Soviet Union's Collapse Makes 1991 A Good Year

How will we remember 1991? The economy was sour. Tragedies were in bountiful supply. But in one regard, 1991 was a wonderful year.

The Soviet Union died. It's gone.

For 70 years the Soviet government oppressed and killed its people and tried to distribute its evil around the world. We spent trillions of dollars to bolster our defenses and those of our allies against communism.

By some accounts, 70 million people died due to the Soviet Union's reign of terror. Those were its own people. Maybe we'll never fully know the suffering the Russian people endured during the days of Stalin, or the plight of the millions re-located to Siberia, or those who died on collective farms. Communism was touted as the ideal form of government. During the 70's, it was widely thought that the United States would eventually lose the struggle. We were considered a declining power. The Soviet Union was ever increasing its spread of terror. Once in the grip of communism, nations wilted and never emerged.

The United States was still in shock from the Vietnam experience. Jimmy Carter spoke of the nation's malaise. And our friends abroad were being reduced to a handful. Something happened to change all that. It was Ronald Reagan.

Reagan poured money and arms to a band of renegades in Afghanistan to oppose the Soviet army. He opposed the communists in Nicaragua. He rebuilt the nation's defenses and put real muscle into what had been regarded as a paper tiger. And he stood at the wall in Berlin and shouted for it to come down. It has.

As the United States regained its bearing under President Reagan, the Soviet Union began to stumble. Seven decades of oppression and economic ruin finally caught up with it. Its people wanted freedom. The fires of nationalism burned new in the hearts of people who had been swallowed by the Red Army.

The real joke in the collapse of the Soviet Union is that some are giving Mikhail Gorbachev credit for it. They suppose the results are something he wanted. He merely found himself on the back of a raging tiger and held on as best he could. He did grant concessions. He did surrender control of the Eastern European nations. And he did not try to stop their escape from the Soviet bloc by turning his troops on them. For that, he does deserve credit.

Last week, one of the Afghanistan rebel leaders claimed credit for himself for the collapse of the Soviet empire. He does deserve a healthy margin of credit. The nuclear reactor disaster also served to fan the tide of discontent.

But there were other individuals and events that precipitated the collapse. Obviously, one of the most significant was Boris Yeltsin. He had been a good communist and one of Gorbachev's advocates. He saw the mounting problems and the Soviet system's inability to deal with them. He broke with Gorbachev and was disgraced. But his message caught the ears and imaginations of the Russian people. He emerged as Gorbachev's chief critic. During the coup, Yeltsin stood against the poised army and rallied the people of Moscow to resist.

The future for the new nations is uncertain. They have many immediate problems. But for the first time since 1917, they have a method of solving them. The new leaders seem to be peace loving with no thoughts of expansionism. They embrace democracy.

During 1991, we lost our worst enemy and gained many new friends.

County's Future Not Bright

To the editor:
As Davie County heads into the year 1992, we see the future as not quite so bright and rosy as was predicted by a former board of commissioners. Taxes have increased, but revenue is not enough to pay for the debt we incurred through this board which at that time had a county manager by the name of John Barber.

The R. C. Smith, John Barber administration never at any time looked at the problems that Davie County was experiencing with growth, lack of water and outdated zoning laws with the intention of solving the problems. The board and county manager at that time seemed to think that problems in this area, if ignored, would solve themselves, which brings us to the present. Problems with government must be solved — not ignored. To ignore a problem of fiscal responsibility will simply lead to a bigger problem later, which has to be eventually solved or grow bigger and become so big that only tax increases and more ways to get revenue are used to not solve the original problem; but drags down the resources of the taxpayers and the problems simply grow more complicated and harder to deal with. We should be very careful in the coming months who we select as candidates for our board of commissioners. There will be three elected to this position and we certainly don't need more of what we had in the past, which is total disregard of fiscal responsibility and the wasteful use of our hard-earned tax dollars.

We should also look at our president, congress, senate and state officials as well; because if we select the same scoundrels back to serve in public office, we will deserve everything we get. They haven't got the job done in the past, so now it's time for new blood to step in and take over, new blood that will use logic and common sense when spending our tax dollars as if it were coming from our own pockets — because it is.

Choose The Right Daycare

To the editor:
This letter is written to address all parents who may have children in daycare. There has recently been increased concern about children's safety and the care they are given by a daycare provider. I feel the parents of children in daycare need to know what is happening to their children during the hours that they are not able to care for them. It has come to my attention that many unapproved things can happen to a child when you don't ask questions. Sometimes, like in my case, a child gets expelled from daycare because the daycare provider is stressed out from being asked to explain his/her actions.

Parents need to be informed about everything that happens to their children. A daycare provider who gets offended by questions, lends more doubt to their abilities to provide good care. I feel that if there was better communication between the daycare provider and the parent, there wouldn't be as many problems with child abuse. Child abuse is more than physical. Children are neglected in some daycare settings, and mentally abused to the point where not only the children suffer, but the parents do also. If you doubt any actions of your daycare provider, don't hesitate to ask questions. We are paying them for a service and without our children, they have no business. You can also call or write Child Day Care Section, 701 Barbour Drive, Raleigh, NC 27603-2008, (919) 733-4801.

Someone at this address and number can answer your questions if your daycare provider fails to. There are regulations that you can receive copies of and additional numbers you can call to talk with an investigator of daycares in your county. Children are precious and they deserve to be cared for in a manner that we, as parents, approve of. I am not criticizing all daycare centers or homes. There are some respectable, professional, loving daycare settings. It may have been a blessing in disguise to have my child expelled from her first daycare, because I can finally sleep soundly at night knowing that my child is being taken care of properly in a caring daycare, can you?

Tomahawk Chop The Top Story

To some people, it was more important than the Gulf War. More important than the dissolution of the Soviet Union. More important than the price of hamburgers.

It's the tomahawk chop. To me and thousands of others, the tomahawk chop was the most important news event in 1990. The tomahawk chop is another term for the Atlanta Braves.

The two go hand in hand. Sure, the other events were really more important. But to a baseball fan with southern roots, the choppin' Braves rise from their usual last place to first place was really big news. They put pride back into the Deep South's only true professional sports city.

And although I hate to admit, it's the Yankees who put them there. Not the New York Yankees, but guys like Tom Glavine from Massachusetts, John Smoltz and Steve Avery from Michigan, and Charlie Leibrant from somewhere up there. Those Yankees made us southerners proud of our baseball team — finally.

Until the Braves reached the World Series, there was pride in being a fan. The fans made the Braves the talk of baseball crowds around the country. It was this tomahawk chop thing that Deion Sanders brought from Florida State. Fans did it by the tens of thousands, chanting all the time. It was eerie and awesome. Everyone praised it as the best thing to happen to baseball.

That was until some Indian in Minnesota got a job and hooked onto cable television and saw all this choppin'. That was making fun of Indians and should be stopped, he said. He got his buddies (all from Minnesota) on the bandwagon. Stop the chop, Indians aren't mascots. And besides, that choppin' might interfere with our team's chance at winning the World Series. I wish I had a twin brother or sister, so I could protest Minnesota making a mascot out of me.

One Indian chief in Louisiana said he wasn't offended by the choppin', unless the Braves lost. One in Florida chopped during a television interview. In Cherokee, revenues went higher at the local tourist attraction as Braves fans gobbled up the Indian headdresses and tom-toms. If they complained, it was on their way to the bank. I thought this tomahawk choppin' was so important that I put it on the list for the news staff to pick the top 10 news stories in Davie County. After all, the Davie High School band and fans are doing the tomahawk chop now.

It could have made the top 10, had it not been for our publisher. He picked the chop 33rd, when there were only 22 choices. I hope it was only a coincidence that Darryl Strawberry wears number 33. After all, our publisher (I won't put his name here because he should be embarrassed.) has been seen with a blue baseball cap bearing the letters LA (yuck). I'm buying him the latest bumper sticker from Atlanta, "So What, LA Still Stinks (Stinks is a kinder word than in the original version)."

So what's going to happen to the tomahawk chop in 1992? In Davie County, it will end. Why does a team called the War Eagles chop anyway? And before year's end, somebody will move here from Minnesota and tell us we're teaching our children to be racists. In Atlanta, it depends on the team. Ted Turner, owner of the Braves, said he doesn't want to offend Indians and wants the choppin' stopped. The only way to do that will be if the Braves lose. Then there won't be any reason to chop.

New Board — Same Attitude

To the editor:
Although we have a different make up of county commissioners, nothing has changed. We are told that only the users should pay for the water system. To some extent I agree. However, there are other factors to be considered. Such as: the industries that are giving a break on the rate they are paying. Again I agree, but there are other people who benefit from these industries a lot more than I do, so why should I, just because I use water, pay for the subsidy to the industry any more than any other taxpayer? I assume Bermuda Run is considered an industry seeing that they pay a good bit less for water than the other water users. According to the paper, Bermuda Run Country Club's rate is $1.16 per thousand while the remaining citizens pay $2.54. That is a difference of $1.38. I think it costs just as much to process the water going to Bermuda Run as it costs for the water that comes into my home.

The entire county benefits from the increase in water supply, therefore, the entire county should pay. After all, the entire county voted for the bonds to pay for the upgraded system.

As Mr. O'Neal stated in his letter last week, not all of us have children in the public school system, however we still pay the school tax. Even the people who choose to send their children to private schools continue paying the same school tax as anyone else. Why should the water system be any different when it is a benefit for the whole county? Mr. O'Neal and I are not the first to point this fact out. A letter on Nov. 8, 1990, also felt those who benefit, even indirectly, should also help carry the load.

Laws Cover Carrying Weapons

The Davie County Sheriff's Office can and does issue handgun purchase permits in appropriate cases after background checks. The purchase of a handgun requires a five-day waiting period. Frequently people inquire about the availability of a concealed handgun carry permit.

Carrying a concealed weapon is illegal in the State of North Carolina and the only persons authorized to do so are law enforcement officers within their jurisdiction. For a Davie County deputy to carry a concealed weapon off duty requires authorization from the sheriff. There is no such thing as a permit to carry concealed weapons.

A handgun or other weapon may be carried in a vehicle provided it is in plain view, or not readily accessible to persons in the vehicle. The weapon can be transported in the trunk legally, except for transport across state lines.

Generally, a weapon can be transported in a locked glove box provided it is not readily accessible. For instance the key is on the same ring with the ignition key, thus requiring the vehicle engine to shut off before the glove box can be unlocked and thereby requiring extra effort and extra time to remove the weapon. Again generally, a weapon can be transported in plain view lying on the seat, but it must not be covered, or in a pistol case or in any manner concealed. The term "generally" is used because it is impossible to have a hard and fast rule. The weapon on a seat must be visible to any law enforcement officer approaching the vehicle. Never place a weapon under the seat nor in a console.

How does the law define a weapon? It is obvious to anyone that a handgun is a weapon. Within the passenger compartment, any number of inappropriate objects could possibly be considered a weapon. An officer's judgment comes into play when he encounters a possible weapon.

Most people do not carry a baseball bat under the seat nor a steak knife in the glove box. The attitude and demeanor of the driver or passengers will enter into a judgment by the officer.

Following are some objects considered weapons: guns, knives, bats, pool cue stick cutoffs, tire tools, ice picks, brass knuckles, a short piece of heavy electrical cable, metal pipe, various martial arts paraphernalia. It would be considered normal to find a screwdriver under the seat but not necessarily a metal pipe.

If a person is transporting a weapon of any type, especially a handgun, and is stopped by a law enforcement officer, how should that person relate to the officer? The best recommendation would be to place both hands on the top of the steering wheel in plain sight and calmly inform the officer you have a weapon in the car. Do not attempt to touch the weapon until instructed by the officer. If you have informed the officer and your demeanor is such as to not arouse suspicion, you should have no problem.

This old organ was donated to Zion Chapel United Methodist Church, and is in the old church building.

Members Renovate Oldest Methodist Church

it fall apart and because Methodism started here in this part of the country," he said. "It all comes back to this church here."

The wooden building, with air flowing underneath, sits on a foundation of rocks and timber, with one corner resting on a huge rock that juts from the ground.

In over 100 years, there hasn't been a problem with sagging, Cleary said.

The church has two front doors, and inside, two sets of pews. The pulpit is in the middle. One side was for the boys, the other for the girls, Ratledge said. "They couldn't see each other, but they could see the preacher."

They dedicated the renovation to the memory of the late Mabel Chaffin, church member who dreamed that the old church would be restored. Chaffin had written a history of the church, from which the following excerpts are written.

Sometime between 1758 and 1763, a brush arbor was built on land in the North Caldwell community on old Georgia Road near Hunting Creek. A man named Beal was one of the first preachers.

In 1780, the Rev. Andrew Yeargan, a pioneer circuit rider, was appointed preacher. He is believed to be the first Methodist preacher to set foot in Davie County (then, Rowan County).

Under Yeargan's leadership, logs were cut for the first Methodist meeting house west of the Yadkin River, and it became known as Beal's Meeting House. It was built across from the arbor, about nine miles northwest of Mocksville.

Squire and Sarah Boone, Daniel's parents, attended meetings there. Attendance grew, and a bigger meeting place was sought. In 1837, after meeting at Beal's for 57 years, a new 10.7 acre site a mile to the north was purchased for $20.

A frame church building was erected, and the membership of Beal's Meeting House was transferred to the new location. At this time the name was changed to Zion Chapel. However, as many hickory trees stood on the church lawn, it became known locally as Hickory Grove Church.

The church prospered and grew until the Civil War, when afterwards some members formed a new congregation of Methodists, which resulted in New Union Methodist Church forming about 1870 about a mile west of Zion Chapel.

In 1890, construction began on a new building for Zion Chapel and it was used until Dec. 17, 1961. But last month, the old church was used once again. With new coats of paint, a scrubbed floor (it had never been cleaned, according to Ernestine Cleary) and a crackling fire in a woodstove, members held a Christmas social.

Ratledge and the Clearys hope the church will be used more, for special services, old-timey weddings and the like. They also hope it will renew interest in Zion Chapel, which is down to about 18 members.

Mrs. Cleary said the rewards of that last goal are being seen. "People who have passed by have said it looks so pretty for Christmas," she said. "We've really accomplished a lot and I think it's reaching out, because we've got several new people coming (to church)."

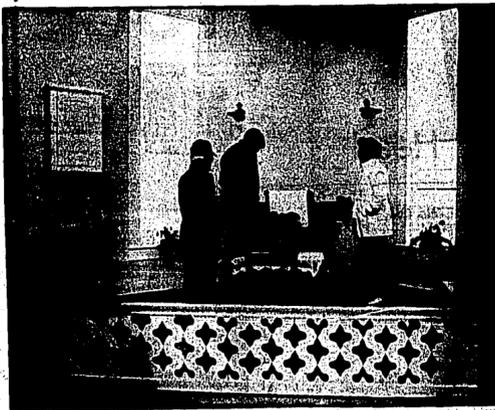

In 1890, construction began on a new building for Zion Chapel and it

Ratledge sits on the "cornerstone," a rock jutting from the ground used as the foundation.

A marker on the new church tells the history.

The Clearys and Ratledge show where the preacher stood in the pulpit of the old church.

Davie Boys Receive Bye In Catawba Tournament

By Rodney Cline
Davie County Enterprise-Record

The Davie High basketball team has made great strides this season on the court. A squad that won only 10 games in the previous three seasons is currently 3-2.

Now, the War Eagles are gaining some respect off the court.

Last week, Davie was awarded the second seed in the annual Catawba College Christmas Tournament. As a result, the War Eagles, along with top seed Salisbury, will receive a first round bye.

Davie's first game will be at Catawba's Goodman Gymnasium Friday night at 8 p.m. against the winner of Thursday's South Rowan-East Rowan matchup.

"We're honored," said Davie coach Charles Crenshaw. "I would have liked to have played a first round game to get our feet wet, but we have got a great opportunity."

The tournament begins Thursday at 6:30 p.m. when third-seeded South (3-2) faces sixth-seeded East. At 8 p.m., fourth-seeded West Rowan (2-2) plays fifth-seeded North Rowan (2-4).

Davie gained the second seed by winning a coin toss with South Rowan.

Crenshaw said he planned to scout the game between South and East. "I don't know too much about East Rowan," he said. "I do know that they played North Davidson tough."

"And I know that South Rowan is pretty good.

They've been scoring a lot of points. They beat Concord (89-85) and beat Kannapolis twice, and Kannapolis killed us in a scrimmage."

Crenshaw added that Salisbury, who enters the tournament with a 4-1 record, was picked as the number one 3-A team in the state in a preseason poll by a Greensboro newspaper. "Judging from that, we might have no chance," he said.

"But anybody can get on a roll and win it," Crenshaw said he expects Davie to play at full strength when they take the court Friday.

"I haven't seen (our players), but we are going to practice four or five times before we play," he said. "We had several players sick during exams, but as far as I know, we're going to be at full strength."

The tournament makes its return to the Catawba College campus after a one-year absence. Last year, a new wooden court was installed at Goodman Gymnasium over the holidays, so the games were played at Rowan County high schools.

"Last year, our first game was against West Rowan at West Rowan," Crenshaw said. "It was a little disappointing to our boys to play one of the best teams on their home court."

Crenshaw is happy that the tournament is back at Catawba. "I think it makes it extra special for our players," he said. "We're going to be able to play on a college floor and a neutral floor."

But he adds that Goodman Gymnasium is as much a home to Davie as it is to anybody else.

"We spent a week playing there this summer (at a basketball camp)," Crenshaw said. "Our guys really liked the court. It's a big floor, one of the biggest we'll play on."

Italians Assure Easy Glider Will Be Used

Someone gave me an Easy Glider for Christmas.

Obviously, that someone knew where I was spending the holidays.

Now that I'm a married man, an annual ritual is spending Christmas with in-laws. Mine happen to be Italian Catholics who live on Long Island, N.Y.

Italians celebrate Christmas through their stomachs. They eat a heck of a lot of food and are offended if you don't join in.

So I did. For a week I joined in. I learned the first words out of an Italian's mouth during the holidays are, "Merry Christmas ... and pass the (fill in the blank), will ya?"

You can fill in that blank with just about any food. My only problem was that they also passed it to me.

I knew this was going to be a week of eating just by looking at family members. Grandpa weighs about 260. He has a son pushing the same weight.

And then, there's little (use that term loosely) Mikey. The two-year old stands 40 inches and weighs 40 pounds. He's a load. Imagine how much he'd weigh if half of his food didn't end up on the floor, on his clothes and in his hair.

When we arrived on a Saturday night around 10 p.m., we walked in to find the Italians sitting around the table. Little did I know that was an omen.

The table was filled with cake. There was chocolate cake and cake with sparkles. There was cake with chocolate icing, vanilla icing and coconut topping.

There were cookies. Some were square, some round. There were cookies with sparkles and cookies with icing. Cookies with raspberry middles and blueberry toppings. There were plain cookies and cookies with chips. There were cookies with nuts.

And that was just for snacking. The serious eating begins when the Italians sit down to eat a meal.

We enjoyed steak, roast, meatloaf and chicken. There were Italian dishes like tortellini. There were baked potatoes and scalloped potatoes, mashed potatoes and sweet potatoes. Potatoes filled with cheese and butter and sour cream.

And more cookies.

By Monday, I felt the roll around my middle growing ever so slightly. I told myself to slow down.

Then came Christmas Eve and another Italian ritual. "Everybody eats fish on Christmas Eve," explained Grandma Lucy.

Italians wouldn't settle for just one kind of fish. No, we ate seven — count 'em, seven — types of fish in one sitting. There were mussels, shrimp scampi, clams, bay scallops, sea scallops, flounder and some sort of fish spaghetti.

And more cookies.

The Christmas Day meal was quite an adventure. There were 16 Italians and one

Peeler's Retirement Heads Top Ten List

By Ronnie Gallagher
Davie County Enterprise-Record

Sports in small areas are usually constant. The top stories always seem to remain the same.

When looking back over a year of sports in Davie County, you can usually count on wrestling, high school baseball and Legion baseball to be somewhere in the Top 10.

That was the case in 1991 as all three again made it.

But the year was special for a number of other reasons, including the year's top story. The county lost its "legend" in Davie High's Bill Peeler, who stalked the sidelines for 37 years before retiring.

And while the county said goodbye to the old, it rang in the new with two novice sports, girls soccer and swimming.

Davie High saw not one, but two graduates make it to the professional level. Denny Key signed with the Cleveland Indians while Doug Jacobs signed a $100,000 contract with the Denver Broncos and went to their training camp. He was cut but is planning on playing in the W.L.A.F. this spring.

Baseball teams were overshadowed by the individual play of J.C. Hendrix, who had one of the nation's best college seasons ever. Baseball was played in Rich Park's new grandstand, named after mayor Nick Mandolo.

And don't forget North Davie Junior High, which put the finishing touches on the greatest sports year in Davie County history.

Below are the top 10 stories in Davie County during 1991 in order of importance:

1. Bill Peeler Says Goodbye To Davie County High School.

Saying it was time to bring in someone with new ideas, Davie County's longtime athletic director said goodbye, retiring to his Salisbury home. He was replaced by wrestling coach Buddy Lowery, who then chose girls basketball coach Angie Jarvis as assistant athletic director.

Peeler came to Mocksville High School in 1954 and went to Davie High when it opened a couple of years later. He coached football, basketball and baseball at Davie.

His girls basketball teams were terrors in the 3-A North Piedmont Conference, winning numerous titles. He watched many — like Jill Amos and Jarvis — go on to star in college.

One of his baseball teams won the Western North Carolina High School Association championship during the mid-60s.

Peeler was always a favorite of the kids. "I chewed them out when they needed it," he said. "But I always realized they were teenagers and tried to have some fun with them."

2. Denny Key Signs Pro Baseball Contract.

On June 1, former Davie pitching star Denny Key was preparing for his junior season at the University of North Carolina. Two weeks later, he had been drafted and was suddenly a professional baseball player.

Cleveland drafted Key in the 17th round but gave him a $20,000 bonus and $12,500 for a college education. He first went to Burlington in the Rookie League and later to Watertown of the New York/Penn League. There he became the staff's top pitcher, first as a reliever and then a starter. As a starter, the fireballing, 6-4½ righthander threw two consecutive one-hitters. He was named the team's Most Valuable Player.

Key led Davie to three straight Central Piedmont Conference baseball titles before spending one uneventful year at Wake Forest. He transferred to Spartanburg Methodist and had signed with the Tar Heels before being drafted.

"Denny has a legitimate fifth or sixth round arm," said scout Mark McKnight, who signed him, explaining the high sum of money the Indians spent on him.

"They told me I got ninth or 10th round money," said Key, who is planning on playing for the Double-A club in Columbus, Ga. this summer.

3. Jacobs Joins Denver Training Camp.

No Davie County football player has ever gone as far as Doug Jacobs did last year when he signed a two-year, make-good package with the Denver Broncos for $100,000 per season.

The 6-8, 275-pound defensive tackle finished a sparkling career at the University of Mississippi, being invited to the Senior Bowl. But he wasn't drafted by any NFL team.

So, along with agent Joe Kerner, Jacobs filed free agent offers from at least six different clubs, including Washington, coached by Mocksville native Joe

Key

Gibbs. But he chose Denver, which also gave him a $10,000 signing bonus.

"Being a free agent really was better for me," Jacobs said. "I had the chance to go wherever I wanted and to whoever paid the most money."

Jacobs played in a couple of preseason games and made it to the final cut. He is planning on playing in the World League of American Football, when it begins in the spring.

4. J.C. Hendrix Is One Of Nation's Best. The top individual performance of 1991 was turned in by Campbell College catcher and former Davie and Legion star Hendrix.

Hendrix knew it was going to be a special season after four games. At that time, he was batting .846. He went on to one of the best seasons ever by an NCAA baseball player.

His final stats were eye-popping. His .464 batting average was fourth best in the nation and he never dropped out of the national top 10. His lowest average of the season was .461 but he quickly built it back up.

He led the Camels in hits (89), doubles (18), homers (13) and RBI (41). He had hitting streaks of 18, nine, six and 15 games. He was the only Camel to play in all 52 games.

Remarkably, the 6-1, 200-pounder accomplished all this despite suffering from strained ligaments and bone chips in his left hand. Not surprisingly, he was the Big South Player of the Year. He was not drafted but offered a tryout with the St. Louis Cardinals. He chose to finish his senior season at Campbell, which begins in a couple of months.

5. Wrestling Still A Juggernaut.

Nothing really ever changes in the sport of wrestling in Davie County. The high school goes undefeated in the league. North Davie continues winning everything in sight.

In 1991, Lowery's team won its sixth straight Central Piedmont Conference title without a loss. He won the Coach of the Year award for the sixth straight time.

Behind 34-3-1 Jamie Caydile (83-13-2 in three years), 34-9 Jon Ward and 22-7 John Coulston, Davie rolled to the 4-A regional championship by 24 points. Ten wrestlers were named all-conference.

At North Davie, Ron Kirk's team went undefeated. He reached a milestone, taking his 100th career victory.

And as 1991 ends, wrestling is getting cranked up. And guess what? Both teams are undefeated. No surprise there.

6. County Builds New Stadium For Baseball.

Rich Park already had one of the few grandstands for the fans but the dilapidated building was torn down in 1991 and replaced with a beautiful, new grandstand that rivaled any in the Central Piedmont Conference or Southern Division in Legion play.

On July 8, the grandstand was dedicated and named D.J. Nick Mando Field in honor of the long-time mayor, who actually had a hand in building the first one.

Word spread that Mocksville had a special park. The Charlotte Observer even came to do a large feature on the field and its Legion program.

The players broke in the new grandstand in well, grand fashion, winning the Central Piedmont Conference championship and winning 28 games in Legion.

"We pitched up the old grandstand year by year," Mando said. "Inspectors condemned the thing, but we tried to save money. The new one is a long time coming." Unfortunately, the first victory in Mando Stadium is a long time in coming as well. After the dedication, the Legion team lost four straight home games.

7. Legion Team Wins 28 Games Year after Year. Dale James brings Davie County a product to be proud of in his Mocksville Legion baseball team. The 28-10 season in 1991 was the second most wins in team history.

With the new grandstand, James even arranged a tournament that brought teams from Daville and Martinsville, Va., as well as four-time Georgia state champ Gainesville. Mocksville defeated Gainesville twice and won the tournament.

More importantly, Post 174 brought home another Southern Division regular season title before losing to arch-rival Rowan County in the playoffs. Mocksville fans said goodbye to three-year players like Mike Lovelace, Freddie Trantou, Stu Holt and Gray Bovender.

8. Baseball Team Wins CPC Title.

Davie County High School won its fourth CPC title in five years for Coach of the Year David Hunt. Behind pitcher Tony Renegar and do-everything second baseman Allan Chapman, the War Eagles finished 18-5. They were upset in the first round of the 4-A playoffs by Gastonia Hunter Huss.

Chapman was the CPC Player of the Year, leading the team in triples (2), runs scored (27) and stolen bases (9). He was second in walks and third in homers, RBI, and fourth in doubles. And don't forget his .324 average.

Renegar finished 8-3 on the mound, earning himself a place on Catawba College's team.

Alex Nail became the first player since Key to be named all-conference three seasons in a row.

9. Davie Adds New Sports

Davie High School added two new sports in 1991 and both have fared very well.

Girls soccer was added in the spring and swimming is currently in season.

In soccer, coach Pete Gustafson welcomed a team with only three seniors and three juniors. But behind Kristy Kowalske and Chris Priestley, it finished 4-4-2, very good for a first-year team.

The soccer team's first win came over Parkland as Carrie Brown's goal gave Davie a 1-0 win. It won its second straight a few days later over Dudley, 5-0.

"Working with this group was incredibly rewarding," said Gustafson. "There were very few complaints and a lot of hard work. We're still going to be young next season and the girls are already looking forward to it."

Swimming has only been a reality for about a month but it too has captured its first victory, beating Greensboro Smith and East Forsyth in a boys meet two weeks ago.

10. North Finishes Greatest School Year

It's too bad that the school year didn't all come in 1991. Then, North Davie would have probably edged Peeler for the number one story. But since the school accomplished its greatest school year ever partly in 1990, it fell to tenth.

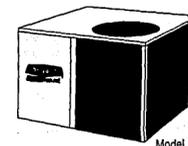

Coaches like Ricky Hendrix, Sam Beck, Ron Kirk and George Newman were sorry to see athletes like Tyrone Martin, Andrea Gentry, Jaime Hunter, Kyle Duncan and Hamilton Culbreth leave. They led every team that played a freshman sport to a championship.

For the record, that was football, girls softball, boys basketball, girls basketball, wrestling, baseball, volleyball, boys track and girls track.

country hick in the house. And I was treated to my second lesson.
Italians won't let you enjoy the main course. By the time you get to it, you're full.
There was this huge turkey to be eaten. But by the time the bird reached the table, we were already stuffed from cheese sticks, little meat turnovers, cake and pie. And don't forget the largest pan of lasagne I've ever seen. It had eight pounds of cheese in it. I really didn't want — or need — any turkey. But I didn't want to offend the Italians. So I forced some turkey down too.
Did I mention there were plenty of cookies?
By Thursday, I swore I was going to stop eating. But a trip to the Catskills to see Aunt Alice resulted in two huge sandwiches. Well, I thought, at least we'll get home too late for supper. I won't have to worry about that.
About 9 p.m., Michael, a cop and head of the household, decided he was hungry. "I'll get some Chinese food," he announced.

"Some? Did he say 'some' Chinese food?"
He bought 78 freaking dollars worth. (Cops are paid real well on Long Island). That's a little more than some. But I didn't want to offend Michael so I forced it down.
By Friday, I was sick. But the first thing out of Grandpa's mouth was, "C'mon, I'm taking everybody to Bob's Big Boy for the breakfast bar."
I thought I'd skip breakfast and wait for the lunch buffet, which was clam strips and flounder. But while I was waiting, I ate four bacon biscuits. Then, I ate the fish.
Friday night, we were informed we had to eat all the leftovers. So at the table were meatballs, lasagne, chinese food, fish, bread, potatoes and cake.
And cookies.

We finally left Saturday morning and I really felt weird. Actually, fat is the word for it.
Ironically, just down the road from Michael's house lived a man named Walter Hudson. The Hempstead resident died while I was in New York and made the front page of all the newspapers. He weighed 1,125 pounds. Workers had to cut a hole in his bedroom and use a forklift to get him to the morgue.
That's how Joan got me home.
The bathroom scale told me I had gained eight pounds from spending seven days with Italians. I think the scale is broke (yeah, right).
So, that's pretty much how I spent the holidays. I hope your holidays were as "fulfilling" as mine.
And to all of you readers out there, I say, Happy New Year.
And pass that Easy Glider, will ya?

Beck Sinks Hole-In-One

It was cold outside but Mocksville's Gary Beck was a hot golfer when he recorded a hole-in-one at Twin Cedars recently.
Beck sank the shot on the par-three, 132-yard 13th hole. He used a six-iron.
Watching the event were playing partners Curt Baly and Harvey Baynes.

Top Assistant Says Job Is Rewarding

By Beth Cassidy
Davie County Enterprise-Record

When Roberta Bonardi's youngest daughter, Esther, left home to go to first grade, Roberta wondered how she'd fill her days.
She soon found an answer. She went to school with Esther, and 20 years later, she is being rewarded for having done so.
Bonardi, who lives on Foster Dairy Road, was named the 1991 Teacher Assistant of the Year for her work at Pinebrook Elementary School. Although she does mostly clerical work for the school now, the majority of her years was spent as a classroom assistant. She remembers those years fondly.

"The most rewarding thing has been the children, the contact with the children. We always have to continue to grow and learn, and there are always things to be learned from a child."

Bonardi learned that children have more than educational needs.

They have a need to be accepted and to be heard, and they have problems. That is where teacher's assistants come in, she said. They have the time to take time to listen to the child and to help them work through their problems, and they can help children mold their futures by being positive role models.

One assistant was chosen from each of the eight schools in the county, by votes from all teachers and assistants in the school. Once chosen, the assistant had to write an essay about her years as an assistant and what she saw as the educational and fundamental needs of the children. The assistant's name and the name of the school were left off the essay, and a selection committee within the county read the essays and chose the assistant of the year.

Bonardi began her essay by saying, "My adventure as a teacher's assistant began..." She wrote it like an adventure story.

"People tell me I should find a job that pays more, but there are things that are more important than money. Doing what you like to do is important. I like the atmosphere. I like being at school, and of course, the holidays and time off in the summer helps."

Bonardi remembers one incident in particular.

She was assisting in first grade, and there was a little boy she said "loved me dearly." He would put her hand and sit beside her whenever he got a chance. One day they had show and tell, and he had a new puppy at home that he couldn't bring. "I asked him what it looked like, and he said, 'Well, it has blond hair and kind of a long nose,' and then he looked at me, looked very closely at me, and he said, 'He kindly looks like you Mrs. Bonardi.'"

"Children can be so honest," she said, laughing.

Bonardi doesn't get to spend as much time with the children as she once did, but she gets to see them when they take attendance sheets into the office, when they're sick and need their temperatures taken, and in the afternoons, when she serves as "car rider supervisor," showing parents who are picking up children where to enter and exit the parking lot and helping children into the cars.

She also works on a computer, with a program called SIMS, Student Information Management System, which contains many types of information about the children and helps in record keeping.

Her work with the Teacher's Assistant Program keeps her busy too. In November, she served on a state budget committee for teacher's assistants, and she attends annual conventions and workshops.

She misses the children.
"It is always the child that makes your work in school rewarding. With them, there's never a dull moment."

Other school winners were: Maria Knight, Mockaville Elementary; Kim Smith, Mockaville Middle; Brenda Glasscock, William R. Davie; Peggy Dodd, Cooleemee; Jane Carter, Shady Grove; Millie Fulton, South Davie; Inna Galster, North Davie.

Bonardi: "There are things that are more important than money."

Roberta Bonardi enjoys her job as a teacher's assistant.

Bonardi accepts Christmas tree ornament from Jacques Lyons, 5, a kindergartner.

'Experts' Try To Explain Need For Middle Schools

By Beth Cassidy
Davie County Enterprise-Record

What is a middle school? According to a definition provided by Paul S. George at the University of Florida, it is a "bridging school between elementary and secondary grades that offers a unique and transitional program for pre-adolescents. The school usually contains grades 6 and 7 and does not extend below 4 or above grade 8."

Why does Davie County need a middle school? College professors and Davie school officials tried to answer that question at two public information meetings.

On Dec. 16 at North Davie Junior High School, Dr. John Van Hoose, professor at the University of North Carolina at Greensboro, was on hand to attempt to explain the concept and answer questions from educators and parents.

He talked at length about adolescents, saying that they go through three basic transitions — social, personal, and intellectual.

Within social transitions come the search for acceptance and the search for sophistication, Van Hoose said.

"They need trusting relationships with non-parenting adults, but in a departmentalized structure, like we have, that opportunity doesn't occur."

"They need a close relationship at home and a close relationship at school. They want to be adults and they want to be independent, but they need our help. They need values, they need to learn respect for authority, respect for adults, and respect for each other."

Personal transitions deal more with the anatomical changes that are taking place in the adolescent, the need for self-esteem and the frequent, rapid shifts in emotion.

"Kids do not understand themselves. A growth spurt can cause them to do some peculiar things. They need to know that the changes are inevitable and natural, and that everything will turn out OK. They need to explore who they are, and they have a need for success. What we're talking about is a school setting that deals with the emotional process, so we can get on to the intellectual process."

Besides the obvious changes in their bodies that can cause anguish for an adolescent, Van Hoose, the parent of a 14 year old, said it is a medical fact that people are not born with kneecaps and that "you get your kneecaps in young adolescence," and he added, laughing, "right in the middle of language-arts class."

The intellectual transition, said Van Hoose, takes teens from thinking about things to thinking about thoughts and is the beginning of formal thought.

"Ninth grade kids have much more in common with 10th grade kids than 8th grade kids. The best configuration seems to be 6th, 7th, and 8th grades. Middle school is the last chance we have to let kids explore and to let the teachers interact with them."

Dr. Bill Steed, superintendent of Davie schools, said the main reason for the change from junior high schools to middle schools is that "Research indicated to us that it is the best way to deal with that age child, the best way to address the needs of that age group."

Davie has been in a junior high arrangement for a little over 10 years, he said. "It was the logical choice then, the best approach then to deal with that middle group of students."

But students have changed a great deal in the last 10 years he said, and the school system is limited in what they can offer in the 9th grade curriculum.

Ninth grade should be at the senior high, he said, because 9th graders are geared more toward high school than to junior high. Sixth grade, he said, is geared more toward 7th and 8th grades than to elementary school grades.

A Middle Grades Task Force, in a report called Last Best Chance, said, "The needs of young adolescents and the schools they attend have been frequently ignored. Many students in middle level schools begin to withdraw from learning as they feel the isolation of a situation in which they are rushed from class to class, teacher to teacher, stranger to stranger. The middle school must adapt and change to provide solid footing for the move toward adult life. The challenge is clear. It is imperative that middle grade schools become caring and stimulating places."

In order to address the needs of the adolescents, the task force recommended changes in school organization and curriculum. "In the middle grades," it said, "there should be an emphasis on critical and creative thinking, active learning, affective education, and integration of subject areas."

The conclusion of the task force was that "middle grade schools may be the last best chance for many 10 to 14 year olds who face risks every day to become productive, successful adults in their present environments."

The change will cost Davie Schools about $1.6 million. Plans are to spend just under $1 million at Davie High School for 10 new classrooms, an auxiliary gym, and a teaching theater, Steed said. The addition of three classrooms to Mocksville Elementary School and enclosing the courtyard will add another $620,000. Steed said that those renovations are proposed, not definite.

State funds will provide around $1 million, and the remainder would be taken from the current capital outlay funds from the county. There will still not be enough money to complete the project in one year, Steed said, and there is a possibility the board will ask the county for more money. Zolzie Rogers, a counselor at Pinebrook Elementary School, asked if the concept would help cut down on the dropout rate.

"The more centered we can be, the more we can figure out what's happening, the better the chance that they'll stay in school," Van Hoose said. One parent expressed concern that 9th graders wouldn't fit in physically or emotionally into a high school setting, Van Hoose said. "The common model across the country is that 9th graders are faring at least as well, if not better, in a high school setting as in a junior high setting."

Annie McPherson cherishes Guy Lombardo's autograph.

New Year's 1942: Guy Lombardo Was Main Attraction

By Beth Cassidy
Davie County Enterprise-Record

On Dec. 31, 1942, Annie Ruth Call McPherson's husband was stationed in New York, getting ready to be shipped overseas. She was spending as much time with him as possible, trying to memorize him, in case she never saw him again.

But that night, she had eyes for another man. Breathlessly, she watched his every move, listened to his voice, and felt light-headed when he came near. She has never forgotten the way that "other man" made her feel and the New Year's Eve spent in the company of her husband, watching and listening to Guy Lombardo.

McPherson calls Lombardo "Mr. New Year's Eve," for the many years he and his orchestra entertained and helped millions ring in the New Year.

On Dec. 31, 1942, McPherson donned a full length rabbit coat and the best dancing shoes she could find, and she and her husband attended a gala at the Roosevelt Hotel on Madison Avenue in New York.

She remembers New York in those days as "safe," and said the servicemen and their wives were "trying to cram as much fun and memories as they could in their lives."

Servicemen awaiting their assignments were offered a special weekly rate at the Roosevelt. Blackouts, Dear John letters, and the war was on the minds of most, but on that particular New Year's Eve, McPherson decided to put all that behind her and live for the moment.

Water Rates Going Up More Than 12.2%

By Mike Barnhardt
Davie County Enterprise-Record

It's true. Davie County water rates are going up 12.2 percent.

And more. County commissioners tried to clear up some of the confusion over new rates on Monday afternoon, and at the same time put money in the water-sewer fund to help prevent the need for more increases.

As pointed out by former commissioner Buddy Alexander, the new water rates reflect a higher increase than 12.2 percent — almost 68 percent for a family using 6,000 gallons of water.

"That's outrageous," Alexander said.

The confusion came over an increase in the charge for the minimum amount of water used.

That fee goes from from $7.15 per month to $12 ($24 for the two-month billing period) per month. At the same time, the amount of water used to decide the minimum was decreased, from 2,000 gallons a month to 1,500 gallons a month.

For each 1,000 gallons of water above the minimum, the fee was increased by 12.2 percent, from $2.54 to $2.85 per 1,000 gallons for consumers using up to 100,000 gallons a month; and from $1.16 to $1.30 per 1,000 gallons for consumers using more than 100,000 gallons per month.

The more water you use, the less the percentage of increase will be. "It's going to be a different percentage for everybody," said Bert Bahnsen, county commissioner.

Hospital Lease Is Official

Davie County is out of the hospital business.

The county hospital was leased to Carolina Medcorp on Monday, ending more than a year of debates over how the hospital will be operated.

"We had tried so many different directions," said Glenn Howard, chairman of the county board of commissioners which approved the lease. "Everything had seemed to go in an opposite direction from what we had hoped."

He called the lease the answer to the county's prayers. "The greatest wishes of everybody was to keep a hospital open in the county," Howard said.

It's still up to Davie residents to make the hospital a success, said Commissioner Bert Bahnsen.

"It's there. It's got all the good things about a big-city hospital. It's got all the good things about a small hospital. If the people of Davie County want a hospital, they've got to use it," Bahnsen said.

"If it's not going to work for CMI, it's not going to work for us or anybody else," he said.

Local Office Filing Opens On Feb. 10

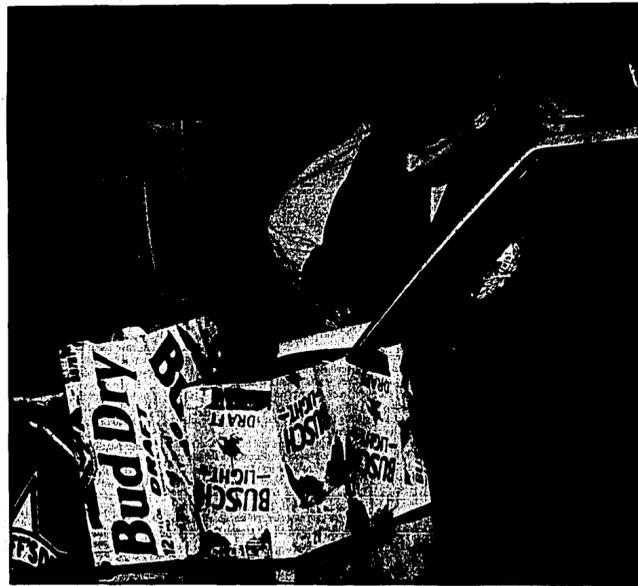

Filing for local offices is scheduled to open at noon on Feb. 10, and close at noon on Monday, March 2.

Potential candidates should file at the board of elections office, county courthouse.

Seats to be filled are N.C. House, N.C. Senate, Davie County Register of Deeds, three county commissioners and two Davie County Board of Education members.

All races will be subject to May 5 primaries except the board of education race. Members in that non-partisan election will be picked on May 5.

Davie County Enterprise-Record

There was good news and bad news coming from a traffic stop on New Year's Eve.

The bad news is that quite a few Davie County teen-agers were drinking alcohol. The good news: there wasn't much drinking and driving, the designated driver idea is catching on.

Officers from the Davie County Sheriff's Department and state Alcohol Law Enforcement Division set up road blocks on Junction Road New Year's Eve — on each side of a party at a private house across from Jockey. They had hoped to get enough information for a search warrant, but set up the road blocks instead at about 10 p.m.

In just over two hours, officers cited 10 people for alcohol violations, three on weapons charges, and three on drug charges (two felonies). There were no arrests for driving after drinking.

The project was so successful, the sheriff's department will likely do it again. Chief Deputy Bob Lemmons said anytime the department learns of large parties, especially during special events such as the prom or graduation, the road blocks may be set up.

"We need to do it when they have parties, especially when there's underage drinkers or drivers," said Sheriff Bill Wooten. "Anything we can do to prevent people from driving under the influence of alcohol, we will do it."

The New Year's Eve road block came about because of

Unifi To Expand; Looking At Davie

A company ready to build a $35 million textile plant that will hire 250-300 people is considering building that plant in Davie County.

Unifi expects to make a decision on a site within 60 days, said company spokesman Bob Ward.

Unifi is considering a site in Davie County and a site adjacent to current Unifi operations at Yadkinville, Ward said.

The plant was originally scheduled to be built in Yadkinville, but controversy over a proposed road has the company looking elsewhere.

Unifi is considering land off Baltimore Road in Davie County, owned by and adjacent to R.J. Reynolds tobacco processing facilities, sources said.

Grand Jury Indicts Man For Larceny

A Davie County man arrested in October was indicted by a grand jury Monday.

Douglas Wayne "Shotgun" Williams, 23, was indicted on charges of breaking and entering, possession of stolen goods, possession of cocaine, and four counts of larceny. He is scheduled to appear in the March 2 session of Davie Superior Court.

Williams has an extensive history of crime, dating back to October 1988, when he was shot by a Davie sheriff's deputy during an arrest. He was sentenced to 20 years in prison for crimes including breaking and entering, larceny, and two jailbreaks.

Rob Ralsbeck, Williams' attorney, requested Monday that Williams' $45,000 bond be reduced, but the request was refused by Judge James M. Webb.

Notice To Unifi: You're More Than Welcome Here

Yadkinville deserves to lose the new $35 million factory that Unifi had planned to build there. And there's no better place to put it than Davie County. We will welcome it properly. Yadkinville's behavior is amazing. Unifi is no fly-by-night operation. It's the state's largest privately held company. Unifi has managed to thrive while other textile firms have struggled in recent years. It continues to hold its own against foreign competition in its segment of the industry — textured yarns. Last year it absorbed a competitor, MacField, and continues to grow. Unifi had announced its plans to build a factory in Yadkinville that would create 250 jobs or more. Yadkinville has lessons to learn in how to court new industry. Yadkin County had to do almost nothing. Unifi picked them. Since then, Yadkinville has done about everything it could to turn Unifi away. The Yadkinville officials' manners in dealing with a major industry can best be described as ... ill-bred. Unifi wants merely to invest $35 million in the county and provide its citizens with jobs. Would anyone object to that? The politicians and residents have given the company contemptuous treatment. The uproar in Yadkin has been over an access road the state has agreed to build for Unifi. The Yadkinville board of commissioners voted last month to oppose the road. The board prefers another route. There has been a regular uproar about the plant. Unifi finally got the impression it wasn't wanted there. Why not look for a place they can live in harmony with its neighbors? Company chairman G. Allen Mebane announced last week that Unifi might re-think its selection of Yadkinville for the 225,000-square-foot facility. That has inspired some Davie County officials and real estate agents. We have industrial sites available — maybe some even better than those in Yadkinville. We have workers ready to take the jobs. We have water throughout the county and sewer in some areas. We have excellent highways and schools. Yadkin County has many of those things too. But we apparently have one significant thing our northern neighbors don't have. We have a deep appreciation for good industry and what it can mean for our citizens. The government boards of Mocksville, Cooleemee and the county all recognize the need for new industry. It's more than jobs. New industry also adds to the county's tax base and decreases the pressure to raise taxes. We are building a new water plant. A thirsty new customer would help pay for it. Unifi is more than welcome here. Thanks to some fast action by the county commissioners and others working behind the scenes, Yadkin County's loss may be our gain.

Well Business May Be Getting New Life

To the editor:
This is the time of year we look back at the resolutions we kept whether we were right or wrong on the predictions we made. I don't know about the resolutions or predictions the last few administrations may have made, but their track record speaks for itself. For starters, when they first installed the water system, the pipes were too small, they tried to defy gravity by making water run uphill, resulting in low or no pressure in some areas. Some time later the county was growing by leaps and bounds, that made it imperative we build a new water plant to meet the demands of the growth and new industry that was standing in line to come into Davie County. The new growth would more than pay for the new water system. They even put a moratorium on construction in East Davie, but only after practically every available tract of land had been approved. The reasoning was that the county could not supply facilities, such as water, police, and fire protection for the growth that was standing in line. All the growth lines seem to have faded into the sunset and the water plant is nearing completion, now it becomes necessary to more than double water rates to pay for a plant we didn't need in the first place, according to the present administration. If you notice the biggest increase is on the people with fixed incomes, such as Social Security, people in the low end of the pay scale, the people least able to absorb the increase. The people the increase isn't as likely to hurt, industry and Bermuda Run, get the smallest increase. You don't need a crystal ball to see who our elected officials are catering to. Raising the water rates doesn't seem like a very good incentive to attract new users; however, it may give the well drilling business a shot in the arm. If only they would have had enough foresight to put the water plant on wheels, we may have been able to sell it. If the consumers are paying for it, there is no reason we couldn't sell it.

One Water Bill Is Increased By 67.9%

To the editor:
I want the people of Davie County to have the following facts on the county water system.
If you read the first two paragraphs under the headline "Water Rates In County To Go Up 12.2%" in the Enterprise dated Dec. 19, the following statement was made:
"Forget what was promised, customers on the Davie County Water System will begin paying 12 percent more for water beginning Jan. 1."
County commissioners made the decision Monday (Dec. 16) night, saying they were trying to pay the bills as a result of a past board's mistake. I think it should be pointed out that three members of the present board voted to build the new water treatment plant: Bert Bahnsen, Spurgeon Foster Jr. and Buster Cleary. R.C. Smith, former chairman of the board, also voted in the affirmative.
I, Charles "Buddy" Alexander, voted not to build the proposed new water treatment plant. Let me tell you why. When the board advertised for bids for the project and the low bid totalled $6,530,052.29, we began to question if the county could afford or even needed a new water treatment plant. We had learned earlier that the county could purchase water from the Forsyth/Winston-Salem Utility Commission for approximately $1.00 per thousand gallons under a long term contract. At that time, the cost for water preparation from the Cooleemee plant was $1.25/thousand. That figure is now $1.85.
Following several meetings and a report from an advisory committee, the decision was made to put the project on hold. During this time, the legislature in Raleigh was debating the pros and cons of the transferring of water from one basin to another. Our representative in Raleigh called the Davie County attorney and told him if a certain bill passed, Davie County might not be permitted to draw water from the Yadkin River in the future. The information caused the Board of County Commissioners to reassess their previous decision and voted 4 to 1 to build the new water treatment plant.
Now let me give you the real bad news. The reported 12.2 percent increase is grossly inaccurate. For a family using 6,000 gallons of water over a two month period, the previous billing would have been $19.38. Under the new schedule, it will be $32.55 — a 67.9 percent increase. It is a very unfortunate situation for the county and its citizens. The important decision now is for the board of commissioners to research every avenue possible for finding revenue to pay for the "illogical decision". Don't try to put the entire burden on the water users.
Charles "Buddy" Alexander
Cooleemee

Sweatshirt Trick Fools UNC Wine And Cheesers

My friend said it was a "wine and cheese" crowd. Laid back. Penny loafers and no socks. Cashmere sweaters and hair spray.

Lots of blue. Light blue. On the walls. On the chairs. On the floor. On the cashmere sweaters. On the people's faces.

Mike Barnhardt

Very little noise. And boring.

That's the assessment of my first trip to a basketball game in the "Dean Dome" at the University of North Carolina in Chapel Hill.

An avid ABC (Anybody But Carolina) fan, the crowd was sort of what I had expected. These fans are the same ones who idolize Dean Smith, Mr. Nose and Belly who brought the sport of keep-away to a new level.

Don't get me wrong. Dean is a good coach — the best acting coach in the NCAA. Everytime an opponent of one of his 12 newest disciples breathed last week, they went falling backwards as if they had been hit by a freight train. The few times the acts worked, the disciples did high fives with one another. The many times it didn't work, their faces turned in agony to the referees, with expressions like they had just ate a lemon.

Knowing I would be among 18,000 or more people who wouldn't like my ideas, I began planning my strategy. I come from the Budweiser and potato chip crowd, and was about to take on 18,000. (The place holds 23,000, but 3,000 bought tickets and didn't show up. Thanks guys, my mom wanted a ticket and couldn't get one.) wine and cheesers without a plan.

I borrowed one of Dean Smith's philosophies. If you can't win fairly, try tricky and acting.

To start with, I put on a Carolina sweatshirt, hand knitted by a little lady in Oak Grove. It was by far the most handsome outfit in the crowd, even if it was cotton instead of cashmere. A huge "C" on a light blue sweatshirt, with a Ram's head coming through the letter. I covered the sweatshirt with a coat on the way to Chapel Hill, afraid someone I knew would see me.

Luckily, our seats were on the top row — the very top row. I shed my coat and waited for the right opportunity. It didn't take long before one of the Carolina players went tumbling backwards trying to draw a foul. The referee didn't go for the acting job, and the wine and cheesers began to yell. A couple of them got so upset they even said, "Aw, C'mon." Wine and cheesers aren't known for poor grammar.

I laughed out loud and yelled, "Another graduate of the Dean Smith School of Acting." The wine and cheesers were infuriated. They turned around, looking for who could have yelled such an obscenity. I smiled and spread my arms, showing off the Carolina sweatshirt. They looked to my left, then to my right, then back at me, admiring my shirt. I'm sure before turning to the game once again.

You can expect anything to happen in the People's Republic of Chapel Hill, the place with more weirdoes per square foot than any place in North Carolina.

But I did find something on the trip that makes me think there is hope for Chapel Hill. Some of the sidewalks are dirt. Cowboy boots prefer dirt. Penny loafers prefer cement.

Virginians Thankful For Help

To the editor:

We wanted to thank everyone who donated winter clothing, food, toys, money and household items for us to take to the mission in Virginia. The director there said that over 200 families received these much needed items and were very grateful for everything sent. You made Christmas happy for many people, especially children who otherwise would have received no gift. The needs in the area we visited are still great because of unemployment, and living conditions in some of the areas we visited are beyond anything we had ever seen before. Their needs will still be great for the winter months and we hope to be sharing with them on a regular basis. Again, thank you for your support.

Hospital Provided Great Care

To the editor:

I would like to express my sincere thanks to the staff and nurses at Davie County Hospital, for the loving and helping hands to my late wife, Ruth Jordan Pierce. I would especially like to say thanks to Dr. Foster, John Lewis, Rick Cornwall and to the staff of Davie Family Medical Center for all of your support. I love you all.

I would also like to thank Hospice of Davie County and the staff of Triad Home Therapeutics, for their help and assistance in this time of need. They would be there at my home in record time. Thanks to Just Blair and Gwyn Angell and all the other girls with Hospice. Thanks to Sheri Shaver and all the other girls with Triad Home Therapeutics. You were both there and I was so scared and helpless.

Thanks to Victory Baptist Church and to Ruth's Sunday School Class, who gave their time sitting with her at night. Thanks to Eaton Baptist Church and Liberty United Methodist Church for your support during Ruth's illness and passing.

I would like to thank all the ministers who would visit Ruth almost daily: the Revs. Shelby Harbour, David Gilbreath, and Hal Varner.

Ruth put in 28 years at Davie County Hospital as a ward secretary. I never heard her say a harsh word about anyone. She only had love in her heart for everyone. She would never bring her work home to talk about. She was a wonderful wife and mother.

Many Helped JOY Be A Success

To the editor:

Thanks to you, the people of Cooloemee and Davie County, the JOY Project (Jesus, Others, Yourself) was a huge success. The generosity that was shown by people and businesses in the area was unbelievable. We were surprised that the response was so positive. You provided Christmas gifts and toys for at least 40 children, groceries for six families, fuel for one family, and clothes for many, many people. Most importantly, Bibles or Bible storybooks were given to most of the children.

Our aim was to provide items which the parents could give to the children as they saw fit. We wanted to be "silent partners". It was touching and rewarding to hear parents say, "I don't like to have to ask for help" or "this is only temporary, I'm looking for a job".

Added thanks go to Paul Foster, Polly Foster, Shelby Nichols, the Gideons, and businesses. Your generosity was so great that we have many nice clothes, shoes, and coats left which we would like to share with those needing them. Contact us at 284-2725 or 284-2141 for more details. We would like to do this on a yearly basis, so remember us about next July. May God bless you who made JOY successful and those who helped others in your own way during the past year.

Underage Drinkers On The Increase

Drinking among young people is increasing at an alarming rate. The latest available figures in North Carolina are from 1987, in which 4,955 people age 19 and under were arrested for driving under the influence. You can assume that some of these were Davie County youths.

A person under the age of 21 cannot legally buy or possess beer, unfortified or fortified wine, spirituous liquor or mixed beverages. It is unlawful for anyone to sell or give any of these to any person under the age of 21, and for anyone to assist or encourage an underaged person in obtaining liquor, beer or wine. Sales, purchase or possession of legally underaged persons is a misdemeanor punishable by a fine or imprisonment for a term not exceeding two years, all at the discretion of the court.

What are the risks to the typical young person? Discouraging the risk of death or injury in an accident, a typical family with an inexperienced driver (16-17 years old) operating the family vehicle for pleasure can acquire liability insurance for about $423. This cost will escalate to approximately $2,975 with one DWI conviction against the inexperienced driver (1987 figures).

A provisional license (ages 16 and 17) will have his or her license revoked until they are 18, or for 45 days, whichever is longer, if tests show they have any alcohol or controlled substance in their body while driving, or if they refuse to take a chemical (breathalyzer) test. Conviction of underage persons will result in a one year revocation of the driver's license for violations of purchasing or attempting to purchase, aiding or abetting someone to illegally purchase, or lending or borrowing a license or other identification, or using a fraudulent or altered license or other identification to purchase or attempt to purchase.

Remember, the possession of a driver's license is a privilege, not a right. Protect your privilege by staying away from alcohol.

Bahson, who has pushed for county departments paying their own way when possible, said the new rates were a compromise, and still fall short of what it will take to operate the department — including paying the bill for a new water plant being built on the Yadkin River in eastern Davie.

Spurgeon Foster Jr., county commissioner, said he will be hurt as much as anybody by the new rates, because his farm uses over 70,000 gallons of water a month, but less than the 100,000 needed for the price break. "We've got a water plant. It's built. Now we've got to pay for it," he said. "It's going to hurt me as much as anybody, but I know we've got to pay for it."

Svecke Jurgensen of Advance said the burden shouldn't be placed entirely on the water users, especially since

Mocksville voters who don't even benefit from the system passed the bond referendum favoring building the new water plant. "You've got to look at the whole picture," Jurgensen said. "The whole county, in one way or another, benefits from that water plant."

Spurgeon Foster said that county water isn't available to a lot of county residents. "They don't want to help you pay your water bill," he said. County commissioners took one step they hope will prevent more rate increases in the near future — they put $200,000 from the sale of the county's share ($1.3 million) of the Wonderknight property into the water-sewer fund. Also, they decided that customers receiving sewer system services in Cooleemee would pay the same dollar amount they now pay.

Rape Trial Set; Probable Cause Found By Court

By Lynn Hall
Davie County Enterprise-Record

A 34-year-old Mocksville man, Marion A. Hairston of Pineville Road, was bound over to Superior Court on charges of second degree rape following a probable cause hearing in Davie District Court Jan. 2.

Hairston was charged after the alleged victim, Mary Jo Smith, told Mocksville Police officers that he had forced her to have sex with him at his home on Nov. 30.

Smith testified in court last week that she had gone to Hairston's home with a friend and former boyfriend, Lonnie Horn. She said Horn told her Hairston was his cousin.

Once there, she said Horn kept telling her they needed to talk and tried to get her to go into the bedroom with him. She finally agreed, and told Judge Samuel A. Cathey that when Horn kept trying to touch her and she wouldn't him, he got mad.

"We were coming out of the bedroom and that man (she pointed to the defendant) was in the hall."

Smith said Hairston let his cousin leave, but pushed her back into the bedroom.

"I kept screaming for Lonnie, but he didn't come."

She said Hairston pushed her into a corner, pulled her pants down, then pushed her down on the bed. He allegedly attempted to have sexual intercourse with her in the bedroom, but was unsuccessful.

"He took me in the living room and raped me there," she testified.

Hairston's attorney Hank Van Hoy asked why she hadn't tried to leave, but she said she'd been unable to get away from the defendant. He also asked if they hadn't discussed "glow-in-the-dark" condoms. She said the two men had, but she had not seen any.

Judge Cathey found there was probable cause and ordered Hairston bound over to Superior Court.

He was also being held on a fugitive charge stemming from an arrest in Pennsylvania. A hearing on that charge was continued.

Smoke Detectors Being Installed In Davie Homes

Elderly Benefit From Grant

Smoke detectors will be installed in about 300 Davie County homes, thanks to a program sponsored by the county health department and volunteer firemen.

The "Age Safely" program began in November.

"The purpose of the Age Safely fire prevention program is to provide a smoke detector and fire safety information to the Davie County health Department's Home Health clients and county residents 65 or older who do not have a workable smoke detector in their home," said Health Director Dennis Harrington.

"The protection of Davie County's sick, disabled, and older adult population from a fatal home fire injury is the goal."

The health department received a state grant to pay for the program.

Volunteers with the fire departments are installing the smoke detectors. The Davie County Fire Marshal and health department workers provide fire safety information to recipients.

According to the National Fire Safety Association, the most effective means to prevent residential fire injuries is the presence of a working smoke detector.

In 1989, there were 1,023 fires reported in Davie County, and in 58 of the reported 98 home fires, there was not a workable smoke detector, Fire Marshal George Frye reported.

The areas most likely for a fire to start is in the chimney, kitchen or cooking area, bedroom and garage.

The health department provides home health services to 425 clients a year; 80 percent are over age 65.

Massage Therapy Gaining Acceptance

By Kara Kooker
Davie County Enterprise-Record

SMITH GROVE — If you're worn out from the holidays and the winter blues are getting you down, now's the time to pamper yourself with a little massage therapy.

Some who have experienced massage claim it's the best and most effective form of self-indulgence.

Gay Cope, a native of Davie County, said she has always been interested in massage therapy. In 1985, after meeting some people who practiced massage therapy for a living, Cope began reading books, attending seminars and consulting professionals—trying to obtain as much information as she could.

"I practiced, practiced, practiced," said Cope.

Cope soon became the first massage therapist to be licensed by Mocksville and in 1987 she opened her own office at Designer's Loft on Yadkinville Road. Cope recently became the first massage therapist to be licensed by Davie County and has moved her operation, Capticorn Sun, to U.S. 138 in Smith Grove where the cosmetologist also performs electrolysis, manicures, pedicures and facials.

Having worked as a massage therapist for more than five years, Cope said she still finds the general public perception of massage to be somewhat jaded. When people hear the word massage, Cope said many envision sleazy "massage parlors" scattered along the interstate.

Cope said the misconceptions are frustrating at times, but she continues to try and convince people of massage therapy's legitimacy.

"This really is a serious attempt to help people," Cope said.

One of Cope's long time clients, Lib Anderson, swears by the success of her massages. She looks forward to her visits all month and said she wishes she could afford to meet with Cope more often.

"People don't know what they're missing," said Anderson. "It's the best day of the month for me."

Anderson said she was "very apprehensive" when she met with Cope for the first time, but Cope was professional and quickly made her feel relaxed and comfortable. Anderson said she "sleeps great" the night after her monthly visit and feels relaxed for the entire week.

Cope said clients who receive massage on a regular basis can "recall" some of the sensations at will, which can aid a person in dealing with stress on a daily basis.

In order to meet with Cope, a client must first set up an appointment by telephone. When the client arrives for his or her first session, the individual will be asked to record a brief and confidential medical history so Cope can note any conditions or medications that should be taken into account.

Cope said she then asks the client to locate and describe the pain or stress being experienced. The type of massage to be used is then discussed and agreed upon.

Cope said most of her clients come for stress induced reasons. Repeated or continuous stress causes spasms or tension to build up, Cope said, which, in turn, prevents one's muscles from moving against each other comfortably.

Depending on the kind of discomfort the client is having, Cope said she may use a combination of massage techniques including Swedish, deep tissue, Reiki, polarity and pressure points. Cope said some problems require intensive massage that may cause pain but she rarely needs to use such pressure.

In a typical hour long session, Cope said she generally spends one third of the time massaging the client's head, neck and shoulders. The rest of the session may be used for a full body massage or more specific points of interest.

A massage not only brings a deep relaxation to the body, Cope said, but also increases circulation to the muscles and skin by "oxygenating" the tissues and removing toxins. Cope said she recommends massage to anyone who has trouble relaxing or sleeping or who frequently feels tired.

Massage Helps Injured

Tree Bright, a massage therapist from Winston-Salem, recently joined the Advance Chiropractic Clinic under the supervision of Dr. Susan S. Sykes.

Bright specializes in individuals who have suffered an injury from an auto or work-related accident. Most of her clients at the clinic require deep tissue massage therapy for more specific injury recovery problems.

Bright said she concentrates on using deep tissue work and neuro-muscular therapy to work out knots in stressed muscle tissue and to remove adhesions caused by an injury to the muscle.

While they may specialize in different techniques, Bright also believes in using massage as an effective form of therapy.

"It is a very valid form of treatment," said Bright. Bright will see clients by appointment only at the Advance Chiropractic Clinic on Tuesday afternoons and Friday mornings. She works out of her office in Winston-Salem during the rest of the week.

Several massage techniques are used by Cope. Therapists target specific body points. Cope says the hardest part is teaching people that massage therapy is legitimate.

Facts About The BIBLE

BY JOHN LEHTI

This is a dramatized version of facts taken from the book of Genesis intending to show some of the customs of these ancient and traditional times.

A BRIDE FOR ISAAC
ELIZABETH HAS TAKEN DEPARTURE OF REBEKAH'S FAMILY AND NOW MAKES THE LONG TRIP BACK TO ABRAHAM, CARRYING IN THE CARAVAN REBEKAH, ISAAC'S BRIDE-TO-BE, WITH HIM...

FOR REBEKAH, IT MUST SEEM EVEN SLOWER, FOR HER NEW LIFE WILL NOT BEGIN UNTIL THE JOURNEY IS ENDED...

...NIGHT AND DAY, THE JOURNEY CONTINUES FOR ELIZABETH, INTENDING TO RETURN AS FAST AS POSSIBLE....

FINALLY A DAY ARRIVES WHEN HE VIEWS HIS WIFE IN THE DISTANCE...

...AND NOW ISAAC, TAKING A STROLL TO MEDITATE IN THE QUIET OF THE EVENING, SEES AT LAST, THE CARAVAN CARRYING HIS FUTURE BRIDE FROM AFAR!

MISS ANNE MATHENA
JANUARY 10, 1978 - SEPTEMBER 4, 1990

HAPPY 18TH BIRTHDAY
Dear Miss Anne,
January 10, 1992, is your 18th birthday. This is the second birthday we've had to celebrate without you. It isn't the happy occasion it was when you were here with us. It will always be the most precious day in my life because I gave birth to you on that day. I'll treasure that day every year for the rest of my life. You will have a birthday cake with 18 candles, minus the one to grow on. The whole family will stand around your cake. Each one of us thinking special thoughts of you. We will blow out your 18 candles for you. We will cry, just as we did last year because we love you and miss you so much. You will almost be able to reach out and touch the love that we all feel for you.

You should be going for your driver's license and having your first date. Turning sixteen years old is supposed to be one of life's most special of all birthdays. My baby would have been "Sweet 16". It's been 18 months since you were taken away from me. I don't know if your death is what I have a hard time dealing with or the way you were taken away from me. Murder is such an ugly word and it's one I'll always hate. I would give anything to be able to put my arms around you and to feel your long, slender arms, right around my neck. To be able to tell you face to face, I love you and to wish you Happy Birthday baby. The memories of your hugs are all I have and it brings such an awful ache deep down in my heart. You were always such a special little girl and the most loving child I've ever seen. I hope someday Richie Hicks realizes what he has done to our family. I want to wish you a happy 18th birthday baby girl. I miss you and I wish with all my heart that you were here. I love you "Sweetie", with all my heart and soul.
Love Always, Forever and a Day,
From your loving family,
Momma, Jerry, Suzan, Bobby and Shannon

I Wrote Your Name
I wrote your name with raindrops on my window,
The spring breeze took it away.
I wrote your name on the sandy shore,
The ocean waves took it away.
I wrote your name on a rock with my wet finger
And the sun took it away.
I wrote your name with the fall leaves,
But the winter wind blew it away.
I wrote your name in my heart,
Then someone came and took you away.

Storm Wins Final Contest Of 1991-92

By Ronnie Gallagher
Davie County Enterprise-Record

All season, Penny and Joey Wesoloski of Mocksville have faithfully played the Enterprise football contest.

And finally, in the last contest of the year, their phone number was called to congratulate the winner.

Unfortunately, the winner was not a Wesoloski.

It was Jerry "Riders on the" Storm, their beloved (?) son-in-law.

"I'm going to kill him," Penny said Sunday afternoon after hearing the news.

"We've played all year and haven't won."

However, she will have to be the one to pick up the huge $25 first place check that the publisher so graciously gives. Storm and his wife, Michelle have returned to their home in Stroudsburg, Pa.

The final contest entry was filled out a month ago but it included all of the college bowl games and seven pro games. Storm, visiting over the Christmas holidays, watched Penny and Joey make their weekly futile attempt at picking the winners and decided that yes, he would like to try himself.

Storm missed only six games, five of which came in the first eight picks. The only miss in the final 17 games was Penn State's win over Tennessee.

Penny knows exactly what Storm can do with the $25. He could give it to her.

"That's a good idea," she said.

Still, you know the Wesoloskis have to feel good that a family member as loved as Jerry Storm won the big prize, right Penny?

"I'm going to kill him," she repeated.

Second Place Winner

Deciding the second place winner was a bit harder as six tied with seven misses, including John "Double Cheese" Boger, Roger "Rabbit" Hutchens Jr., Steve "French" Frye, "Just Say" Julie Lookabill, "Great" Scott Whitaker and Stephanie "Klippetty" Klopp.

Raiders, Falcons Get Past Davie

Height Too Much For Scrapy War Eagles

SALISBURY — Oh, swell.

Just when Charles Crenshaw thought he had enough big men to contend with this season in the Central Piedmont Conference, he found another last week in the Catawba College Christmas Basketball Tournament.

Carmichael Reid, a 6-6 center, dominated the War Eagles inside with 25 points and 13 rebounds as South Rowan defeated Davie, 71-62 in second round action.

Although 6-6 Jason Rice and 6-1 Tyrone Martin tried valiantly to offset Reid, second-seeded Davie was still outrebounded 44-36. The board work helped South stave off several late rallies by the War Eagles.

"Reid's as good as anybody in our league," said Crenshaw of Bob Parker's star. "But we still had a chance to win. We just missed our shots."

Davie was thrown into the loser's bracket and lost to West Rowan in a third place game Saturday night, 64-57.

Rally Falls Short

South led from start to finish, running up a 6-0 lead before Rice scored on a pretty scoop shot. Davie fell behind 17-7 and 39-30 at halftime.

Reid and Marquis Bennett kept the margin in double figures during the third quarter due to some good rebounding. In fact, the Raiders' first four baskets of the second half came on rebounds after missed shots.

When Brian Connor canned a baseline jumper at the start of the fourth quarter, Davie trailed, 57-42.

Sports Profile

Jonathan Seamon no longer lives in Mocksville; he now resides in Nashville, Tenn.

And Seamon no longer works for WDSL radio; but among his many duties, he does college basketball play-by-play.

However, Seamon has not forgotten his Davie County roots. Last week, he returned to his parent's (Earnest and Jean) Mocksville home for Christmas with his newest title: athletic director of David Lipscomb University.

Seamon has made a dramatic rise to some of the highest offices available in NAIA (National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics, of which Lipscomb is a member).

Besides the athletic director position, he is a district chairman, the president of the Tennessee Collegiate Athletic Conference, and a member of a task force currently studying the future of the NAIA.

If someone would have told Seamon when he graduated from high school that this was the path his life would have taken, he may not have believed it. But he certainly is not complaining.

"I went to Davie High and graduated in 1973," Seamon said. "I played football, basketball, and track four years, and I also worked at WDSL."

Seamon covered sports as a play-by-play announcer for the radio station, and he also had a morning show. His job at WDSL continued during summers and holidays when he left for college, and his love for broadcasting was taken to his

Wrestlers First In Mat News Poll

Bob Mauldin, North Carolina's wrestling guru who publishes the Mat News, finally saw the light last week and chose Davie County as the state's number one-ranked 4-A team in the latest edition of the publication.

Davie is always at or near the top of the rankings but Mauldin said tradition didn't help the War Eagles make it to the top this time.

"Tradition gets you looked at," Mauldin said Sunday from his Kannapolis home. "But performance gets you ranked."

Davie's performance has certainly opened Mauldin's eyes. He opened the season by ranking Davie third behind Wilmington Laney and defending dual and individual champ East Gaston. But after seeing Davie crush its opponents in a couple of tournaments, he moved the War Eagles to the top.

Mauldin made the decision after 2-Dixon, 3-North Wilkes 4-Mt. Pleasant 5-West Lincoln 6-Avery County 7-Northwest Ashe 8-West Wilkes 9-Alleghany 10-Robbinville Mauldin hustles all over the state every weekend. He saw two tournaments one recent Saturday and attended three more the following weekend. He said picking Davie number one was easy.

"It was a logical choice," said Mauldin. "They beat East Gaston. It was the only way to go."

"They have a solid program," he said. "Buddy's always got just enough to win and that has something to do with tradition."

"It looks like we're going to be good for a few more years," he chuckled.

Notebook

And he is more worried about the tradition than being ranked first.

"I don't care," he said. "We've been ranked first before and not won it all. I'll be happy if we're first after February."

The complete rankings for all classifications are in the Scoreboard on this page.

CPC Notes
Former Davie basketball coach Denny Key, currently of West Forsyth, was scouting Davie and South Rowan in the Catawba College Basketball Tournament Saturday night and gave his Central Piedmont Conference opinions for this year. The conference schedule gets going this week.

He has seen all of the teams, thanks in part to the Frank Spencer, Little Four and Catawba tournaments.

Key has already expressed his feelings about Davie. He likes the War Eagles. But what about the rest of the league:

• Of Reynolds' 6-10 exchange student center Jim Formanek, who hasn't been a scoring force yet: "But he alters every shot you take. Against us, he had 13 defensive rebounds. That's where he is going to help the most."

• Of the CPC favorites: "I think Dudley and Grimsley are the best. And watch for Mount Tabor. (Dick) Jamback has some good athletes."

• On South Rowan: "I like their big man. He's aggressive and goes to the boards. They can be better than some people think."

• About his team: "We lost (point guard) Scott Fain but he's going to be checked by the doctor Jan. 9. We hope we get him back quick. And I hope everybody is

Back To South
If Bob Parker could play 3-on-3 this season, his Raiders might win the CPC title. It's doubtful that any team relies more on three players than South.

The Catawba Christmas Basketball Tournament was a good example. Carmichael Reid, Marquis Bennett and Brian Connor are the three scorers and nothing changed last week.

In three games, South scored 208 points but the "Three Amigos" pumped in 154 of those:

• The 6-6 Reid, who bears a resemblance to Dikembe Mutombo, finished the three-game span with 63 points and 28 rebounds.
• The slushing Bennett finished with 46 points and 17 rebounds.
• Connor, the long-range bomber, scored 45 points and had eight three-pointers.

West Wilkes 39th
West hit a milestone with an earlier win over Carver. It was the 300th of his career.
A native of Lynchburg, Va., he coached 11 years at Tunstall, Va., and four more at Eden Morehead before coming to Reynolds.

Everhardt First Team All-Northwest

The postseason awards are coming in for Andy Everhardt and his teammates.

Everhardt, a 6-1, 200-pound linebacker, was named to the recent All-Northwest Football team, named each season by the Winston-Salem Journal.

Two other War Eagles were named as well. Toby Kennedy made second team offensive line while Brian Boger made third team defensive line.

All three players are seniors. Everhardt was in on 133 tackles during Davie's 3-7 season, including 89 solo. He had one interception, one fumble recovery and caused four fumbles.

He recorded two quarterback sacks. It was the second honor for Everhardt. He was also named to the all-Central Piedmont Conference team.

"Andy is one of the hardest hitting linebackers I have ever coached," Randall Ward told the Journal. "He really loves contact, and he goes to the ball very well. He has good range. In our defensive scheme, linebackers are supposed to make a lot of tackles but he was all over the field making them."

"I anticipated him having a good season, but I think he went a little farther and did a good job."

Everhardt played against two of the other three linebackers named. West Forsyth's Andon McQueen and North-Tribble's Denny Hayden also made the team.

Everhardt

That's when Davie began cutting into the lead. A 19-2 run, which included three-pointers by Brad Van Hoy and Bubba Coleman, brought the War Eagles within 59-52.

A layup by Martin off a good feed from Coleman made it 62-56 but South built the lead to 66-56.

Davie's final rally began with a drive by Jason Phelps, followed by four points by Martin. Suddenly, Davie was within 66-62 with 1:26 remaining.

South tried to spread the floor but without much success. Two turnovers and two missed shots gave Davie plenty of chances but five straight misses prevented them from getting any closer. The Raiders finished the game by scoring the final five points.

"We hustled and played hard," sighed Crenshaw, "but we just missed our shots. They weren't forced shots and they weren't crazy shots. We just didn't hit them."

Martin led Davie with 23 points and 13 rebounds. Coleman clipped in with 11. "Tyrone played an excellent game," Crenshaw said.

He also wished he had a healthy senior Chip Carter, who was nursing a sprained ankle. He played sparingly.

"We missed Chip," Crenshaw said. "He could've helped with the rebounding."

Losing To West
Davie started strong against West Rowan, jumping out for a 19-7 first quarter advantage. But the War Eagles were outscored in each of the final three periods.

Coleman led Davie with 16 points while Phelps added three three-pointers and 13 points.

Notes:

• The losses dropped Davie to 3-4.

• Martin was 8-of-13 from the field and 7-of-9 from the free throw line.

• Davie shot only 24-of-66 from the floor.

• Bennett scored 21 points and grabbed nine rebounds. "He hurt us on the offensive boards," Crenshaw said.

Coleman Van Hoy

• Davie hit five three-pointers, three by Coleman and two by Van Hoy.

• South finished the tournament 5-3 after losing to Salisbury in the finals. (Boxscores are in Scoreboard on page 2B).

• Coleman finished with five three-pointers in two games.

• Davie's boys and girls teams were to host West Rowan Wednesday and then open its CPC schedule Friday at Parkland.

Contest

But in the tiebreaker score, Boger's 37-24 prediction was closest to East Carolina's 37-34 win over N.C. State in the Peach Bowl.

Final Record
Perhaps next year, the sports editor will call the Amish country in Pennsylvania and ask Storm for some advice with the bowl games. I finished with my worse week of the season, going 13-12 and finishing 249-125, which comes out to 66.6 percent. I'll take it.

I'll take it because of 145 entries, only 16 missed under double figures. Because of you loyal followers of the contest, I don't feel as stupid as I did upon waking up Jan. 2. Thanks.

The Final Awards
As is the custom here, there are awards to give out, from the final week and for the year.

The "Hard-Luck" Award: To Kim "Stonewall" Jackson and Bryan Davis "Rules," who both missed eight in the final contest. They had the best records of the year without winning as Jackson finished 248-102 and Davis 221-104.

At least, that's what they say. They kept their own records. They could be lying. But we'll have to take their word for it.

The "Family of the Year" Award: What a showdown between the Serfas and Johnson families. All year, they took turns winning and the sports editor decided it would come down to the final week.

Four entries from each family were tallied up and in the end, both missed a total of 39. I give up. We have co-Family of the Year.

The "Super Bowl" Award: To Storm, Jackson, Davis and Frye, along with Randy "Satin" Sheets, "Princess" Diane Redmond and Andrew "Obscene Phone" Culler, all of whom were 7-for-7 in the pro games.

The "P&D" Award: To Klopp, Storm and "Big Bad" John R. Butero, who missed only five of 18 very tough bowl games.

The "Choke In The Clutch" Award: To Dustin "Ain't" Jordan, who had only five wrong answers until missing the final five pro games.

The "Choke In The Clutch" Award 2: To "Sorry" Charlie Johnson, who had only six misses until dropping the final four pro games. Those losses also prevented the Johnsons from winning the outright Family of the Year title. Oh well, we haven't been saying "Sorry in Charlie" all year for nothing.

The "Bring Your Playbook And Come To My Office" Award: To Lanette "Funicello" Lagle, who missed 6 of 7 pro games.

The "Proposition 48" Award: To Carolyn "I Don't" Carrick, who missed 12 of 18 college bowl games.

The "It Just Ain't My Week" Award: Who would be the final winner of the most infamous award of all? Well, it seems everybody wanted to miss the most games in the last week. Seven missed 15 of 25 games: Carrick, Lillian "Gish" Sidden, "Robert E." Lee Stamey, "Camp" David Trexler, Bob "Hamburger" Hepler, Don "Juan" Redmond and "Slim" Jim Keaton. Ouch.

Boyd Wins Tournament

SHELBY — Sean Boyd, a seventh grader at North Davie Junior High School, won the Riverbend Holiday Tournament at Riverbend Country Club over the holidays.

Boyd, shot a one-over 73 to take the 12-13 age division. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Boyd of Bermuda Run, he beat 22 other boys in his division.

The tournament was for boys up to 17 years of age and 100 players were entered. Boyd still had the third best score in the tournament. Two 17-year olds shot 71.

"It was the best tournament he's ever played," said his father.

AAU Tryouts

The Salisbury chapter of AAU Jr. Olympics basketball will hold tryouts for boys 11-under and boys 12-under Sunday, Jan. 12 at 5 p.m. at the V.A. Medical Center Gymnasium in Salisbury. Davie County players are eligible.

For more information, call Tina Phelps at 998-3147 or Thomasville McDaniel at 704-637-7050.

Blair Wins Defensive Award

Former Davie County football star Stan Blair ended his career at Wingate College by winning the Most Valuable Defensive Player Award during the school's annual football banquet recently.

Blair was a defensive end in high school but switched to defensive tackle at Wingate. Last year, he was an NAIA all-American.

As a senior, Blair was second on the team in tackles with 97 (58 solo and 39 assists). He led the Bulldogs with 13 tackles for losses and had 6½ quarterback sacks.

Blair was also named as an

College Report

Former Davie County basketball star Stan Blair ended his career at Wingate College by winning the Most Valuable Defensive Player Award during the school's annual football banquet recently.

Blair was a defensive end in high school but switched to defensive tackle at Wingate. Last year, he was an NAIA all-American.

As a senior, Blair was second on the team in tackles with 97 (58 solo and 39 assists). He led the Bulldogs with 13 tackles for losses and had 6½ quarterback sacks.

Blair was also named as an honorary captain for 1991, along with cornerback Carlos Kemp and offensive tackle Gordon Morris.

This award was voted on by their peers.

Wingate was 6-4 in 1991 (3-4 in the SAC-3), equalling the team's best record ever. The Bulldogs finished ranked 17th in the NAIA poll, the position it held the previous year and in the preseason 1991 poll. Wingate peaked at number five at one point in 1991.

There are many differences between NAIA and NCAA, Seamon said. "There are about 400 to 500 small, private colleges in the NAIA," he said.

"In NCAA, division one schools get a lot of TV money and put it into all divisions. There is some incentive for a school to be in Division II so they can get that money."

Because of that incentive, the NAIA is currently undergoing some changes. Seamon said the NAIA South Atlantic Conference, including member schools Catawba, Pfeiffer, and Lenoir-Rhyne, is looking to move to NCAA Division II as a conference.

"There are some schools leaving NAIA," Seamon said.

A 12-member committee has been formed to study the future of the NAIA. Seamon was selected as a member. "Our first meeting will be in February in Kansas City," he said. "It's going to be an interesting committee to be a part of."

Seamon has his own views on the future of the NAIA.

"First of all, we've got to begin to recognize conferences more. People are beginning to leave us conferences, so we've got to give conferences more opportunity to advance in the tournament.

Districts rule NAIA; we've got to let the conferences do more."

"Second, corporate sponsors have to help the funding going to the national tournament. These are some of the things the committee will look at. There's some interesting things going on at the small schools."

Seamon's latest responsibility is the athletic director (AD) job. Two years ago, he was appointed assistant to the vice-president and placed over athletics. In August, 1991, he was named AD.

"Our baseball coach, Ken Dugan, had been AD and coach," Seamon said. "He's going to retire soon, so he decided to give up the AD job so he could just teach and coach."

"There's also a trend now to have an athletic director who is not tied to one team. I spend my time with all teams."

As AD, Seamon inherited a perennial strong athletic program at David Lipscomb. The baseball team has won two national championships since 1979, and the basketball team, under coach Don Meyer, has the highest winning percentage in the country in the last five years, NAIA or NCAA.

"We've got two real good coaches," Seamon said. "I just see that they get what they need."

Fan support is not a problem at Lipscomb, a school of 2400 students. Seamon said the basketball gym seats 3000, and 1200 season tickets are sold each year.

"Two years ago, we played our big rival, Belmont College," Seamon said. "The game was held at Vanderbilt College, and we sold it out, more than 17,000 fans. That's exciting. You don't see much of that in NAIA."

In his spare time, Seamon is a youth and family life minister at Brentwood Hills Church of Christ. "That gives me a lot of things to do in the summer," he said. "It's a good balance."

Seamon and his wife, Barbara, have two sons, Justin, 7, and Benjamin, 3.

"I'm just in a situation I love," Seamon said. "I love dealing with kids, and I'm still broadcasting basketball games, even though it's really a hobby now."

"I'm with people, and that's what I really enjoy."

Wrestling

MVP Ward Leads Wrestlers To Starmount Invitational Win

BOONVILLE — The Davie County wrestling team had its closest call of the season over the Christmas holidays but the War Eagles weren't about to give away any gifts to the Grimsley Whirlies. Davie edged its Central Piedmont Conference neighbor by only eight points in winning the Starmount Invitational 110-81. Davie placed seven in the top four to edge the Whirlies as the only two 4-A teams entered dominated the field. "They've got some good wrestlers," said Davie coach Buddy Lowery of Grimsley. "They beat Benji Frye in the semifinals but we were winning 9-3 when we were rolled. It was one of the 'whoops' matches. We were beating them 5-1 at 189 but lost. And we lost to their heavyweight only 4-2." However, nobody could beat 125-pounder Jon Ward. The junior defeated a defending state champion from West Wilkes on his way to the title and Most Valuable Wrestler honors. "He beat the Walker kid from West Wilkes 7-5 and that was the only trouble he had," Lowery said of his star junior. Sophomore Josh Whitley won the 112 title. "His first match was a win over Grimsley," said Lowery. "He's getting a little more confident out there." Steady Brad Kropfelder (130) and Shane Mauldin (160) lost in the finals and finished second. Matt Wilson and Frye both finished third and James Coulston was fourth. Davie was up against some stiff competition. South Iredell is ranked second in 3-A and West Wilkes is eighth in 2-A. But West was nowhere near the top while South was only third. "It was a good tournament but there were only four teams scoring any points," Lowery said of Davie, Grimsley, South Iredell and North Surry. Notes: • Davie also defeated Starmount in a dual match to improve that record to 2-0. • Davie's two dual wins have come over both Yadkin County schools, Fortnash and Starmount. • After Davie and Grimsley, scores were: South Iredell 145%, North Surry 132.7%, West Wilkes 98%, Mooresville 70%, Starmount 56, West Iredell 37 and North Iredell 9. • Davie has won all four tournaments it has entered this year. • The War Eagles host South Rowan Jan. 7 and Parkland Jan. 9.

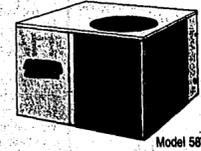

Wildcats Crush Opponents

North Davie's wrestling team got a chance to perform before a Davie High match last week, which coach Ron Kirk said pumped up his team. As if his team needs pumping up. The undefeated Wildcats stomped Starmount's freshmen team, 66-0 in 11 matches. South Rowan's freshmen also fell to North, 83-0. But the match at the high school was something special. "It was a great experience," said Kirk. "I wish we had started doing this three or four years ago. Our kids helped do everything right along with the high school boys." And just like the high school, they blitzed the Rams. In fact, Starmount scored only one individual point, that coming on a penalty by a North wrestler. Winning by pin were Robbie Yonce (83), George Sulecki (98), Dan Callahan (103), Scott Spry (112), Mark McKnight (119), Matt Sain (125), Justin Jenne (130), Wesley Foster (140), Michael Hunter (145), Mark Mason (152) and Kevin Casale (171). South Rowan gave North forfeits in the first two and last two weight classes. In between, pins were recorded by Spry, McKnight, Sain, Jenne, Hunter, Mason, Tony Nichols and Casale. Callahan won 7-3, Carter 18-8 and Foster 9-0. "We're wrestling well considering we didn't practice much because of the holidays," said Kirk. Notes: • North improved to 5-0. • In a tri-match with South Rowan, South Davie lost to the Raiders, 46-39. • A large crowd showed for the Starmount matches. Most of the fans were from North, some of which showed an hour before the match began. • A total of 14 of Kirk's 15 wrestlers are still undefeated. • North has outscored its opponents, 394-6. • Chestnut Grove was scheduled to come to North Wednesday and the Wildcat jayvees have a tri-match Friday with Knox and Lexington.

Davie High Yearbook Earns National Award

By Rodney Cline
Davie County Enterprise-Record

"Davie High entered its 1990-91 yearbook in a national competition for the first time.

"It won first place.

The school was notified recently that it won in the annual American Scholastic Press Association competition in the division with schools of more than 1,000 students.

The yearbook, named the Clarion, scored 910 of a possible 1,000 points. Davie was one of four schools in North Carolina and one of 80 schools in the nation to win a first place award.

"That is a real honor," said yearbook advisor Kristine Kokoski. "It's an achievement. Our win was printed in a national publication for yearbooks that are outstanding."

The 1991 Clarion was published by Jones of Winston-Salem. It had 240 pages, of which 32 were color. The theme was "All Good Things Come to an End."

The yearbook's editor-in-chief was Sherry Jones. Jeanie Markland and Traci Tucker were assistant editors.

"We received a certificate that will be displayed in the school," said Kokoski, who was advising her second yearbook.

"Most schools enter this competition, but this is the first book Davie has ever entered," she said. "This is one of the most prominent competitions for high schools in the nation."

Kokoski has one warning for schools challenging Davie in next year's competition: "If they thought last year's book was good, wait until they see the one we're working on now."

Be A Good Model

Practice makes perfect, the old saying goes, so when it comes to raising children, keep a reign on your own behavior.

"Children model their parents' behavior," says Dr. Cynthia Skason. "Your child will imitate whatever example you set. Are you on time? Do you arrive on time for appointments? Does your child see you working through problems? Do you smoke or use drugs?"

Although no one can raise a perfect child, parents who practice good behavior are more apt to raise a good child than those who say one thing and do another.

There will be no cost and child care will be available on premises.

Silent Theater Artist To Be Here

Swans are just some of the images Leland Faulkner can create with light and his hands.

Forget the quiet, white-faced mime that walks around pretending to open doors and kiss hands.

When Leland Faulkner brings his mime, or pantomime, show to Davie County next week there will be more — such as magic, storytelling and shadowgraphy.

Faulkner will perform for Davie County eighth graders on Jan. 15 and 16 before a public performance at 7 p.m. Thursday, Jan. 16 at South Davie Junior High School. Tickets are $3 each for the show, sponsored by the Davie County Arts Council.

Faulkner includes stories, mime and magic from around the world in his shows.

Mime is when artists express feelings, ideas and situations by using only their bodies and the expressions on their faces.

Shadowgraphy is showing silhouetted images on a screen by moving the hands and fingers. The shadows resemble animals, people or objects.

"The stories I tell are translated to a very, very physical place on stage," Faulkner said. "I try to satisfy my creativity as much as possible and, in the same sense, entertain and relay a message to the audience."

In Faulkner's visual theater, paper butterflies dance and multiply; shadows take on a life of their own.

United Way Of Davie County Exceeds 1991 Goal

There was jubilation among the United Way Board of Directors, staff and volunteers when figures were added up on Christmas Eve.

"Our goal for the '91 campaign," said Lorraine Blackwood, president, "was conservatively set at $257,500 back in April although the '90 campaign had raised $258,500. The board was concerned over how the economy may effect the fall campaign."

"But we had faith that our citizens would respond positively and they certainly have," she said.

Dennis Harrington, '92 president, said: "Historically, over its 100 year history, when times are hard, or expected to be, citizens have increased their giving to United Way."

"This was true even during the 'great depression' of the early 30s. People who 'have' come forth to help those who are less fortunate than themselves," Harrington said.

"The Triad Area, of which Davie County is a part," said Paul Mighion, '91 Campaign Chair, "is the highest per capita giving area to United Way in the country."

"This is due to the news media who report community needs; good campaign organization, dedicated volunteers; and, most of all, generous citizens who want to help their fellowman. All rooted in deep religious philosophy."

Force Musselman, who headed the industrial division on the campaign cabinet, and whose group raised the most of any single division — $178,820 — said: "My group's success was due, in large part, to our having a loaned executive from the Sam Lee Corporation. Melza Craven worked full-time, sometimes night and day, from Aug. 15th to Nov. 15th visiting major industries, meeting their around-the-clock shifts, showing local and national videos, distributing brochures, answering questions and telling how United Way in Davie County helps its citizens through the 31 agencies.

"We had help for the first time from Friendship Cable who showed locally produced videos on its network and from Appalachian Outdoor Advertising who made their billboards available and from WDSL radio and the Enterprise-Record. And all these were donated services," Mighion said.

Davie is the third highest per capita income county in Northwest North Carolina with $15,332 per every man, woman and child. It is exceeded only by Forsyth and Guilford, which are one and two respectively ('88 Federal Bureau of Economic Analysis).

Agencies serving Davie residents who will benefit from the campaign are: American Red Cross, NW N.C. Chapter; Appropriate Punishment Options; Association for Retarded Citizens; Boy Scouts of America;

Uwharrie Council; Cancer Services, Inc.; Bowman Gray Child Guidance; Children's Center for the Physically Handicapped; Davie American Little League; Davie Crime Stoppers; Davie Group Home; Davie 4-H; Davie Family Y.M.C.A.; Davie Little League National; Family Services, Inc.; Family Violence Prevention Services; Farmington Community Association, Inc.; Girl Scouts, Tannehill Trail Council, Inc.;

Hospice of Davie County, and North Carolina; New Horizons Enterprises; Retired Senior Volunteer Program; The Salvation Army; American Social Health Assoc.; Autism Society of N.C.; N.C. Coalition, Adolescent Pregnancy; Alcohol/Drug Council of N.C.; International Social Services American branch; Children's Home Society of N.C.; and Florence Crittenton Services of N.C.

Also a special needs Emergency Fund is established to be administered by Davie County Department of Social Services.

The United Way office is in Room 211-B, Brock Building, North Main Street. Telephone number is 634-0313.

Agencies offering services to Davie citizens who would like to be a "participating agency" may call the office for information.

Driver Forgets, Leaves Boy, 3, On Bus

By Beth Cassidy
Davie County Enterprise-Record

Curtis Mason may never get on a van again.

Because of an incident Friday, his mother said, he is scared of the YVEDDI van that used to pick him up and drop him off every day, and she's afraid he may never set foot on a van again.

Curtis, 3, is a quiet boy. That's probably why he didn't speak up when a substitute driver failed to drop him off at home Friday afternoon.

Even when the driver parked the van behind the Brock Center and left, Curtis still didn't say anything.

He hasn't said much about the incident since Friday, but refused to get on the van Monday morning, even though his regular driver went into the house and asked him to. All day Monday, his teachers kept asking him if he would let the driver take him home that day, and he kept shaking his head no.

And he meant it.

His mother picked him up Monday. Caria Mason is upset about what happened.

She left work at 3:30 Friday, but went to the grocery store before going home. Curtis usually beats her home, to Mason Drive in the Fork community, by about 30 minutes, but when she got home Friday around 4:45 p.m., her mother-in-law, Mary Mason, told her that Curtis hadn't been dropped off yet. Carla said, "Let's go."

After driving the YVEDDI van route, expecting to find it broken down somewhere, she arrived at Brock Center, where Curtis attends Head Start. The director was there, having already been contacted by Curtis' grandmother, and she was trying to locate the driver and

6 Face Conspiracy Charges

By Mike Barnhardt
Davie County Enterprise-Record

Five people met at Mocksville's Comfort Inn on Monday to buy 600 pounds of marijuana and three kilos (6.6 pounds) of cocaine.

They ended up in jail, less almost $150,000.

Among those arrested were an Advance woman, three Texas men, a Calabash man and a man from Rock Hill, S.C.

The drug deal they had arranged had been with undercover officers, said Detective Jerry Williams of the Davie County Sheriff's Department.

They were arrested at the hotel with the money.

Charged with conspiracy to traffic in marijuana and with conspiracy to traffic in cocaine were:

- Terena Renee "Cookie" Cook, 29, of Route 1, Advance;
- Christopher Lee Mathis, 31, of Rock Hill, S.C.;
- Leubardo Rodriguez Jr., 38, of Corpus Christi, Texas;
- Ramirio Suarez, 40, of Alice, Texas;
- Harold Gray Winters, 44, of Route 7, Calabash; and
- Oliver M. Garcia, 39, of Alice, Texas.

Cook was also charged with possession of marijuana and possession of drug paraphernalia.

Each was placed in jail in lieu of a $500,000 bond, pending a March 12 appearance in Davie District Court. Authorities said the cases may be turned over to federal courts.

Higher Water Rates Create Stir In Town

COOLEEMEE — Town residents here think they're getting the shaft from county-commissioners.

Before, during and after a town board meeting Monday night, the talk was about the increase in water rates approved earlier this month by county commissioners — an increase of more than 67 percent for some customers.

The board voted unanimously to send county commissioners a resolution opposing the new rates.

Cooleemee board member Hayden Beck made that motion, saying the county had promised that taxes wouldn't be raised or water rates wouldn't go up to pay for a new water plant.

A tax increase was voted in last summer.

'Downtown Thief' Gets 15-Year Prison Sentence

By Beth Cassidy
Davie County Enterprise-Record

Downtown merchants can breathe a little easier these days. The "downtown thief" is behind bars.

Lorenzo Terry Arnold, 26, of Avon Street, was sentenced by Judge James Webb to 15 years in prison in Superior Court Jan. 7. He was charged with breaking and entering, possession of stolen goods, possession of firearms by a felon, unlawfully possessing burglary tools, felonious larceny, and assault with a deadly weapon with intent to kill.

Arnold was apprehended by Tom Brown, a Mocksville businessman, Nov. 20, as Arnold attempted to rob the cash register of the FCK-Southern States store on Wilkesboro Street.

Brown testified in court that he left the store around 9 p.m. Nov. 20, to get something from the warehouse across the street. When he returned, he saw Arnold standing behind the cash register. Arnold told Brown he wouldn't hurt him if Brown would let him go.

Brown started toward Arnold, and Arnold pulled a masonry hammer out of his coat. Brown lunged at Arnold, and the two fell into a display of tools. Arnold hit Brown in the head with the hammer, inflicting an injury Brown said was serious, but not serious enough to require treatment at the hospital. He was able to hold Arnold down and call 911.

When Arnold was arrested, he had in his inside coat pocket a .357 caliber pistol that had been stolen from the Mocksville Police Department during a break-in approximately a week before the incident. Officer Ken Hunter also found $42 in Arnold's coat that he had taken from the cash register at Brown's store.

Arnold had previously served 28 days of a 4 1/2 year sentence for breaking into Sears on Dec. 29, 1990, according to Mocksville Police Chief Tom Foster.

Assistant District Attorney Steve Barnhill said that Arnold was convicted of larceny and two counts of common law robbery in 1982, two counts of breaking and entering and larceny in 1984, and driving while his license was revoked in 1988.

Michael Parker, Arnold's attorney, said, "All of these charges have stemmed, over the years, from alcohol and drug abuse." Parker said Arnold had been using drugs and alcohol at the time of the offense, although police officers said they did not detect an odor of alcohol on Arnold when he was arrested.

Arnold was sentenced to 15 years in prison and Judge Webb recommended that he participate in a substance abuse program while in prison. He also received a nine year sentence which was suspended for five years. He was placed on supervised probation for five years.

Judge Webb ordered Arnold to be placed on curfew for one year of the probation, and he must make restitution to Brown for a broken window and damage to Brown's watch. The .357 caliber pistol was ordered destroyed.

Attic Discovery Gives Evidence Of Hard Times

The collection plate must have jingled on Sunday mornings. There were only coins. No folding stuff. Ten cents was a healthy offering. One or two could give 15 cents. The largest gift — 25 cents. A pledge of even a penny a week was not sneezed at. From the 130 adults, the total Sunday morning collection was usually $5.

Attendance was good. The flock was faithful. No, this isn't about some primitive bamboo but missionary church in a Third World country. It's about a church right here ... only 65 years ago. In those days, a dollar was hard to get. And anyone would stoop to pick up a penny.

It might have been the "Gay 20's" in the cities, but there was no abundance of money on the farm.

The church was Macedonia Moravian in Advance. My grandfather was church treasurer. Every Sunday afternoon he logged the contributions in a ledger and tracked the members' pledges.

That was only a memory for his children until two weeks ago. My sister, Helen Young, found the old ledger for 1925-33. She and her family have restored the John H. Sparks homeplace. The attic had been cleaned out long ago. But they installed a light and noticed a black book far under the eaves.

The book is an incredible testimony to what inflation has done to us.

In 1926, the church received $268.55 for the entire year. Remember, this was no small congregation — more than 130 young people and adults were listed on the ledger as donors. Some gave a penny a week — the widow's mite. But they gave it faithfully.

The pastor's salary was $16.33 a month — almost $200 for the year.

The year 1927 was a good one. Collections for the year were $351.01. That fell steadily during the years of the Great Depression. In 1932, the church received $173.75. The pastor received all of his $200 salary, but only because $35 had been saved from the prior year. The contributions were tracked with envelopes given at the beginning of the year. The envelopes were mostly empty that year.

Beyond the pastor's salary, there were few expenses. There were annual gifts to mission funds and the Moravian seminary. In 1928, $10.35 was sent to "flood sufferers."

The book is an incredible look back in time. The rolls include many names of people long dead. But there are many that I have memory of as a child. I've held on to the book longer than my promised "few days." I lingered with it because the jottings and figures and notes were the penmanship of my grandfather. We lived next door, and he took deep interest in his grandchildren. He used to urge me to devote more time to arithmetic, and he sometimes quizzed me on my multiplication tables. The ledger demonstrates his skill with math. I miss him still.

Don't Be Blinded By President Bush's One-Sided Policies

To the editor:
President Bush is the top choice of candidates which are now entering in the next presidential race and probably will remain the top choice through the election. However, we should not blind ourselves with the one dimensional achievements of Mr. Bush. Instead of fickle, perhaps thoughtfully contemplative would be a better description of the American electorate of late. Selection of the President is not a matter over which to be fickle, but that would be better than ignorance of vital issues.
True, Mr. Bush has not committed crimes while in office, but then illicit affairs are not prerequisites for the examination, questioning, or criticism of administrative policies and actions. Not to diminish any of the monumental occurrences of late, but instead of viewing declines in recent public approval of Mr. Bush as a distraction from his successes, those events could be seen as distractions from the economic conditions which have beset us for the past year and beyond.
Yes, Mr. Bush has been a part of many fantastic and progressive events and has had an instrumental role in most. However, the Gulf War, new relations with the crumbling Soviet Union and others have been in the international sector in which Mr. Bush has long since discarded any wimp factor. Indeed few doubt his abilities as President in international crises. Unfortunately Mr. Bush is not Secretary of State so his duties carry on much farther. The matter of the economy seems anything but little, but neither is it an emergency situation which demands immediate decisions as in wartime. Instead economic recovery requires deliberate action with specific, yet flexible plans.
It is quite easy to place blame on the current administration even though the present circumstances are predominantly the results of administrative past. Earlier overborrowing has weakened the strength of fiscal tools in stimulating our economy such as the interest rate. Increased taxes are an enabler but once again the problem lies in past tax burden assignments. Although these dilemmas should not be blamed on Mr. Bush, it is our responsibility to call to his attention the acute need for solving them.
As fears of U.S. economic inferiority surpass those of military inferiority these issues will become increasingly more important to the public and rightly so. Mr. Bush is an obvious choice and as such he needs to show he can be the domestic equal to the leader of world affairs he has already proven to be.

First Grader Making Progress At Pinebrook

To the editor:
Now we've rushed through the holidays enjoying every day, as we start the new year I still want to say a special "thanks" for a few of the goodies I received last year. Especially to the first grade teacher at Pinebrook School, Mrs. Idol. My precious little grandson Matthew was in her class. He came home each day telling me he played all day, had a good time. No, he didn't do anything at school, just played and loved his teacher. Before I knew it, he was reading books to me and from the newspaper. He finally persuaded the other children to let him be the teacher when they played school. Across the top of his note paper he wrote in large letters "Chris Lee" and numbered from 1-10. In the first grade, I think that's pretty good. We are fortunate to have teachers like Mrs. Idol who create the desire for learning in young children.
I want to compliment the merchants in our little town of Mocksville. They have always been so helpful in things we do in our county I want to especially say thank you to those helping the Extension Homemakers set up a booth at the Dixie Classic Fair last fall.
Many homemakers furnished items and assisted in setting up the booth to represent Davie Extension Homemakers for a really nice booth: food safety.
Thank all of you, you made it possible.

Stir-Fried Broccoli Should Not Be National Disaster

It wasn't a matter of national disaster as many federal officials and the media made it. In fact, it should have been expected. President Bush, visiting Japan, probably force-fed saki (rice wine) and raw fish, tossed his cookies at an official dinner. In other words, he called eat, served, puked, regurgitated, threw up, vomited.

If it had been available, old Georgie boy would have hugged the Presidential Porcelain Throne.

Mike Barnhardt

I kind of like the idea. It brings the President down to our level. It sort of makes him one of us.

But my cohorts in the media were fooled by "official" versions of what happened. Bush suffered from the flu. It was serious. Rush him to the hospital. Call in Dan Quayle (aaaghghh), nothing is that serious) to the White House. Advise the Congress.

They should have saved the trouble. Bush went to Japan begging them to please be stupid and quit making millions of dollars off us gullible Americans, quit making better cars at lower prices, quit making the best video games, quit making better cameras, quit making lower priced electronics, quit wasting company money paying it to the workers instead of huge salaries to useless top officials like we do. He went begging them to buy our overpriced goods and not sell as many bargains to us.

With requests like that, Bush didn't have a choice. If they offered him saki, he was obliged to take a swig. If they offered him raw fish, he was obliged to take a bite or two. Probably, the thing that really put the Kennebunkport gullet in turmoil was when they served up a huge platter of stir-fried broccoli.

Give the President credit where it's due. He didn't heave across the table for everyone to see. He fell to the floor behind the table, out of view of most at the dinner. And only a few pieces hit a Japanese official.

It's a roundabout way, but the tactic may work. The Japanese may give Bush what he wants just to keep him from coming back. I can hear him hollering "remember PUUURRRRLLI Harbor" at just the right moment.

Bush should stick to visiting Maine, where they serve lobster, and Texas, where they serve steak, and stay away from places such as California and Japan where they serve raw fish and broccoli. Hasn't he heard, real men don't eat raw fish and broccoli.

The President shouldn't fear, however. Much of this food-o-phobia is in his head. Purely psychological. I remember, as a child, I swallowed huge helpings of pineapple juice and persimmon pudding. It caused the same result as the raw fish and broccoli. I swore to never eat or drink either again because they would make you throw up.

It took me years to get over the fear of persimmon pudding. Finally, I gave in and tried a piece. It's again one of my favorite desserts. It took longer to get over the fear of pineapple. But after going to wedding reception after wedding reception where pineapple punch must be a requirement or something, I got over that fear as well. Pineapples aren't so bad, after all.

You can do it, George. Broccoli ain't that bad. Just some green stuff that really doesn't have that much flavor — good or bad — by itself.

But stay away from California and Japan. Raw fish? No way. I'd rather grab my new Nikon and take a picture of my new Toyota and then go home and watch Godzilla on my new Sony.

Party Wasn't Here

To the editor:
In response to the article on Jan. 9 about the party and road block on Junction Road across from Jockey, we would like to clear the minds of the public. The party was not at the home of Leo and Lynette Polk. Thanks to the sheriff's department for the work they did. They may have saved a life from a drunk driver.

Rotten Side To Legal System

To the editor:
Lawyers are using 18th and 19th century rules in their way of controlling their financial gains. They allow foreclosures to be processed in 20 days, divorces in 40 days, but estates and executor cases have to take six months; and if there is a technicality (like in my case), it is now 14 months and holding. I would like to hear from any Davie County residents of their experience. My recent contact with the N.C. Bar Association in Raleigh and the Forsyth County Bar Association was of no help, just a suggestion to contact some politician, senators and congressmen. That's out of the question. It takes years for them to do anything of importance, especially at my age, 87.

6 Arrested In Drug Sting

The deal was arranged between Texas and North Carolina, Williams said, when the undercover officers here learned from Corpus Christi police that Cook was visiting known drug dealers there.

They had arranged the deal for a $300,000 price, and showed up with just under half of that. The money was confiscated. Five vehicles were also confiscated: Cook's 1985 Oldsmobile Cutlass, a Chevrolet van bearing a license tag for a Ford belonging to Johnny Mason of Mocksville, a 1985 Buick registered to Michael Ralph Holbrook of Ronda, an Oldsmobile 98 with a dealer tag from Edgewood Motors in Jonesville, and a station wagon purchased two days earlier in Georgia, Williams said. The investigation included members of the Northwest Piedmont Multi-Jurisdiction Task Force, the Davie County and Forsyth County sheriff's departments, the Kernersville Police Department and IRS criminal investigators. It was the largest seizure of money involved in a task force operation.

Curtis' teacher, Carla said.

The driver had gone to dinner, and when they found him, according to Carla, he said, "But Robert Browning's mother picked him up." The Masons explained that they were looking for Curtis, not Robert Browning.

Generally, Carla said, when the driver drops a child off, they mark their name off a list. Curtis' name had not been marked off, she said.

Nearly two hours later, Curtis' father, Gilmer, happened to notice a van with the lights on in the parking lot. When he reached it, he found his son inside. Curtis was scared, hungry, and had wet himself while waiting for someone to find him.

The driver, a substitute, had driven the route before, Carla said, but failed to pick Curtis up Thursday morning. She said he is 69 years old, wears a pacemaker, and "he's just sort of confused." He regularly works as a janitor, she said.

"Let him stay a janitor," Carla said. "They need a reliable bus driver."

She was especially upset, she said, when she arrived at Brock Center Monday and saw that the driver was there and substituting once again, but not on Curtis' van.

Jimmy Hutchins, executive director of YVEDDI (Yadkin Valley Economic Development District Incorporated), would not comment on any of the allegations. "At this time, we are unable to comment on the incident, because of possible litigation."

Curtis wasn't the only one affected by the incident. Carla said Mary Mason suffered a heart attack Saturday, "because she was so worried, thinking about what could have happened to him."

Mason is in satisfactory condition at a hospital in Salisbury, but is still being monitored.

Meanwhile, Curtis refuses to ride the yellow van.

Drawing Of Bank Robber Released

By Beth Cassidy
Davie County Enterprise-Record

There are still no leads in a bank robbery that took place in Mocksville Dec. 5, but detectives hope a composite drawing by an FBI artist may identify the suspect.

A lone gunman walked into First Federal Savings Bank off Gailher Street around 1:16 p.m., pulling a stocking mask over his face. He was carrying what appeared to be a semi-automatic handgun, said Mocksville Police Detective Wayne Stoneman.

He made a verbal demand for money from the three tellers working at the counter.

Stoneman said there was one customer in the lobby at the time, and the robber told her to "go and sit in the corner." Stoneman said that was the last she saw of the robbery, because she did as she was told, hanging her head and not paying any attention to the robbery. There were also several customers in offices, and Stoneman said they were not aware that a robbery was in progress.

The robber did not threaten anyone, Stoneman said.

When he ran from the bank, a dye pack exploded in his hands, as he crossed Gailher Street onto Clement Street, between Karyl's Kozy Korner and Centel.

He continued to run, on foot, in the vicinity of Davie Auto Parts. A bloodhound trailed the robber to a thicker building behind the auto parts store, then lost the scent. Stoneman said he didn't know if the robber had a car nearby or if he continued on foot.

The drawing was made from a description given by an individual who may have seen the robber before he entered the bank and pulled on the mask, Stoneman said.

The suspect is described as a black man, 25 to 30 years old, with a stocky build and medium complexion. He was wearing a black ball cap with a red bill, a dark blue or black jacket and a light shirt, according to Dan Wozniak, supervisor for the Greensboro area FBI office.

Stoneman said the money will have a permanent pink tint from the dye, but the color of the dye will be hard to detect on the robber's hands.

A reward is offered for information leading to the arrest of the suspect, by calling Davie Crimestoppers at 634-1111. Callers do not have to reveal their identity. Stoneman said an organization called Banking Alliance may also offer a reward.

County Looking At More Zoning Rules For Areas

By Mike Barnhardt
Davie County Enterprise-Record

County officials last week said they're taking steps to handle expected growth from Mocksville to eastern Davie.

But at least one county resident said it's too little too late.

Members of the Davie County Planning Board, before a crowd of more than 100 residents, unanimously recommended the county adopt "overlay" zoning districts.

County commissioners are scheduled to act on the proposal Tuesday night.

A limited water supply and poor soil were a natural barrier to growth, County Zoning Officer Jesse Boyce said. But a new water plant, and beginnings of public and private sewer systems will open areas to more rapid development.

Areas covered by the district include all of Farmington Township and northern Mocksville Township along U.S. 158 and I-40 to Farmington Road.

The county is installing a sewer line from Mocksville along U.S. 158 to Hanes Printables on Farmington Road.

Bermuda Run has a package sewage treatment plant. A Hillsdale subdivision has a package sewage treatment plant, and a group of landowners is considering building a semi-private sewage treatment plant. Planning board chairman Ray Earhardt, who operates a business in Hillsdale, said the county doesn't want the area to look like Clemmons.

"We don't want the crossroads (Hillsdale) to look like our friends a few miles across the river in Clemmons," he said. "Up and down Lewisville-Clemmons Road, I don't think that's very attractive."

Bermuda Run resident Gene Cross said the county should not only install a larger sewer line on U.S. 158, it should consider starting a county sewer system in Hillsdale, rather than doing it piece by piece privately.

"We can't stop growth, but you're not planning for the situation," Cross said. "We ought to put in a pipe big enough to handle the situation. When is the county really going to plan for the future?"

The overlay zoning district will not affect homeowners, but will place additional restrictions on developers of apartments, duplexes and businesses.

It does not address things such as uses, which are determined by what an area is zoned. To put a business in a residential area, the land would have to be rezoned, after a public hearing, as is the case now.

The overlay district will place landscaping requirements on the developers, as well as change the rules for signs, parking and road access.

All development other than single-family houses would go before a review committee, and the developers would be required to submit a plan of their proposed development.

Town Planners To Hear About Thoroughfare Plan

There will be a meeting of the Town of Mocksville Planning Board on Thursday, Jan. 23, at 7:30 p.m. in the Mocksville Town Hall.

Caudell Lumber Company submitted a request to rezone property from Residential R-9 to Industrial I. This property is located at the intersection of Bingham and Sheek streets at Caudell's and is shown as parcels C-12 and C-13 of tax map I-5-9. Department of Transportation of-officials will be on hand with a further update to the proposed Town of Mocksville Thoroughfare Plan.

Mrs. Clifton H. Stack has submitted a request to rezone property from Highway Business H-8 to Residential R-6. This property lies on the west side of South Main Street across from Mocksville Builders Supply. The property is further described as being parcels C-5 and C-6 of tax map I-4-12.

Passed Out? Man Faints In Court

By Beth Casady
Davie County Enterprise-Record

A Davie County man who was minutes away from being sentenced collapsed and fell to the courtroom floor Wednesday morning.

Edward Anthony "Pete" Smoot, 27, of 324 Depot St., was in Davie Superior Court for five counts of probation violation. After his collapse and a short stay at Davie County Hospital, Smoot was arrested and taken to Davie County Jail.

According to John Bivins, Smoot's probation officer, Smoot was found guilty on several counts of uttering and forging dating back to April 1989. He served just over seven months in jail, and was released and placed on probation in October 1990. Bivins said Smoot missed 14 appointments, was behind $1,200 on probation payments, and a urinalysis in April showed positive results for marijuana use.

Smoot did not have an attorney until Tuesday, when he hired Hank Van Hoy. He was to appear in court with Van Hoy Wednesday at 9:30 a.m., but failed to show until 9:45. Van Hoy was in the process of requesting that the case be continued, for financial reasons, when Smoot and his father, Billy, arrived.

Smoot walked to the front of the courtroom, followed by his father, and took his place at the defendant's table beside Van Hoy. Judge James Webb denied the request for a continuance.

Smoot turned to throw his coat on a chair behind him, made a grunting noise, and fell to the floor. His father told the judge that Smoot had been up most of the night and had taken several kinds of pills, including vitamins, Motrin, and "nerve pills" and that he had been worried and wanted the case continued.

An ambulance was called, and Smoot was transported to the hospital. He was released less than an hour later.

Davie Sheriff's Chief Deputy Bob Lemmons said that Smoot's only complaint as of Thursday was that he wanted to talk to his attorney. "He has made no complaints about his health or requests to call a doctor," Lemmons said.

After Smoot was taken from the courtroom, Judge Webb ordered that Smoot's bail be set at $1,200 cash, on the condition that Smoot remain living at home. An order for arrest was issued upon Smoot's release from the hospital.

The case was continued until the March 2 session of Superior Court.

Pillow Mats Donated To Shelter

By Rodney Cline
Davie County Enterprise-Record

Thanks to the Humane Society of Davie County, dogs at the shelter now have pillow mats to sleep on. "The humane society donated the mats," said society president Janie Swaringen. "Robert Cook, the animal control officer, said this was a way we can help the shelter. This is the first of many projects the humane society will do."

Diane Foster, a county commissioner, was on hand for the presentation of the mats to Gordon Smith, who works at the shelter. Seventeen mats were bought for the shelter, said Swaringen. They are washable, have cedar shavings on the inside, and will be placed on top of platforms already in the shelter. "The platforms were built to get the dogs off of the cold floor and give them more comfort," Swaringen said. "Pillows were suggested for this time of year."

Smith said the mats were a good idea for the dogs in winter. "We'll take them up in summer," he said. "Dogs lie on the cool concrete floor in the summer."

Swaringen said she hoped the humane society could do more for the dogs in the future. "This is a good start, but we need to do something else," she said. "If it doesn't work, maybe we can go to something else."

The shelter is open from 9 a.m. - 6 p.m. Monday-Friday. The phone number is 634-0227.

More People Going To Professionals For Tax Filing Help

By Beth Cassidy
Davie County Enterprise-Record

Get out those calculators. Sharpen those pencils.

Tax season is here again. Beginning Jan. 2, more than 110 million tax forms began showing up in mailboxes around the country, about a week later than in past years.

Jack Koontz, superintendent of postal operations at the Mocksville post office, said Jan. 2 is one of the heaviest mailing days of the year anyway, but with thousands of tax forms stacked up in the post office, employees were faced with more work than usual.

Koontz said he thinks more people are going to professionals to get their returns prepared, and those people are sent cards instead of the tax booklets, so postal employees have less forms to deal with than in past years.

Larry Ledford, certified public accountant, said he has seen an increase over the years in people using professional services for help in filing. "Supposedly, all a person needs is an eighth grade education to be able to file their own taxes, but to be quite honest, I won't even try to answer a question any more without looking it up in the booklet first."

Ledford has been in business in Mocksville for 11 years. He has seen several changes in forms, but not many for the better. Instead of simplifying the forms, he said, the IRS has made them more confusing.

The biggest change this year, he said, is with earned income credit, which is the allowance of a certain amount of credit against the income tax. It affects those with a combined family income of just over $21,000, who fill out either the 1040 or 1040A forms. Ledford said he hasn't helped anyone with that yet, but read that "for the average person, it's going to be a difficult calculation."

Another change is in the exemption for dependents, which increases every year. For 1991, that exemption is $2,150 and will increase to $2,300 in 1992, said Donald Bowles, certified public accountant.

Bowles is in his 10th tax season in Mocksville and said he has seen growth in business every year. Most of his clients are businesses and individuals with special circumstances. The rate he charges varies, depending on how complicated the return is, and he offers electronic filing. Returns filed electronically from his office go straight to the IRS, a procedure which he said is usually more accurate and easier for the IRS, since employees don't have to key in the information. The only benefit to the taxpayer is that if they are going to get a refund, they usually get it within three weeks.

The people hurt most by confusing tax forms are those in the lower income brackets and the elderly. Often, they are unable to fill out the forms themselves and can't afford to pay a professional for help.

Bowles and Ledford said there is help available for those people, including a toll free IRS number and an IRS office in Winston-Salem. The only problem with getting help from someone in the Winston-Salem office, Ledford said, is that if a mistake is made, the taxpayer, not the one offering the help, is penalized.

Perhaps even more nerve-racking than having April 15 looming on the horizon is the fear of audit.

During the summer, Ledford said, approximately 50,000 federal returns are randomly chosen for a segment audit. In a segment audit, certain areas on the return are chosen for audit. For example, if someone claimed a $200 rental expense, they might be asked to prove that expense with a receipt.

Approximately every third year, the IRS randomly chooses returns for a complete audit. Those are the ones that scare people most, Ledford said, because they have to go back several years, providing receipts and proving expenses. Out of the nearly 1,500 people whose returns Ledford prepares, one of those was audited in 1991 and three in 1990.

Many of those chosen for audit are self-employed with incomes over $100,000 per year. Ledford said, and they are required to show proof of income. Those are the people who benefit most from having a professional prepare their return, Ledford said.

"Generally, if a person is literate, they can prepare their own return, but the minute they open that small business, they need to get help."

County Briefs

9 Considered For Hospital Board

Nine Davie residents are being considered for five slots on a new Davie County Hospital advisory board. Carolina Mediacorp (CMI), which earlier this month leased the hospital from Davie County, will name three people to the eight-person board.

County commissioners are expected to pick five residents at a Jan. 21 meeting from the following list: Jennifer Brock, Frances Campbell, James Clark, Dan DesNoyers, Allen Martin, Brooke Martin, Kent Mathewson, Duane Reavis, and Dr. Francis Slat.

Although not clear in the lease, the board's duties would be limited basically to "a strong communication link between Davie County and CMI."

County Makes Donation To YMCA

County commissioners agreed last week to donate $2,832.50 to the Davie Family YMCA — the same amount paid to the county for inspections and permits.

Two commissioners said while they support the gift to the YMCA, which provides recreation benefits to county residents, they don't want other groups to get the idea that they can have inspection fees waived. "I'm not the least bit opposed to it, but if everybody's going to come ask for it, then I'm opposed to it," said Spurgeon Foster Jr.

"I don't want it to be a signal that we're giving away inspection fees," said Bert Bahson.

Compactor Purchased For Landfill

A compactor will be purchased for the Davie County Landfill, which will replace one that overturned, killing a landfill employee last September.

County commissioners last week approved purchasing the machine for $45,000 (plus $15,000 already paid in rental fees) from E.F. Craven Co. in Greensboro.

New Job Description Approved

County commissioners approved a new job last week, but wonder if the $15,470 annual salary will be enough to find a qualified employee.

Called an E911/CIS technician, the employee would be responsible for entering information into a computer concerning county tax maps, zoning, and a new county addressing system as a part of an emergency 911 telephone system being installed.

According to the job description, someone with a two-year college degree would be desired.

County, Town Studying 'Contracts'

County commissioners had mixed reactions to a request from the Town of Mocksville for written contracts for services the town purchases from the county.

Spurgeon Foster Jr. said there is no need for change, that the oral contracts the two governments have agreed on in the past should be sufficient. Under those agreements, according to County Attorney John Brock, "We're committing ourselves for 12 months."

Diane Foster said there should be no fear of the written contracts, given the provision that either the town or county could get out of the contract on a 90-day notice. "I think it's a good idea," she said. "They're not the only ones who can opt out. We can too."

The town apparently made the request after the county made increases in the middle of a budget year. The town contracts with the county for tax collection, zoning and planning, emergency communications, animal control, landfill and the county pays the town for recreation services.

The board decided to wait for more formal contract proposals from the town before making a decision.

Teen-Ager Convicted Of DWI

A 16-year-old Mt. Tabor student who registered .11 on the Breathalyzer test, was given a six-month suspended sentence in Davie District Court last week on charges of DWI.

Melanie Lee Mains of Winston-Salem was charged following an accident on Baltimore Road on Nov. 7 in which she and a passenger were injured. Trooper K.B. Steen with the N.C. Highway Patrol told Judge

Robert W. Johnson that the amount of alcohol in her system and her limited driving experience made Baltimore Road "more than she could deal with."

He said he found what appeared to be either a 12- or 24-pack of beer in the vehicle. Mains also was charged with DWI on a provisional license and with purchasing or possessing beer or wine underage.

On the DWI charge, Judge Johnson suspended the six month sentence and placed Mains on three years probation, ordered that she pay a $300 fine and court costs, not operate a motor vehicle until she's 18, perform 72 hours of community service and obtain a substance abuse assessment and comply with any recommendations made by the assessing agency.

He also ordered that she attend school every day and maintain at least a C average.

On the DWI on a provisional license charge, Judge Johnson sentenced Mains to 60 days in jail, but suspended that for three years, ordered her to pay court costs, and not possess or consume any alcoholic beverages.

Her 15-year-old passenger required 13 stitches to close a wound suffered in the accident, Steen told the judge.

Historically Speaking Cooleemee Woman Using Art To Show Off Area's History

By Kara Kooken
Davie County Enterprise-Record

COOLEEMEE — Who would have ever thought an artist from Maine would make it big right here in Cooleemee?

Her prints may not be displayed in prestigious New York art galleries, but they seem to be taking the local community by storm.

Maria Rutter moved to Cooleemee with her husband, Thom, and two children, Jesse and Johanna, in 1986. After living in Portland, Maine all their lives, the family decided to move to Cooleemee in search of fairer weather.

Rutter's husband and daughter were "very sensitive" to the cold and her daughter suffered from asthma. They felt a milder climate would suit them better. They met some people who spoke favorably of Cooleemee, so they decided to pick up their family and move to North Carolina.

They were in Cooleemee for about three years before Maria decided to "seriously" pursue her interest in art. As a child, Rutter said she had always loved art and was exposed to it regularly because one of her uncles painted and another dabbled in drawings.

"Art was my major interest — the thing I enjoyed most as a child," said Rutter.

And while her interest in art continued to grow throughout high school, it was not until 1989, when her children were a bit older, that Rutter became deeply involved in her own pencil and ink drawings.

Rutter started taking a variety of art classes at Davidson Community College. Two of her mentors have been Katherine Shipper, who owns an art gallery in Lexington, and Glenda Beard, an art instructor at the college.

Rutter said her teachers have helped her improve upon many of her drawing techniques, such as better "hand-to-eye coordination." They have also been able to help her iron out trouble spots in her drawings, whether it's the wheel of a car or the nose on a portrait.

"It's nice to have someone to guide you as you're working," said Rutter.

In the past, Rutter has experimented with oils, pencil, colored pencils and pastels. She is working in ink and while she enjoys this medium immensely, Rutter would like to work with more color at some point in the future.

"I'm finding that I'm enjoying the pen and ink," Rutter said. "It's simple to reproduce."

It was Rutter's husband who encouraged her to reproduce her prints. Due to the nature of her subjects — scenes of historic Cooleemee — Thom felt certain people from the local community would be interested in purchasing the reproductions.

Rutter said she decided to "take a chance" and make prints of her originals. During the summer of 1991, she sold many copies of her first drawing, an early depiction of Main Street in Cooleemee, by "word-of-mouth."

At the Arts Alive festival in the fall, Rutter collected names and addresses of people interested in purchasing her second print, The Mill. Rutter was amazed to find an overwhelming amount of interest in her work.

"It has developed so quickly in the last six months," Rutter said, "much faster than I ever imagined."

Rutter said one of the most enjoyable aspects of selling her work, is delivering the prints in person. She said many of her buyers have fascinating stories to tell about the history of the area.

Rutter plans to continue with her series of local, historic scenes by offering new prints on a bi-annual basis. Rutter said some ideas for future drawings include a different angle of Main Street in Cooleemee and a historic scene in Mocksville.

"The opportunities are limitless in this county," said Rutter.

Rutter said she is also interested in doing "commissioned" drawings of other historical buildings and residences in the area. She also wants to explore other artistic mediums.

While Rutter loves locating, researching and drawing new subjects, she said her art will probably never be her "number one priority." Rutter said her family, home and congregation have always consumed most of her time and energy.

"I wasn't aiming for an art career," said Rutter. "It's always been more of a hobby."

Nonetheless, Rutter doesn't foresee her artistic interests coming to an end. Instead, she will continue to work on her drawings and simply deal with her success "as it comes."

Rutter's prints sell for $10 a piece, $2 for shipping and handling. The artist can be reached at her home in Cooleemee. The phone number is 284-4211.

Rutter said the possibilities for historic drawings of Davie County landmarks are endless.

Oliphant, Sophomores Lead Davie To First CPC Win

By Ronnie Gallagher
Davie County Enterprise-Record

WINSTON-SALEM — April Oliphant wasn't the leading scorer and she wasn't the leading rebounder.

But when asked who played the leading role in Davie County's 67-49 win over the Parkland Friday night, coach Angie Jarvis never hesitated in pointing toward her senior co-captain.

Oliphant finished with 10 points, 12 rebounds and five steals.

"She was everywhere," said Jarvis. "She always has a nose for where the ball is. She plays rough and tough and some players stay away from her because of that."

It was the Central Piedmont Conference opener for both teams and left Davie in a four-way tie for first at 1-0.

Davie allowed the league's worst team to hang close for three periods, taking a precarious 43-40 lead into the fourth quarter. But that's when Oliphant, with help from her sophomore teammates, took over, outscoring the Mustangs 24-9.

"We changed our defense to a fullcourt denial and they made turnovers," Jarvis said. "It's kind of a good good feeling to know we played so sloppy and still won by a lot."

Davie wasn't as lucky against West Rowan, losing 53-43 in the final nonconference game of

Exploding In Fourth

Until the fourth quarter, the War Eagles made the turnovers, several in the final minutes of the third period. Parkland took advantage, scoring the final eight points of the quarter to pull within 43-40.

But once sophomore Kristin Hinshaw hit the first basket of the last quarter, the rout was on. A 20-1 streak put Davie ahead 63-41 with three minutes remaining.

Sophomores Hinshaw, Andrea Gentry and Carrie Brown scored 15 of the 20 points. Oliphant had four and junior Lori Sluder hit a free throw.

"April and Kristin played great," Jarvis said.

"They did the dirty work inside. Kristin hit the big shots to get us going."

Davie's biggest lead came with a minute remaining when layups by Casey Jenkins and Emily King put Davie up, 67-45.

Davie took advantage of Jarvis' new strategy. "We wanted to focus on getting the ball inside more," she said. "We did that. We only shot two three-pointers (Gentry hit one) and got the higher percentage shot."

In fact, of Davie's 25 baskets, 21 were either layups or baseline jumpers.

Gentry led Davie with 17 points, eight rebounds and seven assists. Brown had 16 points and Shannon Umberger nine points and 13

Gibbs Is Taking Us To The Super Bowl

Notes 'n' Quotes...

Anyone with Davie County roots who won't be pulling for the Washington Redskins in Super Bowl XXVI next week should be tarred and feathered.

Thanks to their coach, Mocksville is going to the Super Bowl.

It's right there in the Redskin media guide and program: "Joe Gibbs was born in Mocksville, N.C...."

He's ours, whether he realizes it or not. I happened to be in Columbia, S.C. in late August to watch Washington lose to the New York Jets in its final exhibition game. The Redskins did not look good that night and Gibbs was not a happy man.

It was after the game that he told me he hadn't been back to Mocksville in 45 years.

I don't care. He was born here and had his funny smacked for the first time here. And now, in a way, he's taking us all to the Super Bowl with him.

Hail To The Redskins. (Hope my wife's family doesn't read this. They're from Long Island, you know. Big Giants fans. Heh, heh, heh).

I received a letter recently from Gibbs' mother, Winnie, who currently lives in California. She sent me several articles on her son.

"When you read the enclosed articles, you will understand why he hasn't been back to visit Mocksville," she wrote. "He's a very busy man."

Not only does he hit the speaking tour, he has written a book, "Fourth and One."

But whether her son ever makes it back to Davie County or not, Winnie says the family will always have fond memories of this town.

"Before Joe's dad passed away, we came there regularly to visit Sheriff Bowden and Pearl," she wrote. "Great couple, great friends."

Shaun Vandiver, first round draft choice of the Golden State Warriors, after coach Don Nelson introduced him to the press as Shaun Gallagher: "I'd like to thank Coach Riley ... I mean, Coach Nelson."

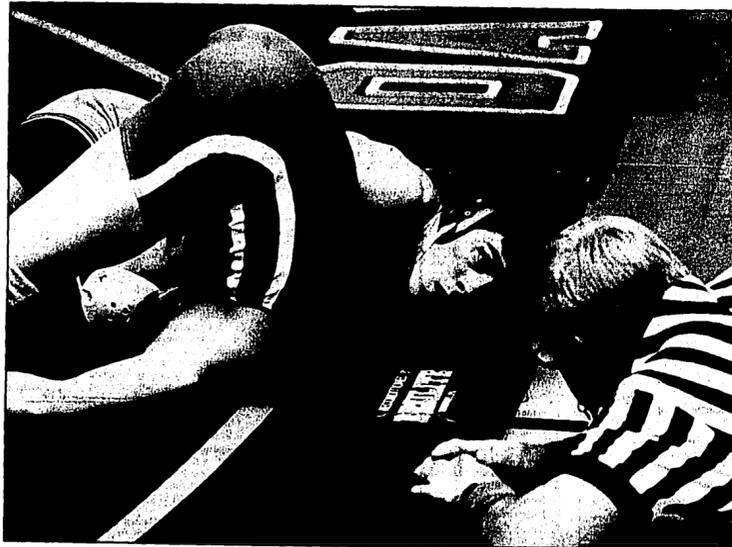

Trivia Question: Whom did Joe Gibbs replace when he became head coach of the Washington Redskins in 1981?

I've decided that Cecil Fielder is baseball's best hitter pound for pound ... for pound for pound.

Denny Key is hoping to be the second millionaire who has played Legion baseball in the Southern Division of Area 3.

Just recently, Bryan Harvey, who once pitched for Whitey Meadows at Mooresville,

Wrestlers Relax With CPC Wins

By Ronnie Gallagher
Davie County Enterprise-Record

Now that the Davie County wrestlers have whipped ranked team after ranked team, won several tournaments and copped the number one ranking in the state, it's time to relax.

In other words, the Central Piedmont Conference schedule has begun.

Buddy Lowery's War Eagles ran its unbeaten conference streak to 42 by defeating a good South Rowan team, 37-17 and then trouncing Parkland, 54-15.

"We wrestled pretty close to our capabilities," said Lowery, whose team has never lost in the CPC since turning 4-A seven years ago. "We were pretty even-keeled all the way through last week."

Besting South, Parkland

South Rowan gave Davie its toughest test of the season, allowing only three pins. But Davie still won by 20.

Gaining the War Eagle pins were Josh Whitley at 112 pounds, Jon Ward at 125 and Chris Mann at 152.

Winning by decision were Matt Wilson 3-1, Benji Frye 6-2, Darren Cook 17-2, Shane Mauldin 10-8 and Brian Boger 8-2. James Coulston tied 5-5 at 171.

The most exciting match was at 130 between Brad Kropfelder and South's undefeated Marc Bopp. Kropfelder lost a tough one, 4-2.

"It was a good match," Lowery said. "I thought we had a possibility of a reversal and back points but didn't get it."

"South's a good team and they have that hope of winning," he continued. "We know with one accident, it could be a 12-point swing. We had to work hard."

Parkland actually had an early — and short-lived — lead.

After forfeiting at 103 to the Mustangs, Whitley won by a pin but Wilson was defeated at 119 and the War Eagles trailed 9-6.

That was all Parkland had to cheer about, winning only one more match.

Ward, Kropfelder and Lee Albarty had consecutive pins, followed by Frye's 9-4 victory. Three more pins followed by Cook, Mann and Mauldin for a 45-9 advantage.

Coulston took a 4-2 decision at 171 and Brad Groce received a forfeit at 189.

Notes:

• Davie is 4-0 in dual matches this season.

• Davie ran its unbeaten regular season streak to 68.

• Ward upped his record to 15-1. Cook is 14-2 at 140 and Mauldin is 15-2 at 160.

• South's Bopp came into this week with a 16-0 record at 130. Kropfelder fell to 14-3, the same record as Mann.

• Davie may have to forfeit the 103 weight class for the rest of the season.

Davie Boys Split With Parkland, West

Davie County Enterprise-Record

WINSTON-SALEM — Parkland's boys basketball team proved Friday night that overall records can be deceiving.

The Mustangs, 1-9 coming into Friday's game with 4-4 Davie County, started its Central Piedmont Conference season with a 55-47 victory over the War Eagles.

The athletic Mustangs went inside against the smaller War Eagles and behind Anthony Rorie and E.J. Gunthrope, who each finished with 14 points, frustrated Davie time and again.

So much so that Davie coach Charles Crenshaw wouldn't even talk about it afterwards. He just wanted to go home. He clearly wanted this win because he knows the schedule does not get easier.

Davie fell to 0-1 with Dudley, Mount Tabor and Reynolds next in line.

Davie fared much better at home earlier in the week. In a game between two teams who are tired of playing each other, Davie whipped West Rowan, 81-60.

Parkland's Good Defense

The War Eagles had a good start, jumping to a 7-3 lead after two minutes. Bubbe Coleman had five of the points and Tyrone Martin the other two.

But Chip Carter's basket was the only other

Sharpe, Villians Are On Hot Pace

The loss to Parkland dampened the week for the Davie County boys basketball team but there was one player from Davie who finished the week with a smile on his face. Advance's Zach Sharpe helped Bishop McGuinness to two important victories. First, he scored 22 points in a 79-67 victory over Ledford, one of 2-A's most highly-touted teams. Then, he helped the Villians to a win over arch-rival Forsyth County Day. Ledford has been ranked in the top 10 of 2-A all season and Bishop McGuinness beat the Panthers on the road. Sharpe hit the go-ahead shot to put the Villians up 65-64 and then helped them at the free throw line, where Bishop hit 11 straight and 20-of-21 for the game. Bishop was 14-3 going into this week. The team is on track to break the school record for victories, which was set last year.

Better Than Record
Parkland's boys brought a 1-8 record into Friday's game with Davie but coach Tom Muse says that mark is deceptive. Muse explained, "We've lost to North Forsyth, which has only one loss. We lost to Eden Morehead and they're undefeated. We lost by one point to Carver and they won the Frank Spencer. We lost to Spartanburg in a tournament and they're a very good team in South Carolina. So it's not that we're bad. We've played some very tough teams."

Snyder Helping
It appears Davie boys basketball coach Charles Crenshaw made a good decision in bringing junior center David Snyder up from the jayvee team. In his first game against West Rowan, the 6-2 widebody made a difference inside. He finished with six points, all in a 26-point third period when Davie broke open the game. "Snyder was brought up because we needed another body," Crenshaw said. "He did more than just score. He had three rebounds and a couple of blocked shots."

Large Margin
The Central Piedmont Conference has the number one 4-A girls team in the state in South Rowan and the Raiders proved why last week when they crushed Concord, 68-17. South led 13-2 after one, 37-4 at halftime and 50-5 after three quarters. Concord then "exploded" for 12 points in the fourth quarter to come within 51 at the final buzzer.

Strictly By The Numbers
Going into this week, what Davie County basketball team has the most chemistry? The most scorers? The most consistency? The numbers show us that the South Davie freshman girls team

Underclassmen Lead Stats

Underclassmen are dominating the varsity basketball statistics for both boys and girls. In girls play, sophomores lead every category. More to the point, Andrea Gentry and Shannon Umberger lead all six categories. Umberger leads in rebounding, steals and blocked shots. Gentry leads in scoring, three-pointers and assists. The top three scorers are sophomores as Gentry's 12.6 average just edges out Carrie Brown's 12.1. Junior Bubba Coleman and sophomore Tyrone Martin lead the boys stats. In fact, the only stat that one of them doesn't lead is blocked shots, where 6-6 center Jason Rice leads with 13. Coleman leads in scoring, three-pointers, assists and steals. Martin is tops in rebounding. Those two are the only players in double figures and the only ones to score over 100 points so far.

The War Eagles scored the last two baskets of the third period and the first two of the fourth to pull within 45-38. The teams pretty much traded baskets after that. Parkland coach Tom Muse said the biggest reason his team was able to hold off Davie was defense. "We worked hard on defense over Christmas and it paid off tonight," said the longtime Parkland coach. "We didn't let Davie get set to shoot their shots. I've seen Davie play twice and I knew we had to stop their point guard (Coleman). We put Tony Fulton and Ricky Welch on him. Both are pretty quick." When Davie palled within seven with 3:39 left, Muse had visions of his nonconference schedule. "I thought our losing record was going to get to us," he said. "But we held on. We'd be a lot better if we didn't miss so many easy shots." Davie had lost to West twice this season, mainly because it was unable to keep an early lead. This time, the War Eagles got out quick and kept pouring it on. Davie shot 52 percent from the field (31-59) and even hit 18-of-25 free throw attempts.

"It was the best we've shot in a long, long time," said Crenshaw who didn't mind talking about this one. As usual, Coleman and Martin were the offensive keys. Coleman was 9-of-12 from the field while Martin and Carter were each 6-of-10. Martin finished with 18 and Carter 14. "When we played West in the Christmas Tournament, Chip had a bad ankle but he made a big difference this time," Crenshaw said. "He had 14 points, 11 rebounds and four steals. That's a pretty good addition. Coleman scored 14 of his 23 points in the middle quarters. Martin and David Snyder gave the team a lift as well. Notes: • Davie fell to 4-3 overall. • The War Eagles have not lost at home this year, going 3-0. They have also beaten Statesville on the road. • Coleman and Martin scored 13 points apiece against Parkland. • Coleman had six assists against West. "He could be averaging 10 if we didn't miss so many shots," Crenshaw said. • Martin matched Carter with 11 rebounds against West.

"I thought it was a big thing when I made $170,000," wheeled Harvey. Key should be playing next summer in Double-A for Cleveland but he'll have to work harder than Harvey to make it. Harvey was discovered pitching in a semi-pro league and went straight to the majors.

The best name of a quarterback during the past college football season: Baylor's J.J. Joe.

You have to hand it to the University of North Carolina. In the last decade, the school has won at least one national title every year. Granted, there are nine women's soccer titles thrown in but the Tar Heels have also won in field hockey, lacrosse (four times) and basketball. "Maybe we should be known as a soccer school instead of a basketball school," pointed out Dean Smith.

The NCAA also added five more basketball wins to North Carolina's overall record. It went into this season with 1,513 wins to 1,501 for Kentucky. In third place is Kansas with 1,459.

We'll probably be seeing Chris Corchiani in Orlando for the remainder of the NBA season. He wasn't cut before last Tuesday's deadline, meaning the Magic had to guarantee his contract. They had cut him in preseason but brought him back due to injuries. Corchiani impressed the Magic in his first game, scoring 10 points, grabbing eight rebounds and dishing out five assists. Corchiani came over from the Raleigh Bulls, who, at this point, could probably beat the Magic.

Trivia Answer: Jack Pardee, now the coach of the playoff-bound Houston Oilers.

Texas takes its high school football seriously. One quarter-final game had to be played at Texas Tech because of the expected overflow crowd. A total of 28,441 showed. Can you imagine that many watching a Davie County game?

As of Jan. 1, what was the best conference in college basketball? If you go strictly by numbers, it may have been the Atlantic Ten, which had all nine of its members playing over .500 ball. Two teams have since fallen under .500.

Of course, the best basketball state is still North Carolina, where until Saturday, it had four teams (Duke, North Carolina, Wake Forest and UNC-Charlotte — ranked in the Top 25.

Duke's Mike Krzyzewski has been here since 1981 and is still amazed at how the aura surrounding the ACC has helped basketball in general. "I've found in the last few years that interest has been generated more in high school and mid-level colleges in this state."

UNC's Jeff Mullins isn't surprised his 49ers have slipped into the polls.

"We're in a mecca for basketball," he reasoned, "and we should be good." "I think people just love basketball in this state," added Krzyzewski.

And, of course, the Redskins. They're calling Charles Shackleford "Sports Illustrated" in Philadelphia.

He only shows up once a week.

And finally... I tried a McJordan last week. And just like watching Michael play, it was just mmm-mmm-ooooooooo.

were the key," Jarvis said. "Their big girl (Andrea Grisette) got four fouls in the first quarter and we didn't take advantage of it. We just weren't hitting in the second quarter. We took too many outside shots."

Gentry was the only double figure scorer for Davie with 13 points. Umberger and Oliphant had six each.

Notes: • Sluder scored five points, grabbed six rebounds and had a whopping 10 steals against Parkland. • Davie hosts Mount Tabor Friday and goes to Reynolds Tuesday.

Boys Swim Team 2nd

The Davie County boys placed second and the girls third in a swim meet last week.

Reynolds won the boys meet with 168 points, edging Davie which had 137. Greensboro Smith finished third with 104 and Carver was way back with only four.

In the girls meet, Smith won with 167, just two more than Reynolds. Davie had 125 and Carver eight.

Boys Meet: Davie's boys placed first three times, twice by Brian Tribble. Matt Osborne had the other first.

Girls Meet: Katie Masura was third in the 100 breaststroke. Gina McClamrock in the 200 freestyle, Stacey Tribble in the 100 freestyle and Laura Williams in the 500 freestyle.

The 200 medley relay, made up of Williams, Masura, Shelly Luak and Tribble was third.

The 400 freestyle relay team of Shannon Quinn, Dawn Goodier, Williams and McClamrock were also third.

North JV Girls Hand Bulldogs First Loss

Boys Lose 63-35, Fall To 2-4

North Davie's seventh and eighth grade girls basketball coach Carol Cozart should have known something once she saw warmups.

"It was a bad omen. We were hitting everything in warmups," she said. "Then, we couldn't buy one when the game started."

North did hit enough shots to hand Thomasville its first loss of the year, however, 34-32.

"It was an up-and-down game," Cozart said.

The boys weren't as lucky, losing to a talented Thomasville boys squad, 63-35.

Girls Win

North's shooting woes had the girls down 20-16 at halftime and 28-23 going into the fourth quarter. But then, Angela Mayers hit a three-pointer and the Wildcats were back in the game.

"Angela's shot sparked us," Cozart said. "We began hitting the shots that we were missing and Janis Barney and Tammy Ramsey played well inside."

North eventually tied the game at 28 and took a 34-30 lead on a Ramsey basket, which turned out to be the game-winning points. "Ramsey was awesome under the basket," Cozart praised. "She is really improving."

Roxanne Steele led the way with eight points while Dawn Willard and Ramsey scored six each. Barney and Mayers had five each and Laura Moyer scored four.

Boys Lose

Thomasville's powerful boys team led by 16 points at halftime, 26-10 and stretched the margin to 45-26 after three quarters.

Rhamen Love-Lane and Lee Puckett led North with 10 points apiece while Eric Kistler scored five.

Notes:

- North's girls improved to 4-2.
- The boys fell to 2-4.
- Dawn Willard had six steals for the girls while Barney blocked four shots.

• North's girls outscored Thomasville 11-4 in the fourth quarter.

• Puckett was 5-of-6 from the foul line for North's boys.

• North hosts Lexington Thursday and goes to Trinity Jan. 23.

Defense Wins For North Girls

North Davie freshman girls basketball coach Ricky Hendrix considers himself a modern type of guy but he is preaching an old coaching theory to his players: Offense wins games. Defense wins championships.

The Wildcats' 47-24 win over South Rowan last week has Hendrix gushing about his team's defense.

"We have worked hard on improving our defensive pressure. So far, every game, we have held our opponents to less points than the game before. We've allowed 55, 47, 32, 31 and now 24.

"I'll be really satisfied when we get our first shutout," he said, with tongue planted firmly in cheek.

The boys weren't as lucky, falling apart in the second half and losing to the Raiders, 58-36.

The Wildcats boys played well enough in the first half to grab a 23-22 halftime cushion. But in the second half, the team managed only seven points in the third period and six in the fourth.

Chad Lanier was the only double figure scorer for North, finishing with 15 points. Brock Patrick scored nine and Robert Thompson six. No other player had more than two.

Notes:

- North's girls are 3-0 in the North Piedmont Conference and 5-1 overall.

"She did a good job of pushing the ball upcourt," said Hendrix.

Notes:

• The boys are 4-2 overall and 2-1 in the conference.

• Besides her 26 points, Willard had six rebounds and five steals.

• Christina Cassidy scored seven points and had eight rebounds.

• Hendrix cited the defensive play of Desch, Krissi Pack, Callie Stanley, Amy Barney and Shanda Smith.

• The girls are averaging 53 points, while giving up only 36.

• Lanier scored his 15 points on only 11 shots, including a couple of three-pointers.

• North hosted South Rowan Tuesday and has an open date Thursday, Jan. 16.

Ho-Hum... Blowouts Continue For North Wrestlers

Isn't this getting a little boring? Every match, North Davie's wrestling team walks out and embarrasses another junior high wrestling program.

In fact, it is considered almost a letdown if the team doesn't score 80 points.

Last week, North defeated Southeastern Stokes 80-3, Chestnut Grove 88-0 and Woodward 75-9.

What? Only 75 points?

The only close match of the week for North came in the jayvees' 49-36 decision over West Iredell.

Varsity Routs

Southeastern Stokes coach Ronnie Mendenhall told Kirk he thought he could win the first three matches of their battle. But he won only one, that coming in the very first encounter between Hairston and Robbie Yence, 11-9.

"Robbie beat him all over the mat for the first four minutes," said Kirk. "Hairston got a takedown and near-fall in the final 15 seconds of the match."

But Chris Marcello and Dan Callahan took the next two and North was off and running.

Recording pins were Scotty Spry (116 pounds), Mark McKnight (123), Matt Sain (129), Wesley Foster (144), Mike Hunter (149), David Hall (175) and Kevin Caudle (193).

Justin Jenne won 15-0 at 134 and Callahan's win was a 7-3 decision.

North recorded 12 more pins and two forfeits against Chestnut Grove. The only decision was McKnight's 15-5 win over Tony Dobson at 123.

North shocked its fans by actually losing two matches against Woodward. Marcello fell at 95 and Carter lost a 6-5 decision at 137. But North had nine pins and three forfeits.

"Justin just had a bad day," said Kirk. "But he bounced back. You'll have days like that."

"The scores have been big but we've had some good individual matches. We're just rolling along."

Jayvees Win

Kirk knows how close the West Iredell score could have been.

"They let me wrestle a ninth grader (Shannon Forrest) at 162 just to fill the spot," he said. "Had we forfeited, then take six off and give them six and it's only 43-42. West Iredell has a good team."

Winning by pin for North were Chris Driver, Chad Stevens, Greg Kokoski, Daniel Brewer, Neil Cornatzer, Eric Bracken and Forrest. David Koonz won by 7-4, and Sam Griffin won by forfeit.

Cornatzer's match at 142 was the highlight of the day, according to Kirk.

"This real big guy came out on the mat and everyone thought he'd outmuscle Neil," Kirk said. "But Neil out-techniqued him and kept him on his back almost the whole way. He finally pinned him."

The jayvees also won two matches in a tri-meet, defeating Knox, 54-33 and Lexington 101-18.

Notes:

- North's varsity is 8-0.
- North's jayvees are 3-0.
- North received three forfeits from Southeastern.
- Winning preliminaries against Southeastern were Dennis Shea and Jeff Wilson.
- Winning preliminaries against Chestnut Grove were Laws, Connor, Glasgo and Hamm.
- Winning preliminaries in the jayvee match were Adam Connor, Andy Ward, Aubrey James, David Ears, David Dye and Bobby Brown.
- In the jayvee Lexington match, the teams decided to match up 20 weight classes instead of 15. Thus, the large score.
- North goes to South Davie Wednesday and hosts Saint Stephens of Hickory Friday at 4:30 p.m.

Sigmon Leads South

You might think South Davie's freshman girls basketball team would be in trouble if center Elizabeth Greene was held to three points in a game, like she did against East Alexander last week.

But South didn't need inside power during its 69-31 victory.

The game was nothing more than a layup drill.

The game went inside something like this: East Alexander brings the ball upcourt. South Davie steals it. South Davie goes down for an easy layup.

That scenario was played out time and again for coach Jerry Callison, who seemed almost apologetic for winning by such a large margin.

"We probably got 40 points from our transition game," he said. "Most of them came from steals while they were in their halfcourt offense."

"We did a good job but they weren't very strong," added Callison. "We had our subs in the game during the fourth quarter and had 69 points with 4½ minutes left. We could have probably scored 100 points."

An 16-7 first quarter lead grew to 38-11 by halftime. A 21-point third period made it 59-17.

Amanda Sigmon, Beth Wall and Brooke Suter benefited the most from East's stoddy play. Sigmon finished with 21, Wall 15 and Suter 12. Wall is still recovering from a knee injury.

"She still isn't 100 percent but she played about half the game," Callison said.

Eight different players scored for South, including Sabrina O'Neal and Holly Snider, each with six. Tara Potts and Tania Sine scored two apiece.

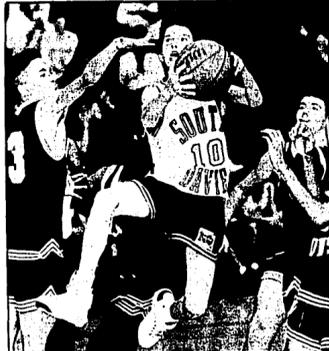

"This was the highest score for us this year and I'm really pleased with our fundamentals," Callison said. "I'm anxious to play Woodward and North Davie again."

Notes:

- South improved to 4-2.
- South's only two losses have come to Woodward and North Davie.
- South was 9-of-11 from the free throw line. "I was very pleased with that," Callison said.

Last-Second Shot Fails As Tigers Lose

A hot second half couldn't overcome a weak first two quarters as South Davie's freshman boys fell to East Alexander, 63-61 last week.

The final seconds were filled with suspense as South had several chances to win.

The Tigers regained possession with seven seconds left, down by two. Scott Van Hoy was open for his favorite shot, the three-pointer, but timeout was called with three seconds.

"I was hoping he would have gotten that shot off," said coach Clyde Studevent.

When play resumed, Fonzie Howell found himself open from three-point range.

"We could've won it with a three but he didn't want to take it," said Studevent with a shrug. "He threw it inside instead."

But a shot bounced away as the buzzer sounded and South had lost its second game of the season.

"We played well," Studevent said. "But East Alexander is the strongest team we've faced. They have to be one of the better teams in the league."

East jumped out to a 20-15 first quarter lead and stretched it to 32-23 at halftime.

"We played from behind the whole trip," Studevent said.

Studevent was impressed with East's Frankie Millsaps, who finished with 22 points. But 16 of them were in the second half and East tried to stave off several Tiger rallies.

"He was a mule inside," Studevent said. "They were extremely tough on the boards. We went to a 2-3 zone in the second half and boxed out a little better."

A 20-point third quarter brought South within 48-43. Then, Josh Ward scored five points and Rufus Hunter four in the fourth but South could get no closer than two.

Van Hoy hit a three and Jonathan Vaughters hit a layup with 20 seconds left to set up the frantic finish.

Vaughters scored 17, Ward 15 and Van Hoy 10 to lead South.

Notes:

- South is 4-2.
- Millsaps kept East ahead in the third period by scoring 10 of the team's 16 points.
- Matt Anderson and Hunter each had six points and Howell scored five for the Tigers.
- Anderson and Van Hoy each hit two three-pointers.
- South entertained East again Tuesday and had an open date Thursday. The Tigers go to Chestnut Grove Jan. 23.

South JV Girls Win; Boys 0-6

The South Davie seventh and eighth grade basketball teams are heading in opposite directions.

The girls defeated Griffin 33-24 to improve to 4-2 while the boys fell to 0-6 with a 59-33 defeat.

Girls Win

Becky Miller said her team seemed to have control the entire game.

That's easy to do when you outscore the opponent 10-0 in the first quarter.

Keisha Wagner scored six of her 14 points in the opening quarter and had 10 by halftime, when South led 19-11.

Along with Carrie Brill, Wagner powered over Griffin and never let it get inside.

"They're very intimidating," Miller said of her Twin Towers, both who are pushing six feet.

"Other teams see Carrie and Keisha in there and are scared to go inside. Because of that, we were in position to get the rebounds."

In the third quarter, Wagner and Brill accounted for all seven of the points. The two combined for 25 of South's 33 points in the game.

"I call them 'The Wall,'" Miller said. "It's hard to get by them."

Beth Campbell scored four points for South while Monica Spry and Ericka Summers scored two each.

Miller had the chance to play her subs and was impressed with Summers.

"I kept subbing and there were no stressful moments," she said. "Ericka did a good job. She likes to take it up the middle and with a little experience will be a good player."

Boys Lose

The closest the boys were to Griffin, was 10-6 after the first quarter. But Griffin's quickness allowed it to build the lead from that point.

"We just didn't have the height and quickness to stay with them," said coach Barry Whitlock. "They've got a good team."

Jason Harbour and Bryan Huff led the Tigers with 10 points apiece. Buddy Frogge pitched in with four.

"We're starting the second round with these teams and I think have a chance to win three games: North Davie, Lexington and Trinity," Whitlock said. "But we'll have to cut down on turnovers."

Notes:

- Brill scored five of South's seven points in the third quarter.
- Harbour hit three three-pointers.
- South goes to Thomasville Thursday and hosts Northeast Jan. 23.

JV Boys Lose Conference Opener

It wasn't that Parkland defeated Davie County's jayvee boys Friday night that bothered coach Mike Dinkins. It was how the Mustangs did it.

Parkland won in overtime over the Central Piedmont Conference's defending jayvee champs, 75-68.

"In overtime, they scored all of their points on free throws or baskets after missed free throws," Dinkins said, shaking his head.

Davie did defeat West Rowan in a nonconference game earlier in the week, 71-39.

Davie trailed most of the game to Parkland, and was down 49-41 going into the fourth quarter. But a 24-16 fourth period forced the overtime. Brent Cassidy and Derrick Wilson led the comeback, hitting two three-pointers.

"We had a chance to take the lead late in regulation but we missed a layup and follow shot and had two crucial turnovers in the last 30 seconds," said Dinkins.

In overtime, the score was tied with only 1:35 remaining but Parkland hit a free throw, missed the second, got the rebound, scored and was fouled again. The free throw was good, making it a four-point play and Davie couldn't recover.

Wilson and Cassidy led the way with 11 points while Gerald Roberts scored nine. Parris Wilson and Wilbert Lewis had eight apiece.

JV Girls Rout Parkland, 68-14

Considering this was her first league game as a coach, Sherrie Myers was worried about her Davie County jayvee girls' chances against Parkland.

After the 68-14 rout was completed, she was still worried — about her team having the big head.

"We can't take this game lightly," Myers said. "There's got to be more to this conference than what I saw against Parkland. The next time we play them, we have to stay focused and not go out there acting silly."

Davie had no trouble in beating West Rowan earlier last week, 50-28.

No Problem

Parkland basically had no one that could bring the ball upcourt, no one who could play underneath and no one who could shoot or rebound.

In other words, it was a laugh.

Davie was up 14-4 after one quarter and then held the Mustangs scoreless in the second quarter. The War Eagles led 28-4 at halftime. The score was 56-9 after three quarters.

"We did everything right but the caliber of team we were playing wasn't good," Myers said. "I stopped pressing and hoped their coach didn't think I was running up the score."

Brooke Holcomb led the way with 17 points and Amy Whaley had 10. Mary Catherine Steed scored nine and Amy Mason six.

Notes:

- Davie improved to 6-1 and 1-0 in the Central Piedmont Conference.
- Amy Mason scored nine against West.
- Holcomb scored 13 of her 17 points against Parkland in the first half.
- The jayvees will go to Mount Tabor Friday and come home to Reynolds next Tuesday.

APS Makes Donations To Schools

Andrew McClannan had never held a turtle.
The Mocksville Elementary School student held his hand out, but then the turtle's wiggling legs hit his hands.
Andrew decided it was best to hold it from the top — on the shell — the first time.
Andrew may not have gotten the chance had it not been for the Davie County Animal Protection Society.

The society, which annually gives money to Davie schools for animals or animal books, paid for the turtles which live in an aquarium in the Mocksville Elementary media center.
"I think this is fantastic for kids," said Earl Hammer of the APS.
He remembers school children coming to his farm during a 4-H program last year. "I was checked to see how many children had never petted a horse, or seen a pig," Hammer said.
Later this year, the society will teach young school children how to be responsible pet owners.
"If we can teach the kids what they need to know about taking care of, and different types of animals, there will be less work for Robert (Cook, animal control officer) when they get older."

Proceeds for the donations come from the APS horse show, which also helps to sponsor the county spay/neuter program.
"It's the one thing that our group is always unanimous on, giving money to the schools," Hammer said. "It was a goal when we started 12 years ago."
This is the 11th consecutive year of the donations.

Fire Destroys Storage Shed Saturday At Smith Grove

By Kara Kooker
Davie County Enterprise-Record

A fire early Saturday morning caused an estimated $10,000 damage to a garage behind a mobile home off of Gordon Drive.

Smith Grove Fire Chief Don Howard said someone saw the flames around 5:30 a.m. from 1-40. It was reported as a house fire.

Howard said Smith Grove, Advance, Farmington and Cornatzer-Dullin fire departments responded to the call before they realized the fire was actually located in a garage behind the residence, owned by Rub Ayers.

"There's no water down in there," said Howard, "so we thought we'd need help from more trucks."

Howard said the people living in the mobile home, including Dwight Ayers, son of Ruth Ayers, claimed they were unaware of the fire until they saw the red lights from the fire trucks.

Howard said the fire was caused by a smoldering phone book placed in a wood stove located in the garage. Ayer's brother-in-law, Michael Dean Blackburn, apparently put the phone book in the stove Friday evening to start a fire.

Davie County Fire Marshall George Frye said the residents did not realize the fire was still burning when they went to bed that evening.

Sometime during the night, Howard said the wind must have caught the flames "just right" causing the stove, chimney and wall to catch on fire.

Frye said he suspects there was a defect in the wood stove. Frye said the stove's pipe for smoke ventilation was extended through a plywood door which is probably where the fire started.

When officials from the fire departments arrived, Howard said the entire garage was in flames and it took about 30 minutes to put the fire out. No one was injured. Howard was not certain how many people were living on the property at the time of the accident.

"Everything in it burnt to the ground," said Howard.

Howard said there was also an old car in the garage, but Ayers told him it probably wasn't worth more than $500.

Man Gets Five Years For Crime Spree

By Beth Cassidy
Davie County Enterprise-Record

A China Grove man who led police officers on a high speed chase through three counties was sentenced in Davie Superior Court Jan. 7.

Jeffrey Neil Gribble, 26, was charged with two counts of assault with a deadly weapon on a police officer, two counts of damage to personal property, driving 90 mph in a 55 mph zone, and driving while his license was revoked.

The chase began Monday, July 21, in Salisbury.

Gribble said he went to see his ex-wife and found out that her boyfriend had been beating his children. After a confrontation with the ex-wife and her boyfriend, Gribble stole a red 1987 Nissan Sentra and proceeded north on U.S. 601. He was followed by Salisbury Police Officer Kenneth Lane.

The N.C. Highway Patrol was notified, and Trooper W.D. Grooms attempted a road block near Boxwood Church Road on U.S. 601. Sgt. Mike Yelton of the N.C. Highway Patrol said Gribble drove around to the right of Grooms' car, hitting it as he passed.

Grooms pursued Gribble, at a speed of up to 90 mph, Yelton said. Cooleemee Police Chief Matt Dillon and Officer Mike Brady were in Mocksville, heading toward Cooleemee. They pulled off the road at Mocksville Builders Supply and waited for Gribble. Dillon, who was in the passenger side, said they saw the Nissan as it crested the hill at U.S. 601 and Salisbury Street.

"I estimate he was going about 65 mph. I pulled out, attempting to match his speed and saw him trying to pass. I went ahead and took the full force."

Brady estimated that Gribble's car was traveling at approximately 40 mph when it slammed into the back of the patrol car.

When Brady reached Gribble's car, he saw that Gribble had a shotgun under his chin. "He kept saying he was gonna do it," Brady said. When Gribble shifted the shotgun, Brady was able to grab it away from him. Dillon suffered a neck injury in the accident and was treated at Davie County Hospital.

As testimony by the officers and Gribble continued, Judge James Webb said he remembered Gribble from Cabarrus County, when he heard Gribble's case. According to The Charlotte Observer, Gribble's crime spree began in Cabarrus County, with the kidnapping of his ex-wife and two children from their home in Kannapolis the day before Gribble's arrest in Davie County.

That was the second time Gribble had kidnapped his family, and he had also been in court on charges of assaulting his wife.

Gribble's attorney, Wade Leonard, said Gribble's domestic problems were the reason for the crime spree. "All this domestic brouhaha resulted in his being here today," in this type of situation, Leonard said, "your logic and common sense just goes out the window."

Gribble apologized to Dillon for causing his injury and said he didn't intend to hurt anyone and that what he did was "irrational."

Judge Webb said, "You could have killed these fine officers or anyone else here in Davie County. I remember this case from Cabarrus County, and I remember that it was a sordid domestic situation."

Gribble was sentenced to five years in prison, with credit given for time served awaiting sentencing. He received another five years, suspended for five years, during which time he will be on supervised probation.

He was ordered to pay $2,833 restitution to Cooleemee for damage to the patrol car, a $350 attorney fee and court costs.

Health Briefs

Local Veterinarian Joins Board

Dr. Robin Brock was inducted to the Davie County Board of Health Jan. 9. Brock was appointed by the Davie County Commissioners to serve as the veterinarian member of the health board.

Brock grew up in Davie County and moved back to the area about three years ago. Brock works out of her home in Route 5, Mocksville. Brock primarily works on cows, horses, sheep and goats, but said she is beginning to make some house calls for small animals as well.

Board OKs Lower Nutrition Fees

The Davie County Health Board approved a recommendation by Heidi Priest, nutritionist, to lower the health department's fee for non-WIC nutrition counseling services.

Following a survey of nutrition counseling fees in surrounding counties, the department found the previous fee of $45 to be relatively high. Priest's accepted recommendation is as follows:

- $10 flat fee for the initial visit.
 - No charge for follow-up visits, which are rare.
 - Medicare and Medicaid patients will be seen for free.
- Priest said the new rate would be comparable to the rates charged in other counties, but would still provide some revenue for the county's nutrition program.

Environmental Health Named PME

On Jan. 9, the Davie County Health Board approved a recommendation by Environmental Health Director Joe Mando to delegate the Environmental Health Section as the Davie County Public Management Entity (PME) for maintaining and operating on-site sewage systems.

According to a new law by the state Commission for Health Services Rules, a PME must be in place by July 1, 1992 so permits can be issued for large, complex or other sophisticated sewage systems. Mando said the Environmental Health Section can only act as the PME for certain sewage systems. Remaining systems must be monitored by a private firm or separate local county staff to ensure a "checks and balances monitoring operation," Mando said.

Davie County Health Director Dennis Harrington said the new law will not affect the average citizen, only entities with more complex sewage systems. Furthermore, Harrington said the final decision regarding appointment of a PME will be left up to the county commissioners.

Health Dept. Assesses Needs

The Davie County Health Department has submitted a list of needs for six community health status problems in preparation for the state's proposed biennial budget.

Davie County Health Director Dennis Harrington said the list involves a "bottoms-up planning process" that is done every two years by every county in the state.

Harrington said the health department looked at health statistics throughout the county and resources available in order to comprise their list of community priorities. The list is as follows:

- Infant and fetal mortality.
- Increasing numbers of diabetes cases.
- Cancer mortality, specifically female breast cancer and prostate cancer.
- Incidence of communicable diseases, such as HIV.
- Pneumonia and influenza mortality.
- Accidental mortality, such as motor vehicle accidents.

Trooper: Bad Case Of DWI And Speeding

Trooper K. B. Steen told the court that in his 13 years with the highway patrol, he'd never seen anyone so impaired traveling at that rate of speed.

Steen was referring to the Geo Storm he clocked at 106 mph on I-40 Oct. 19, and the driver who registered a .14 blood alcohol level on the Breathalyzer test.

The driver, Patty Sue Southard of Stokesdale, was in Davie District Court last week on charges of DWI and speeding. She told Steen when he stopped her that she had been to a concert in Winston-Salem and was lost. She was traveling that fast in order to catch up with friends, she said.

Judge Robert W. Johnson found an aggravating factor the "especially dangerous operation of the vehicle," and on the DWI charge, sentenced Southard to 120 days in jail. He suspended that sentence and placed her on probation for two years and ordered she pay a $250 fine and court costs, not operate a motor vehicle until properly licensed, perform 48 hours of community service and comply with any recommendations made in a substance abuse assessment.

The speeding charge was reduced to careless and reckless driving, and Judge Johnson sentenced the defendant to six months on that charge, but suspended it for two years on condition she pay a $200 fine and court costs.

Youth Receives Suspended Sentence

By Lynn Hall
Davie County Enterprise-Record

A 17-year-old Salisbury youth was given a 10-year suspended sentence in Davie District Court last week after pleading guilty to nine counts of breaking and entering to a motor vehicle and seven counts of misdemeanor larceny in connection with two separate break-ins at Correll's Used Cars near Greasy Corner.

Sean Cameron Mitchell could have faced up to 32 years in jail on the charges, according to Judge Robert W. Johnson, but under a plea arrangement worked out by the district attorney's office and Mitchell's attorney, Rob Raisbeck, the felony larceny charges were reduced to misdemeanors.

Davie Sheriff's Detective Lt. John Stephens told the court that Mitchell broke into Correll's on Sept. 10 and 15. "The first time he was alone and on the second occasion he brought a cohort."

Stephens said Correll's is where the sheriff's department cars were worked on and a number of those were broken into along with other vehicles. Stereo systems and other items were taken and damage was done to a number of the cars.

"He managed to get locked in one of the patrol cars and had to break a window to get out," Stephens said.

Judge Johnson ordered that Mitchell serve 24 months on the first three counts of breaking and entering to a motor vehicle, but suspended that for five years, placing him on intensive probation. The defendant was ordered to pay court costs and restitution of $3,735.68 for the damage done, perform 200 hours of community service, complete his high school education, serve 30 days in jail during the summer and if not at school, at work or doing community service, he was to be at home or in the company of his parents. He also was to obtain a substance abuse assessment.

Judge Johnson gave Mitchell two additional 24-month sentences on the remaining breaking and entering charges, suspended those and placed him on two years probation to run consecutively. He also was to pay two additional court costs.

Mitchell received two more 24-month sentences on the larceny charges.

"Young man, if you violate any of the conditions of your probation you're looking at 10 years in prison," the judge warned.

Raisbeck described his client as an honor student, a member of the school swim team and an accomplished artist. "He's applying to colleges, but how this will affect his future remains to be seen."

Stephens said Mitchell said he needed money to pay insurance.

AARP Installs 1992 Officers

Davie County Chapter No. 4405, American Association of Retired Persons, recently had the yearly installation of officers for 1992. Al Thomas is president; Julia Balty, vice president; recording secretary, Stella Kelley; and treasurer, Barbara Thornton. The installation was conducted by Betty Vander Roest, assistant state director from Charlotte. Vander Roest thanked the retiring officers for their devotion to the club and asked the club's members to give their support to the new officers. She reminded the group that AARP's motto is "To Serve — Not To Be Served."

Retired Assistant State Director Jim Sellers also addressed the club. After the installation program, the group went to Western Steer for a Christmas luncheon. Mr. and Mrs. Jim Sellers were special guests for the party.

Two Surgeons Begin Practice At Davie

Two general surgeons have joined the staff at Davie County Hospital. Drs. George W. Haggerson and Neil L. Simstein are both general and vascular surgeons. They are on staff at both Forsyth Memorial Hospital and Medical Park and began working at Davie in early January.

Haggerson

Haggerson, 48, received his medical degree at Wayne State University of Medicine in Detroit, Mich. in 1976. He did his surgical internship and residency at Portsmouth Naval Hospital in Portsmouth, Va. from 1976-1981. He has been on the staff of the Roosevelt Roads Naval Hospital in Puerto Rico, Bethesda Naval Hospital in Maryland, and Camp Lejeune Naval Hospital. He is a member of the Forsyth, Stokes, Davie Medical Society and is certified by the American Board of Surgery and a fellow of the American College of Surgeons.

Simstein, 49, is a graduate of Wake Forest University. He received his medical education at New York Medical College from 1966-1970. He served his internship at Baylor Affiliated Hospitals in Houston, Texas and his residency at the Naval Hospital in Portsmouth, Va. He served in the U.S. Navy Medical Corps from 1968-1974 (inactive duty) and from 1971-1974 (active duty). He is certified by the National Board of Medical Examiners and the American Board of Surgery. Haggerson said he and Simstein will be performing fairly routine surgeries, such as gall bladder, appendix, and hysterectomy. They will have office hours here one day a week and have been performing surgery one day a week, but Haggerson said that will probably increase in the future. He said he is finding the hospital facility to be adequate and calls it "a very nice little hospital."

Dr. Francis Slate, who previously retired and later rejoined the staff at Davie, will again retire but will continue to do some assisting with surgery, Haggerson said.

Mocksville Board OKs New Floor For Brock Gym Project

By Beth Camidy
Davie County Enterprise-Record

The Mocksville Town Board awarded a contract for new flooring for Brock Gym at their meeting Jan. 7.

Royalwood Associates Inc., a company based in Raleigh, will tear out the existing maple flooring down to the subfloor and install a new grade II wood floor. The project is estimated to cost $32,987.

Don Hines, of Hines Ensoy, the architectural firm that is handling the construction/renovation project, said, "I believe that the best course is to replace the existing floor with a new hardwood floor. This will afford the best opportunity to get a good floor to start with and to have something you can depend on in the long run."

Mike Garner, recreation director, told the board they had considered many types of flooring, including tile and rubber, but decided wood would provide the best surface. Refinishing the existing wood floor was originally thought to be an option, but Garner said out of nine contractors contacted about the job, only one would consider it. The grade II maple flooring they decided on will be placed over the existing subflooring. Grade I flooring would have cost more, but Garner said the grade applies only to color and markings in the wood, not to the quality of the wood.

Board members agreed that the price was within budget, since they expected the entire project to cost around $450,000, and bids came in at $380,000.

The board also voted to move forward with the purchase and placement of backboards and volleyball standards. Bannight Associates will provide glass backboards with breakaway rims, volleyball standards, and four fiberglass cross-court goals. The cost will be under the amount the board allowed, $19,000, according to Garner.

Recreation department employees hope to move into their new offices around the end of the month or early February, and Garner said he hopes the project will be completed by mid to late February.

School Briefs

Training Offered For PTA Officers

Officers of PTAs and similar groups in Davie County Schools are invited to a PTA council meeting at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, Jan. 23 in the school office building, Cherry Street, Mocksville. According to Dr. Bill Steel, superintendent, the group will discuss successes, concerns and look for way to be more effective.

Mocksville Middle: More Guidance

A new full-time guidance counselor at Mocksville Middle School has been busy trying to build programs that help each student, advisory council member Perry Call told members of the Davie County Board of Education last week.

Call gave a description of the guidance, volunteer and other programs at the middle school. The counselor began an advisor-advisee program, in which she works with small groups of children.

The middle school has also started an after school remediation program for students, called "Connect Two." According to Call, "It will give that extra one on one contact some students need."

Mocksville Middle School Principal Bill Campbell said staff members have made the year a success; 19 attended a teaching seminar the first weekend in December.

New Travel Policy Proposed

Board of education members will decide on a new travel policy which sets prices school employees can receive when traveling on school business.

Among the proposed reimbursements: $55 a day in state and $67 a day out of state for meals and lodging. Mileage may be reimbursed up to 25 cents a mile when a school vehicle is not available.

Tech Prep: Need Better Transition

An evaluation of Davie County Schools' tech prep program showed a need to make the transition from high school student to community college student an easier one.

Vocational Director Neal Essie said Davie's program is working well in its second year, but will take four years to fully implement. Last year, vocational equipment was upgraded and vocational teachers and counselors received training.

Last year, 91 percent of Davie students said they planned to attend a four-year college or a community college.

Tech prep is designed to give students a choice in a type of career, and prepare them for the community college courses they will need to learn a trade.

Andrew Lloyd Designed The Card

Board of education members recognized North Davie Junior High School student Andrew Lloyd for designing a Christmas card for the school system.

More than 1,400 of the cards were sent to school system employees, volunteers and associates of the school system.

North Davie New York Trip OK'd

An April 22-25 trip to New York City by North Davie Junior High School sixth graders was approved by the board of education last week.

Subdivision Plans Approved

A preliminary plat for a 42-lot addition to Bermuda Run was approved by the Davie County Planning Board last week.

James Way, being developed by Simel & Associates, is being built off State Road 1650, will be connected to Bing Crosby Boulevard in Bermuda Run. There will be no access to the state road when complete, said Doug Simel.

Lots in the 36.5 acres can be less than the acre minimum because public water and sewer is available. A large lake will be owned by a homeowners association, Simel said.

College Courses Are Offered

Davison County Community College will offer the following continuing education classes in Davie County beginning Jan. 21, 27 and 28.

A registration fee will be collected at the first class meeting. Persons 65 or older may enroll free of charge. To pre-register or obtain additional information, call the Continuing Education Office at (704) 634-2885.

Lucas Displays Local Art

The Lucas Mansion Gallery, Hendersonville, will feature paintings of floral arrangement, still lifes and landscapes by Annette Dickens Ratledge.

These paintings by Ratledge of Mocksville will be the feature of the Lucas Mansion Gallery during January and February.

Ratledge is a native of Iredell County and has earned an associate degree in fine arts from Mitchell Community College in Statesville. She has exhibited her work in Mitchell College and several area galleries. She lives with her family in Mocksville, and she has relatives in Alexander County.

"This work is beautiful. Beautiful works of art; however, this artist's ability to capture the beauty of nature is conveyed with her brush. We are pleased that we can provide a showplace for area artists, and Annette Dickens Ratledge is indeed one of the fine artists of this geographical region. The public will find her efforts pleasing to the eye and an enjoyable break during these confining winter days," said Dwayne Coley, executive director of the Henderson Center, Inc.

A meet-the-artist reception will be held in the James Paul Lucas Mansion Gallery on Sunday, Feb. 2, from 3-4:30 p.m. This reception will be an opportunity for visitors to the gallery to meet Ratledge. The gallery is also open Monday-Friday from 9 a.m. - 4:30 p.m. and on Saturdays and Sundays from 2-5 p.m. The gallery exhibit is open to the public at no charge.

A Year Later: Life Normal After War

By Beth Cassidy
 Davie County Enterprise-Record

A year ago, the U.S. was at war. Wives, children and husbands waved tearful goodbyes to their soldiers and silently prayed for their safe return. People's lives were filled with the uncertainty of what the future would hold and how it would affect them.

Peggy Carlton was one of those people. Married just four years when her husband was called into active duty, she hoped that the separation wouldn't affect their rock solid foundation. And it didn't. "We had a close relationship before we left, and when he got back, we just picked up where we were. I'm not a good one to talk to about the war changing people, because we tried to let everything fall into place and get back into the way things were." Mike Carlton, 32, is a sergeant in the Army Reserves and a member of the 846th Transportation Unit. He was deployed Jan. 14, 1991. He returned to Salisbury around the first week of May, 1991, tired and war-weary. After some counseling and debriefing, and a quick medical checkup that revealed no problems, Mike returned home to Peggy and his sons, Daniel, 15, and Adam, 11, and life on Ridge Road. The hardest thing for him, Peggy said, was getting used to only working eight or nine hours a day, instead of 24. "His biggest thing was slowing down. Over there, he worked a 24 hour a day job. He had to get used to going to bed at night and sleeping through the night. Over there, they would just take catnaps, sleep and wake up, sleep and wake up. For awhile, he'd come in from work, and he just couldn't sit down — he had to be doing something all the time." The other adjustment Mike had to make was with eating. Please See Family — Page 4

Stolen Goods Found
Local Man Is Suspect

A Mocksville man is being held in jail without privilege of bond, a suspect in recent auto break-ins. Floyd Calvin Cody, 33, of 300 Milling Road, Apartment 13, was arrested Sunday for possession of stolen goods. More charges are pending. Acting on a tip, Mocksville Police officers found a tool box and shoes reported stolen from Marjorie Daniels' vehicle off Hemlock Street the night before. Cody is a suspect in that theft and others. In the past week, eight other vehicles were reported broken into in town. James Levis of Wandering Lane reported Jan. 18 the breaking, entering and larceny of a radar detector. Don Bowles of North Main Street reported Jan. 18 the larceny of $3. James Owens of Tot Street reported Jan. 19 the larceny of four chrome rims with an estimated value of $500. A license tag was reported taken from a vehicle at Rump's Auto Sales, Salisbury Street, on Jan. 17. Doris Anderson of Railroad Street reported Jan. 16 the larceny of a kitchen knife set. Katrina Greene of North Main Street reported Jan. 15 the larceny of a Sharp stereo with an estimated value of $300. A cellular telephone, with an estimated value of $300, was reported stolen from a Salem Leasing vehicle parked off Park Avenue. Bailey James reported Jan. 16 the larceny of a radar detector and flashlight, with a total estimated value of $360. Cody is scheduled to face the stolen goods charge Feb. 20 in Davie District Court.

Highest Water Rates In Davie?
Random Survey Reveals County Charges The Most

By Kara Kooken
 Davie County Enterprise-Record

According to a random survey of water rates in two counties and seven towns, residents in Davie County pay more for water than their neighbors. Many Davie County residents have complained that county water rates are too high, and while each town has a different system for regulating the price of its water, the cost of water in Davie County is clearly above the norm. Most water authorities charge a monthly base rate plus an additional charge for any water used over the minimum amount. Davie County charges a minimum $12 for 1500 gallons of water each month. For every 1000 gallons of water over the initial 1500 gallons, the county charges an additional $2.85 for the average consumer. After Davie County, Franklinton (about 30 miles northeast of Raleigh) charges the second highest fee. Each 1000 gallons of water over the minimum 2000 ($10.25) costs an additional $2.75. Residents of Forsyth County are charged a flat fee of $5.78 a month. Each 1000 gallons of water on top of that cost them an $2.42. Statesville charges a minimum monthly rate of $4.22 for the first 2250 gallons of water. Each additional 1000 gallons costs $1.65. Yadkinville charges a minimum monthly rate of $6 for the first 3000 gallons of water. Please See Davie's — Page 4

Who Pays The Most?

Government	Base Rate	1,000 Gals.
Davie Co.	$12/1500 gals.	$2.85
Mocksville	$5/2000 gals.	$1.35
Winston-Salem	$2.43/2250 gals.	$1.08
Forsyth Co.	$5.78	$2.42
Yadkinville	$6/3000 gals.	$1.57*
Salisbury	$2.37/750 gals.	$.96
Franklinton	$10.25/2000 gals.	$2.75
Statesville	$4.22/2250 gals.	$1.65
Thomasville	$2.21	$1.51

The rates shown are based on a random survey of area water systems. Some rates are charged by cubic foot of water, and rates were converted to per 1,000 gallons. Some towns offer reduced rates for larger users. Figures shown are for normal household usage. *Yadkinville rates are $1.57 per 1,000 up to 7,000 gallons, and go to $1.75 for the next 10,000 gallons, and then are reduced to $1.11 or lower for the larger users.

King's Speech: 'I Have A Dream' Reshaped A Nation

I have a dream that one day in the red hills of Georgia the sons of former slaves and the sons of former slave-owners will be able to sit down together at the table of brotherhood.

I have a dream that one day even the state of Mississippi, a state of sweltering heat of oppression, will be transformed into an oasis of freedom and justice.

I have a dream that my four little children will one day live in a nation where they will not be judged by the color of their skin but by the content of their character.

I have a dream today.

I have a dream that every day every valley shall be engulfed, every hill shall be exalted and every mountain shall be made low, the rough places will be made plains, and the crooked places will be made straight, and the glory of the Lord shall be revealed and all flesh see it together.

This is our hope. This is the faith that I will go back to the South with. With this faith we will be able to hew out of the mountain of despair a stone of hope.

With this faith, we will be able to work together, to pray together, to struggle together, to go to jail together, to climb up for freedom together, knowing that we will be free one day.

This will be the day when all of God's children will be able to sing with new meaning:

*"My country 'tis of thee,
Sweet land of liberty,
Of thee I sing.
Land where my father died,
Land of the Pilgrim's pride,
From every mountainside,
Let freedom ring."*

And if America is to be a great nation, this must become true ...

So, let freedom ring from the mighty mountains of New York. Let freedom ring from the snow-capped Rockies of Colorado.

Let freedom ring from the curvaceous slopes of California.

But not only that, let freedom ring from the Stone Mountain of Georgia.

Let freedom ring from Lookout Mountain of Tennessee.

Let freedom ring from every hill and mole hill of Mississippi and every mountainside.

When we let freedom ring, when we let it ring from every tenement and every hamlet, from every state and every city, we will be able to speed up that day when all of God's children, black men and white men, Jews and Gentiles, Protestants and Catholics, will be able to join hands and sing in the words of the old Negro spiritual, Free at last, free at last! Thank God Almighty, we are free at last!

County's Method For Water Rates Not Fair To All

To the editor:

From the beginning, my position on the water system was, and still is, in favor of the water plant. What I am against is the way they are trying to finance it. As I (and others) have said a few times before the county, as a whole, and most everyone in it, benefits from the water plant just as we all benefit from the school system, fire departments, law enforcement, even though we do not have children in school or that we are fortunate enough not to have a fire. They are there if we need them and that is money well spent. Your taxes contribute to the upkeep.

Most any article you read, whether it comes from concerned citizens or from our elected officials or appointed planners, will tell you the water plant will stimulate industry. Glenn Howard, commission chairman, stated the water plant is for future generations. I agree with him on that point. I don't mind paying school taxes although I do not have children in the school. Educating children is good for the county, our future generations and leaders of the county. But I don't want to see a small percentage of the population carry the whole load. After all, everyone benefits.

Glenn Howard and the majority of the commissioners agree the water plant is for the good of the county and future generations of the county. They make a 100 degree turn and say we the consumers are the only ones who benefit and should pay for all or the biggest share of the water plant. They contradict themselves.

They probably figure they would catch too much heat if they take it out of the general fund (taxes). But the issue they could do is put in an availability charge. If the water runs past your property, it is available, so it's there if you need it and we need all four, schools, fire departments, law enforcement and water plant.

The only other option we, the small consumers, have is to do as Bermuda Run does, get a bulk rate. As I see it, Bermuda Run is just a collection of residential homes, so why not break up the county in three or four segments, such as Hillsdale, Cooleemee, etc., and give the bulk rate to each segment? In that way, all of the residential or small users could qualify for the bulk rate. Of course, if we all received the bulk rate they would come up short on revenue and have to raise everybody's rates the same amount. Bermuda Run, industries such as Jockey International included, at least the rate increase would be fair. The one we're under at the present time sure is not.

Davie Recycling Program Deserves More Recognition

To the editor:

We are so quick to criticize the things we dislike; I think we should equally comment on the positive side. I congratulate the county on the effort it is making in recycling. In this instance, forethought on a possible future costly and troublesome problem is leading those in charge to handle the problem before it becomes major. Thank you for that.

But an added special "hats off" goes to Junior Barbee and his "team" of recycle collectors. They are so neat and so considerate. At times I have thought my recycle cans hadn't been emptied, only to find that they had been emptied, placed upright, and the lids replaced on the cans. Never have they left items in the cans. Once I left some cardboard about 15 feet behind the cans after a yard sale and then failed to move it out to the road — they walked down and got it. They have never left items dropped on the ground or the road.

I don't know how Mr. Barbee instills in his employees the idea that a job should be done right, but to him and his "collectors" — thank you.

Let's Hope ET's Buddies Don't Discover Rap Music

Forgive me, but I've never seen the movie "E.T." It's about some strange green creature from another planet. E.T. was a nice guy with a glowing finger. I've never seen "Star Wars" and I quit watching "Star Trek" years ago. All this hoopla about visiting strange creatures from other worlds and strange creatures from other worlds visiting us doesn't interest me.

Mike Barnhardt

After all, I've already been to New Jersey. There were enough strange creatures to last a lifetime. This desire to find life on another planet has gone too far. It's bad enough that our entertainment industry is full of the idea, but now our government has allowed "Trekkie" scientists to take a huge bite out of the NASA budget.

It seems that NASA wants to make an all-out effort to find life on another planet — $100 million worth of effort. Wow! That's almost as much money as was spent making the latest Star Trek sequel.

But we're not sending Captain Kirk up among the stars with a set of powerful binoculars. NASA is searching for radio signals from other planets as far as 588 trillion miles from Earth. And I thought New Jersey was a long way from home.

The guy in charge of the project says it could tell us if we're alone in the universe, or what our part in the universe is. Captain Kirk with binoculars would make as much sense. What are they going to do if they find some radio signals? Maybe I should have seen the movie. Did ET have FM?

What's even scarier is if there is life somewhere else, and they're doing the same thing trying to find us. Imagine if they searched our airwaves for signals and picked up the "Vol MTV Raps" rap music show. Their search for intelligent life elsewhere would stop. None there, they would say. Just a bunch of illiterate, sexist, racist, immoral sex maniacs.

Think of all the ways our government could spend $100 million more wisely. They could build a superhighway between Yadkinville and Hillsdale so the big trucks going from one Unifit plant to another wouldn't have to go through downtown Farmington.

More And More Teen-Agers Ending Up Facing A Judge

In conversations recently with a district court judge and an attorney, I asked about trends they were seeing in court and what they found most disturbing. While the conversations took place separately, Judge James Honeycutt and attorney Hank Van Hoy's answers were the same — the age of the defendants showing up in court. The last few weeks in Davie District Criminal Court were good examples.

Lynn Hall

I've been sitting in court long enough now not to be shocked to see a 16- or 17-year-old defendant facing criminal charges. But what made the last couple of weeks different was the seemingly large number of these young people and the seriousness of the charges. Maybe my reaction stems from being a parent with children on the verge of those teenage years, but whatever the reason, I found the cases extremely disturbing.

These cases involved teenagers who ranged in age from 16 to 18, and on charges that included breaking and entering, larceny and DWI. Four boys (including two who were only 15 and would later appear in juvenile court), broke into a church and stole heaters and flags; a Mocksville girl, who was only 16, stole a necklace and bracelet belonging to a friend and sold them. An 18-year-old girl was part of a group that was responsible for several break-ins; and two Rowan County youths broke into patrol cars at an auto repair business in Davie County, one of them twice, and between them did almost $6,000 in damage. The judge told one of the youths he could be facing up to 32 years in prison for his two-night rampage.

Another case involved a 16-year-old Winston-Salem girl. This inexperienced driver and a friend found someone to buy beer for them, and then went driving around Davie County. Baltimore Road turned out to be more than this new driver with a .11 blood alcohol level could manage. The car went off into a ditch and she and the friend had to be taken to the hospital. When her name was called in court, the girl who walked to the front of the courtroom looked more like a 13 year old than 16, and scarcely big enough to see over a steering wheel, much less be behind one. How much beer did she have to drink to attain that .11? The trooper said he found the remains of what was either a 12- or 24-pack of beer in the car. The operator of a commercial vehicle is considered impaired with a .04 blood alcohol level, and most experts say the .10 level set by law for other drivers is generous.

I've heard it said that kids don't think bad things will happen to them. Is it that, or is it a complete lack of judgment or a total disregard for right and wrong? For the most part, the kids I saw were from good homes, most of them accompanied to court by parents. In the case of the young man who could have been sentenced to the 32 years, he was described as an honor student, a member of the school swim team and an accomplished artist. So why is he out in the middle of the night vandalizing and stealing? The detective told the judge the boy said he needed car insurance money.

All of these young people now have criminal records that may or may not affect their futures; they will all pay heavy fines and perform community service. Some will not be allowed away from home unless accompanied by a parent; others were ordered to complete their high school education and maintain at least a C average. Violating the conditions of their probation could mean actual prison terms.

That 16-year-old driver won't be behind the wheel again until she's 18 and she's going to be out a lot of money in fines and court costs and paying for substance abuse assessments and classes. But she was lucky. She's alive. I just hope she realizes it.

They could hire Michael Jordan and use his commercial endorsements to do away with the federal deficit in three months. They could invent a machine that tests honesty and require all senators and congressmen pass the test before taking office. They could invent a low-fat, low-cholesterol hamburger that doesn't taste like dried seaweed. They could feed the hungry, house the homeless, give jobs to the jobless and give medical care to the sick.

But they won't. Doing good things isn't in their job description. The description of a federal employee's job is: someone who can spend the most money doing the least good.

I just hope Hollywood is right, that ET is a nice guy with a glowing finger. And I hope — really hope — that ET's buddies don't pick up the rap station when they search our airwaves.

Davie's Water Rates Highest

The next 3000 to 10,000 gallons of water cost $1.57 per 1000 gallons, 10,000 to 20,000 gallons cost $1.75 per 1000, 20,000 to 50,000 cost $1.11 per 1000 and 50,000 to 100,000 gallons cost $1 per 1000.
The average Thomasville resident is charged a flat monthly fee of $2.21. The first 20,000 gallons of water cost $1.51 per 1000 gallons. Any water used above and beyond 20,000 gallons costs $1.85 per 1000 gallons.
Mocksville residents pay a monthly minimum rate of $5 for the first 2000 gallons of water. Each additional 1000 gallons of water costs $1.35. Residents of Winston-Salem are charged a monthly minimum rate of $2.43 for the first 2250 gallons of water. Each additional 1000 gallons of water costs $1.08.
Salisbury charges a minimum monthly rate of $2.37 for the first 750 gallons of water and $0.96 for each additional 1000 gallons.
Former Davie County Commissioner Buddy Alexander said he was "not surprised" with these results because he did a similar survey and found Franklin County had the only water rate higher than Davie County's.
"I'm not for the higher water rate," said Alexander, who believes the county deficit can be paid off with funds from state sales tax reimbursements. "It can be done."

About 75 area residents participated in freedom march in remembrance of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

Black History Taught At Freedom Event

Those attending a freedom celebration Saturday in Mocksville learned some black history.
Teresa Bailey Turner, a North Fredell teacher, gave the 50 or so Davie residents attending the celebration a quiz on important strides made by blacks.
Sponsored by the Davie chapter of the NAACP in honor of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., Saturday's celebration began with a parade to Mocksville Middle School.
Others on the program at the school included Jamie Clement, a student who prepared a pictorial account of King's life.
Spirituals were sung by the Cedar Creek Gospel Choir, and Pecola Holman read from King's book, Stride Toward Freedom.
Alice Gaither gave a statement of the purpose of the celebration, and Earle Barker gave "remarks for progress."
Magalene Gaither said it was encouraging to see a large number of young people at the event, a sign that King's dream may still be alive.
"There were more young people there than adults," she said.

Family Learns From War Experiences

"It took him awhile to get used to food. They all wanted to come back and eat everything. He tried. He had to realize he couldn't eat everything on the table. Today he told me he thought he'd lost some weight and I said, 'I don't see how, with all you eat.'"
While Mike was gone, Peggy said, Daniel took over as the "man of the house," and there were times she had to remind him that she was the parent, not him. "He grew up a lot and took on a lot of responsibilities, probably more than he should have."
Both boys, she said, had a little trouble adjusting while their dad was gone, but calmed down when he got home. It made a difference to have a man in the house again, she said.
"They (Mike and the boys) were close, but the war brought them even closer. Daniel plans to go in the Air Force and is a PFC in the ROTC now. He came home yesterday and showed Mike a ribbon he'd gotten."
Mike has been in the Army about 15 years and will be eligible to retire in another five, but Peggy doesn't think that will happen. "In a way, I think he's ready, but he's Army to the core. I don't think he'd be satisfied out of it."
Both Mike and Peggy have been keeping up with news about Iraq and Saddam Hussein. Peggy said she doesn't think the U.S. will return to Iraq, as long as Bush is in office. She hates to see the U.S. military force decrease, she said, and hopes there won't be any more wars anytime soon.
As far as Mike is concerned, that Army core prevails.
"If you're in the reserves, you are always ready," Peggy said. "If he had to go back today, he would."

It Took A While, But Local Marine Tells About War

By Beth Cassidy
Davie County Enterprise-Record
When Joey Manno got home from Saudia Arabia, he didn't want to talk about the war.
Naturally, his family had questions. What was it like? Did you see anyone get killed? Did you have plenty of water?
But Joey just didn't want to talk. Gradually, though, bits and pieces of what he'd been through came out, and now, his father said, they feel as though all their questions have been answered.
Joey, 22, is a lance corporal in the Marine Corps. He is a 1988 graduate of Davie High School. His parents thought he might enlist in the Navy, because he wasn't ready to continue his schooling. But he surprised them one night at the dinner table by telling them he'd enlisted in the Marine Corps, the same branch of the military in which his father had served.
He was deployed Dec. 7, 1990 and returned to his parents' home in Advance in May 1991. He took about three weeks off to spend time with his parents, Joseph and Cindy.
"He hadn't really changed," his father said, "but he just didn't want to talk about the Gulf. He didn't see combat action, but he did see a lot of the destruction and a lot of prisoners."
Manno said his son also suffered minor health problems while in Saudia Arabia. "He has asthma, and the chemicals, the oil fields burning there, didn't help. If they got any rain, it was like black soot. The sanitary conditions there were not good."
One of the biggest adjustments for Joey, his father said, was getting attention from strangers. People he had never met approached him to ask if he'd been in the war, and the attention didn't stop there.
"He was eating in Quincy's in Clemmons one night, and a man asked him if he was in the Gulf. Joey told him that he had been, and the man was very thankful. He even paid for Joey's dinner. I wasn't there, but he told me later, 'Gosh Dad, I couldn't believe this man bought my dinner.'"
Manno said Joey was glad to get back and take advantage of things others take for granted every day, like an indoor toilet, shower, a bed, running water, and air conditioning. "But he didn't want to go to the beach," his father said, laughing. Joey did talk to his father about one frightening incident.
"Following gas drills, when everyone is still wearing their gas masks," Manno said, "someone is elected to take their mask off first, to make sure everything is OK. I don't know how they pick who goes first — maybe it's the lowest ranked, and I guess they rotate, but Joey had to take his off first once. He kept saying 'Someone else will be first next time.'"
The camaraderie is what kept Joey going, his father said, and after he had been home a few weeks, he began missing those he'd served with.
While he was home, he tried to get in touch with many of the people that had written him and sent him packages, including Brad Smith's class at Stady Grove Elementary and a local Girl Scout Brownie troop.
Joey won't be home again until May, when he finishes a tour on the USS Iechon, which is in Toulon, France, his father said. He called home a week ago and told them he hopes, over the next few months, to go to Italy, Greece, and the Black Sea. If their ship does get sent to the Black Sea, his father said, it will be the first time a U.S. warship has been in that area since 1917.
His parents don't know if Joey will re-enlist, but they said they have a feeling that when this tour is over, he may just be ready to go back to school.

New Mocksville Bypass Eyed

By Beth Cassidy
Davie County Enterprise-Record

A new corridor that would link local industries to U.S. 64, aid in growth of those industries, and help alleviate traffic problems in downtown Mocksville was discussed Jan. 16.

Mocksville Town Board members, representatives of several large industries, and two Department of Transportation officials reviewed a thoroughfare plan that would create a loop around the city. Town Manager Terry Bralley said the industrial area around Bethel Church Road would be first priority. Bralley and industry officials reviewed the section of the plan that would involve construction of a two-lane road that would link U.S. 64 with U.S. 601 near I-40.

The road could help alleviate traffic problems in the Bethel Church and Milling Road areas, not only for tractor-trailers entering and leaving the area, but also for employees during shift changing hours.

Dave Eiden, plant manager at Crown Wood, said, "I see some really good things that could come out of this. I think also that widening Milling Road would be a big benefit during crunch hours, maybe not so much for trucks since they go on to (U.S.) 64 instead of using Milling Road, but I can see it being beneficial to a lot of other industries in that area."

Town officials voted months ago to widen Milling Road to three lanes, a project that Bralley said would begin in April.

Because of funding, the proposed thoroughfare plan could take 10 years or more to implement, said Dave Modlin, an engineer with N.C. DOT. Anytime a plan like this is drawn up, he said, people assume "the bulldozer will be in their backyard the next day," but it takes years to implement changes of this type.

Wes Stafford, a DOT project engineer, talked about the steps involved once the plan is developed and accepted.

"The town would have to go before the board of transportation and lobby for funds, and at that time, they (the town) would have to have a goal in mind.

"Then a time frame is developed, and the state conducts an environmental assessment, where they look for endangered species and endangered wildlife. If they found that there would be some effect on the environment, the alignment of the plan may be shifted."

Funding is one aspect Bralley has already carefully considered.

The DOT provides TIP (Transportation Improvement Plan) funds to towns considering changes of this nature, he said, but funding in the past, has been minimal. He hopes funding for the thoroughfare plan would come from the state and local levels, including financial support from industries affected by the plan.

Bralley asked for support from officials present representing Ingersoll-Rand, Funder America, Crown Wood, Lee, and Baker Furniture, when he goes to Raleigh in May to lobby for funds.

A public hearing on the plan will take place Feb. 4, at 7 p.m., at the next town board meeting. DOT officials will be on hand with a map, outlining the plan, from 3-3 p.m. that day and will provide information on the plan.

Mocksville Briefs

New Disabled Law Being Studied

A law that could affect hiring practices for the town of Mocksville will come into effect Jan. 26, according to Terry Bralley, town manager.

Bralley told board members Jan. 7 the Americans with Disabilities Act provides the disabled legal protection from discrimination in a broad range of public and private activities. Towns that fail to comply with the act may have federal funds withheld or may face administrative action or civil litigation.

Bralley said he does not know how the law will affect Mocksville. "Over the next few weeks and months, we will be assessing how it will affect us, in terms of job descriptions and hiring practices. We will have to make sure that we do not discriminate against someone who has a disability or impairment."

Fire Dept. Gets 15 December Calls

Volunteers with the Mocksville Fire Department responded to 15 calls in December, making 144 calls for 1991, according to Fire Chief Jimmy Kelly. Volunteers attended one three-hour training meeting and one two-hour business meeting.

Police Investigate 124 Complaints

The Mocksville Police Department investigated 124 complaints, 12 accidents, and 33 burglar alarms during December, said Tom Foster, police chief. Thirteen arrests for such infractions as DWI, larceny, breaking and entering, and trespassing were made.

A new officer, J.W. Walter, was recently hired and will be working the day shift and training with Officer G.A. Bagshaw for the next four to six weeks.

Bobcat's Shriek Can Make 'Hair Stand Up On Neck'

Gordon Taylor saw what he thought was a housecat, but when he heard the animal shriek, he knew better.

"It makes a sound that will make the hair on the back of your neck stand up," he said.

He killed the bobcat near Farmington Road Jan. 16 and said he was going to mail it to his father, who is a taxidermist, within a few days.

Larry Lawter, N.C. Wildlife Enforcement Officer, said the season on bobcat runs from Dec. 16 to Jan. 31 in Stokes, Forsyth, Davie, Iredell, Mecklenburg, Yadkin, and Union counties, although in a few of the counties, there are areas where it is illegal to hunt them. "Anyone looking to hunt or trap should look in their regulation digest."

Bobcats weigh between 15 and 35 pounds, Lawter said. They are predators and feed on small animals such as birds, rabbits, and chickens, but are not a threat to people. "They normally shy away from people," he said, "but like any animal, if you've got one cornered and try to grab it, it will try to defend itself."

Bobcat live between 15 and 25 years in captivity and mate in the spring, bearing two to three young in late April or early May.

Poor Nutrition Causes More Problems For Elderly

If an elderly friend or relative is losing weight, is a bit disoriented and complains of bleeding gums, we may fear that she's got some serious illness. In fact, the problem may be poor nutrition, or even malnutrition, says Dr. Jacquelyn McClelland, extension foods and nutrition specialist at North Carolina State University. A woman who would never have allowed her children to skip meals, snack and ignore the rules of good nutrition may do so herself when she's living alone. Good nutrition is vital to good health at any age. "The National Council on the Aging estimates that poor nutrition and malnutrition affect 15 to 50 percent of the elderly in the United States,"

McClelland says. Poor eating often is the result of a number of problems. • Depression over the loss of a loved one may result in a loss of interest in food. Cooking may seem like too much of a bother. This is especially true if a man has lost his wife; he may not have the shopping and cooking skills necessary to eat properly. • A person's sense of smell often declines with age, and smell is an important part of the enjoyment of food. • Lack of money can be a deterrent, especially for a person on a fixed income. An older person is more apt to cut back on the food he buys than to decide to move to a less expensive home or apartment. • Medications can dull the appetite, ill-fitting dentures can make chewing uncomfortable, and a variety of health problems can make it difficult to move about. "Once the sources of the problem are identified, the older person should be encouraged and helped to take the steps necessary to improve his or her nutrition. The results can be striking," McClelland says, citing the New Mexico Aging Process study done at the University of New Mexico School of Medicine. "With a little thought of as the normal aging process can be slowed if people eat well, exercise properly, keep a positive frame of mind and stay active."

Squash, Sweet Potatoes Full Of Nutrients

By Babe Wilkinson
N.C. Department of Agriculture

This time of year we do not usually think about being able to get fresh vegetables (not frozen) from North Carolina, but there are several to be found in good supply — two of which are sweet potatoes and winter squash. Both of these vegetables are packed with nutrients and make an excellent side dish for most meat entrees.

Buying tips for both of these vegetables include choosing those which are firm, heavy in size, and free of blemishes and decay areas.

When it comes to storing these vegetables, store in a cool dry place. They will keep for several months when stored properly. Once cooked, or cut into, they should be tightly wrapped, refrigerated, and used within a few days.

To prepare sweet potatoes, scrub and when possible peel after they have been cooked. To cook, just boil (takes about 20 minutes), microwave (depends on the size and quantity — but one medium takes about 5-6 min.), or bake (about 45 min. in a 450 degree oven). Once baked they can be used in vegetable dishes, salads, casseroles, pies, breads, cakes and the list goes on. Very versatile vegetable!

Winter squash can be cooked whole or cut into serving-size pieces or rings. To bake whole squash, bake in a 400 degree oven for about 40 minutes or until tender. Quarters or rings can be boiled, steamed, or microwaved as well.

For some ideas to get you started on using these vegetables, consider the following recipes.

Glazed Sweet Potatoes
2 pounds sweet potatoes
¼ cup butter or margarine
½ cup firmly packed brown sugar
Peel potatoes, and cut into 1-inch cubes. Cover with water, and bring to a boil. Cover, reduce heat, and simmer 10 to 12 minutes or until tender. Drain potatoes well.
Melt butter in a small sauce-pan; add brown sugar, corn syrup, lemon rind, and salt, mixing well. Bring mixture to a boil; reduce heat, and cook 5 minutes, stirring constantly. Immediately spoon mixture over squash rings. Return to oven, and bake, uncovered, 20 minutes or until squash is tender. Yield: 8 servings.

Sweet Potato Slaw
¼ cup butter or margarine
¼ cup firmly packed brown sugar
½ cup corn syrup
2 teaspoons grated lemon rind
¼ teaspoon salt
Wash squash thoroughly in cold water. Cut squash into ¾ inch slices to form rings, and remove seeds. Place squash rings in a lightly-greased 13x9x2-inch baking dish. Pour orange juice over squash rings. Cover with aluminum foil and bake at 350 degrees for 40 minutes.
Melt butter in a small sauce-pan; add brown sugar, corn syrup, lemon rind, and salt, mixing well. Bring mixture to a boil; reduce heat, and cook 5 minutes, stirring constantly. Immediately spoon mixture over squash rings. Return to oven, and bake, uncovered, 20 minutes or until squash is tender. Yield: 8 servings.

Apple-Stuffed Squash
3 small acorn squash
2 apples, peeled, cored, and diced
¼ cup coarsely chopped cashews
¼ cup butter or margarine, melted
¼ cup maple-flavored syrup
Cut squash in half lengthwise, and remove seeds. Place squash, cut side down, in a steamer rack over boiling water in a large Dutch oven. Steam squash about 20 minutes; transfer to two 9-inch square baking dishes, turning squash upright. Set aside.

Orange Salad Dressing
Combine remaining ingredients; mix well and spoon into squash cavities. Pour hot water ½ inch deep into dishes. Cover and bake at 400 degrees for 25 minutes. Yield: 6 servings.

blended. Makes about ¾ cup.
½ cup chopped pecans or walnuts
½ cup golden or dark raisins
1 tablespoon grated orange peel
¼ cup mayonnaise or salad dressing
¼ cup sour cream
2 tablespoons orange juice
1 teaspoon sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
In a large bowl, toss together shredded potato, pecans or walnuts, golden or dark raisins and orange peel. Prepare orange salad dressing; toss with salad to coat well. If preparing ahead, cover and chill in refrigerator up to 24 hours before serving. Makes 5 or 6 servings.

Orange Salad Dressing: In a small bowl, stir together ingredients till blended. Makes about ¾ cup.

Many Household Products Contain Dangerous Ingredients

Many kitchens hold an odd combination of products with nutritious foods on some shelves and deadly poisons on others.

There are thousands of household products that contain toxic ingredients. Some, like oven and drain cleaners, are obvious. Others, like air fresheners, polishes and cleansers, are subtle. Improperly used and improperly disposed of, such products can endanger our health and damage our environment.

There are several steps that you can take to reduce the amount of hazardous products in your home," says Dr. Wilma Hammett, extension housing specialist at North Carolina State University.

Contrary to what advertisers would have you believe, you don't need a different type of cleaner for each surface. There are many products that will clean a variety of surfaces. Read the labels to see how you can use products already on hand.

When you are buying a product, "buy the least harmful product available," Hammett says. "The federal government requires the use of signal words, depending on the level of the hazard."

Products labeled "poison" are the most dangerous. The word "danger" means that the product is extremely flammable, corrosive or highly toxic. Packages bearing the words "warning" or "caution" are moderately or slightly toxic.

Use an ounce of prevention when it comes to cleaning. "If you allow soil to accumulate, cleaning becomes more difficult. For example, if you wipe up a spill when it occurs, you can prevent a stain and eliminate the need for tough specialty cleaners which are often more toxic," Hammett says.

Wiping away grease and spills in the oven or putting a liner on the oven bottom to catch spills will reduce the need for oven cleaners. Don't pour grease down the drain, and cover the drain opening with a screen to keep out food scraps and hair. Open a window to air out the house to avoid using chemical air fresheners.

Homemade cleaning products are another alternative. Dr. Hammett offers the following "recipes" for cleansers and polishers.

All-Purpose Cleaner
1 tablespoon ammonia
1 tablespoon liquid detergent
2 cups water
Mix ingredients and put in spray bottle. Spray solution on surface. Wipe. Rinse with clear water.

Drain Cleaner
½ cup baking soda
½ cup white vinegar
Boiling water

Four baking soda down the drain. Add white vinegar and cover the drain, if possible. Let set for 5 minutes, then pour a kettle of boiling water down the drain.

"The baking soda and vinegar break down fatty acids into soap and glycerine, allowing the clog to wash down the drain," Hammett explains. This method should not be used after you've tried to clear a clog with a commercial drain opener, if any of the commercial product is still present in the drain.

Furniture Cleaner and Polish
3 cups olive oil
1 cup vinegar
Mix together until well blended. Use a clean, soft cloth to apply to the furniture.

Aluminum Cleaner
2 tablespoons cream of tartar
1 quart water
To clean aluminum cookware, combine cream of tartar and water in cookware. Bring solution to a boil and simmer for 10 minutes. Wash and dry as usual.

Oven Cleaner
White oven is still warm, sprinkle water on the spill, then sprinkle salt on it. When the oven cools down, scrape the spill away and wash the area clean.

With a little work, we can use fewer toxic products and use them less frequently, the extension specialist says.

Facts About The BIBLE

HER BEAUTY WAS A BURDEN - NOT A BLESSING!

DRUSILLA WAS THE YOUNGEST DAUGHTER OF KING HEROD AGRIPPA I (8000 C.A.D. 30). BEFORE SHE WAS SIX, HER BEAUTY WAS DAZZLING AND SHE WAS PROMISED IN MARRIAGE TO THE SON OF KING ANTIOCHUS OF COMMAGENE. HOWEVER, THE YOUNG BRIDEGROOM WAS TOLD HE HAD TO BECOME CIRCUMCISED AND ACCEPT THE JEWISH RELIGION - WHEN HE REFUSED, THE ALLIANCE FELL THROUGH! LATER, AZIZUS, KING OF EMBESA, ACCEPTED THESE CONDITIONS AND DRUSILLA BECAME HIS WIFE. BECAUSE OF HER GREAT BEAUTY SHE WAS CONSTANTLY PERSECUTED OUT OF JEALOUSY BY HER ELDER SISTER BERNICE, SO MUCH SO, THAT DRUSILLA WOULD DO ANYTHING TO ESCAPE HER SISTERS' PETTY TYRANNY! SO, WHEN FELIX, THE NEW PROCURATOR OF JUDEA, SENT BY ROME, FIRST SAW HER, AND WAS CAPTIVATED BY HER BEAUTY, IT WAS NO GREAT TROUBLE AT ALL TO SEDUCE HER AWAY FROM HER HUSBAND - ALTHOUGH FELIX EMPLOYED A CYPRIOTE MAGICIAN NAMED SIMON TO HELP HIM IN HIS SEDUCTION! IN DEFIANCE OF JEWISH LAW SHE LEFT HER HUSBAND AND MARRIED FELIX - A GENTLE AND DOLGATE! AFTER ALL, HER WHOLE FAMILY WAS ALWAYS MIXED UP IN FOUL DEEDS, MURDERS, INCESTS, UNLAWFUL DIVORCES, ETC. - SO WHY SHOULD DRUSILLA BE DIFFERENT? HOWEVER, KNOWING THIS ABOUT FELIX AND DRUSILLA, ONE CAN UNDERSTAND WHEN PAUL SPOKE BEFORE THE TWO OF THEM ABOUT RIGHTEOUSNESS AND JUDGMENT TO COME, WHY IT WAS THAT FELIX TREMBLED, SO!

Parker: The Perfect Man For Cooleemee

Let's face it. Sports is taking over — so much so that former sports stars are getting into politics.

There's former basketball star Bill Bradley, now of New Jersey. There's former Buffalo quarterback Jack Kemp, now of New York. There's former ACC all-American Tom McMillen, now of Maryland.

And don't forget former Parker Davie County baseball star Grimes Parker of Cooleemee.

Say what? Grimes Parker of Cooleemee has something in common with Bill Bradley? He does now. He recently won a Town Board election to represent the people of Cooleemee.

His people. Actually, Parker, a teacher and coach at South Davie Junior High, will probably do a better job than any of the above. He practically knows everyone he will represent.

Can Bradley, Kemp or McMillen say that? To get elected to their offices, the four names mentioned above did not travel the same paths. The national faces had election committees spending millions of dollars on their campaigns. It comes to about a dollar for every person they'll represent.

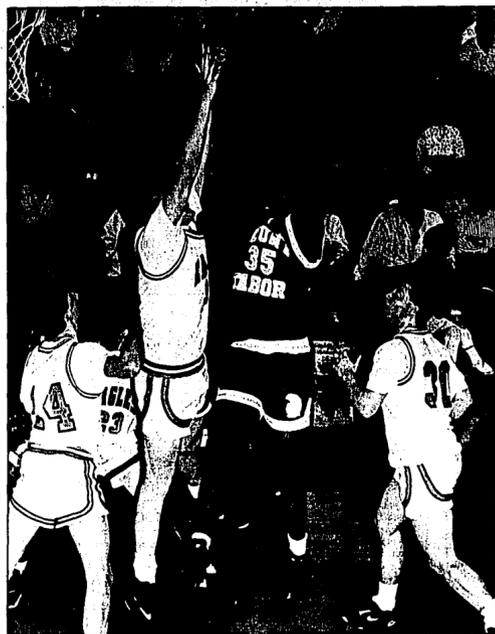

Parker said he didn't really campaign. He just had a few cards printed up and shook a few hands.

He didn't have big, shiny posters stuck everywhere. He didn't need them. That's the great thing about small towns. He didn't have to impress anyone. Everybody already knew him. If he had gone Bradley's route and paid a dollar for every person he'd represent, he'd have been out only $900 bucks, which is about population of Cooleemee.

Unlike the national faces, Parker didn't have to make promises to appease the cynics. Cooleemee has very few cynics. They don't care about promises. They care about loyalty.

And Parker certainly has that. He used the same campaign slogan over and over. "I love Cooleemee."

Mt. Tabor Holds On For 83-75 Victory

By Ronnie Gallagher
Davie County Enterprise-Record

The scoreboard said Mount Tabor won its game over Davie County Friday night 83-75 but it was hard to tell after listening to the coaches.

In the Spartan locker room, Dick Jamback was giving his team a tongue-lashing for losing a 12-point halftime lead.

In the Davie locker room, Charles Crenshaw was praising his team for coming back.

"This has happened to us a few times," Jamback said of his talented team. "We've lost leads and had to hold on, just like tonight. But we never play well in this gym and the boys have to know that."

Davie fell to 0-3 in the Central Piedmont Conference but Crenshaw said it may have been his team's best game. The War Eagles hit six three-pointers, swished 19-of-22 free throws and overcame a decided height advantage.

Dudley also defeated Davie last week, 66-50.

A large crowd is expected at Davie Friday night when former War Eagle coach Denny Key brings his long-range bombers from West Forsyth to Mocksville.

One Bad Quarter Hurts War Eagle Girls

By Ronnie Gallagher
Davie County Enterprise-Record

Mount Tabor's varsity girls basketball team defeated Davie County by 15 points Friday night, 61-45. But what really upset coach Angie Jarvis was the fact that 14 of those points came in one quarter.

Davie played the 10-2 Spartans on even terms except in the third period, when it was outscored 22-8.

"I don't know how to explain it," Jarvis said of the third quarter power failure. "We missed some easy shots that could've gone."

Davie fell to its second Central Piedmont Conference loss in a row. Dudley defeated the War Eagles earlier in the week, 72-66.

Staying Close

While Mount Tabor spent the early part of Friday's game relying on its guards, Davie was going inside. Sophomore center Shannon Umberger and senior April Oliphant combined for nine of the team's 14 first quarter points but Davie still trailed 15-14.

Carrie Brown scored seven second quarter points as Davie kept up with the Spartans in the second quarter. Mount Tabor led 30-29 at halftime.

Davie wouldn't let Mount Tabor run away, even after the Spartans went up, 23-16. Kristen Hinshaw, Brown and Casey Jenkins kept it within one.

Lori Sluder hit a baseline jumper to open the third quarter and Davie had its first lead since the opening minutes, 31-30.

But that was it. Behind Maria James, who scored 17, the Spartans fastbroke their way to a 22-6 spurt and led 52-37 after three.

Neither team was effective in the fourth, combining for only 17 points.

"Their guards made a difference," Jarvis said. "James is a good player. We just need to execute better."

Losing To Dudley

The fourth quarter against Dudley was one of the best quarters since Jarvis took over as coach four years ago. But it was far from enough.

"We didn't play well for two and a half quarters," she said. "We really cut the lead but

Wrestling Team Gets By Panthers, 58-12

State's No. 1 Team Loses Starters

By Ronnie Gallagher
Davie County Enterprise-Record

Davie County fell behind 12-0 in its wrestling match with Dudley last week.

Get used to it, says coach Buddy Lowery.

"Due to academic problems, Davie will give up 18 points per match from this point on. Lowery never had a 103-pounder and lost his 112 and 145-pound wrestlers to grades.

That's not the way most teams stay on top of the statewide wrestling poll. But the War Eagles will probably still be favored in all of their matches.

"We're just going to have to get by without them," he said with a shrug. "But after 112, we still have some pretty good wrestlers."

Dudley will agree with that after the Panthers were pounded by Davie, 58-12 last week.

"I really didn't think we wrestled that well against Dudley," Lowery said. "But we didn't give up any more points after 112. To wrestle poorly and still win is good, I guess."

Matt Wilson started the comeback at 119 pounds, recording a pin. Jon Ward followed suit at 125.

"Wilson wrestled real steady and took what he was given," Lowery said. "Ward is the one you can depend on."

Brad Kropfelder won 16-10 at 130 in a match that Lowery said could have been close because of overconfidence. Lee Albarty pinned his man at 135.

"Albarty totally owned the guy," Lowery said. "He's doing better."

So is Benji Frye, who won by pin at 140. "He's getting better every week," Lowery praised, "and his confidence is getting better."

Darren Cook's last time on the mat was short-lived. He went from a takedown straight down to the mat and pinned his Panther opponent in 20 seconds.

Chris Mann and Shane Mauldin took decisions at 152 and 160 by scores of 16-7 and 17-8.

Ward Breaks School Mark

South Davie Player Burns Trojans For 40

He scored 40 points. He commanded every aspect of the game. He controlled the boards totally. He was in the right place at the right time. It was one of those games you dream about.

No, South Davie freshman boys basketball coach Clyde Studevent wasn't talking about Christian Laettner. He was talking about his inside force Josh Ward, who ripped Chestnut Grove last week in a 40-point performance. The 6-0 Ward broke the school's single-game scoring record and led South to an easy 73-53 decision.

"Josh had one of those days where he did everything right," Studevent said. "He scored on rebounds, layups and short jumpers. I was proud of his jump shooting. That's something that is coming along."

Ward scored 13 more earlier in the week against East Alexander but it wasn't good enough, as East defeated the Tigers for the second time in two weeks, 71-63.

Triplet's Scoring Record Broken

Thanks to Legion baseball, Davie County sports fans have become quite familiar with Star-mountain High School's athletic program. Each year, several star athletes from that school spend their summer playing in front of large Mocksville Legion crowds.

Although Triplet looked tucked away in northern Yachin County, Starmount, a 2-A school, has produced some of the state's top all-around athletes over the last few years.

First, there was Brocke Walker, who played for Mocksville's Legion. Then, Chad Triplet. Campy Walker, Brocke's brother, is the current three-sport star for the Rams who should join Dale James' team in a few months.

At Starmount, an all-around athlete can be defined as someone who stars in one sport and still sets records in another.

Take Carlos King, for instance. The 6-2 center scored 17 points against North Wilkes Friday night to break Triplet's all-time record for points scored in basketball. Triplet finished his career with 1,112. King had 1,129 going into this week.

Ironically, neither King or Triplet is known for basketball. Triplet is a starter for the East Carolina baseball team and King is currently being recruited in football by national powers. He has trimmed his final list to several ACC schools and Michigan.

Bad Start
Buddy Lowery has the number one high school wrestling team in the state, according to Mat News. But he also coaches the only number one ranked team in any classification that will start every match trailing 12-0.

Lowery has been unable to find a 103-pounder and has forfeited that class all season.

Now, due to academic woes, he has lost his 112-pounder.

"I told the boys that we'll be starting every match down 12-0," Lowery said with a shrug. "That's just the way it is."

With a wink, he added, "But after those first two weight classes, we're pretty strong right on down the line."

Then Lowery said he found out his 145-pounder was also lost due to grades. That's 18 points per match that he will give the other team.

Still, that shouldn't be a problem until the War Eagles travel to Grimsley Jan. 30 for a first place showdown. The Whirlies are 6-3 but have won five of their last six matches.

More Grades
Grades have hurt Davie in all sports. Mike Dinkins lost four key players from his defending Central Piedmont Conference Jayvee basketball champions, including two starters. Then, another inside player was moved up to the varsity.

"We're probably going from being a team that could win it all to a team that has to struggle to win," Dinkins said. "Some of these other guys are going to have to come through for us."

Since the player losses, Davie has dropped three straight games and has fallen to 5-4.

Jamback's A 'Hip' Guy
Although his team isn't playing up to expectations, Mount Tabor boys coach Dick Jamback looked very happy when he entered the Davie County gymnasium Friday night.

He was walking without a limp. Last year, Jamback's hip began deteriorating. Doctors scheduled surgery after the season. By the tournament, it was hard to watch him attempt to walk. It was obvious he was in pain with every step.

He has had the hip replacement operation and is feeling pretty darn well, thank you.

"They operated on a Thursday, took the IV out on Sunday and I've had no pain," said Jamback.

Doctors told him to avoid the pounding sports like tennis, racquetball and basketball. "But I can play all the golf I want," he smiled. Jamback is also the Spartans' golf coach.

"I can't say if it would hurt playing those other sports because I haven't tried."

Whatever Happened To...
Two of Jamback's former players will be forever etched in the minds of Davie County basketball fans. Joe Jon Bryant and Stu Epperson were on the Mount Tabor team that was involved in the CPC's top all-time brawl a few years ago.

Both are now playing for Masters University in Los Angeles, Calif. Masters is an NAIA school. Bryant transferred after signing a scholarship with Dick Tarrent's Richmond club.

Jamback said they are in the team's top seven players.

"They're both doing very well," he said.

More College
Mount Tabor also has one of the CPC's top-recruited players in 6-4 Carlos Rucker, who scored 13 points against Davie Friday.

Small colleges mostly, said Jamback.

Dudley Dunks Davie
The crowd that watched Dudley's boys defeat Davie County were oohing and aahing days later over the Panthers' leaping ability. Davie is the smallest team in the Central Piedmont Conference this season and Dudley towered over the War Eagles for three dunks.

One of the slams really caught coach Charles Crenshaw's eye. "They threw a job to Wilson and he looked like Grant Hill or somebody," Crenshaw said. "He

"One thing that helps her is that she wants to score," said Jayvee coach Sherrie Myers. "She knows her role, which is to post up and score, which is what she's doing."

Whaley had one of her better games in a win over Mount Tabor, scoring 15 points and grabbing eight rebounds.

Football Update
Jamback said over 60 football coaches have applied for the vacant Mount Tabor football job, left open by the resignation of Oscar Brayboy.

A good football program can help his basketball team, as far as discipline and moral.

"This is a good (football) situation to get into," said Jamback of the school. "Nobody has ever done anything with the program. And we have good freshmen and sophomores. Kyle Riddle can throw it."

Riddle isn't too shabby on the basketball court, either, scoring seven points against Davie Friday night.

Mount Tabor has been in existence eight years and with two coaches: Ed McDonald and Brayboy.

after one quarter. He had eight and Vaughters nine.

"There's no doubt that Vaughters can play," Studevent said. "He's real steady. You give him the ball and he'll make something happen by driving to the basket. He has good body control."

"But no one could control Ward. By halftime, South led 33-24 and he had 14. In the third quarter, he had upped his total to 23 points as he scored nine more."

"But no one was ready for Ward's performance in the fourth period. South scored 19 in the quarter and he had 17 to finish with the school record."

"We were way ahead and I was going to take him out," Studevent said of Ward. "But I saw how he was scoring and figured he had a chance at the record. So I left him in."

"Vaughters chipped in with 15, scoring six more in the third quarter. Matt Anderson had 10 and Scott Van Hoy seven."

Losing To East
East Alexander is not considered an NPC foe and it's a good thing for South. East has the Tigers' number.

"For the second time in seven days, East handled South early and dropped the Tigers into a hole they couldn't climb out of."

"East led 21-9 after one quarter and 38-19 at halftime."

"Only a 27-point fourth period got South as close as it did."

"Ward and Vaughters each had 13 points but the day belonged to Van Hoy, who scored 21 points on seven three-pointers."

"I always tell Van Hoy to shoot the three," Studevent said. "He was really on fire. He hit one from the corner that was unbelievable. If had everybody in the house rock-ing." Four of Van Hoy's three-pointers came in the fourth quarter. Despite the loss, Studevent was still happy.

"This team is playing well," he said, "and I think we're going to be there at the end."

Notes:
• South is 5-3 overall and 4-1 in the North Piedmont Conference.

Boys

Comeback Kids

The Spartans' front line dwarfed the War Eagles and the inside game of Kip Reese, Carlos Rucker and Caldwell were too much early. Mount Tabor led 23-16 after one quarter and 46-34 at halftime.

"I told the boys there's no way they can keep shooting like that," Crenshaw said. "If they do, they're in the wrong league."

When Rucker dunked to open the second half, Mount Tabor led 48-34. But the Spartans were never the same after that.

"Rucker's dunk hurt us," Jamback said. "We got too happy. We were in a position to expand on the lead and instead, we had to hold on."

A 12-2 Davie run, led by Chip Carter's two three-pointers, pulled the War Eagles within 64-66. Keith Kooz's layup made it 56-54 but Mount Tabor still led by four going into the fourth period.

Kooz wasn't through. His three-point play was followed by Bubba Coleman's three-pointer. Suddenly, Davie led 60-58.

"Keith played real well battling their inside people," Crenshaw said. "He was guarding much bigger players."

A pretty reverse play by Carter and a layup by Tyrone Martin gave Davie its biggest lead, 64-61. But Mount Tabor went back inside as the front line scored 16 of the team's last 22 points. Coleman tried to keep Davie close, scoring the War Eagles' last 10 points. His three-point play tied the game at 71 with 2:31 left. But eight straight points gave the Spartans a working margin.

Coleman finished as the game's leading scorer with 22. Carter had 19 and Martin 15.

"I scouted Davie and told the players to watch for the three," Jamback said. "Carter shot well and he hurt us. And Bubba is a real nice player. Of course, we didn't do a lot to stop him."

Crenshaw agreed. "Bubba played as well as you can. I don't know how he could've played a much better game."

"We always feel like we will play well at home. Just because we're in a position to win isn't enough, though. We need to win some of these."

Dudley Too Much

Davie had one of its best shooting nights of the season against Dudley, shooting 21-for-39 and it kept the War Eagles in the game until the final five minutes.

Dudley's superior size and jumping ability kept it safely ahead in the first half, leading 32-24 at intermission. Davie outscored the Panthers 18-17 in the third period and crept within 49-42.

Led by Coleman, Brad Van Hoy and Martin, Davie got within 51-47 with six minutes left. Kooz made a good move to get the War Eagles within four.

But a dunk sapped the strength out of Davie and sparked Dudley to a 15-3 run the rest of the game.

"We made too many turnovers," said Crenshaw. "We just have to execute our offense better and not panic. Most of our errors are mental."

Glen Hayes led Dudley with 28 points, including five three-pointers. "Most of them were wide open," said Crenshaw. "But they never ran away from us. We held Dudley to 66 points and 10 of them were in the last minute."

After several lean years, Crenshaw is happy his team is fun to watch.

"We've had good support," he said, "and we're a lot more exciting. Of course, we'd be more exciting if we scored one more point than the other team."

Notes:

• Davie fell to 4-7 overall.

• Carter was the only double figure scorer against Dudley, finishing with 12. He had seven rebounds.

• Coleman had nine points and eight assists against Dudley.

• Davie committed 27 turnovers against Dudley.

• Three players scored 59 of Dudley's 66 points.

• Another big crowd is expected Friday when West Forsyth crosses the Yadkin River and visits Davie.

That's all he had to say to get elected. Bradley, Kemp and McMillen only wish it was that easy.

Being a small town politician is perfect for Parker, an easygoing sort who isn't going to try and change the world. After all, he's not representing the world. He's representing his neighbors.

His first job as acting Cooleemee Town Board commissioner won't be to annex Mocksville. He won't make fiery speeches like a Baptist preacher. Shoot, he won't even wear a tie.

"I'm not changing," Parker said. "You have to be yourself."

Parker will serve Cooleemee well because his whole life IS Cooleemee.

He's lived on Cross Street, Erwin Street and Duke Street. His job is only about five minutes from his living room's easy chair.

Even a potential professional baseball career couldn't make him move. He was happy living in Cooleemee and unhappy away from it. He brought his wife here from Florida, where she met some of the friendliest people anywhere. This will be their home until eternity.

It has been a long time since Parker coached his first game and broke that clipboard by slaming it to the ground. In the years that have followed, he has proven to be a leader and a winner on the playing field.

"As a coach," Parker explained, "I tried to mold the teams and do it my way."

Now, he's going to try to do it his way in the board room.

Will politics corrupt Parker, as it has others who make it to the big time? How does he feel about being a bonafide politician?

With tongue planted firmly in cheek, he said, "I feel like I ought to steal something."

All Parker will steal — or has stolen — is the hearts of his neighbors.

Parker joined the Town Board along with Bob Jordan, another sports figure who for 30 years officiated ballgames.

"I have to watch myself," Parker said. "If I do anything wrong, Bob might call a technical foul on me. I don't want him blowing that whistle in the meetings."

On the day of the elections, Parker went through his normal routine. When school let out, he stood in front of the fire department with the other candidates. "I'd never been where they counted votes," he said. "I just talked to Bob and Lynn (Vogler) and waited."

Jean Cornatzer then told him he had enough votes. He had won one of the two seats to the board in the town he loves.

"I'm looking forward to it," he said. "But in politics, I'm still a rookie."

Unlike Bradley, Kemp and McMillen, Parker will not get greedy and want a higher political position. Betsy Cochrane's job is safe.

"I have no plans to go further," Parker assured from his office in the South Davie gymnasium. "I want to help Cooleemee for four years and go from there. Anything I do, I want to do well. I don't want to be disappointed and I don't want anyone who voted for me to be disappointed."

And with that, Parker sat down to eat lunch. On the table beside of him were cheese and crackers. He was wearing sweat pants and a t-shirt.

Somewhere far off, men like Bill Bradley were sitting in their Italian suits, eating caviar.

For New Jersey voters, that's good enough.

But in Cooleemee, it doesn't matter to the voters if their politician eats cheese and crackers and wears sweat pants with the other candidates. All that matters is that their politician loves them.

And isn't that the only campaign slogan Grimes Parker ever used — or needed?

we had dug too deep of a hole."

Davie trailed 40-26 at halftime and 53-36 going into the fourth. Brown tried to bring the War Eagles back, scoring 13 in the final period as Davie outscored the Panthers, 30-19. She finished with 24.

"Carrie had some steals and layups," Jarvis said. "But they outrebounced us and we didn't get back on defense very well."

Gentry had 11 points while Jenkins and Umberger had nine each.

Notes:

• Davie is 1-2 in the CPC and 4-7 overall.

• Davie went from one extreme to the other in two games last week. After scoring 30 in the fourth quarter against Dudley, it scored only eight against Mount Tabor.

• Gentry was held to only two points against Mount Tabor, 10 under her average.

• Nine different players scored against Mount Tabor.

• Davie hosts West Forsyth Friday and goes to South Rowan Tuesday.

Carter's Statistics Improving

Chip Carter is now doing what Charles Crenshaw expected from his senior leader. Carter's statistics improved in almost every category last week against Dudley and Mount Tabor. Carter's scoring average is up to 9.6 after a 19-point performance Friday, which is third. It shouldn't be long before he joins Bubba Colman and Tyrone Martin in double figure scoring.

He is second in rebounding, third in assists and three pointers and fourth in steals.

Colman and Martin lead every category except blocked shots. 6-6 center Jason Rice leads there with 14.

Jayvee Basketball

Academic Losses Hurt Davie JV Boys In Two Defeats

Davie County jayvee boys basketball coach Mike Dinkins endured a lot of losing last week. "First, his defending Central Piedmont Conference champions, lost to Dudley 70-65 and Mount Tabor 72-55. "Secondly, he lost four of his best players to grades and one to the varsity. "It was a bad week all the way around," said Dinkins. "The season seemed so bright just a week ago. Dinkins' team had forged a 5-1 record after the non-conference games. Since entering the CPC schedule, the War Eagles have lost three straight. Losing To Dudley Dinkins called Dudley one of the quickest teams he has coached against but Davie held strong. Derrick Wilson's three-pointer and free throw, along with baskets by Brent Cassidy and Marnie Lewis, had Davie ahead 57-54 going into the fourth period. But the War Eagles were outscored 16-8 in the final eight minutes. David Snyder was pulled up to varsity so 6-5 sophomore Jason Smith got a chance for more minutes and he responded with 11 points, 10 in the first half. "With Snyder gone and the grades taking other players, Stick will have to come through for us," said Dinkins. "He's coming on." Derrick Wilson led the scoring with 12 points, while Cassidy and Gerald Roberts each had nine.

Another Loss
The fourth quarter did Davie in against Mount Tabor as well. The Spartans outscored the War Eagles, 24-16 over the last eight minutes. Dinkins got a lift from Jason Tutterow, who scored six of his nine points in the first half. "Jason gave us a lift, it was his best game," said Dinkins. But the big advantage for Mount Tabor came at the free throw line, where it outscored Davie, 23-8. "We dug ourselves a hole with foul trouble," Dinkins said. "They also had a lot of easy baskets. We never really got into the flow of the game." Smith got in foul trouble and picked up his fourth early in the third quarter. The Spartans took advantage of the inside play from that point. Lewis tried to bring Davie back. He scored on four three-pointers and finished with 14 points. Chad Alexander matched Tutterow with nine points. Notes:

• Davie fell to 5-3 overall and 0-3 in the league.
• Davie was 1-of-4 free throws in the fourth quarter against Dudley and 6-for-15 in the second half.
• Against Dudley, Davie hit five three-pointers, three by Derrick Wilson and two by Parris Wilson.
• Dudley hit 11 free throws in the fourth quarter.
• Davie hit seven threes against Mount Tabor.
• The jayvees go to West Forsyth Friday and host South Rowan Tuesday.

Jayvee Girls Improve To 7-2 With Win Over Mount Tabor

How ugly was the Davie County jayvee girls' 44-33 loss to Dudley last week? Just look at the free throw shooting in the fourth quarter, said coach Sherrie Myers. "In the final eight minutes, Davie shot 3-for-18 from the line and Davie was 1-for-13. "I told the girls we lost this game because of free throw shooting and hopefully, it will be the last time," Myers said. Her players obviously listened. In a 45-37 win over Mount Tabor later in the week, the War Eagles went 11-for-20. The win upped Davie's mark to 7-2 overall and 2-1 in the Central Piedmont Conference.

Beating Mount Tabor
Inside strength helped Davie defeat Mount Tabor. "We missed a lot of shots inside but we rebounded well," Myers said. Davie led comfortably the entire way, building an 11-7 first quarter lead to 24-17 by halftime and 33-25 after three. "They closed it to within about five a couple of times but they got no closer," Myers said. "We spread the court with about two minutes left and they had to foul." Brooke Holcomb made sure, scoring six of her 12 points in the final quarter. She also had two steals. Amy Whaley led the team with 15 points, all inside and Amy Mason scored seven. "I thought Tracy Robbins played a good game too," Myers said. "I can always count on her to play good defense. She always hustles. She'll never walk up the court. And she does everything I ask of her." Losing To Dudley Davie was bigger inside than Dudley but the Panthers had too much quickness. "They were quicker," Myers admitted. "I still think it's safe to say we're a better team. But we didn't hit our free throws and we didn't run the offense. We probably didn't run it twice the entire game." Davie stayed within three until the fourth quarter when Dudley outscored the War Eagles, 15-7.

"Our 2-3 zone worked," Myers said. "They got most of their points from the fastbreak." Mason led Davie with nine points and Whaley chipped in with eight. Notes:
• Mason had 15 rebounds, Anna Robertson 11 and Whaley eight against Mount Tabor.
• Dudley and Davie combined to shoot 4-for-31 from the foul line in the fourth quarter.
• Davie finished the Dudley game 9-for-25 from the foul line.
• Rebecca Davis scored six against Dudley.
• Davie will go to West Forsyth Friday and come home for South Rowan Tuesday.

North Whips South, 72-4

Going into its match with North Davie last week, South Davie wrestling coach Bill Cranfield was still sitting over his team's 87-0 loss to the Wildcats earlier in the year.

But before he two met last week at South, Cranfield said the team had more confidence, a better attitude and thought he Tigers could do better against the juggernaut and undefeated Wildcats.

South did better — but not by much, losing 72-4.

Bill Overcash won the only match for the Tigers, beating Dan Callahan at 105 pounds, 12-4.

"We didn't wrestle well," said North coach Ron Kirk. "We did wrestle good enough to score 72 points but after scoring 87 the first time, we walked into the gym kind of flat."

In another match, North trampled Saint Stephens, 84-6.

Beating South

Robbie Yonce and Chris Marelo started things with pins for North at 85 and 95 pounds. After Overcash's win, North won the next 11 matches, six by pins.

Taking pins were Scotty Spry, Justin Jenne, Justin Carter, Mike Hunter, Mark Mason and Kevin Caudle.

Matt Sain defeated Chad Nichols 17-1 at 127 and Wes Foster won over James Clement, 15-3.

"Both of these were good matches," said Kirk.

Another good match was at 147, where Hunter pinned Jeremy Cook. But they were tied 2-2 going into the third period before Cook was pinned.

Mark McKnight won by a 10-4 decision at 121. A double-forfeit took place at heavyweight.

Beating St. Stephens

All of Kirk's starters recorded pins against Saint Stephens and even won four preliminaries by pin.

"I guess if you count those, we won a bunch to 6," Kirk said.

The only loss was the forfeit at heavyweight. Kirk lost that wrestler to grades.

Kirk was surprised that Saint Stephens, located near Hickory, didn't give his team a better match. "They looked like they had some good kids in the middle weights," he said. "We had some of the matches go late into the second period and others in the third."

Notes:

- North is 10-0.
- South fell to 4-4.
- In the last four meetings between North and South, over the past two years, North has outscored South, 318-13.

- North won both preliminary matches. Eric Crutchfield pinned Moore and Shannon Bledsoe pinned Donald Rash.

- Still undefeated for North are Spry, McKnight, Sain, Jenne, Foster, Hunter, Mason, Nichols and Caudle.

- Winning preliminary matches against Saint Stephens were Joe Sutton, John Walter, Greg Kokoski and Sam Griffin.

- On Jan. 22, North goes to Southeastern Stokes and South hosts Chestnut Grove.

- The regular season ends Jan. 27 when North hosts South Rowan.

South's JV Boys Win First Game

Trinity Upsets South JV Girls By 3 Points

After the South Davie Jaycee boys basketball team defeated Trinity 53-37 last week for its first win of the season, the Tigers were happy — but a little angry too.

"We could easily be 4-3," coach Barry Whitlock said. "We lost to Trinity by one, to North Davie on a last-second shot and to Lexington by six."

"The boys know we could be better but they were still excited. This will get people off their backs about winning."

Girls coach Becky Miller was anything but pleased with her team's 25-22 loss to the Bulldogs.

"We shouldn't have lost," she said. "We beat them so badly the first time, that we went in overconfident."

Boys Win

If your name was Jason, then you had a big game against Trinity. Jason Correll made the plays early and Jason Harbour made the plays late to preserve the victory.

South led 6-5 after one quarter but after Trinity took a 9-5 lead, Whitlock put Correll into the game. He responded with eight second quarter points.

"They were giving us the open shot on the wing," Whitlock explained. "The first two times Jason touched the ball, he hit three-pointers. He really sparked us."

Behind the play of Buddy Frogge (13 points) and Bryan Huff (10), the lead grew to double figures.

When the Bulldogs got within eight in the fourth quarter, Harbour, the team's leading scorer, took over.

He attempted 15 free throws in the final period alone, hitting eight. He finished with 10 points in the quarter and 13 on the game.

"He was the ballhandler and they just started fouling him every time down," Whitlock said.

Frogge also hit some big baskets, scoring eight of his 13 in the final minutes.

"A lot of the seventh graders were excited," Whitlock said. "It was their first win here."

Girls Loss

South's hopes of a North Piedmont Conference girls title was damaged severely with the Tigers' third loss of the season.

As badly as Miller thought her team played, South still led 18-16 going into the fourth quarter. But the team missed all four of its free throws and couldn't get the ball to the team's leading scorer Keisha Wagner.

They double-teamed her and completely denied her the ball.

Lakers - 61

Miller said. "She got in foul trouble and was real frustrated."

In the first meeting between the two, South outscored Trinity 16-0 in the first quarter and cruised to a 17-point win. But Miller knows things are going to be different as the league's teams face each other during the second half of the season.

"I think we're going to be seeing more people double-team Keisha," she said. "She really hurt most of them during the first half."

Carrie Brill and Kelly Cozart tried to pick up the offense, scoring six points apiece.

"Kelly always plays real tough defense," Miller praised, "and against Trinity, she hit some good shots."

"I'm still not happy with our record," she said. "We're better than that."

Notes:

- South's girls fell to 4-3.
- The Boys improved to 1-6.
- South hit 15-of-32 free throws.

In the first meeting between the teams at Trinity, the Tigers did not attempt any.

- Huff scored all six of South's points in the first quarter.
- Wagner finished with only four points.

Mayers' Bombing Leads North Davie

Jason Murphy may as well have been playing volleyball.

With the precious seconds ticking off the clock against Lexington and the score tied, Murphy found a rebound falling toward him. He only had time to tap the ball back to the basket and hope it fell in.

It did and North won its third game of the season, beating the Yellow Jackets, 47-45.

The 7-8 girls escaped with a narrow, 25-24 win over Asheboro and then defeated Lexington, 30-18.

Boys Win
Rhamen Love-Lane had tied the score in the boys game with under a minute left, setting up the exciting few seconds.

North regained possession, where Jason Beger shot a jumper that bugged around the rim and fell off. Timmy Gilbreath tried his luck, driving for a reverse layup that barely hung on the rim before falling off. With only a second left, Murphy was there for the rebound and his shot went in at the buzzer. No other details were available.

for the boys games last week.

Girls Win
The wins for Carol Cozart's girls were important to stay in the race for the North Piedmont Conference title.

"Everybody has one or two losses," she said, "so we still have a shot. Maybe everyone can knock the other off. We have South Davie, Fendale and Thomasville left and they're all good."

Against Asheboro, North scored only two points in the second quarter and was down 19-15 heading into the fourth. But Angela Mayers scored all 11 of the team's points in the final period.

With less than a minute remaining, Mayers hit her final three-pointer to give the Wildcats a 25-22 lead. A two-pointer at the buzzer by Asheboro meant nothing.

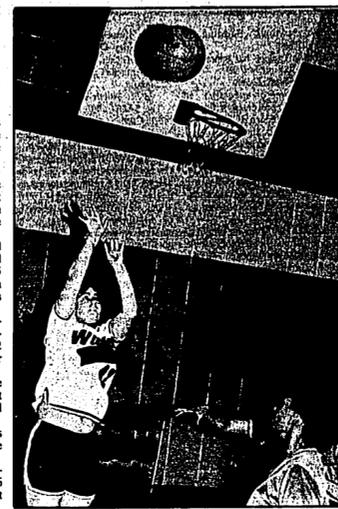

"Angela didn't even start at the beginning of the season," Cozart said. "But she's worked real hard."

Mayers finished with 13 points while Tammy Ramsey had five points and 13 rebounds.

Mayers kept up her outside bombing against Lexington, scoring 16 points, including 12 in the first half.

North held Lexington scoreless in the second quarter to take a 20-7 lead into halftime.

"The first half was the best we've played all year," Cozart said. Ramsey scored six points and hauled down 10 rebounds in this one.

Notes:
• North's girls are 6-2.

Wildcat Freshmen Sweep South Rowan

The North Davie freshman boys didn't have much time to think about their second half collapse and loss to South Rowan recently.

That's because the two teams collided five days later.

And the Wildcats more than made up for the loss with a 71-66 victory.

In the first game, North lost a one-point halftime lead by scoring only 13 points in the second half. Last week, North, led by Robert Thompson's 24 points, scored 41.

For the second time in a week, the girls had no trouble with the Raiders, trouncing them 61-30 behind Maria Newsome's 20 points and 16 rebounds.

North's girls coach Ricky Hendrix found out his team is more than a one-person team with the 31-point victory.

"I've wondered what would happen if Jonette (Willard) had an off-day shooting," Hendrix said. "Today, I found out."

Willard, who scored 26 of the team's 45 points in a 21-point victory over South a week earlier, was shut down by a defense especially geared to stop the league's top scorer. She finished with only eight but she dished out eight assists and grabbed six rebounds.

"She passed off to her teammates and they responded well," Hendrix said. "Kristi Pack had her best game — ever — offensively."

The 6-2 Newsome was her usual intimidating self, snuffing out shot after shot and controlling the boards.

Katie Desch scored seven points and grabbed six rebounds. Christina Cassidy did another good job on the boards, grabbing 10 rebounds to go with her two points.

Boys Win

After the Wildcat boys forged a 30-27 lead at halftime, it appeared another second half meltdown was in order when South outscored North 26-19 in the third period. Going into the fourth quarter, South led 53-49.

But North turned up the defense in the fourth period, allowing only 13 while scoring 22.

Chad Lanier bombed from outside for 20, one of three in double figures. Thompson worked underneath for his career high and Brock Patrick added 16.

Notes:

- North's girls improved to 6-1.
- The Wildcat boys are now 5-2.
- Hendrix praised the play off the bench of Callie Stanley, Jenny Stewart, Amy Barney, Jamie Newsome and Felicia Swan. Stewart scored four and the others two apiece.

Snider, Tigers Romp

South Davie already has four players averaging in double figures and Holly Snider obviously wants to get in on the act.

Snider is vying to become the fifth Tiger to average double figures. In a 52-24 win over East Alexander, she had a season-high 16 points and added 10 more in a 51-29 victory over Chestnut Grove.

Coach Jerry Callison was asked the reason for Snider's improved play since Christmas.

"Well, she had her tonsils out over the holidays," he joked.

Beating East
Snider had her average of eight points by the end of the first quarter against East Alexander. She had 12 by halftime as South increased a 21-15 first quarter lead to 29-16 at halftime.

"Holly was shooting that little 15-footer," Callison said.

He also played plenty of subs throughout the game.

"I mixed up the lineup with starters and subs," he said.

Behind Amanda Sigmon, South outscored East 19-2 in the third quarter for a 48-18 advantage. Callison played his subs in the fourth.

Sigmon finished with 12 points and Brooke Suter eight. Elizabeth Greene had seven and Beth Wall five.

Beating South

The South Rowan win was anything but a cakewalk. At halftime, the Tigers were up only 23-18.

But the Tigers exploded in the third period, outscoring the Raiders 16-7 for a 39-25 lead. Callison kept pouring it on in the fourth, outscoring South 12-4.

"At halftime, I just told them to work on the fundamentals," Callison said.

Four players were in double figures, including Suter with 13 and Greene, Sigmon and Snider all with 10. Wall had four.

South is rolling toward rematches with Woodward and North Davie, the only two teams to defeat Callison this year. South will play them back-to-back on Jan. 30 and Feb. 4.

Notes:

- South improved to 6-2 overall.
- Against East, South played only seven minute quarters instead of eight.
- Suter's three-pointers were her first of the year.
- Tanis Sine and Devona Campbell each had two points against South Rowan.

Express Yourself Drama Team Wins Awards

Express yourself.
It's something members of the Davie High School forensics team have learned to do quite well.
At a recent tournament in Fayetteville, team members won three awards: Jason Curtis a fifth place and Christina Robinson sixth place in humorous interpretation; and Christa Truitt a sixth place in dramatic interpretation.
Team coach and school drama teacher Freda Ramsey said the competitions are good for the students, who often compete against as many as 100 other students.
Many of the forensics events involve saying a 10-minute memorized piece from a written play, book or magazine. Categories include: dramatic, humorous and duo interpretations; extemporaneous speaking where a student is given a topic on the spot and asked to speak about it; storytelling; original oratory; Lincoln-Douglas debate; and policy debate, where students write legislation in a mock congress.
"A lot of what is rewarding in this is a team effort," Ramsey said. "They really encourage and help each other."
"They learn a lot from doing good research and they learn how to express themselves."
Students, and the team, earn points at the competitions, which could earn them a chance at regional and state honors.
"Always, if we win something, it's every inspiring to the kids, very encouraging," Ramsey said.
There will be several competitions in upcoming weeks, and chaperones and judges are needed to travel with the team. Most events are day trips for Friday evening and Saturdays, Ramsey said.
Judges traveling with the team included Ramsey, Sylvia Hickman, Ken Curtis and Pam Poplin.

Entertainment was provided by Brooke Whitley and Brad Hudson.

Foreign Policy Discussion Open in DCCC Course

Have you ever wished you had a voice in helping to form the decisions affecting United States foreign policy?
Now you can! Beginning Jan. 28, "Great Decisions 1992" will closely examine eight of the most critical and pressing issues facing the United States and the world. Each major issue will be examined in an effort to heighten each participant's understanding and knowledge of these issues.
United States foreign policy will be among the major issues which candidates will be debating and voters will be deciding during the 1992 presidential election year. The "Great Decisions" program provides you with a way to better understand the issues and to make your opinions known.
Beginning on Jan. 28 and continuing each Tuesday through March 17, Phipps then explained that every graduating student had successfully completed 17 weeks of DARE in the classroom. Each student had to share a personal commitment to "say no to drugs" in front of their classmates. Six students were selected to read their essays during graduation: Laura Correll, Eric Godbey, Kina Hood, B.J. Johnson, Jesse Ruter and Anya Williams.

After the presentation of diplomas, sixth grade students sang "We Are The Children" under the direction of Elaine Snow. A reception was held for the graduating students, parents, and invited guests.
"Great Decisions 1992" will meet at Davie High School. Made possible through Davidson County Community College, Great Decisions discussions will be led by Paul McCraw. The program will offer two units of teacher renewal credit. The eight-week program is open to all interested residents.
Course costs include a tuition fee of $30 and a book cost of $12.20, payable to the college.
The 1992 topics to be considered this year include: U.S. Agenda for the 90's; Middle East After Desert Storm; The Refugee Crisis; Latin America's New Course; Planet Earth; Africa South of the Sahara; The AIDS Pandemic; and Breakup of the Soviet Union.
All Davie County residents are invited to participate in the Great Decisions program.

Davie Joins Education Group

By Steve Gilliam
UNC-G News Bureau

GREENSBORO — Nineteen school systems, including Davie County, have joined with seven universities and colleges to form the Piedmont Triad Horizons Education Consortium, an organization designed to improve public education in the region.

Educational administrator Dr. Frances F. Jones has assumed duties as executive director of the consortium, which is one of three which were funded by the N.C. General Assembly at $150,000 per year for a two-year period. With Jones as director, a strategic plan for the year is being developed.

Major items in the plan are expected to include professional development activities, research projects on outcomes-based education and exchanging information on proven-to-be-effective programs between school systems.

A major federal grant will be sought through the America 2000 program outlined by President Bush.

Formed in 1989, the consortium provided an avenue for school system superintendents to get information on new happenings in education, such as site-based management, whole language instruction, and teaching critical thinking skills. More recently, the 15-member board of directors approved a dues schedule for member organizations which raised $42,638, to be used for collaborative staff development.

"The consortium provides a vehicle that allows the leaders from school systems in this region to work with business leaders, colleges, universities and community colleges on projects that will help improve education for teachers and students," said Jones. "It's not a traditional approach, but it's an organizational structure that allows new ideas to be presented, discussed and tried. Top administrators can keep up with what is succeeding in other systems."

"We know that a lot of what we're doing right now in education is not as effective as it could be. It seems that the public schools are going along the same line they've always followed. The consortium provides a vehicle to break out of that mold and do some things differently, to see how they can be improved and possibly discard some of the outdated practices that have been going on for years. If it's successful, it will help move the schools from the industrial age to the 1990s and into the 21st century where students will be living in the future."

Consortium offices are in the UNC-G School of Education through the school's Collegium for the Advancement of Schools, Schooling and Education. Members are 19 public school systems, which contain approximately 180,000 students and 7,000 teachers, and the teacher education programs at seven colleges and universities in the Piedmont area. Membership is being expanded to include business and industry representatives and the region's community colleges.

Member institutions of higher education are: UNC-G Greensboro College, North Carolina A&T State University, Elon College, High Point University, Salem College, Wake Forest University.

Primary purposes for the consortium are to:

- Provide a link between elementary-secondary education, higher education and business leadership to improve education practices and enhance educational development.
- Serve as a think tank and research center to deal with educational issues and economic problems.
- Serve as a catalyst for restructuring public education from the current industrial model to one more appropriate for the information age.
- Procure grants to fund worthwhile projects to serve as models for promoting educational practices.
- Provide in-service training opportunities for participants to inspire, motivate, train and retrain for the skills needed to teach youngsters to be productive citizens in the 21st century.
- Provide expert speakers and programs of interest to consortium participants.

Sanford Kickoff Saturday

U.S. Sen. Terry Sanford will kick off his campaign for re-election with the help of a group that will gather at the home of Harold and Elvania Crews on the Cedar Grove Church Road in Fork on Saturday, Jan. 25 at 5:30 p.m.

Similar gatherings will be held all across North Carolina as part of a program to promote increased citizen participation in the political process.

Those attending the gathering here are contributing to the Terry Sanford campaign in two ways: financially and by providing specific ideas on "What can be done to redirect America?"

Organizers of the Sanford campaign note that a strong belief in the principle of individual participation will shape his entire campaign. Unlike the all-too-typical campaign of recent years, they say, he will not focus on a privileged few attending high-priced fundraisers in the tea rooms of swank Washington hotels. In contrast, they say, Terry Sanford's campaign will begin in the living rooms of real people all across North Carolina.

"I intend to ask my fellow Tar Heels for their participation as concerned citizens in a genuine down-home movement to redirect the course of our nation," Sanford says.

Planners To Meet Jan. 30

There will be a meeting of the Davie County Planning Board on Thursday, Jan. 30, at 7 p.m. in the Commissioner's Room of the Administration Building, Mocksville. Carolina Hydraulics, Inc., represented by Attorney Henry P. Van Hoy, submitted a request to amend the Special Use Zoning portion of property zoned Industrial I-3 Special Use Zoning. The property involved is located at Bracken Road (S.R. 1413) and U.S. 601. This 9.5 acre tract lies on the east side of U.S. 601 and is parcel 78.01 of Davie County Tax Map F-3.

Davie Oil Company, in care of William R. Carter, submitted a request to rezone property from Residential R-20 to Industrial I-3 Special Use Zoning. This 5.21 acres is located at Cornsater and Howardtown roads. This property is parcels 19, 20 and 46 of Davie County Tax Map G-7.

Jerry W. and Kay S. Stockton submitted a request to rezone property from Residential R-20 to Industrial I-1 Special Use Zoning. This two-acre tract lies along I-40 at the end of Roger Road (S.R. 1438). This property is a portion of parcel 10 of Davie County Tax Map E-6.

Coolseemee Briefs

Board Minutes Won't Be Mailed

Former town commissioner Jackie Morton asked that copies of town board minutes and packets of information received by board members be mailed to her. She offered to pay the cost.

Last week, she wanted to know why the items hadn't been mailed. Mayor Bill Gales refused the offer. "It's available here at the town hall if anybody would like to have it," Gales said.

Police Chief Honored By Board

Police Chief Mart Dillon was named 1991 officer of the year last week by the Coolseemee Town Board for "exceptional...meritorious" service. Mayor Bill Gales said there were no plans to present the award annually.

Town May Join KAB Program

Coolseemee will join the Keep America Beautiful program for approximately $150, the town board decided last week.

The joining will take place only if county commissioners and Mocksville board members also join the group, paying the rest of the $2,200 fee.

Legal Firm Contract Approved

Martin, Van Hoy & Smith will again provide legal services to the Town of Coolseemee, for a $1,200 base annual fee, town board members decided last week.

Center Maintenance Bids Sought

While the town board here is seeking bids for maintenance of the recreation center property, it is going back to last year's contractor to see that the job is finished.

Rodco Landscaping didn't haul off the leaves as was stated in the contract, board members said. The leaves are piled in a corner of the property.

Recreation Staying The Same

An agreement with the town and the Mocksville-Davie Recreation Department will stay the same — at least through the summer.

"We try to provide a lot of different recreation opportunities for the town," said Recreation Director Mike Garner. "Overall, I think it's a good relationship. If you want more programs, all you have to do is ask."

With plans to open the swimming pool beginning now, it would be too late for the town to take over the pool or other recreation programs this year, said board member Grimes Parker. Parker suggested, and Garner agreed, to let a Coolseemee board member be a part of the interview process when Coolseemee swimming pool employees are hired. Garner said Coolseemee residents are hired to work at the pool when possible, and he doesn't remember turning down a qualified Coolseemee resident for a job.

Another suggestion probably won't take place. Mayor Bill Gales suggested the name be changed to "Mocksville-Davie-Coolseemee Recreation."

Several Motorists Testify Against Drunk Driver

By Lynn Hall
Davie County Enterprise-Record

A Union County man who "has a problem with alcohol" was given a six-month suspended sentence in Davie District Court last week after forcing several vehicles off the interstate in Davie County.

Danny Kenneth Pope, 37, of Waxhaw, was arrested Sept. 13 by Trooper T. D. Shaw with the N.C. Highway Patrol and charged with DWI, hit and run and reckless driving to endanger lives.

According to one motorist who said Pope came up behind him at a high rate of speed and then tried to pass between his vehicle in the right lane and another in the left lane, the defendant forced a Ford Bronco off the road and almost up to a guard rail.

Pope continued on and next passed between two other cars, sideswiping both. One of the cars, a 1978 Mercury, was driven by Ophelia Ferebee, who was in court last week because of how dangerous Pope's driving was. The side mirror and chrome were torn off her vehicle and there was some $600 damage.

The second car also was damaged.

A short time later, Pope's pickup struck a 1987 Toyota in the rear. He did not stop following that accident either.

Trooper Shaw, who came up on the scene shortly after the two cars were forced off the roadway, was given Pope's tag number and apprehended him a few minutes later.

According to the witness, who had come from Fayetteville, "he (Pope) put a lot of people in danger that night and that's why I came from so far away to be here today."

He said there was a small child in his vehicle and he thought there were several children in the Bronco.

Pope refused the Breathalyzer test, and his attorney, Wade Leonard, said the defendant knew he had a problem with alcohol and was now attending Alcoholics Anonymous and taking medication that would not allow him to drink.

"He had gone to Hickory that day to pick up a check and then bought a pint of liquor and doesn't really remember anything from then until he woke up in jail," Leonard said.

Judge Robert W. Johnson said he would find as an aggravating factor the especially dangerous operation of his vehicle. He ordered Pope to pay $500 fine and not operate a motor vehicle until properly licensed. He was to obtain a substance abuse assessment and comply with the recommendations made by the assessing agency, attend AA meetings twice weekly and perform 72 hours community service work.

Two Cases From Road Stop Tried

Two people cited at a New Year's Eve road stop were in Davie District Court last Thursday.

A charge of operating a vehicle in which beer was being consumed in the passenger area was dismissed against Christina L. Gardner, 22, of Mocksville.

Jared T. Saffley, 20, of Salisbury, was found guilty of carrying a concealed weapon. He was sentenced to 60 days suspended for two years, ordered to pay a $100 fine and court costs, not to violate state or federal laws and remain of good behavior.

Two Plead Guilty To Prostitution

Two cocktail waitresses from Chatham, who told Judge Robert W. Johnson they were trying to make a little extra Christmas money, were given 12-month suspended sentences and placed on two years probation after pleading guilty to soliciting for prostitution in Davie District Court last week.

Angela A. Scott and Rachel Lynn Emerson were arrested Dec. 20 at the 1-40 rest stop. Davie Sheriff's Deputy John Coley testified that the department had gotten word from a truck driver about what the two women were doing.

"We went to the rest area and located one of the women. She told us she was out to make a little extra money."

Coley said the woman told them she'd made $15 and gave it to the officers. The second suspect was located inside the cab of a truck.

In court last week the two admitted what they had done was foolish and said they would not be coming back to Davie County.

Judge Johnson ordered the two defendants to each pay a $200 fine and court costs and not violate any laws on federal laws and to remain in general good behavior.

Teen Gets 24 Months For Thefts

The second suspect involved in breaking into a number of vehicles, including Davie County Sheriff's patrol cars at Correll Used Cars near Casey Corner last September was in Davie District Court last week.

Derek Chambers, 18, of Rowan County, was sentenced to 24-months in jail and ordered to pay his share of the restitution for damage done to the vehicles.

Chambers had been charged with seven counts of felony breaking and entering a motor vehicle. That was reduced to five counts of misdemeanor breaking and entering and two counts of misdemeanor larceny.

The break-ins occurred Sept. 10 and 11. Chambers reportedly was involved only in the incident on the 11th.

A week earlier, a Salisbury youth, Sean Cameron Mitchell, was given a 30-year suspended sentence on charges stemming from the same incidents.

According to police reports, a two-way radio was stolen and mechanics took Chambers' share of the restitution totaled $2,136.04.

Cooleemee Wants Water Plant Back

By Mike Barnhardt
Davie County Enterprise-Record

Cooleemee wants its water plant back.

In an emotional plea before county commissioners last week, town residents asked that water rates be lowered.

Cooleemee Mayor Bill Gales received an ovation after reading a resolution adopted by the town board.

"The water rate increases are unjust, unfair and disproportionate and will adversely affect the elderly and others on fixed incomes."

Gales said the rates will cause users to go off the system, making the financial situation worse.

"If nothing can be worked out, then we request you return the water system to the town of Cooleemee."

Commissioners said they would study that suggestion and make a decision on the offer later.

The new rates, $12 for a minimum 1,500 gallons a month and $2.85 for each additional 1,000 gallons, are needed mainly to help pay for a new water plant on the Yadkin River in northeastern Davie.

The county also operates a water plant on the South Yadkin River in Cooleemee. County commission chairman Glenn Howard said Cooleemee didn't want the plant.

"You couldn't run it," he said.

"At least we wouldn't have two plants to pay for," Gales responded. The Cooleemee water plant was given to the county by Burlington Industries, not the town of Cooleemee.

Dorothy (Shoaf) Leonard said the industry and the people shouldn't be thought of separately. "We are a part of Burlington Industries. We have put our time in for Burlington Industries," Leonard said. "You need to think about us."

A number of Cooleemee residents are retired from the mill, earning Social Security checks of less than $500 a month. "This is the only

Girl, 7, Dies In Accident

By Kara Kooker
Davie County Enterprise-Record

Just a month ago, Elizabeth Schooler was named student of the month by Elizabeth Flynn, her first grade teacher at Mocksville Elementary School, for being a bright and well-behaved child.

And just a month ago, Elizabeth Schooler "accepted Jesus into her life," said Jan Sharp, a close family friend. "I can just see Elizabeth right now," said Sharp, "with those bright, sparkling eyes and cheerful face, sitting on the lap of Jesus, saying, 'Hey, you all, it's really neat up here. This is a great place to be.'"

Elizabeth Schooler seemed to make an impression on everyone she came in contact with. Her birth alone was an impressive event. She set a record at Forsyth Memorial Hospital in 1984 for being the argest, non-Caesarean baby. She weighed 13 pounds, 3 ounces and was 23 inches long.

At the time, Elizabeth's mother, Janice, described her as a "really great, healthy and contented baby."

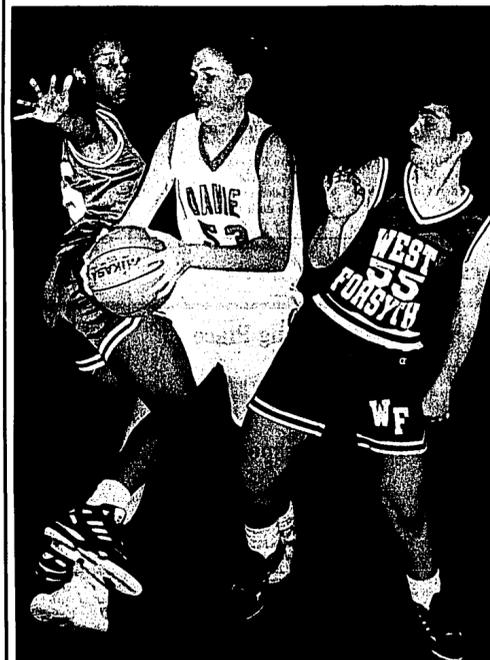

"We'll miss her," said Flynn. "We loved her dearly."

"It's a loss that will be felt for a very long time," said Sharp. Elizabeth had been playing at her home on North Main Street in Saturday afternoon when one passer-by happened to see her hanging from a rope attached to a tree in her back yard.

Elizabeth's mother, Janice, and two sisters, Amanda and Penny, were in the house. Elizabeth's father, Richard, was in his workshop next door. When the Emergency Star gazers come to Davie County from Forsyth County. They can't see the stars in Forsyth. Too many lights.

Lighting was the main topic discussed last week as county commissioners approved an overlay zoning district for Farmington Township, and parts of North Mocksville along U.S. 158 and I-40.

Commissioner Bert Bahnsen asked if the board should change wording to prohibit any lights that "illuminate the night sky."

County resident Marshall

Tyler agreed, saying there are lights activated by motion sensors that could be used at businesses after hours.

You can see a large sky of light going across the Yadkin River into Forsyth County, he said.

No Trespassing County Asking State For More Strict Local Law

By Kara Kooker
Davie County Enterprise-Record

Davie County Commissioners passed a resolution Jan. 21 that could lead to requiring individuals to have written authorization to hunt, fish, trap or operate an all terrain vehicle on someone else's property.

Commissioner Bert Bahnsen made the proposal, which went into effect in Davidson County on Oct. 1, 1991. The commissioners agreed to ask one of the local state representatives to present the bill to the General Assembly.

According to the current law, Davie Magistrate Robert Cook said an individual can be arrested on the spot for trespassing only if the property is sufficiently posted, the individual does not have verbal or written permission to be on the land and the owner or a person authorized by the owner consents to the arrest.

If the property is not posted and the individual does not have permission to be on the land, Cook said the individual must

Enterprise Wins Five N.C. Press Association Awards

The Davie County Enterprise Record won five awards from the N.C. Press Association at the group's annual winter institute last week in Chapel Hill.

The newspaper received a first place award for sports coverage and a second place award for use of photographs, both in the large weekly division.

The sports coverage award was accepted by Sports Editor Ronnie Gallagher.

The judge, Jay Langley of New Jersey, said: "Impressive first page layouts. Excellent use

The judge, Gary L. Shivers of New Jersey, said: "Good fire action photo at the top of the page with decent photo display. Nice crop on the bottom page.

Someone Finally Does Something About Phone Porn

It took more than one try, but Congress and the Supreme Court have finally done something about the Dial-a-Porn business.

If there was any indication that our society was going to the dogs, that was it.

Telephone sex has become a $2 billion a year business. Now, the telephone wires may finally be purified.

Thanks to Sen. Jesse Helms, God bless him.

It was Helms that pushed a federal law through Congress in 1989 that would require the sex hotlines to get written requests from customers before selling their messages. The law had not been enforced pending a court challenge. The Supreme Court upheld the law on Monday.

If the predictions are true, the law will effectively kill the booming sex talk empire. The porn industry had cloaked itself in the noble robes of the 1st Amendment. Free speech problems had sidetracked an earlier attempt to curb the telephone sex talk. Helms found a way around it.

The greatest problem with the porn-by-phone business was its availability to everyone. Even children. And children called the 900- numbers — dialing the telephone numbers flashed on the television screens. Just call ...

The easy access exposed everyone to the filth and the enormously expensive bills.

Somebody finally did something. Many thanks to Sen. Helms and the newly conservative court.

Legislature skewers congressional districts

The North Carolina General Assembly has passed another map of its legislative and congressional districts — this one even worse than the first.

The legislature must realign the districts after the census every 10 years. The Justice Department ordered the legislature to create at least two minority-dominated congressional districts. Beyond that order, the General Assembly's goal was to protect the incumbents.

What emerged is a confusing map of districts that ramble aimlessly across county lines. Forsyth has been divided into three districts. Davie escaped the carving knife earlier, but is now in two.

The new map makes campaigning impossible. Voters will be forever confused about who their congressman is. Candidates, driving through a county, will have to consult a map to make sure which side of the street is his district.

The new 12th district slices across half the state to include enough blacks for a minority district.

This was avoidable. The reason black candidates — or any challenger — couldn't win was because they always faced incumbent congressmen. Incumbents are entrenched with every possible campaign advantage — from franking privileges to limitless PAC money. Their re-election rate in years past has been more than 90 percent.

Without those advantages, more minorities would have been elected. The realignment may allow election of minorities in two districts, but the others will continue to be ruled by incumbents. The voter confusion benefits them most.

Thankful For 911 Response

To the editor:
On Jan. 14, I had an occasion to call 911. This was my first. Thank God, as it turned out, it was not a life-threatening situation. At the time, they did not know this, neither did I. All I know, they responded when they were called.

Kenny Mason, who was at work nearby, was there before the ambulance arrived. Another young man with medical bag in hand also came about the same time. I never did know who he was. (I'm sure he told me.) Anyway, he knows. I want to thank both of them, the ambulance driver and attendant. They were all so nice and understanding.

They got my husband to the hospital and he is doing fine. The point I want to get across is this — if you need help, it is available. Dial 911 and you will get it. Fast.

They need our support. We can't do without them.

Russian Missions Worthwhile

To the editor:
I want to share with others the outstanding program given at Mocks Church by Mike Garner of First Methodist, Mocksville, on Russia. Mike was chosen to go to Russia last fall to see first hand the situation of the Russian people (what an excellent person to have been chosen). After seeing the slides, I tried to put myself in their place. It's impossible. As Mike and others around the area and around Georgia, you could see the sadness on the people's faces. Mike told us how the people had been taught to hate the American people and the disbelief that we cared enough to send our people to share, that many of us care. What a golden opportunity for us to share the love of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ. We of the Methodist churches are at this time preparing boxes of food to send to Moscow through M.C.O.R. (100% goes to the Russian people). We invited other clubs and churches (the Davie Seniors Club is helping). If interested, call 998-4435 or 998-4457. Time to prepare boxes is short, but it can be done. Feb. 5 is the deadline. In Christ Love.

Davie Hospital Best Place For Care

To the editor:
I was in Davie County Hospital a year ago and when I left, I don't feel that I adequately thanked the entire staff for all the care I was given.

Well, 13 months have passed, and again I've spent a week there, having received the same very professional care that I needed to come back home a stronger person. Also, I want to say what a very kind group of people are employed there.

It makes someone who lives too far away to have very many visitors feel very appreciative.

I am very glad that my doctor, who is Dr. Larry Pearce, joined your staff. It's the best place to be when you need good care and rest. And speaking of Dr. Pearce and his staff, they are God's gift to us who have neurological problems.

Having A Baby? Best Advice Comes From Men

Why is it that every woman knows everything there is to know about having a baby? Our reporter, Beth Cassidy, is finding that out by real experience.

Beth is pregnant. She has a bun in the oven, the old swellee bettie. She's the big 'un.

And she's been receiving advice from everyone who has ever had a baby before. It's Beth's first, so naturally every woman feels compelled to tell her when she's going to have the baby, how much it will weigh, what sex it will be (She already knows that, something about seeing a picture in the doctor's office, but it could have been an elbow,) and what changes her body will go through before she drops the cub.

Who am I, a dumb man, to be saying anything about what a woman goes through to have a baby? I don't know. But I can see and watch these women with all the advice. Beth can't go anywhere without hearing what she should or shouldn't be doing.

It really got to me Tuesday, when Beth showed up for work. She was due sometime between Jan. 22 and Jan. 26. I saw her Sunday. Her husband (Bless that poor man) had taken her out for a ride on dirt roads that morning. She had been told that riding on bumpy roads would hasten the baby's arrival. The truck is out of alignment, and out of gas, but still no baby.

And she was happy Sunday night. Someone had told her that she would be happy (That's rare among pregnant women) right before the time came.

To top it all off, Beth said she was going home to clean up the house. Just prior to delivery, new mothers get the nesting instinct and go crazy cleaning the house. At least that's what Beth was told. She believed it, and told me she would be at work Monday morning and then take off at lunch to have the baby.

Beth was at work Tuesday. She wasn't looking for the right sign. The baby hadn't dropped yet. One wise woman keeps telling her it isn't time because the baby hasn't dropped. I'm no expert, but if the baby has dropped, the time to go to the hospital has already passed. I just hope that thing doesn't drop here in the office. Are there any other directions for the baby to go?

She's still looking for a dimple, too. There will be a dimple on her belly when it's time. Don't forget the swelling. On the day she'll have the baby, she'll wake up and her fingers will be swollen. They might as well swell, everything else already has.

There are other ways to hasten the baby's arrival, most of which have to do with eating and exercising. Walk a lot the day before you want to go into labor. Beth has worn out three pairs of shoes, still no baby.

The night before you want to go into labor, eat pizza, drink Castor oil, eat cheese cake (Not necessarily in that order). Pizza Hut is booming, still no baby.

But the best advice of all came from another stupid man. At least we're stupid enough to admit we don't know. "Be patient. When it's ready, it'll come on its own."

Davie Lucky Not In 12th

To the editor:
You're lucky you live in Davie County and not in the new "germ-ridden" District 12. They will probably never see their representative no matter who gets elected.

But what's wrong? There are lots of people in the rest of the state that vote for Democratic representatives, and then elect a Republican governor. Then the media blame the governor for all that's wrong in the state.

The same goes for the national elections. We need a conservative government if we are ever going to get out of Welfare.

Now is the time to convince "honest" registered Democrats to come to the aid of any conservative candidate. Ever since 1960 when JFK with his "millions of children are going to bed hungry, etc., etc." the Democratic party has had control of Congress.

Somewhere I read "The sins of their Fathers will rest on their children." and we sure have reached that state.

Does Attorney Want To Be Davie Czar?

To the editor:
Unfortunately, I missed the last county commissioners meeting. From what I read in the paper, it must have been something else.

A year or so ago, a heading of a letter to the editor read "Does Commissioner Want To Be Czar of County?" I'm beginning to wonder if that may be said of Mr. Brock? Since when was the first amendment repealed for Davie County? Is Mr. Brock suggesting that only things he deems to be fair should be allowed to be said? I thought that under the first amendment everyone was granted freedom of speech. In that case, Mrs. Leonard has as much right to express her opinion as Mr. Brock does.

And who said everything is going to be fair? This water billing is unfair. The whole county voted to build the water plant and the county as a whole benefits in one way or another from the water plant, so why should a few, mainly the ones least able to afford it, pay everything? Our commissioners have in the past conceded that it is for the future generations. Are the water users' heirs the only ones of that future generations to benefit from it?

We know that had there not been water available Jockey International, Hanes Printables, and other industries, who have come to Davie County, would not be here. Does anyone know how many jobs that accounts for? How many Davie County people are working because of this? How much tax revenue the county is collecting? Not everyone was in favor of the water plant being built; however, the majority of the ones who voted did favor it and every voting age citizen in the county had the opportunity to vote and if they did not vote, shame on them. As has been stated many times before, in several different ways — everyone voted on the water issue, everyone benefits in one way or another. Therefore everyone should have the same privilege of helping to pay for it.

Few People Get To See Bobcats

To the editor:
I once had the pleasure of watching a bobcat playing with a pine cone, to hit and chase it like a house cat with a ball of string. That was over twenty years ago and all I have are memories that are as clear today as when I first saw it. Memories of one of God's most beautiful creatures living as He intended. I can't help but wonder, would my life have been any better if like Mr. Taylor I had turned this animal, that few people are lucky enough to see in the wild, into a rotting piece of fur with glass eyes to hang on my wall? I don't think so.

Domestic Disputes Most Dangerous For Officers

The one call a law enforcement officer dislikes the most is the call resulting from a domestic dispute between wife and husband, girlfriend and boyfriend or son or daughter and parent. This type of situation has the greatest potential for violence — perhaps more than any other that law enforcement is called upon to handle.

When the sheriff's deputy arrives at the location of the dispute, he is required by law to both see and speak with the complainant. If this requires that the deputy enter the residence, then no person present can forbid or prevent that entry. If at all practicable with the prevailing circumstances, the deputy will remain outside if the complainant can and will come to him. Although the United States Constitution (Amendment IV) protects the citizens against unreasonable search, there is no violation when entry is made in response to a call, if the situation cannot be handled otherwise.

A responding deputy has several options to bring the dispute to a successful, although temporary, solution. If an assault has occurred, the complainant will be informed of the right to obtain a warrant through the magistrate. If an assault occurs in his presence, or he has reasonable cause to believe that an assault has already occurred, he can immediately arrest the perpetrator.

In many instances, one party calls for help because they fear an assault will occur or because there has been an ongoing history of violence. Most of the time the only viable option is to recommend that the parties separate for the time it takes to cool down. If one party has some place to go and stay, then it is ideal if that party leave. In the case of a female with young children, it is almost always more practical for the male to leave.

At the time of the initial response, or in many cases at some later time, a party may request assistance in obtaining property following a separation. The response to such a request is known as a "domestic assist" and there are some reasonable rules which must prevail. Under a domestic assist response, a deputy can accompany a party to the residence for the purpose of the requesting party obtaining those personal items necessary to subsist while temporarily separated. The property is limited to items of toilet articles or personal hygiene, tools of the trade, essential medication and a few articles of clothing. To remove anything else must await a civil settlement. A domestic assist cannot be used to recover the dining room furniture that belonged to grandmother.

It is hoped that anyone finding themselves in a family dispute will realize that a deputy is there because his presence was requested, and that he is neutral and can only attempt to defuse the situation. The permanent solution is the responsibility of the parties involved.

lights be aimed at the parking lot, instead of up; that signs be lighted from above, instead of ground lights pointed toward a sign.

"We want to limit lighting as much as possible, keep it focused downward," she said.

"We don't want a Las Vegas strip in Davie County," Brock said, adding that no rules should be made that could hinder the safety of residents or the security of businesses.

The lighting rules include:

- Exterior lighting on any lot shall be designed and directed so that the light is confined primarily to that lot.

- No search lights or other high-intensity lighting devices used primarily to illuminate the night sky shall be permitted.

- No external lighting device shall exceed a height of 30 feet.

- Foster was surprised at the discussion of lighting. "I thought signing would be a bigger problem than lighting."

- Among the new rules for signs:

- No off-premises signs shall be permitted.

- One free-standing sign will be permitted for each 200 feet of street frontage. The sign size shall not be more than two-tenths square foot per each linear foot of street frontage. No free standing sign shall be bigger than 40 square feet or exceed six feet in height.

- Signs on a building shall be equal to no more than 10 percent of the area of wall it occupies.

- All types of signs on a lot shall be the lesser of a total of 100 square feet or less, four percent of the ground floor of the principal building or 2 square feet per linear foot of street frontage.

- No sign may hinder views from street intersections and must be out of the street right of ways.

- No animated sign, nor moving or flashing signs shall be permitted.

- No portable signs shall be permitted.

- No projecting or suspended signs shall be permitted.

- No inflatable signs or tethered balloons shall be permitted.

- No beacons shall be permitted.

- Flags used as promotional devices of any type, including but not limited to the promotion of goods, services, business establishments, events, are prohibited.

County Zoning Officer Jesse Boyce gave a brief history of land development rules in Davie County, including the need for more rules in the areas facing the most likely chances for growth in the future.

"The primary thrust is to manage growth properly," Boyce said. "We felt like we had to take the appropriate action to have the right growth, in the places we want it, looking the way we want it."

The overlay district only applies to the Farmington Township and a portion of northern Mocksville outside the city's zoning jurisdiction.

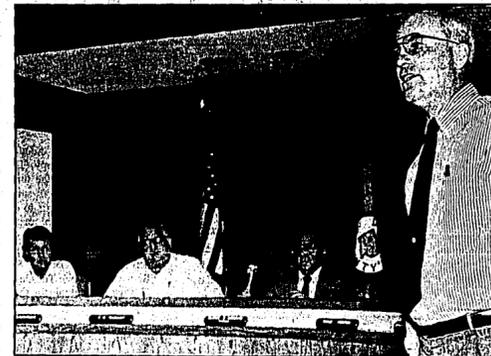

It will not affect single family homes in those districts, just multi-family (duplexes, apartments) projects, as well as business and industry development.

It does not affect use or intensity, which is already covered by zoning. It addresses design elements such as landscaping, signage and access.

A public hearing would still have to be held to have property rezoned.

Addresses design elements such as landscaping, signage and access.

A project review committee will be established to look at proposed projects to be sure they will comply with the overlay district rules.

Cooleemee Residents Say Water Rates Are Not Fair

income they have and they absolutely cannot pay this," she said. "You need to think about us."

Commissioners sympathized with Cooleemee residents, but said the rates affect customers countywide.

"All of the people in Davie County who are on county water suffer," Diane Foster said. "This is a bad situation, but the time to have fought this was over a year ago. We have to pay the bills."

Foster said most customers would notice a $13-$15 increase on their bi-monthly bills.

"It's no fun doing this to your people, but the bills have to be paid," Foster said. "We've done the best we could in bad circumstances. We have a problem. We all know that."

The problem started in 1986, when studies began about building a new water plant.

County commissioners later (none are on the present board) held community meetings across the county,

"The water rate increases are unjust, unfair, disproportionate, and will adversely affect the elderly and others on fixed incomes."

— Cooleemee Mayor Bill Gales saying there would be no need to increase taxes or raise water rates to pay for the plant.

The size of the plant and estimated costs changed. Rates were not raised then.

Current commissioner Bert Bahnsen said he could see a problem with the new plant when it was proposed, and went to several of those community meetings asking the board how the county was going to pay for the plant.

"I voted against it twice," he said of the bond referendum.

County residents turned down the first bond vote to build a new water plant, but narrowly approved the measure at a second vote after commissioners said water rates wouldn't be raised.

Buddy Alexander of Cooleemee came to last week's meeting with minutes from a 1986 meeting, when he was a member of the board. He said that board voted to spend the $750,000 or so from state sales tax monies on the water system.

"We voted to take that sales tax to pay for that water. Where is all this money going to?"

It apparently never went to the water department, but went to the county's general fund, instead.

Bahnsen said the same study that said water rates wouldn't have to be raised included the sales tax money going to the water system, and also recommended that water rates be increased five percent immediately.

They weren't.

Bahnsen said he didn't know why the sales tax money hadn't been set aside, but it wasn't. Last year, the county spent almost $1 million from unappropriated money to balance the budget. This year's 6-cent tax increase was to keep from having to take from balance funds, he said.

The new water rate structure is a compromise between those who think the users should pay for the system and those who think the costs should be divided evenly among all county taxpayers.

The county has put $200,000 from the sale of Wonderknot property into the water fund.

Foster said if the county spent tax money on the water system, all taxpayers could demand service, and the system doesn't have money to expand countywide.

Bahnsen said it isn't fair to tax homes and farms when those residents pay for a well to draw water from. Less than half of county residents are county water system customers, he said. Bahnsen uses well water.

"If we can't tax the whole county, then why did the whole county get to vote," asked Bill Cranfill, a member of the Cooleemee Town Board.

Leonard said he had been watching the expressions of county commissioners. "You all do not give a hoot about the people in Cooleemee," he said.

She didn't get to finish.

"That is not fair for you to stand there and make that charge," said County Attorney John Brock, who said the commissioners had worried for a long time about the water plant and how to pay for it.

Leonard chided Brock for interrupting her.

Foster said the county was just trying "to pay the bills."

"If somebody could come up with a reasonable alternative, we would be glad to listen to it," Foster said.

Cranfill asked if water rates would be reduced when the water plant debt is paid.

Foster said that was possible because the water system was not it make a profit. It will be at least 10 years before that could be considered, she said.

County Wants State Help For Strict Trespassing Law

first be given a verbal warning. If the individual returns after being told not to, he or she can then be arrested if the property owner or person authorized by the owner consents to the arrest.

Under the current law, Davie County Attorney John Brock said the individual must "willfully" trespass on someone's property in order to be indicted. In many cases, Brock said the individual may have permission to be on one person's land, and in the excitement of the hunt, not realize they have crossed over onto someone else's property.

If a hunter's dogs cross a property line in pursuit of wild game, Richard Budd, chairman of the North Carolina Wildlife Resources Commission, said a good hunter should put his gun away, retrieve his dogs and leave the property.

"Unfortunately, however, all hunters are not good hunters," Budd said.

Wildlife Officer Larry Lawter said it is practically impossible for him to know exactly where one landowner's property ends and another landowner's property begins. It is for this reason Lawter said he generally waits to receive a complaint from the property owner before issuing a citation.

Lawter said it is crucial to have "backing" from the property owner in order to testify that someone was knowingly trespassing.

Bahnsen said the current law needs to be strengthened, because more and more people are trespassing on the land of fewer property owners, resulting in an influx of trespassing violations.

"We've got so much trouble with people hunting, fishing and driving four-wheelers around," said Bahnsen. "We've had a terrible time with it."

Bahnsen, whose family owns approximately 850 acres in Hillsdale, said the new law would simply "put some teeth" in the existing law while keeping "in line with the basic rights of private property owners and trespassing laws."

Clement said most landowners will give hunters verbal permission to hunt on their property, but they will not give written permission in case the landowner could be held responsible if an accident occurs.

Instead of requiring written authorization, Clement said there should be a greater financial penalty for trespassing.

Bahnsen said there is plenty of time to discuss the new law should there be any questions or concerns.

Bahnsen said the proposed bill may be too difficult to legally enforce and hunters may not be able to receive written authorization for liability reasons.

Nonetheless, Bahnsen said trespassers who engage in destructive behavior — whether they're speeding around on four-wheelers or illegally killing wild game — are a nuisance and need to be dealt with in a stricter fashion.

Girl Accidentally Hangs Self While Playing In Tree

Medical Service arrived at approximately 3 p.m., the child had already been placed on the ground and CPR was in progress.

Davie EMS officials said there were burn marks on her neck where she had been strangled by the rope.

There seems to be no clear explanation for her accidental death.

Elizabeth's principal, Jeff Albarty, described the enthusiastic 7-year-old as an endearing child and excellent student.

"Elizabeth was absolutely a darling child. She came in here smiling every day," said Albarty. "It's just a very, very tragic thing."

Elizabeth Flynn said Elizabeth was "a dream student." She always followed rules and turned her work in on time, sometimes even early.

Flynn said she was also a wonderful art student who excelled in creativity.

Jan Sharp had the pleasure of taking Elizabeth and her sisters to choir practice at Calvary Baptist Church in Winston-Salem. Sharp said they would sing all the way to church and back.

"Elizabeth was a bundle of energy — very vivacious for a child," said

Sharp. "She reminded me of Shirley Temple."

Margaret Overcash, another close family friend, also recalled Elizabeth's vivacious personality and resemblance to the child star.

"She had the curliest hair I've ever seen," said Overcash. "We used to tease her about looking like Shirley Temple."

Overcash continued with heartfelt emotion. "She was a very special child to me, one of the sweetest children you've ever met. She will be missed terribly."

Elizabeth Schoeler's funeral was scheduled for 1 p.m. Wednesday at Calvary Baptist Church in Winston-Salem.

photo. Too many photos were used in the package photos. Five would have told the story. The print quality was good throughout the layout.

The judge said: "Old Indian hamlet page had a good photo, various camera angles, including a close up picture added additional information and interest for the reader. The text could have been a part of the layout instead of running side of the page. More variety in photo's shapes and use of white space would have helped."

The second place sports photograph was of a young boy riding a sheep at a junior rodeo.

The judge said: "Good job of getting the kid's expression. A clean, funny photo which captures the event. Stood out as a different shot, something out of the ordinary."

Clemmons Eyes New Bridge Over Yadkin

By Kara Kooker
Davie County Enterprise-Record

The Clemmons Village Council hopes to include a request to extend Idols Road west to Underpass Road in Davie County in this year's Highway Needs Report.

At a meeting Jan. 20, the council approved the "wish list" which includes four separate requests for state funded road improvements in the Clemmons area.

Their list of needs will be submitted along with other requests from the Winston-Salem/Forsyth County area, which in turn, will be submitted with requests from every other county in the state.

In the spring, after every county's needs have been identified and heard, a final, condensed Highway Needs Report will be presented to the N.C. Board of Transportation.

Greg Errett, a member of the Winston-Salem/Forsyth City/County Planning staff, said the extension of Idols Road west from Dock Davis Road in Forsyth County to Underpass Road in Davie County is "basically just a concept."

Errett said the Clemmons Village Council merely wanted to identify the western extension of Idols Road as a "long term need." Errett does not believe the request will make it to this year's Highway Needs Report, because plans for it are a bit premature.

South of Idols Road, Errett said there are hundreds of acres of industrial land waiting to be developed. Some of the land has utilities and the property can be reached by rail. Highway access, however, is limited. If the land is ever developed, Errett said there would need to be additional road development to handle all the industrially generated traffic.

The alternative access being proposed would connect the southern half of Clemmons with N.C. 801 in Davie County, providing a direct link from Clemmons to Advance and the N.C. 801 corridor north to I-40 and south to Charlotte.

In order to complete the extension, a major bridge would have to be built over the Yadkin River, and as it stands now, the traffic would empty into well-established neighborhoods in Advance.

Errett said proponents of the extension do not want to "just dump traffic from Clemmons into Davie County."

Errett said a feasibility study, that could take as long as four years, must first be completed. He said the study "must show promise" for the proposal to be considered further.

If "severe disruption" to surrounding neighborhoods cannot be avoided, Errett said they will drop the proposal and look for some other regional link.

Furthermore, Errett said the extension may be financially impossible. "We might just have to bite the bullet, improve I-85 and send traffic back through Clemmons," said Errett.

North Carolina Department of Transportation Division Engineer Doug Waters believes the extension of Idols Road west would be a premature decision and "very, very expensive — probably more than $4.5 million."

"Right now, I'm just not sure who it would serve," said Waters. "The demand's not out there yet."

Alfred Dillon, interim village manager of Clemmons, and Councilman Warren Kasper also have reservations about the proposal and are concerned about discussing the plan with Davie County officials.

"It's something that might be very useful to both groups of people," Kasper said, "but it's just a matter of courtesy to first discuss it with the other people who will be affected."

"It's very, very tentative," said Dillon. "We do not want to compound someone else's problems with traffic problems from Clemmons."

Few Davie County officials are familiar with the proposal. County Commissioner Bert Bahson said he's not even sure how the state can keep up with all the financing for the various road improvements currently taking place.

"I think we're getting ahead of ourselves," said Bahson.

It's no Jive, Andrew Lee Sanders, is already FIVE! He celebrated his birthday Sunday afternoon with a party at the home of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Archie Sanders. About 20 guests were served ice cream and birthday cake. Afterwards Andrew enjoyed opening a lot of nice presents. Andrew is the son of Archie Sanders Jr. and the late Lisa Ready.

IRS Offers Tax Help

One-Stop Service is now available if you need help with your federal and state income tax returns.

"The North Carolina Department of Revenue (NCDR) now has assistance for taxpayers at the Internal Revenue Service located at 320 Federal Place (Greensboro)," said Betsy Justus, secretary of NCDR. The hours are 8 a.m.-4:30 p.m. — the same as IRS.

"The IRS and NCDR are always looking for ways to work together not only to conserve resources, but also to make it easier for taxpayers to comply with federal and state tax laws," said J.R. Starkey, district director of IRS. "This is another example of our working relationship."

Assistance provided by IRS and NCDR includes answers to tax questions, help in preparing returns, and information about notices received. Federal and state tax forms are also available.

Davie's YMCA Is Highlight Of Area Capital Campaign

The YMCA of Greater Winston-Salem celebrated the completion of its successful capital campaign by announcing at a public reception Monday evening, Jan. 27, that it has raised over $6.4 million.

Approximately $2.25 million was used in the construction of the Davie County branch, which opened in June 1991.

Brian Cormier, YMCA president, and James W. Johnston, chairman and chief executive officer of R.J. Reynolds Tobacco Co. and campaign chairman, thanked the community for its support of the campaign and of all YMCA programs and activities.

Johnston presented Cormier a check for $300,000 from Reynolds Tobacco. The gift is the second installment of the company's total pledge.

Awards were presented to a number of campaign coordinators as well as to Gerald H. Long and Johnston for their personal commitment and untiring fundraising efforts.

The campaign officially began at a kickoff dinner in early 1991. Since that time, the total pledged by individuals, companies and institutions has risen to more than $6.4 million. The funds are being used toward the construction of two new facilities and renovation and overall improvements to the other five YMCA branches in Forsyth, Stokes and Davie counties.

The 33,000-square-foot Davie County facility brings a full range of services and activities to people throughout this area. In the seven months since its opening, more than 2,000 people have become members at Davie County and an additional 3,000 are participating in at least one of the ongoing activities at the branch.

A second new facility will be located off Peace Haven Road in western Forsyth County. Plans are in place and construction is scheduled to begin in the second quarter of this year.

Improvements at the Winston Lake, Kernersville, Central and Northwest branches and at Camp Hanes

The Davie Family YMCA is one result of successful regional YMCA program.

BB&T Honors Hursey

Katherine P. Hursey, customer service representative for BB&T in Mocksville, has been named to the bank's Performance Plus Club.

BB&T's Performance Plus program is designed to promote and reward outstanding customer service delivery by the nearly 150 employees in the bank's Northwestern Region. The program promotes the strengthening of relationships between the manager, the employee and the customer. Membership is awarded based on superior customer service delivery.

A native of Mocksville, Hursey is a graduate of Davie High School and joined BB&T in 1974.

David Clark, president of the Northwestern Region, said in order to be considered for the Performance Plus Club, employees must demonstrate "a clear understanding and commitment to our mission of helping our customers reach their economic and financial goals."

Hursey and her husband, Donald Hursey, have two children and two grandchildren. The family attends the First Baptist Church where Hursey has served as secretary of her Sunday School for the past 25 years.

By setting high standards for its employees, Clark said, BB&T is demonstrating its commitment to the customer. "Our theme," he said, "is 'Only The Best For You.' As the newest member of the Performance Plus Club, Katherine has proven to be one of the best."

Backyard Bird Feeders Make Good Entertainment

A backyard bird feeder will help birds survive the winter, and the birds that visit the feeder can be a daily source of entertainment.

"While it's not necessary as some people believe to keep a bird feeder constantly stocked with seed, it is a good idea to begin feeding birds early in the winter before the harshest weather arrives," said Dr. Peter Bromley, wildlife specialist-in-charge with the North Carolina Cooperative Extension Service at North Carolina State University.

Bromley said birds must learn the location of a feeder. If birds don't know they can expect to find food at a feeder, they won't know to visit the feeder during severe weather, when they need assistance.

Ice storms are particularly difficult for birds to survive, Bromley said, because the seeds they could normally find on the ground and on plants become coated with ice and unobtainable.

"Some people believe that once a bird feeder is stocked with seeds under no circumstances should it be allowed to run dry. Those who believe a feeder should never be empty reason that because birds become accustomed to and depend on a feeder, they'll starve if the feeder is suddenly empty."

"Bromley said that's not the case. He explained that birds typically feed at a number of different sites. If they don't find food at one site, they just move on to the next one."

Bird feeders are available in a number of designs and across a range of prices, but a simple platform on which seeds are spread will accomplish the same end as the most elaborate feeder.

Squirrels usually find bird feeders as attractive as birds do and are difficult to discourage from visiting a feeder. While bird feeders that claim to be squirrel proof are available, another approach is to feed the squirrels along with the birds.

Bromley said a squirrel feeder can easily be made by driving a nail through a board, then pushing a ear of corn into the nail. The nail will hold the corn in place while squirrels much on it.

Scientists have learned from what amount to avian taste tests that most birds prefer various types of sunflower seeds to other seeds, Bromley said. Black, oil-type sunflower seeds, which are smaller than other types of sunflower seeds, are preferred by the widest range of birds. Niger, which is more commonly known as thistle, is also a preferred food, especially by smaller birds such as goldfinches.

It's a good idea to make water available along with seed, Bromley added. He said birds need water to properly digest many seeds.

For those who want to go beyond bird feeders and bird baths, planting shrubs is a good way to provide birds with both food and cover. Autumn olive, a bushy shrub that produces reddish-orange berries, Tartarian honey suckle and various types of hollis produce berries that birds like and provide areas in which birds can take cover. The berries on these plants are persistent; they stay on the plant well into the winter, which is important.

Thickets and dense hedges, which provide birds with cover in which to hide, also attract birds and help them survive. A kit called Gardening with Wildlife, which gives examples of and described how to plant landscapes that attract birds, is available from the National Wildlife Foundation.

Watching and identifying the birds that visit a feeder can be a daily source of entertainment. Bromley suggested investing in a good bird book to help identify feeder visitors and a moderately priced pair of binoculars, the better to watch the birds.

Seed-eating birds will be the most common feeder visitors during the winter. Bromley said most insect-eating birds migrate. Seed-eaters such as blue jays, cardinals, chickadees, evening grosbeaks, tufted titmice and various finches and sparrows can be expected to frequent a bird feeder in winter. Woodpeckers and nuthatches, which are attracted to seed and will feed on suet, are also part of the winter landscape.

PHARISEES AND SADDUCEES...

THE TWO MOST IMPORTANT POLITICAL PARTIES IN ANCIENT JERUSALEM, THEY WERE DIRECTLY OPPOSED TO ONE ANOTHER IN MATTERS OF SPIRITUAL FAITH—THE PHARISEES BELIEVED IN THE IMMORTALITY OF THE SOUL AND IN THE RESURRECTION OF THE BODY—IN OPPOSITION, THE SADDUCEES DENIED ANY LIFE AFTER DEATH OR RESURRECTION, ASSERTING THAT THE SOUL DIED WITH THE BODY—ALTHOUGH OPPOSING EACH OTHER IN MOST MATTERS THE PHARISEES AND THE SADDUCEES CAME TOGETHER ON THE MATTER OF JESUS OF NAZARETH AND PLOTTED TOGETHER TO BRING ABOUT HIS DOWNFALL.

AS JOHN THE BAPTIST CALLED THEM "A GENERATION OF VIPERS (MAT. 3:7) SO JESUS CALLED THEM AS HE WARNED THE DISCIPLES AGAINST THEM, AND AFTER THE CRUCIFIXION, THE PHARISEES AND SADDUCEES JOINED WITH THE PRIESTS AND THE CAPTAIN OF THE TEMPLE IN THE ACTS OF PERSECUTING PETER AND JOHN (ACTS 4:1-23). ALSO BOTH PHARISEES AND THE SADDUCEES WERE IN THE SAN-HEDRIN WHICH TRIED PAUL, BUT THIS APOSTLE, TAKING NOTE OF THE FACT THAT THEY WERE OF TWO OPINIONS, CLEVERLY SET THEM AT ARGUING WITH EACH OTHER, SO VIOLENTLY THAT THE CHIEF CAPTAIN OF THE ROMANS HAD PAUL REMOVED BEFORE ANY HARM SHOULD COME TO HIM BEFORE HE ARRIVED AT HIS TRIAL IN ROME (ACTS 23:6-10).

Brandi's Homecoming Results In OT Victory

By Ronnie Gallagher
Davie County Enterprise-Record

Brandi Blackwood was born in the small Davie County town of Cooleemee. Unfortunately for girls basketball coach Angie Jarvis, she didn't stay.

Blackwood, who now plays for West Forsyth, made her Homecoming one to remember Friday night by scoring 23 points, the last three from the free throw line to lead the Titans to a 63-59 overtime victory over Davie.

While West improved to 7-6 overall and 2-2 in the Central Piedmont Conference, Davie dropped its fourth straight league game and fell to 4-9 overall.

Jarvis was impressed with Blackwood. "She's a good shooter and she obviously has the best player," Jarvis said. "We tried special defenses but she scored anyway. I think most of her points came from the free throw line."

Blackwood flashed into the middle time and again, drawing fouls. She eventually hit nine free throws and had a helping hand in five Davie County players fouling out by the overtime period.

"It was the same thing," Jarvis said of the loss. "We made too many turnovers, committed too many fouls and missed too many free throws."

In another game last week, Reynolds also defeated Davie, 55-49.

Coming Back

Davie lost its 27-22 halftime lead by being outscored 15-8 in the third period. West's biggest lead was 52-43 with two minutes left.

"Every game we have a lull that lasts about an entire quarter," said Jarvis. "This time, it was the third."

But the War Eagles fought back. Andrea Gentry swished three straight three-pointers, the last coming with 1:11 remaining in regulation to pull Davie within 54-52.

West missed four straight free throws but Davie kept botching its chances with turnovers. Finally, with 16 seconds left, Casey Jenkins took a pass and drove the baseline, where she flipped in the tying points, forcing overtime.

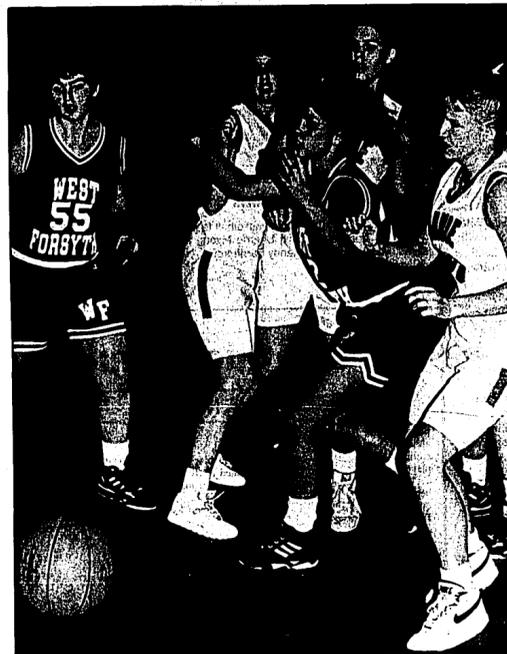

"She can hit that kind of shot," Jarvis said of the pretty drive.

"We could've pulled up for a three to try and win but our percentage on three-pointers is bad," Jarvis said. "Casey did exactly what I told her."

West took a quick two-point lead in overtime but Dot Spaug then took over. Davie's whirlwind dervish drove for a basket and turned a steal into a layup and Davie led 58-56. But the only other War Eagle point came on Jenkins' free throw in the closing moments. Meanwhile, Blackwood was scoring the winning points from the free throw line.

"Dot really gave us a lift," Jarvis said, "not

Titans Overcome War Eagles' 5-Point Lead

By Ronnie Gallagher
Davie County Enterprise-Record

Davie County boys basketball coach Charles Crenshaw could hardly bring himself to join his players in the locker room after West Forsyth's come-from-behind 61-58 win over the War Eagles Friday night in front of a packed house in Mocksville.

Davie led the Titans 58-53 with 2:31 remaining but West scored the game's final eight points to send Davie reeling to its fifth straight defeat.

"I hated to see their faces after a game like this," Crenshaw said. "This was a dagger through the heart. I told them to keep their chin up and get out of here."

Crenshaw is tired of hearing how competitive his team has become. He's ready to win a few.

"We've played everybody in the league but Grimsley and there is no one that we didn't play with," he said. "But tonight, this could've been such a great win for our program. A win would've meant so much more to us than to them."

Instead, it became Davie's fifth straight loss, all in the league. The War Eagles lost earlier in the week to Reynolds, 61-48.

Losing The Lead

After trading baskets and momentum throughout the game, Davie finally started taking control with four minutes left.

Trailing 51-50, Tyrone Martin swished a 10-footer and Bubba Coleman turned a steal into a layup for a 54-51 advantage.

After Scott Falin's two free throws cut it to one, Keith Koontz hit four straight free throws and Davie led 58-53. West coach Denny Key

Too Much Friendship For A Real Rivalry

After watching Davie County and West Forsyth play each other for the past six years, it became apparent to me Friday night.

No matter how much a few people may want the two schools to be arch-rivals, they aren't. Go ahead and admit it. There's simply too much friendship between the people of Davie County and Clemmons.

On the surface, it would appear the two schools were made for arch-rival status. Only 17 miles and the Yadkin River separate the two. They're in the same conference. West's basketball coach, Denny Key, used to coach at Davie.

But to be an arch-rival, there needs to be some feuding, some mouthing off and some true dislike for one another. Friday night, when West visited Davie for a basketball doubleheader, there was none of that. Davie people sat on West's side and Clemmons people sat on Davie's side. When the games were over, they all met on the court to exchange pleasantries.

An arch-rivalry? No way.

You know whose fault this is, don't you? The person who did away with the rivalry doesn't live in Davie County or Clemmons. He lives in Kernersville.

Dale James is the reason there is no rivalry.

Before he became the coach of the Grimsley: Latest Challenger To Wrestlers' Hold On Title

By Ronnie Gallagher
Davie County Enterprise-Record

When Buddy Lowery looks at the North Davie Junior High wrestling program, he usually thinks of the future.

But this week, he was looking at Ron Kirk's program as the present.

Going into Thursday night's Central Piedmont Conference's showdown at Grimsley, Lowery is missing his 112-pounder, as well as his 145-pounder due to grades. Their absence couldn't have come at a worse time for Lowery, since Grimsley is a hot wrestling team.

Each year, Davie has one real challenger for the CPC title. Two years ago, it was a strong South Rowan team. Last season, it was Mount Tabor, who shocked the War Eagles with a 28-28 tie.

Now, it is the Whirlies, a team that started slowly but has won six of its last seven matches and stands undefeated in the conference. Unlike Lowery, Grimsley coach Rodney James has a full roster.

Lowery

Trying to offset his losses, Lowery called state officials, inquiring whether he could go down to North Davie and bring up some wrestlers. The answer was no.

"The rule says you can bring them up if they aren't already on a team," Lowery explained. "You can send somebody down to ninth grade but you can't bring one up. I figure what's good for one, should be good for the other."

Lowery wanted to bring up Kirk's 112-pounder Scotty Spry but it appears now, he will forfeit 103 and 112.

Christie Says...

South Rowan wrestling coach Jimmy Christie has lost to both teams and has no doubt Davie could have won — until the losses at 112 and 145. Christie thinks it may have an effect on Davie's number one state ranking.

"With Buddy losing those two kids, it hurts," he said. "With them, I think Buddy could pretty much win easily. But now he may go into the 125-pound match down 18-0."

Trying to get Spry was Lowery's last-ditch attempt.

"There isn't a 112-pounder on our campus that could help us," he said.

The Big Question: Where Is West?

It was the easiest two points of time and didn't make it back to the court on time for the second half. The referees handed the ball to Davie, which rebounded and scored easily.

Somehow, the Titans lost track of time and didn't make it back to the court on time for the second half. The referees handed the ball to Davie, which rebounded and scored easily.

After the ball fell through the nets, the officials and Davie players seemed unsure of what to do next. West was out in the lobby, scrambling to get back to the court.

Instead of putting the ball on the floor and counting off a five-second call, the refs let Davie pick it up, stand there, and then took the ball away again. By that time, West was back on the court.

"They didn't know what was going on," Davie coach Angie Jarvis said.

She tried to argue the point with one of the officials, who simply brushed her off.

"We should have gotten at least one more basket out of it," she said. "It's a cheap way to score but we'll take it."

Jarvis thought that her team should have shot some three-pointers.

"West wasn't out there yet, so I wish we would've shot some threes. We had to get the rebound. We were the only ones out there."

In The Playoffs
Regardless of who wins the Davie-Grimsley wrestling match Thursday, both have already secured a dual team playoff spot.

The two teams are undefeated going into the match. The Central Piedmont Conference will have three berths.

The other will go to either Mount Tabor or South Rowan. Mount Tabor had only one loss coming into this week but had to face Davie and South Rowan. South is 3-2.

Impressed With North
South Rowan coach Jimmy Christy has had his hands busy this year, coaching South Rowan's varsity, jayvee and ninth grade wrestling teams.

And he's definitely impressed with North Davie.

"Having those junior high teams really pay off for the high school," Christy said. "Ron Kirk has good wrestlers but I'm impressed with how physical they are."

Christy thinks his team may be on the verge of breaking Davie's dominance. China Grove went undefeated this year (6-7-8 grade) and Corshier-Lipe won its first match in four years.

In fact, in high school match, South held Davie to its lowest point total of the year in a dual match: 37.

"But we always come up short,"

Notebook

When his ninth grade team wrestled North Davie, it fell into the same category of all of Kirk's opponents.

"He scored 84 on me," Christy said.

Fight For Second
When the North Piedmont Conference holds its freshmen wrestling tournament at North Davie Feb. 1, there's little doubt who will come out on top in a cakewalk.

Ron Kirk's Wildcats have shellacked every opponent they've met this year so why should anything change?

But there should be a whale of a battle for second.

"Southeasters, Stokes, South Davie, Chestnut Grove and South Rowan — they've all split with one another," said Kirk.

How does he feel about his team winning it all again?

"I'm not saying we can't get beat," Kirk said. "If we do, it won't be because I haven't wrestled the team about a lewdown."

"It's hard to beat somebody two or three times in one season."

There will be six teams competing in the freshman tournament. North Davidson went to a middle school last year and has only grades 6-8. The freshmen are at the high school, but coach Mike Lambros is bringing a group from that school to reunite with their old adversaries.

"He said he might bring around 11," said Kirk.

JV Tournament
There was only one thing missing from last week's North Piedmont Conference jayvee wrestling tournament at North Davie.

China Grove. Since going to a middle school, China Grove has a team made up of sixth, seventh and eighth graders and dropped out of the NPC. It is now in a league with Rowan County middle schools.

The Red Devils, always one of the Davie County schools' top competitors, went 11-0 this year.

And wouldn't you know it? After years of suffering at the hands of North Davie, China Grove coach Jim Barringer finally has a formidable opponent. Kirk said he'd love to have China Grove in the tournament but...

"There's a rule that a junior high can only be in one tournament a year," Kirk said. "They have their own league tournament."

Grinding Out
There's nothing good about flunking off a team but if there is any kind of silver lining, it's that other players get a chance to play.

Take the Davie County jayvee boys, which had four losses their eligibility due to grades and lost one to the varsity. Coach Mike Dinkins said it does give his former reserves a chance.

Players like Jason and Scott Tutterow, Jason Smith and Charlie Markland have gone from sitting to playing an important role.

Jason Tutterow scored 14 points in a game last week, Markland came on to hit two three-pointers in another. Smith scored 19 in a game.

"The experience these boys are getting will help the program," said Dinkins, who added he didn't feel sorry for the boys who had grade problems. Instead, he focuses on the ones who are with him now.

"I cut Charlie Markland twice in junior high but he kept working on his game and look, he's getting the playing time now," Dinkins said. "Jason Tutterow has played his best games for me in the last two weeks."

"I've been around this sport a long time and I've had players quit and have problems with grades. But after they leave, you forget their names. You forget them because you have other players to try and build the team around. They are the ones we can count on in the future to be there for us and help build the program."

CPC Recruiting
So, you thought Davie County had a recruiting pipeline to Wingate College, huh? Concord College, an NAIA power in West Virginia, is doing the same thing.

Former Legion baseball player Taylor Addington became the latest Titan to join that program, signing with the school last week.

Addington, a 6-1, 230-pound defensive lineman, attended

Brevard Junior College last year, where he played baseball. He spent two seasons with the Mocksville Legion team.

That brings the total of former West Davie basketball players to five. Jeff Dunn, Marion Hawkins, Oscar Braun, Anvarone Bay and Addington are in the program.

It will probably become six when Freddie Transou signs later this spring. During Friday night's West-Davie basketball game, Transou said Concord wanted him for football and baseball.

"They told me I could wait until the spring to sign," Transou said. He explained that if he had a good spring baseball season at West, then bigger schools may come calling. But Concord will wait on him.

Concord has also recruited Toby Kennedy and Andy Everhardt from Davie this season.

Wingate had five former Davie players on its roster this past fall: Stan Blair, Billy Blackwelder, Kendall Chiffin, Gary Blacklock and Dale Parrish. The Bulldogs lost Blair and Blackwelder but are after other Davie players, including the hard-hitting Everhardt.

More CPC Recruiting
The Central Piedmont Conference had several signings last week and Davie knows all of them quite well. Several helped hand Davie part of its seven losses in 1991.

Versatile running back/defensive back E.J. Gunthrope of Parkland signed with East Carolina. Mount Tabor lineman Tom Dombalis is going from Fork Union to N.C. State University. Grimsley lineman Zaarr McCoy and receiver Cedric Combo are headed for N.C. A&T. called a timeout with 2:31 remaining.

"I told our guys that we absolutely had to stop them every time from that point," he said. "We also hoped we could get to the foul line."
"In less than a minute, West had the lead. A Davie turnover at the 2:01 mark resulted in two David Jordan free throws. A turnover at the 1:45 mark resulted in a 15-footer by J.J. Oliver, cutting the lead to 58-57.
"With 1:38 remaining, John Taylor swished two for a 59-58 Tjan-lead. Davie immediately went inside to the 6-1 Martin, where he collided with Oliver but no foul was called.
"Tyrone was mugged all night and didn't get the calls," complained Crenshaw.
West stalled to the 21-second mark, where Falin added two more points for the three-point cushion. Davie rushed the ball downcourt where Chip Carter's three-pointer was blocked by Taylor. Falin recovered the ball as time ran out.
"We were very lucky to win tonight," said Key. "It was our hardest game of the year. But we have smart players. We feel very good when we go to the free throw line."

Stopping J.J.
Davie had trouble containing Oliver, who finished with 23 points on a variety of shots.
"He's the kid that hurt us," Crenshaw said. "They'd run him off about three screens and he hit the shots."
Key's seen it all before. "J.J.'s a great offensive player. You need something special to stop him," he said.
Oliver scored nine in the second quarter as both teams took turns spurting to the lead. West grabbed his biggest lead at 34-28 in the third quarter.
Koonz then came alive, scoring all nine of his points in the final half. His three-point play pulled Davie within one and Jason Phelps scored four straight late in the quarter to give Davie its first lead of the second half, 43-42. The lead see-sawed until the final buzzer.
"We couldn't have played any harder," said Crenshaw. "Keith gave us a great lift off the bench. Bubba played well and Tyrone was awesome, scoring and rebounding. The crowd was behind us. I just wish we could've given them a win tonight."

Harper Who?
Crenshaw seemed miffed after the loss to Reynolds. His team had held 6-10 center Jiri Formanek to three points. Mica Smith had only one. Husky 6-5 Brian Nickerson scored only four.
But who was this guy, Harper Lee?
Reynolds coach Howard West will tell you he's a three-point threat. Davie knows after watching him sink five treys, score 19 points and lead Reynolds to the victory.
"Formanek was not a factor, except maybe mentally," Crenshaw said. "Lee killed us."
Another factor was Davie's fourth quarter collapse.
"It was the same old story," Crenshaw said. "We were in it going into the fourth and couldn't do anything. They spread the court late and got some layups."
Reynolds was up only 45-40 after three periods but outscored Davie 16-8 in the final eight minutes.

Davie stayed close through three quarters thanks to a press that got some transition baskets. Coleman had 11 first half points as Davie trailed only 33-29 at halftime.
In the second half, however, Coleman shot only twice, finishing with 13.
"Wherever he went, they had somebody on him, sometimes two people," Crenshaw said. "Tyrone tried to take up the slack and he played well. He was hitting 20-footers over people."
Davie was also hurt on the boards, getting only 19, eight by Carter.
"We shot the ball 42 times and they only shot it 46, which aren't many attempts," Crenshaw pointed out. "But they'd hold it for two minutes before they shot —

Grimsley

Christie said the absence of a 112-pounder hurts more than Lowery thinks.
"That's Grimsley's weakest weight class," he said.
"Now they're going to get points there."
At 119, Matt Wilson will face one Wilson of Piedmont North Carolina's top wrestlers in Alex Akers, who entered this week at 26-2. Lowery said James may move him up to 125 to face his star, Jon Ward, simply because he defeated Ward twice last season. But Christie says that probably won't happen.
"I don't believe he'll move Akers up," Christie said. "Davie should win at 125 (Ward) and 130 (Kropfelder). Grimsley wants to make sure it gets a win at 119."

At 135, Christie likes William Cutler, who is 24-1 and, in his opinion, awesome. He handed South's Marc Bopp his only loss of the season, 10-9.
"Cutler has an awesome cradle," Christie said. "The cradle is what beat Bopp."
Davie's Lee Albary is at 135 and will have his hands full with Cutler.
"Lee is kind of in the shadows," said Lowery, "but he's going to have to get something done."
Benji Frye should meet Jon Fox (22-6) at 140 in what Christie thinks will be a pivotal match. Grimsley's Chris King is heavily favored at 145 over the 145 replacement, sophomore Chris Comatzer. Chris Mann, Shane Mauldin and James Coulton should be favored from 152 to 171.
At 189, Brad Groce will meet 21-2 Tony Cleveland and Brian Beyer will square off with 188-pound Jason Leone (20-5) at

Mocksville Legion baseball team in 1989, West and Davie had all the makings of a budding rivalry. West kids sang "Old MacDonald" to Davie's side. Davie kids responded by wearing farmer's clothes and looking as hick as possible.
It was kind of funny, Davie kids never thought too highly of the E-I-E-I-O cheers because they had heard Reynolds did the same thing to West. Reynolds thinks West is a bunch of farmers.
But then, here comes James in to coach a Legion team that has both Davie and West players. By the end of that magical summer, the Legion had won 38 games and the boys were fishing together. Fans from the two communities spent three months together and became friends.
Friday night, fans of both schools assembled at Davie to give that doubleheader the largest crowd of any in the Central Piedmont Conference this season. They packed the place. And there was no threat of violence, just a good time.
Davie fans cheered for West's Desiree Anders. They used to go to school with her before the Bermuda Run resident transferred. Others cheered for Brandi Blackwood, remembering her family when she was born in Coolceese. When Davie's fight song began playing, West kids did the tomahawk chop right along with the War Eagles.

And then there were the Keys, father and son. The last winning basketball season Davie had was when Key coached. Big Key sat in the bleachers before the boys game handing out cards of his son, who plays in the Cleveland Indians organization. After the game, Little Key stood on the court, autographing them.
Freddie Transou, a former Mocksville Legion star, stood in the lobby before the girls game, being greeted by numerous Davie fans. He too agrees there is no rivalry between the schools.
Transou told the story of the West football riding to Davie back in the fall. Once they got into the city limits of Mocksville, they began chiding Transou with, "This is Freddie's town. This is Freddie's town."
Transou sat in the stands with a former Davie baseball player who pointed to a West cheerleader. "That's who I date," he said proudly.
If this was a true arch-rivalry, he wouldn't want anyone to know that.

Even the coaches say there is no rivalry.
"It's not like Carolina or State," said Charles Crenshaw. "I don't have any hate for West Forsyth. I'd rather beat West Rowan. That's who we played when I was in school here."
Key said, "Our kids think Mount Tabor and Reynolds are our big rivalries."
"My personal biggest rival is Davie and I try and let the people know that. I like the people here so much. The only time I root against them is when we play. I hope they win every other game."
When the two down-to-the-wire thrillers were over Friday night, people from both sides joined to shake hands, pat each other on the back and there was unbelievably — walk out together. It almost seemed like we wanted to be together. This was definitely no hot rivalry. We're going to stay friendly too. When Clemmons builds his K-Mart, we're all coming to get jobs. The mayor over there has already predicted that.
Whether it's in the stands or behind a K-Mart counter, we're joining together. Hands Across The Yadkin, if you will.
I just wish Dale James could've been at the games Friday. He's the reason for all of this, you know.

only in overtime but during regulation, covering Blackwood. She scored 23 but Dot kept her from scoring more. Blackwood scored most of them when Dot wasn't guarding her.
"She's going to get some playing time," Jarvis said of Spaugh. "She's earned it."
But Spaugh and the other guards couldn't make up for the lack of offense inside, according to Jarvis. The inside starters combined to shoot 1-13 from the field and 1-9 from the foul line.
"I ended up getting seven points from my inside people," Jarvis said, shaking her head. "I'm tired of people telling me, 'Good game.' I want then to say 'Good

Coming Up Short
Davie had a bad start against Reynolds, scoring only 17 points in the first half. The War Eagles scored that many in the third period alone.
"Fouls were the story in that one," said Jarvis of Reynolds' 51 attempts. "It was just another 'close but no cigar' game."
Brown led the way in this one, scoring 18 points while Gentry added 15.
win every now and then. We're young but we're going to have pull a few of these out."
Gentry finished with 22 points and Carrie Brown had 17 for Davie. West placed four in double figures, including 13 from Emily Tussey, Jill Malton with 11 and Nikki Richmond with 10.

Notes:
* Gentry was 4-of-5 from three-point range against West.
* Davie was 5-of-18 from the foul line against West, while West was 15-of-38. Davie missed all six of its attempts in the third quarter.
In two games last week, Davie shot 36 free throws but the opponents shot 87.
* Only five players scored against Reynolds, including April Olliphant with eight and Jenkins with three.
* Reynolds has gone from the bottom to the top of the conference in one year. After defeating Davie, the Demons were 8-2 overall.
* Davie plays Grimsley in the last home Friday game and goes to Dudley next Tuesday. The War Eagles visit Mount Tabor Feb. 7.

JV Boys Reeling After Two More Losses

Mike Dinkins just looked at the clock. Then, he looked again. He rubbed his eyes and looked. He couldn't believe what he saw. His Davie County jayvee boys basketball team was trailing West Forsyth at the end of the first quarter, 29-9.

"I've been behind by 20 points at halftime and at the end of the game," he said after Davie's 91-65 loss to the Titans Friday night. "But never have I been down by 20 after the first quarter."

The defending Central Piedmont Conference jayvee champions have now lost five straight league games, which also includes a heart-breaking 86-84 decision to Reynolds earlier in the week.

Losing To West

Dinkins had been told by West coaches that the Titans had their best jayvee team in years and he believed them after the first quarter.

"We made mistakes we ordinarily don't make. And they shot very well. It was just their night."

Losing To Reynolds

again over the two-point loss to Reynolds.

The score was tied at 84 when Davie committed a foul. Reynolds hit the first but missed the second. Davie fouled again while going for the rebound and Reynolds hit the first shot. Davie grabbed the rebound off the second shot with five seconds remaining. Scott Tutterow's shot at the buzzer banked off the board, hit the rim and fell off.

Davie had made quite a comeback to get into position to win. Trailing 71-62 entering the fourth period, Davie outscored Reynolds, 22-15 the rest of the way. Marnic Lewis scored six in the quarter and Jason Tutterow had eight of his 14 points.

Jason Smith had a career high 19 points.

Gerald Roberts scored 14 in the game, while Cassidy had another 11-point effort.

Notes:

- Davie fell to 5-6 overall and 0-5 in the CPC.
- Roberts led Davie against West with 13 points. Brent Cassidy scored 11.

JV Girls Have No Trouble In CPC Victories

Davie County jayvee girls coach Sherrie Myers was seething after her team's game with West Forsyth Friday afternoon.

Not because the War Eagles lost. They won big, 43-24.

"Their coach accused me of running up the score," she said, "because I put Brooke Holcomb back in during the fourth quarter."

Myers wasn't running it up, she assured. The final score resulted in her team just being so much better than the Titans, whether West's coach realizes that or not. West shot only 2-for-15 at the free throw line, for instance.

Davie remained in first place in the Central Piedmont Conference with a 4-1 league record. Reynolds also fell to Davie, 45-29. There was no talk of running it up in this one, by the way.

Beating West

Davie's defense and rebounding kept West's offense at bay, running out to a 12-4 lead after one quarter. It was 21-12 at halftime and 30-19 after three quarters.

Nine different players scored for Myers, including Amy Whaley's 12. Amy Mason scored eight and Holcomb added seven.

Myers said her team plays much better in the second half.

"We don't get off to fast starts," she said. "The final scores are deceiving sometimes because we're never up much at halftime. "But they get chewed out at halftime and play better," she said with a grin.

"No, really, we make adjustments and the girls always try and do what I ask. It's a good time to regroup."

Beating West

A good example of the slow stars came against Reynolds. After a close first quarter, Mason and Holcomb finally gave Davie some breathing room in the second period.

Mason and Holcomb scored all 14 second quarter points, Mason totaling eight. Both finished with 14.

"She's a very aggressive person," Myers said of Mason. "She'll take it to the hoop and put it in their face. She works hard for her points."

Also working hard for her points was reliable Anna Robertson. The junior scored nine against Reynolds.

Notes:

- Davie is 7-2 overall.
- Davie shot 13-of-23 from the foul line against West.
- Seven of Whaley's 12 points against West came in the fourth period.

Relay Team Scores Help DC Swimmers

WINSTON-SALEM — The Davie County boys and girls swim teams had strong performances last week in four-team meets at Winston-Salem State University.

The boys placed second behind West Forsyth, 207-134. The girls were also second with 105 points, behind West's 187.

Boys Meet
Brian Tribble was in on three first place finishes.

The junior won the 50 freestyle (23:40) and 100 butterfly (59:09) and was part of the winning 200 freestyle relay team. He joined Cam Kofke, Matt Osborne and Jones.

Two relay teams placed second. The 400 relay was made up of Osborne, Bryan McNeil, Craig Bigenho and Alex Stockton. The 400 freestyle relay was made up of Tribble, Jones, Stockton and Bigenho.

Davie had six individual third place finishes:

- McNeil placed in the 200 freestyle and 100 backstroke.
- Kofke was third in the 100 freestyle and 100 breaststroke.

Wrestlers Win

Several area wrestlers came away with first place finishes in freestyle tournaments at West Mecklenburg recently.

Placing first in first round action of the first tournament were Patrick Lowery (75 pounds), Scott Cornatzer (95), Josh Nail (115), Chad Nichols (120), Matt Sain (125) and Neil Cornatzer (130).

North Wins JV Tournament

Ron Kirk had to hold his breath while the North Davie jayvee wrestling team eked out a 5 1/2-point victory over West Iredell in the North Piedmont Conference invitational jayvee tournament Saturday at North.

Had West won in the heavyweight finals, it would have defeated North by a half-point. Had West's 112-pounder not injured his wrist and defaulted in the finals, it could have been a different story.

"West Iredell is good, we knew that," said Kirk, whose jayvee team defeated West earlier this season.

North had four winners, led by 132-pounder Neil Cornatzer, who was named by the coaches Most Valuable Wrestler.

"Neil could have easily started for me on varsity," Kirk said of his eighth grader. "He's only two or three points behind Justin Jensen. He's a real smooth wrestler."

Also winning for the Wildcats were Chad Stevens (105), Daniel Brewer (137) and Jansen King (142).

South Davie only brought four wrestlers but had a winner. Chad Nichols defeated North's David Days at 121.

Placing second for North were Eric Bracken, who lost in the finals to Mickey Jordan of West, and Sam Griffin at 191.

Third place finishers were Eric Crutchfield (75), Chris Driver (85), Daniel Baily (114) and Kyle Bailey (127).

Nichols was the only winner for South. Carl Grant was third at 173. He beat North's David Kooz.

"It was a real good tournament, one of the best we've ever had as far as being competitive," said Kirk.

North will host the varsity NPC tournament this Saturday, starting at around 10 a.m.

Trinity 130, Chestnut Grove 128, Statesville 99, Southeastern Stokes 62, Lexington 51 and South Davie 48.

Notes:
• Team scores were: North 48.

North JVs Win Two

Carol Cozart will be the first to say she loves the starters on her North Davie jayvee girls team. But she had a few good things to say about the bench after North's 39-17 pasting of Trinity last week.

With the victory, North stayed in the thick of the North Piedmont Conference race.

"We had more fouls than I wanted but the bench played the last quarter and still gained on the score," Cozart said.

The boys are in high gear, winning their fourth game of the season, coming from behind to defeat Trinity, 46-42.

Girls Win
Heather Johnson and Kelly Robertson came off the bench to help North's girls win.

Inside power Tami Ramsey got in foul trouble in the first three minutes of the girls game. Cozart replaced her with Johnson, who swished three three-pointers on the night for nine points.

"She did a terrific job," Cozart praised. "And Kelly Robertson came off the bench and did a good job rebounding, passing, as well as scoring."

Angela Mayers and Roxanne Steele dominated Trinity's backcourt, combining for 14 points and 10 steals.

Boys Win
North's boys waited until crunch time to crunch Trinity.

North trailed for three quarters. The Wildcats were down 12-7 after one quarter and 21-19 at halftime. The margin was still two, 31-29 going into the fourth period.

That's when North finally made one last run to win, outscoring Trinity 17-11. Lee Puckett led the surge, scoring five of his eight points in the final six minutes, including four free throws.

Jason Murphy had four in the final period and led all scorers with 11. Rhamen Love-Lane matched Puckett with eight and Timmy Gilbreath scored seven, including one three-pointer. Clay Jones chipped in with six.

Notes:
• North's girls are now 7-2 on the season.
• The boys are 4-5.
• Laura Moyer was 4-for-4 on the foul line and pulled down 13 rebounds.

WRD Students Really Reading

WILLIAM R. DAVIE — B.J. Keller likes race cars, the kind that go fast. And when it comes to reading about race cars, B.J. is no slow poke. The William R. Davie Elementary School student has read 1,862 book pages since school began last fall. He's one of 16 reading students who have reached the year's goal of 500 pages. A quilt in the school hallway depicts the cover of each of these students' favorite book. It was made by the children. "They illustrated their favorite book, then we put it all together for a quilt," said Mimi Cunningham, teacher. Most of the pages the students get credit for are books they read at home. "We're trying to emphasize reading at home," she said. "We're just trying to get them excited about William R. Davie reading students who have reached the 500-page goal include: 1st row, Joshua Grob, Paula Whitaker, Amanda Wagener, Kimberly York, Timmy Shoffner, Scotty Potts, J.D. Powell, Alicia Shoffner; back row, Tommy Riggs, LaTasha Palmer, Brandon Anderson, Christopher Barnette, Tiffany Walker, B.J. Keller, Tracy Allen and Lashonda Gailher.

Interested persons may contact Holland H. Chaffin, Veterans Service Officer, County Office Building, Room 201, Mocksville. Applications must be received by May 31.

Wal-Mart Offers Award

Officials of the Mocksville Wal-Mart store have announced a $1,000 Wal-Mart Foundation community scholarship will be presented this spring to an area high school student. The scholarship, payable over a one-year period and awarded to a college or university bound student, will be based on the student's scholastic and academic achievements, extracurricular and work activities, as well as financial need. Store Manager Harold Wood said, "We are very proud to offer this annual scholarship to a deserving area student on behalf of our store and the company. This is one of many efforts by Wal-Mart Stores, Inc. to support education and enhance the opportunities of our area youth as well as contribute to the quality of life in the communities we serve." Wood said a team of judges, consisting of area business and community leaders, will be formed to evaluate the applications and conduct student interviews before making final selection. Interested students may obtain applications from their school counselor or administrative office. Applications must be returned to their school by the third week in February.

Safety Lesson WRD Students Learn How To Escape Fires

By Beth Cassidy
Davie County Enterprise-Record

Approximately 250 students and teachers at William R. Davie Elementary School recently got some valuable information — how to save themselves in case of a fire.

The William R. Davie Volunteer Fire Department sponsored a fire safety education class, complete with a children's fire safety house Friday, Jan. 24.

Roger Beck, volunteer fireman, said the two-story house, built on a trailer frame, was donated for use by the Yadkinville Fire Department. Three Yadkinville firemen joined about 12 William R. Davie firemen to teach the children the stop, drop, and roll method, if their clothes catch on fire, how to check to see if a doorknob is hot, and how to escape from a burning house.

Inside the house, Beck said, were a stove, fireplace, and Christmas tree, and children learned about hot burners, the danger of a fireplace with no screen, using outdoor lights on an indoor Christmas tree, and using too many extension cords. They were also able to dial 911, and Beck said someone was on duty to answer the phone and ask questions, as if it was a "real" call.

Members of the Davie County EMS and Davie County Rescue Squad were on hand to provide a tour of an ambulance and answer questions.

"Theatrical smoke was used in the house, and children were taught how to drop and crawl out of the house on their hands and knees. They were also told to never go back inside the house once they had escaped."

Beck said he recently heard of a 6 year old boy who attended a similar class who was able to save his sister when their house caught on fire. "We try to teach them fire education and what to do in case of a fire, and we hope it helps. I'm sure it does."

William R. Davie Fire Department is planning to build their own child safety house, Beck said, and they have already been contacted by two other fire departments that want to use the house.

"It's a really good program. If it wasn't, I wouldn't take a day off work to do it."

Children were taught how to escape from a house filled with smoke.

Judge Refuses To Reduce Bonds Of Drug Defendants

By Beth Cassidy
Davie County Enterprise-Record

Six people arrested at the Comfort Inn Jan. 13 had their first appearance in Davie District Court Thursday. They were denied bond reductions.

Those arrested and charged with conspiracy to traffic in marijuana and conspiracy to traffic in cocaine were: Terena Renee "Cockle" Cook, 29, of Route 1, Advance; Christopher Lee Mathis, alias for Michael Ralph Holbrook, 31, of Rock Hill, S.C.; Leubardo Rodriguez Jr., 38, of Corpus Christi, Texas; Ramiro Suarez, 40, of Alice, Texas; Harold Gray Winters, 44, of Route 7, Calabash; and Oliver M. Garcia, 39, of Alice, Texas.

Each is being held in Davie County Jail in lieu of a $500,000 bond.

According to Davie Sheriff's Detective Jerry Williams, the defendants were arrested at Comfort Inn as they prepared to buy 600 pounds of marijuana and three kilos (6.6 pounds) of cocaine. Williams testified in court that no drugs or weapons were found on any of those arrested, although Terena Cook was charged with possession of marijuana and possession of drug paraphernalia.

Five Greensboro attorneys and one Mocksville attorney, Rob Raisbeck, who is representing Cook, argued that there was not enough evidence to substantiate such a large bond. Holbrook's attorney, Locke Clifford, called upon several family members of Holbrook's, residents of Wilkes County, who said they were willing to put up their property if Holbrook's bond was reduced.

"My client's criminal record consists of four DWIs, over a period of 15-20 years," Clifford said. "His last was in 1986, and he got a phony South Carolina driver's license with the Mathis name, simply so he could drive his automobile. He's not proud of this but he comes here today and admits it."

"In light of the paucity of the evidence, the fact that he's a local person, and the fact that his family is willing to put up everything they own, I am asking that his bond be reduced to $100,000, secured by real estate."

Garcia's attorney, Charles L. White, said that since his client is disabled (he lost a leg to diabetes) and receives a disability check each month, "the government knows where he is or he doesn't live."

White called that a built-in method for keeping track of Garcia, making for little possibility of flight. He asked that Garcia's bond be reduced to $3,000.

Judge Jessie Conley denied all requests for bond reductions, citing previous convictions, use of aliases, out-of-state residences, and nature of the charges as reasons for the denial. A probable cause hearing will be held in Davie District Court Jan. 30 at 1:30, and Conley ordered that the case not be continued past Jan. 30 unless all the defendants consent to the continuance.
