process of being admitted to the Coronary Care Unit. There are never more than two patients in each room and all beds are wired so the monitors can be interchangeable.

Mrs. Martha Richardson, LPN, is shown reading an EKG at the central monitor in the nurses station of the Coronary-Intensive Care Unit.

Davie County Hospital's Coronary and Intensive Care Unit is a designated area designed, equipped and staffed to deal with patients whose medical or surgical problems demand a greater amount of nursing care and observation than would be possible on a general nursing unit.

Registered professional nurses and licensed practical nurses who have been specially trained to give skilled nursing care work in the unit. There are two on duty at all times.

Dr. Bob M. Foster serves as the director of the Coronary Care Unit and Dr. Francis W. Slate is the director of the Intensive Care Unit.

"All doctors on the staff work in the Coronary-Intensive Care Unit and also, for consulting purposes, we have Dr. Lynch Murphy of Salisbury," said administrator Bill Roark.

Mr. Roark revealed that it costs $75,000 per year to keep the unit in operation. "This includes the routine supplies, personnel and special equipment," he said.

Some of the special equipment and supplies in the CCU are the bedside monitor and a central monitor with EKG writer and rate meter at the nurses station for constant observation. This enables the nurse to get a write-out of what happens at the time it is actually taking place. By merely pushing a button, the nurse may get an EKG of the continuous 12 seconds prior to the problem and the eight occurring seconds. The rate meter works as an alarm system. If the rate gets too high or too low it automatically sends out a "buzz" warning to the nurse.

They are also equipped with a "crash cart" with emergency drugs and resuscitative equipment and pacemaking equipment.

Mrs. Hough commented that the emergency cart "contains everything that could possibly be needed to save a life."

"All electrical current used in the CCU is separately filtered and the transformer is separate from the rest of the hospital," Roark explained. "And we have an emergency generator here just like we have in the operating room."

The beds are different from the regular hospital beds. They are the stretcher-type beds, which prevents moving the patient too often, with a hydraulic system.

Each room is equipped with an emergency button that is connected to the nurses station outside the unit. This enables a nurse to get immediate help whenever there is a need. When this button is pushed a light comes on outside the unit and it sets off an alarm that can only be turned off in the CCU.

There are other nurses on the staff that have had enough training to help out in case of emergencies. The ones who are completely trained and are regularly assigned to the unit are Lois Call, LPN; Janis McDaniel, RN; Barbara Carter, RN; Annette Link, RN; Martha Richardson, LPN; Lynn Tutterow, RN; Jean Snead, RN; and Betty Hough, RN. Mrs. Betty Slaughter, Director of Nurses is also totally trained in this field and helps out whenever it becomes necessary.

The Emergency Room is also equipped with a portable defibrillator and monitor which is battery powered and may be used in transferring a patient. It is kept ready for use at all times. By simply laying the paddles on the patient's chest you can monitor the heart beat all the way to the CCU.

Mr. Roark told of an accessory to the present equipment that is scheduled to arrive at the hospital within the next six to eight weeks. It is a Telemetry Monitor, a direct result of the space program, that will be used as a weaning process after the patient leaves the CCU. The small monitor is about the size of a package of cigarettes and when attached to the patient will transmit by radio waves, to the monitor in the CCU.

"This will inform us as to how they (the patients) tolerate exercise after leaving the unit," Roark said.

The purpose of the Intensive Care Unit is similar to the Coronary Care Unit, but for those who are seriously ill for reasons other than their heart.

The ICU also provides a high level of nursing care for patients who require continuous comprehensive observation, and detailed, intensive care due to the seriousness of their illness or injury. This unit is used at any time a patient requires more care than could be given him on the floor.

The rules of the Coronary-Intensive Care Unit differ somewhat from the general hospital rules, but only because the patient is the main concern.

In order that the patient receive as much rest as possible, visiting is restricted to members of the immediate family only, one member at a time. Visiting hours are from 10 a.m. to 10:15 a.m., 1 to 1:15 p.m., 4 to 4:15 p.m., and 7 to 7:15 p.m.

Telephone calls from outside the hospital are not permitted and due to the limited space, flowers, gifts, radios, and television are not permitted. The patients may receive cards and they are permitted to keep their toiletries. No smoking is permitted by patients or visitors.

The hospital staff is aware that some of the regulations are likely to cause inconveniences to the family but they need this cooperation in order to reach the goal of returning the patient to a state of well-being as quickly as possible.

Center Fair Is Planned

Plans are being made for the Center Fair which will be held Saturday September 9 at the Center Community Building and Center Arbor on Highway 64 West of Mocksville. Judging of the exhibits will begin at 10:00 Saturday morning and there will be activity on the grounds throughout the day. Any resident of Davie County is eligible to enter exhibits in the fair.

There will be games and contest for children and adults in the afternoon. Otis Snow will have charge of the evening program. Pit cooked barbecue will be on sale all day and a barbecue supper will be served beginning at 5:00 p.m.

CCB Declares Stock Dividend

Directors of Central Carolina Bank & Trust Co., meeting in Durham last week declared a 100 percent stock dividend payable September 1, 1972, to shareholders of record August 15, 1972.

Prior to declaration of the stock dividend, 468,962 shares of the $5.00 par stock were outstanding. The September 1 distribution will result in 937,924 shares, par will remain at $5.00, and the Common Stock account will total $4,689,620. The directors also authorized transfer of $1,048,810 from Undivided Profits to Surplus. CCB total capitalization is now $15,984,810.

Assets in the 3B CCB offices totaled $235,945,000 on July 31, 1972, an 18 percent gain over the $199,932,000 on the same date last year. Loans totaled $133,101,000, a 20 percent increase. Income, before securities gains but after income taxes, totaled $426,000 for the first seven months of 1972, as compared with $1,042,000 for the comparable period in 1971, a gain of 37 percent. On a per share basis, net income before securities gains was $3.04 as compared with $2.22 for the first seven months of 1971.

President Paul Wright, Jr. told the Directors, "The excellent growth Central Carolina Bank experienced during all of 1971 is continuing in 1972. To give tangible evidence to the shareholders of this fine growth, the Board of Directors has doubled the bank's outstanding shares through payment of stock dividend. The outlook for the remainder of the year is bright and we expect our progress to continue."

In other action, the Board authorized an increase in the Surplus account, paid tribute to Apex Board Member Fred G. Cash, who died on June 10, 1972, and accepted with regrets the resignation of Denton Board Member Hiram H. Ward, who was recently named by President Nixon as Judge, U.S. Middle District Court for North Carolina, succeeding the late Judge Edwin M. Stanley.

Romie Chaffin Is Graduated

Romie Lee Chaffin, a Georgia Southern College student from Davie County, received a B. S. degree at the summer commencement exercises Tuesday, August 15 at 10:30 a.m. in the W. S. Hanner Fieldhouse on the GSC campus in Statesboro, Georgia.

Jack P. Nix, Georgia Superintendent of Schools, delivered the commencement address to the more than 400 Georgia Southern seniors and graduate students who were candidates for the commencement.

Presiding was Dr. Pope A. Duncan, GSC President. Georgia Southern Deans, Jack Averitt, Graduate School; Starr Miller, School of Education; Paul LaGrone, School of Business; and N. W. Quick, GSC Vice-President, presented the candidates to Duncan for graduation.

Special remarks were made to the graduates by Newelle Anderson, President of the Georgia Southern College Alumni Association.

Bermuda Run Swim Team Posts Victories

The Bermuda Run swim team topped the Elks Club swimmers in two contests, recently. Coached by Jim Bingham and his assistant Tom Perry, Jr., the team scored 290 to 207 points and took first place in 36 of 48 events.

In the first match at the Bermuda Run pool July 25, the home team outscored the Elks Club 142-97 and won 19 blue ribbons in the 24 events. Two other first place swimmers were disqualified.

Rain interrupted the second meet at the Elks pool on Aug. 1. After twelve events, the Davie County team was leading 76 to 51. The swimmers concluded the meet on Aug. 3 with the Bermuda Run team capturing the trophy. As a highlight to the event, winning coaches Bingham and Perry received a traditional dunking.

The Bermuda Run swimmers who took first place ribbons were: Britt Stoupe, Whitney Cudd, Susan Bridgen, Lisa Lane Cochran, Katherine Grissette, David Smith, Larry Thompson, Jackie Anderson, Barbara Dancy, Craig Hill, Bobby Brownlow, Kathy Thompson, Pam Rutledge, Jeannie Matthews, Tammy Stroupe, and Ken Dancy.

To celebrate the victory, an ice cream party was held at the Bermuda Run pool, Saturday night Aug. 5 for the swimmers and their families.

Davie Teams Win District Championship

Davie County teams have completed a sweep of the slow-pitch softball district championship held at Statesville.

Just as Melton Electric won the men's competition two weeks ago, a strong and determined Borden's team from Advance has blasted its way to the women's district title.

The Borden's team fought its way through the tournament to become the only undefeated team reaching the finals. After losing the first game of the finals to a powerful Star Mount team, Borden's rallied its forces for a 9 to 8 victory over the same Star Mount team to capture the district crown.

Borden's, sponsored by Bowen's Dairy Products, will now advance to Tarboro, N.C. where they will vie for the state championship to be held August 18-20.

Little League Champs Receive Trophies

Booklet Describes Fresh-Water Fishes

A fifty page booklet, titled "Some North Carolina Fresh-Water Fishes," is currently on sale for 25 cents a copy at the North Carolina Museum of Natural History.

Obviously worth many times the asked price, the booklet was jointly published by the State Museum Division of the North Carolina Department of Agriculture and the N.C. Wildlife Resources Commission.

Edited by Frederic F. Fish (no kidding) and illustrated by Duane Raver, Jr., the publication seems to make the species come alive. It is written in a style that appeals to the novice as well as the old pro.

Raver's realistic color illustrations make identification of the fish so easy, even the most uniformed land lubber would have no trouble. From bass to bream, gar to bluegill or catfish to carp, this 8 inch by 9 inch book has a creel full.

V. F. W. Auxiliary To Meet August 22

The V.F.W. Auxiliary, Post No. 4024 will meet Tuesday, August 22, at 7:30 p.m. at the V.F.W. Post.

Hickory Hill Labor Day Event

Qualifying is now underway at Hickory Hill Country Club for the Labor Day Four-Ball golf tournament to be held on September 2, 3, and 4. The tournament is open to all men golfers in the surrounding area. Entry forms may be obtained from the Pro Shop at Hickory Hill.

Crazy Golf Tournament At Hickory Hill Club

Entries are now being accepted for the Crazy Golf Tournament to be held at Hickory Hill Country Club on August 19. Tee time is 3 p.m.

The event is open to the men and ladies who are members. Prizes will be awarded to the winners in both events.

Swim Meet At Cooleemee

There will be a swim meet on Monday, August 21, at the Cooleemee Recreation Center Pool beginning at 7 p.m. Competition will be between the swimmers at the Cooleemee Pool and Hickory Hill Country Club.

There will be events for both children and adults.

"Flag Night" At Bowman Gray

Max Berrier and Alfred Hill, their grips tightened on bids for Bowman Gray Stadium 1972 championships, will try to continue their winning ways Saturday night in a 10-event "Flag Night" stock car racing program on the quarter-mile asphalt track.

Winston-Salem driver Berrier increased his lead in the track's Modified Division standings last Saturday night with a double victory in the Myers Brothers Memorial event, winning a 250-lap Grand National race and a 50-lap Modified race. Hill, of Jonesville sped to his fifth triumph of the season in a 25-lap Hobby race and widened his margin at the top of the Hobby standings.

A field of 80 to 90 cars is expected for Saturday night's 14th meet of the season at the municipal stadium. The "Flag Night" observance means that the first 1,000 children under 12 passing through the gates (they're admitted free with adult escorts) will be given checkered flags to wave during the races. The flags are 12 by 18 inches in size.

The track's Claiming (novice) Division will be returning to action, after being idle last week, and the imported compact sedans of the North State Mini-Stock Association will be an added attraction.

Yadkinville drivers Monroe York and Mitchell Warden are battling for the Claiming Division championship, with York just 34 points ahead of Warden in the standings.

The program will include two 10-lap heats and a 40-lap main event for the Modified cars, two 10-lap heats and a 20-lap feature for the Hobby Division, two 10-lap heats and a 20-lap feature for mini-stocks, and a 15-lap Claiming race.

Gates will open and practice runs will begin at 6:30 p. m. Saturday. The first race on the program is scheduled for 8:45.

NEEDLES AND "GRAVY"

In 1922 a seven million dollar grant from the Rockefeller Foundation enabled surgeons to help establish Peking's No. 3 hospital, affiliated with the Peking Union Medical College. Why is this worth mentioning? Because a unique, centuries-old Chinese medical practice that relieves aches and pain is being applied to Chinese surgery there. Called acupuncture anesthesia, the technique involves the use of needles inserted in key nerve points in the body. The needles are vibrated either by hand or by an electrical charge to induce a pain-killing foundation.

Fao Fahsang, a leading member of the revolutionary committee that runs the hospital, said acupuncture anesthesia is a "unique technique achieved by combining revolutionary scientific and traditional Chinese medicine." He said the technique is "a scientific and traditional Chinese medicine." He said the technique is "a scientific and traditional Chinese medicine."

FOUNDING OF JAZZ MUSIC

Jazz music can be directly traced to the spirituals and work songs which were sung on plantations in the South during the days before the Civil War. These eventually evolved into what is known today as jazz music. Jazz really came into its own in the early years of this century in New Orleans.

It was during this period that the jazz band of W.C. Handy flourished, and he is generally credited with being "The Father of the Blues." Many other jazz bands began to play during the 1920's and jazz was really on its way as an American way of life.

CORNATZER PEE WEE'S... were the regular season champions in the Davie County Pee Wee League with a record of 9 wins and 1 loss. The team went to see the Winston-Salem Red Sox play on Friday night, July 28. On Saturday afternoon, July 29, they played their fathers in a Father-Son ballgame after which they were given a supper by their parents at the Cornatzer United Methodist Church Fellowship Hall. Rev. Ardis Payne spoke and each team member received an individual trophy. Keith James received the Most Valuable Player award and Jeff Boger the Leading Hitter award (with a batting average of .502). Keith had a pitching record of 6 wins, 1 loss averaging 9 strike-outs per game giving up an average of 3 hits per game and hitting .404 to earn his award. He pitched one no-hit scoreless game. The team would like to commend the parents, the community and each one who gave their support to the team. They would especially like to thank Ray Boger for the good job he did as the League President.

The Pee Wee and Little League Braves were entertained at a cookout at Rich Park, Sunday afternoon. Hosts were Mr. and Mrs. Donald Lyons, Mrs. and Mrs. David Taylor and Mr. and Mrs. Kenny Osborne. The group enjoyed games after which they were served hamburgers, hotdogs, potato chips, Pepsi and ice cream. Those attending the cookout are pictured above. Kneeling, left to right: Stanley Randall, Barry Jones, John Kimberly, Steven McBride, Ricky Lyons, Marty Hendricks, Marty Smith, Scotty Smith and Junior Craven. Standing: Robert Graves, Chris Holman, Perry Owens, Mark Howard, Tom Drillette, Michael Shrewsbury, Aaron Miller, Dave Taylor and George Kimberly. Coaches: Kenny Osborne, Dave Taylor and Donald Lyons.

Mrs. Josie Freeman of Route 1, Cleveland was the winner in the "Cooleemee Giant Tomato" contest, sponsored by the Cooleemee Hardware & Sporting Goods Store. The contest closed August 15.

Mrs. Freeman grew two "Cooleemee Giant Tomatoes" which weighed two pounds, 10 ounces and two pounds 11 ounces. They measured 17 and 18 inches around.

The plants were raised by J.B. Collins of Woodleaf especially for the Cooleemee Hardware & Sporting Goods Store. Mrs. Freeman was presented with $10 for being the first place winner. Oscar Myers also turned in a "Cooleemee Giant" weighing two pounds nine ounces.

Cooleemee Youth Places In District Show

Hugh Gabbert, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Gabbert of Cooleemee is shown with his prize winning Jersey senior yearling.

Hugh has been showing dairy animals for the past several years. His best career show came August 12 at the Iredell County Fairgrounds, the site of the annual 4-H District Dairy Show.

Reception Honors Couple On Anniversary

Rev. and Mrs. Fred C. Shoaf were honored Sunday, August 6, at the Farmington United Methodist parsonage on their 25th wedding anniversary by their children, Richard, Timothy and Angela.

Approximately 150 guests called between the hours of 3 and 5 o'clock.

The guests were greeted by Mr. and Mrs. Francis Molsinger. Mrs. Foy Hege kept the register and Mrs. Robert Molsinger, Jr. and Mrs. Wayne Shoaf directed guests to the study where the many gifts were displayed.

The honorees were presented a cash gift toward the purchase of a new car by their churches, Farmington, Wesley Chapel, Mount Live and Huntsville. Many friends in the community joined in contributing to this love offering and this week the Shoafs are driving a 1972 Dodge Polara.

For the reception the dining room table was covered with a white lace cloth and centered with an arrangement of tiny pink and white mums flanked by white taper.

Cheese rings, tea balls, nuts and butter mints were served. Mrs. Robert Oakley cut the three-tiered cake and Mrs. Woodrow Long poured rose punch. They were assisted by Mrs. Clyde Shoaf and Mrs. Arthur Molsinger.

Rev. and Mrs. Shoaf were married August 2, 1947 at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Molsinger of Thomasville. Rev. C. O. Plyler performed the ceremony.

Counseling Program For FHA Implemented

On Thursday, August 3, 1972, HUD Area Director R.B. Barnwell and YVEDDI Executive Director, Jimmie R. Hutchens, formally signed an agreement for YVEDDI to conduct a Home Ownership Counseling Program so that more area residents will be able to secure home ownership loans from the Federal Housing Administration (FHA).

By providing a Home Ownership Counseling (HOC) service, citizens who have credit problems and thus cannot be certified for a FHA guaranteed loan may enroll in the HOC Program and be certified as eligible if family budgets are adequately adjusted and managed.

Special efforts will be developed to encourage and secure the participation of more private home building contractors in HUD's FHA programs, especially "235" and "237" which enables eligible families to secure home loans for as low as one percent annual interest. Also, the "236" program will be explored and presented to potential owners of rental homes and will enable "rental subsidy" to be provided so that no more than 25 percent of an eligible family's income is used to pay rent.

There will be a one half time HOC Counselor in each of YVEDDI's counties to provide the HOC services. Staff will be involved in intensive training so that interested families and contractors are efficiently served. Those interested in the HOC Program should contact their county's Community Action Program Office and ask for the HOC Counselor.

YVEDDI will be attempting to develop a similar program with the Farmers Home Administration and will be implementing avenues to assist the Northwest Housing Program and to develop a possible "basic home" program.

For further information call Jim Hutchens (919) 367-7251.

GRIEF

While grief is fresh, every attempt to divert only irritates. You must wait till it is digested, and then amusement will dissipate the remains of it. Johnson.

Gypsy Moth Found In Davie

Gypsy moths have been found in Davie County according to Commissioner of Agriculture Jim Graham. Positive identification of the gypsy moth was found at the Lake Myers Family Campground six miles west of Mocksville on US 64.

Graham said that over 5,000 survey traps were set across the state in June to try for early detection and that the moths were caught in these traps.

Graham said that more traps will be set and parasites released in Davie County and other locations in North Carolina in an attempt to wipe out the moths before they gain a foothold in the state.

The gypsy moth was introduced into this country at Medford, Massachusetts, in 1869 in an effort to build a domestic silk industry. The insect escaped into the wild and remained virtually unnoticed for twenty years. In 1900 the public first expressed concern over the defoliation that then was occurring in the northeastern states.

With increasing human mobility, notably automobiles, campers, and house trailers, gypsy moth eggs are being carried long distances. Egg clusters have been found attached to such vehicles as far south as Florida.

The gypsy moth occurs over a large portion of the hardwood forested areas from Maine to Pennsylvania, and egg clusters, larva cast skins and male moths have been found in several southern states along the Atlantic Seaboard. During 1971 male moths were trapped for the first time in eleven new counties and four cities in Virginia and at five locations in North Carolina.

The adults are harmless and do not feed; however, the larvae are ravenous feeders. The larvae will feed on approximately 200 species of plants, but the greatest damage occurs in oak-hickory forest types.

This week male moths were found in Orange, Davie and Dare Counties. The creature has brown wings with dark irregular markings. It has large feathered antennae. The female, larger than the male, does not fly. She has white wings with dark irregular markings. Anyone finding such an insect is asked to report it to the Entomology Division of the NCDA; U.S. Department of Agriculture personnel or county extension agents.

Area Students Enter University At Chapel Hill

The following students from Davie County are among the freshmen students entering the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill this fall:

Charlie Coy Barnes, Jr., of Route 2, Advance; Jennifer Diann Barnhardt of Route 7; Ricky Lee Hendrix of Route 1, Advance; David Russell Poplin of Magnolia Avenue, Mocksville; John William Rintz of Garner Street, Mocksville; Andy Thomas Sidden of Church Street, Mocksville; and Charles Scott Williams of Lakewood Drive, Mocksville.

About 19,200 students will begin classes Thursday, August 31. This includes 2,900 freshmen and 790 transfers. This year, the freshmen class includes 1,150 women and 1,750 men.

Both freshmen and transfer students have orientation sessions prior to the beginning of classes. The orientation programs include both academic and general activities.

This year, first semester ends on December 21 and exams are scheduled for December 12-21.

Social Security

Q. My wife and I both work and pay into social security. Aren't my wife's payments just a duplication that won't do anyone any good since she could qualify on my record?

A. Your wife's rights under social security are the same as yours. She can file for retirement and disability checks on her own record. Children could also be paid in the event of retirement, disability or death. She's building her full social security record, just as you are.

Q. I'm disabled and the doctor told me not to leave my home. Besides, I'm not able to go out anyway. How am I going to get to the Social Security Office and file my claim for disability checks?

A. You don't need to leave your home to file a social security claim. Most social security business can now be taken care of over the phone. Phone the Social Security Office at 633-6170 and they'll arrange to take your claim over the phone.

Q. Will I get my check faster if I file my social security claim over the phone, rather than go to the office?

A. No, but social security provides teleclaims service for your convenience and to save you time waiting in the office.

Tattle Tales

By Gordon Tomlinson

With all the robberies of homes in the area, this was bound to happen sooner or later.

It seems that a woman returned to her home one afternoon and saw a truck at the residence of her neighbor into which two men were putting her neighbor's television set. Going over she inquired of the two men if they were TV repairmen.

They said they were and then the woman asked:

"My television set is not working right either. Would you take it while you're here and fix it?"

And so with the woman aiding and abetting; another television was put into the truck.

And you can imagine the chagrin of this woman that evening when her neighbors returned home from work..... found their television set missing.....and called the law.

And, at last reports, she is still hearing about this episode from her husband.

D. J. (Nick) Mando, assistant principal at the Davie County High School, recently received a sympathy card from Harry Monsees.

This was because Harry's daughter was taking driver's education under Nick.

Davie County now has an "old jail" building and an "old, old jail" building.

Hugh Lawre has remodeled the first jail building for Davie County into a residence in which he now lives.

Recently he answered a knock on the door and found a man who said he "wanted to renew his driver's license."

Hugh explained that he was at the wrong place.

"Well they told me the office was located in the old jail building, and when I asked someone else where the old jail building was, he said this was it," replied the would-be driver-license renewer.

So Hugh proceeded to explain that his present residence was known as the "old jail" until the recent construction of what many term as the new "iron bar motel", which of course relegated Hugh's building for the ambulance service, driver examiner, etc., and became known as "the old jail".

Coast Guard Academy Accepting Applications

The United States Coast Guard Academy has announced that it is now accepting and processing applications for appointment as Cadet, U. S. Coast Guard, Class of 1977. Appointments to the Coast Guard Academy are tendered solely on the basis of an annual nationwide competition with no congressional appointments or geographical quotas. Applications for appointment must be submitted to the Director of Admissions, U. S. Coast Guard Academy, prior to December 15, 1972, and candidates must arrange to participate in the prescribed College Entrance Examination Board tests prior to or including the December 2, 1972 administration. The competition for appointment as Cadet is based on the candidate's high school rank, his performance on the CEEB (1) Scholastic Aptitude Test, (2) English Composition Achievement Test, and (3) either Level I or Level II Mathematics Achievement Test, and his leadership potential as demonstrated by his participation in high school extracurricular activities, community affairs or part-time employment. Most successful candidates rank in the top quarter of their high school class and demonstrate proficiency in both the mathematical and applied science fields.

To qualify for the competition, an applicant must be unmarried and must have reached his 17th but not his 22nd birthday by July 1, 1973. The minimum educational requirement is a high school diploma; however, high school seniors assured of graduation by June 30, 1973, are eligible to compete provided they have at least 15 credits by that time. Applicants must have completed three units in English, and three in mathematics including algebra and plane or coordinate geometry or their equivalents, and must fulfill the basic physical and moral requirements.

Coast Guard cadets obtain an excellent undergraduate education at no personal cost, and, in addition, receive pay and allowances fully adequate to fulfill all their ordinary living expenses. The constantly updated Academy curriculum offers liberal arts, engineering, and professional subjects, with a choice of thirteen academic options which include: general, ocean, marine, electrical, nuclear and civil engineering; mathematics; computer science; ocean science; physics; chemistry; history; government; and economics management. These areas of academic interest, combined with the varied elective courses, establish a solid foundation for a challenging career. Graduates of the Academy are awarded a Bachelor of Science degree and are commissioned as Ensign in the United States Coast Guard. Selected officers may pursue further postgraduate education and specialized training in many leading civilian and military graduate or professional schools in such fields as aviation, business administration, electronics, engineering, law, naval architecture and oceanography.

The young Academy graduate can look forward to a varied, exciting and demanding career as a regular Coast Guard officer. In wartime the Coast Guard functions as a specialized part of the Navy; however, in peacetime it performs essential humanitarian missions vital to the safety and saving of lives at sea. Under the auspices of the Department of Transportation, the Coast Guard establishes and conducts search and rescue operations by ship and plane, maintains advanced electronic and other aids to navigation scattered around the globe, operates the icebreakers which clear the way for all polar expeditions, enforces marine law and all aspects of Merchant Marine safety, and maintains a high degree of military readiness to fulfill its Naval and wartime commitment. Applications and additional information may be obtained by writing to: Director of Admissions, United States Coast Guard Academy, New London, Connecticut 06320.

Farm Tips

By Dr. J. W. Pou
Agricultural Specialist
Wachovia Bank & Trust Co., N.A.

An extension economist at North Carolina State University believes that greater price stability is essential for the orderly development of the meat industry.

Dr. John Ikerd called widely fluctuating pork and beef prices "damaging." They cause problems for producers, retailers and consumers.

"I know we have had fluctuating meat prices in the past, and the industry has grown. But we seem to be entering an era when businessmen and especially consumers are demanding more stability."

Ikerd pointed out that live hogs averaged $28 per hundredweight in February 1970 and $16 in December of the same year. Farm level prices for beef cattle have ranged from $26 to $36 in the last two years.

"The reason we get these damaging price cycles in pork, beef and other agricultural industries is because of the time lag between production decisions and the ultimate pricing of the product," Dr. Ikerd explained.

For example, if a hog producer decides today to increase production, it will be at least nine months before he has any additional hogs to sell.

"Unfortunately, many of the decisions to expand are made when prices are high," Ikerd continued. A producer may borrow money to add buildings and increase his herd size. By the time the expansion takes place, prices are down and the producer loses his entire operation. This is an undesirable economic waste."

The extension economist believes that meat producers have three general ways to cope with the ups and downs of prices.

One method is vertical integration, which is used extensively at present in the poultry industry but not in beef and pork production. Under this arrangement, feeding companies coordinate the feeding and slaughtering of the animals.

Another form of vertical integration is contract production. Contracts take many forms, but basically a producer is paid a certain amount per head or hundredweight for his labor and facilities regardless of market price.

Another defense against unexpected price changes is forward pricing, either in the form of cash contracts or futures contracts. The futures market allows producers and processor to price their sales or purchases long before actual delivery is made. Thus, production decisions can be made on the basis of known future prices.

And, in recent swine research, the importance of mother's milk in the protection of the newborn from viral infection has been underscored by a North Carolina State University research team headed by Dr. James Lecce. The study, which was conducted on baby pigs, indicates that antibodies in the milk may be as important in moderating infections of the infant as the antibodies in the blood.

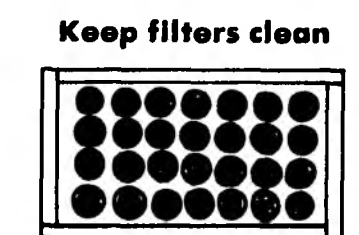

Dr. Lecce believes the findings could contribute to the argument in favor of natural nursing of the human infant. More direct application of the findings might be made in the livestock industry where one of the current trends is toward early weaning as a means of achieving greater economic efficiency in meat production.

These cool ideas can help you save electricity.

Sizzling summer heat causes you to use more electricity for air conditioning. But don't waste it; use it efficiently by following these simple hints.

Don't cool it too much
Set your thermostat to the highest comfortable temperature. For most people, it's about 76° to 78°. Each degree lower will add about 8% to your air conditioning cost.

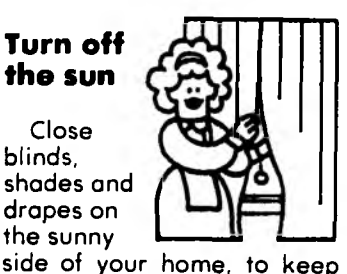

Keep filters clean
Clean or replace air conditioner filters once a month.

Your unit will run more efficiently, and the cooled air will circulate better.

Keep your cool indoors
Windows and outside doors should be kept closed when your air conditioning is on, to keep cool air from escaping outdoors.

Turn off the sun
Close blinds, shades and drapes on the sunny side of your home, to keep out the sun's hot rays.

Give your range a rest

Avoid using your oven and surface units any more than you have to. Cooking hot meals adds heat and moisture inside your home.

Control the heat-producers
Turn off heat-producing lights, irons, TV sets and other appliances when not really needed.

These simple suggestions will help you use your air conditioning wisely... and reduce your use of electricity.

Night And Day 'Greatest Gift'

Grandpa Brown and I stood on the overhanging bridge. A fading summer told us the sun was setting farther to the south each evening.

The last ray of the day's light was still fighting to remain alive. Then it, too, was gone!

We waited. Mostly silence. The brisk bite of the autumn air was refreshing. I pulled an extra portion into my lungs. The sheer ecstasy! Ours—a planet hemmed in with breathable atmosphere!

The stars began "popping out" here and there... a tiny one, fighting its way to be seen... another... then a larger one—a planet, perhaps.

The thrill of the chill air was exceeded only by the brightness of the stars.

Then it was dark overhead—very dark. The stars... made for man. Perhaps? Possibly man made for the stars.

The stars and their planets: whole worlds out there... and beyond. Socrates, years ago, watched these same stars.

So had David, the shepherd lad, and then as king... and Isaiah... and later, Jesus Christ!

And still later, Marco Polo... and later still, Galileo, the early astronomer, who called the voices of the stars "the music of the spheres."

Grandpa and I waited and watched. A fast moving train came into view, passed rapidly beneath, and was gone.

Two worlds! Yonder and here.

"Grandpa, tell me about the night," I pleaded.

He shifted his stance, but remained silent. Finally, he said:

"This is God's greatest gift—night and day: The night to cover the mistakes of each day. A new day for each tomorrow—a chance to begin anew... refreshed."

The stars were bright overhead.

Church Activities

FARMINGTON METHODIST

Farmington United Methodist Church will observe Homecoming Day Sunday August 20th.

The Pastor Rev. Fred C. Shoaf will bring the message at the 11:00 a.m. Worship Service. A picnic lunch will be served at the church at 12:30 p.m. following the morning service.

Revival services will begin at 8:00 p.m. Sunday evening and continue at the same hour each evening through Thursday August 24th. The Reverend Austin Hamilton, Pastor of First United Methodist Church, Mocksville will be the guest Evangelist.

Everyone is extended a cordial invitation to these special services.

Salem Methodist

The Salem United Methodist Church will have its annual homecoming Sunday, August 20, beginning at 10:00 A.M. with Sunday School. At 11:00 o'clock the pastor, Rev. Charles W. Sisk, will deliver the homecoming message. After the worship service the church will have lunch, picnic style, on the grounds.

There will be an afternoon singing program, with several singing groups participating. All former members and friends are cordially invited to come and share in these services.

BETHEL

Homecoming services are scheduled for the Bethel United Methodist Church, of Davie County, Sunday, August 20.

Church School will convene at 9:45 a.m. The morning worship service will be at 11:00 a.m. The Reverend George Rudisill, superintendent of the Thomanville District of the United Methodist Church, will be the guest preacher.

Lunch will be served after the morning service. An afternoon of singing will follow. Several groups are scheduled to be present to sing.

The congregation extends a cordial welcome to everyone to be present for these services.

The annual Homecoming Service for the Bixby Presbyterian Church will be held Sunday, August 27 at 11 o'clock.

Dinner will be served on the ground with an afternoon service following. The Rev. Kenneth Pollock pastor of the Rebecca Littlepage Presbyterian Church of Charleston, West Virginia, will be the Homecoming speaker for the 11 o'clock Service. His son, Douglas, who is a student at the Reformed Episcopal Seminary in Philadelphia, will be the afternoon speaker.

Special music will be arranged. The Rev. Roscoe Brown Fisher is pastor of the church.

JERUSALEM

Homecoming Services will be held at Jerusalem Baptist Church on Route 4 Sunday, August 20th.

A picnic lunch will be served at 1 p.m.

Visitors are welcome.

Car Wrecks In Dodging Trailer

A car went off the highway on the Lexington Road in Mocksville around 11 a.m., Monday.

The driver, Otis Melvin Webb of Lexington Rt. 3 was not injured.

Webb told investigating officers that he ran off the road to avoid hitting a large house trailer at the underpass.

An estimated $400 damage was done to the 1956 Chevrolet.

American Cafe Is Robbed

The American Cafe in Mocksville was broken in August 8th and approximately $3 in change and some candy was taken.

Entry was made sometime during the night through a small window in the rest room. A ladder was left at the window.

Mocksville Chief of Police Joe Foster and Dicky Groce are investigating.

Rep. Edward L. Powell, center, takes oath administered by Sen. Hamilton Horton and Judge Buford T. Henderson.

Edward Powell Becomes Forsyth Representative

Edward L. Powell, a young Winston-Salem attorney, was sworn into office last week as a state representative from Forsyth County.

Judge Buford T. Henderson of Forsyth District Court administered the oath of office, assisted by Sen. Hamilton C. Horton.

Powell, a native of Davie County, was named by Gov. Bob Scott to fill the unexpired term of Fred C. Farmer, who resigned to accept a position with U.S. Department of Agriculture in Greensboro.

He is also a Republican nominee in the general election Nov. 7 for a two-year term in the State House.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harrell Powell of Mocksville Rt. 1. He is a graduate of the

Kappa Homemakers Have Meeting

Thursday night, August 3rd, the Kappa Homemakers met at the Community Building at 7 p.m. for their monthly meeting.

As there was no planned lesson for this month everyone enjoyed playing and watching softball and just visiting together.

After the ball game, Betty and Vercie Prevette led the group in a "Kitchen Scramble" game. Ella Gray Smith won and was presented a gift.

Betty Prevette opened the business session with devotions. Minutes of the July meeting were read and 9 members answered roll call. There were 6 visitors present along with 4 children. Everyone was reminded of District Special Interest Day at Guilford College August 17 and 4 members reported that they planned to attend.

After the club collect, the group enjoyed a variety of cookies and snacks and Shasta drinks served by Mrs. Betty Prevette.

Announcement was made that the next meeting will be held September 14 at 2 p.m. at the Community Building. The lesson will be on Carpet Care by Mrs. West.

Young Cowboys To Mount Up

First, would be the way to describe the early summer Junior Rodeo at Love Valley. More people and more cowboys come to this rodeo than have ever attended before, according to Jet Barker. With the enthusiasm displayed by the cowboys and spectators, the second one promises to be bigger and better. The young spectators were most enthusiastic, pulling for their favorite cowboy or cowgirl. Bull riding seemed to be the most popular of the events held. The dates for the next extravaganza will be Saturday, August 19th at 8 p. m. and Sunday the 20th at 2:30 p. m. in the C. W. Henkel Corral, Love Valley, N. C.

CLEMMONS VILLAGE REAL ESTATE COMPANY Clemmons, N. C. 27012 Ann Hillebrand 998-4378 Carolyn Johnson 766-4777

Buy any new '72 Volkswagen from us and you won't have to pay a penny for service for 1 year/12,000 miles.

What the plan is all about: No manufacturer's warranty in the world covers normal maintenance work.

But our service plan does. With the service contract we're giving away you can get your engine tuned, your wheels aligned, and your brakes, fan belt and clutch adjusted whenever you need to, without spending a cent. Lube jobs are free. Spark plugs are free. Points, condensers, wiper blades, fuses, hoses, even light bulbs are free. We'll look for trouble, too. And you won't have to pay for the inspections, either.

Actually, for 12 months or 12,000 miles (depending on whichever comes first) you won't have to pay for any of the service you'd normally pay for, with a Volkswagen or any other car. Because, except for gas, tires and collision damage, your problems are our problems.

Now, what do we expect from you? You have to buy a new '72 Beetle, Super Beetle, Station Wagon, Square-back, Type 3, Karmann Ghia, Camptmobile, or 411 from us. You have to bring it back where you bought it every 3 months or 3,000 miles so we can maintain it according to Volkswagen's maintenance schedule.

And you can't modify, abuse or torture it. That's it. Except for one last detail. We can't make this offer indefinitely. So don't put off coming to see us. Wouldn't you rather kick our tires than kick yourself?

The 92nd Annual Masonic Picnic

Old Friends, Memories And Plenty Of Food And Fun

By Brenda Summers

What is it? Old friends, memories, fried chicken, country ham, potato salad, the merry-go-round, the swings, or bingo — all of these can be included in a description of the 92nd Annual Masonic Picnic Day.

The day, as always, was many things for all ages.

In a child's mind, the Masonic Picnic is almost as large as the World's Fair. There are so many things to ride and explore in such a short time. Soon it will be over and it won't be back for another year. Often it means saving up money a whole year just for the next Masonic Picnic.

As one grows older, the Masonic Picnic seems to change, as it does to keep up with the times, but the individual and the world also change to keep up with the times. The Masonic Picnic does not seem quite as large as it once was but it is still a special time, one to recall memories and renew old friendships.

Mr. J. Arthur Daniels had with him Thursday the first ticket he bought at the Masonic Picnic. He bought the ticket in 1894 and he had to pay 10 cents to get in. He recalled that the first Masonic Picnic he attended was in 1890. He was 6 years old then, and he did not have to pay to get in.

"I can remember hearing wagons go by our house before daylight. They were on their way to the Picnic," he said. "And three or four car loads of folks used to come over on excursion trains from Winston-Salem."

The picnic dinner was different then, he explained. "Two or three families would get together and spread their dinner under a tree."

"There is no comparison between now and then," he said. "The only ride back then was similar to a merry-go-round and it was called a 'flying jenny'. It was an old mule that was tied and walked in a circle. Only two could ride it at a time."

"The average boy only had 25 cents to spend. He had to spend 10 cents to get in. All they sold then was ice cream and lemonade. But a boy could have a good time on 25 cents," he explained.

Mr. Daniels said he still enjoyed coming to see old friends but only a few of those that he was friends with back then were still around.

Robert Bailey came down from Pennsylvania for the Picnic. Mr. Bailey, who was 84 years old, said he had been coming back for the past few years. He grew up in Davie County, and he attended the Picnic when he was a boy.

His brother, Marshall, came from Florida to attend the picnic.

The program seemed different without a featured speaker, but the Davie High School Band and the Oxford

The Davie High School Band performs.

The ground was the nearest available seat for these youth to enjoy the food.

Orphanage Glee Club provided plenty of entertainment before the lunch. Guest speakers were present from the Eastern Star, and Linda Goolsby "Miss Mocksville" also spoke to the crowd.

Food was abundant for the lunch. Fried chicken, potato salad, fresh garden vegetables, country ham, and all kinds of desserts filled the tables. Plates were filled as high as they could be without spilling over and most people seemed pretty full and content after the meal was over.

Entertainment continued under the arbor throughout the day with various groups performing.

The rides have left, another year will pass. And it will be time for the 93rd Annual Masonic Picnic. But there will still be memories of the 92nd Annual Masonic Picnic and those before it.

Guests from the Eastern Star were part of the Thursday morning program.

Mocksville Plans Annexation Of Two Areas

The Town of Mocksville has announced plans for the first phase of an annexation program that will bring some adjoining built-up area into the corporate limits of the town.

Areas to be annexed in first phase include Highway 601 North and Highway 158 East. The proposed areas will add a total of 298.06 acres to Mocksville with a tax valuation in excess of $1,200,000.

There are 96 residences and 8 business establishments in the areas to be annexed in this first phase.

A notice of public hearing on the question of annexation has been set for September 18th at 7:30 p.m. in the Town Hall. At this time the plans for extending municipal services to said territory will be explained and all persons resident or owning property in said territory and all residents of the Town of Mocksville will be given an opportunity to be heard.

The Highway 601 area being considered for annexation extends from the present town limits north to, and to include the property of S. W. Brown, Sr., on the east side of the highway; and the property of M. Angell on the west side of the highway. The property along Country Lane to the property of B. E. Dwigins is also included in the proposal. This area includes 143.06 acres, 54 houses and 6 businesses.

The Highway 158 area being considered for annexation extends from the town limits east to include the Horn Oil Company property on the north side of the highway and to include the Clyde Hendricks Furniture Company on the south side of the highway. The property on Milling Road, to and including the Penecostal Holiness Church, is also included as well as that of Circle Drive. This area included 155 acres, 44 houses and 2 business. At the present time there are approximately 700 residences in the town and 50 to 60 businesses. The proposed annexation would increase this number by about 14 percent.

The 1970 census gave the Town of Mocksville a population figure of 2,529. The proposed annexation would increase this number by more than 350.

"This is only one phase of our annexation program. Other areas are being studied and will be annexed as soon as possible", said Mayor D.J. Mando. "However, an area must be 60 percent built-up before we can consider it for annexation and we must also be able to provide full water, sewer and other town services to any area considered", he said.

(Detailed maps of the two areas to be annexed appear on Page 8)

The above map shows the present Town of Mocksville within the radius of the dotted line. The proposed areas to be annexed (US 158 area and US 601 area) are shaded. Detailed maps of these areas considered for annexation may be found on Page 8.

Contracts Awarded For Davie Hospital Construction

Contracts for the construction and renovation projects for the Davie County Hospital were awarded to the low bidders last Thursday.

The general contract was awarded to Hendrix and Corriher Construction Company of Mocksville.

The plumbing contract went to Plumb Mechs Corporation of High Point.

The heating, air conditioning and ventilating work was awarded to the Air Conditioning Corporation of Winston-Salem. The electric contract went to the Shell Electric Company of Statesville.

Including architect's fees, the total of the base contracts awarded amounted to $1,070,000.

W. E. Roark, Davie County Hospital Administrator, said that alternates and equipment contract are still to be reckoned with and it is estimated that these will amount to around $200,000.

Mr. Roark said that the general contractors, Hendrix and Corriher, said they expected to start work on the project within the next two weeks. The estimated completion time for the project is 15 months.

Cars Collide On Wilkesboro Street

Mocksville Police Chief Joe W. Foster investigated an accident Wednesday, August 16, at 12:45 p.m. on Wilkesboro Street. Sandra Jane Cope, 17, of Route 2, Advance, driving a 1962 Buick going east on Wilkesboro Street, started to turn left behind truck into the driveway of Lowe's Food. In doing so she turned in front of a 1966 Plymouth being operated by Cynthia Jane Glascock, 21, of Route 1, Mocksville and the cars hit head-on.

Damages were estimated at $500 to the Plymouth and $500 to her Buick.

There were no injuries. Miss Cope was charged with failure to see movement made in safety.

Marijuana Plants Found

Nine marijuana plants were reportedly found growing in Davie County last week.

Deputy Sheriff Lewis Jones and Deputy Junior Mauldin destroyed the plants that were found growing at the base of a power pole.

Masonic Lodge To Have Lecture

Mocksville Masonic Lodge No. 134 A.F.M. will have a Lecture Service August 23, 24, 25, 26, and 29. Service will begin each evening at 7:00 p.m. Clyde Glascock, CL, PM will conduct the Service.

Ingersoll-Rand Reports Gain In Income And Sales

Ingersoll-Rand announced today that second quarter sales and net income from operations were ahead of the corresponding periods of last year. Sales volume of $225.8 million was up 10.2. Net earnings were $18.4 million or $1.09 per share, up 6.9 from the $17.4 million or $1.01 per share of the second quarter of 1971.

For the six months, sales were $430.8 million against $393.2 million last year and net income was $34.8 million, up from $32.9 million. Earnings per share at $2.04 were 6.2 ahead of the $1.92 earned during the same period last year.

The results are before an extraordinary charge, expected to approximate $10 million after taxes, resulting from damages to several of the company's locations caused by floods resulting from Hurricane Agnes. Ingersoll-Rand plants at Athens, Pa. and Painted Post, New York, were severely damaged.

plants, reflecting this higher level of incoming orders. "The effect of the flood damage," he said, "will be to shift some involvements from the second and third quarters into the fourth quarter. Our present expectation is that third quarter earnings will be about the same as last year. We expect the fourth quarter to be especially strong as postponed shipments are recovered. We are thus optimistic that sales and earnings from operations will be at record levels for the year."

"Because of the additional manufacturing capacity that we have built in the past five years, we will be able to pick up the loss of production from the flood-damaged plants by shifting manufacturing and assembly to our other plants in the United States, Canada, and England. This additional capacity coupled with existing stocks in worldwide regional warehouses will enable us to take care of our customers' requirements."

"We are gratified," he continued, "by the tremendous spirit and morale which our employees have shown to get these plants back into operation as soon as possible. I personally commend them for their spirit and dedication in the face of personal losses and sacrifices resulting from the flood."

Davie Child Development Office Opens

The Davie County Child Development Office opened last week in the basement of the Davie County Court House with Mrs. Jean Bingham of Advance as County Coordinator and Mrs. Shirley Kimmer of Cooleemee as Secretary. The four (4) county centers for pre-school child care - Mocksville, Cooleemee, Smith Grove and Farmington - will be opened one at a time as the buildings are leased and renovated, and the center staffs are hired and trained. The Davie County Child Development Committee has chosen Smith Grove or Farmington to be the first operating center facility depending upon the number of staff the training center can handle at one time.

For the first year, the program will be limited to AFDC (Aid to Families with Dependent Children). Parents of these children should get in contact with the Social Service Department of Davie County to make application for their children to attend. The department will determine who is eligible.

Parents who are interested in employment in the centers should apply at the Child Development Office.

Photos Saturday

C.W. Robinson of Charlotte, professional photographer making individual photos for the Enterprise-Record, will return to this office on Saturday, August 28th, and will make photos from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Individuals not previously having photos made are urged to do so Saturday.

There is no obligation to having a photo made by this professional with more than 55-years of experience. Each person is furnished with proof for personal selection of retouched photo that will go into our files.

Davie Schools Open Monday

Davie County schools are busy with preparations for their opening next week.

The 183 professional personnel for the Davie schools will report Thursday, August 24th.

Students, about 4,300 of them will go a half day on Monday, August 28th for orientation. Buses will run at their regular time on this day, but pupils will be dismissed before noon. The Davie High School will dismiss on this day at 10 a.m., and the others on the arrival of the buses. During this morning the students will be assigned to their classes, issued books, pay fees and receive assignments.

The first full day of school will be Tuesday, August 29th. The regular lunchroom schedule will begin on this date.

Supt. James E. Everidge has urged the students to attend the first day so that work can begin immediately. He also cautioned children to be concerned with safety while riding school buses and to be careful not to get out in the road while waiting for the buses.

He also called attention of the motorists to the fact that buses will begin operating Monday and to watch for the children.

The school calendar for the year has May 30th listed as the final day of school excluding what may be required for makeup. Makeup days as needed will be added on to this date through June 8th.

Davie schools will observe September 4th, Labor Day, as a holiday. There will also be a school holiday on September 18th for the NCAE District Meeting.

Thanksgiving holidays will be observed Thursday and Friday, November 23 and 24.

Christmas holidays will be December 20 through January 1st.

January 19th will be observed as a holiday, Teacher Day. Easter holidays will be from April 20 through April 23rd.

Vandals Damage Construction Equipment

Vandals have wrought considerable damage to equipment of the Triangle Construction Company of Sparta.

This company is engaged in the construction of Dutchman Creek Watershed No. 10 on Sugar Creek, located near Pinebrook School.

Wires have been cut and pulled from motors, tires have been slashed, dirt put in gasoline tanks, and other damage done to equipment on the site.

It has been reported that the SBI has joined with local law officials in investigating the incidents.

Woman Injured

Phyllis C. Myers, 22, of Mocksville Rt. 6 suffered injuries Sunday on her way home from church when her car went out of control and wrecked on the Liberty Church Road.

The accident occurred around 12:30, Sunday. Miss Myers was taken to the Davie County Hospital where she was treated and released.

"Annie" (The Deer) Sequel

"Little Orphan Annie" is now over a year old. Found by Roy Carter over a year ago, the "baby deer" was fed with a baby bottle as it soon became a pet of the Carter household. In November of last year we carried a special feature on "Little Orphan Annie." This week there is a sequel...and it appears on our feature page...Page 1-B. As shown in the above picture, "Annie" has never been penned or fenced...but has now roamed around the Carter farm for over a year.

Family Income In Davie Shows Big Gain

Davie's County economy moved into higher gear during the past year, according to a copyrighted report on business activity, just released by Sales Management.

The stronger showing was due, in the main, to the fact that local consumers had more money available to them than in the previous year, thanks to rising incomes, and less reluctance about spending it. They cut down somewhat on their rate of saving and returned to the market place to purchase some of the big-ticket items that they had been putting off buying.

The extent of this spending and its effect on retail business in the area are brought out in the report, which is entitled "Survey of Buying Power." It presents comparable data on income and spending for localities in all parts of the nation.

It shows that net earnings in Davie County were relatively high in the year. Local residents had a disposable income after paying their personal taxes, of $57,519,000, as against the prior year's $51,714,000.

What this represented, for the individual family, was found by dividing the dollar amount by the number of households. The average was $9,537, a gain over the 1970 average of $8,765.

The gain, 9.4 percent, was greater than elsewhere in the United States, 7.2 percent. The South Atlantic States rise was 8.1 percent.

With more money at their command, despite inflation, and with a more optimistic feeling about the economy, local residents regained some of their confidence and began to spend more freely.

As a result, the year was a good one for most local merchants. They chalked up a sales volume of $22,862,000, beating the previous year's $21,887,000.

Each community is given a rating in the survey, based upon the amount of retail business actually done as compared with its estimated full capacity.

This is done through an "index of buying power," a weighted figure that takes into account income, population and sales.

Davie County's index rating is .0075, indicating that it is believed capable of producing that percent of the nation's retail business.

Since less than that was done in the past year, .0058 percent, the conclusion is that a fair amount of the local purchasing potential is yet to be achieved.

Fire Does Extensive Damage To Cooleemee U-Stop-N-Grill

The U Stop N Grill in Cooleemee was damaged extensively as flames engulfed the interior of the establishment Monday night around 11 p.m., shortly after proprietor Norvin Brogdon had closed. No one was in the grill at the time of the fire.

Robert Foster, owner of the building, estimated the damages to be between $20,000 and $25,000. There was a tremendous amount of damage to the operating equipment and interior furnishings, in addition to the building itself.

Grant Spillman of Spillman's Ezzo Service, located next door to the grill, turned in the alarm after being informed by an unidentified motorist of the smoke coming from the cafe. Grant and his brother Roger just happened to be working on a car after hours and turned in the alarm before the building was completely destroyed.

Foster said the fire presumably started in the stockroom around the hot water heater. He also said the building and interior will have to be completely re-worked and he would not speculate on a re-opening date at this time.

Both Foster and Brogdon complimented the Cooleemee and Jerusalem Fire Department on doing such a fine job and also expressed their appreciation for the promptness of the departments.

Brogdon had only been operating the business for the past six weeks.

Construction Bids Sought For Watershed Projects

Bids will be received August 30, 1972, for construction of two earthfilled flood control dams. Both structures are located in the northwest part of the County. Dam No. 2 will be located above State Road No. 1327. The surface area of the lake will be 40 acres and the height of dam is 34 feet. Dam No. 5 is located above State Road No. 1330. The pool area is 17.5 acres and the height of the dam is 36 feet. At flood stage the dams will store 1134 acre feet of water.

Nine dams are planned for the project. Four more dams and stream channel improvement will be needed to complete the construction phase of the Dutchman Creek Watershed Project. Land treatment needed to control erosion and to protect the work of improvements have been given the highest priority by the sponsors of the project. Adequate conservation protection of the upland is behind schedule in certain areas.

Sponsor's of the project are the Davie Soil and Water Conservation District, Iredell Soil and Water Conservation District, Yadkin Soil and Water Conservation District, Davie County Board of Commissioners and the Dutchman Creek Watershed Improvement District. Technical assistance is being provided by the N.C. Forest Service and the Soil Conservation Service.

At scene of accident the Spillman Buick.

Vets Receive Boost For "Wheelchair" Homes

A boost of $5,000 in grants for the purchase of "wheelchair homes" by eligible disabled veterans is the second hike in this program in three years, H. W. Johnson, Director of the Veterans Administration Regional Office, reported today.

Effective July 10, when it was signed by the President, Public Law 92-341 authorized VA to pay fifty percent of the cost - up to a limit of $17,500 - toward the purchase of homes for veterans whose service connected disabilities cause them to need wheelchair ramps, hand rails or other special features especially adapted to their needs.

The grants were limited to $10,000 when the program was started in 1948, and were raised to $12,500 in June 1969.

Johnson said more than 12,000 veterans have received grants under the program during its 24 year history, for a total of $121 million. During Fiscal Year 1972, 564 grants were made for a total of $6.9 million.

Johnson explained that the grants are provided to pay part of the costs of construction, purchase or remodeling of homes for these veterans.

Not all disabled veterans are eligible for the grants, Johnson explained. One example of a qualifying disability would be the loss of - or the loss of use of - legs, making it difficult for the veteran to move without braces, crutches, canes or a wheelchair.

Johnson noted the disability must be total and permanent and must be connected with military service.

Additional information on the "wheelchair home" grants is available at all VA offices and from veterans service organizations.

Commissioners Honor Bolton

The bonds for the renovation and addition to the Davie County Hospital will be sold September 26, 1972. This report was made to the board of county commissioners at their meeting Monday night.

All members of the board, the county attorney, and the county manager were present for the meeting.

In other business, the board heard a progress report on the Davie County Community Service Center project. Lonnie Tutterow, ambulance supervisor, reviewed the specifications for a new ambulance which will be purchased in the very near future by the county.

The commissioners also adopted the following resolution concerning the passing of Neil Bolton:

WHEREAS, the Board of County Commissioners desire to record their deep sorrow at the death of a distinguished citizen of North Carolina, founder and secretary of the Northwest North Carolina Development Association, and a community leader in this area, be it:

RESOLVED, that the Board of County Commissioners of Davie County hereby give formal expression of the grievous loss in the death of Neil Bolton and does hereby record in its records the passing from this life of a man who was esteemed by those who knew and worked with him, loved by his friends, and respected by all.

RESOLVED FURTHER, That a copy of this Resolution be tendered to his family as a humble expression of the Board's heartfelt sympathy in its bereavement.

School Bus Routes

Davie County school bus driver's will pick up their buses Friday, August 25 at 9:00. On Monday, August 28, drivers will begin their routes; school will dismiss at 10:30 Monday since this is registration and orientation day. Parents who have moved into Davie County or have moved within the county should call the principal of the school their child will attend for information on school buses. With the following exceptions, bus routes will be essentially the same as last year:

Pinebrook Elementary

Buses No. 1 and 37 will terminate their routes at Pinebrook; they will not come to Davie High School.

Bus No. 24 will have the route that bus 31 had last year. Bus 24 will come from Pinebrook to the high school for its second load.

Bus No. 32 will have the route that was bus No. 35 last year. Bus No. 32 will make a second trip from Pinebrook to the high school.

Bus No. 24E (until new No. 50 arrives) will be a new route. 73 school year and their respective schools served:

4-Way Test Discussed For Rotary

The Rev. Charles Bullock discussed the Rotary 4-Way Test for members of the Mocksville Rotary Club, Tuesday.

Mr. Bullock took the test, adopted by Rotary International in 1948 as a measurement for actions, and applied it as a means of self evaluation.

The 4-Way Test is as follows:

1. Is it true?

2. Is it fair to all concerned?

3. Will it build good will and better friendship?

4. Will it be beneficial to all concerned?

"I subscribe to this test for self evaluation, but I would also add to it: Am I a good neighbor?"

President Wayne Eaton presided. Special piano music was played by Mrs. Diane Anderson.

Ceremony Saturday At First Baptist Unites Couple

Miss Jann Carol Barber and James Worth Pickering were married Saturday afternoon, August 19, at First Baptist Church. Rev. Charles E. Bullock officiated at the half past two o'clock double ring ceremony.

Mike Hendrix, organist, presented the wedding music. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vance Graham McGugan of 835 Halander Drive, Mocksville. She is a graduate of Davie County High School and will be a junior at Guilford College this fall. She is a granddaughter of Mrs. Robert L. Hartman of 1434 North Main Street, Salisbury and the late Mr. Hartman and of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas D. Barber of Salisbury.

The groom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Myron Pickering of 2025 Floral Drive, North Graylin Crest, Wilmington, Delaware, is a graduate of Brandywine High School in Wilmington, Delaware. He will be a senior at Guilford College this fall. He is a grandson of Mrs. Frank Pickering of Rye, N.H., and the late Mr. Pickering, and of the late Allen Jay of Cincinnati, Ohio, and the late Mrs. E. Brown Jay of San Bernardino, California.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of organza and Venice lace and long Bishop sleeves. The skirt of the gown was trimmed in lace with a chapel length train bordered with lace. Her elbow length veil was edged in Venice lace, and she carried a cascade of carnations surrounded by gypsophylla and pom poms.

Miss Martha Ann Qualheim of Elkin attended as maid of honor. Bridesmaids included Miss Natalie Pickering, sister of the groom, of Wilmington, Delaware; Miss Kathy Shore of Mocksville; Miss Ingils Holcomb of Mount Airy; and, Mrs. John Edward Petree of Greensboro. They wore full length dresses of rose colored bodices with long sleeves and multi-colored skirts. They carried white baskets filled with mixed summer flowers and greenery.

Miss Keena McGugan, sister of the bride, was flower girl. Her dress was fashioned identical to the attendants and she carried a basket of mixed flowers.

Richard Craig Smith of Raleigh was best man. Ushers were John Shirley Lord, Floyd Eugene Rees, Jesse Maxwell Corum, IV, and John Edward Petree, all of Greensboro, and, Earl James Robinson of Lewisburg, Penn.

RECEPTION

A reception given by the bride's parents in the church Fellowship Hall followed the ceremony.

The bride's table was covered with a white cloth with net overlay and centered with a four tiered wedding cake. The refreshment table was covered with a white lace cloth and an arrangement of multi-colored flowers with silver candelabra and pink candles was also used.

Mrs. Bill Foster served the wedding cake after the bride and groom cut the traditional slices. Mrs. James Everidge poured punch and Miss Hope Hall assisted in serving dainty sandwiches, cheese wafers, nuts and decorated mints. Miss Anne Essie and Miss Karen Frye presided at the register. The guests were greeted by Mr. and Mrs. Lester P. Martin, Jr. Mrs. Gordon Tomlinson and Mr. and Mrs. James E. Kelly, Sr. received. Mr. and Mrs. D.J. Mando introduced the guests to the receiving line and goodbyes were said to Mr. and Mrs. Jack Ward.

For travel, the bride changed into a green and white polyester dress with white accessories and her corsage of white carnations was lifted from her bridal bouquet.

Upon their return, the couple will live in Frazier Apartments in Guilford College.

REHEARSAL DINNER

The groom's parents were hosts at an after-rehearsal dinner for the wedding party Friday night at the Kona Kai Lounge in Winston-Salem.

The U-shaped table was covered in white linen with gold napkins. A centerpiece of yellow and white summer flowers was used.

Guests included the wedding party, Rev. and Mrs. Bullock, and Mrs. Robert Hall and Miss Hope Hall who helped direct the wedding.

The couple chose this occasion to present gifts to their attendants.

OUT-OF-TOWN GUESTS

Co-Chairman Named For Democratic Dinner

State Representative Claude DeBruhl of Asheville and Don Blackwell of Brevard, a Transylvania party official, have been named co-chairmen for the annual Vance-Aycock Dinner, a $50-a-ticket Democratic Party fund-raising function scheduled in Asheville on September 29-30.

State Democratic Party Chairman John Church announced the selection of DeBruhl and Blackwell.

The two-day party affair, a fixture in the annual schedule for North Carolina Democrats since 1960, is expected to draw hundreds of party officials and grassroots party workers.

Detailed plans for the two-day event, climaxed by the Dinner on September 30, will be announced later by the Dinner Co-Chairman, Church said.

DeBruhl, 57, is seeking a third term in the General Assembly from Buncombe County. A farmer, publisher, and builder, he was a Navy flyer during World War II.

Blackwell, 37, is a member of the State Democratic Executive Committee from Transylvania County. A mechanical contractor, he is active in civic affairs, a member of a committee planning a stadium at Western Carolina University.

East Davie Ruritan Meeting

The East Davie Ruritan Club will meet Thursday, August 24th, at 7:30 p.m. in the Cornatzer United Methodist Church Fellowship Hall.

Mrs. Vernice Fulcher, Social Security representative, will be the guest speaker.

Temple Davis holds 5 lbs. of tomatoes that grew together on one stem on a plant in the garden of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Smith of Farmington. The largest of the tomatoes measures 20-inches in circumference; another measures 19 inches; and the third 12 1/2 inches. Mrs. Charlotte Smith said the tomatoes were not only some of the largest, but the arrangement on the one stem was the most unusual she and others had ever seen on a tomato plant.

"Wet" Cars May Be Sold In North Carolina

Caveat Emptor (Let The Buyer Beware). Not if the Dealer Members of the North Carolina Independent Automobile Dealers Association (NCIADA) can help it.

As a result of floods caused by Hurricane Agnes in Virginia, District of Columbia, Maryland and Pennsylvania, "wet" cars could find their way into the south and into North Carolina.

In an effort to deal with this potential problem the Executive Committee of NCIADA instructed the public information office of the Association to:

1. Alert its Dealer Members regarding the potential problem and instruct them on how to identify a flood damaged automobile.

2. Use the available media to inform potential buyers of used cars in North Carolina as to the pitfalls in buying "wet" cars, and what to look for in identifying them.

3. Cooperate with the North

New Church In Smith Grove

Stabilization Publications Announced

Greensboro-Citizens who want current information on the Economic Stabilization Program were invited today by IRS Director J. E. Wall to telephone for free pamphlets. The pamphlets are designed for the consumer and the businessman and discuss in lay language the legal terms of the law as well as rulings issued by the Cost of Living Council, the Price Commission and the Pay Board.

The toll free numbers to call are 800-822-8800 for all North Carolina residents except Greensboro proper. In Greensboro, dial 275-0565.

Wall asked that the public request the pamphlets by number and enumerated those with the broadest interest: Pub. S-3004 Information for Retailers and Wholesalers. Pub. S-3011 Legal Price Increases Under Economic Stabilization. Pub. S-3012 Construction Industry Pay and Price Controls. Pub. S-3014 Price Control and Health Care Services. Pub. S-3016 Wearing Apparel Price Controls. Pub. S-3017 Service Organizations and Price Controls. Pub. S-3025 Rent-Controlled Housing. Pub. S-3031 Restaurants and Price Controls. Pub. S-3038 Exemption of Small Government Units. Pub. S-3037 Exemption of Small Business. Pub. S-3039 Wage and Salary Controls. Pub. S-3044 Supplemental Rent Guidelines.

Pedestrians More than 319,000 pedestrians were injured in traffic accidents in 1971, says The Travelers Insurance Companies. Of this toll, approximately 85,000 were injured while crossing between intersections.

JESSE HELMS: A CITIZEN-SENATOR

"Jesse Helms is not one of your back-slapping, hand-wringing, affable garden variety political office seekers." — Virginian Pilot 7/2/72

Dr. Daniel M. Lotz, the former UNC basketball star and son-in-law of evangelist Billy Graham, recently wrote about Jesse Helms that he had devoted a lifetime of witnessing his faith in America — "and not by words alone."

Jesse Helms, Dr. Lotz pointed out, was the prime mover in establishing Camp Willow Run, a youth camp for Christ in Littleton. The Freedoms Foundation at Valley Forge has given him two awards. The Southern Baptist Convention honored him this year with its Abe Lincoln Award because of his work for crippled children.

Jesse Helms is that kind of man. Working. Doing. Getting things done, not just talking about the problem.

All his life, Jesse Helms has worked to make things better than he found them. We need a man like that in Washington. As Dr. Lotz put it: "A man with the Christian strengths possessed by Jesse Helms is the kind of man we need to elect and support."

YES, I believe in Jesse Helms and I want to help elect him as our Citizen-Senator. I'm enclosing my contribution of:

Bill Ijames Speaks To Club

Bill Ijames, a candidate for one of the three House seats of the 30th District of the North Carolina House of Representatives composed of Davie and Davidson gave a speech recently to the Cooleemee Lions Club.

The following is the text of his speech:

First let me make a few remarks about my background. I have several relatives in Cooleemee of the third of fourth cousin variety. My Great Grandmother and Grandfather Gaither and Alice Brown Ijames ran a boarding house in Cooleemee around 1890-1900. My father, Grady Ijames, worked at the Cooleemee Cotton Mill around 1920. Mr. Crawford may have known him. My father must not have liked the work because after one year he moved to High Point to become an upholsterer first at the furniture plants there and later he opened his own business in Greensboro.

I was born in Greensboro as noted on my card and we moved back home, as Daddy called it, to Davie County when I was 15.

Mr. Prim asked me to talk about the major problems facing the next legislature. But first let me answer one question I am always asked. That is why are you running? I have always been interested in politics and serving the people. There are many bad things that can be said about politicians but also many good things as there are good and bad in all vocations. Probably the main area of concern of the next legislature will be Government Economy. Skipper Bowles our candidate for Governor says there will be no new taxes. It appears likely that the people of North Carolina will not stand for any new taxes. Therefore we have to have greater economy in our state government and a re-ordering of priorities.

One thing that should be studied is the possibility of a Civil Service system for North Carolina State Employees to cover the highest level. We need the best qualified people working for us and I suppose I should not say this but too many political cronies have been appointed in the past to jobs they are not qualified for.

Always one main area of concern is our schools. Hopefully the last legislature settled for the next twenty or thirty years our State University System. Skipper Bowles is strongly in favor of Vocational Education and much greater emphasis has to be placed on that as there is a crying need for skilled carpenters, brick masons, electricians, etc. However, Skipper may have gone a little overboard as we have a higher percentage going to college of the non-technical nature and he was going, it seemed, to put some of these in a technical area. We do not want to force people away from college.

Teachers pay, as a legislator, I am in favor of increased pay in order to have good teachers and a strong profession, but with only so much money I would probably have to give them less than the National or State Teacher Organizations want. We need to put greater priority into having kindergartens available, if possible now, for every North Carolinian of that age.

Government Reorganization - It will be the job of the next legislature to see that the government reorganization is smooth and to iron out the rough spots. This task could take a little time or perhaps most of the session.

The Insurance Industry - As a lawyer let me say that the next legislature will probably vote for some type of no fault insurance. I shall favor a form with proper safeguards and limits which will help the public in general and not be a windfall for the insurance industry or lawyers. Other legislation is needed to stop cancelling of policies without cause, and the increasing of rates without proper study. Robert Morgan is serving the public well by showing that some of the industry figures are not necessarily right because the industry says they are.

Cooleemee is an example that much industry hunting still needs to be done. It looks like Burlington Industries is almost completely closed here. We need to work to find a replacement. In North Carolina we have the money, resources, talent to develop new industries of our own. In our search by the State Government, Governor and Legislators, we need to find new industry that pays well and not just industry that comes to escape high wages and unions. North Carolina will never rise from the bottom per capita wise without strong new industry.

Liquor-By-The-Drink - Hopefully this issue will not come up to plague the legislature as it has the last three or four sessions. If it does, by the court decisions it appears to me that we need a state-wide referendum which would vote on allowing votes for local option liquor by the drink. Davie County does not need liquor by the drink. On ABC stores, our Republican Representative Donald Bingham defeated allowing the people of Mocksville to vote on ABC Stores. I would not do this. Parks Development - A few months ago I went to Washington, D. C., to help represent Davie County Landowners where parks were being thrust down their throats. Do not get me wrong, we need more parks but not over objecting landowners. A recent survey by radio station WDSL showed that the prime concern of Davie Countians is recreation facilities for teenagers. We need more parks but they should be done right. And the bill dealing with parks passed by the last legislature needs some changes.

Annual Sessions - They are probably coming but the public will have to realize that they will cost more money.

One last thing as a point of information I am running in the 30th House District of the North Carolina House of Representatives composed of Davie and Davidson. There are three seats with six running, three Democrats and three Republicans. The other two Democrats are Tom Johnson of Thomasville and Dick Lowder of Lexington. The Republicans are Gilbert Boger of Davie, Joe Hege of Davidson and Jim Mashburn of Davidson.

New Job!

Johnny O'Neal, formerly with the Davie County Sheriff's Department, is now associated with the North Carolina Department of Correction at the Davie County Unit.

Mrs. Mattie Tucker recently suffered a broken wrist from a fall.

What Are Policemen Made Of?

A policeman is a composite of what all men are, a mingling of saint and sinner, dust and deity. Cuffed statistics wave the fan over the stinkers, underscore instances of dishonesty and brutality because they are "news". What that really means is that they are exceptional, unusual, not commonplace.

Buried under the froth is the fact: Less than one-half of one-percent of policemen misfit that uniform.

That's a better average than you'd find among clergymen.

What is a policeman made of? He, of all men, is at once the most needed and the most unwanted.

He's a strangely nameless creature who is "Sir" to his face and "fuzz" behind his back.

He must be such a diplomat that he can settle differences between individuals so that each will think he won.

But... If the policeman is neat, he's conceited; if he's careless, he's a bum.

If he's pleasant, he's a flirt; if he's not, he's a grouch. He must make, in an instant, decisions which would require months for a lawyer.

But... If he hurries, he's careless; if he's deliberate, he's lazy. A policeman must know everything—and not tell.

He must be able to start breathing, stop bleeding, tie splints and, above all, be sure the victim goes home without a limp.

Or expect to be sued. The police officer must know every gun, draw on the run and hit where it doesn't hurt.

He must be able to whip two men twice his size and half his age without damaging his uniform and without being "brutal".

If you hit him, he's a coward; if he hits you, he's a bully. A policeman must know everything—and not tell.

He must know where all the sin is—and not partake. The policeman must, from a single human hair, be able to describe the crime, the weapon & the criminal—and tell you where the criminal is hiding.

But... If he catches the criminal, he's lucky; if he doesn't, he's a dunce.

If he gets promoted, he has political pull. If he doesn't, he's a dullard.

The policeman must chase bum leads to a dead end, stakeout ten nights to tag one witness who saw it happen—but refuses to remember.

He runs files and writes reports until his eyes ache to build a case against some felon who'll get dealt out by a shameless shamus or an "honorable" who isn't.

The policeman must be a minister, a social worker, a diplomat, a tough guy and a gentleman.

And, of course, he'll have to be a genius... For he'll have to feed a family on a policeman's salary.

PAUL HARVEY says, "Don't credit me with this mongrel prose; it has many parents; at least 430 thousand of them: all POLICEMEN!"

Mrs. G.H. Ellis, Miss Nancy Ellis and Miss Angela Shoaf vacationed at Surfside Beach S.C. Monday thru Thursday of last week.

Miss Patricia Brock of Asheville visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Burr C. Brock Jr. during the weekend. Miss Brock is a Hospital Staff Therapist in the St. Joseph Hospital in Asheville.

Mrs. William Scholtes and her daughter, Mrs. Vincent Spracklin and granddaughters Ann and Martha Spracklin of Winston-Salem were the guests of the Lashley families Thursday at a noon day cook out. The occasion was Mrs. Spracklin's birthday anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Tucker of Winston-Salem visited his brother G.N. Tucker and Mrs. Tucker Sunday afternoon.

Miss Eloise Ward visited her sister, Mrs. W.F. Ferebee in Center Sunday and enjoyed the birthday anniversary celebration.

Mr. and Mrs. Billy Ellis of Clemmons, Mr. and Mrs. John T. Brock and family of Mocksville along with many other friends and members attended the homecoming at the Farmington United Methodist Church, Sunday.

Wednesday morning at ten o'clock the senior citizen Davie Golden Age Club met in the Rotary Hut with thirty-eight present. Visitors were introduced, they were, Mrs. R.P. Martin Jr., Mr. Perry Williams, Minister of Music and the Youth of the Mocksville First Baptist Church, Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland, Mr. and Mrs. Goolsby of Georgia, and Mrs.

Edna Griffin of Davie County.

After two hymns were sung by the group with Mr. Williams at the piano, he played softly "Wonderful Words of Life" prefacing the devotionals by Mrs. Martin. She used as her theme Wonderful Words of Life. She displayed the following words on individual cardboards as she discussed meaningfully each word: Bible, Christ Faith, Growth, Influence, Heaven, Joy, Love, Praise, Prayer, Learning, Overcoming, Trust, Today, Witness, Work, World, and Worship and Horizon. She closed with leading the group in singing "Wonderful Words of Life".

For the program Mrs. Ruth Preston introduced Mrs. Earl Barker, the sponsor for Miss Mocksville, who in turn introduced the attractive Miss Mocksville, Miss Linda Goolsby. She with smooth and graceful rhythm performed her original dance, the one she used in the recent contest.

After singing the theme song the Club was dismissed with prayer by Mr. Latta Ralledge.

Day - Long Train Excursion Planned

Southern Railway's famous steam locomotive number 4501, one of the few active steam locomotives in the country, will chug out of Winston-Salem on Sunday, September 17 to begin a day-long, old time round trip railroad excursion. The outing, sponsored by the Winston-Salem Chapter, Inc. of the National Railway Historical Society, will depart Union Station in Winston-Salem at 8:00 A.M. for a trip to Charlotte and return via Barber and Mooresville arriving back in Winston-Salem at 6:30 P.M.

The highlight of the excursion will, of course, be the motive power at the head of the train. One of the last Mikado engines still in operation, locomotive 4501 was built for the Southern by the Baldwin locomotive works in 1911. She served the Southern well for over 35 years before being sold in 1946 to the Kentucky and Tennessee Railroad to haul coal between Stearns, Kentucky and coal mines a few miles down the line. But the sturdy old locomotive lost her job again in 1963 when the K & T switched to diesel power. That was when rail enthusiast Paul Merriman, president of the Tennessee Valley Railroad Museum in Chattanooga, rescued her from the junk pile and with the help of the Southern, restored her for use on steam excursion trips.

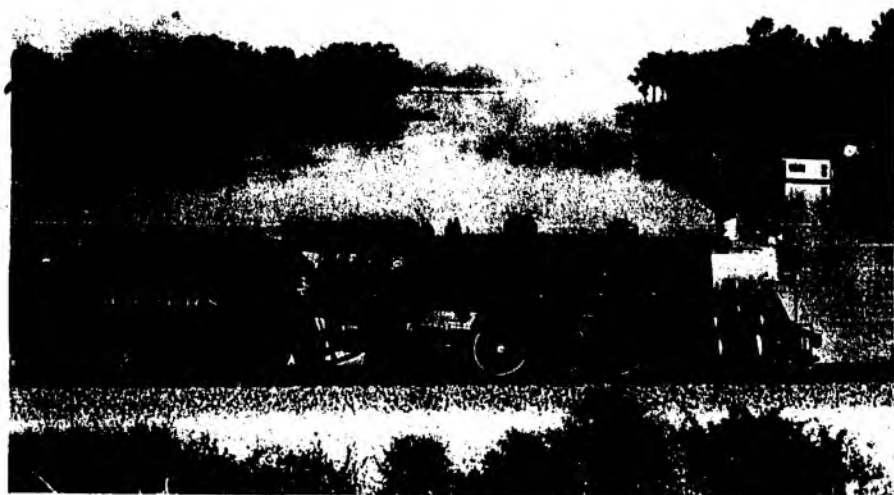

In addition to 4501, the twelve car train will consist of Southern's two popular open-air observation cars, "Lookout Mountain" and "Missionary Ridge", and both open-air and air conditioned reclining seat coaches. The chapter owned baggage car, EX-G.S. & N. 6562, will provide a snack bar selling sandwiches and drinks and a souvenir stand selling various railroad books and other mementos of the trip.

Fall Fish Fry

The Davie County Rescue Squad will have their Fall Fish Fry Saturday, October 14th.

Serving will be from 11:30 a. m. to 8 p. m.

Take out orders will be filled.

LOCOMOTIVE NO. 4501... This 2-8-2 Mikado locomotive is now the property of Paul Merriman, President of the Tennessee Valley Railroad Museum, Chattanooga, Tenn. She was built for Southern Railway by Baldwin Works in 1911. Some say that she was the first "Mike" under steam in the southland. At any rate she spurred a whole breed of Mikados. Within five years of her debut, over 150 identical engines followed her into service. Eventually, Southern acquired over 400 Mikados over the next 15 years.

Her service record is sketchy, but 4501 appears to have operated over much of the Southern System in her youth. Later she was operating on the Louisville and St. Louis divisions.

In 1948, No. 4501 was in a scrap line at Princeton, Ind., when she was noticed by officials of the Kentucky & Tennessee. They purchased her and gave her the number 12, and assigned her hauling loaded and empty coal cars between Stearns, Ky., and coal tipples not too far away.

Toward the end of 1963, the K & T switched to diesels and for the second time, K & T No. 12 was out of a job.

The following year, the Tennessee Valley Railroad Museum became a Valhalla for her and she regained her maiden number — No. 4501. She now is dressed in the green-and-gold livery that made Southern passenger steam power so popular and is in the company of TVRM's growing collection of rail relics. But thanks to the president and the other hard-working members of TVRM, she is still under steam today.

Now that you know her age, perhaps it might be well to reveal some other principal physical characteristics. Her drivers are 63 inches in diameter; the boiler pressure is 200 pounds; she weighs 272,900; her tractive effort is rated at 53,900 pounds — and she can whistle!

Bits Of Life

The Worth Of A Child

By ROSCOE BROWN FISHER

What are seven little children — eight years old and under — worth? Priceless? Yes. Say, $8,000,000. That's a million apiece. Would you take a million for one of yours?

They came cheaper — much cheaper — to James J. Richardson. Fruit picker Richardson put poison in the stew his seven children ate. They all died.

He had taken out a $14,000 insurance policy on them. That would make the "little ones" worth $2,000 apiece to him.

County Sheriff Frank Cline said Richardson thought he had bought the $14,000 life insurance on the children. But the policies were no good because he had not paid the $3.20 premium.

A 10-member panel in Tampa, Fla., returned a first degree murder indictment against the 33-year-old Richardson and charged him with the death of his oldest child, eight-year-old Betty Jean. The other six children died Oct. 25 and 26 along with Betty Jean.

Pathologists said the father had fed the seven stew that was laced with parathion poison.

I told Grandpa Brown about the incident. He didn't say a word. Just stood and stared into space. Then he adjusted his outdated spectacles, shifted his stance and leaned upon his cane. Finally, he spoke, "Seven little children... seven little children... money, money... I learned years ago that there is nothing this side of hell that a man will not do for money."

"Like poisoning seven little children?"

"Yes, like poisoning seven little children," Grandpa Brown said, as he arose and walked away, like being real sad all inside.

Barnes Is Recipient Of Scholarship

Charlie Coy Barnes, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Coy Barnes of Route 2, Advance has been named as a recipient of a scholarship from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. The award totals $1,350.00 and applies to both the fall and spring semesters.

Barnes is an entering freshman at the University. He graduated from Davie County High School in May. While at Davie County High School he participated in the French Club for three years, the National Honor Society for two years. He was a delegate to Boy's State in 1971 and was named to the Who's Who Among American High School Students. He served as a Junior Marshall in the same year. He was on the Annual Photography staff and was voted the Most Intellectual Superlative.

The award is composed of a General Fund Scholarship, a Martin Loan, and others along with an Educational Opportunity Grant. It is renewable upon the maintenance of an acceptable academic average.

Farm Bureau Sets New Hours

The Davie County Farm Bureau office will remain open all day beginning Tuesday, September 5th. The hours will be from 8:30 a. m. to 5 p. m. Monday through Friday.

Charles B. Phillips is president of the Davie County Farm Bureau. Bill Barfield is the local agent and Mrs. Doris Frye is secretary.

Rowan Tech Graduates

Those graduating with honors from Rowan Technical Institute Sunday, August 20th, at Keppel Auditorium at Catawba College in Salisbury included Kathy Stanley of Route 6, Estelle Sammons of Route 4, Ethel Wilson of Cooleemee and Ann Cranfill of Route 7.

These graduates will take the state exams for LPN's for license September 28th and 29th.

According to Mrs. Sammons, "Sunday, August 20th, was the most rewarding day of my life. We had had a wonderful year and a rewarding year, but, Sunday was special. My parents, Mr. and Mrs. Willie Wooten of Statesville attended, as well as my husband, Flake Sammons, children and families, grandchildren, brothers and families and friends."

Another graduate, Mrs. Cranfill, rented her beauty shop to go into nursing.

Mrs. Sue Holmes graduated Sunday by waiver at age 72 for LPN.

Also, another graduate was Mrs. Qutah Joyner of Sheffield.

Deer . . . "Little Orphan Annie". . .

Growing Up!

by — Marlene Benson

(Editors note: Several months ago, we carried a feature story on "Little Orphan Annie", a deer that was raised by Roy Carter on his farm in Davie County. Due to a tremendous response by our readers, we decided to visit the Carter farm again for a follow-up story).

A little over a year ago, Roy Carter of Route 6, Mocksville went searching for a stray cow in the bottom land of his farm and found a little fawn so near starved she was unable to stand.

After a thorough and unsuccessful search for traces of the mother deer, Carter "couldn't leave her there to die", so he took her home with him.

Mrs. Carter found an old discarded baby bottle and nipple and immediately she and her husband began caring for the little abandoned deer.

Carter named her "Little Orphan Annie."

Annie took to the bottle from the very beginning and immediately began to gain strength. In a couple of months, she gained from four pounds to thirty. And now, she weighs over 80 pounds.

The Carters became very attached to the little doe and have always shown her a great deal of affection.

But from the very beginning, Annie has always run free. She has never been fenced-in or penned-up and if she should ever decide to leave her foster home, the Carters have no intentions of trying to stop her.

Annie continues to run, play and eat with the nine beagles on the farm and occasionally joins the cows for a meal, but she still likes her morning bottle.

"She calls me every morning around 6:15 or 6:30 for her bottle", Carter says "and we still give her one just to pacify her."

Annie doesn't really need the bottle, but Carter enjoys giving it to her just as much as she enjoys getting it. And he says he'll continue to give it to her just as long as she will take it.

Annie gave her adopted family a real scare in April when she became desperately ill from eating a bucket of black grease. Mr. and Mrs. Carter and the local veterinarian worked with her constantly and through their care, Annie survived the crisis.

But as a result of her unfortunate experience most all of her hair came out and her pretty ears dried out so badly that the ends actually came off.

Annie has completely recovered and she is up to her old tricks again.

She loves to play with Carters' small grandchildren and she continues to follow Roy around the farm like a little puppy.

She still enjoys riding in the truck with Carter, who says Annie isn't any more trouble than when she was younger, but "she's just getting too big."

Occasionally, she still hops up on the seat when Carter opens the truck door, but it's getting too crowded and he will usually make her get out.

Annie has picked up a lot of the beagles' habits, like going along on the hunting trips. Carter laughed as he told of the time she went with him and his dogs squirrel hunting. "She even tried to smell a squirrel just like the dogs."

He also says that Annie is not afraid of a gun. "In fact she'll go to the sound of a shotgun which is strictly against the law of nature for a deer."

Carter admitted that this frightens him a little. He's afraid that some hunter might take a pot shot at her, not knowing that she only wants to be friendly.

She's not the least bit shy of strangers. In fact, Carter said that 54 different people came by his home to see Annie on Sunday after the first story appeared in the paper. She would walk right up to them just like the dogs, to be petted.

They also received a letter from a family in Wisconsin, who had a similar experience with a little deer, but this family was not as fortunate as the Carters. Their little deer was killed by hunters a couple of days after deer season opened there.

The neighbors around the Carter farm have also become attached to Annie, who makes a daily trip to the Leonard Hayes home for crackers, bread or an apple. Mr. and Mrs. Hayes expect her visit each day

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE . . . leads a happy life with her foster family, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Carter of Mocksville. The ends of Annie's ears dried up and fell off while she was desperately ill several months ago. It seems that a bucket of black grease looked appetizing to Annie and she ate "the whole thing." Maybe her ears will serve as her trademark when hunting season opens . . . and hunters will not mistake her for wild game.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Hayes, neighbors of the Carters, have also grown fond of Annie. They always have a treat for her when she makes her daily visit to their home. (left) And Mrs. Carter enjoys "bottle time" almost as much as Annie. (right)

Annie doesn't really know she's a deer. She eats with Carter's beagles and Carter says she always "takes up for the puppies and she'll fight the big dogs away from their food."

Annie loves chewing gum . . . and Carter always has some for her. (left) She still hops up in the cab of his truck just as she did when she was much younger. (center photo) . . . But she doesn't get to ride as much now . . . she's getting too big. Just like the beagles, Annie can always smell a treat . . . even if Carter tries to hide it. (right) and after one of them gives her a treat, Annie heads for home.

The Carters have some cows in another pasture about a mile from their home and on several occasions, Annie has gone there looking for them if they were away from home too long.

Mrs. Carter said Annie had never left them, except on one occasion. They were away from home and Annie went to the other pasture looking for them, but somewhere enroute, she missed them. "Some dogs chased her off", she said. "We could hear the dogs barking and didn't know if Annie would ever come home again. . . But she did. It was real late that night and the next day she was so sore she could hardly walk."

The Carters believe Annie will always stay with them. She knows who fixes her bottle," Mrs. Carter smiled as she rubbed Annie's head. "She may have a family of her own someday, but I don't think she'll ever leave us now."

MISS BONNIE TUTTEROW ... graduated Cum Laude on Saturday, August 19, from Appalachian State University at Boone. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lullus C. Tutterow of Route 4, Mocksville. Miss Tutterow graduated from Davie County High School in 1969. At Appalachian, she studied Art Education and received her BS-B degree from the College of Fine and Applied Arts. In order to graduate Cum Laude, a student must maintain a grade point average in the range of 3.25 to 3.65 on a 4.00 scale.

Britanny Dog Owners To Form State Club

Plans are being announced for the organization of a Britanny Club in North Carolina for owners and fans of Britanny dogs.

The membership fee to join will be $10, which includes the price of the monthly Britanny magazine. The first meeting will be held Saturday, August 26, at 1 p.m. in Mocksville. At this time, election of officers will take place and there will be voting on the name of the club. Also, a site for headquarters will be chosen, one that will be convenient for all of the North Carolina Britanny people.

For more information, write: Britanny Club, Route 3, Mocksville or call 704-654-5635. Refreshments will be served, so those who are interested are asked to state how many are coming so there will be enough for everyone. Anyone who writes or calls will be given directions on how to reach the meeting which will take place only 3 miles off I-40.

James Waldie, a local Britanny owner, says: "We already have enough people willing to become members to form a club, according to the national Britanny Club rules and the national vice president, Ronald Stevenson of Concord, New Hampshire. But, we want more members than we have now so that more than a few people can decide on the issues. We need as many members at the meeting as possible to help make the decisions."

Some objectives that will be discussed at the meeting include: 1. Keeping the club on a basis so that the average working man can belong without it costing him a lot of money; 2. Those who have run dogs in Field Trials can help the owners of Britannys who have never done this; 3. The women who have showed Britannys in Bench Shows can teach others how to groom and show the Britannys they own; 4. Teach the children from 10 years old and up how to be Junior Handlers; 5. Have a couple of get-togethers each year for an old fashioned picnic; 6. To lease grounds on which to run and train the Britannys.

In order to be recognized by the National American Britanny Club, the North Carolina Club would have to have two fun trials the 1st year. At that time, there would be an inspection to see if these were run properly. Then the club would be a recognized Club holding two Field Trials a year and would be able to award points to the winning dogs to make them champions according to the American Kennel Club rules.

At the present time there are 59 recognized Britanny Clubs in the United States with 6 in California, 6 in Texas, 3 in Oklahoma, 3 in Pennsylvania and several in the New England states, Kansas, Indiana, Illinois, Minnesota, Ohio and Wisconsin.

"There are probably more Britanny owners in North Carolina than in most of these states combined," said Mr. Waldie. "If we can get the Britanny people organized, North Carolina could have the best and the largest club in the nation."

Deaths

Good weather is no safeguard against traffic accidents. A report by The Travelers Insurance Companies points out that more than 75 percent of the 54,000 traffic deaths in 1971 occurred in clear, dry weather.

Community Action Program In Davie

The Davie County Action Program is one of four counties served by the Yadkin Valley Economic Development District, Inc. with headquarters in Boonville. The YVEDDI, an equal opportunity employer began its seventh fiscal year, July 1, 1972. The YVEDDI serves Davie, Stokes, Surry, and Yadkin Counties, through Community Action Programs and Activities. Mrs. Prudence Johnson is County Coordinator of the Davie County Community Service Center located at 525 Cherry Street in Mocksville. The members of the Board of Directors which planned the Community Action Programs are local residents chosen from low income families, civic organizations and government agencies. The local Board of Directors consists of twenty-seven (27) members with one third of this membership represented by low income families.

The Community Action Programs—a non profit organization—and CAA activities, are activities designed to aid low income families in economic development; to help them in becoming self sufficient, and to help solve problems by making opportunities and services available through local, state and federal sources. Community Action Agency activities are programmed bridges to economic development. The Davie County Community Service Center staffed by local residents is the catalyst serving to integrate correlated task assignments, organizations, and resources through communicative bridges to eliminate poverty.

Community Action means better Communities through Communities Development, better Education through Head Start, NYC, PACE, ABE, and Consumer Education; better jobs through Manpower and Neighborhood Youth Corps; better homes through the Housing program; better Health through Nutrition.

Community Action means a new lease on life to Senior Citizens and the reality of belonging usefully through organized Golden Age Clubs and planned activities to meet their social and economic needs.

Community Action means helping others through RSVP—Retired Senior Volunteer Program now in the process of development and implementation, to secure volunteer services of our retired citizens for local service agencies. Volunteer services within all programs are important to the success of Community Action.

The CAA program services—operated by YVEDDI—now available and coordinated by the Davie County Community Service Center, and program specialists are as follows:

The Services and Program Specialists of the Community Action Program are as follows:

Community Service Center, Senior Citizens, Plan Assuring College Education (PACE) Retired Senior Volunteer Program (RSVP)—Mrs. Prudence L. Johnson, County Coordinator and Mrs. Debbie Hoover, Secretary.

Community Development, Cooperatives (Co-op), Ecological Environmental Education (EEE)—Mrs. Agnes Thomas.

Youth Development, Neighborhood Youth Corps (NYC), Nutrition—Mrs. Sadie Jones.

Head Start—Mrs. Evelyn Howell, Four County Supervisor and Mrs. Sandra Rivers, Medical Social Aide.

Manpower—Mrs. Mildred H. Foster.

Housing, Adult Basic Education (ABE), Consumer Education—Mr. Thomas Sanders.

All citizens interested in detailed information on any of these programs and services may contact Program Specialists through the CSC office between 9:30 A.M. and 5:00 P.M., Monday through Friday. Contacts may also be made with Program Specialists at the given Satellite and Community Centers according to the following schedule, effective August 21, 1972.

A birthday dinner will be given Sunday to honor Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Frye on their anniversaries. The dinner will be held at their home on Route 4, Mocksville at 1 p.m. All friends and relatives of the couple are invited to attend and to bring a basket of food to be spread on the lawn.

Fatal Crashes

Almost 70,000 motor vehicles were involved in fatal highway crashes in 1971. Of these, more than 53,100 were private passenger cars.

30th Reunion Of Coolleemee Class

The class of 1942 of Coolleemee High School held their 30th Reunion at Wink's on Highway 601 Saturday night, August 19.

Out of 40 members of the class, 26 were able to attend. Each one attending was given a chance to tell where they lived now, how many children they have and how many grandchildren. Each one told something of what they had been doing these last 30 years.

There were also reports from class officers. President Ben Mitchell stated that he had had a good life and many blessings. Treasurer Bill Davis reported that he also had a good life. It seems to fall his lot to be chosen treasurer of everything. He also reported he had 3 bottles of vanilla flavoring left that the class did not sell to make money for the Jr.-Sr. prom and he would like to sell it and close out his books!

Jim Wall, homeroom teacher of the class, and his daughter were present. It seems that he has a good memory as he could recall some of the past (30 years ago) happenings. The group gave him a round of applause for writing the history of Davie County. The year book was dedicated to Mr. Wall in 1942.

The following is a list of names and addresses of class members who attended the reunion: Bertice Swicegood Davis, Route 2, Mocksville; Pauline McCullough Bowles, Route 6, Mocksville; Dorothy Gibson Overcash, Coolleemee; Reba Nichols McIntyre, Route 1, Woodleaf; Billy Hillard Murph, Route 1, Woodleaf; James Hinkle, Maple Avenue, Mocksville; Beulah Alsobrooks Branch, Southgate, Mich.; Alma Joyce Jones Heilig, Salisbury; Ruth Miller Beck, Route 4, Mocksville; Dorothy Daniel Walker, Kelly Avenue, Mocksville; Nellie Wilson Angell, Route 6, Mocksville; William C. Tick Fever Rampant

Beware of fever-carrying ticks and other small insects during the remainder of summer. Since 1970, North Carolina has lead the nation in the number of reported cases of Rocky Mountain Spotted Fever, says health official Dr. John Mac Cormack. Baring the name of its origin, Rocky Mountain Spotted Fever has steadily moved eastward and now is most prevalent in North Carolina, Virginia, South Carolina and Maryland.

Football fans may recall the tragic death of coach Jim Tatum of UNC several years ago. Coach Tatum was a victim of this acute infectious disease which is characterized by fever, headache, muscle pains, and a rash. In 1971, 107 cases of the disease were reported in our state including 7 fatal cases. More of the same is expected this summer. So beware!

'The Man Of The Mountains'

Visits In Davie County

by Marlene Benson

Several months ago, Rev. Roscoe Brown Fisher, author of the "Bits of Life" column carried each week in this paper, introduced our readers to a most remarkable person who he referred to as "The Man Of The Mountains".

He used the "Man of the Mountains" term simply to avoid any premature publicity that could hinder the work that this man, his wife and eight children are doing at their home in the Western part of the N.C. mountains.

Recently, I, along with approximately 35 other invited guests, had the privilege of meeting this extraordinary man and his wife when they paid an overnight visit with Pastor and Mrs. Fisher at their home in Coolemeec.

He still prefers to remain anonymous and not give the exact location of his work until he is further along with his project... which is to erect a Prayer Center near his home in the mountains.

He is a Nuclear Scientist, who for 13 years was a member of the Atomic Energy Commission in Washington, D.C. Raised in Colorado, he is a graduate of the U.S. Naval Academy at Annapolis. He met his wife and they were married during one of the times he was working in Washington.

This man is an authority on parapsychology and ESP (Extra sensory perception), a field in which he has done a great deal of scientific research, and he definitely has the ability of transferring his thoughts to others who have the ability to receive.

When Rev. Fisher made his first visit to the home of this Man of the Mountains, it was completely unannounced, and he had never met him nor any of his family personally. And as he drove up the drive to their fabulous home, this couple was standing outside and greeted him, as if they had always known him, with "We knew you were coming and we were waiting for you."

After I talked with Mr. Fisher about his trip to their home and later, reading his "Bits Of Life" column about the projects this man was working on, I gratefully accepted the invitation to meet him and his wife personally.

The meeting was so interesting and exciting that I felt compelled to share a part of it with our readers.

It was a very informal meeting in the Fishers' livingroom and following the introduction by Pastor Fisher, this man (let's call him Jim for the sake of giving him a name) began to speak to the group.

He told what a close-knit family they were and stressed the fact that they always prayed together. Four times each day and always at the same time, Jim and his family pray together. If for some reason, Jim and his wife are not home, his children still continue to hold their prayer periods.

Jim told his research project came about. It was during the time he was working for the government as a member of the Atomic Energy Commission that he and his wife definitely made a decision to establish a Prayer Center.

For years he had thought about this project and he said it really "bothered" him to see college kids on drugs and the negative attitude of the world in general.

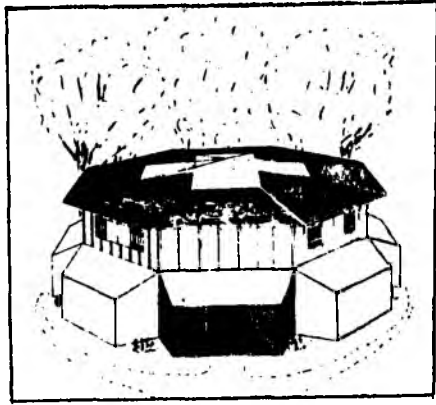

But Jim had his job and he wasn't nearly old enough to retire, but he and his wife began to pray for a way that they might enter into this project.

Only one month later came the "first miracle". The government, through an unusual chain of circumstances, found a way for him to retire.

Jim said in order to establish a Prayer Center, "We knew we would have to have a place out of town and we prayed about finding such a place."

When the name of the place first came to him, he believed it was located in the mountains of Virginia. After driving there, he said he knew this was not the place he was looking for; however, he was unaware, at that time, that there was also a place of the same name in the North Carolina Mountains.

Then one day, as he was driving in a very dense fog in North Carolina, he told how he saw a sign that said "Stone Mountain". He drove to Stone Mountain and climbed to the top, and here again, he began to Prayer Center in their native land.

Jim left the mountain top and began to drive, not knowing exactly where he was going. He drove 100 miles right to the door of the home where they now live in North Carolina.

The huge house was vacant and from the way the drive was grown over with underbrush, he knew it had been vacant for quite some time.

He made his way to the door where he found a three-year-old newspaper with the name of a woman written on it. He assumed this was the owner and got in touch with her.

He learned from this woman, who was a widow, that two former governors had tried to buy the house, but she had no intention of selling it... until Jim came to see her.

Without hesitation, she sold him the house.

"The day we moved, a perfect rainbow formed over the house," he said, "And we knew we had found the right place."

As Jim continued to talk, "you became so engrossed in his words that you were totally unaware of the other guests around you."

Jim was not trying to sell anyone on his idea, nor did he try to persuade us to believe in his fantastic experiences which he continued to share with the group.

He simply told of some of his experiences and everyone drew their own conclusions as to whether or not they believed him.

And yet, as we sat there listening to this remarkable and very personable man speak, no one doubted or questioned anything he told. It's hard to explain the feeling, but something deep inside, made you know Jim's experiences were completely true.

We were all fascinated with his experience, which I would like to share with our readers.

He told how one day as he was looking out the picture window at God's beautiful creation of the mountains, a little bird flew into the window breaking both beaks and one of its wings. It was bleeding and looked as if it could not possibly survive. Jim brought the little bird into the house and called his family around the table to pray for it. And right before their eyes, the little bird's beaks straightened up, the bleeding stopped and its tiny wing healed. And the little bird sat up on the table and chirped.

"In fifteen minutes time," Jim told, "I took the little bird outside, held it in my hand and it flew away."

The people who have visited with the "Man of the Mountains" in his home have been those with a spiritual need. They have heard about his work by word of mouth or have been led there by means other than publicity.

During his past two years of living in N.C., there have been between 400 and 500 people to visit with them. He said there have been as many as 26 overnight guests at one time and he "has never run out of beds yet."

There have been visitors from every continent in the world, with the exception of Asia, and he accepts those that come as guests.

Of his eight children, four are girls, and each of them do all the cooking for everyone, for a three year period of time. They begin to cook as a freshman in high school, but when they become a senior, they are treated as a queen... and everyone waits on them.

Recently there was a couple from South Africa who visited with Jim and his family. They became so impressed with this project that they are now working towards establishing a years. But for several months, all her packages and letters were returned, as if he had died.

She asked if Jim could help her.

They all sat down and began to meditate. Jim told how clearly he saw a prison camp and a man sitting inside the fence there.

"I began to describe this man in detail... what he was wearing, the color of his hair and what he was doing with his hands."

"That's him... that's my husband," the lady cried out.

Jim said he didn't know exactly what he told her to make her so certain that the man he saw was truly her husband. But he told her everything he saw, except that he could see that the man was wounded on the left side of his body, presumably from the crash of his Air Force plane.

Later members of the Air Force Intelligence visited Jim and talked with him about the above incident. "I did tell them about the injury in addition to all I had previously told the lady," he said. "I felt there was a way they (Intelligence) could check into this."

Later Jim heard from the Air Force Intelligence and they verified everything he had told them and the man's wife. They also informed him that her health was much better and that she was hearing from her husband again.

"Sounds psychic?" he said, "well, we all are."

"And if you are thinking about having me investigated," he smiled, "I will welcome the investigation, because I have already been investigated by the State Department, the Internal Revenue Service and the Air Force."

Jim stressed to the group that his reasons for establishing the Prayer Center project is to "Change negative thinking to positive thinking, darkness into light, and hate into love."

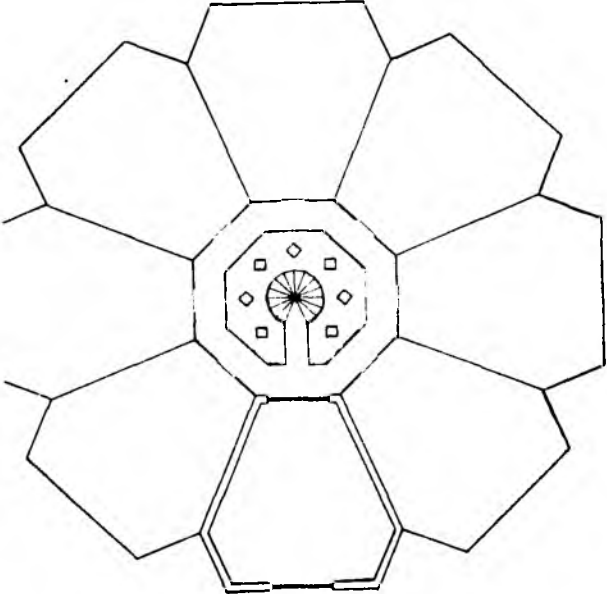

He says this project has grown considerably and there is a need to move the Prayer Center from his home. He is hoping to build a building, which he now has the blueprints for, and this will be the Prayer Center.

"I have had visions about this building," he said, and he began to give a brief description. "It will have nine rooms on the lower floor and each room will have different color rays of light... it has been proven that light rays are healing."

"It will also have an Upper Room, with very spiritual contacts here at all times. They will be relieved at intervals, sorta like on guard duty in service, in order to have continuous prayer."

He told of his plans to erect a statue, which he called "Christ of The Blue Ridge", with a prayer room at the base. This statue he said will be a minimum of 600 feet in height.

After telling of numerous other experiences, Jim was open for questions by those attending. He answered all questions, some of the answers were his personal beliefs while others were scientifically proven facts.

"Who is Jesus?" came the first question.

"I think Jesus is the Son of God. I think Christ is of God and I believe what He said is true."

"Do you believe in reincarnation?" was another.

"I believe in eternal life," he replied. "And I believe there is life in everything."

"Does your ESP work through your dreams?" he was asked.

"Definitely."

Jim said that it has been proven that every normal person dreams, although they are not always aware of it. And many things can, and are revealed to people in their dreams.

There were many other questions asked and answered during this period and later some of us were privileged to talk with him again.

I just couldn't leave... I felt that I must talk to this remarkable man, who had held me completely spell-bound for nearly two hours.

He held out his hand and greeted me for the second time. (I had spoken to him briefly before the meeting)... he then looked me right square in the eyes and told me several things about myself that were shockingly true.

I felt as if he could actually see me from within and read my thoughts... and yet, I felt so very relaxed as we talked... as if I had always known "The Man of the Mountains."

DODO WAS A LOT OF BIRD

How would you like a 35 pound fryer? Man, that's what you would classify as a lot of "Bird." Well, the adult Dodo bird, which is now extinct, sometimes reached the size of 35 pounds or more and was good to eat. At least, that's what sailors reported before the Dodo bird became extinct in the late 1600's.

The Dodo bird inhabited islands in the Indian Ocean and was favored as a food by seafaring men. The large bird could not fly and was easily captured. Man continued to deplete the supply until the bird finally disappeared.

The Dodo bird disappeared, but you can be assured that our business is here to stay. We are solid as a rock, built on a foundation of service to our customers. Come in today and sample the service.

Each of us has a mission in life, but only with God's help can we accomplish it. Our darkest hour may be our greatest.

Eleanor Guptill and J. Rinker Farmer

The Revival meeting began at the Cedar Creek Baptist Church last Sunday, August 13th and continued through August 18th, with the Rev. McDaniel, pastor of the Union Baptist Church in Winston-Salem bringing the message each evening. The Lord met us with the Holy spirit each night. Guests attending from surrounding areas were there each evening. Out of town folks included John Mason Hendrix of Philadelphia, Mr. and Mrs. James Rhynehardt and children, Sandra, Deborah, Brenda, Kenneth and Gina, all of Columbus, Ohio, Mrs. Willie Wiseman and daughters, Ernestine, Valeria and a niece, Marlene Morris and two grandchildren, Tonya and Brian, all of Rhaway, N. J. and Trenton, N. J. They all have returned to their homes except Mrs. Wiseman, who is spending a few days here with her mother, Mrs. William Eaton and sister, Jean.

Our prayers go out to all our shut-in members: Mrs. Thomas Eaton is a patient in Forsyth Memorial Hospital at Winston-Salem; Mrs. James Horn, a patient in the Baptist Hospital in Winston; and Mrs. George Scott a shut-in at home for the present time. We are thinking of each of you.

Mrs. William Eaton and Miss Ernestine Willis visited Mrs. Thomas Eaton who is a patient at Forsyth Memorial Hospital. Darryl and Kenneth Eaton, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Odell Eaton have returned to school in Raleigh, N. C.

The pastor, Rev. W. C. Hay and members of Cedar Creek Baptist Church attended the 200 year birthday services of Eaton's Baptist Church in Cana, N. C., Sunday evening, which was very interesting and informative. The Lord has really blessed these 200 years of this great church and is still doing so. Cedar Creek Baptist church felt highly honored to be a branch of this vine and to know that their ancestors felt so concerned about its Black people, that they started them out in a christian way. We thank the Lord for them, and our prayers are that the Lord will continue to bless each one.

Boy Scouts Dedicate Woodlands To Wise Use

More than 75,000 acres of woodlands owned by Boy Scouts across the nation were dedicated today to the permanent practice of good forestry as Scouts in 22 states joined local ceremonies in observance of National Boy Scout Tree Farm Day.

Freddie Wall Is In Alpha Chi

Freddie M. Wall has been inducted in the spring installation as a member of the North Carolina Alpha Chapter of Alpha Chi at Appalachian State University.

Alpha Chi is a national honor society with the purpose of promoting and recognizing scholarship and those elements of character which make scholarship effective for good among the students in the academic divisions of colleges and universities in the States and other countries.

Freddie Wall is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred C. Wall of Mocksville, N.C. He is single. He is a Junior at Appalachian State University. Other university activities and honors include College Republican Club.

four-month Scout drive to meet Tree Farm standards and qualify their forest property for enrollment in the American Tree Farm System. A total of 90 properties were registered into the national program. The American Tree Farm System is dedicated to scientific forest management which promotes the conservation and wise use of our nation's renewable forest resources. The program, now made up of more than 31 thousand private landowners with 74 million acres of woodlands, is sponsored by the American Forest Institute, Washington, D. C.

The Scouting project, begun last May, included forest-improvement work which lead to merit badge experience for individual Scouts, as well as advancement of the aims of Scouting's Save Our American Resources (SOAR) national conservation program.

At Boy Scout National Headquarters in North Brunswick, N.J., Irving Feist, past-president of the Boy Scouts of America marked the event with the dedication of a 60 acre tract of forest along side the Headquarters building.

"The Scout-owned property we are recognizing today as an official Tree Farm is not only growing repeated crops of wood for our nation's future needs, it is also providing improved wildlife habitat, protecting our watersheds, improving the quality of the environment, and providing recreational and educational opportunities for Boy Scouts everywhere", Feist said. To be eligible for the American Tree Farm System, forest land must be privately owned; managed for the growth and harvest of repeated crops of wood; and adequately protected from fire, insect, disease and destructive grazing damage. Management must also include provisions for prompt reforestation following all tree harvesting.

To practice forest management, Tree Farmers should plant seedlings on understocked land; cut undesirable tree species and diseased trees; thin heavily-stocked timber stands to open the stands to more sunlight; convert marginally-productive forest stands to better quality trees; prescribe-burn under carefully controlled conditions to reduce the hazard of destructive wildlife; and harvest mature timber ready for market.

Ladies Night At Bowman Gray

NASCAR's stock racers, rained out last week at Bowman Gray Stadium, will return Saturday night for a "Ladies Night" program that also will include races for "mini-stock" compact sedans.

A field of 80 to 90 cars is expected for the 10-event program, which is scheduled to start at 8:45 p.m. Saturday on the municipal stadium's quarter-mile asphalt track. Practice runs will begin with the opening of the gates at 6:30 p.m.

Max Berrier of Winston-Salem, Perk Brown of Eden and Billy Hensley of Ridgeway, Va., will share the favorite's role in the 40-lap main event for the /high-powered coupes of NASCAR's Modified Division. Berrier leads in the driver standings that will determine the track championship he won last year for the first time.

Brown has won here four times this season, increasing his record career victory total at the stadium to 42. Berrier and Hensley have claimed two 1972 victories apiece in Modified competition.

Saturday night's program will include two 10-lap heats and the 40-lap main event for Modified cars, two 10-lap heats and a 20-lap feature for the Hobby (amateur) Division, a 15-lap race for the novices of the Claiming Division, and two 10-lap heats and a 20-lap feature for the imported compacts of the North State Mini-stock Association.

As usual, the observance of "Ladies Night" - with free admission of women added to the track's standard practice of free admission to children under 12 with adult escorts - is expected to attract a near-capacity crowd to the 17,000-seat arena.

Alfred Hill of Jonesville will be shooting for his fifth victory of the season in the Hobby Division, where he leads the track standings by a 60-point margin over Don Smith of Walkertown.

Yadkinville drivers Monroe York and Mitchell Warden are battling for the lead in the Claiming Division, where each has claimed two 1972 victories. York leads Warden by 24 points in the track standings.

Deaths And Funerals

W. PAUL HENDRICKS

William Paul Hendricks, 76, of Mocksville died Sunday morning at Davie County Hospital. The funeral was held Tuesday at Eaton's Funeral Chapel. Burial was in Rose Cemetery.

Mr. Hendricks was born in Davie County to W.S. and Mary Jones Hendricks. He was a member of the First United Methodist Church and was a retired employee of Technical Furniture Co. at Statesville.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Myra Summers Hendricks; two daughters, Miss Cornelia Hendricks of Mocksville and Mrs. Arthur Bryant of Carthage; four sons, Bill, Worth and Charles Hendricks of Mocksville, Rt. 3; a sister, Mrs. Mamie Van Zant of Grand Bay, Ala.; and three brothers, Glenn Hendricks of Lexington, Sherman Hendricks of Charlotte and Frank E. Hendricks of Waynesville.

HUGH ANDERSON

Hugh Anderson, 80, of Center St. died in Davie County Hospital Saturday afternoon after an extended illness. He was a retired employee of Burlington Mills. He was born in Davie County Oct. 16, 1891 to the late Bill and Martha Anderson.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Bulah Creason Anderson; three daughters, Mrs. Hazel Allen of Rt. 1 Salisbury, Mrs. Pauline Kerly of Cooleemee, Mrs. Inell McClamrock of Rt. 6, Mocksville; three sons, Gilmer Anderson of Spencer, Harbey Anderson of Randleman, Garland Anderson of Mocksville; and one sister, Mrs. Mary Featherstone, Asheville; 20 grandchildren and 10 great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted Monday at 4 p.m. at Eaton's Funeral Chapel by the Rev. Ray Connel and the Rev. Bill Creason. Burial was in the Liberty United Methodist Church Cemetery.

MRS. S. L. FOSTER, 90

Mrs. Pearl Smith Foster, 90, widow of Samuel Loy Foster, died at 12:45 a.m. Friday at Davie County Hospital.

She was born March 17, 1882, to the late William M. and Rev. Kenneth Pollock (R) and son Douglas.

Father And Son To Be Bixby Homecoming Speakers

A former pastor, the Rev. Kenneth Pollock, and his son, Douglas ministerial student, will be guest speakers for the Annual Homecoming Services at the Bixby Presbyterian Church, Sunday.

The Rev. Mr. Pollock of the Rebecca Littlepage Presbyterian Church of Charleston, West Virginia, will deliver the sermon at the 11 o'clock hour. Douglas, a student at the Reformed Episcopal Seminary in Philadelphia, will be the afternoon speaker.

The father and son, and other members of the family, will also be present for the 9 a.m. service at the Cooleemee Presbyterian Church, where Mr. Pollock served as pastor.

Born in Davenport, Iowa, Rev. Pollock attended the Piedmont Bible College in Winston-Salem and upon graduation was admitted to the Winston-Salem Presbytery and called to the Cooleemee Church, where he served from 1951 to 1953 and also preached at Yadkinville.

Following his ministry at Cooleemee, he served four years in the South Carolina Presbyterian Synod. He returned to Davie County as Pastor of the Bixby Presbyterian Church in 1957 where he ministered with the Yadkinville Presbyterian Church, until 1962.

Martha Elizabeth Smith.

Survivors are two daughters, Mrs. J. M. Sofley and Mrs. J. P. McDaniel, both of Route 1, Advance; three sons, Taylor Foster of Winston-Salem, Eugene and J. R. Foster, both of Route 1, Advance; one brother, Robert Smith of Route 1, Advance; 12 grandchildren; 10 great-grandchildren.

She was a member of Bethlehem United Methodist Church where funeral services were conducted Saturday at 4 p.m. by the Rev. Donald K. Funderburke and the Rev. Dwight Mashburn. Burial was in the church cemetery.

JOHN T. SPILLMAN

Funeral services for John Thomas Spillman, 69, of Cooleemee, who was killed in an auto accident Monday on Highway 601 North of Mocksville, will be held Thursday, August 24, at 2 p.m. at Eaton's Chapel. Burial will be in Legion Memorial Park in Cooleemee.

Mr. Spillman was born in Yadkin County on Aug. 7, 1903, and he was a son of the late William G. and Nancy Hutchins Spillman. He was a retired employee of Erwin Mills, Cooleemee.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Nettie Haire Spillman; a daughter, Mrs. Frank Earhardt of Cooleemee; five sisters, Mrs. Eula Hobson of Marshall Town, Iowa, and Mrs. Sam F. Wooten, Mrs. Paul Groce, Mrs. Jeff Davis and Mrs. Clifford Carter, all of Route 2, Yadkinville; and three brothers, Shelton, Samson and Dewey, all of Route 2, Yadkinville.

Card Of Thanks

The family of the late Charity H. Jones wish to express their thanks to their neighbors and friends for every act of kindness shown during the illness and death of their sister.

The Family.

Anderson
The family of the late Hugh Anderson is deeply grateful for the many expressions of sympathy shown them during the illness and death of their husband and father. We also want to thank the doctors and nurses of Davie County Hospital and the neighbors for the nice food brought to us. Your kindnesses will always be remembered.

Mrs. Hugh Anderson and Family.

IN APPRECIATION

The family of the late Sammie Leonard Foster wish to express their deep appreciation to all the friends and neighbors and to anyone who in some way helped to ease the sorrow of the sudden illness and death of their father and loved one. The many floral tributes, food and many acts of kindnesses and sympathy shown them will long be remembered.

The Alton Foster family and The Elmo Foster family.

Davie Schools Open

A total of 4,358 Davie County school children returned to the classrooms this week as the schools officially opened. The first full day of school was held Tuesday and this marked the beginning of the regular lunchroom schedule. Monday was orientation day with the students attending only a short time to be assigned classes, issued books, pay fees, and receive assignments. A total of 1274 reported to the Davie High School on Monday to be enrolled. This number may increase as others report this week. The largest elementary enrollment on Monday was at the Cooleemee Elementary School with 743 reporting for their first look inside the new building.

Mocksville Elementary School had 611 reporting on Monday, and 349 reported at the Mocksville Middle School. Pinebrook Elementary had 587 on Monday; Shady Grove Elementary, 409; and William R. Davie Elementary, 358. Total enrollment in the elementary schools of the county on Monday was 3,084.

Davie Retail Sales Up

Gross retail sales in Davie County hit $31,836,726 for the fiscal year 1971-72. This represented a gain of $4,213,096 over the fiscal year 1970-71 when sales were $27,623,630.

The total was also an increase of $3,123,977 over the fiscal year of 1969-70 when sales totaled $28,712,749. The report for the fiscal year which runs from July 1 to June 30 each year was made last week by the State Department of Revenue.

Food sales in Davie accounted for $7,380,999 of the total. This was followed by automotive sales of $7,378,356. General merchandise sales amounted to $4,736,905.

Sales in other categories included $4,275,113 in auto, planes and boats; $301,699 for apparel; $2,176,014 for furniture; $2,196,172 for building materials; $2,058,490 in unclassified sales and $1,333,008 in retail sales of various descriptions.

The general merchandise group includes department stores, drug stores, dry good stores, fabric shops, farm implement and supply stores, general stores and trading stamp stores, hardware stores, jewelry stores, industrial machinery and supply dealers, sporting goods, variety and specialty stores, road building equipment and supply dealers, paint, wallpaper and glass stores.

The unclassified group includes beauty and barber shops and supply distributors, book and school supply stores, coal, wood, fuel oil and bottled gas dealers, feed stores, millers, hatcheries, florists and nurseries, airplane dealers, hotels, motels, office machine and supply dealers, funeral directors, laundries, dry cleaners, machine shops, chemical, janitorial supplies and paper products dealers, printers, publishers, engravers, pet and hobby shops, hospitals, physicians, veterinarians, etc.

In the food group are bakeries, candy and confectionery stores, dairies and dairy bars, grocery stores, meat markets, restaurants, snack bars, grills, cafeterias, vending machines.

In the automotive group are motor vehicle dealers, service stations, garages, motorcycle and bicycle dealers, automotive supplies, parts and accessories stores, oil and petroleum products dealers, tire dealers, recappers and repairers.

Spider Causes Wreck Saturday

The distraction of a spider, weaving a web from the visor, was the cause of a two car accident Saturday on Wilkesboro St. in Mocksville. Donald Gray Hursey, 37, of Mocksville told investigating officers that he was driving his 1966 Ford west on Wilkesboro St. when he saw a spider spin from his visor. Distracted by the spider he failed to see that traffic in front had stopped and ran into the rear of a 1965 Ford being operated by Charlie Spracklull of Mocksville Rt. 5. The accident occurred around 12:20 p.m. Saturday.

Damages to the Dull vehicle were estimated at $200 and $300 to the Hursey vehicle. Hursey was charged with failure to see safe movement.

84-Year-Old Hit By Car

A 84-year-old pedestrian was seriously injured Sunday afternoon when he stepped from the shoulder of the highway into the path of a car. Jacob Edward (Dick) Lanier, 84, of Mocksville Rt. 4, was admitted to the intensive care unit of the Davie Hospital.

State Highway Patrolman A.C. Stokes investigated the accident which happened around 4:15 p.m. on US 601, 1.2 miles south of Mocksville, near the Lakewood Motel.

Patrolman Stokes said that his investigation showed that Lanier was struck when he stepped onto the highway in front of a 1965 Ford being driven by Cynthia Gay Boger, 18, of Mocksville Rt. 3. Damage to the car was estimated at $175.

Clinic Employs New Counselor

Bob Fetsch has joined the staff of the Tri-County Mental Health Clinic as an alcoholism counselor. He has been employed by the State to work with Loy Devine and Melvin Beaver in the field of Alcohol and Drug Abuse.

His work will include seeing clients on Wednesdays at the Mocksville Clinic, and during the remainder of the week at the Statesville Clinic.

Mr. Fetsch moved to Statesville from San Antonio, Texas where he completed his Masters Degree in psychology and guidance at Our Lady of the Lake College. He has had experience as a group therapist with alcoholics and drug abusers.

New Hours

Central Telephone Company office hours will be changing effective Monday, September 4th. The new hours will be from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday. The office is closed on Saturdays. A deposit box is available at the local office for payments after office hours.

Davie College Courses Offered

The Davie County Division of Davidson County Community College will offer the following college courses this fall: History, Math, Psychology, English Grammar, English Literature, Religion and Sociology. Registration for these classes will take place the week of August 28 - September 2, 1972. A ceramics class will be taught at Advance with Mary Neil Jones as the instructor. This is a beginning class and will last for nine weeks.

Bookkeeping will be taught at the Cherry Street Primary building. The fee will be $3.00 and the class will meet one day a week for eleven weeks. A class will meet for three weeks on Wednesday from four to seven p.m.

A class in crafts for the fall will be taught this fall. In a class, which meets once a week, the students will make a small, inexpensive gift for the home. Christmas gifts and decorations will be made as well as other seasonal objects.

Four Injured In Accident At Greasy Corner Last Friday

Four persons were injured last Friday in a three car accident on US 601, 3.7 miles south of Mocksville at Greasy Corner. Taken to the Davie County Hospital were Gerald Wayne Poplin, 22, of Albemarle; Patricia Lynn Rankin, 20, of Albemarle; Coleen Stanley Frye, 20, of Mocksville, Rt. 4; and Mary Helen Foster, 26, of Cooleemee.

State Highway Patrolman J. C. Goodin investigated the accident which occurred around 4:05 p.m. Trooper Goodin said his investigation showed that Gerald Wayne Poplin was operating a 1971 Triumph and was heading North on US 601. Coleen Stanley Frye was operating a 1972 Ford and was heading south and attempted to make a left turn into NC 801. The Poplin vehicle hit the Ford, and knocked it into a 1953 Chevrolet being driven by Wanda Stiller Garmon, 34, of Cooleemee.

Mrs. Frye was charged with improper movement. Damage to the Triumph was estimated at $800 and to the Ford at $1,000.

Three Injured In US 64 Wreck

Isaacson was charged with improper movement. Damage to the Pontiac was estimated at $1,000, and $800 to the Chevrolet.

Glass Removed From Store Door

Careful would-be robbers removed glass from the door at the Greenhill Grocery early Sunday morning and opened the door. However, something must have scared them off as nothing apparently was taken from the store.

Strips were taken off the door, the glass removed, and laid to the side without any breakage. This occurred after 3:30 a.m. Sunday morning as the building was checked at that time.

Deputies Junior Mauldin and Roy Speer investigated.

Rear-end Collision

There was a rear-end collision around 11:45 a.m. last Thursday morning at the stoplight at the intersection of US 64 West and US 601.

Charles Royal Wilson, 35, of Winston-Salem was driving a 1972 Ambassador and had stopped for the red light. Myron Seth Nilson, 17, of Avon St., Mocksville was driving a 1962 Ford and ran into the rear of the Wilson car.

No charges were made.

Visited Davie County Tuesday

Richard Clark Kicks Off Congressional Campaign

Richard Clark, Democratic candidate for Congress, kicked off his campaign Tuesday with a visit to Davie and other counties of the 8th District. Mr. Clark visited many places of business in Mocksville and throughout the county on Tuesday accompanied by representatives of the press and WSOC-TV.

Concerning his campaign he issued the following statement: "Labor Day provides a convenient beginning for many campaigns. I want to announce the kick-off of my all-out campaign effort before Congress reconvenes because I want my opponent to hear the footsteps coming. From now until November 7, I will run straight at him every step of the way. When the dust settles, we will know who has listened to the concerns of our people and responded."

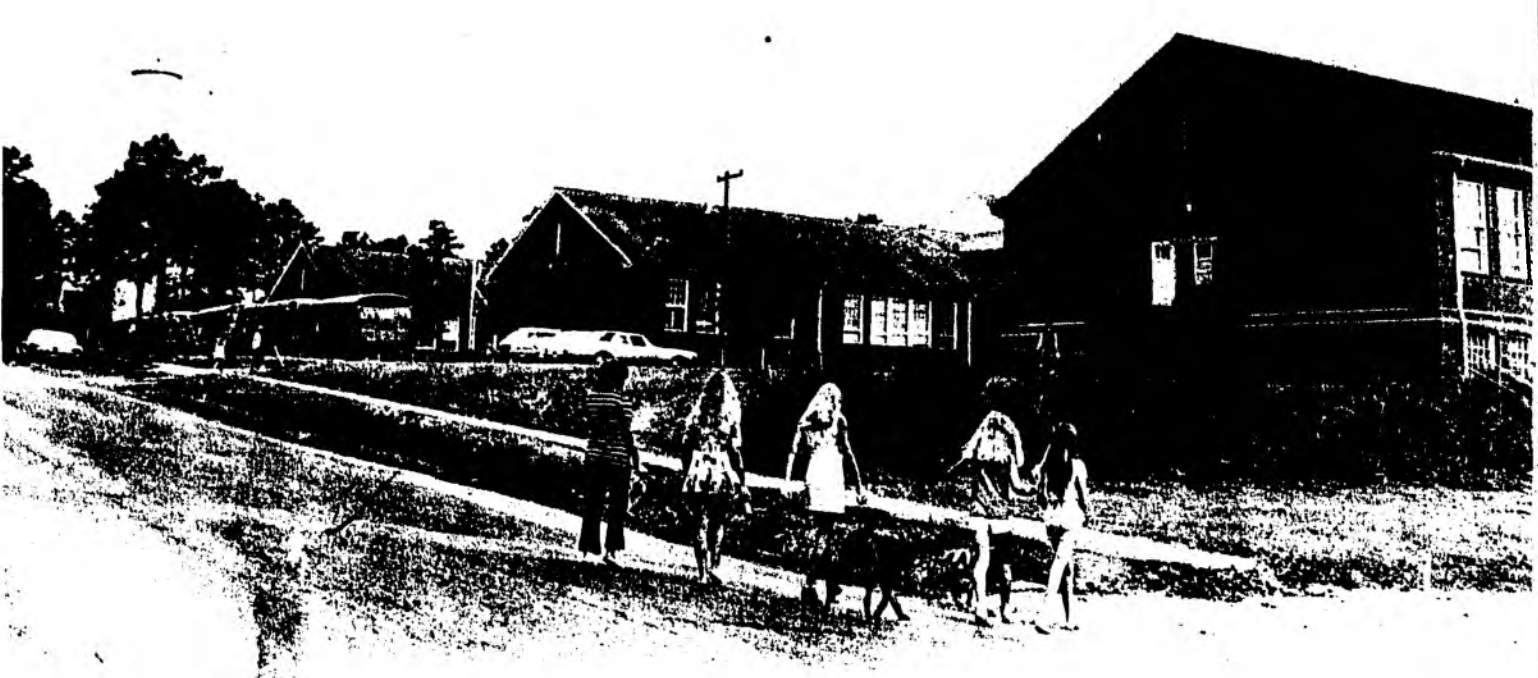

"My opponent has said he awoke one morning in 1968 only to learn that it had been decided he would run for Congress. Who had decided this for him was not revealed, but I think Dr. Ruth ought to tell us now - they might still be making his decisions for him."

"As for myself, after examining his record over four years, I concluded that someone just had to take this office away from Dr. Ruth and give it back to the people."

"Let's scan his performance for a moment. He could not have been thinking of our working men and women when he came out in support of a national sales tax or opposed the Tax Reform Act of 1969. He could not have been thinking of our small farmers or rural homeowners when he voted against low-cost loans under the Farm Credit bill. He could not have been thinking of our children when he fought additional funds for school libraries, student loans, vocational programs and career counseling. He must have been thinking of the pollsters when he voted not to require them to use the best available devices they could afford by 1981."

"During this campaign, I will draw out our differences on issues and offer proposals for their solution. People should know what policies their Congressman would have the country work towards. I invite my opponent to do likewise."

"There are also contrasts in the way the two of us will campaign. Dr. Ruth will pass out candy bars and hobnob with the Country Club Republicans who have bankrolled him into Congress. I will seek out

Disaster Relief Refused For Davie And 7 Other Counties

The President's Office of Emergency Preparedness has rejected the request of Governor Bob Scott that Davie and seven other counties damaged by Tropical Storm Agnes' floods be declared major disaster areas.

The disaster designation would have entitled the affected area to federal funds for the restoration of government facilities damaged by the storm.

In addition to Davie, Governor Scott had asked major disaster area designation for Rockingham, Yadkin, Forsyth, Surry, Stokes, Davidson, and Buncombe counties.

In rejecting the governor's request, George A. Lincoln, director of the Office of Emergency Preparedness, said his investigation had prompted the conclusion "that this situation does not appear to be of such severity and magnitude to warrant a major disaster declaration."

Lincoln pointed out that the secretary of agriculture and the head of the small business administration had designated the counties of Davidson, Davie, Forsyth, Rockingham, Stokes, Surry and Yadkin counties as eligible for low interest rate loans for flood losses.

Scott said in a news release that property damaged in the eight counties was estimated at more than $6.5 million including $2.8 million in Rockingham County. He said damage to municipal facilities totaled about $140,000 and damage to highways in the area amounted to $165,325.

Scott said he felt he had supplied the federal agency with "full and ample information to justify favorable action on the basis of the facts in this case."

In an effort to get the Administration to reconsider its decision to deny disaster aid to eight North Carolina counties damaged by Hurricane Agnes, Scott has invited President Nixon to make a personal inspection of the damaged areas.

"I am convinced that you will then agree that the situation does, indeed, warrant federal support," Galifianakis said in a telegram to the President.

The Fourth District Congressman told the President that "property damage in eight North Carolina counties has been estimated at above $6 million and recovery from the nightmare of damage and destruction would be an immense task."

Officers Seize Load Of Liquor

The Davie County Sheriff's Department seized a load of liquor last Thursday night on the Cornatzer Road, just off US 64 east.

The driver of the 1969 Oldsmobile jumped out of the car and ran when officers stopped the car.

The car contained 180 gallons of nontaxpaid liquor.

Bus Burns On I-40

An old Greyhound bus burned early Sunday morning on Interstate 40 in the west bound lane just above the Center interchange.

The bus was being used by the Winston-Salem Indians baseball team and contained players and wives enroute to Georgia. Approximately 35 people were on the bus.

A fire caught on fire and the flames soon engulfed the bus. No one was seriously injured but two were taken to the emergency room of the Davie County Hospital suffering from smoke inhalation. They were treated at the hospital for about 2 1/2 hours and were released.

The Center Volunteer Fire Department answered the call and extinguished the blaze. The bus was a total loss.

Several women members of the Davie County Rescue Squad took players to Winston-Salem to get private cars and continue the trip to Georgia.

225,000 Baby Trees Planted In Davie

More than 200,000 forest tree seedlings were sold in Davie County during the last planting season, the Davie County Ranger's Office reports. The reforestation projects were carried out on both abandoned croplands and non-productive woodlands in different parts of the county.

The non-productive woodlands, County Ranger Wayne Draughn explained, were areas on which past harvest operations had removed the most desirable trees and left cut trees and trees of inferior species to occupy the site. These "weed trees" prevent the establishment of straight, healthy young trees.

Such areas had to be "site prepared", Wayne said, meaning the areas were prepared for planting by removing the weed trees. (Using bulldozers especially equipped for reforestation work, the weed trees were pushed into small windrows). OR (In areas too steep for mechanical site preparation, large trees which had to be removed were injected with a special chemical causing the tree to grow itself to death. The new baby trees will then be able to get more nutrients and not have to compete for water and sun with the big trees).

Each site was left in rough condition to minimize erosion and to provide organic matter for the soil.

While abandoned crop sites usually were planted by machines, the site prepared woodland areas were planted by hand with approximately 620 seedlings per acre. Seed mixtures, provided free by the N.C. Wildlife Resources Commission, were broadcast on several site prepared areas to establish permanent food plots for birds and rabbits.

The N.C. Forest Service of the Department of Natural and Economic Resources has four forest tree nurseries that produced 57 million seedlings for transplanting by North Carolina landowners last year.

Federal cost sharing was provided to landowners for the projects by programs administered by county Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Services.

Timber production is only one benefit of reforestation projects -- improved wildlife habitat, recreation, aesthetic value, and soil and water conservation are additional gains.

Custom services and technical assistance are available through the County Forest Ranger's office.

The N.C. Forest Service is now lining up areas to be planted in Davie County during the coming planting season, which will start in early December. Landowners interested in planting trees in abandoned fields or cutover woodlands should contact County Ranger Wayne Draughn at 634-5319 or write him at Box 283, Mocksville, N.C.

College Costing Davie Families $540,000 per year

A larger than usual proportion of Davie County's young people will be heading for college soon, when the fall semester begins.

For their parents, the cost involved will be greater than ever. They are discovering that the bills for the year, as they arrive, are as much as $300 bigger than last year's in certain instances.

Based upon the number of local students enrolled and the new schedule of rates-for tuition, fees, room, board and incidentals, Davie County families will be bearing a load of approximately $540,000 for the coming academic year, it is estimated.

Data on college costs and the number of students from each community comes from surveys made by the U. S. Office of Education, the Department of Commerce and others.

They show that no less than 8,500,000 young men and young women will be attending college this year. This compares with 2,935,000 in 1960. Of this number, some 180 will be from the local area, as against the 1960 total of 33. What it will cost per year depends upon where they are going.

The lowest cost, according to a nationwide survey made by the Life Insurance Agency Management Association, is as the chief "culprit" in rising food prices. Following close behind were the government and unions. For the most part, urbanites "felt good" about farmers and didn't blame them for rising food prices.

Farm Bureau Seeks Members

Farmers are a little tired of being "second-class" citizens when they are performing a "first-class" job. Through an organization like Farm Bureau, farmers can unite and make their voices heard in the legislative halls and the market place.

government closer to the people. I doubt that our small businessmen, farmers and factory workers feel government has moved one step closer to them over the past decade. This has led to the apathy and cynicism we now find. If we are to continue doing great things for this country, we must dispel this sense of alienation. We in public life should conform our actions to the task of restoring people's faith that government serves them.

"I believe I know an antidote. In the last General Assembly we were having difficulties getting the Buyer Protection Law passed over the paid persuasiveness of shrewd lobbyists. Good legislators who wanted to do right by the public interest were getting only one side of the story. We decided to have the people who were being victimized testify. They were hardworking people, but poor, uneducated, and inexperienced. Salesman claiming to be 'with the government' had told them that unless they installed indoor plumbing their homes would be boarded up and they would be turned out. Confused and fearful, they put mortgages on their homes worth far in excess of the value of the work done, without understanding what they were signing.

"At no cost to state government, we had church groups, young local attorneys, and building inspectors bring these people to Raleigh. The eloquence of the simple and direct testimony swept away the glib assurances of the lobbyists and the bill passed. "We can compel attention to the needs of this Eighth District if our Congressman adopts this approach. Today I'm beginning the quest to go to Washington and make them hear what we think."

Gatlinburg, Tennessee has accommodations for 15,000 visitors over night and I truly believe there must be that many every night. It is a year round resort. I've never been there in winter, but, the summer is very nice and I was told the winters are just as good.

Gatlinburg is located on the northern edge of the Great Smokey National Park and the drive through the park is one you can't forget. It is an all year resort...skiing during the winter and all kinds of recreation and things to do in summer. It is the greatest for handicrafts and the market for their products is fine.

One of the newer attractions is the Space Needle...or Observation Tower. When you ride the Space elevator to the top it's exciting and the view from the Space Needle takes in all of Gatlinburg and the Great Smokey mountains.

It is 407 feet high above Pigeon River...432 feet above ground. The Needle can carry 250 persons and speed 453 feet per minute. You can take wonderful slides and photos from the top.

Then...there is the Cox Antique Car Museum (early American autos worth your time to see)...antique gun and rifle collections (over 100 exhibits)...The Wax Museum (120 life size figures from Columbus to the Astronauts)...Cristies Gardens (a story of Christ that you won't forget)...

There are so many good motels and hotels to stay in and with places to eat. We have been there several times and I enjoy it more every time we go. You order anything from soukrait-picked beans to flaming desserts.

One of the things we were served while in Gatlinburg that is good was:

PUMPKIN NUT BREAD

one-third cup sugar
2 eggs, 1 cup mashed pumpkin
1 and two-thirds cups sifted flour
1/4 teaspoon baking powder teaspoon soda
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon one third cup water
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
1/2 cup chopped nuts

Cream shortening and sugar together. Add eggs, one at a time, beating well after each addition. Stir in pumpkin. Sift dry ingredients together and add alternately with the water. Stir in vanilla and nuts. Turn batter into greased 9 x 5 x 3 inch pan. Bake at 350 degrees for about 45 minutes or until done.

Makes one loaf. If you like a fancy loaf, frost with cream cheese.

CORN PONE(Scaldies)

2 cups corn meal
1 teaspoon sugar
1 cup boiling water
1 teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons shortening

Measure corn meal, salt, sugar and shortening into mixing bowl. Have water boiling and gradually add to meal mixture, stirring constantly. When well blended, shape with wet hands into pones and bake on a well greased preheated baker in hot oven, 475-500 degrees. Bake until well browned. Serve at once, piping hot.

Harm Lurks In Home Chores

We are aware that so many products we use in our normal daily household chores are potentially harmful. Take the new phosphate-free detergents, for instance. Every one is alkaline to a degree. That's why their informative labeling is such a welcome contribution to mothers with small children and their little friends who come visiting. The front panels bear the warning "CAUTION: May Be Harmful To Eyes," or "CAUTION: May Be Harmful If Swallowed." Back or side panels tell us what to do in case of accident.

But we must remember tiny toddlers can't read! These warnings were meant for US! We have been using dangerous substances for years in the form of lye, bleaches, ammonia and other cleaning chemicals. Keeping ALL household cleaning chemicals out of the reach of children is a rule we absolutely must follow for their precious safety and well-being!

Once aware of the hazards, then the routine use of phosphate-free detergents makes even more sense. Used correctly, the wash comes out clean and bright. And, very importantly, our waterways will be just a little less polluted.

Bridesmaid Luncheon Given At Shelton Home

Miss Bobbi Lou Lakey, who will marry Freddie Dean Vines of Boone Saturday, September 2, in Farmington Baptist Church, was honored at a bridesmaid luncheon Saturday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Von Shelton in Southwood Acres. Hostesses were Mrs. Shelton and her daughter, Miss Cindy Shelton.

The honoree was given a corsage of white carnations upon arrival and a clock by the hostesses.

Among the eleven guests present were Mrs. Bob Lakey, mother of the bride, and her grandmother, Mrs. Rowland Lakey.

A traditional wedding cake was cut during the dessert course by the attendants with silver charms baked in the cake. Each charm had an amusing fortune.

A yellow and green color scheme was carried out in the floral arrangements and the luncheon menu. The table centerpiece was a crystal bowl filled with green water and floating yellow flowers.

The bride-elect presented her attendants with silver lockets to be worn with their wedding gowns.

Special guests were Ginger's cousins, their parents and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Owings.

Ginger was honored again with a dinner Sunday, August 27, at the home of her parents. Attending this affair were her God-parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frankie Payne and son, David of Winston-Salem; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Parrish of Yadkinville, and Gene Dull, Miss Kathy Smoot, Miss Lou Smoot, Mr. and Mrs. Von Shelton and family, and her grandmother, Mrs. Joe Shelton.

The honoree wore a yellow dress of polyester and her corsage was of miniature kitchen gadgets. A color scheme of yellow and green was used in decorating. The refreshment table was covered with a lace cloth which was centered with an arrangement of yellow dahlias. Guests were served punch, decorated cake squares, pickles, nuts and mints.

Birth Announcement

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Pilcher of Route 2, Mocksville, announce the birth of a son, Jonathan Edward, August 23, at Rowan Memorial Hospital in Salisbury. Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Booe of Route 6 and Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. George Pilcher of Route 5. They have another son Charles Phillip, age two.

"Dear Boss"

I won't be in to work today, I'm feeling mighty low. I've got a hurting in my side, and I just mashed my toe. I guess you know my baby's sick and Brother Bill is dead; I just can't seem to find a thing to ease my aching head. I pulled a muscle in my back and couldn't sleep last night. It seems my appetite is gone, for I can't eat a bite. I've had a fever all day long - I feel so sad and blue; I went to see the Doc today - I think I've got the flu. I had an accident last night; I think I broke a rib; But I stay in bed awhile, the doctor thinks I'll live. My wife's been sick for three days - A little under the weather But one more day, if Fate don't change, and she'll be feeling better I sure wish I could work today for the money I am needing. If I can't pay the rent this week, the landlord says we're leaving. I know you saw me up in town - I didn't try to hide, For you know my car's broke down, and I just missed my ride. It seems that everything is wrong; my life is filled with sorrow. I'm too near dead to work today, BUT I'LL BE IN TOMORROW!!!

MRS. RONALD WILSON

...was Cathy Lee Nichols

Miss Cathy Nichols, Ronald Wilson Wed In Baptist Rites

Miss Cathy Lee Nichols and Ronald Wilson were married Sunday, August 27, at Milford Hills Baptist Church in Salisbury.

Dr. J. T. Holland officiated at the four o'clock ceremony. Wedding music was presented by Mrs. Sam Hoffman, organist.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James C. Nichols of 1116 Edgedale Drive, Salisbury, was given in marriage by her father. She wore a floor-length gown of ivory organza and ruffled val lace with blue velvet trim. The dress was fashioned with a bibbed empire bodice, long bishop sleeves, apron effect A-line skirt which flowed into a chapel-length train edged in lace. Her headpiece was a half hat of matching organza with a butterfly veil of imported silk illusion, and she carried a nosegay of white roses, daisies and gypsophylla.

Miss Camille Nichols, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Miss Barbara Baird of Boone and Miss Jennifer Collins of Atlanta, Georgia, were bridesmaids. Pamela Jones of Shelby was flower girl.

The attendants wore formal dresses of sheer blue, green and gold flocked nylon over peau taffeta styled with empire waistlines trimmed with gold velvet ribbons. Their headpieces were made of gold velvet ribbon with short veils attached. They carried baskets of yellow daisies and gypsophylla.

The bridegroom's father, Charles Wilson of Newton was best man. Donald Wilson, twin brother of the groom, of Newton; Carl Nichols, brother of the bride, of Salisbury; Jack St. Clair of Taylorsville; and Michael Bolen of Greensboro, ushered.

A graduate of Salisbury High School, Mrs. Wilson received her B. S. degree in elementary education from Appalachian State University, Boone, where she is presently working on a masters degree in reading. She did her practice teaching at Mocksville Elementary School.

Mr. Wilson, a graduate of Appalachian State University, is presently employed with Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wilson of 218 West 12th Street, Newton.

Following the wedding ceremony, the bride's parents were hosts for a reception at the Elks Club in Salisbury.

The refreshment table was covered with a yellow linen cloth with lace overlay and decorated with pedestal floral arrangements of yellow and blue summer flowers and silver candelabra holding yellow tapers. The tiered wedding cake, was topped with a nosegay of fresh summer flowers.

The bride traveled in a white and blue polyester dress with matching veil and added a rose corsage.

After a honeymoon cruise to the Bahamas, the couple will live at Boone.

AFTER-REHEARSAL DINNER

Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Irvin of Mocksville, grandparents of the bride, were hosts at an after-rehearsal dinner Saturday night at the Holiday Inn in Salisbury.

The bride wore a floor-length, aqua and white floral print dress and added a corsage of white daisies.

The 32 guests were seated at a U-shaped table, centered with a bouquet of mixed summer flowers and brass candelsticks holding blue candles. Places were marked with net rice packets tied with ribbon and a flower. Toasts were made to the couple's happiness.

Among the guests was the bride's grandmother, Mrs. M. A. Pease of Woodbridge, Va. and Mr. and Mrs. Ely Cohen of New York City, house guests of the Irvins.

BRIDESMAIDS LUNCHEON

Mrs. Jack Welch entertained Friday at a luncheon for the bride and her attendants in the Redwood Room of the Salisbury Elks Lodge.

The table was covered in white linen and centered with a pink and white arrangement of rosebuds, tuberose and pompoms. Pink candles in silver holders were on either side of the bouquet.

The bride wore a floral print dress, and the hostess presented the bride-to-be with a gift of silver in her selected pattern.

MRS. DANNY RAY LEONARD

..... was Margaret Mary Weatherwax

Ceremony In Winston-Salem Of Interest Here

Miss Margaret Mary Weatherwax became the bride of Danny Ray Leonard on Saturday, August 26, in Reynolda Presbyterian Church. Dr. E. Perry Mobley and the Reverend James Hall officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fuller Garner Weatherwax of Winston-Salem. Mr. Weatherwax operates Weatherwax Pharmacy in Clemmons.

The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Dewey M. Black of Winston-Salem and Bobby R. Leonard of Lexington.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Leonard are graduates of R. J. Reynolds High School and attend Forsyth Technical Institute.

Mr. Weatherwax gave his daughter in marriage. The bride wore an heirloom gown of candlelight satin, the bodice fitted at the waist line, featured a yoke of marquisette adorned with seed pearls and wrist length sleeves. The full skirt ended in a cathedral length train. The matching length veil of bridal illusion fell from a band of seed pearls. She carried a semi-cascade of gazzara daisies, white sweetheart roses and baby's breath.

Miss Kay Weatherwax of Augusta, Georgia was her sister's maid of honor.

Bridesmaids were Miss Sallie Weatherwax, also, a sister of the bride; Miss Marianne Bond, Miss Kathy Bunn, Miss Carol Black, and Miss Toni Bean of Advance, a cousin of the bridegroom. They wore identical dresses of pink and aqua floral design on a white background with matching pinafores, trimmed in lace. They carried nosegays of gazzara daisies and queen asters.

Dewey M. Black was his stepson's best man. Groomsmen were William F. Weatherwax, II, brother of the bride; Joseph Denny, Mark Frazier, Charles A. Black, Kenneth Black and Neil Ray Bean of Advance, the bridegroom's uncle.

After the ceremony the bride's parents entertained at a reception. Mrs. William F. Weatherwax II kept the bride's book.

Following the reception Mr. and Mrs. Leonard left on a wedding trip to the coast. They will live in Winston-Salem, where the bridegroom will work for Hanes Corporation.

Miss West, Mr. Tutterow Married In Home Ceremony

Miss Frances Jean West and James Larry Tutterow were married at 4 p.m. on Saturday, August 26 at the home of the bride's parents by the Rev. Fred Shoaf, pastor of Wesley Chapel United Methodist Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roland H. West of Route 2, Mocksville. She is a graduate of Davie County High School and will attend Davis Hospital School of Nursing in Statesville.

Mr. Tutterow is the son of Betty Walker of Milling Road, Mocksville and J.B. Tutterow of Route 1, Mocksville. He is also a graduate of Davie County High School. He attended Wingate Junior College and served with the United States Army in Vietnam. At present, he is employed by Bell Construction Company in Statesville.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length gown of silk organza mad with an empire waistline, high neckline, and long bishop sleeves. Chantilly lace appliques and seed pearls were scattered on the bodice, skirt, and sleeves. Her veil of illusion was attached to a headpiece of organza flowers and petals accented with yellow bows and streamers. She carried a nosegay of mums, shasta daisies and white roses.

Miss Susan West, the bride's sister, was maid of honor. She wore a floor length, long-sleeved dress of yellow, white, and green. She carried a nosegay of yellow mums.

Ronnie Chaffin of Advance was best man. Prior to the ceremony, the candles were lit by the bride's brother, Roland Henry West, Jr.

Following the ceremony the bride's parents entertained in the dining room of their home.

The bridal table, covered with a white Irish linen cutwork cloth, was centered with an arrangement of white and yellow mums flanked by white candles. Punch was served from a crystal punch bowl, which was encircled by ivy and white flowers.

Wedding cake, mints and nuts were also served to the relatives and close friends who attended the ceremony.

Miss Mary Etchison and Mrs. John Etchison, the bride's aunts, assisted in serving.

The couple will live at Dogwood Estates, Route 1, Statesville, North Carolina.

MRS. CHARLES HENRY HAMMOND

..... was Linda Jane Wooten

Ceremony In Harmony Unites Miss Wooten, Mr. Hammond

Miss Linda Jane Wooten became the bride of Charles Henry Hammond Saturday, August 26, in a 4 p.m. ceremony at New Union United Methodist Church in Harmony, N. C. The Rev. Robert Crook officiated.

Miss Gayle Johnson, organist, presented music. Selections played prior to the ceremony included "Liebestraum", "Ave Maria", "Let Us Rejoice", "My Heart Stood Still", "Clair de Lune", "Andante Cantabile", "My Own True Love", and "Allegro". The Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin was used for the entrance of the bride attendants and the bride. "He" was used as the couple knelt for the benediction and "Be Present, Blessed Savior" was played during the candle service. The Wedding March from A Midsummer Night's Dream was used for the recessional.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Claude S. Wooten of Route 1, Harmony. She graduated from Harmony High School, Mitchell College and received a BS degree in Home Economics from Appalachian State University. She is presently employed at Seven Devils Resort in Boone, N. C.

The groom, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Hammond of 2421 Lol Avenue, Charlotte, graduated from Garinger High School in Charlotte and received a BS degree in Health and Physical Education from Appalachian State University. He is presently working toward an MA degree at Appalachian.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of silk organza with Chantilly lace featuring a high neckline accented by a beaded yoke with an A-line skirt and long tapered sleeves of lace. The attached chapel train was accented by a wide band of Chantilly lace. Her headpiece was a two-tiered veil of imported silk illusion and was attached to a headpiece of Chantilly lace leaves outlined in seed pearls. She carried her own Bible which was covered in white satin and topped with a white orchid surrounded by tiny pom poms and lilies of the valley.

Miss Judy Partee of Raleigh was maid of honor. She wore a formal gown of frosted aqua satin with an overlay of embroidered sheer featuring a scoop neckline and Camelot sleeves and an Empire waistline accented by velvet ribbon. Her headpiece was a matching halo and she carried white double mums.

Mrs. Wayne Rogers of Maiden, Mrs. Charles Hicks of Harmony and Mrs. Odell Brady of Ramseur, all cousins of the bride, were bridesmaids. Their dresses were of the same style and fabric as the maid of honor with each bridesmaid wearing a different color, pink, yellow, and blue, with matching accessories. Each carried a single mum tinted to match their gown.

The groom's father was best man. Ushers were Clifton Hammond and Jerry Hammond of Charlotte, brothers of the groom; Billy Wooten of Union Grove, cousin of the bride; Danny Adkins of Charlotte; and Larry Overbay of Glade Spring, Virginia.

Junior ushers were Roger Wooten of Route 1, Mocksville and David Wooten of Union Grove.

For the wedding trip to an undisclosed destination, the bride changed to a V-necked jersey polyester dress with beige background and navy, yellow and orange geometrical design and accented by navy bands at the neckline, hemline and wrists. She wore navy accessories and lifted the orchid from her bouquet for a corsage.

After September 5th, the couple will be at home at 501 Grand Boulevard, Boone, N. C.

TOP QUALITY FOR 25 YEARS

Principal V.G. Prim and school secretary, Mrs. Kathleen Spry, are shown in a portion of the office suite.

The new Cooleemee Elementary School Building contains two classroom suites, a large library, teachers lounge and an office suite.

New School Opens At Cooleemee

Individual study areas, provided in the library, prevent distractions.

The new ceramic tile restrooms are most attractive.

The summer vacation is over . . . And school bells are ringing once again in Davie County.

The schools officially opened Monday for orientation but the students were dismissed before noon. Tuesday was the first full day of school with the lunchrooms and busses operating on regular schedule.

The new elementary school building in Cooleemee was completed in time for the opening day, with the exception of the parking lot, which is in the process of being paved this week. They are using old furniture from the other schools at this time, but hopefully a portion of the new furnishings will arrive this week.

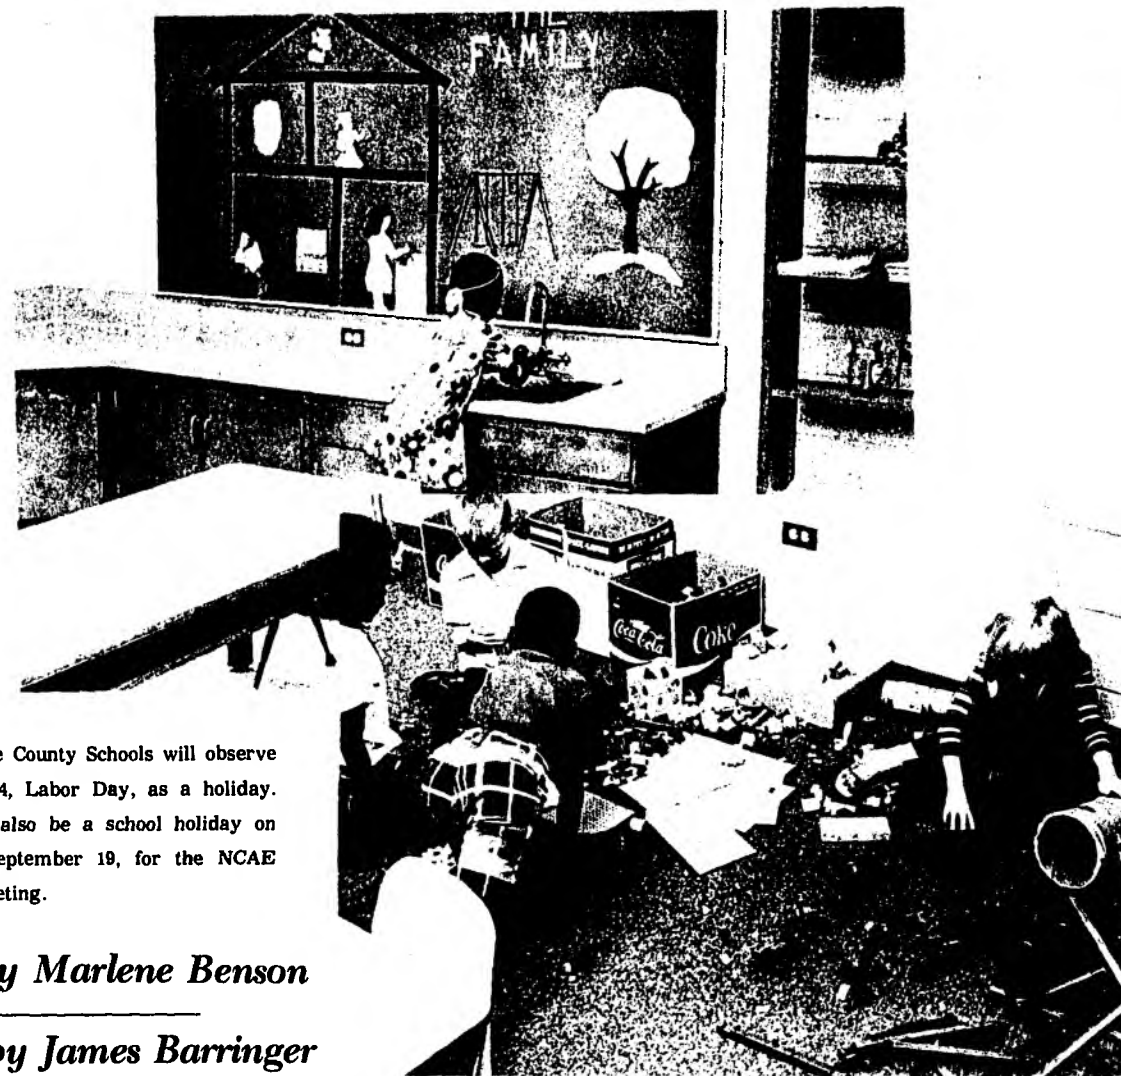

The new building will only provide space for the first and second year students and a very small percentage of third year students. Approximately 192, of more than 730 elementary students, will be permitted to attend class in the new modern building. The kindergarten classes are also being held in the old building this year.

There are two suites in the new building with three teachers and one teacher's aide assigned to each suite full time and approximately 96 students in each suite.

The new building also contains a well arranged office suite, a beautiful library, and ceramic tile restrooms.

The faculty, students, and parents are equally proud of Cooleemee's new modern building, regretting only, that there isn't more of it.

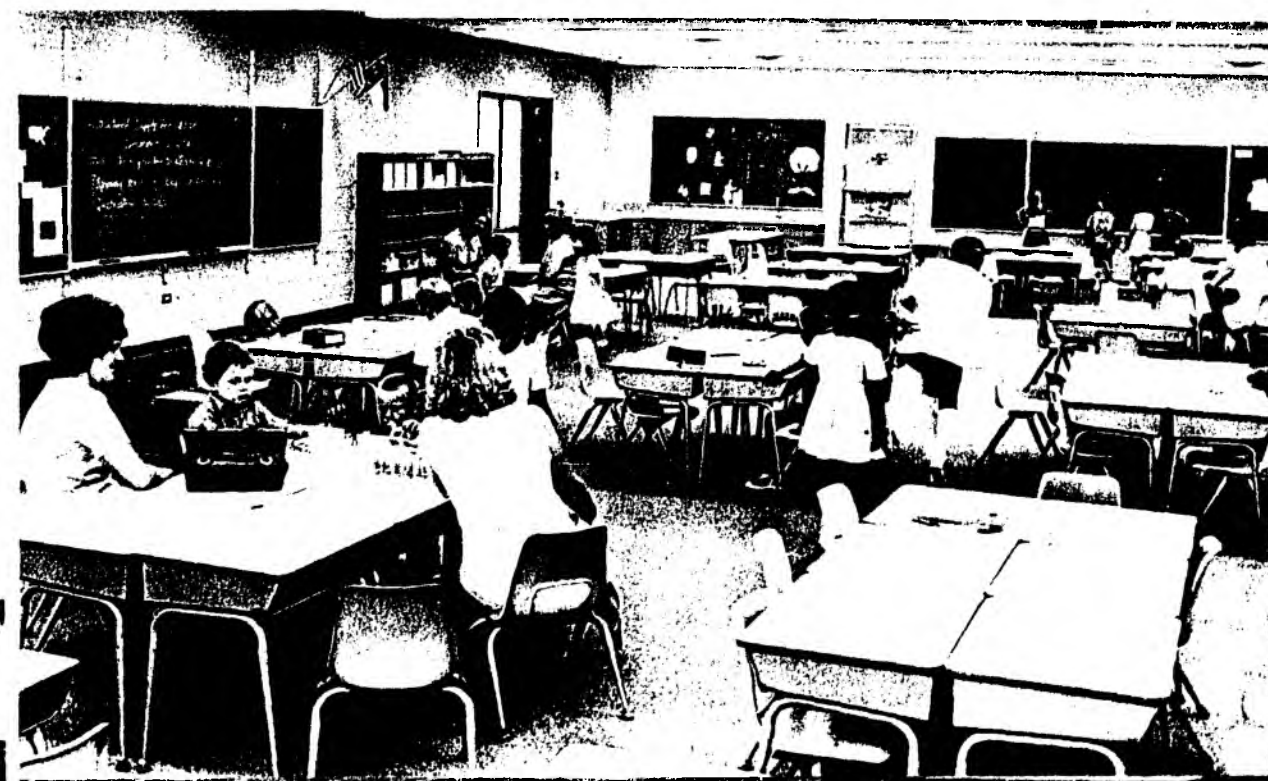

Hopefully, in the near future, the entire student body of Cooleemee Elementary School will be permitted to enjoy the beauty and conveniences of a new modern school building.

Each suite is equipped with sinks and a variety of educational activity toys.

Story by Marlene Benson

The first year students occupy one suite (top) and the second year students and a very small percentage of third year students occupy the other suite. There are approximately 96 students in each.

The large library in the new building will be used by the entire student body of Cooleemee Elementary School.

The Adult Education Center

Bet You Didn't Know, Either!

by Wim Osborne

Gee whiz! I didn't know until recently there were so many different courses offered at the Adult Education Center in Mocksville. For the benefit of the other dumb-dumbs (like me—bad grammar) who didn't know, the Center is an extension of Davidson County Community College. The director is Mr. Gray Everhart and the staff includes: Beard, Cartmell, Riley, Pope, Boyd, Anderson, Boger, Hubbard, Taylor, Smith, Harris, Thomas, Lyerly, Huston, Wall, Brogdon and McCray. Whether these teachers are Miss, Mrs., or Mr.—your guess is as good as mine. The list Gray gave me didn't specify. When you go to register for the courses in which you have an interest—ask him.

Want your High School

Nell H. Lashley

Mr. and Mrs. Grady Smith spent Sunday and Monday in New Hill near Raleigh with Mr. and Mrs. Earl C. Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. W.S. Spillman and Miss Margaret Brock were Sunday dinner guests of Mrs. Ham Collette in Winston-Salem.

Mr. and Mrs. Skippy Nash of Washington D.C. were Wednesday night visitors of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S.W. Spillman.

Sunday visitors of Mrs. Queen Bess Kennen were Mr. and Mrs. Hoyle Widenhouse and son Kennen, of Concord.

Mrs. William Scholtes of Winston-Salem, Mr. and Mrs. George Hartmen of Mocksville were Sunday visitors of Mrs. Nell Lashley.

The United Methodist Youth Fellowship entertained their parents Sunday with a picnic cook-out supper at the Recreation Center. After the supper a team of parents played a team of the older youth in a softball game to entertain the others.

Michigan Visitors At Reynolds Plant

"I wondered what was going on when the girl told me they had a special display for us to see because the other visitors weren't going that way, but I never imagined all of this."

This was the reaction of Mrs. Donald M. Fry of Dearborn, Michigan, August 16 as she and her husband were honored as recorded visitors number two million and two million and one to the facilities of R.J. Reynolds Tobacco Company.

Mrs. Fry said she and her husband were taking a one-week vacation in North Carolina to see the state where her parents diploma? Why wait? Go get it! Didn't get to High School? There's an ABE Program-Adult Basic Education to bring you through Elementary School. College courses? Sure, they have English Composition and Literature, History, Mathematics, algebra, Psychology, Bible, Sociology, and Typewriting. The cost of ABE and High School is low enough—it's FREE! The college courses are $3.00 per quarter hour. Each class will cost either $9.00 or $15.00. Books must be purchased. Each class must have at least 15 students—or no class.

Maybe you've finished with all that and want to try something different. O.K., try the Creative Arts Classes. There's general, beginning and advanced art. I'm a beginner and my drawings may never hang in a museum, but I'm enjoying myself and it costs so little—$2.00 for 22 hours. How do you know whether or not you can draw if you don't try? To quote Gene Payne, the Pulitzer Prize winning cartoonist, "It's 10 per cent talent and 90 per cent work." And lots of fun! Then, there's cake decorating,

A large crowd attended a program of Gospel Music under the sponsorship of Mr. Ben Martin of Raleigh at Courtney Baptist Church Sunday night. Mr. Martin is a former resident of Yadkin County.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Murray enjoyed a trip to Pinnacle the past weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. C.S. Dull, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Elmore and family attended the Dull reunion at Concord Methodist Church Sunday at Lewisville.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Davis visited Mr. and Mrs. Henry Vanhoy in Winston-Salem last Tuesday while there they also visited, Mr. and Mrs. Bynum Davis.

Mr. Edward Burgess returned home Sunday from Davie County Hospital after spending several days there.

ceramics, creative stitchery, decoupage, flower arranging, toile painting, crafts for the home and terrarium.

In the Family Life Course—gourmet cooking, self-defense for women, Black History and culture, sewing, tailoring, interior decorating, Bible and first aid are offered. (Some of these classes are still to be scheduled.)

The Personal Interest courses include—bridge, bookkeeping, shorthand, driver education, effective listening, safety with firearms, aviators ground school, small motor repair and gymnastics. I wanted to take a typing course, but Mr. Everhart informed me, "Due to lack of funds, we cannot buy the typewriters. I have a list as long as my arm of people who want to take typing. Wish I could help them." (And he has a long arm!) He loaned me a beginner's typing book and I'm trying to teach myself.

If this seems an unusual way to inform the public about the Adult Education program, well, maybe it is, but it's my way. (I'll take the blame.) If you've read this far, you must be curious or interested enough to check into these courses. Lack of interest may cause some courses to be discontinued.

Now that I have completely confused everyone, why not call the Center and be properly informed? The center is open 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. on Monday, Tuesday, and Thursday. The phone no. is 634-3415. Registration is August 28 to Sept. 1 for the fall quarter. Hurry!

Troy Johnson

Completes Course

Troy W. Johnson of Advance has graduated from the North Carolina Truck Driver Training School at North Carolina State University.

The N. C. Truck Driver Training School operates as a component of NCSU's Division of Continuing Education. Since its inception in 1949, the school has graduated more than 7,000 professional truck drivers. The course runs for four weeks.

assortment of gifts representative of Winston-Salem and North Carolina industries. They also received a set of luggage and a year's supply of their favorite brand of Reynolds cigarettes.

In addition to the gifts, the couple was the guest of Reynolds for two days of sight-seeing around Winston-Salem.

The company began keeping records on its visitors late in 1938, but guests had been touring the plants since 1918. During the first full year of record keeping, 1939, Reynolds had 4,965 visitors. In 1971, the total had increased to 143,305. This year the total is mounting by about 1,400 each day and is already 10,000 people ahead of the same period in 1971.

Up until 1968, tours were conducted in the company's downtown facilities, but that year all tours were moved to the Whitaker Park plant. Free, individual tours of Whitaker Park are available Monday-Friday from 7:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. and from 4:30 p.m. to 10 p.m. A personalized tour takes about an hour.

The Beauchamp family reunion will be held Sunday, September 3, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Major Beauchamp on Beauchamp Road. Friends and relatives are invited to attend. Lunch will be served at 1 p. m.

Girl Scout Association No. 9, which includes all adult Girl Scouts in Davie County, S. W. Winston-Salem and S. W. Forsyth County will hold its Fall Meeting on Thursday, September 14, at 7:30 p.m. at the Presbyterian Church in Clemmons. Mrs. James E. Kelly, Jr. of Mocksville, Association Chairman, will preside.

Members will hear a report from the May Board Meeting which will include action taken on the report of the Camp Study Committee. A delegate from the Tarheel Triad Council who will attend the National Council Meeting in Dallas in October will present proposals to be acted on by the National Council to receive reactions for members of the Association.

Plans will also be made for special events for girls from 1972-73 and for adult training needs.

Richard Clark Sees The "Little Man"

In a speech to the Salisbury Kiwanis Club Friday, Eighth District Congressional candidate Richard Clark spelled out the differences in the way big government treats big business vs. the little man. Citing examples of how Washington has bailed out Lockheed, Penn Central and aided ITT, Clark said that if a small firm goes under, big government doesn't subsidize it back to life.

Clark noted that a combination of hefty political contributions and slick lobbyists work to the advantage of big business, while the average man can't be heard.

"It is very difficult," the former state legislator said, "to get to a city council meeting or a meeting of the board of county commissioners. It is even more difficult to get to the capitol. Working people, due to finances and other obligations, can't afford to sit through days of hearings. The man who is running his own business can't afford to take time away from that business and go to the capitol nor can he afford to hire expensive legal talent to go for him."

Clark said that legislators are often insulated, "aware only of what they see and hear at the capitol building—and only the politically knowledgeable, or shrewd, hang around the capitol."

The problem was underscored, Clark told his audience, in his effort to get the Buyer Protection Bill passed into state law. His fellow legislators could not believe the ordinary citizen was being defrauded by "highrollers and bluesuedshoe boys." Without a

Wilson Reunion Held Aug. 27

The annual Wilson Reunion was held Sunday, August 27th, at the Jericho-HardisonRuritan Building.

The five remaining children there were J.B. Wilson, Edrie Wilson, Mrs. Everette H. Brown and D.C. (Clint) Wilson, all of Route 7, Mocksville, and Mrs. Flake Thomas of Harmony. Most of the grandchildren and great grandchildren also attended.

Those attending from out of town were Mrs. George Hall of Hickory; Mrs. Beatrice Furgerson of Gastonia; Mrs. Yager Wilson of Charlotte; Mrs. Bill Pence and children of Cleveland; Mr. and Mrs. Howard Norville of Matthews; and Mrs. Elizabeth Butler Rose and two daughters of Alabama.

way to bring the victims to Raleigh to tell their experiences the bill would have been defeated. But Clark worked with friends of the victims to get them to the capitol. After hearing the problems, the bill, which brings more fairness to the market place, was passed.

Clark said that government is not moving closer to the people. He told his audience that this is why "it is so important to sent to Washington representatives who see the average man, who don't selectively view society and who do not choose to respond only to the wheelers and dealers."

Dixie Classic Fair Exhibits

Dixie Classic Fair department heads today issued a reminder to all prospective exhibitors that the deadline for entries is Saturday, September 16.

Almost all exhibits, as well as participation in special events and contests, require pre-entry. For information, catalogs, and entry blanks, write or call The Fair, Post Office Box 7525, Winston-Salem, N. C. 27109—telephone 919-727-2236. Fair dates are October 2-7.

Davie Soil & Water Conservation District

Report For 1972

This report is to better acquaint all persons interested in the conservation of natural resources in Davie County, to keep the public informed of the progress of the District and to acknowledge the assistance that we have received from many cooperation groups. The work of the district is based on voluntary action and cooperation in achieving conservation objectives.

ADMINISTRATION OF THE DAVIE SOIL AND WATER CONSERVATION DISTRICT

The Davie Soil and Water Conservation District, is directed by a board of supervisors composed of five local men, three elected and two appointed, each for a term of three years on a staggered basis. They donate their time and pay their own expenses.

The Supervisors are Brady Angell, Chairman; I. H. "Cokie" Jones, Vice-chairman; Richard Brock, secretary; Johnny Ray Allen, treasurer; and Edwin Boger, Member.

The District has appointed two associate supervisors. Associate supervisors serve: (a) without pay; (b) without legal status; and (c) without a vote in District affairs.

The associate supervisors are Clay Hunter and Clarence Rupard.

SOIL STEWARDSHIP WEEK was observed from May 7-14, 1972. This is a national observance, observed one week each year, beginning with the fifth Sunday after Easter. This year's theme was "Creative Conservation".

Eight thousand church program inserts, 500 placemats, 50 booklets and 50 posters were distributed.

On May 2, 1972, the District sponsored a tour for all ministers of the County in connection with Soil Stewardship Week. Environmental problems generated by growth in Davie County were seen, and their solutions discussed.

EDUCATION: The future of our natural resources depends on the education the young people receive today. One thousand conservation booklets, "Working Together For a Livable Land", were placed in all fifth and seventh grades in Davie County. These illustrated booklets were designed to aid in their classroom study of conservation.

In connection with Conservation Week, held March 13-17, 1972, the Davie Soil and Water Conservation District sponsored their third annual Essay Contest in the high school. The theme was "The Choice Is Mine".

The second annual Conservation Poster Contest was held in the seventh and eighth grades in the County. The posters were based on any sound conservation idea of our natural resources that the student wished to present.

As part of our Education Program, an awards night was held at the May meeting of the District with over 50 students, parents, and teachers present. Grady McClamrock (right), member of the Education Committee, did an outstanding job presenting awards to the winners of contests within each school and the County Winners. He was assisted by Lib Bowles, (left), Secretary of the District, and Supervisor Edwin Boger.

The Davie Soil and Water Conservation District sponsored a Soil Conservation Demonstration for 4-H members. This enables a worthy child to attend 4-H Camp or 4-H Club Congress with a partial scholarship.

Pinebrook School received a one hundred dollar grant for assistance in the development of an outdoor conservation laboratory. Work on the nature trail is to begin in the summer of 1972.

GOODYEAR CONTEST. The Davie Soil and Water Conservation District placed first in the statewide competition for the annual 1970 Goodyear Conservation Awards. The contest is sponsored by the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company in cooperation with the National Association of Conservation Districts. Selection was made by a committee of conservation leaders on the basis of the District's planning, leadership, and accomplishments in resource development last year.

Pictured are Luther West, (left), of Route 2, Mocksville, and who was named the District's Conservation Farmer of the Year 1970, and Edwin Boger, Route 6, Mocksville, Supervisor, as they returned from a vacation-study tour at the 10,000 acre Goodyear Farms and the Wigwam at Litchfield Park, Arizona, in December, 1971. This trip was made as a result of the District's winning first place.

Each supervisor and Mr. West were presented with Certificates of Merit from the Goodyear Company and the District received a plaque at the State Association Meeting of Soil and Water Conservation District Supervisors.

The District is not eligible for first place for 5 years; however, they have been named runner-up for the 1971 Goodyear Contest.

RESOURCE CONSERVATION WORKSHOP. The eighth annual Resource Conservation Workshop was held June 12-16, 1972, on the campus of North Carolina State University in Raleigh, North Carolina.

The Vocational teachers of the Davie County High School assisted in selecting George Leagans, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Leagans, of Route 5, Mocksville, North Carolina, to attend the 1972 Workshop from Davie County.

NEWSLETTER. The District published a Newsletter, quarterly, sending it to its many friends interested in the conservation program in Davie County. The following businesses helped sponsor the Newsletter: West Dairy Equipment Company, Davie Tractor & Implement Company, Bill Merrell Furniture Company, Inc., Branch Banking and Trust Company, Caudell Lumber Company, Heffner's Land of Food, Hall Drug Company and Mocksville Oil Company.

OUTSTANDING CONSERVATION FARMER AWARD. Mr. John Ferebee, of Route 1, Advance, North Carolina, was presented the Outstanding Conservation Farmer Award for the year 1971.

Selection was made by the Davie Soil and Water Conservation District Board of Supervisors based on the practices carried out in the conservation plans of the District Cooperators.

MATCHING FUNDS. Eleven hundred fifty dollars matching funds were received from the State of North Carolina. These funds were used toward supplies for Soil Stewardship Week, District election, the Newsletter, the Annual Report, Conservation Education, Roadbank beautification and secretarial assistance.

DISTRICT COOPERATORS. Twenty-eight new cooperators requested conservation planning from the District, making a total of 983 landowners who are cooperators with the local district, involving 87,000 acres of land.

PLANT MATERIAL. To aid Davie County Cooperators in a year around grazing program, the Davie Soil and Water Conservation District ordered 200 pounds of Seralea Lespedeza seed and 100 pounds of Interstate Sericea Lespedeza and distributed to cooperators at cost.

STATE AND FEDERAL ASSISTANCE

Other agencies participating in the 1971-72 soil and water conservation activities were:

N. C. Forestry Division: Two hundred twenty-two thousand trees were planted by the North Carolina Forest Service crew. Two hundred thirty-nine acres of hardwood were converted to pine and 99 acres open land was planted to pine. Eight acres of woodland were thinned and 180 acres marked for harvest. Three forest fires were put out and only 5 acres burned. The North Carolina Forest Service presented 20 radio programs, 5 news releases, 6 school programs, 35 "Smoke" programs for elementary students throughout the County, and 2 tours.

N. C. Wildlife Commission: Forty-two applicants for wildlife planting materials were approved. One hundred forty-seven units of sericea lespedeza, 101 units of annual seed, 12 units (12,000 plants) of shrub lespedeza, 122 units of shrub lespedeza seed, and 120 autumn olive seedlings were seeded. The 4,000 acre Cooleemee Plantation, 2,500 acres in Davie County and 1,500 acres in Davidson County, was again leased by the Wildlife Resources Commission for public hunting during the upcoming 1972-73 hunting season. This area is located near Fork, North Carolina. A special public hunting permit is required to hunt on this area. Development activities on this area included the planting of 55 annual seed patches, 1/4 to 1/2 acre each for small game, and 20 acres of millet for dove hunting.

Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service: Seven hundred fourteen acres of pasture seeding, 186 acres of tree planting, 2,321 acres of pasture renovation, 31 acres of grass rotation and 3 acres of field strip cropping were planted with 590 farmers participating in the 1971 REAP program. Two lagoons were constructed, 26 acres of timber stand improvement and 114 acres were benefited from waterways constructed through the REAP program.

Extension Service: The Agricultural Extension Program prepared 10 news articles and had 5 radio and 2 television programs. Individual assistance was given in the areas of forestry (planting trees and woodland management) 5 landowners, rotations (use of fescue and small grains to establish vegetative cover on cultivated cropland) 4 landowners, and pastures (establishing and maintaining) 10 landowners.

Fourteen Home Demonstration clubs are organized in this county. These clubs held 168 meetings during the Fiscal Year and completed 14 beautification projects.

There are 8 community 4-H clubs and 8 special interest groups in this county which have held 134 meetings. These boys and girls have prepared over 70 news articles and have given 208 radio programs and 5 television programs encouraging conservation practices. One course in Soil Conservation for 4-H has been offered, and 5 projects in soils were completed.

Davie County Board of Education: The County's 7 schools offered 10 courses in soil and water conservation as a part of their curriculum, with 3,100 students participating. Seven hundred fifty-six participated in the poster contest held in the 6 elementary schools; while 128 students entered the essay contest held at the high school. All 7 schools had classroom exhibits with 3,100 students participating. Each school sponsored a field trip with 1,800 students participating.

Farmers Home Administration: FHA has the following loans in Davie County: 1 operating loan, 6 farm ownership loans, 22 Rural Housing Loans, and 1 Recreation loan. All borrowers are encouraged to follow SCS practices.

Soil Conservation Service: Cooperators now total 983 in this District, and covers approximately 87,000 acres. A total of 893 cooperators with 77,206 acres of land now have complete plans for using all their land within its capabilities. Four hundred twenty-five services were provided on conservation planning and application.

APPRECIATION

The Davie Soil and Water Conservation District wishes to express their appreciation to the many people who helped make and carry out the successful year of the District. Though it would be impossible to list them all, we would like to list the following: Davie County Commissioners, N. C. Highway Commission, Agricultural Extension Service, N. C. Forestry Service, Farmers Home Administration, N. C. Wildlife Resource Commission, Davie County Public Library, Dutchman Creek Watershed Improvement District, Mocksville Business Firms, Davie County School System, County Officials, ASCS, Soil Conservation Service, State Soil and Water Conservation Committee and many other individuals from all areas of the District.

The District also extends special appreciation to the Davie County Enterprise for assisting the District by publishing notices and 44 news articles and stories related to conservation. Also, Radio Station WDSL was a definite asset to the District with spot news and provided time bi-monthly for a conservation program.

RESOURCE CHALLENGE 1970's

Conservation is where people are. It includes eroding soil, muddy sediment, seeping septic tanks and related natural environmental problems generated by growth. Although progress was made in conservation during 1972, we have seen the clear flowing streams become polluted with heavy loads of silt and many of them dumping grounds for garbage. Sediment, the product of erosion, is a major pollutant of our flowing streams and lakes. The quality of water in Davie County streams and lakes continues to decline because:

1. Runoff from agricultural land carries the greatest amount of sediment, since 151,780 acres of agricultural land are involved.

2. An estimated 660,000 tons of soil are transported into our streams each year from cropland erosion. One-half to three-fourths of the topsoil has been removed from 63 percent of the land. Annual loss exceeded the 660,000 tons during 1972.

3. Increasing sediment is going into streams from non-agricultural land, construction sites, and unstable road banks. Unless some action is taken to control it, non-farm erosion will become more widespread in the county.

4. Animals concentrated in barnyards and feed lots in the county are generating large quantities of waste. A total of 379,400 tons of animal waste is produced each year in Davie County. It is not unusual for a feed lot to have 200 head per acre. This means nearly 4 tons of soil waste are deposited on this acre each day. Runoff from these areas can carry plant nutrients, infectious agents, and organic materials which depletes life-giving oxygen in streams.

5. Conservation Needs Inventory completed in 1970 shows that only 26 percent of the cropland has adequate conservation treatment; 35 percent of the pastureland and 12 percent of the woodland.

6. The management or use of each tract of land not only influences the individual owner, it also influences the neighborhood, community and county. Each citizen has a unique challenge and responsibility with the changes taking place in Davie County. Resource facts need to be made available so that each citizen can make wise decisions. Soil survey information can be useful to the owner who is building a home. Approximately 30 percent of the soil in Davie County has severe soil restrictions that affects construction of homes.

DUTCHMAN CREEK WATERSHED

More than 70 percent of the planned land treatment measures have been applied. Sixty percent of the conservation plans have been prepared. Of the 65 acres of critical area, 37 acres have been planted to grass and legumes and 30.5 acres of trees. The N. C. Forest Service has planted 766 acres of trees, and erected a 100 foot fire control tower for fire protection in the watershed. Land treatment has been given high priority and will be installed ahead of schedule.

Progress in Structural Measures. Nine floodwater retarding structures and 386,200 feet of channel improvement are planned for this project. Construction is complete on Structure No. 8. Structures No. 10 and No. 15A are in the construction stage and are expected to be completed this year.

Barber Poles Surviving Despite Cut In Bleeding

Cold shouldered by long hairs, attacked by civic beautifiers, ignored by do-it-yourself snippers, collected by antique lovers—the tonsorial totem still survives for the ages.

The barber pole seems safe from going the way of the cigar store Indian. At last count, there were some 112,000 in front of as many barber shops across the United States, with every sign of more to come with the Nation's increasing head count.

Red, white, and sometimes blue stripes glowing with an inner light behind shatterproof lucite shells, today's barber poles are milestones of sorts in man's evolution, the National Geographic Society says.

They are everlastingly whirling in shopping centers, navy ships at sea, and some hairdressing emporiums where ritualistic ministrations cost what used to be a week's wages.

All are descendants of wooden barber poles, weatherbeaten and often needing paint, that once showed the way to a shave and a haircut. At thousands of one-chair barber parlors the proprietor provided the works accompanied by a usually unsolicited running commentary on the passing parade and the wrongs of the world.

Motorists Urged To Drive With Care

The city of Mocksville begins its annual drive to alert motorists to drive with extra care in school areas and near school buses this week...and during the weeks to come.

Colorful "School's Open" posters are being displayed throughout the community as part of the national effort by the American Automobile Association and the Carolina Motor Club to reduce the death and injury of our children.

Citing national figures revealed in a recent AAA nationwide survey, Chief of Police Joe W. Foster pointed out that each year some 500 school children aged 5-14 are killed and nearly 11,000 are injured as they travel to and from school.

Because the AAA study showed that kindergarten and first grade youngsters suffer the greatest number of school-route pedestrian injuries, Chief Foster urged parents to walk with their children at least on the opening day of school to make certain that the youngsters take the safest route to school.

If at all feasible, the chief said, parents should avoid driving children to school because this only adds to the traffic confusion around school areas, thus creating extra hazards for all youngsters going to school.

Farm Tips

By Dr. J. W. Pou
Agricultural Specialist
Wachovia Bank & Trust Co., N.A.

Grocery shoppers aren't the only ones who have been paying more for beef. Farmers are spending more for the breeding animals required to keep the "manufacturing" end of things humming.

This was reflected in the annual sale of breeding stock at the North Carolina Bull Testing Station at Rocky Mount recently. Prices for individual animals ranged up to $3,400 and the sales average was $883.

These bulls are all young animals entered in the rigid testing program to measure growth performance under standardized feeding conditions.

The 1972 sales topper, an Angus bull from the herd of Ralph N. Belk of Monroe, was the largest of his breed on test and grew the fastest — 3.86 pounds per day for the 140-day feeding period.

"These are the traits that producers are looking for," commented Clint Reese, North Carolina State University specialist who helps supervise performance evaluation at the Rocky Mount station.

"Generally, the larger the frame of the bull and the faster he grows, the greater the demand for him," the specialist commented.

He added that the beef industry currently is in a "retooling" period in which a changeover is being made from the smaller framed, blocky type animal to the big framed, trim, fast growing animal.

"Until fairly recently, we were selecting breeding animals on the basis of how they looked," Reese explained. "With the various testing programs we have going, such as the station at Rocky Mount, performance information is available that gives the breeder a good idea of what the bull can do to improve the kind of calves he's selling."

The entire effort is directed at making beef production more efficient — that is, growing slaughter cattle to market size in the shortest possible time and coming out with a trim, high quality carcass.

The change from small to large animals follows a course of selecting the better animals of the old breeds plus the introduction of new breeds.

Reese explained that, within the established so-called English breeds — Herford, Angus and Shorthorn — breeders are going through a selection process in which the "modern types" or big framed animals are being kept for breeding.

At the same time, "exotic" breeds, primarily from Europe, are being introduced. These new blood lines invariably represent cattle that generally are larger framed and more muscular than the conventional type of U.S. cattle.

Reese pointed out that crossbred bulls sired by one of the exotics — Simmental — sold at this year's Bull Testing Station sale for prices around $725 to $800 each.

"Just a few years ago, breeders wouldn't have dreamed of using anything but purebred bulls," the specialist explained. "But with the big push to produce the kind of cattle that is in demand, they are willing to use crossbred sires."

He pointed out that this "retooling" of U.S. cattle is a slow and expensive process, but it's being done because it will develop the kind of cattle that produce the steaks and roasts demanded by the consumer.

ASCS News

The U. S. Department of Agriculture has announced an interim price support loan program for the 1972 crop of flue-cured tobacco stored on farms.

The program is designed to provide flue-cured tobacco growers cash needed to complete the harvesting and curing of their crops and to facilitate orderly marketing. Department spokesmen pointed out that because of the general rush to market many producers are having difficulties obtaining space on the warehouse floors.

Loans under the program will provide immediate cash even though the tobacco is not sold until a later date.

Under the program the grower may request a farm storage loan on flue-cured tobacco at his local ASCS county office in the same manner as for farm storage loans on grain and other commodities. A representative of the County ASC Committee will visit the farm to inspect the tobacco for quality and to estimate the total poundage. If the tobacco is of average quality or better, an interim loan at the rate of 55 cents a pound for regular varieties, or 28 cents for discount varieties, will be made on that portion of his production which has not been marketed, up to 110 percent of his farm's poundage quota.

A loan cannot be obtained by a farmer who has failed to comply with his farm's acreage allotment, or who has been found to have used DDT or TDE on his tobacco after it was transplanted in the field. Also, a loan cannot be obtained on tobacco which is subject to lien unless the lienholder waives his prior rights. The tobacco upon which a loan has been obtained will be sealed and retained in storage facilities which must be of a type that will maintain the quality of the tobacco until it is eventually sold at the warehouse.

Any grower who obtains a loan on a portion of his tobacco, then harvests, cures and stores more of it later, may obtain a second loan on the later harvested leaf up to a season total of 110 percent of the farm's poundage quota less any quantity already marketed or placed under loan. A loan-handling service charge of $8. will be deducted from each loan at the time it is made, the same as for grain and other farm-stored commodities.

When the tobacco upon which a loan has been obtained is sold at auction, the amount of the loan plus interest at 30 cents for each $100 for each month or fraction thereof will be deducted by the warehouse. If the tobacco is delivered to the Flue-Cured Tobacco Cooperative Stabilization Corporation, only the principal of the loan will be deducted. If the amount of money received for the tobacco in the market or from the Stabilization Corporation does not equal the amount of the loan, the grower will be required to pay the difference.

Ballroom Classes Will Be Held

The Spruce Street Y. M. C. A. ballroom department will offer five courses in social dancing starting in September.

The schedule is: Beginner (adults) - September 8 at 8 p.m.; Beginner (adults) - September 9 at 8 p.m.; Intermediate (adults) - September 14 at 8 p.m.; Beginner (pre-teens) - September 9 at 3 p.m.; and Dancercise (women only) - September 11 at 7:30 p.m.

All of the courses will be one hour sessions for eight weeks. Missed lessons may be made up, and participants do not need to enroll with a partner.

Instruction in standard and basic steps will be given in the beginner courses, including cha-cha, fox-trot, waltz, discotheque (rock), and jitterbug. Descriptive notes will be furnished.

Variations, turns, and more advanced patterns of basic steps will be taught in the intermediate course, with the addition of tango.

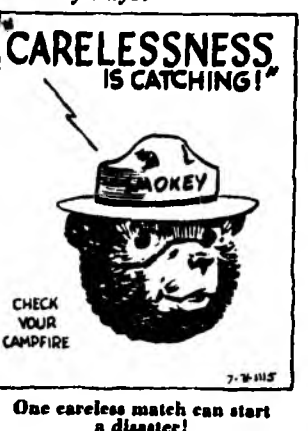

The dancercise course for women will feature discotheque (rock) dancing.

An advanced course will be offered at the completion of the intermediate course.

The courses are under the direction of Mrs. Dorothy Covington, Y. M. C. A. adult dance director. The "Y" ballroom staff will assist.

To register call Mrs. Covington or Whit East at the Spruce Street Y. M. C. A.

Cub Is Named At Grandfather Mountain

A six-month-old bear cub who became rather famous when at the age of 10 weeks he toured the state of North Carolina in behalf of the State Zoo Bond referendum, has been named Hobo.

The name of Hobo was selected from a total of 756 different names submitted by 1,099 persons who entered the contest to name the little male bear. Entries were mailed in from residents of 16 different states.

Four North Carolinians submitted the name which was chosen by the judges, and each will receive the naming-contest prize of a case of Mildred the Bear's favorite mountain honey. The four winners are Mrs. Grace Revis, of Rt. 1, Marion; Lisa Beal of Lincolnton; Jeffery Gouge of Rt. 3, Bakersville; and Hope Crolius of Knightdale.

Chairman of the judges was 14-year-old Catherine Morton, who served in a similar capacity two years ago when Mildred the Bear's twin female offspring Mini and Maxi were named. When the names in this year's contest had been narrowed to two—Hobo and Ranger—Elizabeth Taylor of Wadesboro, 17-year-old daughter of Lt. Governor Pat Taylor, served as one of the final judges and tipped the scales in favor of Hobo.

The little bear, in campaigning for the State Zoo bonds which North Carolina voters approved in the May 6 primary election, appeared on 28 programs on 16 total television stations during his weeklong trip in April and May.

The cub's journey and its purpose led many contest entrants to submit names such as Hobo, Magellan, Traveler, Ranger, and Marco Polo. Gulliver—a name somewhat similar which the judges liked very much—was not eligible for the contest because it was sent by Mrs. Agnes M. Morton, mother of Grandfather Mountain owner Hugh Morton. A total of 33 name entries had "zoo" as a part of the name for the little bear, who has been abig hit throughout the summer with his antics at the three-times-a-day bear show in Mildred the Bear's Amphitheatre at Grandfather Mountain.

Some 46 persons submitted the name of Honey, by far the most suggested name for the cub. There were 23 Traveler entries, and 22 were for either Tar Baby or Tar Heel. And 20 other persons wanted the cub named for Hugh Morton, with such variations as Mort, Huey, HuMo, Hu-Mor, Mohugh, Hughey, Morty and Huie.

Among the more unusual names entered in the contest were Upid, Heffalump, Padrose, Anacin, Meatball, Eeyore, General Grant, Butchy Poo, Sraphot, Samsolameth, Archie Bunker, Jo Nuh Ho, Gaint, Pergie, and Dark Pumpkin.

An eight-year-old boy, Ralph Anderson of Lenoir, wrote that "If that little bear was mine, I would love it so much that I would name it Love... my mother doesn't think you will select this name, and I bet her 5 cents that you will."

And little Tina Davis of Mooresville sent in her name choice without hopes of winning the prize. "If I win the honey," she said, "please keep it and give it to the little bear for a treat."

HOBO IS HIS NAME — Maybe other tramps will take offense, but a bear cub that enjoys sipping his soft drink from a prone position has just been named Hobo in a contest at Grandfather Mountain. Earlier the little bear made appearances from the mountains to the sea in behalf of the State Zoo bond issue that was passed by North Carolina voters in May. The above three photos were made with a high speed sequence camera as he moved from a standing to a reclining position while hanging tightly to his soft drink.

Senator Sam Ervin Says

Senate debate over the ratification of the interim agreement on the limitation of strategic offensive weapons involves the crucial issue of peace and security in a perilous age.

After the President returned from Moscow and urged the adoption of the five year United States-Soviet agreement, it became apparent that there were many undefined and ambiguous terms in the text of the accords reached between the two nations. As a member of the Senate Armed Services Committee, I have sought to ascertain exactly what the agreement entails. I must say that it was not always easy to get answers to my questions. Part of the problem lies in the fact that the President's chief military advisors - the Joint Chiefs of Staff - never had an opportunity to actually study the written text of the agreement before giving their initial assent.

"This, in and of itself, is not grounds for rejecting the interim agreement, but anyone who reads the record of the Senate Armed Committee hearings on the subject cannot help but conclude that the agreements do a great deal less than was claimed for them at the beginning. They do not necessarily reduce the threat posed to use by the existence of the Soviet strategic arsenal. They do establish some numerical ceilings for some portions of our arsenals and that may be useful. Overall, however, we do not have iron-clad assurance that the agreements, by themselves, will guarantee the security of the United States. The extent to which they improve our security will depend on how the Soviets choose to develop their offensive forces. No agreement can be a substitute for the things that we ourselves have to do to guarantee our survival in this dangerous nuclear era.

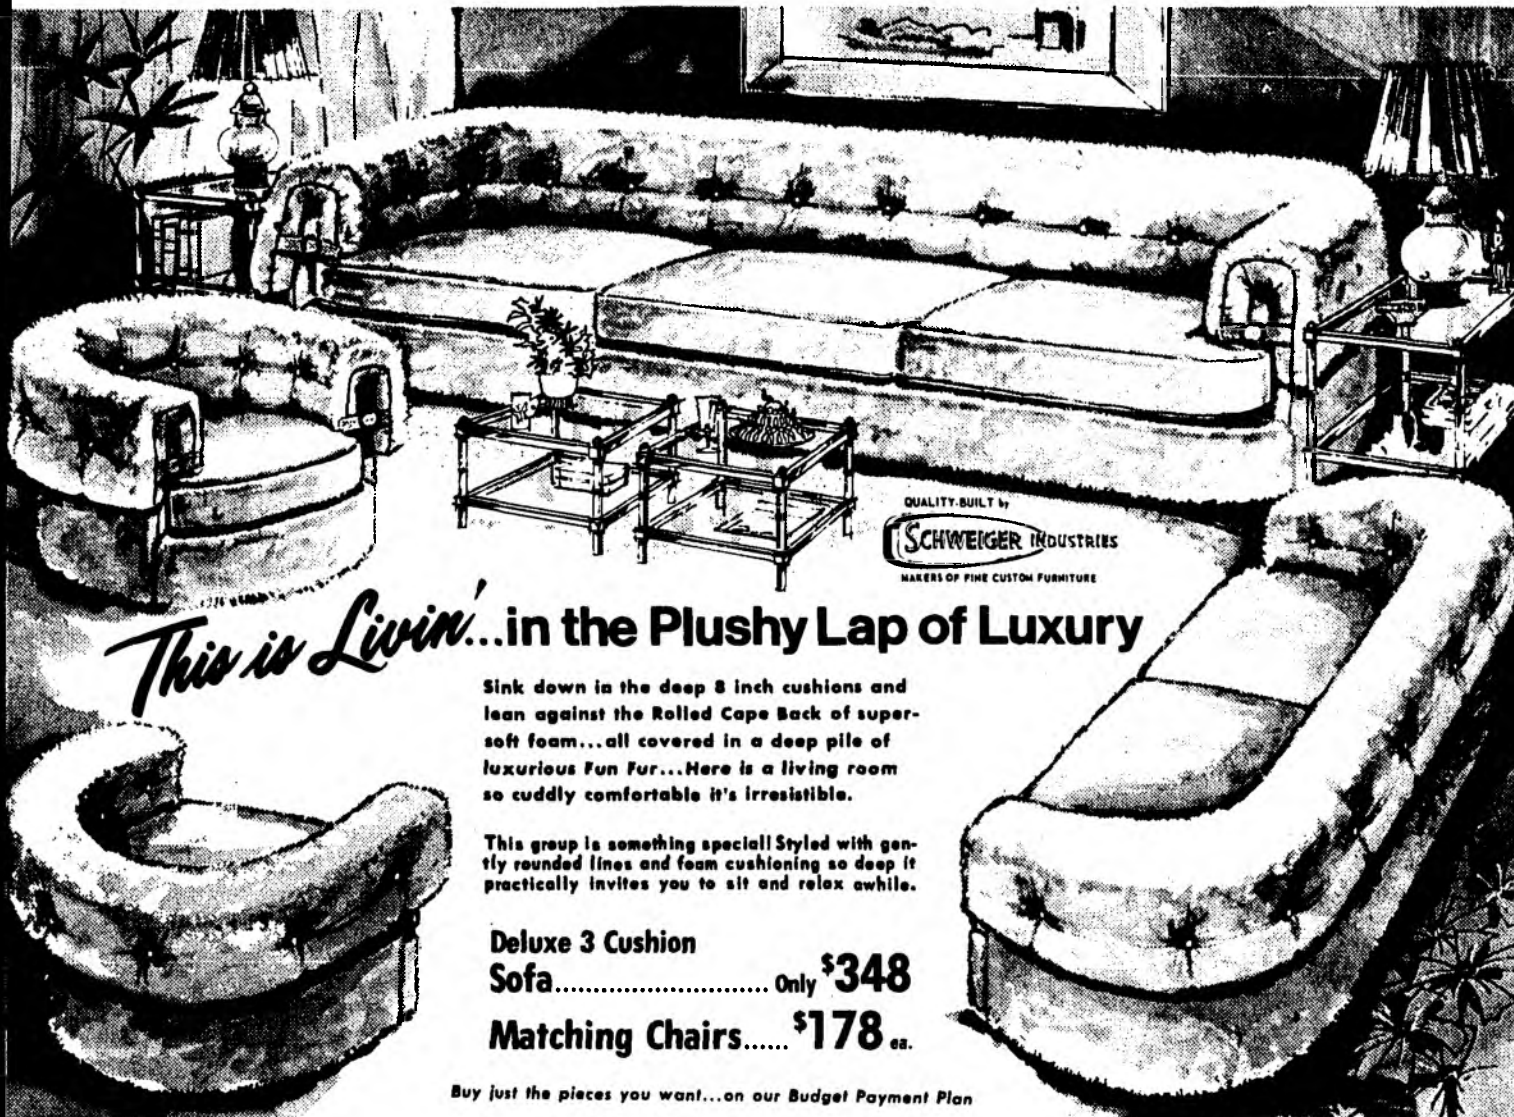

I must confess that I am not pleased with the fact that the interim agreements provide that the United States shall have less than parity in the number of ICBM's and nuclear submarines. Under the two-power five year agreement covering these weapons, the Soviets will have 1618 ICBM's to our 1054, and 62 nuclear submarines to our 44. We will have an edge in our bomber force and the Administration is relying heavily on our technological lead in developing new weapons as we need them. It is also said that our missiles will be better than theirs. I am concerned about what will happen if and when the Soviets narrow this technological gap. If this should occur, they will have a considerable advantage.

Because of these concerns and because we are ready to proceed with a second phase of the strategic arms limitation talks, I have joined my colleague Senator Jackson in supporting a declaration of policy so that there will be no misunderstanding about what the Senate agrees to in ratifying the interim agreement to limit strategic offensive weapons. The Jackson Amendment has a twofold purpose. First, it emphatically states that the United States will not accept anything less than equality in any future arms limitation agreement with the Soviets. Second, it seeks to strengthen the President's hand in arms limitation negotiations which are about to get underway with the Soviets.

The background of the Jackson Amendment is simply this. The Soviet strategic force has been growing since the mid-60's. Even though there are numerical ceilings established in the interim agreement, it is evident that the Soviet military force could grow under the terms of the agreement. The Soviets are not prohibited from making the kinds of qualitative improvements in their force which could weaken our current strength. Nor does the agreement place any brake on the forward rush of Soviet technology.

The only justification for supporting this agreement, in my judgment, is that we can do better at this time. The Jackson Amendment seeks to make it clear, however, that the United States will not be content with less than equality in any permanent arms limitation.

J.B. Cain . . .

The Sage Of Cana

J.B. Cain . . . 89 years young . . . recalls the past and looks forward to the future.

"Mr. Boyce" stands in front of his residence in Cana.

On September 27, 1883, a son was born to James Harrison Cain and Elizabeth Frost Cain. He grew up in Davie County and his home has always been on the same land on which his present house is located.

During his life John Boyce Cain, or "J. B." or "Mr. Boyce", as he is known to so many, has been called a farmer, merchant, public servant, lay minister, mail carrier, politician, educator, justice of peace, father and husband.

As a merchant, he operated the Cain Store in a building built by his father in 1885. He began operating the store in 1919, and with the help of his wife it was continuously operated until she became ill in 1963.

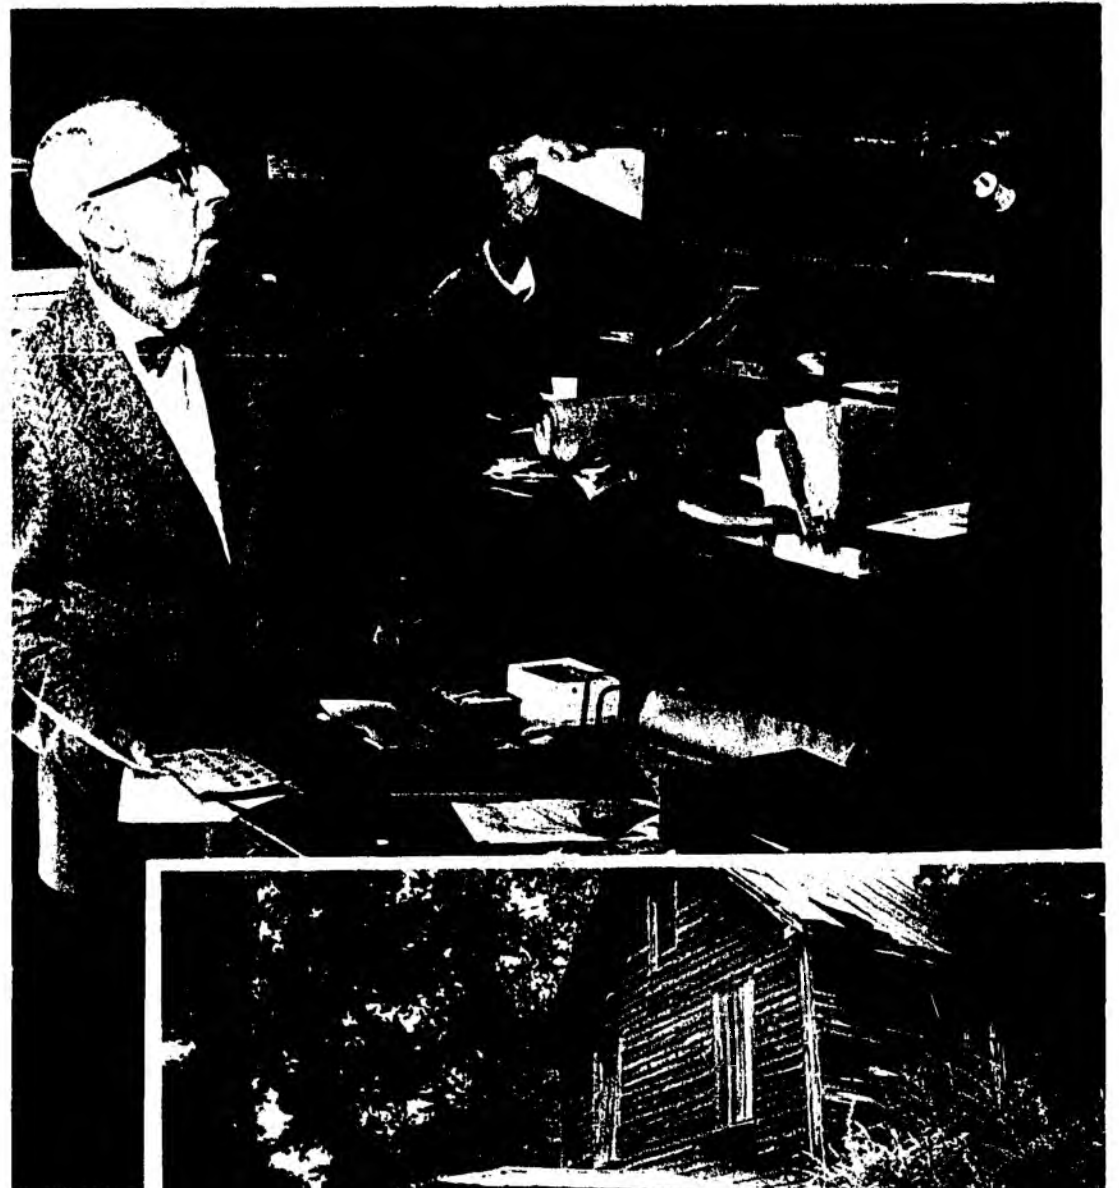

The store still stands at the edge of his yard and a few of the products still remain on the shelves of the store. It still retains much of the atmosphere of a store of the late 19th and early 20th centuries.

From this store the Cana Post Office also operated. The name Cana was given to the post office and community by the federal government. Mr. Cain's father submitted several names to the U. S. Postal Service when he was applying for a name for the post office. The postal service replied that all suggested names were already in use. The U. S. Postal Service proposed that since his name (James H. Cain) was Cain, why not name the post office Cana.

"Mr. Boyce" served as assistant postmaster from 1919 until 1954 when the post office was closed. His wife served as post mistress during this time.

To deliver the mail, Mr. Cain has ridden a horse, used a horse and buggy, driven a Model T and Model A. He recalls often riding a horse 25-miles a day through the Cana and Courtney communities. He remembers he often had to use a lantern to see his way home at night. Another mail carrier delivered the mail for the route through Huntsville and Farmington.

As a charter member of the board of directors of the Davie Electric Mutual Corporation (later known as Davie bring light and electricity to many parts of Davie County. He served as secretary of the organization from January 14, 1939 until June 24, 1940 and continued to work with the organization for many years after this.

The Agriculture Stabilization Conservation Service was begun during the Roosevelt administration to help the farmers. "Mr. Boyce" served with this organization from its beginning until 1953. He served as county committeeman in charge of programs from 1939 to 1948. From 1948 until 1953, he was a community committeeman in the North Mocksville township measuring tobacco and cotton land.

During his life, "Mr. J. B." has seen schools in Davie County grow from the private academies to public neighborhood schools and then to the county-wide consolidated schools. He served on the Davie County Board of Education from October 1937 until April 1965. During several of these years he served as chairman. In April of 1965, the board of education recognized him with a letter of appreciation for his years of continuous and faithful service to the schools of Davie County.

Some Davie County politicians have referred to "Mr. Boyce" as "Mr. Democrat". He has always taken an active interest in local, state and national politics and is a former chairman of the Davie County Democratic Executive Committee.

As a member of Eaton's Baptist Church, he has always been active in church affairs. In 1902 he was head of a committee collecting for missions. He was elected Sunday School Superintendent in 1907 and served in that capacity at various intervals until 1953. At one time he served for 13 months as lay minister of the church while it was without a pastor. He has also served as choir leader and Sunday School teacher.

Although these activities kept him busy, he also farmed, often relying on the help of hired labor.

Serving in the various capacities, he traveled to many parts of the state. However, his children remember that there were few nights that he was not at home. He has always been devoted to his family. He and his wife, Ina Lunn, celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary in 1959.

"I could never have served in all these capacities without Ina's help and support," he said.

"Mr. J. B." has been in good health most of his life. He has been a patient in the hospital only once and that was last year when he was injured in a fall.

Today he gets around very well. Sometimes he uses a walker, but he can walk without it. During the day he enjoys walking around his yard with his dog, "Missy".

He enjoys the news on television, but cares little for other programs. Some of his family is always there to keep him company.

Four of his daughters . . . Mrs. Lucile Hartman, Mrs. Eleanor Blackmore, Mrs. Gladys Pulliam, and Mrs. Joyce Benton . . . live in Winston-Salem. His other daughter, Mrs. Faye Cain Rich, lives in Greensboro. His son, John Boyce Jr., lives in Birmingham, Alabama. He has 19 grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

Champion International To Start Logging Operations

The U. S. Plywood Division of Champion International will start operation of its Bonner, Mont., lumber mill and company logging operations on or before Oct. 1, 1972, E. Roger Montgomery, executive vice president, announced this week. Initially, the company facility will employ in excess of 400 hourly and salary people.

Mr. Montgomery said: "When we announced the purchase of Anaconda timberlands in May, we said our company would build the largest plywood plant in North America and a major particle-board manufacturing facility on the mill site. The costs of these projects is expected to be about $30 million."

"During the past three months we carried on engineering studies aimed at getting the mill into production. We are pleased that the results of the studies will enable us to begin lumber operations immediately without interfering with planned construction of the plywood-particleboard manufacturing complex. When production facilities are completed and fully operational, our Bonner-based workforce should exceed 850 employees."

Demolition work to make way for the new plywood plant began this week. Once this phase of the project is completed and site clearance is accomplished, concrete foundations will be poured and construction of new buildings will begin. The plywood plant is scheduled to begin operation in the fourth quarter of 1973.

Champion International purchased the site along with 670,500 acres of timberland and other assets from the Anaconda Company. Presently, the company has lumber production facilities in Montana at Silver City, near Helena, and in Browning, located on the Blackfoot Indian Reservation.

Champion International (formerly U. S. Plywood-Champion Papers) is engaged in three major businesses: building materials, paper and allied products, and home furnishings. The company employs 46,000 employees and had 1971 sales of $1.6 billion.

Bits Of Life

5000 Years Old

BY ROSCOE BROWN FISHER

While in London, Grandpa Brown and I visited the British Museum.

Near the far end of the corridor, we came across a section that contains a large number of mummies. The section was to Grandpa's liking, for he is extremely fascinated by ancient specimens of gone-by civilizations.

There we stood — Grandpa and I — peering at the mummified remains of a man found in the brickwork of a large First Dynasty mummy chamber — buried about 3000 B.C. Add 2000 A.D., and it would make the dried-up fellow approximately 5000 years old — at least, 100 years in the flesh, and 4900 as a mummy.

The ancient Egyptians effectively developed the art of preserving the human body. They believed the dead lived on in the next world and that their bodies had to be preserved as they were in life, so they spent much effort in developing methods of embalming. The process was simple when mummifying began and gradually became more elaborate. Ancient texts state that a complete treatment took 70 days.

Thousands of years later, archaeologists found the preserved bodies in tombs. One of the most famous is that of Ramses II, who reigned about 1300 B.C.

Grandpa continued to study the 5000-year-old "basket man" as I observed the other mummies in the large room. Over to the side was an odd-shaped case containing a wig belonging to an Egyptian "lady of high rank — 1250 B.C." The plaits of the wig were set with a bituminous substance.

Again, add 2000 . . . and imagine curls holding for 3217 years.

When I got back to Grandpa, he was still peering at the mummy in the basket.

— As we walked away, I heard him say, "5000 years . . . 5000 years . . . man's attempt at immortality."

Catawba College Receives Endowment

Catawba College has received an endowment gift in cash and securities in excess of $50,000 which will be used to create additional student scholarships and an annual teaching award.

The gift was made by Rowan County native Hearne Swink, retired vice-president of Cannon Mills now residing in Myrtle Beach, S. C.

This is the second large gift to Catawba from Mr. Swink. In 1968 he gave the College funds for the women's activities room in the new physical education center as a memorial to his late wife, Marion.

Earnings from his latest gift will be used to establish the Swink Scholarships of Merit, and the Swink Prize of Outstanding Classroom Teaching.

The student scholarships will be in amounts as high as $800 with the exact number awarded each year being determined by the earnings of the endowment funds.

The teaching prize will be announced annually, beginning next spring, and will be awarded to the Catawba faculty member judged to have been the most effective classroom teacher over the school year.

In receiving the gift from the Salisbury-Rowan native, Catawba president Dr. Martin L. Sholtzberger expressed his deepest thanks to Mr. Swink for his gift. "Once more, Hearne Swink has rendered great service to Catawba College and the wonderful community of Salisbury. I am most appreciative personally and express the gratitude of everyone at Catawba College. I speak for Board of Trustees President Adrian L. Shuford in saying that Mr. Swink's generosity and concern for Catawba College and its programs has been amply demonstrated in the last few years and his support is received with humility and sincere thanks."

"The marvelous aspect of this gift is that it is creative support for the essence of our College. This gift will assist us in attracting able students and then providing them with able teaching."

Mr. Swink is now retired from the active life of textile executive and resides in Myrtle Beach, S. C. His career with Cannon Mills, for which he was a vice-president, began with part-time work at Plant 8 in 1914. Although he retired in 1967, he remains a member of the board of directors.

He has also served as assistant chairman of the board of the Cannon operation as well as several posts with national professional business groups. He is past chairman of the trustees of Rowan Memorial Hospital and has served in other civic responsibilities. Prior to his moving to Myrtle Beach, he was an active member of St. Luke's Episcopal Church in Salisbury. He is a graduate of UNC-Chapel Hill.

Mr. Swink was awarded an honorary degree from Catawba College on September 26, 1970 in a special convocation ceremony marking the successful conclusion of the $5 million Catawba Challenge fund-raising program.

Revival services began at Chiquapin Grove Baptist Church Sunday, August 27. Services will run through out the week until September 1. Rev. Howard from Bethlehem Baptist Church brought the Sunday morning sermon. Rev. E. L. Clark gave the evening sermon. Rev. Brandon will be the evangelist of the week.

Mrs. Luna Smoot was home for the revival. Visitors at the C. C. Cain home were Mrs. Lillie Scott and children Louella, Eric and Shirley, Mr. and Mrs. George Scott and Deirdra, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Cain, Pam, Linda, Rita and Karen and Mrs. Millie West, Jerry and Dennis and Mr. Clyde Hossler.

Our prayers go out to Tobe Barker who is a patient at Davie County Hospital.

The Howell Reunion will be held at the Chiquapin Grove Baptist Church on Sunday, September 3, at 2 p. m. Everyone is cordially invited to come and bring a well filled basket.

Deer Hunt Hearings Scheduled

It is hard to convince skunked deer hunter of this, but deer are so plentiful in 23 counties of the state that either-sex deer hunts are being proposed to keep deer within the food capacity of the range, and to keep them from destroying agricultural crops.

The Wildlife Resources Commission has scheduled 13 public hearings in response to complaints by farmers that deer have been damaging their crops.

"State law prescribes that either-sex deer hunts may be established only after public hearings have been held to obtain the opinions of local farmers and hunters involved in each location," said Frank Barick, Chief of the Commission's Division of Game. "Following the hearings, the opinions of hunters across the state will be studied prior to the final adoption of any either-sex hunts," Barick said.

A schedule of dates and places where public hearings will be held and dates for proposed either-sex deer hunts follows. All of the hearings are scheduled for 8:00 P.M. The dates proposed for each location are for both gun and bow hunters. However, bow hunters are authorized under existing regulations to take either-sex deer during their special early seasons in "either-sex" locations finally selected and adopted by the Commission.

For Washington and Hyde counties the hearing is scheduled for August 30 at the courthouse in Plymouth to consider a one-day season, October 20, on the Pungo National Waterfowl Refuge.

For Hertford, Gates and Perquimans counties a hearing is set for August 29 at the courthouse in Gatesville. Hunting areas and proposed dates to be discussed will involve two seasons in Hertford County; one north of the Meherrin River from December 4-January 1; and one south of the Meherrin River from December 4-16. For Gates County the season would be west of the Seaboard Coastline Railroad from December 4-January 1, and from December 4-16 east of the railroad. In Perquimans County the proposal calls for a county-wide either-sex season December 4-16. For Currituck County a hearing is set for August 31 at the courthouse in Currituck. The proposed season would be from December 4-16 in the Dismal Swamp section.

Two hearings are scheduled for Martin County; one for the courthouse in Plymouth on August 30 to consider a season December 4-16 in the Barber's Island section; the other is scheduled for August 28 at Rich Square School Auditorium to consider a season December 4-16 in a portion north and west of Hamilton. Also scheduled for the Rich Square School Auditorium is a hearing on August 28 to consider a season December 4-16 in a portion north and west of Hamilton. Also scheduled for the Rich Square School Auditorium is a hearing on August 28 to consider an either-sex deer season in Bertie County December 4-16 in the western section of that county.

In Beaufort County two hearings are scheduled. The first hearing on August 28 will be held at the Aurora School Auditorium to discuss a two-day season, December 4-5, for the Goose Creek section. The second Beaufort County hearing will be held at Plymouth courthouse on August 30 to consider a December 4-9 season in the Pantego Swamp section.

In Craven County a hearing will be held at the New Bern courthouse on August 29 to consider a season from December 4-January 1 at the Cherry Point Marine Air Station.

A county-wide season is proposed for Northampton County from December 4-January 1. The hearing will be held at Rich Square School Auditorium on August 28. The same season is proposed for all of Halifax County east of U. S. 301, and this hearing also will be held at Rich Square School Auditorium on August 28.

For Edgecombe County a season from December 4-16 in the Fishing Creek area will be discussed. This will be at the same meeting as for the discussion of the seasons in Northampton and Halifax Counties.

In Sampson County a hearing is set for Harrell's Community

Building on August 29 to discuss a season from December 4-9 for the Harrell's Community area.

For Bladen County a hearing is scheduled at the Lake Creek Community Center on August 28 to discuss a season December 4-9 in the Collier Swamp area.

In Cumberland and Hoke counties a December 4-16 season will be discussed at a hearing set for August 31 at the courthouse in Fayetteville for the Fort Bragg Military Reservation.

For Person, Durham, and Granville counties a one-day season, November 20, will be discussed at a hearing set for the Butner Hospital Auditorium on August 28 in the Camp Butner area.

A one-day season for Moore County in the Drowning Creek area on December 4 will be discussed at a hearing August 31 at the Municipal Building in Aberdeen.

For Wilkes County a hearing is scheduled for August 28 at the Ronda Community Center to consider a two-day season, November 20-21, in the Roundabout Farm area.

In Buncombe County a hearing will be held at the courthouse in Asheville on August 29 to consider a season from November 20-December 2 on the Biltmore Estate.

Miss Wall Enters St. Andrews College

Miss Nancy Claire Wall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James W. Wall of 445 Church Street, Mocksville, is among the 312 new freshmen enrolling for the fall term at St. Andrews Presbyterian College.

The new class represents a four per cent increase over last year and a second consecutive increase in the size of the entering class. Freshmen will arrive on the St. Andrews campus Sunday, September 3rd for a program of orientation before the arrival of the returning and transfer students the following Thursday.

Davie At South Stokes Friday Night

The Davie High War Eagles will open their 1972 football season on Friday night at South Stokes in a non-conference game.

Coach Bill Peeler has 11 lettermen returning around which to build this year's team. Heading the returning lettermen are co-captains Paul Andrews, center, and John Munday, fast-stepping back. Other returning lettermen include: Robert Anderson and John Seamon, ends; Steve Nicholson, Frank Bledsoe and David Bean, tackles; Stacy Hall, Lamar Seats and John Williams, guards; Billy Wall, quarterback; Charles Blackwood, Louie Howell, Jeff A. Ward, and Doug Quarles, backs.

Coach Peeler indicated that his probable starting offensive lineup for Friday night would include:

Ends: Robert Anderson, a senior, 6'2", 175 lbs; and John Seamon, a senior, 6'2", 170 lbs.

Tackles: David Bean, a junior, 5'11", 210 lbs; and Jeff H. Ward, a junior, 5'10", 205 lbs.

Guards: Lamar Seats, a senior, 5'9", 170 lbs; and John Williams, a senior, 5'9", 170 lbs.

Center: Paul Andrews, a senior, 6'2", 200 lbs.

Quarterback: Billy Wall, a senior, 5'10", 150 lbs.

Backs: John Munday, a senior, 5'9", 170 lbs; Doug Quarles, a junior, 6'2", 175 lbs; and either Charles Blackwood, a senior, 5'10", 170 lbs or Jeff A. Ward, a junior, 6', 170 lbs.

Assistant coaches serving with Coach Peeler this year are Bob Henry, Randy Zepp, J. E. Suiter, Larry Groce, Jim Tutterow and Ronnie Riddle. The first home game for Davie will be Friday night, September 8th, when North Stally plays here.

Golf Tournament At Hickory Hill

All golfers in the Davie County and surrounding area who are planning to enter the Labor Day Golf Tournament to be held at Hickory Hill Country Club must turn in their applications by Thursday, August 31. Entry fee will be $7.50 per man.

The first day of qualifying will be on Saturday, September 2, and the tournament will continue through Monday.

Honda Stolen In Cooleemee

A yellow Honda (QA-50) was stolen from the home of Arnold Bowles of Edgewood Development in Cooleemee on Saturday, August 19. The bike was parked under the carport at the time of the theft.

The Davie County Sheriff's department is investigating. Mr. Bowles is offering a reward for information leading to the recovery of the Honda.

Borden's Completes Successful Season

A successful season is always the prime target or goal which all athletic teams set their sights upon at the opening of a campaign. There are those who fulfill their dreams by winning game after game. However, for every winner there must be a loser, their hopes of glory being shattered.

A team which enjoyed the happier moments of victory this year was the Borden's girls softball team from Advance. Being one of the strongest girls teams ever assembled in Davie County, they led their league the entire season while sweeping to a record of 35 wins against 8 losses. They averaged 15 runs scored per game while holding the opposition to only 4.

Several area championships were captured by Borden's during the course of the season. These included the regular season and playoffs at Advance, the July 4th Invitational at Lone Hickory, the Statesville District Tournament and most recently they were runner-up in the Farmington Tournament.

Borden's also received individual honors as six of its players were placed on the season all-star team and shortstop Gail Melton was voted the Advance league's most valuable player.

National Championship Demolition Derby Set

National Championship Women's Demolition Derby? That's what it says on the trophy, four and a half feet tall, which awaits the winner Saturday night, Sept. 9, at Bowman Gray Stadium. And if ever there was an event to glorify Women's Lib, this should be it.

The "Demolition Derby", which may be the most hairy-chested of all the motorsports that have been traditionally Man's World, is an automotive free-for-all. More simply, it is a car wrecking contest.

The object for each driver is to crash into opponents and disable their cars. The last one still able to move is declared the winner.

The event is a popular novelty attraction at speedways and, although there have been a few women entered in such car-crunching contests at the stadium, this is the first scheduling of a "Demolition Derby" exclusively for female contestants.

Whence the "national championship" label? "Why not?" said Joe Hawkins, the track manager. "As far as we have been able to determine, there has never been a national championship women's demolition derby, and nobody has ever laid claim to such a title. So we're starting it. As far as I know, it's the world championship - but we didn't want to get into the problems they're having with the Olympics, and we're just calling it national."

The event will be an added attraction along with the stadium's season finale for NASCAR's Modified, Hobby and Claiming division stock car racers - male variety. After an open date in deference to the Labor Day holiday weekend, the quarter-mile asphalt track will end its 24th season of weekly Saturday night races with the Sept. 9 program.

Teen Dem Rally Held

The Davie County Women's Democrat Club sponsored a back-to-school covered dish supper honoring the Davie Teen Dems Saturday, August 26, at Clement Grove Picnic Grounds in Mocksville. Jim Eaton served as Master of Ceremonies.

Jim White, a former candidate for Congress and presently a State Senate candidate in Forsyth County, was the guest speaker. Mr. White urged all Davie Democrats to continue working hard for victory in November. "I note that several candidates came very close to winning in 1970 and with the present mess at the courthouse in Mocksville and with a little extra effort, the Davie Democrats can elect three Commissioners and a Register of Deeds this year."

Other local Democratic candidates who spoke briefly included: Edgar Carter, Dick Nail and Jim Eaton candidates for County Commissioner, Naida Meyer candidate for Register of Deeds, and Bill Ijames candidate for the State House.

Other activities included a cake walk, a cake auction and music by "The Exhibits" from Charlotte who played throughout the evening. John Chandler and Margaret Webb were in charge of the entertainment.

Motorcyclist Is Injured On US 158

The operator of a 1971 Honda was injured last Saturday when his car hit an embankment in the attempt to avoid hitting another car.

Gary Dean Waller, 21, of Advance was taken to the Davie County Hospital.

State Highway Patrolman A. C. Stokes investigated the accident which happened around 8 p. m.

Trooper Stokes said that Waller on his motorcycle ran up behind a slow moving vehicle, ran off the road on the right, and struck an embankment.

Split Waterfowl Season

"You can't make them all happy, but we try," was the statement of Orville Woodhouse, Director of the Office of Fisheries and Wildlife Resources.

Woodhouse, who is also a member of the Wildlife Resources Commission and chairman of the Commission's waterfowl committee, was referring to a history-making decision on the part of the Commission to choose its first split waterfowl season, and for the first time in years a shorter season with a larger bag limit.

The first segment of the split season lasts only three days, November 23-25; the second runs from December 5-January 20, the latest date allowable under a framework established by the U. S. Bureau of Sports Fisheries and Wildlife.

"We had a choice between a 50-day season with a basic bag of ducks of five per day, and a 60-day season with a bag of only three," Woodhouse said. "And although we have traditionally taken the longer season, the 60-day season would have meant a 40 percent reduction in the bag limit," he added.

Woodhouse said sentiment among hunters heard from was two to one in favor of the shorter season with a larger bag allowance.

The Commission was given no choice with regard to the goose season. The Bureau allowed 50 days of goose hunting with a daily bag of one and a possession limit of two. The goose season will coincide with that for ducks.

The daily bag limit for ducks may include not more than four mallards, one black duck, and two wood ducks, or any combination of these as long as the limit of five is not exceeded. Two bonuses on ducks are allowed this year. From December 5-13 two blue-winged teal will be allowed in addition to the regular bag. In commercial fishing waters east of U. S. Highway 17 two scaup ducks will be allowed daily; however, this does not apply to Core Sound between Drum Inlet and Harkers Island, Pamlico River above a line between Pungo River and Goose Creek, and Currituck Sound.

Shooting hours for waterfowl will again be from one-half hour before sunrise to sunset, and the usual rules against shooting over bait or using live decoys or electronic duck or goose calls will apply.

So-called duck stamps will cost $5.00 this year.

How to Avoid Insect Bites

Nobody knows for sure why one person reacts more violently than another to insect stings. There seems, however, to be a greater risk to people from families with a history of allergy.

Chief troublemakers among stinging insects are the group which includes honeybees, bumblebees, wasps, yellow jackets, hornets, and certain ants. If you have ever been stung and had a bad local reaction - red welts two inches or more in diameter that lasted more than 24 hours - you should take sensible precautions against receiving another bite.

Dr. Claude Frazier, author of Insect Allergy and a practicing North Carolina allergist, has some common sense suggestions. Learn the habits of stinging insects; don't swat at them; avoid scented toiletries and perfumes; stick to light colored cloths; and beware of ill-tempered insects immediately following a heavy rain.

Labor Day Weekend You And The Patrol

When you start your trip during this Labor Day weekend, you can take some comfort, and caution, in knowing that you will not be alone on the highways. You can take comfort in knowing that the North Carolina Highway Patrol will be out on the highways with you. Over 1,000 Troopers will be patrolling to protect you from the reckless and drunken drivers. You can be cautious by knowing that the State Troopers will be on the lookout for you, to protect you from yourself, if you speed over the limit or drive through that stop sign without really coming to a full stop. You can also be cautious by knowing that the highways will be heavy with traffic headed for the beach, mountains or piedmont North Carolina. You can expect the heaviest traffic on Friday afternoon when it seems everyone leaves at the same time and again on Monday afternoon and evening when motorists head for home after the long holiday weekend.

During the Labor Day weekend last year, 36 persons were killed and 674 injured in 1,227 traffic collisions in North Carolina. When State Troopers investigated these wrecks they found the most frequent traffic violations were speeding, stop-sign violations, failure to yield right-of-way and driving under the influence.

A lot of arrests were made by State Troopers during the Labor Day holidays, but more important, a lot of lives were saved and a lot of traffic collisions were avoided by removing the drunken, reckless and irresponsible driver from the highways.

This Labor Day weekend you are encouraged to drive rested and relaxed, avoid congested traffic if possible, stay alert to the drinking and reckless driver, maintain a safe following distance between your car and the car ahead and stay within the speed limit and even slower when road, traffic or weather conditions require it.

Always remember, when you see that silver and black car with the words STATE PATROL emblazoned on the front and rear, relax and take comfort in knowing that the Trooper behind the wheel is your friend and protector. Look for him as you travel the highways. Contact him if you need assistance.

Math Errors Up In July

Monthly math error figures compiled by IRS show that in July 34,000 individual tax returns were computer-checked for math errors. $500 or 16 percent of the total processed contained errors.

By comparison, the math error rate for the six-month period ended June 30, 1972 was only 5 percent.

Approximately half of the error returns (2768) resulted in reduced tax bills totalling $212,000, according to IRS Director J. E. Wall.

Returns containing errors in favor of the taxpayer totalled 2758. Corrections here amounted to $362,000 in additional taxes due, resulting in net collections from the July math verification process of $150,000.

Wall noted that the error rate of 16 percent is unusually high and attributed it to the fact that the returns processed in July largely constitute those returns that were set aside earlier in the processing period because they contained obvious errors on the face of them in the initial screening.

Mrs. Duke Tutterow, co-chairman of the Center Fair, H.W. (Bo) Tutterow, chairman of the Center Community Development and Mrs. Clay Tutterow, also a co-chairman of the Fair are shown in the photo at left going over the plans for the Fair which will be held Saturday, September 9, at the Center Community Building on Highway 64 west of Mocksville. James Henry Jones and Clyde Harbin, shown at right, are making some repairs to the arbor on the grounds before the Fair. Pit cooked barbecue will be on sale all day the 9th and a barbecue supper will be served beginning at 5 p.m. (Photos by Clay Tutterow.)

Larry Curle Honored By SCSA

Lawrence D. Curle of Lumberton, area conservationist for the USDA—Soil Conservation Service, has received the national Commendation Award from the Soil Conservation Society of America at its Portland, Oregon Convention.

In disclosing the award, State Conservationist Jesse L. Hicks said that the honor came for Mr. Curle's leadership in SCSA for 20 years, particularly his work to organize a Land Use Planning Committee for the North Carolina SCSA chapter—which was instrumental in creating the N.C. Land Use Congress. National SCSA President J.R. Johnston of Texas presented the Commendation Award.

JESSE HELMS: A CITIZEN-SENATOR

"Jesse Helms is not one of your back-slapping, hand-wringing, affable garden variety political office seekers." — Virginian Pilot 7/2/72

A few years ago, a high school senior at Salemburg wrote Jesse Helms expressing her contempt for the campus riots then going on.

She wished she could go to college, she said. But her father was sick. The family didn't have the money. What a shame, she thought, that unruly young people should toss away opportunity when they had it.

Jesse Helms is no man to sit back and let nature take its course. He got on the telephone and talked to a few friends around the state. In a couple of days, he had raised enough money to send that young girl to college. She isn't the only deserving kid either who got to go to college because Jesse Helms put out his hand to help when help was badly needed.

That's Jesse Helms. All his life he has worked to make things better than he found them. Don't you think we could use a man like that in the U. S. Senate?

YES, I believe in Jesse Helms and I want to help elect him as our Citizen-Senator. I'm enclosing my contribution of:

Biggest, Broadest Program Service On NBC-TV

NBC Television Network President Don Durnin describes the network's 1972-73 schedule as "the biggest, broadest, most balanced program service ever broadcast to a network affiliate and to the public, covering the broadest possible range of audience interests and tastes."

The new prime time lineup was first made public March 29, 1972, when it was presented to - and warmly endorsed by - the NBC Television Affiliates Board of Delegates, meeting in New York City with network representatives. The Board of Delegates commended NBC-TV for adhering to a program philosophy of balance and diversity and developing a schedule designed to serve all the audience.

"The combination of six new and 14 returning programs (three of which have new content, new form and new elements respectively); gives NBC-TV its most sophisticated schedule, offering entertainment and informational programming that is high in style and in quality," Mr. Durnin said.

"Contributing to this are three key elements: multiple programming, program development on the air, and the long form.

"Multiple programming, pioneered by NBC-TV, provides a choice for the viewer within the framework of the traditional series. A higher-quality product - for instance, the 'Columbo-McMillan-McCloud' trilogy (to which has been added a fourth element, 'Hec Ramsey,' for next season) - is feasible because each unit's total responsibility is to only six or eight programs over the season.

The NBC-TV schedule features network television's only prime-time news program, 14 returning series, and five new entertainment series representing seven different program elements, which star such popular performing talent as Richard Boone, Joan Blondell, Sebastian Cabot, Brian Keith, Shelley Fabares, James Farentino, Robert Forster, Tony Franciosa, Doug McClure, Burgess Meredith, George Peppard, Hugh O'Brian, Angel Tompkins and Richard Widmark.

The five new NBC-TV entertainment series are (all times NYT) "The Little People" (Friday, 8:30-9 p.m.); "Ghost Story" (Friday, 9 to 10 p.m.); "Banyon" (Friday, 10-11 p.m.); "NBC Wednesday Mystery Movie" - rotating trilogy comprising elements titled "Banacek," "Cool Million" and "Madigan" (8:30-10 p.m.); "SEARCH" (Wednesday, 10-11 p.m.).

The highly successful "Columbo" - "McCloud" - "McMillan & Wife" trilogy, broadcast during 1971-72 as "NBC Mystery Movie," moves to Sunday (8:30-10 p.m.). Retitled "NBC Sunday Mystery Movie," it will include a fourth recurring element - "Hec Ramsey," starring Richard Boone.

Among the returning series are the two major hits of the "second season" - "Sanford and Son" (Friday, 8-8:30 p.m.) and "Emergency!" (Saturday, 8-9 p.m.) - both continuing in their current time periods.

Two returning series will be presented in different forms and on different nights in the new schedule: "Rod Sterling's Night Gallery," currently a one-hour weekly series, to be a half-hour program in the fall, will concentrate on suspense stories (one story per program) presented by Sterling, and will move from Wednesday to Sunday (10 to 10:30 p.m.); "The Bold Ones" will consist solely of "The New Doctors" next season, featuring major guest stars each week, and will move from Sunday to Tuesday (9-10 p.m.).

"Bonanza," entering its 14th season on NBC-TV, will move from Sunday to Tuesday, where it will lead off the evening (8-9 p.m.).

Three nights of the week will remain unchanged: Monday ("Rowan and Martin's Laugh-In" at 8 and "NBC Monday Night at the Movies" at 9); Thursday ("The Flip Wilson Show" at 8, "Ironside" at 9 and "The Dean Martin Show" at 10); and Saturday ("Emergency!" at 8 and "NBC Saturday Night at the Movies" at 9).

Other programs returning in their current time periods are "Adam-12" (Wednesday, 8-8:30 p.m.); and "The Wonderful World of Disney" (Sunday, 7:30-8:30 p.m.).

NBC-TV's motion picture presentations have been reduced from three nights each week to two, (Monday and Saturday) allowing the network to concentrate the strength of its large inventory and most recent acquisitions. Among the major box office successes to be broadcast are "In the Heat of the Night," "The Anderson Tapes," "The Andromeda Strain," "Cactus Flower," "Marooned," "The Green Berets," and "It's a Mad, Mad, Mad, Mad World."

In addition to the five new entertainment series, "NBC Reports," a series of NBC News programs devoted to investigative reporting and coverage of topical issues, will be presented Tuesday nights from 10 to 11 p.m., beginning Sept. 5. Also, Alistair Cooke's "America," a series of 13 one-hour programs telling the story of the United States from the earliest settlements in Indian territory to man's landing on the moon, will be broadcast under the sponsorship of Xerox Corporation on alternate weeks in the Tuesday, 10-11 p.m. time period, beginning Nov. 14.

Board Of Education Announces Meal Policy

The Davie County Board of Education today announced a free and reduced price meal policy for all Davie County school children unable to pay the full price.

Local school officials have adopted the following family size and income scale to assist them in determining eligibility.

INSTRUCTIONS FOR USING INCOME SCALE

Example 1: If there are 4 people in your family and yearly income is $3,000:

- 1) find your family size in the first column;
- 2) find your yearly income on the same line as your family size. It is in the "FREE MEAL" column, so all meals for your school children are free.

Example 2: If there are 4 people in your family and 2 of them are in school and yearly family income is $5,200:

- 1) find your family size in the first column;
- 2) find your yearly income on the same line as your family size. It is in the "FREE OR REDUCED PRICE MEAL" column, so
- 3) find the number of children in your family in school, pre-school or day care centers. In this column a family of 4 gets meals at the reduced price indicated below.

FAMILY SIZE	FREE LUNCHES	FREE OR REDUCED PRICE MEALS	NUMBER OF CHILDREN IN SCHOOL, PRESCHOOL, OR DAY CARE CENTERS
			1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10	11	12
1	$0 - 2450	2451 - 2769	Red
2	0 - 3209	3210 - 3627	Red
3	0 - 3968	3969 - 4485	Red	Red
4	0 - 4727	4728 - 5343	Red	Red	Free
5	0 - 5428	5429 - 6136	Red	Red	Free	Free
6	0 - 6130	6131 - 6929	Red	Red	Red	Free	Free
7	0 - 6762	6763 - 7644	Red	Red	Red	Free	Free	Free
8	0 - 7395	7396 - 8359	Red	Red	Red	Red	Free	Free	Free
9	0 - 7970	7971 - 9009	Red	Red	Red	Red	Free	Free	Free	Free
10	0 - 8545	8546 - 9659	Red	Red	Red	Red	Red	Free	Free	Free	Free
11	0 - 9120	9121 - 10309	Red	Red	Red	Red	Red	Free	Free	Free	Free	Free
12	0 - 9695	9696 - 10959	Red	Red	Red	Red	Red	Red	Free	Free	Free	Free	Free

- For each additional family member, add $575 per year to the income level.
- The reduced price for lunch is 20 cents.
- The reduced price for breakfast is 10 cents.

Families falling within these scales or those suffering from unusual circumstances or hardships are urged to apply for free or reduced price meals for their children. They may do so by filling in the application forms sent home in a letter to parents. Additional copies are available at the principal's office in each school. Applications may be substituted any time during the school year.

The form itself is simple to complete and requests information needed to determine economic need based on the income and number of persons in the family and any unusual circumstances or hardships which effect the family's ability to pay for school meals. The information provided on the application will be confidential and will be used only for the purpose of determining eligibility.

Under the provisions of the policy the principal of each school will review applications and determine eligibility. If a parent is dissatisfied with the ruling of the local official, he may make a request either orally or in writing for a hearing to appeal the decision.

Mrs. Joan Martin, whose address is P. O. Box 447, County Office Building, Mocksville, N. C., 27028 has been designated as the Hearing Official. Hearing procedures are outlined in the policy.

The policy also provides that there will be no identification of or discrimination against any student unable to pay the full cost of a meal.

A complete copy of the policy is on file in each school and in the office of the Davie County Board of Education where it may be reviewed by any interested patron.

The Veterans Corner

Q. My son was killed during military service in Vietnam. Am I eligible for education benefits from the Veterans Administration?

A. No. Parents are not eligible for this benefit.

Q. I hear some national cemeteries have been closed and others will soon close due to the lack of space. If the cemetery of the veterans' choice closes, will VA pay an additional burial allowance toward purchase of a plot in a private cemetery?

A. No. The law permits VA to pay only the statutory $250 burial allowance upon the death of a veteran. Insurance and survivor benefits are a matter of individual eligibility.

Q. How long do I have to convert my National Service Life Insurance policy?

A. It can usually be converted at any time the policy is current. However, there are some policies prefixed by "W" that cannot be converted if the renewal date comes after the insured's 50th birthday. In such cases, the conversion must be made before the term runs out.

UNC-G Graduate School Courses

The Graduate School at the University of North Carolina at Greensboro will offer 338 courses in 19 different academic schools or departments during the fall semester which will begin in late August.

Classes will open August 28, which is nearly three weeks earlier than last fall. UNC-G, like many other colleges and universities, has adopted an earlier schedule which enables students to complete the first semester before Christmas.

Graduate students who wish to enroll for the semester should apply to the Graduate School right away if they have not yet made application. Registration for graduate students will be held August 25-26 in Coleman Gymnasium and Rosenthal Gymnasium on campus, beginning at 8:30 a.m. each morning and continuing until 4 p.m.

In addition to a wide range of studies available for undergraduate students, UNC-G offers 13 graduate degrees, including two at the doctoral level. Study toward master's degrees is offered by the majority of the schools and departments on campus, and students can work toward the doctorate in 12 different concentrations of study within six UNC-G schools or departments.

Last year, UNC-G had 1,838 graduate students in a total enrollment of 6,983. In fact, graduate students made up 26.3 percent of UNC-G's total enrollment in 1971-72, placing the Greensboro campus second only to UNC at Chapel Hill in the percentage of students at the graduate level among state universities in North Carolina.

The following areas of study at UNC-G will have graduate offerings this fall: Art, anthropology, biology, business administration, business education, chemistry, drama and speech, economics education, English, French, geography, health, history, home economics, math, music, physical education, philosophy, physics, political science, psychology, sociology and Spanish.

Once again this fall the master of industrial engineering degree will be offered in evening classes at UNC-G through a joint program with N.C. State University. The degree has been available on the UNC-G campus through a cooperative program with NCSU for the previous seven semesters. Application forms may be obtained from J. W. Joseph, 3510 Kirby Dr. in Greensboro. Joseph serves as director of the MIE degree program in Greensboro for NCSU.

Capt. and Mrs. Joe Mighton of Wilmington spent last week here visiting with Mr. and Mrs. J.C. Sell.

Miss Dawna Snyder has returned home after a five weeks vacation with Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Harris of Morningside, Maryland. She accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Harris to Florida for a four day tour after which they spent a week visiting relatives in Whistler, Alabama enroute to their Maryland home. While there, they toured the President's private airplane and other attractions in D.C. and Pennsylvania.

Mrs. Ray Pennell remains a patient at Cone Hospital, Greensboro where she underwent surgery last week. She is recovering nicely.

Mrs. Mattie Sue McCullough of Route 4, Mocksville has returned home after spending several days in Tusculum, Alabama with her son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Joe McCullough. She went especially to attend the graduation exercises of her son on Sunday at the University of Mississippi where he earned his Masters Degree in Educational Administration and Supervision. Mr. McCullough and his wife, the former Carolyn Klein, will continue to further their education at Old Miss next spring. Mr. McCullough is also the son of the late James C. McCullough of Route 4.

Mrs. Janet Davis is undergoing treatment and observation at Davie County Hospital where she has been a patient for the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Evans and children spent last week vacationing at Lake Wacamaw and also visiting with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Evans Sr. of Clarkton.

The weekend guest of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Brown and sons, Mike and Jeff, was Mr. Brown's mother of Salisbury. She returned home Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Loflin and children of Saratoga, N.C. and R.T. Barnes of Spencer were the Tuesday visitors with Mr. and Mrs. Woody Yarbrough. Also visiting with the Yarbroughs last week were Mr. and Mrs. Grady Call of Franklin.

Lomas Carter continues to recuperate at the home of his son, Sam, of North Myrtle Beach. Mr. and Mrs. Carter plans to remain there until his doctor permits him to return to their home on Center Street.

Mrs. Bessie Canupp is undergoing treatment in the Intensive Care Unit at Rowan Memorial Hospital where she has been a patient since Monday afternoon.

The out-of-town Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Grady Spry, Sr. included most of their children and their families; Mrs. Dolly Swaim and daughter, Liz, of Carrboro, Franklin Smith of near Fayetteville, Aaron Spry and children of Taylorsville and Mr. and Mrs. Worth Hendricks and family of Mocksville.

Cooleemee Senior Citizens

The Cooleemee Senior Citizens enjoyed a watermelon feast at their regular meeting on Monday at the fellowship hall of the First Baptist Church. There were 56 members attending.

Rev. Roscoe Brown Fisher spoke on "The Handwork of God" during the devotional period. Club members discussed plans to attend the Dixie Classic Fair on October 5, which has been designated as "Senior Citizens Day". The Cooleemee club is well represented at the fair each year on this special day.

Mrs. Carrie Jordan, Miss Inez Sain, and Mrs. Mabel Head were appointed to serve on the nominating committee for the next term.

The next meeting will be held on September 11.

VA News

Q-My aunt is a disabled veteran of World War II. She needs care in a home, but does not need nursing home care or hospitalization. Does VA have such homes for women veterans?

A-Yes, VA has domiciliarys, and those at Bay Pines, Fla., Dayton, Ohio and Martinsburg, W. Va., and Vancouver, Wash., have facilities for women veterans. Any VA office will help your aunt file application for this benefit.

Four Muskateers

Sharp Canupp of Spencer, Jerry (Chun) Bailey of Cooleemee, Ronnie Bivins of Ephesus, and Bud Nichols of Hanover, New Jersey, who were childhood playmates and neighbors, were reunited last week at the home of Sharp's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Otis Canupp of Edgewood. This was the first time in 20 years the "Four Muskateers" (they called themselves) had been together. Mr. and Mrs. Nichols and their three children were the Thursday and Friday guests of the Canupps prior to returning home on Saturday morning.

Accent on AGRICULTURE

BY B. C. MANGUM
N. C. Farm Bureau Federation

Growing Business

Agriculture is a growing business in America. The first totals released by the Census Bureau, which conducted a nationwide farm census in 1969, show commercial agriculture making significant gains. A commercial farm is generally figured as having annual gross sales of at least $2,500.

The nationwide count did show a drop in total farm numbers, but the decline is almost entirely among the part-time, part-retirement and other very small farms that sell less than fifty dollars of farm products per week.

The number of small commercial farms dropped, too, but largely because eighty thousand of them had grown into larger enterprises. Also, the number of farms across our land with gross sales of over ten thousand dollars in a year increased by 79 thousand.

During the five years before the farm census, 1964-1969, the average farm size increased by 38 acres. The amount of irrigated land went up by two million acres. Also, the percentage of tenant farmers fell from 17 percent of the total to 13 percent and the percentage of full farm owners rose to 62 percent.

The market value of agricultural commodities sold by farmers during that five year span increased over 10 billion dollars to 45.5 billion dollars.

Farmers have also become better customers for industry. At the time of the farm census, farmers owned 4.6 million big tractors; 2.9 million trucks; 2.6 million automobiles; 262 thousand garden tractors; 708 thousand pickup balers; 467 thousand combines and thousands of pieces of miscellaneous equipment.

All this is evidence of a growing American agriculture. An agriculture which requires more land and a great deal more capital investment to stay in the business of feeding America.

Butero Speaks To Lions Club

John R. Butero, president of the Mocksville-Davie Chamber of Commerce, was the guest speaker at the regular meeting of the Cooleemee Lions Club held at the new Cooleemee Elementary School Monday night of this week.

Butero spoke about how the Chamber operates and explained to the club members how the Chamber is working toward total involvement of the various organizations and people in the various communities throughout Davie County to make Davie County a better place in which to work and live.

Butero discussed with Ward Setzer, president of the Cooleemee Lions Club, and other members of the club, the problems confronting Cooleemee and expressed his hope that clubs in Cooleemee such as the Lions could establish a closer relationship with the Chamber of Commerce towards trying to solve these problems.

The Mocksville-Davie Chamber of Commerce has four men serving on it from Cooleemee: Richard Beck, Davie County Manager John Barber, Jommy Steele and the Chamber's first vice president Bill Bowen.

Area Residents Eligible For Special Wake Forest Classes

Residents of this area are eligible to participate in a series of evening classes to be held beginning Sept. 20 and 21 at the Babcock Graduate School of Management of Wake Forest University on the campus in Winston-Salem.

Judson D. DeRamus, director of the Management Institute which arranged the courses, said they will touch the subjects of safety, communication, personnel supervision and quality control. Experts in each field will be the instructors.

He said that enrollment in the classes already has started and that vacancies will be filled on a "First-come, first-served" basis. He said the courses all have proved popular in the past and that a good enrollment is expected for each one this fall.

The courses: Personnel Aspects of Supervision--Ten evening sessions beginning Thursday, Sept. 21. The course helps to develop an appreciation of the personnel aspects of the supervisor's job. The registration fee is $100.

Building Effective Communication--Ten evening sessions beginning Wednesday, Sept. 20. The course is designed to help the participants understand and apply the basic principles of communication. The registration fee is $100.

Occupational Safety and Health Act of 1970 Workshop--Six evening classes will begin Thursday, Sept. 21. The workshop is designed to help the supervisor who is in charge of complying with the safety and health act. The registration fee is $125.

Basics in Application of Quality Control Techniques--This course and four others dealing with aspects of quality control will be presented in cooperation with the Central N.C. Section of the American Society for Quality Control. The registration fee for each is $100. All will meet for 10 sessions beginning Thursday, Sept. 21. DeRamus said further information is available through the Graduate School of Management at Wake Forest University in Winston-Salem.

Restoration work currently underway on North Carolina's historic capitol building brings to mind the circumstances that led to its construction.

The old "State House," as the capitol was once called, had been built in 1774, and its wood-shingled roof had long been considered a fire hazard. On two previous occasions cinders from the many nearby chimneys had set the roof on fire but without serious damage resulting.

The first fire occurred in 1816 and the second on January 6, 1831. The General Assembly was in session when the alarm rang out at about 5 p.m., and, as a local newspaper reported, the delegates did not wait for a formal motion of adjournment to make their exit.

Soon afterward a decision was made to prevent any such near catastrophe in the future by covering the capitol roof with zinc. Ironically, it was while this "fireproofing" was being soldered in place during the summer of 1831 that a workman apparently dropped a hot coal between the roof and the ceiling and burned the building to the ground within two hours.

A newspaper account two days later under the headline "Awful Conflagration" read: "Seldom has the eye witnessed so awful a spectacle as this vast building in one concentrated blaze streaming from every window, and a vast column from the roof forming altogether a scene not adequately to be described." Destroyed with the building was the original Canova Statue of George Washington, of which a duplicate was placed in the rotunda of our present capitol on Memorial Day, 1970.

Temporary quarters for the General Assembly were offered by the "congregation and pewholders" of the First Presbyterian Church of Raleigh, but the offer was declined, and the assembly from 1831 to 1838 met in the "Government House", the governor's home at the south end of Fayetteville Street. The displaced governor moved into temporary rented quarters.

Our present capitol was completed in 1840 on the same site as the old "State House" at a total cost of just over $500,000 and it then housed all departments of state government. Though it no longer is home to the legislature, it is one of the most popular spots for visitors to the capital city. The sturdy old structure which has served the state well for over a hundred and thirty years is now undergoing extensive restoration, including the replacement of its leaky, but impressive copper dome.

Chapter D.A.C. Holds Meeting

The Catawba Valley Chapter, Daughters of the American Colonists, met Tuesday at the home of Mrs. B. C. Brock, Sr. in Farmington. Mrs. Brock, assisted by Mrs. B. M. Tucker greeted the guests as they arrived and served refreshing grape juice and cheese wafers. Miss Frances Tabor, chapter regent, called the meeting to order and welcomed as visitors Mrs. B. C. Brock Jr., and Miss Caroline Brock. Following the ritual, some matters of business were considered. A budget was presented and adopted. Delegates were elected to the North Carolina D.A.C. Assembly, which will convene at Lambeth Inn Lake Junaluska October 4-5. Those chosen were Miss Katherine Mays, Miss Betsy Monroe, and Mrs. R. C. Sherrill. An interesting feature of the Assembly will be the dedication of a marker to Bishop Francis Asbury.

For the program, Mrs. Sherrill gave an entertaining and instructive talk on the insignia of the National D.A.C. Society. She told briefly the circumstances leading to the adoption of the insignia. Then, with the aid of slides, she described each.

School Bulletin Takes Students To Exotic Places

A lively profile of one of the oldest continuous civilizations on Earth will greet school children returning to classrooms this fall. The lead article in the first of 30 weekly School Bulletins for 1972-73 highlights India. The first issue appears September 11.

Published by the National Geographic Society as a public service for more than half a century, the School Bulletin offers young readers countless visits to exotic places. It contains first-person adventures and scientific reports of world wide significance. Sparkling color photographs, maps, and illustrations brighten each 16-page issue.

The compact weekly magazine was the first classroom periodical to introduce color illustrations of the world's people, places, and wonders.

In the coming school year, voyages of discovery will take students to Argentina and New Zealand. In Utah's desert wilderness young travelers will explore America's newest national park, awesome Capitol Reef. In rural Mississippi they'll meet Choctaw Indians and learn tribal customs, crafts, and sports.

Long before ecology became a byword, School Bulletin readers explored Earth's living wonders.

In future issues, young people will search Wyoming's Snake River for plants and animals and test the once-pure stream for pollution.

Students will get tips on wildlife photography and learn the ways of horses, sea turtles, sooty terns, and squid.

Regular features add to the wealth of information offered in each Bulletin. The Old Explorer returns with new adventures and inspiring episodes in the lives of men and women who investigate, interpret, and change the world. "Look Around" invites readers to be alert to the miracles of nature at their feet. "Global Notebook" condenses startling bits of information about everything under the sun.

From lively, fact-filled accounts of geographic places the world over to the popular Geo-Graph crossword puzzle, Editor Ralph Gray and his staff tap a rich reservoir: facts and photographs obtained through the Bulletin's own efforts: material gathered by National Geographic writers, photographers, and researchers; the Society's reference books and maps, and its unparalleled files of color photographs.

Through the years, subscription fees have covered only a small part of production costs. The balance is contributed by the National Geographic Society to help fulfill its mission: the "increase and diffusion of geographic knowledge."

The School Bulletin is mailed from the School Service Division, National Geographic Society, Washington, D.C. 20036. Rates for the 30 weekly issues are $2.75 in the United States, and $3.50 in Canada and elsewhere. United States subscribers may receive 90 issues (three full school years) for $7.50.

WASHINGTON AND SMALL BUSINESS

A Sense of Proportion

It is probably no new idea to observe that Americans are at times most paradoxical.

In far off Southeastern Asia, in an attempt to halt communist aggression, a bomb falls that destroys a levee which in turn destroys some rice paddies upon which 50 or 60 families depend for a livelihood.

This is enough to cause demonstrations and parades.

Yet, some 15,000 longshoremen recently destroyed the jobs of an unknown number of people in a dispute which was largely created by friction between two unions.

A case in point in the files of the National Federation of Independent Business comes from the state of Minnesota. Paradoxically, political leaders in this state usually stand in the front ranks of those that decry any attempt to prevent destruction of American business and jobs by curbing the power of organized labor to disrupt the economy.

In this particular case, there was a manufacturer of costume jewelry, gifts and kindred items which had been established for many years. Unfortunately, it had to depend on imports for raw materials.

When the Pacific Coast longshore strike tied up all shipping for close to four months, the raw materials could not be obtained. And because the goods could not be manufactured, sales could not be made, and the National Federation of Independent Business because sales could not be made, the financial structure of the company was wiped out, and the business closes.

But going out of existence with the business was 107 jobs, many of them held by people who had worked for the firm for 15 to 20 years.

However, nobody marched on the national capitol, and in fact, it was not even possible to get through the Congress bills which would have prevented future occurrences of labor tie-ups of vital transportation.

A temporary, one time piece of legislation was passed finally in a manner reminiscent of the old saw about locking the barn after the horse is stolen.

And while 107 jobs are not the mainstay of the economy, this is only one incident that was probably multiplied many times.

Independent business people, voting through the National Federation of Independent Business, have consistently voted support of legislation that would prevent such personal disasters. Opposition to such legislation charges this type of law would destroy free bargaining and thus free enterprise. But what freedom was granted the 107 ex-factory workers in Minnesota other than freedom to apply for welfare, or else starve? Unfortunately that same dog in the manger, portrayed in the famous fable as an example of irresponsible cussedness, has now become a political pet.

Rent Reductions Should Be Seen

Tenants who signed leases between August 15 and December 28 last year should in most cases receive rent reductions when they sign their new leases, IRS Director J. E. Wall said this week.

The IRS reminder to landlords and tenants is based on a change in the regulations for computing base rent which became effective last December 29.

This change established as the base rent for the unit the May 15, 1971, rent plus the average percent increase of other units in the same building or complex just prior to the freeze. This replaced an earlier rule which was based on the highest rent charged for a similar unit prior to the freeze.

Leases signed between August 15 and December 28, 1971, received increases under the original rule, which is most cases permitted higher increases than under current regulations.

In issuing the reminder, Wall said: "The original rule was the same used for setting base prices for other goods and commodities within the economy. But, because of the few leases signed during the base period, the rule in some instances allowed excessive rent increases."

As these leases now expire, landlords are required to compute base rent using the new regulations, substituting the average increase for the highest rent charged, which in most cases will mean a reduction.

All tenants whose one year leases expire between August 15 and December 28, 1972, should be notified in writing by their landlord of their base rent as computed under the regulations now in force. Wall said that if a landlord fails to notify a tenant of his base rent, "he is in violation of the rent stabilization regulations. Tenants should request proper notification."

If a landlord refuses to notify, a tenant may file a complaint with his local IRS office.

Youngsters who encounter learning problems or who become behavioral problems in school should be given a hearing test according to officials of the Beltone Crusade for Hearing Conservation. They point out that these characteristics can be the danger signals of a hearing loss.

Cops Different In Various Roles

COPS are found everywhere—on land, on the sea, in the air, on horses, in cars, sometimes in your hair. In spite of the fact that "you can't find one when you want one", they are usually there when it counts most. The best way to get one is to pick up the phone. COPS deliver lectures, babies, and bad news. They are required to have the wisdom of Solomon, the disposition of a lamb and muscles of steel and are often accused of having a heart to match. He's the one who rings the doorbell, swallows hard and announces the passing of a loved one; then spends the rest of the day wondering why he ever took such a "crummy" job.

most rewarding moment comes when, after some small kindness to an older person, he feels the warm hand clasp, looks into grateful eyes and hears, "Thank you and God bless you, son."

Auditions For Symphony Choral

Vocalists interested in performing with the expanding Winston-Salem Symphony Choral during the 1972-73 Concert Season may audition before the Auditions Committee Tuesday, September 5 from 7:30 to 10 p.m. Auditions will be held by appointment in the Symphony Rehearsal Room at the Hanes Community Center and are open to any singer in the Winston-Salem area. Positions are available in all vocal classifications.

The Choral, conducted by David Partington, is entering its second concert season as an augmentation to the Winston-Salem Symphony. Last year members presented "Gloria" by Gabrieli and "Gloria" by Poulenc in a joint concert with the Orchestra; performed Bach's "The St. John Passion" in an all choral concert; and participated in the Opera "Madame Butterfly" by Puccini.

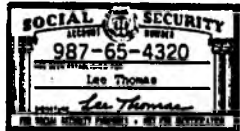

Among the works they will perform this season are "Chichester Psalms for Chorus and Orchestra" by Leonard Bernstein, "Solemn Vespers" by Mozart, and "Liedeslieder Waltzes" of Brahms. They will also provide the chorus and supporting roles in Verdi's Opera "La Traviata".

Appointments for auditions may be made by calling the Symphony Office at 725-1035. Vocalists are expected to bring a piece of familiar music for presentation and to be prepared to sightread. A piano accompanist will be provided.

...about your Social Security

by Vernice Fulcher

I listened with great interest while a friend of ours told us about his recent fishing trip. His face was one big smile and his eyes sparkled as he described the equipment he used and the success he had in making a nice catch. I asked if his "luck" generally held and he said, "No, but that isn't the important thing anyway." Then he explained the feeling of inner peace and joy he experienced late in the afternoon when the river was quiet except for an occasional splash made by a fish jumping out of the water.

"As night falls," he said, "the frogs begin to sing in their deep baritone voices while the wind mellowly the sound as it blows gently through the trees. The moon casts a shadowy pattern of unexplainable figures all over the ground." I noticed the expression on his face change as he added, "It saddens me to know the days that such a sight can be enjoyed may be numbered." I knew what he meant.

We do live in a fast moving, changing world. Why in social security there have been more changes made in the past 10 years than I could list on one full page. Because of these changes and because social security touches better than 90 percent of our population, it is important to pick up and read the free social security literature available to the public. To get the booklet or pamphlets you are interested in, just call or write the Social Security Office, 105 Corriher Avenue, Salisbury, N. C. 28144. Our telephone number is 633-6470.

Q. I operate a farm but I have a loss every year. Can I get any Social Security coverage?

A. Yes. The optional method of reporting farm income allows you to report net income, even though you have a loss. (For details, check with your local social security office).

Q. I paid $68.00 when I went into a hospital. Isn't this the only deductible I have to pay under Medicare?

A. No. You paid the hospital insurance deductible, but there is also a $50.00 deductible each year for medical insurance. This is a separate deductible which applies to your doctor bills.

Q. My brother, who drew Social Security benefits, recently died. I assumed the responsibility of paying the funeral home. The funeral home is mailing some forms to the Social Security Office. Do I need to contact the social security office to file any other forms for the burial payment?

A. Yes. The forms the funeral home mails are used as evidence to support your claim. You need to contact the social security office to file an application for the burial payment.

Vets Corner

Q-Do I have to use a VA form to change the beneficiary on my GI Insurance policy?

A-No. Any clear statement signed by the policyholder is acceptable to VA. However, it is preferred that VA Form 29-336 be used.

Q-Can a veteran whose VA benefits have been forfeited apply for their reinstatement?

A-Yes, a veteran may apply for presidential pardon which, if granted, may again entitle him to VA benefits for which he was originally eligible.

Accident Demolishes Two Cars Last Week

State Trooper J.C. Goodin investigated an accident Wednesday, August 23, at 3:10 p.m. on US 158 near Cassidy's Store.

James Howard Hunter, 17, of Route 2, driving a 1961 Chevrolet truck, was stopped to make a left turn into a field. Dennis Laverne West, 19, of Route 2, Mocksville, driving a 1967 Chevrolet, traveling west towards Mocksville, was unable to stop before hitting the truck in the left rear and then West cut to the left hitting a 1969 Chevrolet head on which was being operated by Donald Thomas Simmons, Jr. of Route 1 and traveling east.

West complained of neck and leg injuries and he was taken to Davie County Hospital for a check-up.

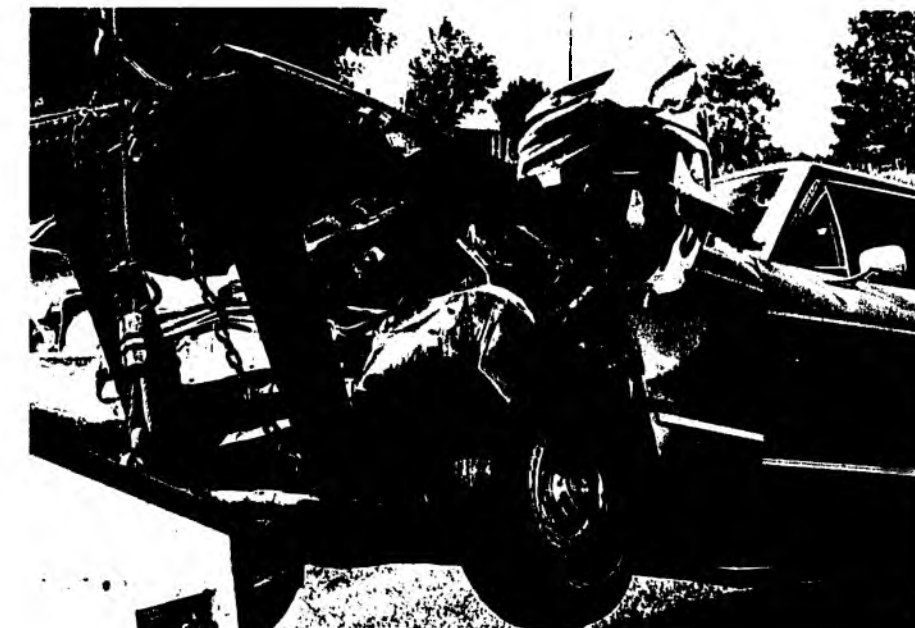

The West car and the 1969 Chevrolet that Simmons was driving were declared a total loss. Damage to the 3rd car was estimated at $100.

West was charged with failure to reduce speed.

AT SHEFFIELD—LOCATED 10 MILES WEST OF MOCKSVILLE—4 MILES OFF U. S. 64

From Washington

by Congressman Earl B. Ruth

Friday, August 18th, was an historic day for everyone who has been forced to go through the rigors of being bused and being told to bus. It climaxed several weeks of work in which the House of Representatives finally adopted the Equal Educational Opportunities bill. This bill, passed by a 282-102 vote, contains the so-called "Ruth Amendment" which allows school districts already under busing orders to take their cases back to the courts for new hearings.

This was the first, straight anti-busing measure to come before the House. Primarily, the bill bans long-distance busing for high school and elementary students and allows past court cases to be reopened in order to comply with the Act.

The Equal Educational Opportunities bill first came to the House Education and Labor Committee last March. It was proposed by the President. After several weeks of debate, it was reported out of the General Education Subcommittee on which I serve. From here it went to the full House Education and Labor Committee for another series of debates. After another long delay, it was finally reported to the floor by a record committee vote of 21 yeas and 18 nays.

But the full committee deleted a section most important to the South which I supported during work in the General Subcommittee. This was the "reopener" section, which simply assures equal treatment for school districts already under busing orders. Without the opener section the bill related to future busing cases only.

So it was necessary to restate a "reopener" section in the bill. I filed notice that I would attempt to amend the bill on the floor of the House so that all school districts, north or south, east or west, were treated equally when under threat of busing orders from the courts.

When the time came to present the amendment, which in addition to the "reopener" section now contained revisions that would insure that no student could be transferred farther than the second nearest school to his residence, and a section limiting court orders on busing, it was important that the total amendment be the first presented in that title of the bill.

Since the seniority system prevails, the only sure way of being recognized ahead of other committee members, was to have the amendment presented by the senior member on the Education and Labor Committee—Rep. Edith Green of Oregon. Mrs. Green graciously consented, and today I am most grateful for that.

The strategy was successful since all the provisions in the amendment were passed. And a tremendous victory has been realized by all the people in the nation with busing problems.

NOTICE

North Carolina, Davie County

Under and by virtue of the power of sale contained in a certain deed of trust executed by Glen L. McLaughlin and his wife, Angella C. McLaughlin, dated September, 1970, and recorded in Deed of Trust Book 75, at page 314 Davie County Registry, default having been made in the payment of the indebtedness thereby secured and said deed of trust being by the terms thereof subject to foreclosure, the undersigned Trustee will offer for sale at public auction to the highest bidder for cash at the Courthouse Door in Mocksville, North Carolina, on the 1st day of September, 1972, at twelve o'clock, noon the property conveyed in the said deed of trust, the same lying and being in the County of Davie, and State of North Carolina, in Mocksville Township, and described as follows:

Tract No. of Section 2, Davie Acres Subdivision, containing 15.95 acres, more or less, as per survey and plat made by A.L. Bowles and J.C. Comer, Surveyors, April, 1966, and said plat recorded in Map Book No. 4, pages 38 and 39, in the Register of Deeds Office of Davie County, North Carolina, to which reference is hereby made for a more particular description.

But this sale will be made subject to all outstanding and unpaid taxes.

This 3rd day of August, 1972.

Sweeping Under Rug
The more that government launches new agencies, the more it appears that they are used to sweeping other problems under the rug.
An example of this was given recently when the price control agency made a ruling on shoe prices. Because the price on hides has jumped 100 per cent, it was feared that shoe prices will go up as much as five dollars per pair. In order to avert this, the price control people decreed shoe manufacturers could raise their prices on a dollar for dollar basis to reflect the actual cost of the hides.
In other words, this is a reversal of the common practice of lumping together labor, material and overhead costs, and computing the profit on this basis. This, knocks out in part the profit system.
The problem goes even deeper. Hide prices have risen so greatly because foreign shoe manufacturers find the American market so profitable that they can outbid American manufacturers for American produced hides, and still undercut the American market.
But nobody wants to upset foreign relations, and of course, the consumer must be kept happy. For a long time, the independent business people of the nation, voting through the National Federation of Independent Business, have supported legislation that would tie the import duties to the differentials in labor costs between American wage scales and those existing in the countries.
try of origin.
But the unusual tactic that the price control people has taken to escape cries of outrage from abroad and from the domestic consumer will probably harm consumers.
No manufacturer can operate without profit, and to expect any business to merely swap dollars is unrealistic.
There are a few smaller American shoe manufacturers who still turn out a quality, handcrafted product. It is doubtful that they will cheapen their quality.
But the vast majority of American shoes are made by about three big combines.
Many things go into the making of a shoe, which are lumped under the name of "finishing." It is quite probable that unable to take a normal markup on hide costs, there will be a lower quality of innersole, lining, or some other part.
After all, 25 cents per pair saved in this manner means $250,000 on each million pair. And the buyer is not aware of the lowered quality standards.
In fact, this cheapening of the product will not probably be noticed except the shoes will wear out faster. And every mother with youngsters knows shoes wear out fast enough now. This sweeping under the rug the real basic problem may fool the public for a while, but in time there will be a barefoot awakening.

Church Activities

CENTER

Homecoming will be observed Sunday, September 3, at Center United Methodist Church. The program for the day is as follows: Church School at 10 a.m.; the worship service at 11 a.m. with the Rev. Charles Sisk, pastor, delivering the message. A picnic lunch will follow the morning service and a song service will be held at 1:30 p.m. A special offering will be taken for the up keep of the church cemetery. Anyone wanting to make a donation but cannot attend the service, send it to Mrs. Martin Latham, treasurer of Center Church, Route 1, Mocksville, Code 27028, and mark it for "Cemetery Fund."

Past donations are greatly appreciated. Plans are to keep the cemetery looking beautiful.

CORNATZER

The Cornatzer Methodist men will meet Sunday, September 3, at 7:30 p. m. in the Fellowship Hall of the church.

ST. FRANCIS

St. Francis Women's Guild will meet Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. All members are urged to attend.

Church members are selling chances at 50 cents a donation on a Motorola 12 inch B and W TV to be given away on November 11. Second prize will be a dinner for two at Sam's Country Kitchen. Third prize will be a hand-made ceramic clock. Proceeds will go into the building fund. Anyone interested in buying tickets may see any church member. The TV may be seen at Thompson's Sewing Machine Center.

Do You Know

The Veterans Administration announced recently that 12 new drug treatment centers will be opened in several weeks, bringing the total to 44.

After tropical storm Agnes, the Veterans Administration put into effect disaster relief measures to assist veterans whose homes were damaged or destroyed.

More veterans and servicemen trained under the current GI Bill in April than any month in its six year history, according to the Veterans Administration.
